Knowledgeable bandit

Break-in nets $400 for thief

Cass City police are investigating a pair of recent burglaries, including one at a local business.

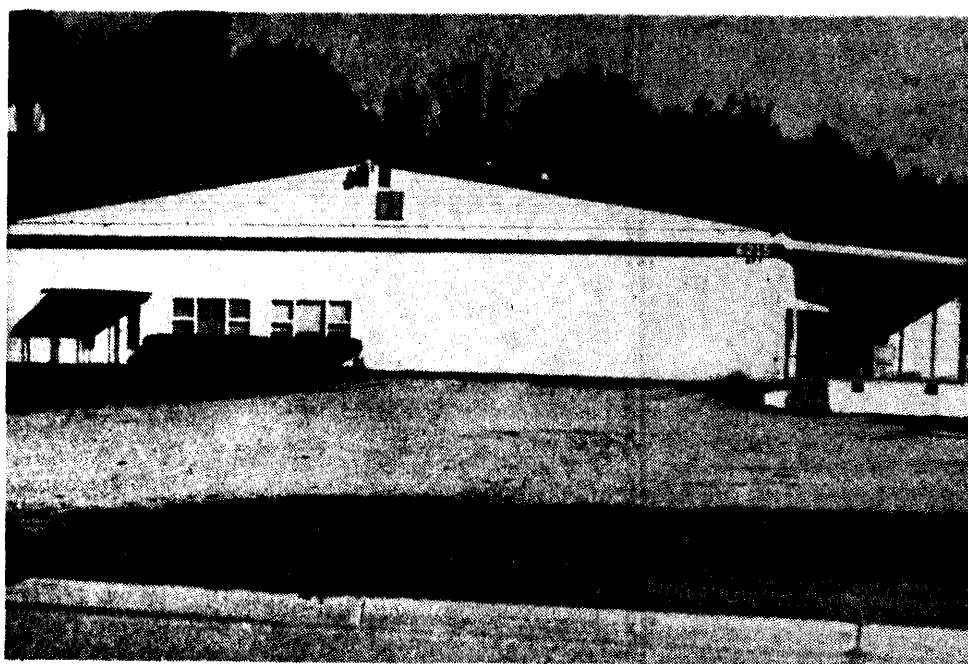

Officials at Wash King Laundry & Dry Cleaning, 6400 W. Main St., reported someone broke into the laundromat sometime after midnight Friday and got away with $400 in cash.

Reports state the culprit(s) broke a window, then reached in and unlocked a dead bolt to gain entrance. The individuals then walked to the rear of the business, forced open the door to the machine room and removed the cash from a box mounted to the wall.

Investigators theorize the culprits were familiar with the business because they appeared to know where to find the cash box, which was well hidden.

Also reporting a burglary was William Boldizar, who told police a 1978 Nova racing motor valued at $10,000, along with a transmission and several hand tools, were stolen from a garage at 4144 Seeger St. sometime between Sept. 30 and Oct. 11.

Also last week, Steve Boldizar, 6265 Lakeside Dr., Cass City, reported his bike was recently stolen from behind Cass City Muffler. The bike is valued at $150.

ORBITAL FLUID Technologies Inc. is seeking a tax abatement in conjunction with a planned expansion of its operations. The company plans to open a second facility in Cass City, having leased this building at 6215 Garfield Ave.

40 new jobs

Orbital to expand; seeks tax break

Officials at Orbital Fluid Technologies, 4260 Doerr Rd., are seeking a tax abatement in connection with a planned expansion of the company's Cass City operations.

The Cass City Village Council met in special session Monday morning to consider a resolution to establish a plant rehabilitation district for a building the firm has leased with an option to buy at 6215 Garfield Ave.

The council unanimously approved the rehabilitation district and scheduled a public hearing to consider Orbital's application for an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate, which would make the company eligible for a tax break of up to 50 percent for a maximum of 12 years on improvements to the building as well as new equipment.

If approved, the state equalized valuation (SEV) of the building would be frozen at the pre-improvement level for 12 years.

The public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 30 at the village municipal building, just prior to the council's regular October meeting.

Provided the council votes in favor of the Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate, the application will then be sent to the Michigan Department of Treasury and Michigan Jobs Commission for a final review.

At Monday's special session, John Niebrzydowski, Orbital Fluid Technologies director of operations, told council members the company has outgrown its present building on Doerr Road.

Orbital Fluid Technologies, which is involved in the research, development and manufacture of fuel injection systems, began operating in Cass City 7 1/2 years ago as part of a joint venture with Walbro Corporation.

Orbital moved from Walbro facilities into its present building after the joint venture was disbanded in 1993.

Since then, the firm has more than doubled its workforce, from 30 employees to nearly 70 employees.

And more hiring is planned, according to Niebrzydowski, who explained the expansion represents the realization of long-term plans to shift from development to manufacturing.

"We have a commitment from Mercury Marine to ship injection systems," he told the council. "We're just starting to make the parts that will be assembled and shipped the first part of next year."

The expansion project involving the 9,600-square-foot building on Garfield Avenue, known as the Bassett building, is estimated at $2.6 million — $2.3 million for machinery, equipment, furniture and fixtures, and nearly $300,000 in building improvements.

Niebrzydowski estimated the expansion will result in the hiring of an additional 40 people over the next couple years.

"Most of the positions will be manufacturing," he said. "We're trying to hire machinists right now."

If approved, the tax abatement will translate into a savings of about $12,000 per year for Orbital. At the same time, village officials emphasize, the local company's expansion will mean $12,000 in new tax revenue for the village.

New middle school principal

Dr. Snyder applauds program

Cass City Schools' dedication to the middle school teaching concept and a friendly community are a big part of what drew Dr. William R. Snyder to the area.

Snyder, 51, of Grosse Pointe Park, was recently hired as the new principal of Cass City Middle School. The school board last week approved a 2-year contract for the veteran educator and administrator.

"This is an outstanding program here; that's what caught my eye," Snyder commented Thursday. "I certainly like the smallness of the community — it's friendly. I feel very lucky to be here."

Snyder, who was among 13 to apply for the $57,000-a-year post, has 9 years teaching experience and more than 20 years in administration — nearly all of it at the middle school level — in the Wyandotte, Detroit and Ypsilanti school systems.

He earned his bachelor's degree and secondary teaching certificate, master's degree in secondary education and doctorate in curriculum development at Wayne State University.

He also has an elementary teaching certificate, secondary administrative certification and central office and elementary administrative certification.

Snyder's teaching career began in 1966 at Wilson Junior High in Wyandotte. He later went on to teach 7 years in the Detroit Public Schools and was hired as assistant principal of Condon Middle School in 1975.

Snyder worked as a candidate assessor in the Detroit

Public Schools from 1984 to 1986, and for the next 2 years was workshop director at Condon Middle School.

A guest lecturer/instructor at Eastern Michigan University, he became principal at Condon Middle School in 1980, a post he held until 1989, when he was named principal at Ruddiman Middle School. In 1990, he was hired as principal at East Middle School in the Ypsilanti School District.

Snyder counts among his biggest achievements:

- Long term, steady improvement of school standardized test scores.

- Development of Magnet School curricular programs, including advanced science, accelerated math, student activities program, outdoor education (camping), school breakfast programs, public speaking and debate programs and expansion of foreign language programs.

- Establishment of a student after-school tutoring program for students.

- Implementation and development of school-business partnerships.

- Implementation and expansion of computer literacy, computer assisted instruction and computer test item analysis programs.

- Development and expansion of school-based incentive programs for both individual students and total classes demonstrating academic growth, improvement in attendance and/or improved citizenship. Incentive programs for excellence in performance also established for teaching staff.

Snyder was also involved in implementing the middle school concept at East Middle School, while adding the sixth grade to the school, during a time of district financial crisis.

The educator indicated he's impressed with the program in place at Cass City Middle School. "The only handicap is the way the building is," he said, noting the layout doesn't favor the middle school concept of teaching.

Still, he indicated support for the program is the key, and the building itself won't prevent continued improvements.

"That's always been my philosophy; you work with what you have and look towards the future."

Snyder, who enjoys outdoor activities in his free time — biking, running, cross country skiing and photography — said he plans to focus on a number of areas in his new position. They include teacher morale and student performance, discipline and pride. "I think we could do some things that would help the kids feel they do have some ownership," he added.

Snyder's goal is to make a good thing even better. "I'd like to be part of the continued improvement here," he concluded.

DR. WILLIAM R. Snyder is settling in as the new principal at Cass City Middle School. Snyder brings to the district years of experience as both a teacher and administrator.

Jury finds Decker guilty

Pair face jail after fatal crashes

Two area men face sentencing in Tuscola County Circuit Court in connection with separate fatal traffic accidents.

Michael D. Decker, 36, of Cass City, was found guilty Friday of operating a motor vehicle with a blood alcohol level of .10 or more — causing death, stemming from a Jan. 4, 1994, accident in Ellington Township, and Frederick W. Kausch, 57, of Owendale, pleaded no contest Friday to 2 counts of negligent homicide in connection with a July 24 crash in Gilford Township.

Decker's conviction came following a 5-day jury trial. The jury delivered the verdict Friday at 10:40 a.m. following about 5 hours of deliberations.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and the defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department without bond. Sentencing is to be scheduled. According to police reports, Decker was the driver of a pickup truck involved in an accident that claimed the life of Lynn E. Hodges, 50, of Caro.

Hodges was driving west on M-81, about a half-mile north of Dutcher Road, when he swerved to avoid Decker, whose eastbound vehicle had crossed the road center line. Both vehicles subsequently left the road and collided.

Decker faces revocation of his driver's license and a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison and/or a fine of $2,500 to $10,000.

A pre-sentence investigation was also ordered for Kausch, whose license was revoked. Bond was continued at $5,000 and sentencing is to be set.

Police reports state Kausch was driving south on M-138 at about 5 p.m. when he failed to stop at the Bradleyville Road intersection, and a westbound pickup truck driven by Ruth Ann Fackler, 32, Vassar, struck his milk tanker truck. Fackler's daughter, Sabrina, 9, was pronounced dead at the scene. Fackler, who was transported to Bay Medical Center in Bay City, died days later as a result of her injuries.

Although a no-contest plea is not an admission of guilt, the plea is treated the same as a guilty plea. Upon sentencing, Kausch faces a maximum penalty of 2 years imprisonment and/or a $2,000 fine per count.

OTHER PROCEEDINGS

In other circuit court proceedings Friday:

- Inmate Bryan A. Young, 24, was sentenced to one to 5 years in prison for a guilty verdict of being a prisoner in possession of marijuana April 14 in Indianfields Township.

Young was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

- Inmate Clement Ovalle, 26, pleaded guilty to being a prisoner in possession of contraband July 2 in Indianfields Township.

Vassar woman dies in crash

A Vassar woman was killed in a 2-vehicle crash last week in Vassar Township.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies identified the victim as Mildred E. Siverly, 80, 3745 W. Saginaw Rd.

The accident occurred at about 8:43 a.m. Oct. 11, according to reports, which state Siverly was driving north on Oak Road and she failed to stop or yield at the signed intersection of Walton Road. Her vehicle was struck broadside by an eastbound vehicle driven by Scott T. Girard, 21, of Saginaw.

Siverly, who was not wearing a seat belt, was pronounced dead at the scene. Investigators said Girard was wearing a seat belt. He was transported to St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw, for treatment of his injuries.

Deputies were assisted at the scene by the Vassar Fire Rescue Unit and Vassar police.

Parenting series to begin Oct. 25

"How to Talk So Kids Will Listen" is a parenting series that will begin Oct. 25. This series will be held for 7 weeks and classes are from 7 to 9 p.m. in the MSU Extension Conference Room, 104 County Building, Bad Axe.

The parenting classes are sponsored by MSU Extension - Huron County. Barbara Neuman, extension home economist, will be the facilitator for the series.

These classes, especially helpful for parents with children ages 3 to 12, will teach parents how to get their children to cooperate, as well as how to discipline without hurting the child or alienating him/her. Teaching your child to understand and communicate his/her feelings is also an important part of the sessions.

There is a $15 registration fee that covers the cost of the book and materials. Class size is limited and registration is necessary. Call (517) 269-9949 to enroll or to get more information.

by Melva E. Guinther

I flipped the calendar page over and there it was! The list of instructions — make that warnings — clipped to the October page after Christmas last year. It read like this:

Have all Christmas needlework projects finished by the end of October.

Clean house thoroughly in November so only a touch-up is needed before Christmas.

Address Christmas cards the weekend after Thanksgiving.

Wrap gifts and decorate house the first week in December.

Send packages by second week in December.

Just reading it made me tired.

The first order of business in light of those demands was obvious. Re-label several needlework projects as birthday, or Christmas '96, presents. (There's no conceivable hope of finishing all of them by the end of the month.) Then spend every idle moment on the rest.

I have a bad habit of starting one project without finishing the previous one. A cross stitch Christmas tablecloth and napkins haven't seen the light of day since they were begun 4 or 5 years ago.

It's partly because some projects lend themselves to traveling, while others do not. I like to make use of the time spent riding in a car or on a plane, but a tablecloth is a bit cumbersome to work on in a confined space.

Another particularly intricate cross stitch design I've been working on would be a disaster if done on the move. It's difficult even sitting in a chair with total concentration and good light. There are about 15 different shades of gray and nearly that many of brown, plus a multitude of others, and the colors are constantly changing. That's one that got re-labeled.

The next item put on hold was the ridiculous notion, entertained however briefly, of redecorating a bedroom before the holidays. We'll do well to get the house thoroughly cleaned on schedule. Besides, spring is good for redecorating.

Since I like to make my own Christmas cards and they're to be addressed by the end of November, that little project can't be postponed too long either.

It seems to be a human foible to think there's lots of time till Christmas, although there are only 9 1/2 weeks, or 66 days. And we all know that those days and weeks get shorter and shorter the closer it gets. Which is why the list was clipped there in the first place.

Before you know it, it will be "Countdown to Christmas panic time."

Every year it seems like the holiday season gets busier. And every year I vow to be more organized so we can relax and enjoy it more. Maybe this will be the year!

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Help in the campaign to save the Octagon Barn in Gagetown comes from unexpected sources. Would you believe from a fourth and fifth grade split class in Farmington Hills Beechview?

Here's the story. The split class is taught by Kelly (Seurynck) Loniewski.

The barn has been a topic in the school's paper, which is sold for 25 cents. The paper gives a brief history of the barn and asks for donations to help save it. The campaign goal is $1,500. At last report, $40 had been collected.

This summer a field trip to visit the barn is being planned.

Detroit Edison is offering free bright orange plastic bags for youngsters to use when trick or treating on Halloween.

The bags come with fliers listing safety tips, holiday celebration ideas and tasty recipes.

Starting Friday they were to be available at the Edison office on Doerr Road in Cass City.

Edison will also distribute the bags through the company's 10 partnership schools in southeastern Michigan.

Fire department needs Board plans for future

Elkland Township officials will receive a helping hand as they prepare to plan for future fire department equipment purchases.

Retired consultant Don Richards offered his services during a monthly Township Board meeting Oct. 10 at the Elkland Township Fire Hall, Clerk Norma Wallace reported.

"He's going to help us with our long-range plan for updating our fire equipment down the road," Wallace explained, adding Richards will assist the township in looking at various grants available to municipalities.

Richards is not charging the township, but he will probably receive a stipend for his services, Wallace said.

In other business, the board voted in favor of an additional charge when a special zoning board meeting is held.

Currently, individuals are charged $150 when the zoning board meets in regular session to address applications or other matters. The extra $100 would be used to offset additional printing, publishing, zoning board salaries and other expenses related to a special meeting, Wallace said.

She noted any monies not spent to cover expenses will be returned to the individual applicant.

The Haire Net

Think how profitable baseball would be if management had no salaries to pay for players in the minor leagues. If it were able to dress the players in uniforms that not only didn't cost anything, but in which millions of dollars were received for using them.

That, of course, is what major colleges are doing these days. Nike, the leading exponent of turning players and coaches into walking billboards, pays the University of Michigan $6 million over 7 years for the right to display the swoosh emblem on team uniforms.

The colleges who are on the receiving end of Nike's advertising strategy point to the advantages to the school's sports program that the money brings.

U of M points out that all 22 men's and women's teams benefit from the Nike deal. They get all practice shoes and uniforms from Nike.

An NCAA committee surveyed coaches and recommended that apparel companies be treated the same as boosters and agents.

That died a quiet death. Boosters and agents rarely contribute funds directly to the sports program and it's in the direct interest for the schools to keep them distanced from the program.

If a booster were allowed to finance an individual player, no telling what the ante might run up to. And after all, if the booster spends his money on players, he might just cut his donation to the university. Agents, the devils, try to spirit the players away before they have spent 4 or 5 years in the system.

It should be mentioned here that the examples given mention Michigan, but it's only a case in point. Michigan State has a contract with Reebok and the more prestigious schools, the bigger the payoff by the shoe men.

What is the players' cut of the succulent money pie? If lucky, a 4-year education. However, most sports fans have heard horror stories about what happens to the athlete on scholarship who didn't pan out and was "using up" a valuable grant that could be used to recruit someone who might be better.

It's sure that pure amateurism never will return in the major sports. It's time that the players get cut in on the gravy.

You could hire the best out of high school with a wage that would make them self-sufficient for their college years without taking an outside job.

And it would still cost management just a fraction of what it takes to develop a major league ball player.

"If It Fitz...."

Milk great drink-if you can get it

By Jim Fitzgerald

A committee of experts assembled by the National Institutes of Health recently proclaimed that Americans should drink more milk because we need more calcium to keep our bones from getting brittle.

Tell that to restaurants. Tell it to grocery stores. Tell it to my wife.

I want milk with my meals. I'm irked by restaurants that don't want to sell me milk. I want to kill waitresses who remember to bring 15 different wines from France and Germany but forget to bring one glass of milk from the kitchen.

Most restaurants hand you a cup of coffee when you walk in the door, whether you want it or not. An empty cup is always at hand, and if you don't want it filled, you'd better sit on it. Restaurants never run out of coffee. They'd rather run out of forks.

I once attended a big banquet on the campus of an agricultural college. There was a coffee cup and a wine glass included in every setting. If you wanted milk, you had to put in a special order.

The milk came in a half-pint carton, along with a soda straw. To open the carton, you had to be a safecracker.

The purpose of the banquet was to honor leaders of the dairy industry. Honest to God.

When milk is available, the trick is to get it when you want it. I want it with the main course. I don't want it with the soup and salad, because then the milk grows warm before I'm ready to drink it.

I don't want it with dessert because that's when I'm busy sobbing and endangering brittle hand-bones by pounding the table because waitpersons never deliver milk when you want it, although they'll pour coffee down your gullet every 2 minutes.

OK, buy your milk in a supermarket. Bring along a magnifying glass so you can read the turn-sour date on the cartons. Many stores display milk on a slide, with the oldest milk in front, and the freshest way up in back. That's so the oldest milk will be sold first, and the store won't get stuck with sour milk, but maybe you will, unless you risk an avalanche.

Because I'm the only milk drinker in my home, and a half-gallon lasts a long time, I want to buy the freshest milk in back. So I have to temporarily remove the older milk in front until fresher milk slides into reach. This makes me feel furtive and foolish, especially when the cartons career out of control and fall on my feet.

The customer is always squashed.

peated refill trips to the kitchen and back.

It also eliminates the risk of milk being spilled from an open glass carried by a man with bones embrittled by an unreasonable wife. You see, my wife is unalterably opposed to my strengthening my bones in this reasonable manner.

She goes nuts whenever anyone places an ordinary carton of milk within convenient reach of the people who want to drink it. She insists that nothing in this messy world looks worse than a carton of milk in the middle of a dinner table.

The last time she insisted this, her ironing board had been up in the middle of the family room for 2 weeks.

The National Institutes of Health committee concluded: "Recent nutrition surveys have shown that the average diet of Americans has a calcium intake considerably below the recommended daily allowance."

What with restaurants, supermarkets and wives, is it any wonder? I ask you.

Special programs slated at library

A month long series, "America at School," sponsored jointly by Campbell Elementary School Library and Rawson Memorial Library will conclude with special programs at the Rawson Memorial Library Oct. 24 at 4:30 p.m. and Oct. 26 at 7 p.m.

Based on the school stories from the American Girl series, the program explores what school was like for American children in the years 1774, 1854, 1864, 1904 and 1944.

The American Girl dolls and all school accessories will be on display at Campbell Elementary School in October, along with school memorabilia belonging to some of the teachers. Campbell librarian Donna Emerson is teaching a unit that month for students on school days of the past.

Special events at Rawson Memorial Library will depict school times in past years. The ideas for the games, crafts and refreshments to be featured during the program were taken from stories in the American Girl series.

Students must be accompanied by an adult guest. A ticket is necessary and attendance will be limited to 25 students and their adult guests at each session. Cost of the ticket is a school supply item which will be given to a charitable organization.

Tickets are now available at Rawson Memorial Library. It is not mandatory, but students are encouraged to come dressed appropriately to one of the time periods. Anyone owning an American Girl doll may bring it to the program.

To Thumb Area Consortium

$1 million grant awarded

Welfare residents served by the Thumb Area Consortium needing help finding work will benefit from a $1 million grant awarded by the Michigan Jobs Commission.

State Rep. Mike Green, R-Mayville, said the money was funded as part of the statewide Work First program. The grant totaled $1,431,916 and will be administered by the consortium.

"Michigan's welfare reforms have become pilot programs for the nation," Green said. "Our aggressive proactive stance has demonstrated that public assistance need not be a dead end. We are willing to offer a helping hand but not a handout - that means people must accept responsibility for their lives."

Work First's unique programs are individually tailored to the client's needs. Employment plans help recipients find work as quickly as possible.

"Additional education or training may not be necessary for every participant," Green said. "This initiative offers the flexibility to immediately place people in a job. However, schooling is available for those who need it."

Recent reforms allowing clients to keep more of their paychecks have proven successful. Almost 25 percent of Michigan's public assistance families have made the transition from welfare to work. The national average is 8 percent.

"This grant will help many Thumb-area residents move their lives forward," Green

Thanks to a grant provided by the office of Michigan's Governor, John Engler, the fire fighting forces of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will be better prepared to handle wildfire emergencies.

"The $5 million appropriation has allowed us to purchase much needed equipment to replace some of the antiquated equipment currently in use," DNR Director Roland Harnes said.

According to Michigan law, the DNR's Resource Protection section of the Forest Management Division is charged with providing fire protection on all forest lands in the state. This includes state and private lands which now total over 20 million acres of forest, brush and grass lands, and accounts for about 60 percent of the total land base in Michigan.

"The average acreage burned in Michigan as a result of wildfires has been reduced from 300,000 annually in the 1930's to 50,000 in the 1950's to around 5,000 acres each year today," State Fire Supervisor Ron Wilson said. "This has been accomplished through fire planning and prevention, as well as the use of highly specialized equipment, operated by a highly trained fire fighting force of less than 100 forest fire officers statewide."

Prior to the issuance, and subsequent expenditure of this grant, the fleet of tractor plows were 18 years old, on average, and the fire trucks were nearly 25 years old. The Forest Fire protection program in Michigan was designed to be mechanized and extremely efficient. Equipment purchased through this appropriation will allow that protection to continue at the highest level possible.

Fire equipment now being received by the Department of Natural Resources at various locations throughout the state include 12 John Deere model 450 crawler tractors, one TD 650, a Caterpillar D5H, 7 relief John Deere model 350 crawler tractors, 15 Peterbilt trucks for crawler tractor transport, 14 International 4800 4-wheel drive vehicles being converted for fire use, 10 HUMMERS, a commercial version of the AM General military HUMMV vehicles for conversion to wildfire use.

In addition, the special appropriation allowed for the purchase of a skidder, equipment trailers, remote electronic weather stations, water pumps, tanks, plows, foam proportioners and specialized radio equipment.

DNR FOREST Fire Officer Kim Dufresne of the Cass City Field Office stands next to the new HUMMER he recently received. The HUMMER is equipped with a 300-gallon water tank and carries Class A foam. It replaces a 1967 Jeep.

Bulldogs fall to Kingston, North Huron

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs are hoping that the familiar confines of their home gym will be enough to put the team back on the winning trail. The Bulldogs lost both games last week on the road and were to have played North Branch Wesleyan Tuesday at home before taking to the road again for a North Central D game at Akron-Fairgrove.

The Bulldogs lost to North Huron Tuesday, 47-45, and it was a tough loss as the Warriors trailed most of the game until the final gun when it counted.

Coach Dean Roller said the loss can be attributed to the same old causes, too many turnovers and poor shooting. Paced by Susie Roemer and Kate Powers, the Bulldogs shot out to a 16-11 first quarter lead. In those first 8 minutes, Roemer contributed 3 field goals and 2 of 3 charity tosses. Powers netted 3 field goals.

But the next 3 quarters belonged to the Warriors. With Shannon Pettit leading the way with 6 points in the second quarter, the host team chopped a point off the Owen-Gage lead in the second period.

KINGSTON GAME

Kingston just shut us down, Roller said after his charges were decisively defeated by the Cardinals, 48-31, Thursday. The Cards showed why they are in second place in the North Central D League, having lost only to undefeated Peck.

Two very bad quarters made it an easy win for Kingston. The Bulldogs' chances for an upset vanished in the first period when the winners bounced out to an 11-1 lead. The Bulldogs missed everything they threw up, including 3 of 4 free throws.

The Cardinals made the outcome of the game virtually sure in the second period as Devin Kelley burned the nets for 10 points and the Cardinals moved in front 28-14 at the half.

After a low scoring third quarter with the Cardinals posting an 8-4 lead, the teams traded baskets until the final whistle.

Kelley, with 16 points, and Meredith Roland, with 14, led the Cardinals. Tonya Smith led the Bulldogs with 12.

Breast cancer awareness

Celebration of Life set

A country music Celebration of Life II will be held Sunday, Oct. 22, from 2 until 8 p.m. at the Colony House, M-53, Cass City. This dance is to promote breast cancer awareness and is sponsored by the hospitals and health departments in the Thumb.

Admission is $2, with music provided by BJ Dance Company and Northern Lights Dance Club. Several times throughout the day, partner and line dances will be taught by professional instructors. Soft drinks and snacks may be purchased and a chicken dinner will be served from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. for $4.25.

One in 8 women will develop breast cancer during her lifetime. With early detection and diagnosis, this cancer may be up to 96 percent curable. The best methods of early detection are 3 exams that work together, BSE (breast self-exam), CBE (clinical breast exam) and mammography (an examination of the breast by X-ray). All women should do BSE every month and get a CBE every year. Beginning at age 40, a woman should have a mammogram every one to 2 years, and one every year after age 50.

A Celebration of Life II is being held to remind everyone how important early detection is in preventing deaths from breast cancer. For more information on breast cancer and mammography, call the Cancer Society, your doctor, hospital, or the health department at 1-800-833-8850.

O-G racks up third grid win in a row

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs will be favored to even their season's record Friday when C-PS comes to town. Coach Arnie Besonen's charges will look for their fourth straight win. Owen-Gage's third win in a row was chalked up at the expense of Akron-Fairgrove in the Dogs' homecoming game, 25-6.

Owen-Gage started its scoring parade with 3 minutes left in the first quarter. The drive started on their own 43 and the touchdown was netted in 6 plays. Austin Brinkman scored on a 14-yard pass from Chad Jahr.

Midway in the second quarter Owen-Gage scored again. After a drive was halted, Jahr kicked a 20-yard field goal.

Owen-Gage took advantage of a bad punt for its next touchdown. Taking over on the A-F 16, the Bulldogs scored in 2 plays. Jahr plunged over from the one and then kicked the extra point.

With 7:24 left in the game, Owen-Gage scored its final touchdown. The Bulldogs moved 58 yards in 10 plays with Wade Tetil scoring from the 10. Jahr ran for the extra points.

After that it was mop-up time and Besonen used his entire bench. A-F scored its only touchdown on a 15-yard pass from Keith Dixon to Josh Burkey.

Besonen said that his offensive line blocked much better than it did in early season games. The line enabled Tetil to rush for 122 yards in 17 carries. On defense Tetil made 15 tackles, 14 unassisted. Bill Schlak and Brinkman each had 8 tackles.

Record exports

Exports of sweet corn set another record this fiscal year, the fifth year in a row that sweet corn exports have gone up. Exports were up ten percent, to a record $198 million. The largest foreign market for sweet corn is Japan, where consumers use canned corn on pizzas, in soups and in salads.

JUNIOR BRAD KOCH (60) clears the path for Owen-Gage's final score of the initial half. Koch's efforts helped the Bulldogs accumulate 176 rushing yards.

RED HAWK QUARTERBACK Tim Micklash (13) pitches to teammate Dan Sherman in an option play that netted 12 yards and a first down in the third quarter Friday night in Marlette. Cass City nearly pulled out a victory late in the game, but the Red Raiders hung on for a 16-14 win.

Hawk hoopsters top USA, Bad Axe; lose to Pirates

In a full week of basketball, the Cass City Red Hawks played 3 games and walked off with 2 wins, including a Thumb C National decision over Bad Axe.

The week was off to a fine start for Hawk fans with a win at USA, 60-43.

Coach Marty Daniel said that his charges played well from start to finish both on the inside and outside, dominating the game for the first 3 quarters. Cass City was up by 28 points in the last quarter before coasting in for the victory.

The Hawks' 2 freshmen, Kara Mellendorf, 14 points, and Shelly Ulfing, 17 points, were the top scorers. Ulfing snagged 10 rebounds while Peyton Daniel had 8 boards from her guard position. Lindsay Maharg netted 12 points.

HARBOR BEACH

The Hawks bowed to the Harbor Beach Pirates for the second time this season. Both losses came in games that Cass City had an opportunity to win. The score was 46-40.

The game was off to a slow start and neither team scored in the first 3 minutes before Harbor Beach cracked the ice with a free throw.

After that the lead changed hands several times before the Pirates spurred at the end of the quarter to lead, 13-9.

The Pirates staged another rally just before the end of the half to widen the lead to 27-19.

In the last half the Pirates weren't able to stop Ulfing, but clamped down on the rest of the squad to register the win. Ulfing scored all 9 points in the third period and 7 points in the last quarter for 16 of her 23 points. The only other points scored in the last half were by Maharg, who hit a trey and 2 of 2 free throws.

Daniel said that better offensive rebounding would have made the difference in the game. We had two and three rebound shots but couldn't get them to fall.

BAD AXE GAME

Cass City defeated the Bad Axe Hatchets by a point, 33-32, in a game that almost slipped away in the last 2 minutes. The Hawks were in front by 7 points when Abbie Krause was fouled on a 3-point attempt. She made all 3.

Kelly Jaworski scored with 40 seconds left and Chrissy Hall converted one of 2 free throws and suddenly Bad Axe trailed by just a point. Cass City was called for travelling with 7 seconds left, but the Hatchets' game winning shot missed.

It was a see-saw game. The Hawks jumped off to an 8-2 lead in the first quarter and were ahead by four at the half. The Hatchets narrowed the lead to a point at the end of three quarters.

The Hawks will be at home Thursday to play the Lakers. In the first game between the teams, Cass City lost in overtime, 72-64.

CASS CITY - Lindsay Maharg 1-0 (0-0) 2; Kelli VanVliet 1-1 (1-2) 6; Katie Anthony 1-0 (0-0) 2; Jill Wright 1-0 (3-4) 5; Peyton Daniel 0-0 (2-2) 2; Shelly Ulfing 1-0 (4-7) 6; K. Mellendorf 5-0 (0-0) 10.

THE HARBOR BEACH defense collapsed on Ashlie Chappel as she attempted this shot from the low post.

Hawks' victory bid falls just short—again

The 1995 Cass City Red Hawk football team will be remembered as possibly the best team in the school's history to have a 1-6 record and to be winless in league play.

In this star-crossed season, in nearly every game there is a play or 2 that could have gone another way that would have turned another disheartening defeat into a victory.

That was the case Friday when the Hawks lost at Marlette, 16-14.

The big plays that went against Cass City were a rare penalty that nullified an extra points run that would have tied the score, and a dropped pass that would have netted a touchdown.

Cass City staged the first sustained drive and moved for a first on the Red Raider 11 before the drive fizzled. Marlette then started a drive of its own and moved to the Hawk 10-yard line before a fumble ended the threat.

The Raiders started another drive just before the half. The drive started on the Cass City 45-yard-line and moved to 6, from where the drive stalled and Kerry Savage kicked a 25-yard field goal to give the Red Raiders a 3-0 lead at the half.

Marlette took the opening second half kickoff and drove down the field aided by a 55-yard run by Brian Sweet. He broke 2 tackles on his long run and only Damion Izydorek's tackle kept him from going the distance. The drive stalled on the 12 when Josh Little intercepted a pass.

The Hawks struck from long distance to take the lead. It was second and 21 when Chad Diegel took the ball on a reverse over his own left side and went 45 yards. Aron Romstad ran for the extra points to give the Hawks the lead.

The Raiders regained the lead with 1:06 left in the quarter. Big play in the drive was a pass that was tipped into the hands of Kerry Savage and went for 29 yards to the Cass City 4. Savage scored 2 plays later. The extra point try failed.

The Hawks were moving the ball in the next series. Corey Ulfing made a nice return of the kickoff to the Hawk 42. From there the Hawks moved steadily down the field to score. Key play in the drive came on fourth and 3 on the Marlette 22 when Romstad broke free to the Raider 2, from where he punched it over.

That set the stage for the second key play in the game. Romstad took the ball and bulled into the end zone for the points that would have tied the score.

However, it was called back because it was ruled that he scored by being pushed by his teammates, resulting in an aid to the runner call.

Coach Shane Robbins said that in all his football career he had never heard of such a penalty being called.

Trailing by 2 points, the Hawks almost pulled the game from the fire. With 10 seconds left in the game, Tim Micklash hit an open Diegel at the goal line and the ball was dropped.

And that's the way it has gone this season for Cass City. Robbins said that Romstad, who carried the ball 16 times for 146 yards, had a great game. Cass City rushed for 309 yards on 43 carries. Savage picked up 91 yards for Marlette. Micklash threw for 52 yards on 5 completions in 10 tries with one interception.

The Hawks will need to eliminate all their errors if they hope to upset league co-leader Bad Axe this Friday.

Cass City golfers in state finals

The Cass City Red Hawks finished a surprisingly strong second among the 14 teams entered in the regional Michigan High School Athletic Association golf tourney held at Verona Hills in Bad Axe and qualified for the state meet this weekend.

In addition, Cass City qualified 2 members of its team for the individual competition. Chad Tate finished first with a sparkling 77, which was not as surprising as the performance of Dave Hobbs, who finished fourth with an 86.

As a team, the Hawks shot 356 to trail the meet champion, Mayville, by a single stroke. Harbor Beach won the third and last qualifying spot with a 361 total.

Other Hawk scores were: Shawn Henn, 91; Josh Male, 102; and Andy Green, 105.

LEAGUE MEET

Some of golf's best in class C compete in the Thumb C National golf league. Bryan Shark of Bay City All Saints is the defending state Class C champion.

Last Wednesday, in the league meet at Lakeville Golf Course where Cros-Lex is the host team, he finished third. Cass City's Chad Tate was the medalist with a 78. Joe Clarkston of Cros-Lex was second. As expected, All Saints won the meet and was the league champion as well.

The Cougars shot 346 to lead the pack with 12 points. The other teams in order of finish and scores were: Cros-Lex, 364; Bad Axe, 369; Cass City, 377; Marlette, 395; Lakers, 413.

Final season's standings were: All Saints, Bad Axe, Marlette, Cass City, Cros-Lex, Lakers.

Other Cass City scores in the meet were: Andy Green, 95; Dave Murphy, 100; Shawn Henn, 104; Josh Male, 105.

ALL CONFERENCE

Besides Tate, Clarkston and Shark, the all-conference team includes Brian Natzel, Bad Axe; Scott Jezowski, All Saints; and Todd Walker, Bad Axe.

Elaine Douvas to appear locally as guest soloist

Elaine Douvas, principal oboist of the world famous Metropolitan Opera Orchestra, will appear as guest soloist at the Village Bach Festival in Cass City Sunday, Nov. 26, at the First Presbyterian Church. Under the direction of the Festival's founding Music Director, Don Th. Jaeger, Douvas will perform the evocative "Concerto for Oboe" by the dean of 20th century English music, Ralph Vaughan-Williams.

Douvas, a native of Port Huron, graduated with high honors from the Interlochen Arts Academy in 1970, where she was a student of oboist/conductor Don Th. Jaeger. While attending the Cleveland Institute of Music, she studied with Cleveland Orchestra's principal oboist John Mach, auditioned for Robert Shaw and captured the principal oboe position with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, a position she held for 5 years. Following her tenure in Atlanta, Douvas was, in 1978, named principal oboe of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra by music director, James Levine. In addition to weekly presentations in New York, she can be heard throughout the world each Saturday afternoon on the Texaco sponsored broadcasts, "Live from the Met", performing with virtually all of the international major opera stars and conductors.

Miss Douvas teaches oboe at the Julliard School of Music in New York and is in frequent demand as a guest soloist at festivals around the globe. This will be her second appearance at the Village Bach Festival. In addition to the "Concerto for Oboe" of Vaughan-Williams, Douvas will be featured soloist, with soprano Penelope Jensen, in the popular Cantata No. 202 "Weichet nur, betrübte Schatten" (Wedding Cantata) by Johann Sebastian Bach.

This performance will take place Saturday, Nov. 25, at 8:15 p.m., also in the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City.

More information may be obtained by calling 517-872-2131, ext. 269, or by mail to the Village Bach Festival, P.O. Box 27, Cass City.

Set hours to distribute food

The Human Development Commission (HDC) has announced that, beginning Nov. 1, new hours will take effect for the distribution of its Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) and the Elderly Food Program (EFP) distribution. From that date forward, all Thumb-area distribution sites will be in operation from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on designated days.

The 3-county monthly schedule:

First Tuesday, Huron County, County Fairgrounds, Soper Rd., Bad Axe.

Second Tuesday, Tuscola County, 165 Butler Street, Caro.

Third Tuesday, Sanilac County, Civic Center, South Elk Street, Sandusky.

The Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) is designed to supplement the nutritional needs of families with children up to age 6 or pregnant and post-partum mothers. The Elderly Food Program (EFP) supplements the nutritional needs of seniors. Each month the participant receives approximately $50 worth of food, which includes items such as fruit and juices, vegetables, meat, cereal, peanut butter, beans and rice, butter and dairy products.

Establish rules for using tech equipment

Cass City Schools is hitching on to the fast moving technology revolution and is taking steps to smooth out some of the bumps in the ride.

With the astonishing advances in communications within the school, there is a marked increase in the ways that students can use the new computer driven communications inappropriately.

For that reason the school board at its last meeting adopted rules, regulations and penalties for computers and related equipment.

Each user must have learned proper procedures before being issued a user number and allowed access to the system. The user is responsible for making sure that all E-mail sent or received does not contain pornographic material, inappropriate information or text-encoded files that are potentially dangerous to the integrity of the local area network, Cass City Schools or the Internet.

Taking video games or other videos from homes is prohibited. Violation of the regulations can result in a variety of actions starting with a conference between student and a member of the administration.

Other penalties include paying for any cost connected with improper use and suspension. Repeated violations may warrant permanent removal from the system.

NETWORK

Cass City Schools is in the final stages of networking that will connect the high school with Deford and Campbell elementary buildings with voice, computer and video. The middle school will have stand-alone computers and equipment for lab work that can be easily transferred.

That means that a teacher or a student in front of the camera in any building will be able to communicate with every student in each of the 3 buildings. There is a computer in every classroom.

Supt. Ken Micklash says that this system will be activated within 3 or 4 weeks.

He foresees the time that written memos will be replaced by E-mail via the computer.

The school will also be able to tune in to the new educational television offered by the new station in Cass City that goes on line this fall.

FACTS group sets meeting

Members of the recently-formed Cass City Facing Alcohol Concerns Together Sensibly (FACTS) Coalition met Oct. 2 in the Cass City High School library.

FACTS is a local organization whose mission includes educating the community about the risks of alcohol misuse.

Guest speaker Deputy Sheriff Richard Blakely emphasized a 2-prong approach, the first being prevention and alternative activities, and the second being discipline and enforcement of state laws. He also addressed the question, "what is my liability as a parent if minors are drinking on my property?"

The committee will meet again Oct. 25 at 4 p.m. at the high school.

Applied English course draws state acclaim

There is an English course offered at Cass City High School where you won't find kids reading Chaucer or writing "think pieces" about the world in general, but they're learning well enough to have the course singled out by the Michigan Department of Education as one of 14 statewide to be commended for its excellence.

The course is the Contextual (Applied) Communications Program. That's a fancy title for a course that would be better understood if it were titled to fit what it does. Prepare students for entering the work place.

The course was originated 5 years ago by the English department staff members, Dennis Meck, Jane Reif and Nancy Folk.

The course is based on preparing the students for problem solving. Problems that could be encountered in the everyday working world.

For example, Reif said, the students might be "working" in a place where management has said that a machine might not be touched. That machine malfunctions and is making expensive scrap instead of a salable product.

The course asks the students to communicate with each other and with management to come up with a solution. In our program the superintendent is chairman of the board. The high school principal is the company president and I am the supervisor, Reif pointed out.

In the course there will be 40 different on-the-job problems that the students, in groups, will need to work with.

FOUR YEARS

The course starts in the freshman year. Veronica Commire emphasizes that all students need a basic background in reading and writing skills.

In the tenth grade, under the direction of Folk, the division between college preparation and work preparation begins. It's noteworthy, teachers say, that after a very small start, the work course has grown to attract about half of the students.

Reif starts to add to what the students have learned and adds to the curriculum what employers have said they want.

That includes training to handle tasks with specific jobs and the ability to adapt to changing technologies to compete in a global environment.

That training is continued by the senior class under the direction of Meck.

In conjunction with the course, the school's work co-op program and the school-to-work projects provide hands-on experience to what has been offered in the course.

CRITERIA

The state's criteria for the selection of the 14 schools singled out for recognition are: high student interest, high level of hands-on learning strategies and measurable student outcomes.

Drivers face jail after fatal crashes

Francisco Medina, 18, Silverwood, was sentenced to 2 years probation and 180 days in jail (60 days deferred to the end of probation) for a plea of guilty to larceny of stereo equipment from a building July 19, 1994, in Dayton Township.

He was also ordered to pay $200 in court costs and fines, $480 in oversight fees and a $40 victim crime fee. Restitution is to be determined.

Medina received another sentence of 30 days in jail and $200 in costs and fines for resisting and obstructing a police officer June 18 in Akron Township.

Juan C. Torrez Jr., 21, Unionville, was sentenced to 6 years to life in prison for his plea of guilty to conspiracy to commit armed robbery Feb. 13, 1994, in Fairgrove.

In addition, Torrez was sentenced to prison terms of 2 to 15 years for perjury before the Multi-County Citizens Grand Jury March 23, 1994, and 2 to 4 years for each of 3 counts of delivery of marijuana in 1992-93 in Tuscola County.

The defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

Jason Herman, 21, Caro, was sentenced to one year in jail for a plea of guilty to larceny of money in a building April 28 in Caro, and 2 to 14 years in prison for one count of uttering and publishing involving a $210 check drawn on Independent Bank last March.

Herman was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

Wayne L. Trisch, 2, Fairgrove, entered a plea of guilty to probation violation — failure to report to his supervising agent Aug. 3 or anytime after, and being convicted of impaired driving Aug. 2.

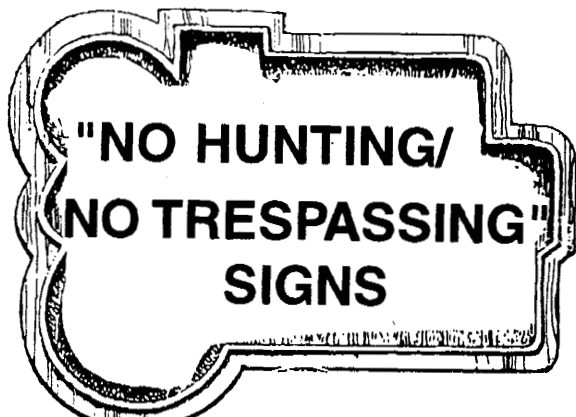

He was sentenced to 90 days in jail, but the term was deferred to the end of probation.

John F. Rives, 35, National City, Mich., was sentenced to 3 years probation and 365 days in jail, with work release, for a guilty plea to operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, third offense, June 11 in Watertown Township.

Rives, who was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department, was ordered to pay costs and fines totalling $700 plus attorneys fees, $360 in oversight fees, restitution of $210 and a $40 victim crime fee. Bond was ordered applied towards costs and fines.

Kenneth S. Wright, 25, Southfield, was sentenced for a no contest plea to larceny in a building Jan. 29 in Dayton Township and home invasion, second degree, Feb. 14 in Dayton Township.

Wright was ordered to serve 365 days in jail. He was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

hunter interest. But the picture has improved significantly since the mid-1980s, thanks to improved habitat provided through the Conservation Reserve Program, and the efforts of individuals and groups such as Pheasants Forever.

Hunter interest, too, has grown, from an estimated 84,000 hunters in 1987 to 120,000 in 1993.

Despite this year's prospects, Jarvis pointed out various management practices have gone a long ways towards improving hunting opportunities in the Thumb.

"There's still going to be a lot of people out there and they're going to see some birds. They're just aren't going to be as many to go around."
