TWO MOTORISTS, including a Cass City man, were hurt Friday when their vehicles collided at the intersection of M-81 and M-53. One of the drivers, Sylvester Osentoski, 81, Cass City, remained hospitalized Monday.

Two injured in crash at M-53-M-81 intersection

Two motorists were injured Friday when their vehicles collided 4 miles east of Cass

Troopers from the Michigan State Police post in Sandusky reported Sylvester Osentoski, 81, of Cass City, was headed eastbound on M-81 at about 1:45 p.m. when he stopped at the M-53 intersection, then pulled into the path of a southbound truck driven by Robert Cardiel, 36, of Livonia.

The impact of the crash ripped the bed off Osentoski's pickup truck. Both drivers were transported to Hills and Dales

General Hospital in Cass City. Cardiel was treated and released, according to a hospital spokeswoman, who said Osentoski was admitted, but no information is being released on his condition.

Cardiel was wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash. tain whether Osentoski was wearing a restraint.

Troopers were assisted at the scene by Cass City Police, Cass City-Mercy and Marlette Ambulance personnel, and the Elkland Township Fire Department.

The accident remains under investigation. MONDAY CRASH

According to Cass City police, David L. Peruski, 22,

Cass City, was driving east at about 6:03 a.m. when he stopped to make a left turn and was struck from behind by another eastbound vehicle driven by Mark W. Adkins, 31, Cass City.

Peruski was transported by private vehicle to Hills and Dales General Hospital, where he was listed in "fair" condition.

Police reported Peruski was wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident; Adkins, who was not injured, was bond vote Monday

For their money, taxpayers will receive a new 76,217square-foot middle school and a 13,532-foot addition to Campbell School.

With this addition the fourth grade classes will be moved from the middle school, as will special education and pre-school

An expanded library and media center capable of meeting the needs of the electronic age is also an essential part of the plan, Micklash says. Also eliminated will be the need for traveling between buildings and the mixing of fourth Publisher views election in Haire Net.

Major advantages of a new building for the middle school have been outlined by educators. A separate school wing for each class will facilitate the new teaching method now underway that has received approval of most parents.

It will solve the problem of handicapped accessibility and will provide science media center.

If the bond issue passes, tentative plans for the present middle school building have been completed. The building will either be sold to a developer or razed. If removed, Micklash says, about $100,000 can be reclaimed by removal of lockers and other furniture from the building and selling of lots where the building now is located. Top seniors honored at Cass City High School

Cass City High School Principal Russell Biefer recently announced the valedictorians and salutatorian for the 1993-1994 school

The 3 valedictorians graduating with a perfect 4.0 grade point average are David L. Bills, Stacey A. Klinkman and Lindy VanVliet. Sara Wright is this year's salutatorian, with a 3.977 grade point average.

Bills, son of Tom and Janene Bills, 4092 Cemetery Rd., Cass City, is planning on attending college and obtaining a baccalaureate degree. He has not yet determined which university he will attend.

Klinkman, daughter of William and Constance Klinkman, 3711 N. Cemetery Rd., Cass City, plans to attend Michigan State University to study environmental engineering.

During her high school career, Klinkman has been involved in many activities. She was co-captain of the volleyball team this year and has also participated in softball. She is president of the National Honor Society, treasurer of the senior class and editor of the school yearbook Perannos. Klinkman, who has worked in both the principal's and guidance office during her 4 years, is also a member of the Student Council and the School Improvement Team.

She has also helped with the Hawk Herald, the school newspaper.

She has been very active with numerous activities in her church, St. Pancratius Catholic Church, such as being a lector, Eucharistic minister and Sunday School teacher. She has also delivered food baskets to shut-ins and helped with blood drives.

VanVliet is the daughter of Richard and Mary VanVliet, 4875 Schwegler Rd., Cass

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Draper of Saginaw Township, and the granddaughter of Iva Profit of Cass City and the late F.D. Profit.

The bride's gown, designed by Nino Balducci, was a fitted sheath gown of candlelight chantilly lace. The bateau neckline and fitted bodice were enhanced with clusters of pearls and sequins. The detachable cathedral train was designed with chantilly lace and applique cutouts. The hemline of the elaborate train was trimmed in schiffli lace.

Matron of honor was Diane Cornell of Tampa, Fla., and flower girl was Elizabeth Ara Draper of Naples, Fla., niece of the bride.

Best man was Eric Heisig, Lakeland, Fla., son of the groom. Ushers were David Heisig and Steven Heisig, Lakeland, brothers of the

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy S. Garber, Tarpon Springs, friends of the Draper family.

The wedding cake was topped with a replica of the bride and groom. Deborah Draper, Naples, Fla., and Frances Draper of Beaufort, S.C., sisters-in-law of the bride, served as hostesses.

Following their honeymoon on Anna Maria Island, the newlyweds will reside in West Palm Beach, Fla.

More days than not I've on the issue. (I suspect that been asked if I think the community will vote in favor of the bond issue to build a new middle school in Cass

My answer has always been that the issue is too close to call.

There are several negative factors for new school supporters. In every election there is a built-in no vote, persons who are against any and all issues that hit the pocketbook.

The second is the condition of the present middle school. In effect, the very outstanding maintenance of the school over the years has kept it in presentable condition. That's a feather in the hats of the various administrations through the years, but could be a reason for voting against the bond is-

Another negative is the confusion that the school financing reform has left in the minds of the voters. How much more than the 2cent increase in the sales tax will be needed to meet school operating costs and who will pay it?

Another uncertainty is whether or not building new is better than repairing what we have. An early poll indicated that the community was split down the middle a more recent poll would indicate that sentiment has switched and more voters favor new than trying to rebuild the present school.)

An alternate proposal devised by Robert Papovich may induce a few no votes, but not of any significant amount. He proposes delaying the erection of a new building by about 7 years. It takes about a year to get all the necessary approvals and legal requirements out of the way for a school vote.

The reason that nearly everyone I talked with is not in favor of waiting is that inflation has never been a factor in Papovich's moneysaving proposition. Any person who is or has been in the market for a car or a new house can tell you about Those are the negatives. There are plenty of positives. The low interest rate available today may not lead the list but it is certainly one solid plus for building.

The age of the present building erected in 1926 is another. Providing the housing for today's electronic age would be a make-shift affair in the present building.

A very big plus for a new building is that making the present building meet the needs of the handicapped could require an elevator at any time and changes in the stairwells are needed now to meet the fire code.

One factor that outweighs all others is that the climate for new schools appears more positive today than it has in at least the last 20 years.

New schools in Sandusky, in Bad Axe and in Unionville-Sebewaing have been approved, all at a larger cost than the $7.95 million we are asked to okay next Monday.

Local taxpayers have been getting a lot for their education buck as we are one of the lowest cost operations in the state. The school never has been one to dish out bucks needlessly and for that reason, among others, it gets the nod of approval here.

But it's still too close to call and the size of the vote may be a determining factor. Take a minute and let your voice be heard.

Castration row? Stop the world

For an antiviolence ideologue like me, what could be more dismaying than flogging a young man for vandalizing a car?

Well, how about castrating him for raping a woman, or sexually fondling a child? According to news articles and letters to editors, there is apparently widespread public approval for the whipping sentence received by an Ohio teenager for messing up cars and traffic signs in Singapore. A typical reaction came from Ray Krasinski of Detroit:

"You could not find a more honest and deserved sentence. Do you think kids would be doing such things here if the United States had the same penalties?"

Never mind that the Singapore caning on the buttocks breaks the skin, threatening internal trauma, and could cause psychological damage as well. The important point isn't so much what happens to the whipped person, it's the deterrence factor - potential public enemies would be less likely to spray-paint a stop sign if they knew they could be legally assaulted for it.

Never mind that there's no evidence the threat of the electric chair persuades attackers to use a fist instead of a gun. For some people, it must make some kind of sense to believe a smack on the butt is scarier than death by hanging.

Never mind that a wrongly whipped person could later prove his innocence and enjoy hearing an official apology — and perhaps filing a lawsuit - while such delayed justice isn't quite available to recipients of capital punishment.

Oh well. At least U.S. citizens opposed to the barbarity of death rows don't have to fret about castration rows, or even whipping rows. Yet. Last week I received the following letter from my former boss, retired and highly successful Lapeer newspaper publisher Bob

"You may remember 20 years ago when I began writing about my cure for crime castration...people laughed. The last time I brought it up in a column some two years ago - they gave me a smile with a now-run-along' look.

"Now read the enclosed iece from the March 7 New Yorker, a magazine that's about as liberal as you can get. They report and endorse a new drive for castration for sex offenses, pointing out that it is successful in the Scandinavian countries. Holland and Switzerland, reducing recidivism from 78 percent to 4 percent...

"Any farmer knows that when you castrate a bull, a boar or a buck sheep, it loses its sex drive and also any tendency toward violence and any urge to leave home. And some of us know it works on tomcats, too.

20 years ahead of your time. I'd run for the Legislature to promote such a law, but I know my wife would castrate me," Myers concluded.

The unsigned editorial in the liberal New Yorker said: "Our society is so squeamish when it comes to discussing sexual deviance that we tend to demonize sex offenders, forgetting that in many cases they themselves are victims, not only of sexual abuse in their own childhood but also of their overwhelming sexual impulses. "Most of them, every time they exercise their sexual preference, break the law. It amounts to fraud when we offer these men treatment that doesn't work. If castration helps, why not let them have what they want?"

The New Yorker would limit castration to sex offenders who volunteered for it. My friend Myers, one of the smartest people I know, has for 20 years recommended compulsory castration as just punishment for all felonies.

But he's not entirely without leniency. For the first offense, Myers would have only one testicle removed.

A lot of you are nodding yes, perhaps applauding. You agree the time has fi-"It's a terrible thing to be nally come to give up on the present penal/punishment system, forget rehabilitation, therapy, medicine, education and all that jazz. Give criminals a big taste of barbarism.

Area youth help out flood-stricken farmers

A group of area youths recently traveled to Missouri, rolled up their sleeves and went to work, helping 2 farmers clean up the remains of buildings destroyed when the Bois Brule levee in Perry County broke last summer.

It was an all-too brief trip for the teens, who returned with a new understanding of the devastation left by the great flood.

And with a desire to go back and do more to help. The effort was spearheaded by the youth group at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Cass City.

"Our church did a fund raiser for flood relief, and we got into youth group and we were talking about the flood and the effects it was having down there, and they came up with the idea," said church member Chuck Volz, who along with his wife, Linda, accompanied the teens to Missouri.

The feeling was that the group didn't have a lot of money to send, but they could offer a helping hand, he added.

Volz, a district representative for the Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL), contacted one of the organization's representatives in the St. Louis area, and obtained the names of a pair of farmers who could use some help.

The local project received grant funding, including a $1,000 award from AAL. Everyone received tetanus shots, and in a rented 15-passenger van, the group left Easter Sunday for Perryville, Mo., located about 90 minutes south of St. Louis.

What they found upon arriving served as a reminder of what they had seen on news reports last summer, but on a much more graphic

DESTROYED

"Everything was destroyed," commented Jocelyn Volz, one of the teens who took part in the clean-up effort.

"What wasn't destroyed, you could see flood lines almost to the top of every building," agreed Jon Fruendt, 16.

"You could even see the water lines on the trees,' Volz recalled. "Above the water line they were budding and below they were dead."

The group traveled to 2 farms, including one belonging to Pearl Petzoldt, a 61year-old fish farmer whose 150 acres were completely submerged by water last

"He didn't have one building left that he could salvage," Linda said.

The loss of his home meant Petzoldt will have to build elsewhere, if at all. "If they lost their homes, the government wasn't going to let them rebuild on the flood plain," she explained.

The group went to work, helping Petzoldt and another farmer, Charlie Weinrich, clean up buildings that had been destroyed.

Chuck Volz said the youths worked hard in an effort to help salvage building materials. The teens helped dismantle some structures, separating wood from steel, removing nails from sheets of tin roofing, and sorting cement blocks into what could and couldn't be used

6-FOOT WAVES

Volz pointed out much of the damage was due to raging storms after the flooding, resulting in 6-100t waves that crashed into the struc-

In barns filled with hay, the bales acted as buoys, floating the buildings off their foundations, he said, adding the group saw hay bales hanging on power lines.

They heard stories of floating caskets unearthed by flood waters, and the stench of decaying, floating carcasses of animals and fish.

"You can see all the pictures on the news, but until you actually go down and see it. . ." Volz remarked. "Being there gave us a better sense of the frustration they have.

It's a different kind of disaster, Fruendt observed. "The thing about a flood and an earthquake is that a flood doesn't go away," he said.

Despite the destruction, there was a sense that faith is holding the community together, Volz said. "It was really incredible, the attitude of the people — you start to put your life back together and take one day at a time.'

The area teens' enthusiasm was tempered by frustration. After 2 1/2 days of work, they were forced to stop by foul weather that included 20-mile-per-hour winds and temperatures dipping near the freezing mark.

They returned home April 7, nursing a few minor cuts and blisters. And a feeling that they wished they could have accomplished more.

"Some have already said they want to go back because they know there's so much more to be done," Volz said.

Jocelyn Volz added, "It just felt good to help someone else when you know what they're going through watching it on TV."

Carpal Tunnel Syndrome

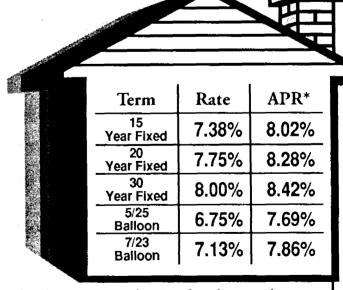

as this barn.

Carpal tunnel syndrome (CTS) is caused by compression of the median nerve that runs through the carpal tunnel, a small and compact area at the wrist. This tunnel, formed by the carpal bones and the transverse carpal ligament, holds nine tendons and the median nerve. Extreme pressure on this nerve within the carpal tunnel, from swelling or inflammation for example, resuits in a variety of characteristic symptoms; weakness, numbness, and tingling of the affected hand. These symptoms are usually worse at night.

This syndrome is most common in women but can occur in anyone. Generally persons involved in heavy lifting or jobs requiring repetitive motions of the hand, wrist and fingers are more commonly affected. Tasks such as fine needlework or computer operations can also cause CTS. Conservative treatment and rehabilitation can relieve the symptoms, but surgical intervention is sometimes needed. Whether you have had surgery or rehabilitation, work station adjustments must be made if long-term relief is to be achieved. See your doctor for a correct diagnosis.

Registration will be from 9 to 9:30 a.m. Cost for the day is $5.00, which includes registration fee and luncheon. Business meeting will begin at 9:30 sharp. The day will end at approximately 2:30

The theme is "Service and Ministry." Father Richard Bokinskie and Cathy Sullivan will present a "Spiritual Musical Meditation" at 10:15 a.m. Liturgy will be at 11:15, followed by the luncheon.

The afternoon program will be presented by Sr. Jo Gaugier O.P. from the Diocesan Ministries Institute. Her topic will be "Ministry of the Laity."

SUE WERSCHKY OF Cass City spends time with her little sister, Chrissy Samons, 7. The pair were matched through Tuscola County Big Brothers/Big Sisters Inc., which is celebrating its 22nd anniversary. Program officials say more adult volunteers are needed.

Sue Werschky reports

Becoming Big Sister is rewarding

Sue Werschky and Chrissy Samons met only a few months ago, but a special bond has already developed between the pair.

It can be seen in a knowing smile, a pat on the back, a few words of encouragement. It's a friendship, one that both hope will endure for many years to come.

Werschky of Cass City, and Samons, a first grade student at Campbell Elementary School, were matched through the Tuscola County Big Brothers/Big Sisters program in February.

We meet regularly on Mondays; I pick her up at school and then I keep her 'till 7 p.m.," Werschky explained.

We went roller skating last week, and we went out to eat," Chrissy said.

PHONE

"Every week we read a executive director of book and we play games. We feed the birds, and I help her with her homework, Werschky added. "We talk about things like kindness, compassion to animals, and feelings.

"Chrissy is a very active child, and I'm interested in a lot of different activities, so as long as we stay structured, she's really inter-

"Between Tuscola and Huron counties, we have over 100 kids that are waiting,' she said, adding a majority of the children are boys, ages 8 to 12 years, living in Tuscola County. "In Cass City alone, I've got 9 boys waiting and I've got 4 girls waiting.

Aside from the traditional big brother/big sister match, Gaudreau said couples are also encouraged to volunteer their time.

"We also have something called 'local hero'," she continued. Local Heroes make a 6-month commitment, getting together with a child 4 times to work on specific goals "and just have a lot of fun together.'

Gaudreau noted Big Brothers/Big Sisters is always open to working around someone's schedule.

And age isn't necessarily a factor. Volunteers can be as young as 21, although program officials will consider someone younger, "and we've screened people up to age 75," Gaudreau said.

A minor disability doesn't have to stand in the way of getting involved, added Werschky, who suffers from a painful arthritic condition. "If there are things you can't do, there are lots of things you can do," she said.

All volunteer candidates are thoroughly screened, and there's an effort to match the interests of the adult and the

The bottom line, Gaudreau said, is friendship.

"They (volunteer) just have to like kids and give their time and be a friend; someone who will listen to (a child) and make them feel special and important."

Werschky, who has been involved in Big Brothers/ Big Sisters since 1989, agreed.

"It doesn't have to cost a lot of money. The majority of things Chrissy and I do are right here (at home), like coloring, feeding the birds, going for walks.'

Being a big sister or a big brother isn't always easy, she acknowledged. "There are a lot of ups and downs. There are discipline problems and differences of opinion, but you just work things out. It's really no problem.

"Actually, it's one of the most rewarding things I've done," she said. "I've enjoyed every minute with Werschky still keeps in contact with her first little sister, who moved from the area in 1992.

Her experience isn't uncommon, Gaudreau pointed out. "Many of these relationships are lifelong."

The rewards are many for volunteers, who share a common desire to have a positive impact on their little brother or sister. Sometimes the payoff on their investment of time isn't apparent right away, but it's there, she

Victories indicate Hawk softball squad ready to defend title

Cass City High School's hitter to take the win. She softball team served notice that it will be a force to be reckoned with in defense of its Blue Bay League title by winning 3 of 4 non-league games last week. The Hawks split with the Caro Tigers and swept the twin bill with Akron-Fairgrove.

The Hawks took the opening game with Akron-Fairgrove, 12-2, as Darcie Monroe hurled a neat onehitter, struck out 11 and walked 4.

The game was decided in the third inning when Cass City scored 6 times to move into an 8-1 lead. Monroe helped her own cause with three hits in 4 tries, scoring 3 and driving in 3 runs. Marlene Shimer also collected 3 hits and scored 2

The Hawks won the second game, called after 3 1/2 innings, with Cass City in front, 14-2. The game was decided in the first inning when Cass City batted around and scored 6 times. A triple by Denelle DeLong knocked in 2 runs in the rally. For the night DeLong had 2 hits in 3 attempts.

The Hawks batted around again in the third, scoring 7 runs. Leading the assault was Jodi LaRoche, who knocked in 2 runs. For the game LaRoche had 2 hits in 3 tries and drove in 3 runs. Lisa Burns spun a neat one-

CARO GAMES

The Hawks split a doubleheader with the Caro Tigers Thursday. They lost the opener in a well-played game, 6-5. The Tiger victory was paced by Gotwalt, arguably the best pitcher in the Thumb this season.

Gotwalt for 12 hits, one more than the Tigers got off Monroe.

It was a tight game all the way. In the top of the second Caro staged a 3-run rally. Cass City got those runs back in their half of the inning. Karla Zinnecker's 2-RBI single was a key blow.

The Cass City Red Hawks opened the baseball season last week with 3 wins in 4 decisions, splitting with the Caro Tigers and winning a pair from Akron-Fairgrove. The team was to swing into Hue Bay League action Monday with a game at Bad Axe, has a non-league contest Wednesday at home against Vassar and will play Harbor Beach at home next Monday.

The Hawks got off to a flying start against Akron-Fairgrove Monday, winning both ends of the doubleeader.

Cass City won the opener, 10-3, in a game that was a lot closer than the final score indicates. The score was tied, 3-3, after 4 innings. The visitors scored all of their runs in the fourth, when Middleton lashed a home run with 2 mates aboard.

Cass City scored 2 in the first and another run in the ourth. In the top half of the last inning Cass City exploded for 7 runs, highlighted by Rob Gnagey's 3run round tripper. Jim Hempton pitched the first 4 innings and Mark Kubacki closed out the game in the fifth. Hempton collected 3 hits in 4 tries.

The Hawks won the nightcap in the 6-inning game, 5-4; Akron-Fairgrove scored 3 times in the first inning and another in the second. After that Hempton and Kubacki strut the visitors out. Hempton pitched the first 4 innings and Kubacki the last 2 to get credit for the win.

Cass City tied the score in the fifth with a 4-run rally. Kubacki drove home 2 with a circuit clout and Matt Anthony drove in a pair with a single.

Kevin Storm slapped a double with Tavis Osentoski on base to win the game in the next inning. Storm and Repshinska were 3 for 3. Jason Morgan pitched the entire game, allowing 3 hits and one earned run.

CARO GAMES

Joe Robinson limited Cass City to just 4 hits and the Caro Tigers manhandled the Hawks, 15-3, in the opening game of the double bill.

Coach Doug Hall said his charges played a very poor defensive game. It was good to get this one out of our system, he added.

The game was decided in the third inning when the visitors scored 5 times, and was turned into a rout in the fifth with an 8-run outburst.

Victims of the uprising were Kubacki, who went 4 1/3 innings, and Storm, who allowed 2 runs before the side was retired.

The Hawks bounced back City was held to just 5 hits, but made the most of 6 walks and Tiger errors.

Morgan helped his own cause with a 3-run homer. Hempton was 2 for 3 and Storm lashed a triple to drive in 2 runs.

Morgan allowed six hits and walked 4. He had excellent support as Cass City played an errorless game in marked contrast to the shabby effort in the opener.

the long jump, 400-meter dash and the 800-meter run. In the boys' competition, Caro amassed 105 points, Jason Morgan was a double winner for the Hawks, taking both the shot and the discus. Miller was a force for the Tigers, winning the 300meter low hurdles and running a leg on the winning 800 and 400-meter relay teams. The Tigers won 13 of the 17 events, Cass City, 2, and Ubly, one.

New Record

Six new records were set in the third annual Gavel Club Relays Saturday at Cass City Recreation Park despite the cold, windy, wet weather. Eleven schools were entered in the competition that features boys and girls together on teams. The meet was won by Caro, with 94 points, with the Lakers second, with 81 points.

The Caro victory was their second in the 3 years the meet has been run. The Tigers took the inaugural meet, but did not defend their title last year.

Cass City finished 5th with 53.5 points.

Other schools in order of finish and points earned were: Bad Axe, 4th, 64; Marlette, 6th, 37.5; North Branch, 7th, 35; Imlay City, 8th, 27; Bay City All Saints, 9th, 8; Ubly, 10th, 3, and Kingston, 11th, one.

Cass City broke its own meet record in the sprint medley with a mark of 2:16.93 to erase the old mark of 2:22.03.

Tobacco ads and exports should go

The question for the week, "Do the current bans and limitations on smoking restrict the individual rights of the smokers?", brought about a wide ranging discussion by Evelyn MacRae with an assist by Jane Hittler.

Essentially, the verdict was that adult smokers should be allowed to smoke as long as they do not do it in an area that may pose a problem to non-smokers.

Although MacRae is sympathetic to the desires of adult smokers, she positively sees a need for change in 2 areas. One is the advertising that is targeted towards youths. It should be banned in newspapers, magazines and other media as well as television, she says.

Township to hire assessor

The Elkland Township for many years, Wallace Board last week voted to hire an assessor.

Township officials will begin advertising for the suming, making it difficult $6,270-per-year position soon, Clerk Norma Wallace reported following the board's April 11 monthly meeting.

Currently, township Supervisor Dave Milligan also serves as assessor.

It's an arrangement that worked well in the township noted. However, she added, the job of assessor has become increasingly time confor one person to do both In other business last week, the board: •Reviewed a map from the county road commission outlining planned gravel road repairs this summer. Gravel will be placed on one-mile stretches of Crane,

Milligan, Buehrly, Daus, Richie and Huron Line roads. •Voted to pay minor expenses, such as mileage, related to the post of zoning administrator. The expenses will be in addition to a salary of $1,000.

 Passed a resolution stating the township will seek sealed bids for projects to-

Spence and Muntz roads, as talling at least $20,000. well as on portions of Wallace said the resolution will enable the township to continue receiving state revenue sharing funds.

Exercise to Lose Weight

Everyone wants to lose weight, and everyone thinks that exercise is a quick, though not easy, way to do it.

Actually exercise is a relatively slow way to lose weight. There are 3500 calories in each pound of fat, and this is more than enough to run a marathon. If you run five miles a day every day of the week, you would burn up only one pound of excess fat each week.

The weight loss is even less on the scale because the training will increase the muscle mass slightly. This is good, of course, but the weight is what a person looks at.

Exercise is very important though, and it helps in many ways. It helps decrease the appetite. Your eating habits usually improve right along with increased fitness. This may be most beneficial because a person tends to cut out snacks that would otherwise be eaten. An ounce of potato chips is the equivalent of running almost two miles or biking over five miles.

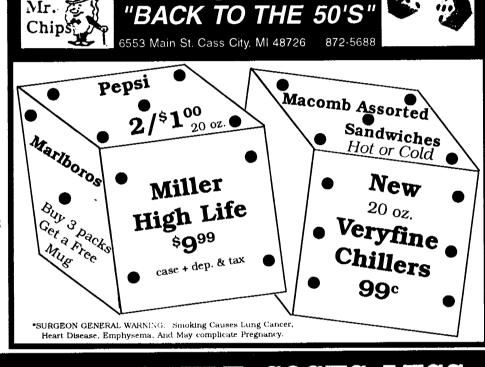

Exercise also promotes healthier lifestyles. A person may take the stairs rather than the elevator, or walk or bike to the post office rather than take the car. Over time, these small improvements in a person's physical activity and snacking habits can make a big difference in a person's weight and health.

Losing weight and staying at an ideal weight is a lifelong battle for most people. Lifestyle changes are the most effective way to control weight, and regular exercise is one of the best ways to provide the necessary motivation to make these changes.

5 reasons why the April 25th bond proposal in the Cass City Public School District should be supported:

- 1. Handicap accessibility issues must be addressed.
- 2. Our school district is out of debt.
- 3. Interest rates are low.
- 4. We must plan and construct school buildings for the future, just as our community did years ago.
- 5. Modern, up-to-date facilities will help us prepare our students for the competitive, technological world.

VFW post elects officers

Members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3644, which begins its eleventh year in Cass City, elected officers last week for the 1994-95 year.

The new officers are: Keith Adelberg, com-mander, Carl Mayhew, senior vice-commander; Robert Speirs, junior vice-commander; Jack Esau, quartermaster; and Laurence Englehart, chaplain. Trust-ees are Harry Wright, Oscar Brooks and Fritz Pomeroy.

The new officers will be installed in May and take over their duties in July.

tion of the ride will again be the Walbro Corporation parking lot on Garfield Street. Last year's local effort by 37 riders and numerous volunteers raised $1768. Founded by entertainer Danny Thomas, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital opened in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases that afflict children. Scientists and physicians work side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment, but also the causes, cures and prevention of leukemia, Hodgkins disease, sickle-cell anemia and other child killers. All findings and information gained at the hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world.

The bike-a-thon in Cass City is sponsored by Trinity and Salem United Methodist Churches, First Presbyterian Church, and St. Pancratius Catholic Church. Information and sponsor sheets will be available at Rawson Memorial Library April 22.

19 attend retirees' meeting

Nineteen Cass City Retired Persons met April 14 at Hills and Dales Hospital.

President Edna Simcox opened the meeting with the group saying the pledge to the flag and singing one verse of "America The Beautiful."

Each place setting had an Easter basket and a few of the ladies wore funny Easter hats.

A short business meeting was held. Poems were read by Yvonne Burleson, Lillian Hanby, Deloris Fleming and Edna Simcox.

After lunch, bingo was played. Prizes went to Deloris Fleming, Myrtle McColl, Florence Mayhew and Dorothy Smith. Happy birthday was sung to Millie Mark. At the May meeting, members are to bring a picture of their mother, in her younger or older years.
