NICHOLAS WHITTAKER arrived at Saginaw General Hospital at 12:36 p.m. Friday, Jan. 7, and weighed in at 9 pounds, 3 ounces. He is the first baby of the New Year from the Cass City area. The boy is the second child of Robert and Kerry Whittaker of Deford. The Whittakers moved to Deford from Monroe about a year ago. Robert was originally from the Cass City area before moving with his family to Monroe.

There will be a host of prizes awaiting the new arrival from area merchants.

Khoury pleads guilty to mail fraud in arson case

A Cass City businessman pleaded guilty to mail fraud last week in federal court in Detroit in connection with the 1991 arson of his Blissfield Dairy Queen.

Kareem Saba Khoury, 38, owner of the Quaker Maid Dairy Store in Cass City, entered the plea last Wednesday, a day before he was scheduled to go to trial on a 2-count indictment that included arson.

The fire in Blissfield, a farming village of about 3,000 people located 80 miles southwest of Detroit, garnered national media coverage as an apparent ethnic attack.

On Wednesday, Khoury confessed to hiring a former employee to burn his restaurant in an effort to collect $493,000 in insurance money from the Zurich-American Insurance Company, said U.S. Attorney Alan Gershel.

In January 1991, days after the gulf war erupted, authorities reported vandals had bombarded Khoury's Dairy Queen with paint balloons and sprayed war slogans on the walls, apparently in response to Khoury's opposition to the war.

Outraged Blissfield residents immediately voiced their support of Khoury, a Palestinian and U.S. citizen who emigrated to the United States from Bethlehem some 20 years ago, and helped clean up the damage. Two days later — during early morning hours of Jan. 22, 1991 — the building was gutted by fire.

Mr. Khoury subsequently filed a claim with his insurance company for $493,000 for the losses suffered as a result of the fire, falsely claiming that he had nothing to do with causing the fire," Gershel said.

The blaze was quickly labeled arson by investigators, who reported finding a large quantity of incendiary materials inside the building, which was locked with no signs of forced entry.

During the course of the investigation, Khoury initially agreed to take a lie detector test, but later declined on the advice of his attorneys. In July 1992, he

Health programs needed in Thumb

Thumb area health department officials announced plans to develop community health programs aimed at reducing heart disease, following the results of a recent survey.

Cardiovascular heart disease is the leading cause of death in Michigan.

Nearly half of all deaths in the state are attributable to the disease, according to health officials, who say up to one-half of these deaths are premature and preventable.

In Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties, 1,297 deaths occurred in 1991, with 45 percent resulting from cardiovascular disease.

It was alarming statistics such as these that prompted the 3 Thumb health departments to act. Last spring, a Community Health Needs Assessment was conducted by the health departments in the upper Thumb.

A survey was randomly distributed to 3,000 residents. Of the 1,750 people who responded, 71 percent were females and 29 percent male. Some 54 percent of the respondents were 40 years of age or under; 46 percent were over age 40.

The following are the survey results, which were categorized into various cardiovascular risk factors:

A sentencing date has not been set yet.

Brent A. Sweeney, 21, the former Dairy Queen employee charged with setting the fire, previously pleaded guilty to arson and is currently serving a 27-month federal sentence, Gershel said.

He noted Khoury's plea successfully concluded an extensive investigation conducted by the Blissfield Police Department, Michigan State Police, Fire Marshall Division, and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

"Going backwards," says Good

O-G teachers upset as pay raise denied

The Owen-Gage School Board indicated Monday it won't act on a new teachers' contract before a special statewide election in March that will decide which of 2 tax packages will fund public schools in the state.

The decision was announced by school Supt. Manuel Thies following an 85-minute executive session.

"We're exactly where we were before" as far as knowing what funds will be available, Thies said of the board's position. He added he believes the school funding reform proposals will bring more revenue into the district, but there's no way of knowing what strings will be attached to those dollars.

Owen-Gage Education Association representative Sandy Parks voiced her displeasure with the board's decision.

"I'm going to have a bunch of very unhappy people," she said of the district's 21 teachers, who have been without a labor agreement since their previous 2-year contract expired in June 1992. "Every year, you can't keep telling them the same story."

Parks questioned why the teachers couldn't receive a portion of the money saved through staff cuts implemented earlier this school year.

"How can we cut programs and turn around and give the staff a raise? I don't know how we can do it," commented board member Bill Kretzschmer.

Trustee Mary Ann Abbe agreed. She pointed out the board isn't saying the staff doesn't deserve a raise. "We're saying we don't know how to do it. We can't justify it."

Board president Jack Brinkman said he's discussed the issue with 10 couples who indicated they feel programs or staff positions should be reinstated before staff members receive pay increases.

DEFICIT

The board has cut 3 full-time positions as well as extracurricular activities and other programs, including band and preschool, in an effort to offset a deficit totaling more than $100,000.

Parks asked if the board intends to reinstate the 3 full-time positions that were eliminated as part of the cuts, before acting on a teachers contract. The answer from board members was not necessarily.

The money saved from those positions has been eaten up by operating expenses, according to board member Ron Good, who said even with the cuts, the district's financial situation is not good.

"We're going backwards," he commented, adding the board can't make a decision when it doesn't know what will happen with the state plans.

Earlier in the evening, Thies briefly discussed the proposed school reform finance plans, saying the estimates surrounding a guaranteed $5,000 per pupil grant are difficult to interpret because of confusion over what expenses are included in the figure.

MORE MONEY

"We'll get more money, but we don't know the strings. That is the problem," he said.

Thies added information coming out of Lansing on the proposals is "changing day by day, and some of the interpretation, I think, is changing hour by hour."

Thies agreed with Good's assessment of the district's financial situation. "We are in bad shape because we started out the year in bad shape," he explained. While the cuts have offset some red ink, he said, "We haven't gotten rid of all of (it)."

Parks said faculty members have cooperated up to this point and tried to work with the board, but "it's coming to an abrupt stop. They've had it. They're not just going to keep taking 'no' for an answer."

Parks suggested, and board members agreed, that a meeting should be scheduled to explain the district's financial status to all certified and non-certified staff members in the district. A date is to be set.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business during the 3-hour monthly meeting, the board:

•Approved a Bloodborne Pathogen Exposure Control Plan drafted by an 8-member ad hoc committee. All staff members will be required to attend a half-day in-service on the plan, to be presented Feb. 7 by Faith Fahrner, R.N.

•Lauded teachers Les Packard, Sandy Parks and Theresa Hurley for their efforts in applying for teacher mini-grants through the state, although they were unsuccessful.

Thies said the competitive grant program, now in its ninth year, approved a total of $88,000 in funding for 153 applicants this year. In all, 1,809 teachers applied for grants totalling $1.2 million.

•Recognized staff members Judy Campbell, Judy Winchester and Cindy Mellendorf for their quick action in assisting a student who was recently injured in a playground accident in Gageton.

•Approved holding an "open gym" night at the high school in Owendale on Sundays, from 6 to 9 p.m., through Easter.

•Noted the Owen-Gage Boosters recently donated $100 towards the junior high basketball program.

•Approved the recommendation of Shannon Smith as "student of the month" for January.

Vader arrested for leaving crash scene

A Cass City man was arrested after leaving the scene of a 2-car accident early Friday evening in Cass City.

Robert McCoon, 66, of Marlette, told Cass City police he was driving north on West Street, south of Houghton, when a southbound car entered his lane, swerving and fishtailing. McCoon stated he unsuccessfully attempted to avoid a head-on collision.

After impact, the other driver stopped, backed up, got out of his car and asked if McCoon was okay, according to McCoon, who replied he was alright, but that his wife needed an ambulance.

McCoon stated the other driver then got back into his vehicle and drove southbound at a high rate of speed.

McCoon and his wife, Johanna, 57, were transported to Hills and Dales General Hospital, where Mrs. McCoon underwent surgery for a broken knee cap. Mr. McCoon was admitted for observation because of a heart condition, police reported.

Witnesses led police to the other driver, Richard E. Vader, 47, 4291 West St., Cass City, who was not injured in the 6 p.m. crash.

Vader told police another vehicle crossed into his lane and struck him head-on. He stated he then drove to his residence, put his car in the garage and closed the door to keep the vehicle warm, then went into the house to call police.

Vader was arrested on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, and leaving the scene of a personal injury accident.

Forestland
stabilized

Increased paper recycling will result in slower projected use of pulpwood and timber harvest. That will extend timber supplies. After decreasing for 2 centuries, the amount of U.S. forestland has stabilized. Today we have about the same forest area as in 1920.

SHOULD YOU
CONSIDER A HEARING AID?

It's usually your spouse or a friend that suggests it: "You need a hearing aid!" They are the ones who get tired of repeating things for you. It may be okay to repeat things in a conversation, but during a movie or meeting, having to ask what was just said is distracting to both persons, and you miss what happens next.

How do you know if you need a hearing aid? The question you perhaps should ask is, "How do I know if I'd benefit from a hearing aid?" In contrast to treating hypertension or diabetes, treating poor hearing is important more for your own convenience and enjoyment of life than for medical reasons. Social situations are much more fun if you can hear what is being said.

Poor hearing usually creeps up on you allowing you to become accustomed to the change. Unless you have occasional hearing tests, you may be surprised at how much you are missing. These tests are especially important if you are exposed to noise at work or with your hobbies.

The appropriate way to evaluate your hearing is by formal hearing tests. This way, you can find out exactly how much hearing you've lost and also find out how many words you have trouble with because some sounds of speech are softer than others, causing similar words to be confused, such as "white" for "wife" or "wise".

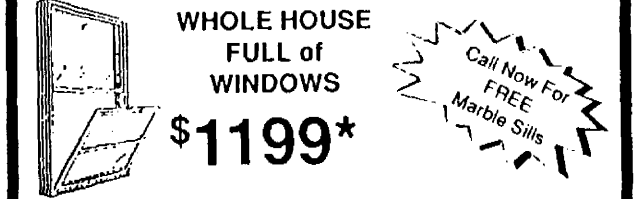

Once you know if you have any hearing loss, your doctor can advise you about the improvement you can expect and then you can decide if a hearing aid is right for you.

Bring on spring!

by Melva E. Guinther

Well, we've had our winter wonderland. Now bring on spring!

One good dose of snow and frigid air is quite enough for me.

I have to confess, though, at the risk of sounding like the typical old-timer, when I was a kid we had a lot more really big, paralyzing, close-everything-down snow storms than we do today.

Winter used to begin in October or November in Michigan. More recently we rarely have snow before the middle of December, and some years we hardly get any at all.

We also have better means of coping with adverse weather than we used to, of course, and are generally better prepared for it. Meteorologists, with their sophisticated equipment, can tell us with a pretty good degree of accuracy what to expect and when.

While I've never been fond of winter, there's something about an old-fashioned snow storm that gives me a good feeling.

Admittedly, it's a lot easier to enjoy it when you're looking at it through the window of your warm, cozy house than when you're stuck on the highway or in an airport unable to get where you need to go.

I'm not sure what it is about a snow storm that gives a sense of tranquility. Maybe it's the fresh white blanket that covers, however temporarily, the barrenness of winter and the ugliness mankind has inflicted on the earth. It seems to muffle the noise, too, at least until the snowmobiles get out in force.

But I think its charm is more a sense of satisfaction in realizing that there are still a few things that are beyond man's control.

But even that is quickly outweighed by the negatives of winter.

It's a lot trickier to get out and get your brisk walk in when the streets and sidewalks are covered with ice and snow.

Then there are the typical winter ailments, colds and flu.

The flu may or may not be an epidemic, but it's definitely wide-spread. A lot of people in California were suffering with it while we were there over the holidays, in addition to all the sick and disabled in Michigan.

Flu shots will undoubtedly continue to gain in popularity if those who had it this year can remember how miserable they were when it comes time to get them next fall.

The University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City made flu shots easy last fall by offering them free at a drive-through. It took a little longer than driving up for a hamburger, partly because of the ever essential release forms, etc., that had to be filled out, but the program was apparently successful, with an overflow crowd driving up to be "needed."

A food store chain in Ohio sold the shots along with groceries last fall. How's that for one-stop shopping? They cost a modest $8 and the chain, SeaWay Food Town Inc., of Toledo, reportedly averaged 338 shots a day in its 45 supermarkets and 20 discount drug stores.

Next thing you know they'll be offering cents-off coupons.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

The community lost an artist last week. His paint brushes were a backhoe and a bulldozer.

Clark Seeley was recognized by his peers as having no peer when operating the tools of his profession. When he graded a driveway or a lawn, it was almost as if the work had been finished by hand with a shovel. He was that good.

Sometimes it was hard to get a commitment from Clark to do a job you needed him for. It was a tribute to his expertise that many waited for months, figuring that the results were worth waiting for.

Charlene Mellendorf read that I planned sometime this year to visit "Cheap Charley's" restaurant. We were there recently, she called to say, and "Cheap Charley's" is not so cheap.

The inside was nice, she added.

Although forewarned I'll visit anyway. The thing is, folks in the Cass City area are used to restaurant prices that are cheaper than those at most restaurants in urban areas.

We are all spoiled around here, the way I figure it.

Is there a senior citizen around who does outstanding service work on a volunteer basis? If so, he could win $500 and have $500 donated to his favorite charity by Citizens Insurance, who sponsors the contest.

Ten seniors (60 or over) will be honored. Entrance forms have been placed in senior citizen centers. A free phone call (800 388-1300) is available for more information. Deadline is Jan. 31.

The Friends of the Library will hold a magazine sale Jan. 26-29 at Rawson Memorial Library, 6495 Pine St., Cass City.

Area residents are asked to donate their old magazines for the fund raiser, which will benefit the local library. Decorating, hobby, hunting, home and travel magazines are especially popular, according to officials, who noted old news magazines do not sell well.

The Friends of the Library will be selling the magazines for 25 cents a bundle in the library meeting room.

Allen won't seek 7th term

Republicans eye 84th District House seat

At least 4 Republicans have indicated they will throw their hats into the race for State Rep. Dick Allen's 84th District seat, which will be vacated by the veteran legislator in 1995.

Allen, former editor of the Tuscola County Advertiser, won his first election in 1982 and has won 5 consecutive terms since then. He announced last week he won't seek a seventh term.

Dick Allen

The 84th District covers Tuscola and Huron counties. Among the candidates considering running for the post are:

*Michael L. Green, 45, of Mayville, a former 8-year Tuscola County Commissioner. Green, who was appointed to the state commission on aging by the governor in 1990, is employed at the General Motors Chevrolet V-8 Engine Plant in Flint. He also serves as legislative aide to 34th District Senator Joel Gougeon of Bay City.

*Julia Heilig, 50, of Ubyly, who has served on both the Ubyly Board of Education and Huron County Board of Commissioners. Heilig, who is employed by the Region VII Area Agency on Aging in Bay City, unsuccessfully challenged Allen in the last election, losing by just 123 votes out of more than 12,000 cast in the 1992 primary.

*John M. Hunt, 39, of Bad Axe, a longtime Thumb businessman who is self-employed as owner of J.W. Hunt Trucking Company in Bad Axe. Hunt is chairman of the Huron County Road Commission and has served on the Verona Township Planning Commission.

*Ginny McLaren, 39, of Millington, who has served as Tuscola County Register of Deeds since 1988. McLaren is secretary of the Michigan Association of Registers of Deeds, and serves as legislative chairman with the organization. She is also education chairman with the United County Officers Association.

In a statement issued last week, Allen said his decision to announce early was to enable other potential candidates time enough to organize their respective campaigns.

When asked why he is leaving office, he commented it's time to step aside.

"I've regretted nothing and experienced so much personal enrichment from my association with thousands of wonderful, caring people from my district, people who have taught me so much," Allen said.

"But as with all things, it's time for constituents to have the opportunity of selecting someone else to represent them, and time for me to pursue other opportunities and interests of which there are many," Allen hinted he hopes to spend more time writing, illustrating and public speaking.

First fatal crash of '94 claims Caro resident

A Caro man was killed and 2 others were injured in a 2-vehicle collision last week in Ellington Township.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported the victim, Lynn E. Hodges, 50, was driving west on snow-covered M-81, about a half mile north of Dutcher Road, Jan. 4, when he swerved to avoid a head-on collision with an eastbound pickup truck that had crossed the center line. Both vehicles left the roadway and collided.

According to reports, both Hodges and the driver of the pickup, Michael D. Decker, 34, of Charlotte, N.C., were pinned in their vehicles.

Rescue workers used the Jaws of Life to extricate the men.

Hodges' passenger, Kris K. Hodges, 15, Caro, was treated and released from Caro Community Hospital following the 9:06 p.m. accident. Decker was transported to St. Mary's Medical Center in Saginaw, where he remained in serious condition early this week.

Both Hodges were wearing seat belts, according to deputies, who reported Decker was not.

Deputies were assisted at the scene by the Caro police and fire departments and Caro EMS.

Pair charged in break-ins

A pair of Vassar men were recently arraigned on charges in connection with the break-in of an office building at 551 Birch Rd., Vassar.

Paul E. Kienitz, 18, faces charges of breaking and entering a building with intent to commit larceny Nov. 25, conspiracy to commit breaking and entering, receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 (cash, cigarettes and football cards), being an accessory after the fact to a felony (breaking and entering) and receiving and concealing stolen property under $100 (.22 revolver).

Ralph S. Vermillion, 17, is charged with 3 counts of breaking and entering a building with intent to commit larceny, and 3 counts of conspiracy to commit breaking and entering, Nov. 25 and 26.

Bond for each defendant was set at a combined $15,000. Both face preliminary examinations Friday at 9 a.m.

The Haire Net

Like all American farmers, Michigan's pot growers are getting more efficient, producing a "better", more potent marijuana. They are doing it indoors with special lamps and water systems.

Authorities say that pot is now second only to corn as Michigan's largest cash crop. In 1992 it was estimated as worth $482 million.

The story about pot was one of 2 in the same metro daily paper. The other that caught my interest involved Dr. Jack Kevorkian.

Now those 2 items don't appear related, but they are. Both involve court cases and both make you wonder if we are headed in the right direction.

First the Kevorkian case. The Oakland County prosecutor is charging ahead with 2 other cases involving Kevorkian's assisting with suicides.

The original case is under appeal in the Michigan Court of Appeals. In addition, 2 doctors have filed suits, saying that the law makes it impossible for them to conduct their business with patients.

It was suggested that further actions against Kevorkian be delayed until cases are decided. This would save the taxpayers a bundle and with no ultimate effect on the final disposition of the cases. They can always be continued if the higher courts say that the law as written is legal.

The second story that listed pot as a big money crop was part of a debate on new stiff penalties for growing pot. Among the persons objecting were a couple of patients suffering with multiple sclerosis who say that smoking a few puffs of pot is the only way that they can continue to function.

The proposed new pot law is aimed at getting larger users. Today the law is the same, 4 years and $2,000 fine for a truckload or a single pot plant.

The new law ups the penalty to $10 million and 15 years for 200 plants or 45 kilograms.

For reasonable people, the filing of new cases against Kevorkian doesn't make any sense at all unless it is a blatant grab for free publicity.

That's not the case in the attempt to change the pot law.

Still, when you look at the results of the law we have today, maybe it's time to consider making pot legal. When the drug sells for $1,000 a pound wholesale, there will be people making it available.

The question is, will changing the law help with the problem, or should the enormous profits available be eliminated by making pot legal and the money spent on enforcement spent on prevention and education?

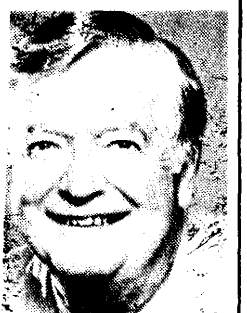

It's a question that most of us considered unthinkable as the pot problem unfolded.

There's no endorsement of legal pot here, but seeing the results we have with what we have now, it's no longer a solution that can be totally disregarded.

Chicken pizza?

By Jim Fitzgerald

lectual world or what?

LET'S PLAY BRICKS AND STONES

Of course, to buy a pizza for a dollar you must also buy two additional pizzas with two toppings, neither of them chicken, for $8.98. Ilitch probably got that idea when his car ran into a tank, which sounds like bank.

Anyway, it was only last month that Ilitch, his wife and a neighbor filed a lawsuit against a lawyer who threatens to mar their Bingham Farms subdivision by building a million-dollar custom Victorian-style home there. The problem is the home would be made of wood, which would clash horribly with the brick and stone construction of the other houses in the neighborhood.

The lawyer, Dennis Zampas, said he wants to build the home for his two young daughters, who helped pick out the property: "I have a great admiration for the Ilitches, and I am supportive of 99.9 percent of the things they do. But we had already started digging. My 11-year-old daughter is crushed."

I share Zampas' opinion. Mike Ilitch and his many entertainment projects are the best thing to happen to Detroit in a long time. I usually differ with Ilitch only when he makes sounds like he wants to move his Tigers out of Tiger Stadium. But maybe someday his car will hit a hyena that will cry hysterically, which sounds like historically, and Ilitch will suddenly get the idea of preserving valuable history by allowing Grandpa to take his grandson to see the Tigers play the same place they played when Grandpa was a little boy, watching with his grandfather.

Why the knock on wood?

In the meantime, I'm wondering if it makes any kind of reasonable sense to say "there goes the neighborhood" because a million-dollar wooden house was built near million-dollar brick houses.

I realize people who don't have millions can't possibly realize how difficult it is to be very rich. If you don't have huge investments — in a subdivision or a baseball team — you can't really understand the awesome responsibility of protecting those investments.

But if a crushed chicken from a wooden crate can inspire a wealthy businessman to sell pizza for a buck, think of the possibilities of living near a wooden house containing an 11-year-old uncrushed girl.

Onward and Upward, you know. The TV commercial starring the girl couldn't possibly be worse than the one starring the chicken.

Exercise As You Age

Years of neglect can do terrible things to your body. It can lead to loss of strength and muscle mass, increased body fat, loss of bone density, and decreased cardiovascular fitness. Simple tasks such as lifting a heavy object, walking up a flight of stairs, or unscrewing a jar lid can be difficult, or worse, cause injury.

The solution to this problem is simple - exercise. A person can begin an exercise program at any age even if they have never exercised before. A walking program is one of the best ways for older adults to increase stamina, delay bone loss and improve body composition. And a work-out that adds high-repetition, low-resistance strength training can restore muscle mass and make everyday tasks easier.

You should always consult your physician before beginning an exercise program. Certain conditions such as heart disease or diabetes, if undiagnosed, could be aggravated by the sudden start of an exercise program.

JUANITA BURK IS looking forward to her retirement at the end of this school year after serving 27 years as secretary at Campbell Elementary School in Cass City.

Retiring

Long-time Campbell Elementary secretary looks back on career

Her job title has always been secretary, but Juanita Burk has worn many hats over the years: receptionist, information director, messenger, seamstress.

At the end of this school year, Burk will step down from a long career at Campbell Elementary School, where she has served the Cass City School District for close to 27 years. "I started back in '67, when my oldest son was sent to Vietnam. I needed something more to keep me busy," she recently recalled. "I just kept on working here because I loved it."

Burk said her duties haven't changed much since she was hired.

"You keep all the records and answer the phone," she explained, adding she also makes sure notices are sent home with the children, and keeps tracks of student messages, such as those saying that a child is going to be picked up by a parent rather than take the bus home. "Some days I don't have any messages, but today I had at least 12."

Burk laughed and said her job has also involved some sewing. "I've had boys come down with split pants," she added. "And I've sewn a lot of buttons on."

Burk's voice has a distinctive firmness, which is never more evident than when she answers the phone with her, "Good morning, Campbell Elementary." A quick smile welcomes those who enter the principal's office.

Understandably, many of the visitors are students. And it's the children, as well as teachers, Burk says she will miss the most in her retirement.

"You definitely have to love children and you have to love people" in this job, she said. "All the teachers down through the years have been wonderful."

Burk's attention to detail and her ability to get the job done haven't gone unnoticed.

"She was very easygoing and quick to learn. We started out together and we learned together," commented Jacqueline Freiburger, who served as principal at Campbell from 1967 through 1988.

"We got to working pretty good as a team," Freiburger said. She recalled handling many jobs while serving as principal — Chapter I and special education director and REMC #10 representative — and noted Burk was very organized and always made sure materials, such as those for kindergarten round-up — were ready to go on time.

Dave Lovejoy, who has served as principal since Freiburger's retirement, said Burk is "one of the most dedicated workers I've known."

"She's a wonderful lady," he added. "She's just been a joy to work with."

Burk and her husband, Fin, who retired the first of last year from Hunt Construction Co., plan to do some traveling in the coming years.

"I want to spend more time with my grandchildren, and sewing — I love to sew — and gardening," she said.

The couple have 5 children, 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Three of their children — David, Jim and Diane — reside in Michigan. Oldest daughter Ruby lives in New Jersey, and oldest son Alvin, whose parachute jumps have become a popular attraction during Cass City's annual July 4 Festival, resides in Minnesota.

The Burks also plan to spend a lot of time square dancing, an activity they enjoy at least 2 or 3 times a week.

Although she's looking forward to retirement, Burk indicated it was a bittersweet decision. "This is my job. I like it real well."

Still, she added, "After 27 years here, the time has come."

Your neighbor says

Mexican cooking in '94 resolution

There are the usual New Year's resolutions and there are the unusual resolutions. The resolution made by Lillian "Cookie" Kuperus of Cass City is one of the unusual ones.

She has vowed to learn all she can about Mexican and southwestern United States cooking.

She got the bug when she was in Dallas in September and after her daughter, Nicola, went to Tucson, Ariz., and came back with some dishes from the area.

I tried my first new dish recently, she confided, and frankly it didn't bring any rave reviews.

Now she is getting any literature she can about the foods from the area she hopes to specialize in. I just love food, she explained, and just might open a restaurant featuring the Mexican-type foods.

I would like to create my own recipes to serve if I do, she says. Good food and its production is not something that captured Kuperus' interest recently. She formerly worked as a home economics teacher.

She moved to Cass City 6 1/2 years ago with her husband, Peter, who works for Walbro Corporation in Caro.

New program targets Food Stamp recipients

Huron County is among 69 counties in Michigan that will offer a new nutrition program to food stamp recipients beginning this month.

The Family Nutrition Program (FNP) is funded by a $1.56 million matching grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to Michigan State University Extension.

FNP will provide education on budgeting, food safety and food shopping to targeted food stamp recipients. The program will be delivered through county Michigan State University Extension offices in cooperation with local human service agencies.

Education will be delivered through home instruction, food demonstrations at food distribution sites, group sessions and newsletters.

In Huron County, special target groups will be families with children, handicapped and persons interested in serving their families nutritious food on a budget. Other counties may target other groups of food stamp recipients.

For information on FNP in Huron County, contact Barbara Neuman, Extension Home Economist, at (517) 269-9949.

Award Edison Foundation grants

Caro High School can begin updating its computer curriculum using a $5,000 grant from the Detroit Edison Foundation. The grant will help the Caro Community Schools purchase 30 IBM-compatible computers to replace 16 outdated machines. Grants were also made to Cass City United Way ($6,400) and to the Village Bach Festival ($2,000).

"We are trying to improve Caro students' computer skills so they can compete effectively in the job market after graduation," said teacher Barbara Ruckle, who co-chairs the school district's technology committee.

The district's need to improve technical education meets the Detroit Edison Foundation's goal of supporting programs that prepare students for the job market, said S. Martin Taylor, foundation president and the utility's vice-president for Community and Government Affairs.

The high school's partnership with the utility's North Area Energy Center inspired Ruckle to seek a grant from the Detroit Edison Foundation. Ruckle previously had won Detroit Edison Foundation mini-grants for educators for environmental projects.

"Our district just doesn't have the funding to pursue this project on its own, so I applied for the grant because I feel strongly about the need for improvement," she said.

Ruckle and Quentin Levitte, the school district's community education administrator and technology committee co-chairman, hope to have the updated computer laboratory ready for fall 1994. The Janks Foundation of Caro has offered to match up to $15,000 in grants from other sources such as the Detroit Edison Foundation. The school district will contribute $25,000 toward the cost.

Through September, the Detroit Edison Foundation had granted more than $2.5 million to more than 400 organizations this year. Major grants were made to organizations in St. Clair, Lapeer, Sanilac, Huron, Tuscola and Genesee counties.

Health programs needed

respondents stated they were overweight. When asked about eating habits, 45 percent reported eating foods high in fat. About 70 percent reported less than the recommended number of 5 fruits or vegetables a day. Nearly 50 percent reported only one serving of fruit or vegetables a day.

•Unchangeable risk factors — Some cardiovascular risk factors can't be changed, such as increasing age, male sex, race, family history of heart disease and diabetes.

About 15 percent of the respondents indicated they already have known cardiovascular disease (heart attack, stroke, etc.). In addition, nearly 30 percent reported a family history of early heart attack.

The study identified that these heart attack victims had risk factors including being overweight, smoking, high cholesterol and inactivity. In spite of this knowledge, 60 percent of those with a positive family history reported not having made any lifestyle changes that could reduce their risk.

A major contributing factor for cardiovascular heart disease is diabetes (high blood sugar). About 6 percent of respondents reported having diabetes.

Based on the survey findings, the Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola county health departments identified the following needs:

—Education on prevention and treatment of high blood pressure.

—Cholesterol screening and education, including diet and exercise.

—Smoking cessation programs.

—Education regarding stress reduction techniques.

—Education on resource availability of weight reduction programs, including importance of proper diet and adequate exercise.

—Education on hereditary cardiovascular risk factors and needed lifestyle changes, importance of regular medical care, and related chronic disease control.

$200,000 housing grant approved

State Rep. Dick Allen (R-Caro) and State Senator Joel Gougeon (R-Bay City) recently announced the Michigan Department of Commerce has approved a $200,000 housing grant for Huron County.

The grant is provided under the 1993 Michigan Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program.

Communities will use the funds to make loans or grants to persons with low incomes for improvement of their homes.

"By awarding these monies, we are providing dignity and hope to struggling families who are unable to afford decent housing," Allen said. "People are our most precious resource and no one is exempt from financial hardship."

"Projects such as this one are further proof that Huron County is taking the initiative to be of assistance to those in need," Gougeon said.

O-G upsets Wesleyan before bowing to Vikings

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs took to the stage last week and gave their rendition of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde with games against North Branch Wesleyan and Akron-Fairgrove.

Coach Wright's cagers played like "the doctors" Tuesday as they handed North Branch its first loss on the season, 70-62.

However, in Friday's showing at Akron, the Bulldogs' performance against the Vikings resembled Mr. H-I-D-E.

The hosts trounced the 'Dogs, 83-35.

The Vikings jumped out to a 14 point advantage behind the inside work of John Streeter, who tallied 8 points in the early going. Owen-Gage, meanwhile, settled for shots from the perimeter throughout the initial period and connected on only 2 attempts from the field.

The Bulldogs' offensive woes continued in the 2nd frame, where they were outscored 21-8, which netted the Green and White a 42-15 edge at the intermission. Jeremy Burkey, who notched game scoring honors with 25 points, led the well balanced spurt with 6 markers.

Any doubt of the game's outcome was laid to rest during the inauguration of the 2nd half, when Burkey single-handedly disposed of the Bulldogs, whipping in 15 points to help give the Vikings (4-2) a 66-26 lead heading into the contest's final stanza.

What little success Owen-Gage enjoyed offensively against the Vikings came from sophomore center

Mark Damm, who responded with 10 points from the paint and a team high 17 rebounds. Senior Eric Susalla also contributed 10 points, scoring one hoop in each quarter that included treys that opened both halves.

The winners, who saw 11 players end up in the record books, got 12 points each from Streeter and Jim Burnham.

NBW GAME

The Bulldogs surprised a talented North Branch Wesleyan squad Tuesday and recorded a 70-62 win that knocked the Eagles from the unbeaten ranks.

Owen-Gage jumped out in front 14-9 over the visitors as 5 Bulldogs broke into the scoring column, including Ryan Radabaugh, who connected on the first of his 3 treys upon the evening.

North Branch was able to tie the game at 33-all by the intermission as Dustin Jones posted half of his game high 22 points in the frame.

Both teams traded baskets after the break and headed into the final period deadlocked at 49.

Owen-Gage outscored the Eagles 21-13 down the stretch to register the win. The hosts benefitted from 17 trips to the charity stripe in the final period. They made good on 12 of those trips, including a perfect combined 6-6 effort from Austin Brinkman and Mike Tkacz.

Tkacz and Brinkman led the winners, splitting 30 points, while teammate Eric Susalla added 14. Mark Damm contributed 11.

Besides Jones, Jason Agar recorded double digits for the losers, adding 14.

Eagles fall as Cass City adds to unbeaten record

Cass City will be a heavy favorite to add to its win string Friday when USA comes to town, and Tuesday against the Bad Axe Hatchets.

The Cass City Red Hawks rolled to an easy 72-54 win last Tuesday over host Deckerville Eagles to keep their unblemished win streak alive and maintain the team's lead in the Blue Bay League race.

It was a contest for only the first 4 minutes of the game. The Eagles jumped off to a 6-2 lead in the opening minutes before the Hawks got on track.

Cass City dominated the boards and used offensive rebounding to get on track and by the end of the first period was in front 14-11.

The game was decided in the second quarter when Coach Jeff Hartel put his charges into a full court press and Deckerville was unable to handle it.

In one stretch the press caused 3 turnovers in a row and Deckerville scored just 4 points in the quarter. Meanwhile the offense shifted into high gear behind Paul Ulfing and Scott Iwankovitch. Ulfing netted 10 points and Iwankovitch added 7. At the half the Hawks led 38-15.

The Eagles adjusted to the Cass City press in the third quarter and, with Chris Logan showing the way with 11 points, closed to 51-40 entering the final period.

Cass City took charge again in the final period to salt away the win. Ulfing netted 17 points and Paul Murphy, 14, to lead the scoring for Cass City. Logan led Deckerville with 16.

Hartel said Steve Muska had a fine floor game with just one turnover and 4 assists. Helped by the press, Cass City logged 16 steals in the game. Both teams shot 40 percent from the field, but Cass City was 3 for 6 from 3-point range while the Eagles hit just 2 of 10 treys. Cass City posted a wide edge in rebounding, 48-27, led by Ulfing with 13, Iwankovitch with 9 and Jason Morgan with 8.

CASS CITY - Muska 3-0 (5-6) 11; Sherman 1-0 (2-2) 4; Storm 0-0 (3-4) 3; Phillips 2-0 (0-0) 4; Murphy 1-3 (3-3) 14; Morgan 4-0 (0-1) 8; Ulfing 7-0 (3-9) 17; Iwankovitch 4-0 (3-4) 11.

Hawk spikers bow to Caro

Coach Sherry Bader's Red Hawk spikers continued to prepare for the start of the Blue Bay League season last week, traveling to Caro, where they played the Tigers tough before bowing in a 5-game match.

Cass City will try to return to the win column Wednesday when they entertain Kingston in their first home match in 1994. The lady Hawks open conference play against the always powerful Lakers Jan. 20.

Against Caro, Cass City dropped the first game 15-12 but was able to gain a 2-game-to-1 lead with wins of 15-12 and 15-11 following the initial setback.

"We played excellent in the first 3 games. In the 4th and 5th games they started tipping on us and were very successful in hitting our holes. We were slow in transition coming off the net and couldn't dig the ball back up," said Bader.

Cass City dropped the final 2 games by the scores of 15-2 and 15-12.

Several ladies served well for the Hawks. Stacey Klinkman recorded 15 service points to lead all scorers, making good on 23 of 26 attempts. Jodi Schember tallied 12 points, while teammate Jodi LaRoche added 11 points while missing only 2 of 38 combined serves.

At the net, LaRoche and Darcie Monroe each recorded 5 kills. Also playing well on the front line was Schember, who collected 14 hits.

To reach out to teens

Church of God adds youth pastor

"In times like these, we have to keep growing, climbing, advancing."

That's the motto embraced by the congregation of the Living Word Church of God Worship Center in Cass City.

But it's more than just lip service. Over the past 4 years, the church has seen significant growth under the leadership of the Rev. Scott Tysick, who has watched the congregation increase to an average of 80 to 100 people. On the outside, the church building at 6455 Sixth St. has undergone extensive remodeling.

More recently, the congregation has added a youth pastor, with hopes of reaching out to both its own young people and those outside the church.

A second full-time staff member is a first for the former Assemblies of God church, which was founded in the early 1970s.

"We're seeing some great growth, and not just in numbers — there's spiritual growth," Tysick commented. "(This is) a challenge and a huge step of faith for us."

"We felt the timing was right for some of the needs of kids in town."

The challenge is being welcomed by Steve Morrison, 23, and his wife, Shelly, also 23, who arrived recently from North Carolina to serve in the local youth ministry.

The couple, who met at a revival meeting in Asheville, N.C., are newlyweds, having been married Dec. 11.

Originally from Flint, Steve graduated from East Coast Bible College, Charlotte, N.C., last month, earning a Bachelor of Science degree in Biblical studies, with a minor in Christian Education.

Shelly is a dental assistant looking for employment in the area, but she will play a key role in the youth ministry, Steve noted.

The couple plan to involve the church youth in an annual winter festival next month in Indianapolis and a youth camp in July, as well as other activities locally.

"And, of course, we'll be having Wednesday night services here at 7 p.m.," Steve said. "We're looking into, perhaps in the future, starting a Friday night get-together."

Steve indicated he's looking forward to working with area youth.

"This is where I feel called," he said. "When I was younger, I never had anybody that I could look up to, except athletes. Kids need somebody tangible they can look to, and I want to be (that) kind of person."

"Everybody wants a piece of our young people, and it's not all positive," he added.

Steve indicated he hopes the youth ministry will be able to reach out to teens in the community as well as serve those within the church.

"I want to become their friend, but I want to be somebody they can come to when they have a problem. I might not know all the answers, but I know somebody who does have all the answers."
