

OLD MAN WINTER roared into Michigan and the Thumb over the weekend with blowing snow and cold temperatures. The storm made for some picturesque scenes, like this one on the porch of a Cass City residence, but it also created treacherous driving conditions for area motorists.

School finances healthy despite possible cost increases of 8.26%

The Cass City School Board approved a revised budget for the 1995-6 school year that indicated the school, in a worst case scenario, could end the year with a deficit of $41,265.

The shortfall could be easily paid from the school's healthy fund balance of $790,411.

An added expense to the district could be for retirement benefits that may increase $170,000 if a court decision holds saying that the district's retirement contribution will increase from 14.56 percent to 18.21 percent. Overall the budget calls for expenditures of $8,318,168, an increase of a little over 8.26 percent from the expenditures of $7,630,873. Even if the school has to pay the increased retirement costs, the district remains in a healthy financial condition. The budget calls for the payment of a one-time expense of $112,700 for replacement of boilers at the Campbell Elementary School out of the regular operating expenses.

The school service fund was reviewed and it shows that the cafeteria is expected to be self-sustaining. The athletic program is expected to cost the district $95,000.

NEW PROGRAM

A new in-house suspension plan devised by Dr. Bill Snyder, middle school principal, will be started as soon as a final decision is reached on the persons to take charge. The plan is to have disruptive students taken from the regular class and placed in a special room for study under strict supervision. It is designed to make the classroom more appealing than the special study room, Snyder told the board. To accomplish this, students must have books and supplies and will be seated separately from all others and study, read or work on assignments with no talking. The program is expected to cost $4,500 and will come from at risk funds provided by the state and based on the number of low income families served in the district. This year that amount will be between $170,000 and $200,000, Supt. Ken Micklash said.

Hunters headed out for the firearm deer hunting season opener today will find plenty of whitetails. And there will be fewer places for the deer to hide, thanks to an early crop harvest.

The regular firearm deer season continues through Nov. 30, followed by an extended archery deer season Dec. 1 through Jan. 1, and muzzleloading season Dec. 1-10 in the Upper Peninsula and Dec. 8-17 in the Lower Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies and Michigan State Police troopers will be out in force later this month in an effort to clamp down on runk driving in the county.

Sheriff Tom Kern announced Monday the first wave of the "Safe and Sober Campaign" during the holiday period beginning Nov. 19 through Dec. 3.

Officers from the sheriff's department, state police and Caro police will be working specific roads where the albhol and accident rate is very high in the county.

According to Deputy James Jashinske, Safe and Sober Grant Project coordinator, Tuscola County was given up to $20,000 to share with local departments to concentrate on enforcement of drunk driving laws. Caro was the only local departnent to participate.

The 2 agencies will share the $20,000 grant, while the state police post in Caro has been given a separate grant to participate.

In all, the sheriff's department will have 3 to 4 extra patrol cars out on county roads on a daily basis during the campaign, while troopers vill put in an additional 120 nours of patrols.

Officers will concentrate not only on alcohol enforcement, but also speed and seat belt use, Jashinske said.

"Unfortunately, we're one of 10 counties in the state who were selected for this grant, and that's because we have so many accidents, and a high percentage of those volve alcohol," Jashinske said.

The other counties are Cass, Newaygo, Isabella, Montcalm. Van Buren, Barry, Allegan, Bay and Mecosta.

Tuscola County is ranked fourth in Michigan for reported crashes in which the driver had been drinking.

In 1994, Tuscola County sported 191 crashes involvtistics compiled by the Office of Highway Safety Planning. In all, 100 of those crashes were property damage accidents involving 100 people; 87 were personal injury crashes, with 132 people injured, and 4 were fatal accidents that claimed 4 lives. The county recorded 17 fatal accidents in 1994 — 14

were occupants in a motor vehicle and 3 were pedestri-

"We're already at 14 fatals (this year), and we've got another month and a half to go," Jashinske said. He noted statistics will be compiled after the first 2week campaign to determine its effectiveness, and the re-

Peninsula. In all, 700,000 hunters are expected to take part in the regular firearm season and harvest a combined 280,000 deer, including 180,000 bucks.

The total expected harvest this year is 415,000 whitetails, a slight increase over 1994 (363,910), but still fewer than the state record 452,490 deer bagged in 1989.

One advantage of being at the Chronicle since the dawn of time is that you get to meet and work with lots of fine folks that have left the community.

One former resident who was back in town at a Rotary Club meeting last week was Don Borg. For the relatively short time he was here (1947-1952), no teacher had more of an mpact than Borg.

He was the music teacher at Cass City High School and also was a member of an adult quartet much in demand around the Thumb.

'Long-since retired, he's still bald, but looks years younger than what his actual age must be.

The community enjoyed Borg and Borg enjoyed the community. Best 5 years of my life, he told club members.

Freeway Fritz is a restaurant located at the Bridgeport exit on I-75. It advertises Bavarian-style food and since Frankenmuth chicken is a favorite, we stopped there.

I wish I could tell you if the food was good, but I can't. We entered the restaurant at about 6:30 p.m. on a Wednesday night.

Several people were standing around and paid no attention to'us, so we walked over to an order counter to see what was available.

After standing there for several minutes and watching a man work behind a glass partition, we gave up and walked out. The invisible man had nothing on us. No one spoke to us coming or going and we ate at another restaurant at the exit.

It just wasn't my week for eating out. Saturday the plan was to eat at "The Farm" before attending "Oklahoma" staged by the Port Austin Players.

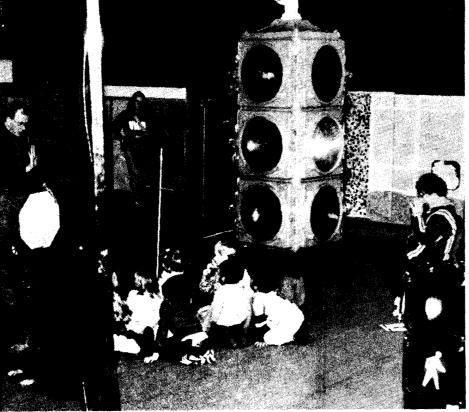

We made it to the restaurant despite the weather and were quickly seated. Not too many are foolish enough to go that far on that kind of night, although the place was fairly busy. The snag in the whole affair is that it was a special night devoted to a wild game dinner and only a wild game dinner. That let me out because the only time I was ever able to eat venison was when I was full of good spirit at a deer camp. The evening wasn't a total loss because the show was good and it stopped snowing before returning to Cass City around midnight.

Editor Tom Montgomery passed this along to me. Deer hunting in Michigan is big business. An expected 750,000 individuals will spend more than $400 million for food, lodging, transportation and equipment to pursue deer hunting in the state.

'The 1995 harvest is expected to total 415,000 deer...that's more than 20 million pounds of boned venison, enough to feed 4 meals to every person in Michigan.

Correction: Make that 415,001 deer harvested. Montgomery got a deer during the bow season and it's hard to see how the tally could have included that deer, since it was the first for our editor since he took up the sport.

The ancient answer is Penner was a radio-movie comic who kept asking if anyone wanted to buy a duck. Now, will you kids please quit bothering me?

Finally, speaking of the sensible old days, I read that many radio and TV stations are censoring out any mention of marijuana from modern song lyrics. Although booze has surely done more damage than pot, I'm glad my generation never stopped Frank Sinatra from telling Joe to set up one more for the road, even though it was a quarter to three and time to close.

PROGRESS IN EDUCATION from the desk of Ken Micklash, Superintendent

Fire Marshal School Inspection

Cass City Public Schools

Based upon some recent questions that have been asked which relate to the Fire Marshal inspection of the middle school, it is apparent that some misunderstanding exists regarding this situation.

Earlier this year, a petition which was signed by over 60 Cass City residents requesting that the inspection be carried out was submitted to the board. If the school board would not have taken this pro active position, anyone could have sent the request to the Fire Marshal's office, which would have resulted in the inspection. The board believed it was their responsibility to respond and make the request. This was done with our children's best interest in mind. The board also believed it was necessary to obtain the facts relating to the exact fire code deficiencies. These facts can only be obtained directly from the Fire Marshal. The inspection was not requested for the purpose of forcing people into doing something they do not wish to do.

The Board of Education is directly responsible for the educational programming of all students in the Cass City community. They must use facts, not hearsay, when all decisions are made which affect our students.

The board is genuinely concerned about our children and community. Their first and foremost responsibility is to make decisions which are in the best interest of our children. It is only by obtaining the facts, that this can be done.

Dunn reports having "a ball" in 2-week Montana hunt trip

While an army of firearm hunters began its quest for trophy whitetail bucks this week, a Cass City man has already enjoyed great success in the field with his trusty Winchester 308 rifle.

David Dunn recently returned home from a 2-week hunting trip to Montana with a pair of antelope and mule deer.

"I had a ball," Dunn recently commented at his Herron Drive home, where the mounted head of an antelope — taken during his first hunting trip to Montana 2 years ago — is proudly displayed.

The recent trip began Oct. 14, when Dunn flew to Melstone, Mont., located about 60 miles northeast of Billings. There, he met with his hunting party, including 2 brothers and an uncle. The group, which had received permission to hunt on a large ranch, began its search for antelope Oct. 16. With the help of binoculars and spotting scopes, the task of finding antelope wasn't too difficult, Dunn said. The challenge is getting close enough for a shot, he added, noting the terrain bears little resemblance to the Michigan woods where he has hunted whitetail deer. "On the 19 square miles of pasture land that we had to hunt on, I think there were 3 trees," he pointed out. "It wasn't flat; there were rolling hills. There were little gullies and washes and creek beds that you could sneak into. You try to find a way to get close enough by using the terrain to get a shot." It takes patience, but Dunn proved he was up to the task the first day. After spotting a buck, he began a 2-hour stalk that covered about 3/4 of a mile.

'They were walking away and I figured if I was going to do it, I'd better do it now," he recalled. Dunn dropped the 125- to 135-pound buck at about 300 yards.

And because he was among the first hunters whose names were drawn for the $147 antelope licenses, Dunn was given the opportunity to purchase a second, $50 doe tag, which he filled 3 days later with a 75-100 yard shot.

MULE DEER

Dunn's hunting companions also enjoyed success, and after first week, the group moved to another area to hunt for mule deer.

But the first 2 days were rather disappointing. During a full day of walking among sections of rimrock, Dunn said the group sighted only one small buck and 2 sets of tracks

So the hunters again moved, this time to another area of land they had received permission to hunt near Grassrange. The 5,000acre property was largely open except for a ridge of trees.

After putting in some scouting time, the hunt began in the early morning hours of Oct. 24, and Dunn, who had positioned himself in a small land depression, had his sights on a nice buck by 8:40 a.m.

He hit the deer at 300 yards, but it took a second shot at 250 yards to drop the animal, which had a 4 by 4 rack (8 points) and weighed in at 225 to 250 pounds. "It was a lot of fun," Dunn said of the trip. "It was a little cold and a little windy, but the weather wasn't bad." And the cost wasn't outrageous, according to the area resident. He said it cost each man $100 to hunt the land. and the mule deer tag cost $245, which included a state land use fee and a license to fish and hunt birds and small game. "The most expensive part of it was air fare," he continued, adding he got a good deal at $266 for a round trip ticket. Dunn's already looking forward to his next trip out west, which he figures will happen in 2 years. "I'd like to do it every year," he concluded. "It's something you look forward to with great anticipation."

The Middle School Concept Sponsored By Harris-Hampshire Insurance Agency

Meet the Cass City Middle School Exploratory Team

Many of you may better know this team of teachers as the CLAMP teachers. CLAMP is an acronym for Computers, Library, Art, Music, and Physical Education. All of the Cass City Middle School students rotate through these classes; providing them with knowledge and skills in areas that will benefit them as adults, employees, and as contributing citizens to our society.

Five veteran teachers provide the instruction for these CLAMP classes. The first is our Computer Teacher, Mr. Daryl Iwankovitsch. Mr. I. has been employed by the Cass City School District for 11 years. He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Oakland University and a Master of Arts in Teaching, also from Oakland University. Daryl resides in Cass City with his wife Connie and their three children.

The second CLAMP teacher is our Media Specialist, Judy Brown. Judy teaches Library skills to our youngsters, as-well-as usage of technology in research. Judy has been employed by the Cass City School District for 5 years and has a Master of Arts Degree in Library Science from Central Michigan University. Judy resides on a farm near Cass City with her husband Jim and their three children.

"A" stands for Art in CLAMP and Mrs. Kay McCrea leads our children through daily lessons of creativity through art. Mrs. McCrea has been with the Cass City School District for 20 years and has taught Home Economics, Arts and Crafts, as-wellas Physical Education. Mrs. McCrea graduated from Central Michigan University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Secondary Education. She lives on a farm near Bad Axe with her husband Ron and their three children.

Next we have Music! Music is taught by Mrs. Michelle Anscomb. Michelle has taught for the Cass City School District for 20 years. She has taught P.E., English, Music, Drama, Cooking, Health Ed., and Choir. Mrs. Anscomb is a graduate of the School of Music and has 18 credit hours in Gifted and Talented Education from Central Michigan University. She resides in Frankenmuth with her husband George and their two children.

Larry Robinson means Physical Education at the Cass City Middle School. Mr. Robinson has taught for the Cass City School District for 18 years and possesses a Bachelor of Arts Degree, a Master of Arts Degree, and is currently working on a Specialist Degree from Central Michigan University. Larry lives with his wife Sharon in Caro where they raised their two daughters.

The Cass City Middle School Staff hopes that through articles like this one, we can help parents and the public better understand what the Middle School Concept is all about. Please feel free to visit our school or call your child's teacher for more information about CLAMP.

Hawks lose heartbreaker to Harbor Beach, 45-44

The Cass City Red Hawks' cage season came to an end Monday when the hosts suffered a 45-44 defeat to highly favored Harbor Beach.

Nevertheless, the Hawks' basketball prospects may just be blossoming, as evidenced by the young ladies' progress in the late stages of the season.

Coach Marty Daniel's squad's effort in the Class C district opener against the tournament favored Pirates (18-3) was characteristic of their play over the last half of the campaign. Cass City (10-11) rode a 6-game win streak that included victories over top ranked Marlette and Bay all.

City, into the state's farewell parade and battled to the very end.

The Pirates led for most of the initial half and all of the first period as Michelle Wolschleger closed out the frame with 2 midrange jumpers that gave the visitors a 14-10 advantage entering the period prior to the intermission. Cass City's Kelli VanVliet helped pull her team even with the Thumb C co-champions as she opened the scoring with a trey from the top of the circle and a steal that subsequently sent freshman Shelly Ulfig to the charity stripe to tie the score at 14-

Leah Booms put the Pirates Chappel jump shot to close back on top, 19-14, with 2 baskets from the paint. And with 1:30 remaining to the break, Stephanie Shedd's only basket vaulted the guests in front, 22-16.

Cass City, however, held Harbor Beach scoreless to the intermission while one at 41-40. Following an sophomore Lindsay Maharg Ulfig free throw, Rachel and freshman Kara Vandevusse knotted the Mellendorf tallied the final 4 game at 42-all with her own markers that sliced 2 points freebie with just over a from the Pirates' first period minute remaining in regulaadvantage.

Despite only connecting on 3-12 foul shots, Cass City trailed only 20-22 to start the final half.

That's where the Hawks played their best ball of the night.

"I think you saw a different team out there tonight than the one you saw earlier in the year," stated Coach Daniel. He added, "It's going to be hard to leave," indicating that this will be the veteran coach's final season.

Leading all scorers was Booms, who tallied 15 points. Next for the winners were Vandevusse (8), Michelle Wolschleger (7), Courtney Kleinknecht (6), Tami Nowiski (4), and Melissa Wolschleger (2).

Cass City's top 4 scorers on the night will all return next year. Ulfig was the only Red Hawk to reach double digits, as she netted 11. Following Ulfig, were Maharg (8), Mellendorf (7), Chappel (7), Peyten Daniel (4), VanVliet (3), Katie Anthony (2), Jill Wright (2).

THIS SHORT JUMP SHOT by Kara Mellendorf netted Cass City lots of points during the year and local fans can expect to see them for the next 3 years by the freshman, who improved markedly as the season progressed.

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs continued their late season surge, chalking up their 4th straight league victory with decisions over Caseville and North Huron to end the regular season and boost hopes for a district D championship this week at Port Hope.

The first of the 2 victories last week was posted over Caseville, 51-35. Owen-Gage dominated the game from the opening whistle and the outcome was sure by half time.

With Tonya Smith leading the way in the first period with a pair of field goals and 4 of 4 free throws, the Bulldogs went in front 14-4 at the end of the quarter.

The Bulldogs spread the offensive around in the second period with 4 players sharing the scoring load. The defense remained constant, with Caseville netting just 2 field goals in each of the first 2 quarters and at the intermission Owen-Gage was in front 27-8.

Five people were injured Sunday in a 3-vehicle accident on M-53 about a halfmile north of Bay City-Forestville Road.

According to troopers at the Michigan State Police post in Sandusky, a car driven by Candy Kathey, 43, Melvindale, Mich., was driving south on M-53 at 5:15 p.m. when she slowed for an Amish buggy and was struck from behind by another vehicle driven by Dolly Trenz, 75, of Allen Park.

Brad Roche, 13, tackling advanced math courses

You could place Brad class. Roche, 13, an eighth-grade If the student at Cass City Middle School, in the sixth grade and he probably wouldn't look too much out of place until you talked with him.

You could place Brad in the tenth grade in the high school and he would look out of place....until you talked with him.

The son of Ann and Don Roche is an all-A student, sure. What sets him apart are the courses he is taking. This year they include algebra II, geometry and English 9.

What's more, the slight, enthusiastic student is on track to finish all of the math courses the school offers by the time he finishes his sophomore year.

Jon Zdrojewski, a teacher in the middle school, has been working with Brad for the last 2 years, first in algebra and now in an independent study course, an introductory to physics.

He points out that Brad has the maturity to work on an independent study basis. An ability to set a pace and then stick to it and meet goals in gested it might be better to give non-certified employees 100 percent of their unused sick days as a reward.

Trustee Mary Ann Abbe agreed, but board member Terry Muntz questioned if that would be fair, considering certified staff members don't receive 100 percent of their unused sick days.

Abbe proposed that the policy should affect all noncertified employees, not just new employees, but with the provision that current employees would retain unused sick days they've already ac-

If there's anything to do, he'll do it perfectly. He doesn't miss a beat, Zdrojewski said. He's a perfectionist. Everything he does he wants it to be just perfect. He's fantastic in the classroom. His insight is far beyond that of a 13-year old. He operates at a different level.

The youth comes by his excellence in math naturally. His father is an engineer who works at Walbro Corporation. His mother is excellent in mathematics, says the elder Roche. Both are college graduates.

NO RESTRICTIONS

The Roches have always worked with their kids. We stress that there are no restrictions, no limits to do what you want to do, Roche says. We always worked with our kids and going to college was always a given in the family.

At the same time, he said, we stress the practical side of things. What's necessary to succeed in the real world.

Perhaps that's why Brad says that after he has completed all the courses in Cass City he is angling for a halfday or so at Walbro working in engineering for school credit as well as wages. School counselor Jerry

Cleland, who arranged this interview, says that what was impressive was that despite taking advanced for his years classes, he has stirred no remates. He serves as treasurer for the student council and participates in academic track. He plans to graduate with his class.

That's just one of his plans. He has a plan for the future and is working towards it. That includes admission to the United States Naval Academy, and he can cite chapter and verse on the odds of being one of the chosen few selected. His father served in the navy during the Vietnam war.

SUMMER WORK

Taking the hard courses and excelling doesn't come easy for Brad. He studies between a half hour and 2 hours nightly, with an average of about an hour, he estimates. He likes it. I have a thirst for knowledge, he says sim-

The youngster also likes anything connected with motors and old engines. He has a summer job mowing lawns and also fixes lawn mowers. It's what I enjoy, he confides.

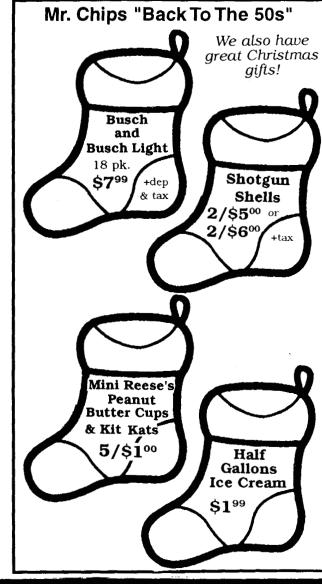

Seeing the sparkle in his eyes, you know there is something else he enjoys. It's the 4 motorcycles in the family, one of which will be his when he's old enough to drive. Another is being fixed up as a show bike. Although Brad is an outstanding student, he doesn't have a monopoly on school excellence in the family. His younger sister, Julie, 11, in the sixth grade, is also an allsentment from his class- A student. She wants to be a a little more focused on a teacher.

She's smarter than I am, Brad says, although his dad disputes this, saying that both are on a par.

And one that is as mature She gets better scores on the as most any student that will MEAP tests than I do, Brad graduate from school next says. However, I'm probably spring

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Monday, the board:

•Accepted with deep regret the resignation of school nurse Faith Fahrner following 15 years of service to the district.

•Learned fourth grade teacher Doris Billy and second grade teacher Sandy Parks have each been awarded $100 mini-grants from the Huron County Curriculum Consortium.

•Received a glowing report on the district's Annual Education Report, official notice of reporting dates and school improvement plans.

Peggy Randall, Huron Intermediate School District school improvement specialist, congratulated school officials on their efforts and asked if she could use the district's plans as a model for other schools to study.

•Recognized the school golf team's recent participation in the state tournament. •Approved the nomination of Brooke Kovach as the October Student of the Month.

•Recognized "Focus Students of the Month", a new effort in which students are working towards various adult roles.

November's focus role has been "respectful of others," and the students honored were Erin Salcido (seventh grade), Anthony Brinkman (eighth grade), Cara Bickel (freshman), Amy Joles (sophomore), Heather Sprague (junior) and Jill Howard (senior).

Everest Quartet will perform

The Everest Quartet, which garnered the 2nd prize in the prestigious Banff International Competition for String Quartets, will perform at the Village Bach Festival in 2 concerts. The first will be in Çaro Tuesday, Nov. 21, at the First Presbyterian Church. The second will be Saturday, Nov. 25, at the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City. Both performances are at 8:15 p.m.

The Everest Quartet, whose members include Stephen Rose, first violin; Jeanne Preucil Rose, second violin; Joan DerHovsepian, viola, and Brant Austin Taylor, cello, serves as quartet-inresidence with the Midland-Ódessa Symphony in Texas. One of only 10 quartets from throughout the world to be invited to participate in the September 1995 Banff competition, they competed against quartets from Italy, Germany and Poland, as well as the United States. The Everest, the second youngest guartet in the competition, was awarded the 2nd prize, establishing them as one of the leading young quartets today. These 4 distinguished musicians have been playing together for over 3 years and studied as proteges of the Cleveland Quartet at the Eastman School of Music. In its first year of existence, the Everest was a prize winner ät the Fischoff National Chamber Music Competition in D Major, K.285", in which they will be joined by flutist Jacqueline Hofto of Austin, Texas, Miss Hofto is formerly the instructor of flute at the Interlochen Arts Acadand Mozart's "Flute Quartet emy and has been a frequent Bach Festival performer. In Cass City, the quartet will perform the Mendelssohn 'Quartet in A Minor, Op. 13."

For its Caro performance, the Everest Quartet will perform the Shostakovich "Ouartet No. 8 in C Minor"

Tickets may be obtained by calling 517-872-3309, or by mail to the Village Bach Festival, P.O. Box 27, Cass City, MI 48726. More information may be obtained by calling 517-872-2131, ext. 269, or by mail.

THE EVEREST QUARTET will give 2 performances during the Bach Festival. Clockwise from left: Jeanne Preucil Rose, Stephen Rose, Brant Austin Taylor and Joan DerHovsepian.

5 YEARS AGO

The reported abduction and sexual assault of a woman near Cass City a month ago didn't happen. Few details are being released regarding the new developments. Interest in clogging, offered in the upper Thumb for the first time this year, appears to be increasing in the area, according to teacher Dan Hoard. Students say clogging is good exercise and a lot of fun. Cass City placed 3 players on the Thumb B All-Conference football teams. Tim Englehart was named one of the backs on offense and Dennis DeLong, linebacker, and Al Dadacki, punter, were honored on defense. The second team included Troy Perry, offensive end, and Greg Graham, safety. Brian Guinther received honorable mention.

The union representing about 73 workers at the Tendercare Nursing Home in Cass City has filed unfair labor practice charges against the company. Fund raisers held in Cass City recently netted an esti-

Ronald, Randy and Kenneth Hampshire, Deford area dairy farmers, have won a $1.3 million lawsuit against DeLaval, a world-wide milking system manufacturer. The Hampshires claimed a design flaw in the milking system caused extensive damages to their dairy herd. A showroom window, valued at $500, was broken at Ouvry Chevrolet-Olds, early Sunday morning.

Mother Nature dumped about 3 inches of snow in the Cass City area Saturday.

Cass City placed one man on the Thumb B Association all-conference football teams selected by coaches. Honored on defense was Troy Sweeney as a linebacker. Named to the second team were Dan Ware, offensive end: Mike Stevenson, interior defensive line, and Tony Yost, defensive end.

Local man charged with criminal sexual conduct

Two Tuscola County men, including a Cass City area resident, face jury trials in January on criminal sexual conduct charges stemming from separate incidents. William A. Brown, 59, of Cass City, and Carl A. Kniseley, 44, of Fairgrove, were both arraigned Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Brown stood mute to 3 counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct and 3 counts of second degree criminal sexual conduct. The offenses all allegedly involved a victim under the age of 13 years and took place Nov. 15-30, 1987, in Elkland Township, court records state

A jury trial in the case is scheduled to begin Jan. 22. Bond was continued at $50,000 and Brown was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

Kniseley entered pleas of innocent to charges of first degree criminal sexual conduct while armed and involving force or coercion and injury to the victim, kidnapping and 2 counts of possession of a firearm (pistol) in the commission of a felony. According to court records, the offenses allegedly took place Oct. 14 in Fairgrove Township.

Kniseley's trial is also scheduled to begin Jan. 22. He was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department and his bond was con-

Dan Kingsland

Red Hawk Student of the Week is Dan Kingsland, 11th grade, son of Diane Kingsland. Dan was chosen as the grand prize winner in the slogan contest at the Tuscola Tech Center. His slogan was "Fingers take a lifetime to grow: forget about safety and off they go!" Dan would like to extend a special thanks to Mrs. Lemanski for her efforts in acknowledging his accomplishments. Dan's efforts also won his welding class a pizza party and him a gift certificate. Very good!
