SUPERINTENDENT KEN MICKLASH goes over floor plan for new school with Dale Mills, right, and Doug Mills.

Rolston's 20-year quest to end when family unites in Flint

An old, torn color photo is all Nancy Rolston has had to remember her sisters and a younger brother by since her family was torn apart 20 years ago.

Up until last month, the Gagetown woman had since had contact with only her older brother, Larry Kenny of Marlette. But her hope to see all 11 of her siblings again some day never dimmed.

After years of waiting and frustration, that hope will soon become reality.

Nancy, along with her brothers and sisters, are planning to meet — many of them for the first time in 2 decades — at the wedding of one their sisters, Sherry Bradford of Flint, next month.

The quest to find each brother and sister ended in January, when Larry made telephone contact with the one sister and younger brother he hadn't found yet.

The search began not long after the Argyle area family was split up in 1974. The parents, Laura and Raymond Kenny, were going through a divorce at the time, and circumstances prompted the state to remove the children from the home.

"They were placed in all different foster homes," Nancy said, referring to the 7 younger children.

Nancy, who was 18 at the time, was the second oldest of the children, and Larry was the oldest at 20. They, along with 3 other siblings — Donna, Denise and Tammy — were pretty much left to fend for themselves.

Larry, who was in Texas at the time, said he returned not long after and immediately began his search.

FAMILY

"I looked so hard for them," he commented last week. "Family means so much to me."

Nancy said the absence of their brother and sisters left a painful void in their lives. "The thing that hurt most is Christmas time because everybody else had their family and I didn't have mine," she added.

Although some of the younger siblings were adopted by distant relatives, and most of the older children had some form of contact with each other over the years, the task of finding all of them was formidable.

"I went through the courts, I went through the schools trying to get information, but they just wouldn't release it," Larry said.

He noted laws regulating access to information in adoption cases prevented officials from helping him. The good news, he said, is those laws are being reexamined and may be changed, making it easier for other people trying to find family members.

Despite running into one roadblock after another, Larry continued to check every avenue he could think of to find phone numbers or addresses. "I even called 'Unsolved Mysteries,' he said.

Nancy was also busy, checking on leads and making calls to the Department of Social Services offices in Caro and Sandusky.

"We had to go out on our own because nobody would give us any information," she said. "We were bound and determined that we were going to find out where they were, no matter how much it cost or how long it would take."

"I never gave up hope," Larry commented. "I knew that they were out there. I told my wife, 'I'm going to find them if it takes me the rest of my days.'"

ONE BY ONE

One by one, Larry has located nearly all of his sisters over the years. With each contact, he would find out if a sister had stayed in touch with any of her other siblings.

Today, twin sisters Judy and Trudy live in California and Nevada, respectively, while another sister, Diane, resides in Oklahoma. Among the

Tours conducted

Questions posed at middle school meet

An informational meeting sponsored by the Cass City Parent-Teacher Association was reasonably well attended Thursday night at the Cass City Middle School.

The number of district residents at the meeting was hard to estimate because the meeting included tours of the building conducted by school officials followed by informal question and answer sessions conducted primarily by Supt. Ken Micklash.

One session included Doug and Dale Mills, B. A. Calka, Mike and Janet Bryant and Clarence "Bud"

Schneeberger.

The Mills brothers wanted to know why the second plan originally outlined by the school had been dismissed and was not revived after the new building plan was defeated at the polls.

Micklash explained that accessibility for the handicapped requirements and other expenses involved in the repair of the present school drove costs higher than expected when the plan was originally suggested.

Dale Mills also asked about whether or not student population has increased and was informed that at Cass City the population is stable.

Asked by the Chronicle if the tour had been enlightening, the Mills said that it was. Did it change their opinion about the building issue? The brothers said that it didn't, but declined to say if they were for or against the bond issue.

Mike Bryant, a carpenter, said that after the tour it was easy to see that the present building can't be saved. We need something different, he feels.

His wife, Janet, said that her husband will definitely vote yes, but she wasn't too certain about her ballot.

I do know, she added, that having good school surroundings helps students learn. I had the privilege of attending an all new school in Trenton. New pool, beautiful classrooms, and I know Please turn to back page.

GAGETOWN RESIDENT Nancy Rolston holds the only picture she has of her brothers and sisters, who will gather together next month for the first time in 20 years. The reunion follows 2 decades of frustration for Nancy and her older brother, Larry Kenny, who spent years looking for their siblings.

Salem building to be used

United Methodists to have united church building

Cass City's 2 United Methodist churches have become truly united.

Members of both the Salem and Trinity United Methodist churches voted Sunday in favor of merging. The congregations won't officially begin to worship together until summer, but the combined churches already have a new name: the Cass City United Methodist Church.

"There was a lot of grinning and smiling" following Sunday's vote, said the Rev. Rick Sheppard, pastor of Trinity United Methodist.

Votes were conducted at each church under the direction of Ken Tousley, district superintendent of the Port Huron District of the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church.

The proposed merger of the 2 long standing local churches — Trinity United Methodist recently celebrated its 125th anniversary and Salem United Methodist is at least 130 years old — was approved on a vote of 49-14 (78 percent) at Salem, and 108-11 (91 percent) at Trinity.

The vote follows about 10 months of planning and discussion, according to Sheppard, who said a committee of 14 people — 7 from each church — plus the pastors of both churches has spearheaded the merger.

"We've had a lot of meetings," he added. "This started, I would say, last May, and then momentum built up until the vote yesterday.

The committee saw a number of good reasons to merge, Sheppard said.

"We thought if we could combine our music programs, we'd be a stronger church. We thought if we could combine our Sunday school programs, we'd be a stronger church. We thought if we could combine our United Methodist women's groups, we would be stronger, and if we combined our leadership, we would have stronger leadership in both churches," he explained.

Bill Zinnecker, a member of Salem United Methodist and co-chairman of the committee, agreed, adding, "I think it'll help the youth program quite a bit."

"It gives a stronger church and it also gives us, I guess you would say, a broader base to work with," commented Yvonne Sherman, who also represented Salem United Methodist on the committee.

"We can't think of any way that it's going to hurt us. We're always stronger together than we are separated," Sheppard said. He added the new church will be served both by him and the Rev. Bob Garrett, who currently serves the Salem church on a part-time basis. Sheppard confided that a year ago, he didn't think a merger would happen.

"It didn't seem possible," he added. "But God really opened the doors for us. We just couldn't see anything holding us back."

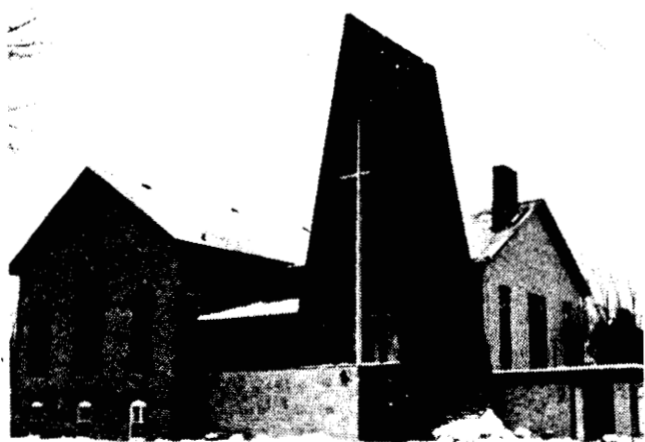

"The obstacles that could have been there just fell away," Sherman said.

Sheppard said the plan now is to sell the Trinity church building to the Living Word Church of God Worship Center, which is in the process of selling its present church building at 6455 Sixth St. in Cass City.

"We have to be out of our building by Aug. 31 at the latest," he explained. "We'll be going over to Salem and worshipping as one congregation" this summer sometime after school lets out.

As for the future, there are hopes the new church will eventually have a new building.

"When there's enough money in the bank, we'll begin building," he concluded. "We hope that within a year we'll be able to get started."

THE TRINITY UNITED Methodist Church building (left) will be sold following the merger with Salem United Methodist Church (right). Both congregations will begin meeting at the Salem building sometime this summer. Plans call for construction of a new church building in the future.

Melva laid down a challenge to a granny with a granddaughter. I figure I'm a good choice, not only because Lauren was born the same day that Drew (her grandson) was, but because I'm just as nutty a granny as she. I just don't get the opportunity to show it in the paper. I have to do it in person to anyone who happens to be in earshot.

First time grandparenthood...can anything else in the world compare to it? There seems to be something so wonderful in the smiles and hugs you get. We are fortunate in that our girl lives just down the street. We can stop in anytime and grab "a baby hug." Our daughter-in-law is a peach and extremely tolerant of Ken and me.

To have a little girl is a joy. It's pretty hard to go in a store without picking up some sweet little girl thing. There are so many nowadays. I now have 2 granddaughters, so that expense has doubled.

The Chronicle lost a subscriber last week. Chances are few will remember the name, Alice Riley.

She is the wife of the late Joe Riley, who was in business here when I arrived in 1951 and for maybe 30 years after that.

Anyway, the reason she called to say that she will not renew the paper was because most of the people she knew have either died or moved away.

One more piece of nostalgia. Joe Riley ran small ads around the Thumb boasting of his expertise as a shoe maker. It was so effective that one time while I was in his Main Street store a customer came in and asked for Doctor Riley.

Harland Dickinson brought in a flyer put out by Cass City Rotary sometime in the 1930s. It lists 25 different business persons in Cass City at the time. All but one of them named have died.

Do I have to tell you the name of the survivor? Dr. H. T. Donahue.

This year's Cass City High School basketball team reminds me of the Laker High team that went to the state finals before losing, as close as any team has come to a championship from the Thumb.

That year the Lakers finished third in the Thumb B Conference. Cass City is not yet out of the league race this season, but like the Laker team under discussion, has lost several games by very close margins.

It all depends on hitting peak performance at tournament time.

Local Boy Scouts busy

Cass City Boy Scouts had a lock-in at the Caro High School Jan. 27. They played basketball, swam and watched movies.

Last Saturday, the Klondike was held. As an all-day event the boys had sled heats and other activities, including making their own lunches. Cass City won first in Klondike sled race and third in first aid.

Counselors for merit badges are still needed. Anyone interested is asked to contact Mrs. Wolschlager at 872-5397. Space for the Boy Scouts to hold meetings and to have a trophy case is also needed. Anyone with information is asked to contact Mrs. Wolschlager or Deb Ross, 872-2318.

Students headed for regionals

Cass City High School's Theatre Festival team will compete at the regional level this weekend following a sterling performance at district competition Jan. 28 at Lakers.

Theatre Festival is a competition in which teams of high school students are given 45 minutes to set a stage, perform a play and strike the stage. This year, the students must perform either a comedy or a musical.

Each team, composed of actors and a stage crew, is judged on set design, stage mechanics, tempo and pacing, costume, acting, voice and overall effect.

At district competition, Cass City received an excellent rating for its performance of "Up the Stage Over" by Robert A. Anderson. In addition, team members Melissa Baranek and Lee Dillon received awards of excellence for acting.

All the students are members of the Performance English Class taught by Jane Reif.

She said Cass City will be one of 7 Class C/D schools to compete at the Michigan Interscholastic Forensic Association regional competition slated for Saturday at Frankenmuth High School.

The top 2 schools from each class will advance to state competition Feb. 17-18 at the University of Michigan Power Center in Ann Arbor.

Cass City has never advanced beyond regionals, but Reif indicated she's confident this year's students are capable of making it to state competition if they can repeat their district performance.

The Haire Net
This and that as seen from the corner of Oak and Main Street as we get on the downhill side of what has been a magnificent winter for those who spend it in Michigan only because they have to. There's been at least enough traditional Michigan winter weather for the rest of us to survive.

It's long been a conviction that local control of schools is the only way to go. But there can be too much of a good thing.

Gov. John Engler suggests that school control should be completely switched from the state to the local communities and the state code abolished.

Boy, what a can of worms that opens. Each of over 500 districts with its own criteria for graduation. It's easy to see the problems.

When local control of schools was advocated, it was to set a curriculum within the state code and with the purse strings firmly in the hands of the local district members who pay the bills.

That type control is still advocated. Local control was diminished under the sales tax plan now used to support our schools. In the long run, the present system will result in a higher cost to educate our children.

It was interesting to read in "Newsweek" recently that the middle class has shown substantial upside progress last year and the last several years. The perception that the middle class is suffering is erroneous, the magazine concludes.

That may very well be, but one of the (few) advantages of becoming a senior citizen is you can remember how it was.

"If It Fitz...."

It's not the money; it's the principle

By Jim Fitzgerald

Often, when people say "it's not the money, it's the principle," it's not the truth. But that's not the case with Bryon Ontis and Judy Bryan, who each got their money back in separate incidents, but remain plenty peeved about the principle of the thing.

Begin with Ontis, an east-side Detroit who, astonishingly, topped my recent report about the man whose car was confiscated by the cops because, they said, it had been carjacked. Never mind that the owner, title in hand, was driving the car in another city at the same time it was supposedly carjacked in Detroit.

That's weird, but this is weirder: Despite Ontis' protests and proof of ownership, his car was confiscated by the Detroit Police Department after he'd legally purchased it from...the Detroit Police Department.

Don't you just love it? Ontis, a mechanic, bought the 1986 Mustang for $320 at a public police auction of abandoned cars. Ontis said he worked on the Mustang for two weeks, installing a new distributor and otherwise improving it.

'IT WAS JUST SLOPPY POLICE WORK'

"Then a policeman phoned and said I had to return the car and take my $320 back because it hadn't been abandoned, it was stolen. I refused; it was their mistake, not mine. They just wanted to satisfy the owner the easiest way possible for them, at my expense," Ontis said.

"A cop came to my home and threatened to put me in jail if I didn't give up the car. When I showed him I had the paperwork proving I legally owned the car, he snatched it out of my hand and said, 'You don't have the paperwork now.' He took my car."

That officer was Sgt. Charles Newberry of the Abandoned Vehicles Task Force. Newberry told me he didn't snatch the paperwork from Ontis, "I retrieved it." He said police mistook the stolen car for abandoned because it had been "retagged" — the vehicle identification number was changed. AAA Michigan is the actual owner. Newberry didn't deny threatening to jail Ontis for trying to keep the car he'd legally purchased.

Ontis strongly denied the VIN number had been changed. "It was just sloppy police work. Police just think they can do whatever they want to ordinary citizens and get away with it," he charged.

It wasn't the money and work he put into repairing the car that bugged him so much, Ontis said, it was the principle of the thing.

STUDENT TAKES BUSINESS ELSEWHERE

Likewise with Judy Bryan, a young college student who lives in Center Line, only a few blocks from Ed Rinke Chevrolet where, on Dec. 12, Bryan visited the parts department to order a door handle for her sister's Geo Prizm, paying in advance.

On Dec. 19, the wrong part was delivered, so the right one was reordered. It arrived Jan. 7 and Bryan was told she owed an additional $7.18 — for a total of $16.77 — because the price had gone up Jan. 1.

Bryan balked: "If I'd been an important businessman who paid for a car or part before the price went up, and a delivery delay was their fault, they wouldn't have demanded the added money. I asked to talk to the owner and the parts people laughed at me. I asked for Ed Rinke's phone number and a man who looked like a salesman told me to look in the Yellow Pages."

Subsequently, Bryan twice phoned and left messages for Ed Rinke, but he didn't call back. My two calls also weren't returned, even though I explained exactly what I wanted — to chuckle over the insignificant sum involved, but also learn whether Bryan had been treated according to dealership policy.

Bryan ultimately got her prepayment back — "The parts man was made at me!" — and took her business elsewhere. She said it wasn't the money, it was the principle.

New wheat varieties

Wheat producers are looking for new varieties of durum wheat to grow in order to satisfy changing consumer tastes. A recent trend is to develop varieties that are higher in protein, which gives a firmer, "al dente" taste to pasta. It takes between 10 and 12 years to bring a new wheat variety to production.

Linda Mae Howell, 38, Caro, who had pleaded guilty to manslaughter, was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

Upon arrival, they found the victim seriously injured and lying on the ground near the roadway in front of his home. He later died at St. Mary's Medical Center in Saginaw. Investigators said Howell's attack on Smith with an anti-theft wheel locking bar stemmed from an on-going feud between the pair, who lived next door to one another.

Bulldogs drop pair to Kingston, North Huron

When does a pair beat five of a kind?

Evidently, when the pair belongs to North Huron. Warriors Paul Webber and Jim Knoblock each tallied 18 points Friday to lead host North Huron to an easy 80-47 win over visiting Owen-Gage.

Webber tossed in 3 field goals in each period before the half, that ended with the hosts in front 46-18 in the North Central Thumb League tilt.

The Warriors (9-5 overall, 8-2) continued their onslaught with a 27-8 spurt to open the third period. Knoblock knocked down 4 hoops from the floor during the run.

The guests outscored North Huron 21-7 in the final stanza as center Mark Damm tallied 8 of his team high 13 markers.

No other player finished in double digits for either team. However, North Huron had 14 team members enter the record books, including Brian Toner with 8, Brian Bruess 7, and Chris Inda 6.

The Bulldogs received 8 points each from Eric Dietzel and Jason Anthes.

Owen-Gage (3-11 overall, 2-8) will entertain Akron-Fairgrove (4-10 overall, 4-6) this Friday and will try to avenge a 79-56 early season setback to the Vikings. The 'Dogs will be without the service of high scoring forward Austin Brinkman, who is sidelined with an ankle injury.

Key Laker game Friday

Bad Axe dims Hawks' hopes for league title

For the second time this season, the Cass City Red Hawks and the Bad Axe Hatchets battled to the wire in a key National Division Thumb C Conference game and for the second time, it was the Hatchets that walked away with the victory.

The Hawks entertained the Hatchets on their home floor Friday and the Hatchets won, 64-57.

The victory elevated the Hatchets into a tie for the league lead and placed Cass City in the position of having to post a win at Laker High Friday to have any chance of sharing in the league title.

The visitors used a 16-0 run in the second quarter, during which Cass City went 4 full minutes without scoring, to build a 10-point margin at the half. Coach Jeff Hartel said that in addition to cold shooting, defensive lapses and turnovers let the Hatchets stage the rally that proved decisive in the game.

The turnovers continued in the third quarter, but the Hatchets missed an opportunity to put some distance between them and Cass City by missing 4 of 6 free throw attempts.

Trailing by 8 points going into the final quarter, the Hawks staged a rally with 5 minutes left in the game. Cass City was still behind 55-

48 when Ben Hobbs hit a short jumper and Jason Morgan converted 3 of 4 free throws to pull the Hawks within 2 points at the 1:15 mark.

The teams traded free throws, 2 each by Jason Blackstock and Scott Iwankovitch and then Blackstock went to the line again, sunk the first one and missed the second and the Hatchets were in front 58-55.

The Hawks' last chance went glimmering when the missed free throw took a long bounce and Bad Axe recovered.

Joe DeLong, Hatchet 6-4 guard who always has played well against Cass City, led the Bad Axe attack. He handled the point guard position, collected 10 rebounds and scored 24 points. Brian Paul added 18.

Morgan and Corey Ulfig

BADAXE - J. Blackstock 0-0 (5-8) 5; R. Errer 2-1 (1-1) 8; S. LeGault 1-0 (2-2) 4; A.J. Shemka 0-1 (0-0) 3; S. MacGregor 1-0 (0-1) 2; B. Paul 8-0 (2-3) 18; J. DeLong 6-2 (6-10) 24.

TOTALS - 18-4 (16-25) 64.

shared scoring honors for Cass City with 17 points. All of Ulfig's points were netted in the first half.

The Hawks had a slight edge in rebounding, 33-30, led by Morgan with 14.

CASS CITY - B. Hobbs 4-0 (0-0) 8; K. Storm 1-1 (0-1) 5; J. Morgan 6-0 (5-8) 17; C. Ulfig 5-2 (1-1) 17; S. Iwankovitch 2-0 (4-4) 8; C. Zawilinski 1-0 (0-0) 2.

TOTALS - 19-3 (10-14) 57.

The Hawks shot a mediocre 40 percent from the field and hit just 3 of 12 3-point shots. The Hatchets shot 48 percent and converted 4 of 11 treys.

JUNIOR VARSITY
The Cass City junior varsity edged the Hatchets, 55-52.

U.S.A. falls to Hawks, 68-48

Little used Ben Hobbs was a surprise starter for the Cass City Red Hawks last Tuesday against the Bad Axe Hatchets and the senior point guard made the most of his opportunity with a solid game as Cass City easily defeated Unionville-Sebewaing, 68-48.

Hobbs distributed the ball well to players in scoring positions and scored 11 points himself.

Another highlight of the game was the return to action of Kevin Storm for the first time since the opening game.

For one of the first times this year, the Hawks jumped off to an early lead instead of being forced to come from behind after a slow start.

Using balanced scoring with 4 of the 5 players on the floor sharing the scoring, Cass City jumped off to a 10-2 lead halfway through the first period.

The lead was extended the rest of the quarter as USA couldn't buy a basket from outside and the Hawks beat the Patriots back on defense for fast break hoops that featured some pretty feeds by Hobbs to Jeff Little.

Trailing 18-4 at the start of the second quarter, USA began finding the range from outside, led by Jason Cleveland, who scored 14 points in the quarter. Little led the Hawk offense with 4 2-point field goals. At the intermission Cass City was ahead, 35-22.

In the third period, the Patriots staged a rally with Morgan on the bench and moved to within 5 points with 4:12 left in the quarter. But the Hawks ended that rally and outscored USA, 11-7, to resume control of the game.

Midway through the final period, Cass City led 57-41 and then spurted ahead 66-43 in the next minute and the reserves took over the game for both teams.

Cass City had a reasonably good shooting night, hitting 51 percent, although only 2 of 9 shots for treys connected. USA hit just 37 percent, but oddly enough were better from 3-point range, with 38 percent on 6 for 16.

Cass City had a wide edge in rebounding, 36-22, led by Morgan with 15.

JV GAME

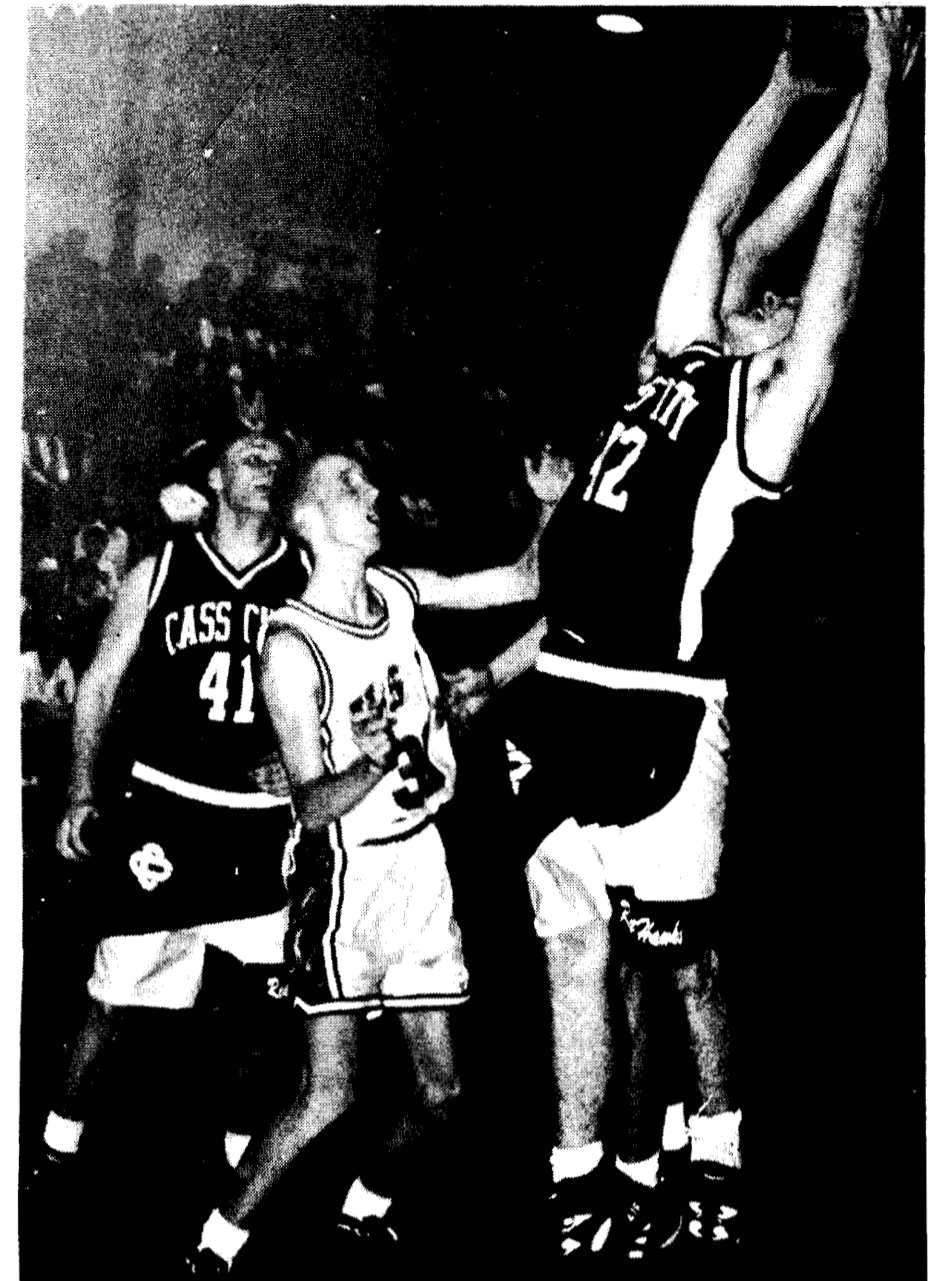

USA has one of the strongest, if not the strongest, junior varsity teams in the Thumb this season. The Hawk JV fell to the Patriots, 70-59.

CASS CITY - B. Hobbs 2-1 (4-4) 11; K. Storm 0-1 (0-0) 3; N. LeValley 1-0 (0-0) 2; J. Little 5-0 (0-0) 10; J. Morgan 7-0 (1-2) 15; C. Ulfig 5-0 (4-6) 14; S. Iwankovitch 3-0 (7-9) 13.

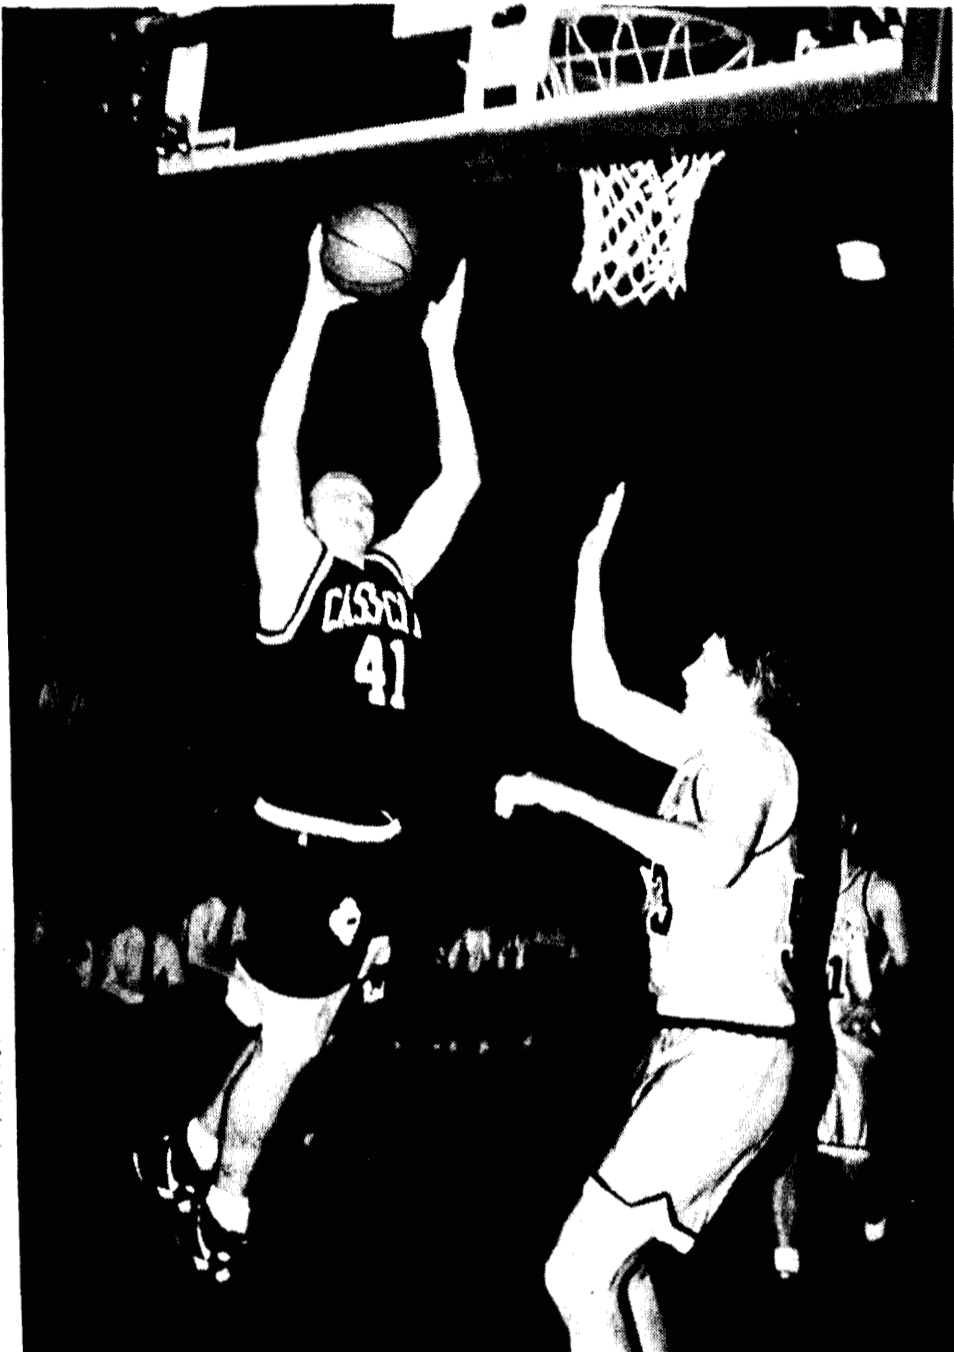

TOTALS - 23-2 (16-21) 68.

USA - M. Kuhl 1-0 (2-2) 4; A. Eurich 0-1 (0-0) 3; K. Fiebig 1-0 (0-0) 2; J. Hornbacher 0-1 (0-0) 3; J. Karls 0-1 (0-0) 3; T. Beringer 2-0 (0-0) 4; J. Nitz 2-1 (0-0) 7; J. Cleveland 6-2 (0-0) 18; J. Ertman 1-0 (0-0) 2; B. Hofmeister 1-0 (0-2) 2.

TOTALS - 14-6 (2-4) 48.

COREY ULFIG DRIVES to the basket to score as the Hawks posted an easy win over Unionville-Sebewaing in a non-league game.

JASON MORGAN SCORES 2 of his 17 points against Bad Axe with this shot over Brian Paul.

Cold Weather Workouts

Winter is here but that doesn't have to mean the end of outdoor exercise - dressing warmly is the key. A common mistake made is wearing too much clothing! Experts agree that wearing several layers of thin loose-fitting clothing is best. This helps to insulate you by trapping heat and you'll be able to remove a layer if you get too warm.

The first layer should be thermal underwear made of a fabric that draws sweat away from your skin. Polypropylene is one such fabric. Cotton is not a good choice as it holds moisture next to your skin and can make you feel cold and clammy.

The next layer can be a wool sweater, turtleneck, sweatpants or shirt, or lycra pants. Then top it off with water-proof wind-resistant jacket and pants. These should be of a breathable fabric (such as Gortex) so moisture isn't trapped inside.

And don't forget to wear a hat since much of your body heat is lost through your head.

Bad Axe easily defeats Hawks

The Bad Axe Hatchets dominated the host Cass City Red Hawks in a National Division Thumb C League match Monday night, winning all 3 sets easily.

The Hatchets breezed to an opening set victory, 15-3, and then followed it with a pair of equally decisive wins, 15-1 and 15-2.

Led by some fine serves by Farra Walsh, who served for 6 points, including 4 aces, the Hatchets jumped off to a 13-0 lead. After the Hawks scored a point, the winners finished the set without losing a point.

The last set saw the winners in front 10-0 and then complete the sweep by outscoring Cass City 5-2.

Jamie Caister played well on defense with several blocks.

Spikers chalk up first league win

The Cass City Red Hawks fell in straight sets to the Cros-Lex Pioneers in a National Division league game last week. The scores were 15-10, 15-10 and 15-2.

Coach Sherry Bader said that her charges played some of their best volleyball in the first 2 games. The score was tied at 10 all when the Pioneers moved a hard server to the back line and scored 5 straight points to take the match. The results were the same in the second match.

In the final game the girls fell apart and were unable to serve and get the ball to the setter at all.

Leana Edwards, 13 attacks, and Lisa Burns, 10, led the Hawks. Serving was highlighted by Leann Deering, 6 points, one ace, and LeAnn Foster, 5 points, one ace.

ALL SAINTS

Thursday the Hawks topped Bay City All Saints in 4 sets, 9-15, 15-5, 15-13, 15-11.

It was the first league win for Cass City. It was the best team play we've had all season, Bader said. Everyone played and played well. After meeting Bad Axe Monday, the Hawks are prepping for league-leading Lakers.

Cori Britt was the defensive player of the game, digging several balls at the back line. Offensively Edwards had 9 attacks, 2 kills, and Jaime Caister, 9 attacks, one kill.

Serving leaders were Deering, 10 points, 4 aces; Caister, 9 points, 3 aces, and Foster, 7 points, 3 aces.

Bulldogs 7-0 after win over C-PS

Coach Judy Campbell's Owen-Gage spikers improved their North Central Thumb League mark to 7-0 last week with an authoritative straight game win at Carsonville-Port Sanilac.

The Bulldogs used a strong defensive effort during the Monday match to chalk up wins of 15-8, 15-7 and 15-4.

Although Campbell was pleased with her team's effort against the Tigers, the veteran mentor was disappointed with her squad's showing Saturday at the Laker Invitational Tournament.

"I had a lot of alumni and friends show up (Saturday) and we played terrible," said Campbell.

She added, "The girls went to see Ellen Jackson in concert at the Palace Friday night. I don't think they got home too early that night."

In pool play at the Laker tourney, the NCTL leaders managed only one win - a 15-13 victory over North Branch Wesleyan.

Other scores during the afternoon were: 13-15 and 5-15 against Bad Axe, 11-15 and 15-13 with Wesleyan, and 15-3 and 15-3 versus Carrollton.

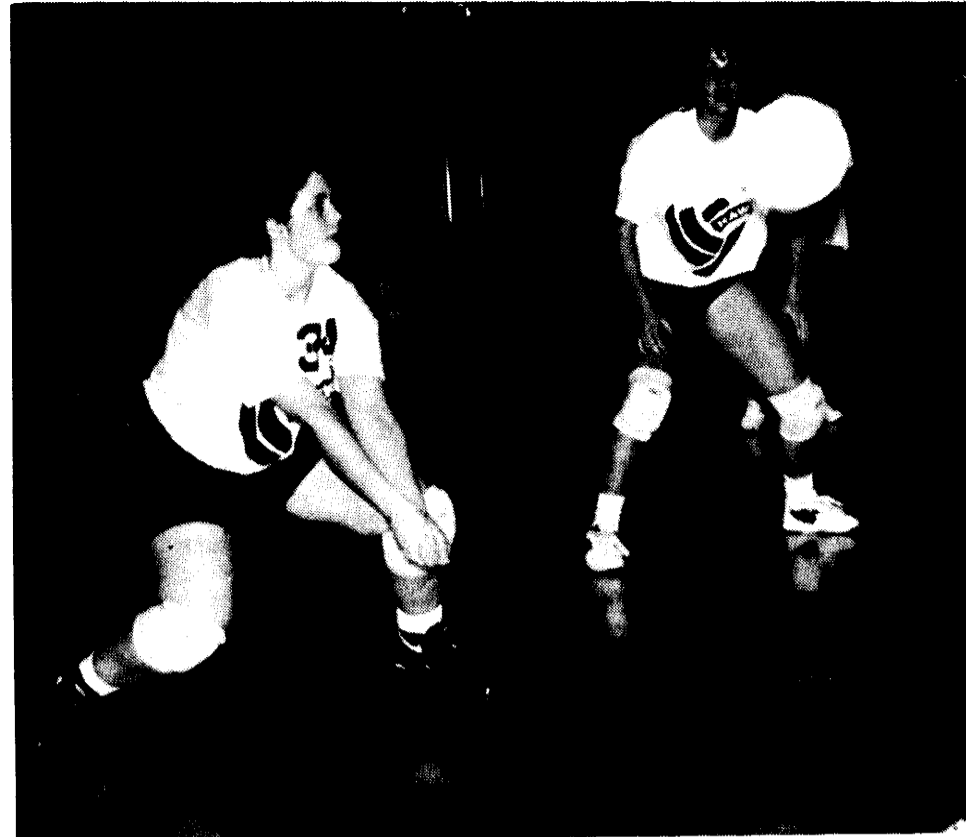

Kate Powers had a busy afternoon at the net for the 'Dogs and recorded 23 kill spikes to complement 13 blocks. Teammate Melody Abfalter also played well in the front row and collected 29 attacks with 15 going for winners.

Senior Angie Wildman led Owen-Gage on the service line, registering 23 points, while Susie Roemer added 18, followed by Amanda Salcido with 13.

Coach Campbell also singled out the play of Jennifer Winchester, who collected 50 sets.

The Bulldogs are scheduled to face conference foe Caseville Thursday before traveling to Unionville for Saturday's invitational.

Red Hawk Cori Britt returns serve in Monday match against Bad Axe.

Correction

There was an incorrect number in a story in last week's Chronicle on Baker College's plans to purchase the Jordan College campus building.

A quote at the end of the story stated Baker College's Cadillac campus started with 52 students in 1987, and today is serving 56 students. The quote should have stated there are 556 students served today at the Cadillac campus. The Chronicle regrets the error.

Facts missing in debate

John Haire
c/o Cass City Chronicle

Shame on you John. I've come to expect misinformation and half of the facts from those with a vested interest and government officials but not from those with a difference of opinion. If you only tell half of the facts we only know half of the story. I'm anxious to find out why you haven't found it necessary to correct the absolute misrepresentation of facts in all of the letters to the editor and other misinformation being circulated in support of the bond issue, yet, in your publisher's note found it necessary to make an attempt at discrediting our alternate proposal to save taxpayers millions. I must ask, what were the school's needs that our plans didn't meet? Could it be the, I've got to have it now, I can't wait needs? A.K.A. the spoiled child syndrome. Or could it be the needs of the Faculty wanting everyone else to sacrifice while expressing an unwillingness to sacrifice their own pay increase? And John, why didn't you tell the readers that 90% of the people at those public meetings were School Board or Faculty members? More facts conveniently overlooked? Why didn't you find it in your heart to explain that no one, including the school's own accounting firm, has been able to disprove our plan with facts and figures? Or how one letter that stated our plan would take 13 1/2 years to raise the needed funds was based on a simple graph made by the school that conveniently left out accumulated interest and the projected tax base growth on which their projected low millage rate is based? A rumor that's still circulating. Using their projected figures our plan would only take 8 1/2 years, not 13 1/2, and less than 6 years if the teachers and administrators would join in the sacrifice. Why didn't your publisher's note put an end to the "fear of fire" rumor? Or point out that the $150,000 demolition bid doesn't include the removal and cleanup of a 10,000 gallon fuel oil tank at the Middle School? Or that the removal of two 1,000 gallon gas tanks cost the district a $20,000 deductible of a total bill of $80,000? Or that the EPA and DNR, also with padlock powers, Ben, will probably be monitoring the demolition and removal of potential toxins which could cost taxpayers much more than the original $150,000 price tag? Or that the 8.35 million is really around 16 million including interest, and that's only projected total cost. There's really no guarantee on that number, a fact that most proponents of the bond issue seem to ignore. Or that if the proposal had passed we would've been paying about $1,600 a day just in interest, Ben? Or that Louise Ponder's letter, attempting to instill guilt in the minds of seniors, is the most blatant misuse of analogies I've witnessed during this entire heated debate? How can you compare total dollars spent for care of the elderly to dollars spent only on education for children? And please tell us, how can 75% of the total entitlement budget compute to 10 times the total spent on welfare and education? We'd have to spend four times the national budget just on the elderly. You can't spend four times more than you have, well, maybe Washington can. But, may I suggest that you read again the statistics on which you based your report. Your figures do not compute, Louise. The rumor that most of the elderly will receive more dollars than they put in is also a deception. Perhaps dollar for dollar that's true. But, when you compare the value of the dollar and then figure in compounded interest for 40 to 50 years, most seniors could retire wealthy on what they've paid into Social Security. To suggest that supporting our seniors with their own money, and it is their own money, is somehow neglectfully depriving our children is absolutely preposterous. For that somewhat misleading information, I think all of our seniors deserve an apology. Shame on you, Louise. And double shame on you, John. Now you know the rest of the story.

Your persistent school critic,

Robert Papovich
4516 Germania
Snover, MI 48472
517-872-5486

Publisher's note: Since you asked, Robert, the fallacy of the Papovich plan is apparent when inflation is considered. The plan that cost $7.95 million the first time now is pegged at $8.35 million due to inflation and incurred interest costs. Thirteen years from now $8.35 million would be like buying a car 13 years ago — less than half of today's cost.

Letters to the Editor

The Chronicle welcomes letters to the editor. Letters must include the writer's name, address and telephone number. The latter is in case it is necessary to call for verification, but won't be used in the newspaper. Names will be withheld from publication upon request, for an adequate reason. We will not publish thank you letters of a specific nature, for instance, from a club thanking merchants who donated prizes for a raffle.

New school essential for the future

Dear Mr. Haire,

Within the next couple of weeks, the voters in the Cass City school district will have the opportunity to exercise their right to vote on a school bond proposal to build a new middle school and add on to the Campbell Elementary building. In the past, there has been some confusion about where voting for school elections takes place. Unlike other elections where voting takes place in the township where you reside, all voting for school elections takes place at the Cass City High School. All registered voters in the thirteen townships within our school district will vote at the polls set up in the high school. The polls will be open from 7:00 am.-8:00 p.m. Voters who are unable to vote on the scheduled date can obtain absentee ballots from the superintendent's office located at the high school. It is important that we not lose sight as to why the passage of this school bond proposal is essential for our community. We need to leave behind our own personal agendas and beliefs about taxes and school funding and focus on the real issue...providing the best education for our children! They deserve safe and up-to-date schools in order to prepare them for the 21st century. They need to be able to compete in the future job market and the way to prepare them is by providing quality education in QUALITY FACILITIES. Our children are the future of our community and society. I encourage you to vote YES on Saturday, February 18, as an investment in your future.

Sincerely,

Diane Santhany

Vote for the kids

School kept up, but worn out

Dear John,

We need a new Middle School! The school was built in 1926. The year I was born! I was born on a farm that had no electricity or indoor plumbing. My father farmed with two teams of horses. We kids went to a rural school. Most kids didn't go to high school. Many didn't finish 8th grade.

The Intermediate school as we know it had lights and indoor plumbing. There were ceiling lights, chalk boards, and a few books. It housed all grades K-12. The kindergarten room had a fireplace!! I wonder who planned this luxury?

I taught 38 years before I retired in 1988. The last 28 years in Cass City as a teacher and Principal of Deford and Campbell Elementary schools. As a Principal at Campbell, I worked with Mr. Stickle (Intermediate Principal) in planning and scheduling of classes, school program, and curriculum. We had to schedule things around the "lacks" in each other's building.

Campbell school was first built in 1955. Then later on four more additions. When the second and third additions were added our building included grades kindergarten thru sixth. Mrs. Marie Sullivan was the first elementary principal in the Thumb area. The school had a gym, library and cafeteria. Another first! We had a lot of visitors from other school systems! The cafeteria served meals to the total school. The Intermediate and High School pupils had to run back and forth between schools. Good weather or bad they came. Inconvenient for them and the teachers at Campbell who had to try and help keep control. We had a long noon hour period as our halls were jammed.

When the new High School was built, there was more room for the middle aged pupils. Now the Intermediate school was home for pupils in grades five through eighth. There were no great changes in the building until the High School shop was moved up to the new school. Then a cafeteria was put in this spot. Students had three floors to come down, long hallways to go to get to the cafeteria. It was better than running between schools but still not an ideal situation.

During these years I observed many problems. My children and grandchildren brought things to my attention as they moved thru the middle grades too.

1. Tornado: We had a man come from Civil Defense office to help us plan for this emergency. As he went thru our buildings he told us we had few safe places. The Intermediate kids were all to be brought down to first floor. (Can't use the gym). We were told to avoid halls that had both north and south doors, as this creates a wind tunnel!! Over 500 pupils on 1st floor that has both north and south doors?? He said, "Just pray you never have a tornado here." You can believe that every time there were tornado warnings or watch, I prayed. This is still true today. No safe place to go.

2. Fire Drills: Depending on where the fire happens. Things can get bad very quickly. They were to leave the school and during bad weather were to go to Campbell halls and gym.

3. Heat system: Has been a big problem. Some rooms too warm, some too cold. You can go by this school in cold weather and some windows are open. Also, if you're in a west classroom during snow storms you will find little drifts on the inside. It comes in thru cracks around the window and sill.

4. Classrooms were not built for all the teaching materials and equipment needed for today's pupils. In 1926 bookcase was enough. Not today! Much wiring and new outlets are needed. When an outlet was put in, it was by the front light switch by the door. Teachers have to use extension cords to get equipment in front of pupils. (Campbell School has this problem too.) Too many cords and fuses blow.

5. Most rooms are too small. Wasn't built to have 30 pupils per classroom. Some of these floors are bad. I know of one room that had a large hole and now it has plywood on top and painted.

6. Building is not designed for handicapped students. Example: A child in a wheelchair left Campbell to go to 5th grade. All 5th and 6th classrooms are on second floor. So one 5th grade room was moved to first floor. Repeated the next year by having a 6th classroom come down. However, for 7th and 8th grade Cass City had to pay tuition for her to attend Caro School. Then she was able to come back to Cass City for high school. The stone steps for three floors can be slippery and dangerous. Some pupils who have a balance problem were dismissed five minutes early to manage steps before the rest of the kids.

7. In the Seventies we had an opportunity to sign up with Delta College for TV courses in Art, Music, Science, Math and conservation. Deford, Evergreen and Campbell were wired so each classroom had a TV in it. Teachers had manuals and could pre-teach and follow up each lesson. I can remember some fine science experiments!! These classes were a good addition to textbooks. Once again the Intermediate school could not participate due to wiring and building problems.

I support a new school for the middle aged child. It will be designed for them! This old building was fine in its day. It has had the bricks painted, new roof and doors, but internally it is still an old building. It is not for the knowledge explosion of the 21st century. It is like me!! Worn out!!

The Intermediate teachers have been studying for over two years to change and improve the program for this age of youth. However, it is only a small answer and a waste of time and money if there is not a new building. Can you ever dream of the knowledge and technology that pupils will need for the next 80 years? It boggles my mind. Our youth are the future. They will be making the decisions concerning our health and well being.

My children and grandchildren are all through school and will never attend this school. But I believe that a supportive family, faith, and community education support is needed to make our children grow into productive adults!! We have great kids in our community. Turn out and vote for them!

Sincerely,

Jacqueline Freiburger

Women most often the victim

Dear Editor:

In regard to last week's front page, I am assuming that the decision to put the account of the arrest of a woman for "hitting boyfriend" in such a predominant position of the paper was based on the rarity of such incidents.

The Department of Justice statistics show that 95% of spouse assaults are male against female. Of that remaining 5%, the most frequent reported reason that women used violence was self defense. Many times, once a battered woman has experienced the failure of the police or court system to stop the violence, she realizes that she does not have any other way to protect herself.

While there are cases of women assaulting men, focusing on those diverts attention from the much more serious problem of violence against women. Since a woman is beaten every 12 seconds in this country, perhaps it has become such a common occurrence that it doesn't warrant front page attention. And, yes, it does happen in Cass City - often and is not confined to the "low-income" population.

So, while a woman assaulting a man is much more newsworthy, violence against women by their partners is much more severe and prevalent and will not be stopped until it, too, is addressed on the front page.

Sincerely,

Diane Santhany

Learn about Kingston bond issue, then vote

Dear Editor,

Public education is a community concern. On Saturday, March 4, 1995, voters in the Kingston Community School District will have the privilege to vote on a $3,725,000 bond issue. If the issue passes, the funds will finance proposed new construction and renovations to the Kingston High School and other proposed expenditures. On Monday, Feb. 13, 1995, at 7:00 p.m. school officials will hold a community meeting to explain the issues and answer questions concerning the issues.

The Kingston Elementary School Parent Teacher Organization strongly encourages members of this community to attend this meeting. We have the opportunity to get information directly from the "horse's mouth." We then can form our opinions and decisions based on the facts and on March 4 we can cast our votes, confident that we have done the best thing for the children of this community, as well as for our wallets.

Whether or not the voter has children, grandchildren, or no children in the Kingston schools, we hope they will VOTE!

Ellen Romosier
President

other sisters, Sherry Bradford lives in Flint, Denise Madila resides in Harbor Beach, Donna Welsh lives in Snover, Cathy Crawley lives in Durand, and Tammy resides in Detroit.

Just last month, Larry located and phoned the remaining missing sister, Marjorie, who lives in Pennsylvania.

Larry continued to be frustrated in his attempts to find his only brother, David. But that all changed during a phone conversation with sister Sherry a couple of weeks ago.

While talking, another came in on call-waiting. It was David calling Sherry from his home in Arizona.

Larry said, adding David and Sherry had had some contact with each other through the years, but Sherry didn't have David's phone number.

Larry, who was both stunned and elated, said he wanted to immediately hop on a plane and visit David, but finances have forced him to wait until they meet at Sherry's wedding next month.

Looking back, Larry and Nancy agreed their long and difficult search has been worth every bit of frustration they encountered along the way.

"It's a shame what happened, but at least we all found each other. That's the main thing," Larry concluded. "It's a great feeling."

Nancy acknowledged she's looking forward to their reunion. "It's going to be different after not seeing them for all these years, (but) I am excited," she said. "There's going to be a lot of hugging and a lot of crying at that wedding."

School meeting

It made a difference for me. Janet concluded by saying she would be happy if the work could be done in stages instead of all at once.

Schneberger asked if the school had already spent large sums for architectural and planning work. Micklash said that the school has not spent money for detailed planning and won't unless the bond issue passes. The estimated cost of the building is based on current prices per square foot for school buildings, he explained.

B. A. Calka asked if any local contractors would be employed in the construction. Micklash explained that a construction manager, now working at 2 other area schools, would supervise the awarding of bids in place of a single bid by a general contractor.

Under the plan, all the various contracts would be let individually, giving local firms a better shot at the work than was received by a general contractor. The system has proved to be cost effective, he added, saving neighboring districts construction dollars.

BEFORE THE SPLIT — Most of Nancy Rolston's 9 sisters and 2 brothers are pictured in this photo, which was taken 2 years before their parents divorced and the children were split up, most of them through adoption.

LEANING TOWER of grain — Deterioration at the base of an old silo at Laurie Farms northwest of Cass City caused the structure to begin a slow but certain descent to the ground about 2 weeks ago. The silo contains 10,000 to 15,000 bushels of corn, according to Doug Laurie, who said a professional demolition crew will be in this week to bring the structure down safely.
