Agency to help seniors stay home

Senior citizens in the upper Thumb who want to continue living in their own homes, but need assistance to remain independent, may benefit from a service new to the area.

The Region VII Area Agency on Aging opened a Care Management office Aug. 1 in Cass City to serve Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties' elderly population.

Care Management is a program designed to locate, mobilize and manage a variety of home care and other services needed by seniors, aged 60 and older, who are at high-risk of entering a nursing home or who are already in an extended care setting and are able to return to their homes with some assistance.

"By and large, older people would prefer to stay home as long as possible, and that's the reason and goal of this program," said Pamela Ogden, program manager for Region VII.

Meeting that goal at the Cass City office, located in the former Clothes Closet building at 6519 Main St., is the responsibility of a 3-person staff composed of Margie Shaft, administrative assistant; Margaret Worthington, registered social worker, and Kathy Aumann, registered nurse.

According to the trio, the first step is a pre-screening of a potential client, consisting of several questions about daily activities to determine eligibility.

"It evaluates the risk and really the need for our services," Worthington explained. "Not everyone needs the kind of intensive services we'll be providing."

ASSESSMENT

If it's determined the client has multiple needs, Worthington and Aumann meet with the client to conduct an in-depth assessment. The assessment evaluates health status, social and emotional needs, ability to function in the home setting, financial status and available support from family, friends and neighbors.

The staff then sets up a care plan including services ranging from legal and financial assistance to meeting housing, physical and mental health needs.

Care Management is not the care provider, Worthington pointed out, adding the program's role is to coordinate the various services. "I see what we do as advocacy; making the connections for (clients), and advocating for them when things go awry."

Shaft emphasized that all clients are assured input into their care plan.

"We do not put anything in place unless the client and family approve and are comfortable with the program and plan," she added.

Monitoring the progress of each client is a key component. Please turn to back page.

Deborah Sopo takes over at hospital

Deborah Sopo, the new president and CEO of Hills and Dales General Hospital, assumes her new duties Aug. 26.

Sopo's strength is said to be as a team builder whose focus is steadfast on customer satisfaction and outcomes.

Deborah Sopo

Her strong proactive style leads to development and implementation of programs that deliver cost-effective quality services. Joint ventures, business development and physician relationships are some of her strengths.

Previously Sopo was director of ambulatory care at St. Joseph's Health Centre in London, Ontario, where she was responsible for developing 30 departments and programs. St. Joseph's is a 900 plus bed tertiary level teaching hospital affiliated with the University of Western Ontario.

Prior to her position in London, Sopo was vice-president, North Oakland Medical Centre in Pontiac, a 365-bed community hospital where she was administratively responsible for 3 divisions inclusive of ambulatory services, professional services and psychiatry. The divisions included 40 physicians, 465 staff members and 13 departments.

Sopo has diverse experience in all levels of health care management in a myriad of settings including acute care hospitals, multi-specialty physician group practices, off-site ambulatory care centers, surgi centers, academic clinic settings, day hospitals, durable medical equipment, home health and pharmacy.

She received her bachelor of pharmacy degree with honors from Ferris State University and her MBA with high honors from Wayne State University. Her fellowship in public administration/policy was granted from New York University and the National Association of Public Hospitals.

Professional memberships include American College of Health Service Executives, Canadian College of Health Service Executives, American Hospital Association, Society of Ambulatory Care Professionals, Ontario Hospital Association, Ambulatory Care Association of Ontario, Rotary, Beta Gamma Sigma (honors business) and several pharmacy organizations as well as Rho Chi (pharmacy honors).

Sopo has presented at numerous conferences on management skills, women's issues, health care management and ambulatory services.

She is looking forward to her new position with enthusiasm and energy and is delighted to be a part of the community.

Extensive damage

Cows, barn lost in Zimba fire

No estimate is available yet on the losses caused by an early morning fire last week at Zimba Farms, 7995 Mushroom Rd., but fire officials say the figure will total thousands of dollars.

A hired hand at the dairy farm, located a quarter mile west of Lamton Road, discovered the fire at about 1:10 a.m. Wednesday.

Lamotte Township Fire Chief Bob Smith said buildings at the farm were "pretty much engulfed in flames" when fire fighters arrived at the scene.

Destroyed were an old hay barn and several free stall buildings, according to the fire chief, who said the milking parlor also sustained significant damage. The house was not involved.

"They didn't have an exact count on animals, but I know there's at least 2 cows and several calves (that died)," he added.

The blaze is believed to have started somewhere near the hay barn, but the cause was undetermined, Smith said.

Lamotte Township firemen remained at the scene for nearly 8 hours. They were assisted by the Moore Township, Argyle Township, Marlette and Kingston fire departments.

County may ask again for basic communication system

Tuscola County Central Dispatch officials hope to present a reduced funding request for a new emergency communication system to voters in November.

"The administrative policy board for central dispatch has voted to send to the board of commissioners a proposal asking for one mill for 3 years," said Undersheriff Jim Fyvie.

The motion was approved during a meeting of the policy board Thursday morning. Commissioners are expected to act on the proposal during a special meeting Friday.

Voters rejected a pair of funding proposals for new emergency equipment and construction of a dispatch center earlier this month in the Aug. 2 primary election.

Requests of one mill for 3 years and a 16-percent phone surcharge increase were defeated 3,813-2,549 and 3,711-2,674, respectively.

The proposals would have generated a combined $4.4 million over 3 years.

Fyvie explained Friday that officials are now proposing to buy a "bare bones" communication system. "There are no bells or whistles of any kind on this thing. We've scaled it down at this point as far as it can be scaled."

If approved, the plan is to purchase mobile radios, walkie-talkies and pagers for all county police and fire departments and ambulance crews.

Fyvie noted some people were apparently upset because some of the equipment would go to privately-owned ambulance services. The truth, he said, is all the services are non-profit organizations that are exempt from federal taxes.

"There's no money going to private enterprise," he added. "They represent only a small part of the cost, and we need them in the communication link."

Hard working area Amish family clings tightly to old traditions

by John Haire
Publisher

It was my first contact with one of the growing community of Amish families when Charley Carpenter and I turned into the farm of the Robert Benders.

What kind of people are these? I asked myself, that drive those horses and buggies and have semi-divorced themselves from the conveniences of modern America? How do they survive on a 180-acre farm, half of which is rented, not farmed?

I received my first clue when we drove in about 8:30 a.m. and waited while the morning prayer service that followed breakfast was concluded.

Before Robert Bender, a stocky middle-aged man with a long flowing beard, came to greet us, 12-year-old Ivan, a bright, articulate youngster, chatted briefly while waiting to begin again the work on the farm.

Begin again? Sure, the milking by hand of 14 cows had already been completed. It was a family affair. Helping mom and dad were Ivan, who milked 4, and his younger brother, 2. Other children helped with the feeding.

After a half hour chat with the Benders, it became apparent that the Amish are tradition bound and their lives center around the family and their religion.

Why do you learn a version of the German language, I wondered, in English speaking United States? It's traditional for these families whose ancestors migrated from Switzerland. German is spoken in the home and is the language for church services. Period. The Benders are a bilingual family, speaking flawless unaccented English.

Only men serve in church offices and the pastor is "ordained by God" and nominated by men in the district.

THE SCHOOLS

Just completed with the help of 14 Amish men from Ohio is a school on Pringle Road. It's the first of 2 to be built in the area. The second school is slated to be erected on Huron Line Road. The object is to keep the enrollment below 25 so that state water inspections will not be necessary.

They are eight-grade schools and the teaching, according to a pamphlet about the schools, is to enable the children "to earn an honest living and lead a Christian life." Basic courses are taught.

OFTEN ASKED

How do you survive economically? I wondered. That's the question I've been asked most often, Bender says, and the answer is that it's tough.

But, he said, all farmers have it tough. Many buy expensive equipment and need more land, then more equipment and are they better off?

We grow hay, corn and oats, Bender explained. And a good crop of ragweed, he joked.

THE TRACTOR WAS used to haul some farm machinery to the Robert Bender farm. It will not be used in the field. The Benders do not use any rubber-tire vehicles.

THIS SCHOOL ON Pringle Road was nearly completed with the help of 14 Amish farmers from the Cleveland, Ohio, area. It is one of 2 eight-grade units in the area that will house a maximum of 25 students. It will have outdoor plumbing.

Your neighbor says Okay to ban alcohol-cigarette advertising

The forces that want to curtail cigarette smoking and drinking have a strong ally in Robert R. Jewell of Gagetown.

He goes right down the line with the foes of tobacco. Yes, he says, the tobacco companies are slanting their advertising towards young persons. Yes, it should be banned from magazines, newspapers and billboards just like it is from television. Jewell kicked the habit more than a decade ago.

As far as the retired General Motors worker is concerned, the ban should be extended to include all alcoholic beverages.

We have a major drinking problem with the kids right now, he believes, pointing to problems at school dances and various parties.

In addition to strong opinions about smoking and drinking by minors, Jewell has an idea that he thinks might solve the current problem in establishing a national health policy that will take care of the presently uninsured.

We should have a national lottery that includes all 50 states. That would generate enough money to take care of the uninsured and not be a burden on the taxpayers, he feels.

Jewell and his wife of 41 years, Christine, have 6 children.

I didn't know that department. Michigan has more public golf courses than any other state in the United States. The total now exceeds 600.

There has been no decrease in the number (52,000) or the total acreage (10.7 million) of farms in Michigan in the past year. The average size of a Michigan farm is 206 acres.

For years Labor Day marked the end of summer vacation, if not the end of summer. But that indicator is becoming more blurred.

All sports teams are in action already and school starts before the holiday. In days of yore, sports pictures never were snapped before school convened.

Weekend traffic is as strong after Labor Day these days as it is in summer. Last year during the color season there wasn't a motel room available from Traverse City to Boyne City on one Saturday night, and most times this year I saw vacancy signs every weekend I visited.

Just asking? Was the sweet corn especially good this year or did I just happen to get extraordinarily good corn from the generous Ken Martins?

Hours after jail release

Vassar man charged in knife attack on spouse

A Vassar man arrested Friday night on a misdemeanor stalking warrant allegedly attacked his wife with a knife early Sunday morning, hours after he posted a $1,000 cash bond and was released from the Tuscola County Jail.

Gary G. Butterfield, 42, Vassar, was arraigned Sunday morning on charges of assault with intent to murder his wife, Lynne A. Butterfield, 41, and assault with a dangerous weapon.

Butterfield, who was ordered to stay away from his wife as a condition of his earlier bond, was denied bond during his arraignment Sunday. A preliminary examination was scheduled for 9 a.m. Sept. 2.

According to reports, the alleged attack took place at the People's Choice Market in Vassar.

Vassar Police Chief John Horwath said Butterfield entered the store sometime around 1:20 a.m. and began to "hound" his wife. An off-duty police officer who witnessed the confrontation went to call for another officer to respond to the scene, and as he went to make the call, Butterfield produced a knife and slashed at his wife, the chief said.

The victim suffered an 8-inch cut running from her ear down to her throat area, Horwath said.

She was transported to a Saginaw area hospital, where she was listed in serious condition Monday afternoon.

In other recent district court arraignments:

•Jeffrey E. Sting, 17, Fairgrove, was charged with uttering and publishing allegedly involving a $40 check drawn on State Savings Bank of Caro, Fairgrove office, June 30.

Bond was set at $3,000, and a preliminary exam was scheduled for 9 a.m. Friday.

•John Torrez Sr., also known as John R. Torrez, 41, Unionville, was arraigned on 2 counts of conspiracy to deliver marijuana.

The offenses allegedly took place last spring and fall 1992-spring 1993 in Tuscola County, according to court records, which said Torrez was indicted on the charges by the Multi-County Citizens Grand Jury.

Bond in the case was set at $8,000. A preliminary exam is to be held at 9 a.m. Sept. 2.

•William V. Speckine, 34, Fairgrove, was arraigned on a charge of conspiracy to deliver marijuana December 1991-February 1993 in Tuscola County. The charge is the result of a Multi-County Citizens Grand Jury investigation.

Bond was set at $4,000 and a preliminary exam was scheduled for 9 a.m. Sept. 9.

•Thomas E. Kotewa, 22, Bay City, was charged with 2 counts of uttering and publishing allegedly involving checks of $200 drawn on the Healthcare Family Credit Union, Vassar, July 12 and 13.

Bond was set at $6,000. A preliminary exam is to be held Friday morning.

•Jay R. Champlin, 37, Silverwood, was arraigned on a charge of manufacturing marijuana June 28 in Dayton Township.

Bond was set at $4,000 and a preliminary exam was slated for Friday morning.

•Benjamin K. Taylor, 19, Caro, was charged with perjury before the Multi-County Citizens Grand Jury July 13.

Bond was set at $8,000. A preliminary exam is to be held Friday morning.

The Haire Net

After 30 years, the Haire house will be locked. There's more to locking up our house than first appears. First you have to have a key. There must have been some around sometime but they disappeared years ago. Maybe rusted away?

One of the locks no longer works and had to be replaced.

The decision to lock up was probably inevitable, given the way things are going in Cass City, in the Thumb and all over rural Michigan.

The decision to lock up had been under consideration for awhile, but action was delayed until galvanized by the news of the day. For many years, weeks and months would go by before a murder, an assault or other serious crime would make the front page.

When the Aug. 10 edition hit the street, the front page included a story of a man charged with murder, a hammer beating in Arbelia township, concern about vandalism at Owen-Gage High School and a woman charged with drug fraud.

Granted that was an exceptional week, but it would be more than a year's quota in days gone by.

It reflects the times, of course, and the trend toward more violence and criminal behavior won't abate.

There's a change in attitude, probably accelerated as families move in and out.

When we were less mobile, the community was closer. Let me illustrate. It was probably 15 years or so ago that this practice was stopped, when the death of a business person or other community leader resulted in the closing down of every firm in town in respect and to give everyone a chance to attend the funeral.

There was a time when competing firms refused to handle a product because a neighbor and competitor handled it.

When I was a kid in Pinconning, school let out every fall for a "beet vacation." There was no school so students could help out in the fields.

Let's not look at that era through rose-colored glasses. Everyone would like to return to that era of safety and friendliness, until you add up the cost.

There were darn few jobs available and one of the big issues of the day was how to keep the youth of the community at home.

The answer, of course, was jobs that paid enough to provide a living. Jobs that provided second incomes and lifted the standard of living in the community.

Measured by that yardstick, chances are that a majority, an overwhelming majority, would vote to have things as they are today rather than the way they used to be.

This writer is with the majority.

"If It Fitz...."

Park outing brings memories, apology

By Jim Fitzgerald

The day after, looking back at my birthday party, I worried that I'd behaved sacrilegiously, perhaps desecrating the memory of men who fought and died for our country.

We were in Pine Grove Park in Port Huron, near a monument erected in 1893, while Terrible Jean, my much older sister, watched.

Terrible Jean outdid her usual cheap self this year. As previously reported, she annually sends me a personalized, expensive sister-to-brother birthday card. And it is always a card sent a few weeks earlier to her husband by his sister. Terrible Jean simply crosses out their names and scribbles in ours. I'm used to that.

But this time, on the outside of the envelope, there was a new note. It said, "Thanks for the envelope." A subsequent investigation revealed that Terrible Jean had not only mailed me a second-hand card, she'd enclosed it in a pretty pink envelope stolen from our home the last time she invaded it.

I can hardly wait until my next birthday. Terrible Jean will probably dig up a relative who is a postal worker and have him deliver a used card in a swiped envelope with no stamp on it.

Did I tell you that for our wedding anniversary, Terrible Jean gave my wife and me an impressive 6-foot bottle of ancient-vintage champagne without one drop of champagne in it? I swear to God. She had the gall to claim the liquid must have evaporated while it was stored in her basement for 90 years.

PARK BRINGS BACK MEMORIES

But back to Pine Grove Park. It is only a block from my boyhood home, and I used to play there almost daily with my best buddy, Dick Davis, who still lives in Port Huron when he's not in Florida. Davis is currently on my mind because I just read that, at a London auction, a collector paid $22,000 for the first Superman comic book, published in 1938. Oh, my.

In 1938, at age 11, with Davis as henchman, I regularly shopped Superman comics books from the local Cunningham's drugstore, and I surely got the original. My father found out and made me return to the store every comic book piled in my bedroom, even the one I paid for.

If Dad were alive today, he'd die at the thought of costing his wonderful son $22,000, which I could really use because all I got for my birthday was vodka, peanut butter crackers and Alka Seltzer.

KIDS SEE STATUE DIFFERENTLY

Anyway, the park monument built in 1893 honors the men who served in the "War of the Rebellion," which is what Terrible Jean and her contemporaries used to call the Civil War. At the top there's a statue of a soldier who is holding a wide-stocked musket that Emily, my 12-year-old granddaughter, mistook for a broom. She said it was nice of the park to honor janitors.

Hey, I want grandchildren who don't know what guns look like.

In the same park area, there are several other smaller monuments and some Civil War cannons. It juiced my immortality to see Adam, my 3-year-old grandson, straddle the very same cannon snout that I straddled at the same age, 65 years earlier.

And it was fun to chase Adam and his 4-year-old best buddy, Patrick, around the monuments and weapons. Kids love to be snuck up upon from around corners, and they shriek wildly at the first glimpse of you. Our noise undoubtedly attracted the attention of nearby picnickers, who might well have thought our boisterous behavior was inappropriate for a war memorial.

A man my age should know better. Especially when you consider that one of those monuments bears the names of local men killed in World War II, including my cousins Bob and Jack Smith.

So I'm sorry if I offended anyone that Sunday afternoon in Pine Grove Park.

The 2 little boys, of course, didn't know any better. They're not old enough to remember a war, or to understand why they or their cousins might someday have to die fighting a war.

Hey again, wouldn't it be nice to keep it that way?

Composting workshop
Set Aug. 29 at library

Multi-County Recycling will be holding free backyard composting workshops at the Rawson Memorial Library, Cass City at 3:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. on Monday, August 29. Anyone interested in learning how to compost leaves, grass, weeds, and food waste is encouraged to attend. Compost is a nutrient-rich soil enhancer which may be used throughout your yard and garden. Also, discover how to compost indoors with red worms, learn why you should mulch with wood chips and grass, and find out what grass-cycling means. Instructions will be available so those attending may make their own compost bins at home and many commercial bins will be displayed.

35 attend Owen-Gage
senior citizens' meet

The Owen-Gage Seniors met recently with 34 members and one guest present. Beatrice Jones said the prayer before the meal and Sister Joan also led the group in prayer.

Stella Pisarek won the women's door prize and Les Beach won the men's.

Prizes for cards went to Mary Thomas, high for women, John Zawilinski, high for men, Bob Schell, low, and Berenice Sowden, traveling.

The committee for September includes Eva Tashner, Louise Ashmore and Mr. and Mrs. John Zawilinski.

At an Aug. 4, meeting 32 members gathered at the St. Agatha's Parish Hall in Gagetown for a potluck dinner.

There was a moment of silence in memory of Florence Schell before the table grace was said by Les Beach.

President Orville Mallory opened the meeting by leading the members with the Lord's Prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance, before introducing the guests from First of America Bank, Warren Abbs, Janet Rink and Doris Bang.

Abbs, a trust consultant working out of the Bad Axe office, gave a short talk on different ways for senior citizens to invest in stocks and bonds and avoid probate court with a variable annuity. He is available for any senior who has questions about investing.

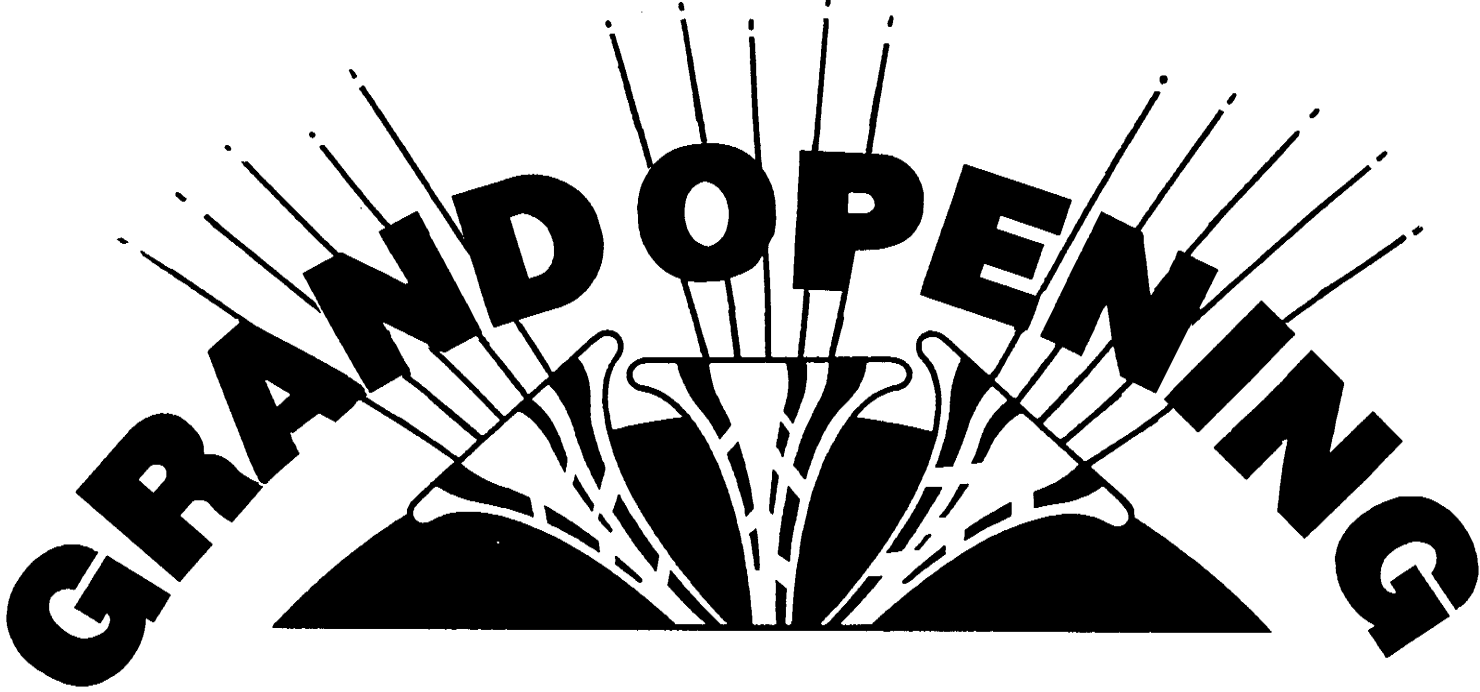

Doris Bang handed out pamphlets concerning the saving of the Octagon Barn of Gagetown.

Happy Birthday was sung for Mike Pisarek and Amasa Anthes. Congratulations were given to Amasa and Virginia Anthes, who celebrated their 54th anniversary.

The door prizes were won by Mike Pisarek and Lillian Jacoby.

Bingo and cards were played following the meeting.

AN ESTIMATED 1,000 people attended Saturday's Octagon Barn Festival in Gagetown. The event raised about $3,000, which along with other monies totaling some $10,000 will be used to repair and stabilize the historical 8-sided barn.

Challenge

New O-G band teacher set to rebuild program

Donna Robinson probably couldn't have accepted a bigger challenge.

Her job? Organize a group of 19 junior high and high school students, who had no band program last year due to budget cuts, into a marching band ready to take the field in a little over 3 weeks. "This is really going to be a challenge. (Losing a year) really makes a difference in the program," Robinson commented Friday as she prepared for the third and final day of a band camp she quickly organized after being hired as the new band instructor in the Owen-Gage School District.

Still, she added, "They've been working hard this week. I have high hopes for them and I think they're going to do well."

"The students have a good attitude. They really want to have a good band program. Even last year when they didn't have band, they had a (volunteer) band."

Robinson's hiring about 2 weeks ago has topped off a busy year for the Livonia native, who graduated from Eastern Michigan University in December and married a month later. Since graduation, she has worked as a substitute teacher and assistant softball coach in the Laker School District.

Interestingly, her husband, Rusty Robinson, is the Lakers band director.

"It's kind of neat," she said. "He's been very helpful. It's nice to have someone to bounce ideas off of."

Although her band students are behind, Robinson expects time and practice will pay off. "We're going to do everything to bring them up to the level where they were, and then take it a step higher," she said. "It's just going to take time."

Her long-term goals are to strive for continued improvement, and to build up numbers.

"I think it will happen. I think the numbers will come back," she continued, adding when others see that band members are enjoying themselves, the program will draw the interest of more students.

Robinson pointed out her students already have a lot going for them.

"They want to be good," she explained. "That's half the battle."

Crowds invade Gagetown

Octagon barn bash raises $3,000

Gagetown came alive Saturday with the smell of food, the sound of conversation and laughter, and the sight of people. Lots of people.

"I don't recall ever seeing a bigger crowd" in Gagetown, commented Wayne Dillon, who served as master of ceremonies during Saturday's Octagon Barn Festival in Gagetown.

One 82-year-old man, who has lived in the Gagetown area since the 1930s, said Saturday's parade was the first he could recall taking place in the village, Dillon added.

Despite rain storms that arrived shortly after noon and returned later in the evening, the festival was deemed a big success, thanks to community support.

Rose Putnam, chairman of the Octagon Barn Committee, said the turnout met her expectations. "You bet it did, and more," she added. "It got the word out that we're serious about this."

"It was more than just a festival; it was a proving ground," she said. "What we had to find out — which we did this weekend — is how serious (the community) is about committing to us before we proceed."

Festival officials don't have an exact count, but estimated at least 1,000 people — from Oakland County in southeastern Michigan to Huron County — attended Saturday's festivities, which featured a parade, an all town garage sale, children's events, contests and musical entertainment.

Some 700 visitors signed a register set up at the historical barn, located west of the village on Richie Road.

Putnam said the one-day festival generated about $3,000, bringing the total raised to-date to more than $10,000.

The money has come from fund raisers sponsored by the Owendale Lions Club, Sherwood on the Hill and the Gagetown Inn, as well as from donations and the sale of souvenirs and "Save the Octagon Barn" T-shirts.

All of the monies raised will go towards repairing the barn, built in 1923-24 by then Gagetown banker and lumber yard owner James L. Purdy.

The Octagon Barn Committee, a project of Tuscola 2001, has already contracted with John Guc, Cass City, to repair a large hole in the roof at the front of the barn at a cost of $3,600. Four area lumber companies have donated materials for the project, now underway, according to Putnam, who said other repairs will follow in an effort to stabilize the structure before winter.

"The DNR has given us a permit to work until Sept. 15, so we will proceed with additional repairs" as funding allows, she added.

Barn restoration groups have estimated it will cost $10,000 to $15,000 to completely stabilize the barn.

Aside from fund raising, the Octagon Barn Committee is working on a 10-step proposal outlining its plans to restore and preserve the barn.

The committee's next meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Aug. 30 at the Gagetown Village Hall in Gagetown.

BARN BASH — The Octagon Barn Festival offered plenty of food, games, contests and a parade with several entries, including this float featuring a miniature version of the octagon barn.

3 enter pleas, 5 sentenced Friday

Three people entered pleas and 5 others were sentenced Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Tara E. Charboneau, 17, Deford, entered a plea of no contest to felonious assault April 26 in Mayville.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered, bond was continued at $40,000 and the defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

Jacob Bedell, 18, Caro, received 3 prison terms for his pleas of guilty to breaking and entering an occupied dwelling, attempted jail escape and probation violation.

Court records state the break-in occurred Feb. 22 at a Cass City residence; the attempted escape took place April 5 at the county jail in Caro, and the probation violation involved Bedell's association with an individual with a criminal record.

Bedell was ordered to serve 3 to 15 years on the first charge and 15 months to 2 years on the second count, according to records, which state the terms are to run consecutively. Bedell, who was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department, received a term of 2 1/2 to 5 years for probation violation.

Gregory L. Campbell, 40, Camden, Tenn., was sentenced to 10 to 30 years in prison for a jury verdict of guilty to breaking and entering and being an habitual offender (fourth offense), and to 10 to 15 years for larceny in a building. He was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

Court records state Campbell broke into The Medicine Shop in Mayville April 5, 1993, and stole money and drugs.

Virgil Staudacher, 20, Port Huron, was sentenced to 18 months to 5 years in prison for a plea of guilty to abducting with bond Feb. 16 in Caro, and 24 months to 5 years for a plea of guilty to being an accessory after the fact of a felony (breaking and entering) Oct. 16, 1993, in Tuscola Township.

The terms are to run consecutively, according to court records, which state the defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

Tina M. Weeks, 21, Lapeer, was sentenced to 2 years probation and 60 hours of community service for her plea of guilty to perjury before the Multi-County Cityzens Grand Jury April 7.

She was also ordered to pay court costs and fines totalling $450 plus attorneys fees, oversight fees of $480 and a $30 victim crime fee.

Christopher M. Popp, 22, Caro, was sentenced to 67 days in jail for a plea of guilty to probation violation — conviction of attempted breaking and entering of a motor vehicle Jan. 31.

Probation was reinstated. Popp was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

Raymond J. Caraballo, 30, Cass City, pleaded innocent to a charge of probation violation — failure to report June 16 or anytime thereafter.

A pre-trial hearing is to be scheduled. A $5,000 personal recognizance bond was set.

John P. Husarick, 17, Millington, pleaded innocent to probation violation — violating the Tuscola County Jail Worksite Program by walking away from a job site and not returning.

The defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. A pre-trial hearing is to be scheduled.

TRAVELERS' DIARRHEA

It can ruin a vacation. Travelers' diarrhea, which is caused by a toxin from bacteria, can be quite severe. But there are things you can do to prevent it, or if it occurs, to treat it fairly quickly.

Mexico and Central America, Asia, Africa, and the Middle East are the areas of high risk. Southern Europe and the Caribbean islands have a lower risk.

The National Institute of Health recommends not treating until an infection develops. Many travelers and doctors, however, feel that it is better to be safe by taking an antibiotic routinely. The side effects from the antibiotics are minimal.

Several antibiotics can be taken prophylactically. Sulfas, tetracyclines, or newer antibiotics can all be used. The sulfas are probably better than tetracyclines since some people get a reaction from sunlight after taking tetracycline. The newer antibiotics may be better than either of them. Any of these antibiotics can be used prophylactically or after the infection has started.

Another medicine that is quite effective is Pepto-Bismol. This should be taken frequently and in large amounts which makes it less convenient.

For mild diarrhea, the common drugs used to slow the gut are also quite useful. One should also avoid dairy products, caffeine-containing products and alcohol.

One can decrease the chance of getting the infection by being careful not to eat raw fruits or vegetables and drinking only bottled beverages. A person should consult his doctor before a trip to get the appropriate medicines he may need.

Body language works with animals, too

You may think of body language as only applying to people, but it works with animals too. For example, cows are gentle and social animals and respond to a person who has calm and quiet body language. Cows communicate with body language, too. A tail that's hanging straight down means the animal is relaxed. Ears that stand straight up means the cow has been startled.

Sheep

Sheep may have been the first domesticated animals. They've been raised for food and wool for 10,000 years.

First game Tuesday at Reese

Hawks will use quickness to overcome lack of size

When the Cass City Red Hawk basketball team takes to the hardwood at Reese next Tuesday, everything will be new. It will be a new season, a new league with new opponents, and a new schedule that includes regular season games played on Saturday afternoon for the first time.

The new 6-team National Division of the Thumb C League includes newcomers Cros-Lex, a class B school, and Bay City All Saints, with a tradition of athletic team powerhouses.

In recent years the Hawks have been rated the team to beat in the former 4-team Blue Bay League and presently reign as co-champions with Marlette for the crown. District and league crowns have been the norm for Coach Marty Daniel's charges.

Cass City will be hard-pressed to equal the records of those teams, including last year's mark of 11-1 in the league and 19-2 overall. Playing last year was the last of a group of outstanding athletes that propelled the teams to the top. Gone are Darcie Monroe, an aggressive rebounder and scorer; Carla Zinnecker, an all-around performer; Jodi LaRoche, a top scorer and amazing rebounder, and Jodi Schember, who did everything for the Hawks and was the premier outside shooter in the league.

Despite these losses, Daniel is confident that this year's charges can compete. We lack size, he says, but we do have quickness. Much of that quickness is at guard, the only 2 positions to be filled by returning starters

Kelli VanVliet, a junior, will be playing her third year. In her first 2 she was a league all-conference honorable mention. Daniel expects her to be better this year due to her work on her game during the summer.

Peyten Daniel, a sophomore, started as a freshman, plays a strong defensive game and is the type player that wants the shot in crucial situations.

One other veteran is available. Jamie Caister, a senior, has 2 years varsity experience and was a valuable contributor to the team's success.

The success of the team might well depend on the contributions of the players up from last year's 12-8 junior varsity squad and players who saw relatively little playing time. Sure to see action are Lisa Burns, 5-8 senior guard, and Wilma Mayer, 5-5 senior guard. The tallest player is Ashlie Chappel, a sophomore.

Look for the Hawks to stick with the tight man-to-man defense and seek fast break opportunities to counter the lack of height.

THE 9TH ANNUAL Women's Invitational Golf Tournament, held Tuesday at Rolling Hills Golf Course, drew 34 2-women teams. The winners are (from the left): First Flight - Kally Maharg & Fran Bellew, Second Flight - Bunnie O'Berski & Blanch Rumpitz, Third Flight - Maryann Schumacher & Ginger Moore. The handicapped best ball winning scores were 60, 60 and 62, respectively.

Exercise and Back pain

Statistics say that 4 out of 5 Americans will experience back pain at some point in their lives. Back problems are caused by a variety of reasons, the most common being a sedentary lifestyle. People with low levels of physical fitness tend to have weaker abdominal and back extensor muscles, which provide the majority of support for the back. Thus, low levels of fitness will increase the risk of injury.

Muscles are used for 3 basic functions: support, movement, and protection. If your muscles are deconditioned they will not satisfactorily provide any of these functions. Deconditioned muscles can also create a muscular imbalance. Weak and inflexible muscles do not keep the back properly positioned. Therefore, posture in lifting, sitting, standing and walking will be poor and increase the risk of injury dramatically.

Exercise is probably the most beneficial remedy for back pain. There have been numerous studies which maintain that exercise is more effective in treating simple back pain than passive methods such as rest and medications.

Letters

to the editor

This country needs

border control now

Dear Editor,

Immigration and illegal aliens. This is the subject we must address ourselves to.

How long can we stand to have 300,000 illegal aliens settle here permanently each year? At the same time, the U.S. admits nearly one million legal immigrants annually, the highest sustained level in our history. How long can we stand this?

Back as far as 1983 President Reagan warned, This country has lost control of its borders and no country can sustain that."

Did anyone listen? No... Studies show that on average, these immigrants - nearly 90% of whom are from the third-world - are poorly skilled and uneducated, creating a burden on taxpayers and the economy.

This massive immigration is now costing taxpayers $19 billion a year. Unless immigration laws are changed, the net costs will reach $60 billion a year by 2003.

The cost of unrestricted immigration is not the only

NFO rolling along

Dear John,

It has been a long, long time since I wrote to the Chronicle. Emerson no longer farms and if you have no farm production you can't belong to NFO.

But your last Haire Net gave me too good of an opening. Back at dear old Ugly High we were taught that a help us to "connect"

Others' observations

Dear editor,

Regarding Meg's Peg! Many well-known and loved columnists such as Erma Bombeck, Will Rogers, Edwin A. Guest and Mitch Albom write about the familiar.

They endear themselves to readers by writing about children, grandchildren, pets, travels, their work, experiences and struggles. It can be comforting and uplifting to read someone else's observations about an experience or emotion similar to one's own. It gives us a way to "connect" and perhaps a new way to see something else in the commonplace.

objection to the "multicultural" society that Congress and the president have decided to create. Our nationhood is at stake.

Congress is considering passage of the Immigration Stabilization Act, (Bills S. 1351, HR 3320 and 3862). But our foes, the big, pro-alien interests who seek cheap labor and increased political power, have been working to pressure a host of powerful politicians to cater to their interests and keep this legislation buried and out of the public's eye.

People, stop and think about all this. It really is true what is happening in our world today.

Please write your Congressman and senators today concerning this issue.

We wonder where our taxpayers money is going. Just reflect on what you have read. We need border control. NOW. Thank you for your time.

Enjoys "hometown" newspaper

Dear editor,

I certainly enjoy reading the Chronicle. I am a former resident of Cass City and still have friends there so it's such a delight to keep up with "hometown" news.

Thank you.

McDonald recently certified

Dena Lynn McDonald of Berkley, formerly of Owendale, recently became a certified retina angiographer by passing the 2-day test given by the photography association in Buffalo, N.Y. To be eligible to take the exam you must have experience in photography and actually work as an ophthalmic photographer for at least 2 years.

McDonald worked in a lab for 3 years, and acquired additional experience by taking a one-year internship at Henry Ford Hospital and at Kellogg Eye Clinic, University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, before being hired as full time ophthalmic photographer at Henry Ford.

McDonald completed a one-year course at Delta College in photography, transferring to the School of Photography, Lansing Community College, where she graduated in May of 1988.

Crash claims 2nd victim

A Decker area girl died early last week, a day after she was involved in a 2-car collision at the corner of Germania and Snover roads, about 2 miles east of Decker.

Lynsey Jean Shaw, 11, died during the evening Aug. 15 at Mott Childrens Hospital in Ann Arbor.

She was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Shannon Wood, 39, of Marlette, who was northbound on Germania Road at 6:15 p.m. Aug. 14 when she pulled into the path of an eastbound vehicle driven by Cheryl Green, 25, of Decker.

Lynsey Shaw

Wood also died in the crash. Green and another passenger in Wood's vehicle, Lynsey's twin sister, Crystal, were both injured. They were transported to Marlette Community Hospital, where Crystal was treated and released, and Green was transferred to Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe.

Troopers from the Michigan State Police post in Sandusky said neither driver was wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash, but both Shaw girls were.

OBITUARY

Lynsey, the daughter of Daniel and Cindy (Little) Shaw, was born Oct. 4, 1982, in Deckerville.

She was active in all school activities, especially cheerleading and basketball clinics. She had just completed the fifth grade at Marlette Middle School, receiving all As.

Lynsey was always extremely helpful with her younger sister, Brandi.

She is survived by her parents and sisters; grandparents, Eleanor Shaw of Snover and Thomas and Norjean Little of Cass City; great-grandmothers, Clara Shaw of Decker, Jean Boyl of Kingston and Beatrice Little of Cass City; aunts and uncles, Caren and Gary Gerstenberger of Decker, Carol and Doug Nelson of Sandusky, Sherri Little of Caro, Michael and Carolyn Little of Hadley, Sandy Little of Cass City and Lori and Jim Jensen of North Carolina; twin cousins, Amy and Lisa Gerstenberger; a Godfather, Michael Ziemba of Decker; and many other relatives and friends.

Lynsey was preceded in death by a grandfather, Russell, an uncle Duane and a cousin Gerald.

Funeral services were held Friday at the Marsh Funeral Chapel, Marlette, with the Rev. Fred Bechtel officiating.

Burial was in the Moore Township Cemetery in Snover.

Memorials may be made to the family.

Report damage

A Cass City resident reported someone apparently shot a window at her home with a BB gun.

Jean Ewald, 6798 Third St., reported the incident Thursday at 9:25 a.m., but told police she isn't certain when the 4-foot by 6-foot double pane window was shot.

Damage is estimated at $300.

Joslyn upheld

The Michigan Court of Appeals recently upheld a sentence handed down by Tuscola County Circuit Judge Patrick R. Joslyn in People of the State of Michigan vs. Edward Franklin Long.

The defendant had pled guilty to breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit a felony and larceny in a building.

Joslyn sentenced Long to 10 to 15 years in prison. Long appealed the proportionality of his sentence.

The appeals court found the sentence to be proportionate, taking into consideration the aggravated circumstances of Long's crimes and his extensive criminal record.

Bolzman exam adjourned

The preliminary examination for a Cass City man charged in connection with the death of his wife last month in northeastern Michigan was adjourned Friday.

A spokeswoman in the Alcona County District Court office said Nelson Oscar Bolzman's preliminary exam was adjourned at the request of his attorney. The proceedings are scheduled to continue at 9 a.m. Sept. 16.

Bolzman, 42, was arrested and arraigned Aug. 8 on a charge of open murder.

The body of his wife, Eileen Bolzman, 37, Cass City, was discovered during the early morning hours of July 15, lying in a roadway in Alcona County's Curtis Township.

Sh. reportedly was in Curtisville on a camping trip with her family.

Nelson Bolzman's arrest came after a lengthy investigation conducted by Alcona County Sheriff's deputies and the Michigan State Police, with assistance from the Tuscola and Monroe county sheriff's departments.

Bolzman is being held in the Alcona County Jail without bond.

Police arrest 3

Cass City police arrested 3 people over the past week, including a Caro motorist who struck a parked motorcycle in the village.

Ronald L. Teague, 53, Caro, was arrested on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor following the Aug. 16 accident, which occurred on Main Street just west of Sherman Street at about 7:09 p.m.

Reports state the motorcycle belongs to Fred J. Strong of Uby.

Also last week, police arrested Janice Boal, 36, Sandusky, Thursday at 10:30 p.m. after recognizing her at the People's Choice Market, 6144 Main St.

Reports state Boal was wanted on a 2-count arrest warrant alleging assault and malicious destruction of property.

Over the weekend, Michael J. Wardzella, 18, Bad Axe, was arrested Sunday after the vehicle he was riding in was stopped for defective equipment on Sherman Street south of Main Street.

Wardzella was wanted on 2 failure to appear warrants for alleged reckless driving and failure to report an accident, and a third warrant for allegedly being a minor in possession, according to reports.

Card of Thanks

A SPECIAL THANK you to all my friends for their acts of kindness during my recent hospitalization and recuperation at home. The phone calls, cards, visits, flowers, food and many prayers all helped speed the recovery process. Mary Ann Hirn. 13-8-24-1

THANKING EVERYONE for patronizing the Eat Shop the past 7 years. Wishing the best to the new owners, Lewis and Debra Lemka. Sincerely, Fran Reinekt. 13-8-24-1

WORDS COULD NEVER express our appreciation to our family, friends, neighbors, relatives and businesses for their extraordinary help and assistance in getting our farm up and running again after our barn fire. Your hard work, donations of food and expressions of sympathy will never be forgotten. Thank you to the Lamotte, Marlette, Kingston, Argyle and Moore Fire Departments and the Kingston and Marlette Rescue Squads for their quick response and hours spent battling the fire. It would be impossible to name everyone individually, but each of you are fondly remembered in our thoughts and prayers. God bless all of you. Ed, Kelly and the Zimba family. 13-8-24-1

For communication system

Propose second millage attempt

REDUCED REQUEST

The reduced funding request means the purchase of fewer walkie-talkies and no mobile data terminals. Also cut from the earlier proposal is a new dispatch center and the hiring of a dispatch director.

Prior to the Aug. 2 vote, officials had hoped to make central dispatch, which is housed in the basement of the sheriff's department, an independent entity. However, the plan now is to continue operating as a division of the sheriff's department.

The only change, Fyvie said, is that central dispatch will now be under the direct supervision of a sergeant.

Fyvie said the proposed one mill request would raise an estimated $2.25 million over the 3-year period.

"We anticipate the basic communication system will cost $1.7 million," he said, adding the remainder of the funding would "pay for the interest on the loan and it will pay for the portion of operating revenue ($51,300 per year) that we lost under the state police grant."

2 'NO' VOTES

The plan didn't receive unanimous support in Thursday's administrative policy board vote.

The motion was approved 4-2. In favor of the measure were Sheriff Tom Kern, Commission William Worth, citizen representative Robert Rae and village and city representative Jim Welke. The "no" votes were cast by First Lt. Doug Lautner, commander of the Michigan State Police post in Caro, and Mark Reene, representing the county prosecutor's office.

Township representative Mary Warren was absent from the meeting.

Lautner commented the consensus of the county's communications committee, composed of representatives of fire, police, ambulance, sheriff's department, state police and emergency management, is that another vote should be postponed.

There are too many unanswered questions and concerns such as making sure there is enough time to better educate the public on the need for a new emergency communication system, he said. It was also felt that more input should be sought from emergency response personnel.

"We just felt that it was too soon to go back" to the voters.

Fyvie said the committee discussed the idea of requesting a special election next August, but that would cost the county some $18,000.

Fyvie emphasized the need to replace the county's current system, now more than 20 years old and described by the undersheriff as dangerous.

"The administrative board members heard the voters speak at the polls Aug. 2. Now, we're asking for their consideration and to truly look at what we're trying to do — purchase the least costly system," he said. "We need their support."

Area Amish family clings to tradition

plenty of illumination. Water for the toilet and household use is pumped in.

A wood-burning stove is used in the winter and provides heat for the home.

There is a phone on the premises, but it's used primarily to call out because it has a very low sounding ring and is placed away from the house.

The family has no health insurance. In case of emergency, help from Amish neighbors is always available.

Ownership of cars or rubber riding vehicles is prohibited because it may tempt families to stray from worship and the family.

GOOD CITIZENS?

The Amish pay all taxes except social security, from which they are exempt. However, the tax is paid if one of the members works in a business other than farming his own land. We pay it, but we can't collect any retirement benefits, I was informed.

Amish don't vote, but the Bender family is ready to help with one public service. We would donate blood if we knew when it was taken, Bender explained. Both my wife and I have O-negative blood, which I understand is much in demand.

GROWING POPULATION

The Amish population is growing. Now there are 13 Amish families in the area and 2 more are on the way. The Benders were the fourth Amish family to move to this area from west of Cleveland, where high land prices have made them seek new land opportunities.

Bender left a well-paying job to buy his farm. He was a foreman for a construction crew that built condos and apartments.

I had it made, he said, but I couldn't see any future there for my kids.

As we left the farm, I pondered on what the friendly visit had revealed. First is that the Amish are clannish, but friendly. Their lives are dominated by their religion. We couldn't take any family pictures because they are "graven images" and not allowed.

The Amish are sure to be part of our community from now on, I feel, but it will be a very long time, if ever, that they will be assimilated in it.

Care management

ment of the program, according to Worthington, who said Care Management stays in close contact with the client as well as the family and service providers.

Care Management costs are primarily funded by the state, which spends an average of $3,120 per client annually.

MINIMAL COST

Clients are asked to contribute on a cost sharing basis, but the expense is minimal — $6 dollars per quarter for someone with an annual income of $11,000 to $12,000, for example. However, no one is denied services based on ability to pay.

Although Care Management is new to the Thumb, the program has been operating in other areas of Michigan for almost 10 years. Ogden explained additional funding approved by the state Legislature and Gov. John Engler made it possible to open the Cass City office. In about 14 counties, demonstration projects are underway that involve a Medicaid waiver, which allows clients at-risk for nursing home placement to receive Medicaid payment for services to stay at home.

The Medicaid waiver isn't yet available in the Thumb, according to Ogden, who said implementing Care Management is the first step in accessing the waiver.

A cost analysis conducted in other Michigan counties determined the cost of Care Management, with the Medicaid waiver, is 35 percent cheaper than staying in a nursing home.

But for many seniors, the bottom line is continued independence at home.

"I think that's the key to the whole thing," Worthington said. "I think losing one's home is the ultimate loss. Not just the physical house, but there are things people have collected over the years that they're attached to."

"People want to keep their dignity, their independence," Shaft added. "You can't blame them."

Obituaries

George Simmerlein

George D. Simmerlein, 52, of Bingham Township died Saturday, Aug. 13, 1994, at St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee, Wis.

He was born Jan. 31, 1942 in Detroit, the son of Betty (Schulz) Simmerlein and the late George Thomas Simmerlein.

He married Mary E. Howey June 23, 1962 in Detroit.

The couple lived in Detroit and Dearborn Heights, and for the past 15 years in Ubly.

Mr. Simmerlein was employed by General Motors Corp., at Fleetwood Plant in Detroit. He was a tool and die maker and retired in 1978. He served in the Army from 1960-62. He was a 4-H leader and an instructor in wood-carving.

He played the trumpet for local church services and in the Bill Dembrock Big Band, and was also part of a 5-piece German band.

Surviving are his wife Mary; 2 sons, George and his wife Susan of Ubly, and Greg and his wife Gloria of Sterling Heights; 2 grandchildren; his mother, Betty of New Baltimore; a brother, Steve and his wife Vicki of Clinton Township; 3 sisters, Corine Malanski of Rochester, Kathy Moore and her husband Len of Bolton, N.C., and June Barrett and her husband Dale of New Baltimore; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Thursday at the MacAlpine Funeral Home, Bad Axe. Elder Ellis Gardner, pastor of the Owendale Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, officiated. Burial, with military honors, was in Elkland Cemetery, Cass City.

Warren Wood

Warren Wood, 88, a well-known businessman and lifelong resident of Cass City, died Monday, Aug. 1, at Four Seasons Health Center in Bad Axe.

He was born April 15, 1906, in Cass City, the son of Louis and Lillian (Schenck) Wood.

He married Miss Trene Elenbaas Aug. 19, 1925, in Grand Rapids. They made their home in Cass City. Mrs. Wood died July 13, 1966. In October of 1972, he married Mrs. Rena Russell Linfors in Saginaw.

Mr. Wood was a member of Trinity United Methodist Church of Cass City. He was a graduate of Ferris College of Pharmacy and as a registered pharmacist, owned and operated Wood Drugs in Cass City for almost 60 years. He was a past president of the Thumb Drug Assn. and a life member and past master of Tyler Lodge #317 F & AM, Cass City. He also served on the village council, the planning commission and was a charter member and past president of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

Surviving are his wife Rena; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Davidson of Newaygo; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Billie Artman and husband John of West Branch; son-in-law, Karl Lindfors of Mt. Pleasant; 4 grandchildren, 3 stepgrandchildren, 4 great-grandchildren and 2 step-great-grandchildren. One daughter, Katharine Lindfors, and two brothers, Raymond and Charles, preceded him in death.

A memorial service will be conducted Sunday, Aug. 28, at 2 p.m. at the Trinity United Methodist Church with Rev. Rick Sheppard, pastor, officiating.

Interment will be in Elkland Cemetery.

Arrangements were by Little's Funeral Home, Cass City.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be given to Trinity United Methodist Church.

Louis Wright

Louis Wright, 76, a lifelong resident of Cass City, died Sunday, Aug. 21, at St. Mary's Medical Center, Saginaw, after a short illness.

He was born March 15, 1918, in Elkland Township, Tuscola County, the son of Frank and Clara (Rondo) Wright.

He married Miss Lucille McLellan Aug. 23, 1940, in Cass City.

He retired from General Cable Corp. in 1983 and had also been employed by Cass City Public Schools.

Surviving are his wife Lucille; 2 daughters, Mrs. Shirley Griffen and husband Albert of Deford and Mrs. Jean Bliss of Cass City; one son, Dennis Wright of Cass City; 4 grandchildren, and one great-granddaughter. One son, Charles, one grandson, Laurel, and 2 brothers, Glenn and Roy, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were scheduled for Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. at Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with the Rev. Dale Byers, pastor of First Baptist Church of Cass City, officiating.

Interment was to be in Elkland Cemetery, Cass City.
