

CASS CITY AREA resident Tricia Brzuchowski, 23, gave birth to her first child Thursday in Cass City, about 5 hours after an auto accident started her labor prematurely. Anthony Ross was born at 6:15 p.m., weighing in at 6 pounds, 8 ounces.

Healthy baby!

Emergency 3-week early birth comes following accident

An area newborn's journey into this world had a bumpy start, but the wide-eyed, content baby boy didn't seem any worse for wear as he lay in his mother's arms Friday at Hills and Dales General Hospital in Cass City.

Anthony Ross Brzuchowski was born at 6:15 p.m. Thursday, nearly 5 hours after his mother, Tricia, had been involved in an auto accident.

The accident occurred at about 1:30 p.m. Thursday on M-53, about 10 miles from Brzuchowski's Sanilac County residence. Driving conditions were less than ideal, with a stiff wind drifting snow on the roads.

"I was coming back from the health department in Sandusky and I got swerved off the road by a van," Brzuchowski said, noting an oncoming vehicle had crossed into her lane, forcing her off the road. "I hit a tree. I hit the steering wheel and my water broke."

Afterwards, Brzuchowski walked to a nearby residence to make a phone call. The lady there had a young child and commented she thought Brzuchowski's water had broken, and suggested she have her physician check her out.

Brzuchowski pointed out this was her first baby, and recalled she didn't realize the jolt of the accident had started her labor 3 weeks earlier than expected.

"It (labor) was all in my back," she said. Eventually, she added, "It got so bad I couldn't sit still."

After making some phone calls, Brzuchowski was able to contact a friend, who agreed to pick her up and get her to a hospital.

She had been scheduled to give birth in Harbor Beach — the obstetrics unit at Hills and Dales has been unofficially closed for about a year. However, she said, "They didn't have enough time to get me to Harbor Beach. I knew I wasn't going to make it."

Brzuchowski arrived at the hospital at about 5 p.m. despite the roads, which kept Obstetrics Nurse Joyce Hornbacher, R.N., from getting to the hospital.

Affidavits enabling Tuscola County homeowners to take advantage of lower homestead property taxes under both the ballot and statutory school finance reform plans should be mailed out this week.

The affidavits have caused somewhat of a furor, especially with a deadline of March 1 to get the forms in to the state.

However, officials expect the deadline to be extended. "We hope it (deadline) is," commented Tuscola County Equalization Director Ed Karr, who said he expects the county will mail out affidavits this week.

"They're going to be bar coded. That's what held us up," he said of the county's forms, which will also include individual property tax numbers. Instructions will explain how to fill out the affidavits and submit them to the appropriate township treasurer or, in the case of the City of Vassar, the city treasurer, Karr noted.

The affidavits mean more work for township officials. "They (forms) come back to us, and then we have to verify them," said Elkland Township Supervisor Dave Milligan. "We have to check all these applications."

Milligan lauded the county decision to handle its own mailing, saying the state mailings, expected to reach mailboxes this week, may miss some people.

Tuscola and Huron counties are among several counties sending out "personalized" forms. Others, including Sanilac County, are relying on the state mailing.

Homeowners must return the affidavits in order to receive the full amount of property tax cuts due them.

How much property tax relief homeowners receive depends on the fate of a March 15 ballot issue.

Voter approval of Proposal A means a 6-mill school operating tax for most homeowners and a 6-percent state sales tax (a 2-percent increase). Defeat means a statutory back-up plan featuring 12 mills of school tax, with the income tax rate increased from 4.6 to 6 percent.

Businesses will be taxed 24 mills under both plans.

In order to qualify for the homestead exemption, a homestead must be owned and occupied as an individual's principal residence. Individuals may claim an exemption for only one homestead and for eligible agricultural property.

As for the March 1 deadline to return the affidavits, a pair of lawmakers last week requested that legislation be drafted to change the submittal date to April 15 or later.

The legislation may also provide for a formal appeals process covering homeowners who miss the deadline.

"There is a great deal of confusion among homeowners as to what this affidavit is and why they have to file it," said Rep. Joe Palamara (D-Wyandotte). "It is clear we must respond to their concerns in order to be sure they take the necessary steps to obtain their property tax exemptions."

"A number of homeowners have called all of us, looking for direction," Rep. John Freeman (D-Madison Heights) said. "As legislators we must ensure that homeowners, especially seniors who may be vacationing out of state until spring, have ample opportunity to complete the form."

Residents who don't receive an affidavit by Feb. 15 are urged to call their local assessor's office for a form. They may also call toll-free 1-800-FORM-2-ME and request the Homestead Exemption Form be mailed to them.

91 families helped at food closet

Business was up at the Cass City Food Closet in 1993.

Officials at the local emergency food pantry, housed in the basement of the First Baptist Church, 6420 Houghton St., recently reported 91 families, or 332 people, received a combined $8,066 in food plus federal surplus commodities last year.

In 1992, officials distributed food valued at more than $4,500 plus federal commodities to 84 families, or 267 residents living in the Cass City, Deford and Gagetown areas.

"We expanded our program (in 1993) by joining the Genesee Food Bank, which allows us to buy items by the pound," said Carol LaPonsie, a volunteer at the food closet.

She credited the success of the program to a host of groups and churches that have been faithful in making donations.

They include the Women's Association of Presbyterians, the Lutheran Brotherhood, Aid Association for Lutherans, Trinity United Methodist Church, Elmwood Sewing Circle, United Way Fund and Shell Gas Station of Pigeon.

"Families also gave money, meat and food," LaPonsie said, adding some hospital employees donated their bonus turkeys, and the Condo Gamblers contributed canned goods.

In addition, she said, food and packaged goods were donated during the year by Cub Scout and Boy Scout troops, Salem United Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, Trinity United Methodist Church, Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Church of the Nazarene and St. Pancratius Catholic Church.

"Erla's Food Center also assisted greatly in the ordering of and giving of food and household products," LaPonsie noted.

"Those clipping food coupons, those bringing the food and goods every month, those from the village crew picking up and delivering the orders, those praying for this effort — so many are involved in the Cass City Food Closet to make the program work."

Cash stolen checks

Cass City police are investigating a complaint involving forged checks.

According to reports, Deidra Zdrojewski, 6706 Third St., reported 4 checks were stolen from her and her husband, and 2 of the checks, made out for $42 and $46, have been used.

The couple, who said the checks were taken sometime before Jan. 31, have stopped payment on the remaining checks.

The case remains under investigation.

Few solutions evident

O-G financial problems outlined for teachers

Owen-Gage teachers were no closer to a new contract at the conclusion of a special informational meeting with the Board of Education, held Monday afternoon in the high school library.

But both sides agreed the 90-minute session was helpful in terms of opening lines of communication.

The meeting was called at the request of Owen-Gage Education Association representative Sandy Parks after the board announced in January it would not act on a new labor agreement before a special statewide election in March that will decide which of 2 tax packages will fund public schools in Michigan.

The 21 teachers in the Owen-Gage District have been without a contract since June 1992.

During Monday's gathering, attended by both certified and non-certified employees, Supt. Manuel Thies outlined operating expenses during the final 6 months of 1993, as well as the district's overall financial picture in recent years.

A fact sheet distributed by Thies shows the district had budget deficits ranging from $143,329 to $242,846 in each of the years 1991 through 1993, with an increasingly smaller fund balance.

Thies offered what he described as raw estimates for the current year: property tax operational revenues of $1,354,375, state aid of $129,000 and a fund balance of $101,074, minus a Tax Anticipation Note totalling $620,427, and certified and non-certified costs of $1,178,493. The result is an estimated deficit totalling about $215,000.

COULD GET MORE

Thies acknowledged the district could receive more in state aid because the amounts vary from month to month.

And, under the school finance reform plans, the district is supposed to receive a 3-plus percent increase in state aid next year. However, Thies cautioned, the estimate is far from certain.

Thies said he concentrated on this year's numbers because they are what he's had to work with in his first year as superintendent.

"We can rehash what happened last year, but it is not going to take and (fix) this year," he added.

The bottom line, Thies pointed out, is the district is going to have to borrow again this year. "Otherwise, we are going to run out of money come spring and summer."

School officials have had to borrow on anticipated tax revenue in each of the past several years. The district has borrowed the maximum amount allowed by law (50 percent of anticipated revenue) in each of the past 3 years.

Another point of interest to the union was savings realized by staff cuts and reorganization earlier in the year. Please turn to back page.

TALKING THINGS OVER — Owen-Gage Board of Education members, teachers and non-certified personnel discussed the district's finances during a special informational meeting Monday afternoon.

PTA meeting Feb. 14 to focus on reading

This month's PTA meeting, Monday, Feb. 14, in the high school library, will focus on reading in preparation for the upcoming reading activities scheduled during the month of March.

Cathy Cooper, elementary reading teacher, and Donna Emerson, librarian, will explain the "Young Authors' Program" and the "March is Reading Month" activities that are being planned. The presentation is designed to be informative for parents and other individuals interested in the types of reading programs that Cass City students are involved in.

Other items on the monthly agenda include planning for the "Campbell Carnival" scheduled for Friday, April 22, and a discussion of the PTA's role in supporting the school board's recent decision to build a new middle school and add much needed classrooms to the Campbell building.

Parents are invited and encouraged to attend the meeting, as well as future meetings on the second Monday of each month. PTA spokesmen stress that parent involvement is the key to children's educational success.

HDC provides meals for senior citizens

The senior dining center, at Cass City's Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, on Main Street, is a haven for area residents 60 years of age or older, and their spouses. On any given Monday, Wednesday or Friday, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., you might find a circle of friends engaged in a lively game of euchre or a spirited round of bingo.

A delicious, nutritious lunch is served by the Human Development Commission (HDC), featuring baked chicken, roast beef, ham, fish, spaghetti and more. For a suggested donation of $1.75, each meal also includes potatoes or rice, vegetables, bread, and dessert.

The Senior Dining Center provides a warm, comfortable setting for seniors to enjoy a great lunch and the companionship of their peers. In addition, HDC makes other opportunities available to the seniors, such as information on transportation, foster grandparents, home-delivered meals, CHORE, SSI, and Thumb Area Senior news.

More information is available by calling site manager Berenice Sowden (517) 872-2770 or the HDC Caro office at 1-800-843-6394.

Private Donor Scholarships at Northwood are awarded by the scholarship committee of the college and are based on requirements specified by donors and information students provide on scholarship applications. These scholarships represent support from organizations, foundations and individuals who demonstrated concern and interest for student achievements and are committed to the future of Northwood University.

The name of Jennifer Winchester was omitted from the Owen-Gage 9th grade honor roll list published in the Feb. 2 issue of the Chronicle.

Gohsmans extras in "The War"

Former Cass City resident, Brad Gohsman, and his wife Becky, formerly of Caro, and now of Fayetteville, Ga., were extras in the film, "The War," with Kevin Costner, Feb. 2. The film is being made in Gay, Ga. The Gohsmans had a part in an auction scene at a small-town fair in Mississippi. The setting background is 1968.

Along with being in the movie they had breakfast and lunch with Mr. Costner. They are also expected, says the labor department in Griffen, Ga., to be cast in the upcoming movie, "Fried Green Tomatoes II," to be filmed in Juliette, Ga., in May.

It is the first time for the Gohsmans to be in a movie and they were chosen on the basis of photographs submitted.

Brad is the son of the late Carl and Cathy Gohsman, and Becky is the daughter of Gerald and Glendora Babcock of Caro.

Veteran drivers say job more difficult, but still enjoyable

Safe driving skills are a must for any school bus driver, but a long, successful career behind the wheel requires much more.

Just ask Jeanette LaPeer and Marlene Sieradzki, a pair of veteran drivers with a combined 52 years experience who say basic parenting skills — a firm hand, a warm smile and a sharp eye — are an important part of their job.

LaPeer and Sieradzki were both hired by the Cass City School District Sept. 5, 1967.

Both say they've seen a number of changes over the years.

"You don't just get behind the wheel anymore," said Sieradzki, noting when she started out, all that was needed was a chauffeur's license. "It's harder to become a bus driver now. It's more involved," she added.

LaPeer agreed. "To become one, I was hired by the superintendent, I came in and met the bus supervisor, we went for a ride around the 4-mile square, I got a bus run," she recalled. "Today, no. You have to have a CDL, and there's a lot of schooling."

Physical exams and continuing driver education are also part of today's requirements to drive a bus, they said.

Care of the busses has also changed.

"When we started, the busses were taken down to the dealership in town," LaPeer explained.

Today, she continued, the school has its own mechanics, and each driver is responsible for a pre-trip inspection that includes checking 50-plus items from safety equipment to the windshield washers.

"It's just routine for us," Sieradzki said. "If there's any trouble, we make sure the mechanic knows and he fixes it for us."

SAFETY FIRST

One thing that hasn't wavered over time is the emphasis on safety. It's something taken very seriously by Sieradzki and LaPeer, whose records speak for themselves.

Sieradzki indicated a

Right to Life plans dinner

Celebrate life with Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Right to Life groups at their first benefit dinner, scheduled for March 17 at the Colony House on M-53 in Cass City.

Social hour will begin at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Richard D. Land, executive director-treasurer of the Christian Life Commission, the Southern Baptist Convention's Agency for social and moral concerns. He is a well-respected defender of the convention's teaching on the sanctity of human life.

Tickets and additional information are available by calling Katie in Huron County at 269-7020, or Vicki in Tuscola County at 673-5782.

watchful eye has prevented many accidents that could have occurred because of carelessness on the part of some drivers. "You have to watch like a hawk," she said. "You've got to be a defensive driver (and) keep your eye on everybody else," LaPeer agreed. "You have to guard that child's life."

Both women said they make an effort to let motorists go around them after they've made a stop.

Still, LaPeer pointed out, some drivers "run a stop sign to get by you. They'll do anything to get by you."

Looking back, Sieradzki and LaPeer indicated they've observed a change in children through the years, with the frequency of behavior problems increasing along with the rise in broken homes.

However, for the most part, such problems are relatively few, Sieradzki said.

"There's just a few (problems) now and then," she added. "Kid are kids. They want to see how far they can push you."

"The rules are the same as when we started. You treat them as kids. They are kids, they're not adults," LaPeer commented. "They respect you, but you have to respect them."

You can't be yelling at them all the time, you can't be hollering at them all the time. (But) you can't let them run rampant," she said.

"There's a fine line where they know how far they can push us."

When a child crosses that line, his or her behavior can be reported to school officials by the bus driver, and infractions are punished.

LaPeer sometimes handles minor behavior problems by having the offender write a sentence — I will not turn around and hit Jimmy, for example — 50 times.

Above all, she said, communication is important. "I have a pretty close contact with my parents. I think that helps."

"THEIR" KIDS

LaPeer and Sieradzki, who transport preschoolers through high school seniors, both said the relationships they develop with "their" kids are the most enjoyable aspect of their job.

"You see the kids growing through all their phases; (boys) hate girls, then they find girls. They start out hating you, then they love you," Sieradzki said, adding she's received a lot of photos from seniors who ride her bus.

"That's what make it all worthwhile."

"It's like raising your own family," LaPeer said. "Some like to be hugged. They tell you all their troubles. You send them something for graduation, and you get invited to open houses."

"Report card time is great." Sieradzki nodded in agreement. "I see all those report cards before their parents see them."

The memories evoked frequent smiles from the veteran drivers, who indicated they're both looking forward to more good years.

"I've been on the same route for 26 years. 'I've kids of kids that live on my bus route,'" Sieradzki said. "I don't know where the time has gone, especially when you see kids and know you had their parents."

LaPeer grinned. "No. I don't plan on retiring, as long as I'm healthy," she remarked. "I've got some kids I want to see graduate."

"It's a very rewarding job."

I mean, it really is," she added. "It gets in your blood, I guess."

Okay $70,000 grant for watershed plan

The Sebawaing River Intercounty Drainage Board will receive a $70,000 grant to recommend a watershed management plan for the surrounding area, Senator Joel Gougeon (R-Bay City) announced Thursday.

The project will provide the resources to conduct the research needed to determine the best way to improve the water quality of the Sebawaing River," said Gougeon, chair of the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee.

According to the work plan, specific water quality problems include waterborne and windborne eroded soil, sediment and nutrient loading in and receiving and discharging waters. The project will identify the sources and method of erosion of sediments and nutrients within the watershed.

The Sebawaing River Intercounty Drainage Board will also analyze the watershed area and determine ways to control flooding and soil erosion. The board will evaluate flooding potential and backwater effects of the Sebawaing River, particularly for the potential seasonal flooding during the early spring ice breakup.

The grants are provided by the Saginaw Bay National Watershed Initiative, which is funded by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and administered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The initiative provides a forum where local, state and federal agencies and citizens work together to restore and protect the Saginaw Bay Watershed. The watershed is the area drained by a river system.

FALLS ARE DANGEROUS IN THE ELDERLY

Falls in elderly people are a major health problem--about 20% of all elderly people have at least one fall each year. These falls result in many bruises and lacerations; other times it is worse--broken bones are common from even relatively minor falls. When the fractures are in the hips or legs, the recovery period may take a couple months and can make it quite difficult for a person to get back to his or her normal activities.

Often this means the end of independent living, at least for the time it takes the injuries to heal.

Many things can be done to decrease the risk of falls at home. It is important to have good lighting in the home and to have one's vision checked each year. Not seeing potential hazards causes many falls.

The edges of a rug often trip a person. Rugs should be kept to a minimum. Other objects on the floor are always hazards and should be kept away from walking areas.

Hand rails are important in keeping one's balance, especially in slippery areas such as bathrooms and porches. Rails should always be placed where there are steps or stairs. Good shoes provide foot protection as well as better traction.

A person should not hurry. That is when a misstep is most likely. Also, rising too quickly may cause lightheadedness for a moment--just long enough to cause a fall.

Since telephones are one's source for help in case of injuries, they should be conveniently placed and accessible from the floor if possible.

Your neighbor says

Wouldn't want to drink 'that' milk

Mike Salander, 16, of Cass City says that injection of a natural protein hormone to make cows produce more milk should probably be allowed.

Opponents of the procedure developed by Monsanto Co. have gone to court to try to halt the practice. It has received mixed reviews from dairy farmers.

An increase in udder infections in cows administered the drug has seen a corresponding increase in antibiotic residues from treating the infections. That worries some researchers.

The new drug has received the approval of the Food and Drug Administration, although it will be carefully monitored for any infection increases.

Salander says that he is a milk drinker. But even though he approves allowing the new drug to be used, he "wouldn't want to drink that milk."

Salander is a sophomore at Cass City High School. He came to Cass City from Kingston about a year ago. He is the son of Linda Hitsman.

O-G netters prep for league play at tourney

The Owen-Gage volleyball team prepared for the return to North Central Thumb League play this week by competing at Saturday's Laker invitational.

Coach Judy Campbell's spikers are scheduled to entertain conference foe Kingston Wednesday before hosting NCTL's Caseville Thursday.

The Bulldogs (6-6-1 overall, 3-2 NCTL) are hoping Saturday's efforts against perennial powerhouses Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port and North Branch will pay dividends when the defending league champions return to league play.

The Bulldogs got off to a strong start in the pool play round Saturday. They defeated Michigan Lutheran Seminary, 15-13 and 15-10.

Next for Owen-Gage on the day was North Branch Wesleyan. The 'Dogs split with the Wolverines. They captured the first game, 15-8, but dropped the 2nd game of pool play to Wesleyan, 5-15.

Owen-Gage was over-matched in its final 2 meetings of the day and was defeated by North Branch, 1-15 and 5-15. Host Lakers sent the Bulldogs packing on the day with wins of 0-15 and 4-15.

Several lady Bulldogs played well in the tourney, according to Campbell.

Brandy Parks led her team from the service line, registering 17 points. Twelve of those tallies came on ace serves.

Also serving well Saturday for Owen-Gage was Melody Abfalter. She netted 14 points that included 5 aces. Abfalter also performed admirably at the net, with 34 spike attempts, 12 going for winners.

Besides Abfalter, Bulldog freshman Kate Powers was busy on the front line with 32 spike attempts and a team high 14 blocks.

Junior Angie Wildman led Owen-Gage in several categories in the tournament, including sets (28), digs (14) and saves (6).

BULLDOG MIKE TKACZ had success driving the lane most of the night Friday against C-PS. Tkacz tallied 13 points for the winners.

Hawk grapplers dominate Lakers, record 67-5 win

The Cass City wrestling team traveled to the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port area Wednesday and had only one problem while whipping the Lakers.

The Hawks couldn't fill the 275 lb. weight class, which cost the visitors a complete shutout over the Blue Bay League foe.

However, Coach Don Markel's grapplers had little trouble in the meet's other 12 weight classes, and recorded a lopsided 67-5 win.

Cass City is scheduled to wrap up its dual meet season Thursday when the team travels to Vassar.

John McNaughton got the Hawks out in front by winning the 103 lb. opening match with a 22-6 decision over Lakers' Anthony Kopah. The Cass City freshman trailed 6-2 after one period but proved the better wrestler over the match's final 2 frames.

Cass City stretched its lead to 59-0 by winning the next 9 weight classes. Four of those victories came by the way of pins. All the pins came during the initial period.

Bob Davis pinned Bill Hurren 43 seconds into the 119 lb. match. Matt Hoppe's match with Tony Mulkey mirrored Davis's performance. Hoppe started with a quick takedown move and pinned his Laker counterpart 57 seconds after the opening whistle.

Steve Irvine got out to an 8-1 lead over Brian Lubeski in the 140 lb. class before registering the Hawks' 3rd pin of the evening with 38 seconds left in the opening period.

Red Hawk veteran Tom Davis registered the quickest pin of the evening for the winners, coming just 35 seconds into the 160 lb. class.

The Hawks finished the contest with back-to-back decisions by Ed Nizzola and Dale Heronemus.

Nizzola blanked Ryan Deming 17-0 in the 171 lb.

class, while Heronemus got by Brian Gola, 11-10.

Letter to the editor

Appreciates tribute to Clark Seeley

Dear John,
I wish to extend my appreciation to you on your article in Rabbit Tracks about Clark Seeley and his work with the bulldozer. Clark was happy when he was working in the dirt with his bulldozer. Sometimes when he came home I couldn't tell what color his face was. It made his day when his customers would tell him thanks for a job well done or when Tom Herron would say to him, I couldn't have done better myself.

Norman Gray told me Clark showed him how to spread his first load of gravel.

Years back he pushed snow, cleaning parking lots and driveways. Many times he went night and day for 2 days at a time, not coming home, and stopped down town on a coffee break. He liked his coffee. Also many times he cleaned Schwegler Rd. so all of us could get home from work.

Many people asked me if I read Rabbit Tracks, and what a nice tribute it was to Clark.

When he lost most of his eyesight he felt down and out as he was not able to do his work and drive his red Ford truck.

A-F visits Friday

Bulldogs top C-PS at home to end 6-game slide

There's no place like home. That's what Owen-Gage cage Coach Brian Wright must be thinking after Friday's 64-56 win over visiting Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

For the Bulldogs, the victory halted a 6-game slide and gave the young Bulldogs their 2nd win in the North Central Thumb League.

Owen-Gage (3-10 overall) is hoping it can use its home court advantage this Friday when Akron-Fairgrove comes to town. The 'Dogs, who were to have traveled to North Branch Tuesday, are still in search of their first road triumph of the season.

Against the Tigers, Owen-Gage used 3 baskets from behind the 3-point arc to gain a 15-12 advantage to open the 2nd period.

Leading 23-20, the hosts went on a 13-4 run to close out the initial half with their biggest margin of the night, 36-24. Sophomores Austin Brinkman and Mark Damm provided most of the Bulldog scoring in the period, registering 13 tallies. Brinkman earned game scoring honors for the winners, collecting 15 tallies. Damm led the hosts in rebounding with 13.

The Tigers shaved 7 markers from the Bulldog lead after the break and entered the final stanza trailing 44-39. David Kelly, who tossed in a game high 19 points, led the rally with 2 hoops from the field and a charity toss.

Senior Eric Susalla helped ice the win for Owen-Gage with 7 points in the final 8 minutes, where Owen-Gage outscored the visitors 20-17. Susalla finished with a season high 14 points and collected 8 rebounds.

Sandusky bows as Storm, Muska guard Cass City's win streak

It was a bad news, good news night for the Cass City Red Hawks Friday as the visiting Sandusky Redskins fell before the undefeated Hawks, 64-55.

The bad news was that Paul Ulfig had one of his poorer nights of the year and Jason Morgan was playing while battling the flu.

The good news was the rise of other players on the team to make up for the loss of production that Ulfig normally provides.

Cass City's 2 guards provided the bulk of the scoring as they converted scoring opportunities when the Redskins collapsed around Ulfig and Morgan.

Kevin Storm played what Coach Jeff Hartel said was his best game of the year. The junior guard scored 16 points and picked off 10 boards. His running mate, Steve Muska, scored 16.

While the guards provided the spark, it was a night when the Hawks were far from their best. We need to remain focused, Hartel said, and realize that every team will be primed to play their best game against us.

It was a nip and tuck first half. At the quarter the Hawks were ahead, 15-12, but Sandusky erased that lead in the early moments of the second period.

The Redskins had little trouble with the Hawks' full-court press and solved it for easy baskets and went ahead by 4 points midway through the quarter. The score was tied with 1:50 left and the Hawks had a scant one-point lead at the intermission.

Cass City staged what proved to be the winning rally in the early moments of the third quarter. In the first minute the lead stretched to 38-30 as the Hawks received a little help from the visitors.

The Redskins were charged with 2 technicals and a personal and Paul Murphy, Mr. Automatic, went to the line and converted all 6 attempts.

After that Sandusky never led again, but challenged until midway through the final period.

After giving up the fouls, Sandusky scored 8 unanswered points to trail 41-38 before Morgan converted a free throw to break the streak.

Midway through the final quarter Cass City went up by 9 points as Storm hit a trey and Ulfig a 2-pointer after receiving a pretty feed from Muska.

Despite illness, Morgan led the team with 11 rebounds and Cass City posted a 43-35 edge on the boards. Cass City hit 7 of 15 treys and 17 of 43 overall, while Sandusky shot 42 percent but was only 4 of 14 from 3-point range. Hartel said that the team needs to improve its foul shooting (62 percent), especially down the stretch with the game on the line.

The win was the 21st regular season victory in a row stretching back to last season.

Cass City will be heavily favored to add to the skein Friday when Deckerville comes to town. Next Tuesday Ubyly is expected to provide a test in a Blue Bay Conference game.

Hawks slip by tough Reese 68-67

Whew! The winning streak of the Cass City Red Hawks came within a foul shot of going up in smoke Tuesday when the visiting Reese Rockets staged a late gasp rally before bowing 68-67.

The final 30 seconds of furious action decided the game. The Rockets had stormed from behind to tie the game at 67-all when Steve Muska, a 75 percent foul shooter, was at the line. The senior guard had missed his 2 previous one and one attempts.

He made the first and the second missed, bounced around between the teams and when a Rocket player had the ball the referee ruled his foot was out of bounds.

With 2 seconds left, Paul Ulfig couldn't find a player to pass to from out of bounds and simply tossed the ball into the empty court near his basket and time ran out before Reese got off a shot.

The rally in the closing minutes turned around a game that Cass City appeared to have in hand.

With as little as 2:15 seconds left the Hawks were ahead 67-60 as Kevin Storm hit the last of his 4 3-pointers for the night.

The first half was a seesaw affair. The Rockets moved into an early lead, 14-9, but the Hawks bounced back on a pair of treys by Paul Murphy and a rebound bucket by Ulfig.

In the second quarter, the Rockets bounced back to take a 26-25 lead at the 5 minutes mark. Ulfig and Morgan countered that spurt with baskets to move Cass City back into a 33-26 lead at the 2:26 mark. Baskets by Jim Cody and Chet Kowalski helped Reese move to within a point, 36-35 at the intermission.

Both teams picked up the pace in the opening 2:09 of the third period. Cass City hit 3 treys, 2 by Storm and one by Murphy and the Rockets countered with a trey and a 2-pointer.

When the spurge ended, the Hawks were in front 47-40. Cass City widened its lead to as much as 12 points before the last quarter Reese rally closed the gap.

Cass City shot 40 percent from the field and Reese hit 47 percent. However, in the important 3-point shots, Cass City was 8 of 12 and Reese, 10 of 20.

Led by Ulfig with 14 and Jason Morgan with 11, the Hawks posted a 39-30 rebounding edge. Mike Hein had 10 boards and Kowalski, 9 boards, for Reese.

Hein led all scorers with 22 points that included 5 treys. Ulfig led Cass City with 18 points. He was also credited with 5 blocks which anchored the Hawk defense.

Pleasing to coach Jeff Hartel was the balanced scoring by Cass City. Four of the starters were in double figures and all 5 scored.

Hartel said that it was a good, close game that made the kids perform under pressure against a good team with quality players.

He said that his players had only 9 turnovers. Muska had a good floor game with 8 assists and only one turnover.

Knee Exercise

Whether you need to strengthen your knees because of an injury or just want to get your thighs in shape, there are 2 simple exercises you can do at home.

Half Squat: Stand with feet hip width apart, knees slightly bent, toes pointed slightly outward. Keep your abdominal muscles contracted. Bend your knees and squat until your thighs are parallel to the floor, keeping your heels on the floor (if you can't go to parallel, go as far as you can but don't go past parallel!). Hold for a count of 5, then straighten your legs to the starting position; don't lock your knees.

Wall Squat: This is a more difficult variation of the half squat. Stand with your back against a wall and your feet approximately 1 foot away from the base of the wall. Feet should be hip width apart and toes pointed outward slightly. Bend your hips and knees to 90 degrees as you slide your back down the wall (if you can't go to 90 degrees, go as far as you can but don't go past 90 degrees). Hold this position for 10 seconds then stand up. Gradually increase the time you hold the squat. You may want to have a chair handy to catch your balance.

Legislature votes to extend Care Management Program

The state legislature has passed an appropriations bill to provide funding to the Office of Services on Aging for an extension of the Care Management Program.

The Thumb area was chosen to be a pilot project with bids to be let out for the administration of this program.

Past Commission on Aging member Mike Green of Mayville said the Care Management Program is a pilot to establish a Medicaid waiver allowing health care staff to provide skilled home care for seniors to be administered in the home, and receive funding from Medicaid. The program is designed to be used on an on-going basis - not just for an emergency.

"This $30,000 for the Thumb area will allow seniors to receive professional nursing care in their homes, and in many cases, will keep them from going to a nursing home," Green said.

"This grant will eventually extend programs administered by the Human Development Commission and other agencies that provide services to seniors in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties."

The grant was approved by the Office of Services on Aging and the State Commission on Aging.

HDC Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark said, "The Thumb area is now on the cutting edge of setting a trend for future health care delivery."

Vandemark added she looks forward to this new program benefiting the quality of life of as many seniors as possible in the Thumb.

Green noted that other pilots have been awarded to various parts of the state, and some areas are now receiving the waiver from the Michigan Department of Social Services, with seniors in these areas benefiting greatly.

Green was appointed to the Commission on Aging by Governor Engler in 1990, and recently resigned from that position.

O-G financial facts outlined

Thies estimated that savings at about $120,000. It's money the district didn't have to spend, he acknowledged, but "you have to understand that the $120,000 we didn't spend is money we didn't have."

Teachers' questions at one point focused on the district's tax rate and state equalized valuation (SEV).

Thies said the district levies a total of 45.85 mills, including 39.3 for operations. The district's SEV rose from $30,985,080 in 1992-93 to $34,083,290 in 1993-94.

A couple teachers told the board they're paying 46.28 mills in the district, and said the school should be receiving more in tax revenue with a higher SEV.

CLOSER LOOK

This promised to take a closer look at the school taxes, township by township, as well as to draw up figures comparing property tax revenue and state aid collected last year and this year.

Parks commented the teachers are frustrated, in part, because of the current financial condition of the district painted by the board, despite the extent of cuts already implemented.

She offered some suggestions on behalf of the teachers, including secretarial staffing cuts at the high school, and a reduction or reorganization of administrative positions. Parks also asked if the district plans to take bids on future audits in an effort to save money.

Thies replied "yes," beginning in 1994-95.

Another teacher asked what it costs to open the high school gym on Sunday nights, saying the board is allowing a number of smaller expenses to continue, and it's frustrating.

At the same time, board Trustee Bill Kretzschmer pointed out, a number of needed building maintenance projects are not being done.

Thies, who has announced he won't accept a raise, told the teachers he understands their situation. If the budget estimates are wrong, he said, he will be willing to give the staff a certain percentage of any extra revenue.

Board President Jack Brinkman agreed, but said he feels the district must reinstate band before handing out raises, and when the time comes, increases should go to both certified and non-certified staff members.

3-week early baby boy is healthy

With the help of Dr. Ray, Anthony was born a little more than an hour later, weighing in at 6 pounds, 8 ounces.

"The baby's healthy," beamed Brzuchowski, who suffered only some bruises on her legs in the accident. She confided she was worried about whether the baby had been injured, and was relieved when she was told everything was fine.

Report outages

Edison offers cold weather tips

The record frigid temperatures of January have passed, but Detroit Edison's tips for weathering unavoidable power outages can be helpful for the remaining winter months.

Detroit Edison makes the following suggestions for coping with winter power outages during ice storms, periods of heavy snow and extreme cold:

- Check fuse boxes first for tripped circuit breakers or blown fuses. If there are none, check to see if neighbors also are having a problem.
- Report power outages by calling Detroit Edison at 1-800-477-4747.
- Open water faucets slightly so they constantly drip to prevent pipes from freezing.
- Dress warmly. A hat is an effective way to keep warm because most body heat is lost through the top of the head.
- If possible, select a small, well-insulated room with a fireplace, wood stove or fuel-burning heater as emergency living quarters. Hang cardboard or blankets over windows and doorways to minimize heat loss.
- A fuel-burning heater -- such as kerosene -- requires an area with proper ventilation to prevent buildup of harmful fumes. Never use a gas range for heating or charcoal as an indoor heating or cooking source.

- Keep an emergency supply of fuel or wood handy, but for safety, always store fuel in a dry place away from the house.
- Maintain an easily accessible emergency kit, which should include a battery-powered radio, flashlight, extra batteries, first-aid kit, fire extinguisher and food.
- Turn off or unplug all appliances to prevent an electrical overload when power is restored. Leave on one light switch to indicate when power is restored.
- Disconnect house circuits from Detroit Edison lines if using a portable generator.
- During low-voltage conditions -- when lights are dim and television pictures are smaller -- shut off motor-driven appliances such as refrigerators to prevent overheating and possible damage.

Men flock to hospital for free testing

Early detection of cancer was on the minds of a host of area men who took advantage of a free prostate cancer screening clinic Thursday at Hills and Dales General Hospital in Cass City.

Hospital officials reported 335 people participated in the day-long clinic, which consisted of undergoing a simple blood test that measures the level of prostatic specific antigen (PSA), an indicator of malignancy.

Officials said 220 area residents took part in last year's prostate screening clinic, which also included a digital rectal exam.

Cancer of the prostate is the most common type of cancer among American men, and the second leading cause of cancer deaths among them, according to the American Cancer Society. It was estimated some 165,000 new cases would be diagnosed in 1993, with about 35,000 men dying from the disease.

The risk of developing prostate cancer greatly increases with age. It rarely occurs in men younger than 50. The average age is 72. In the very early stages of prostate cancer, there usually are no symptoms. When symptoms do develop, they vary according to the size and location of the tumor, and are often the same as those for benign prostate conditions.

Symptoms may include weak or interrupted urine flow; inability to urinate or difficulty in starting or stopping urination; the need to urinate frequently, especially at night; blood in the urine; painful or burning urination, and continuing pain in the lower back, pelvis or upper thighs.

Officials say the symptoms could very well indicate prostatic enlargement, infection or other conditions rather than cancer. Still, anyone experiencing one or more of the symptoms is urged to see their physician.

The American Cancer Society recommends that every man over the age of 40 should have a digital rectal examination as part of his regular annual check-up. It's recommended men 50 and over have an annual PSA blood test.

More information is available by calling the Cancer Information Service toll-free at 1-800-4-CANCER (1-800-422-6237).

Toxic to insects

Pest insects like corn earworms may someday get indigestion from munching on genetically-engineered crops. Scientists are tinkering with the plants to boost production of a naturally occurring enzyme that is toxic to insects.
