ARCHITECT FRED EURICH went over details of construction of the new school before members of the school board and about a dozen interested spectators Thursday at the high school. He said that the aim is to have site preparation done this fall and the new building ready to start the second term of school in the 1997-1998 school year.

Hot weather brings luke-warm sales

While area residents may not have been thrilled with the hot weather last week, some area businesses were.

Local hardware and retail stores selling fans seemed to have benefited the most from the increase in temperature last Monday and Tuesday.

Schneeberger TV Sales and Service is one local business that has had a boom in business the past couple weeks.

Schneeberger salesperson Kim Smutek said business could not have been better throughout the entire summer.

"We started selling air conditioning units in February," Smutek said.

"We had a lot of customers calling us to order in February. They must have been getting nervous about the summer and decided to start early," she added.

Customers have come to Schneeberger's to purchase AC units from Bad Axe, Saginaw, Bay City and "all over the Thumb."

Even though Schneeberger's has sold "more air conditioners than last year", they have had no trouble keeping them in stock.

Smutek said they learned their lesson last year.

"We ran out last year, so this year we ordered twice as many."

During the past weeks, which have been among the hottest of the summer, Smutek said business has really picked up.

"We can't hardly keep up with the deliveries," she said, adding that the demand for refrigerators and freezers has also gone up in recent weeks. Other hardware stores in the area have had good business all summer but didn't notice an increase in business due to last week's heat wave.

Cass City Hardware owner Debbie Leinweber said, "People must have been prepared from last year" because she has not seen an increase in business, thus far.

"We've been selling fans right along. We didn't have as big of an increase like I thought."

Leinweber added they are not selling air conditioners or kiddie pools like last year.

"Last year, kiddie pool demand was very high. We've been selling them, but not

O-G teacher pact: 3.75% wage boost

Owen-Gage teachers will have a new contract before the school year begins if they vote in favor of a tentative agreement recently reached by bargainners.

The Owen-Gage Board of Education Monday accepted the proposed agreement, which calls for a 2-year contract offering raises of 3.75 percent per year. Teachers are expected to vote on the pact sometime this week.

The school board action came following a 25-minute executive session held at the conclusion of its August monthly meeting.

School Supt. Manuel Thies said the new contract, which replaces a previous 2-year pact that expired in June, includes slight increases in longevity and extracurricular pay.

Other policies adopted during the previous school year include one prohibiting students from taking pop and candy into classrooms, and another prohibiting students from wearing clothing bearing gang-related insignia.

The board also approved several policies presented earlier by Hopper. Adopted were an updated junior/senior high teacher handbook and policies for accepting students from home schooling, determining senior class ranking, credit by examination, full-time enrollment and graduation requirements.

The updated handbook, which covers each of the new policies in detail, will be handed out to students when they return to school later this month.

In other back-to-school business, the board dealt with several personnel matters.

The board approved hiring Joel Brandel and David Salcido, respectively, as the girls J.V. basketball coach and golf coach, and Stephanie Maust as a library aide. In addition, Thies and Hopper will continue in their roles as senior class advisors.

Liz Roemer, meanwhile, will take over the duties of superintendent's secretary Bonnie Gaeth, who recently retired, and Judy Winchester was hired as a full-time secretary in the Jr./Sr. high principal's office.

Continuing as the head cook in the Gagetown Elementary School is Jessica Ricker, with Phyllis Root as assistant, and Sandy Salcido will again serve as head cook in the Owendale cafeteria, assisted by Karen Gaeth.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Monday, the board:

- Adopted a resolution transferring $11,409 in unused funds from the district's 1993 Debt Retirement Fund (roof repairs at the junior/senior high school) to the 1976 Debt Retirement Fund.

- Approved a motion to write off $6,080.50 in debt incurred by the junior/senior high school cafeteria in 1992-93.

- Approved spending $2,904 for a new shop door and electric door opener.

- Accepted a bid of $201 from Jim LaPratt for 6 dis-

WANTED

Capable, qualified person for $40-a-year job

The wanted sign is out at Cass City Public Schools for a person who lives in the district to serve on the board of directors of an $8 million-plus company. The pay is $40 per year.

There is a vacancy on the Cass City School Board following the resignation of Joan Helwig. Helwig has served 3 years of her 4-year term and the person selected by the board will serve until the next regular election.

Persons interested are invited to contact Supt. Ken Micklash at the high school on or before Sept. 5.

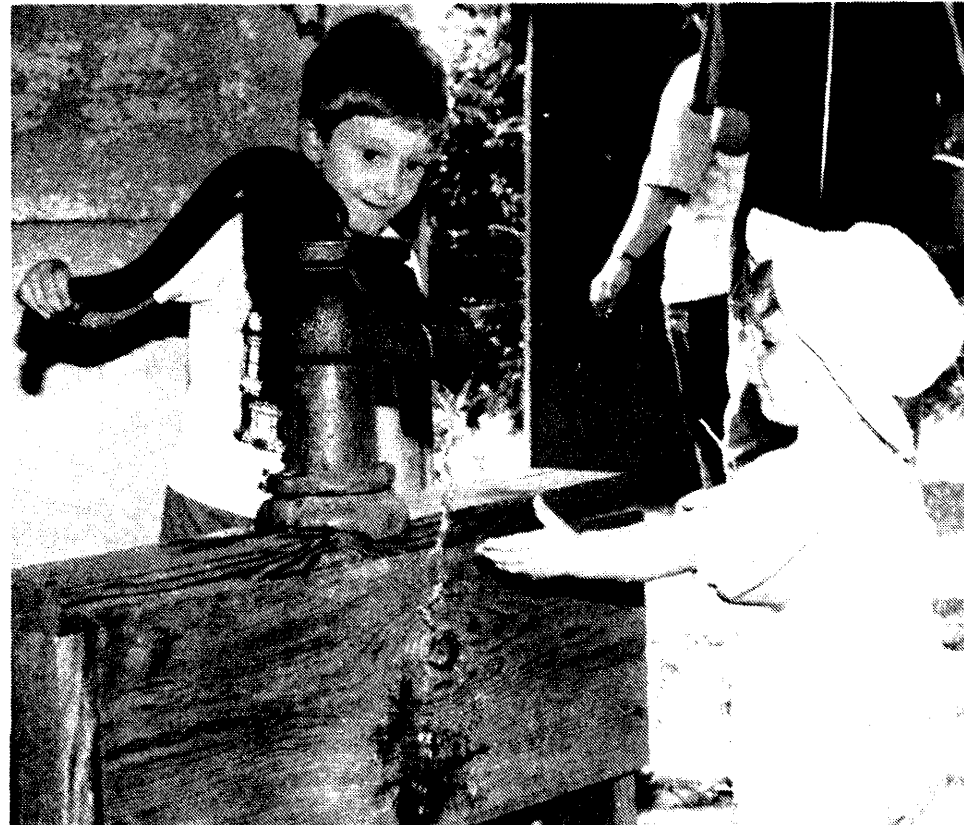

Candidates for the job are expected to be asked to write answers to written questions concerning their views of the operation of the school. The answers will be used to help the board and the superintendent select the person to fill the vacancy.

Much of Monday's agenda dealt with back-to-school matters, including approval of an updated student handbook.

High School Principal Joanne Hopper outlined a number of changes recommended by a committee composed of herself, board members, teachers and parents. They include revisions in excused and unexcused absences, reinstatement of second semester exam exemptions, a policy outlining penalties for cheating, and elimination of weighted grades.

New to the handbook this year is a closed campus policy adopted during the 1995-96 school year.

The policy, which drew criticism from students and parents alike, prohibits students from leaving campus without administrative and parental permission. Parental permission to leave for lunch will not be accepted as a legitimate reason to leave campus. Students will be permitted to be in supervised areas on the school campus during their lunch hour.

CHILDREN'S ACTIVITIES and tours of Gagetown's unique Octagon Barn and historical farmhouse will be part of the third annual Octagon Barn Festival, slated for Saturday. Opening ceremonies at 10 a.m. will kick off the day-long celebration. (Story, related picture page 5)

New principal returning to home area

READY TO GO to work is new Middle School Principal Jeanne Lohela.

Several new teachers have been hired to fill vacancies in Cass City Schools and another is expected to be approved today. The action was taken at a special board meeting Thursday at the high school.

Jeanne Lohela is the new middle school principal, replacing Dr. William Snyder. Lohela brings an extensive background in teaching and administration to her new job and says that she is "happy to be back close to her parents, Merrill and Eunice Kreger, and the family, which includes 6 children."

Coming to the Thumb is familiar territory for Lohela. She is a graduate of Sandusky High School and has an MA degree from Central Michigan University. While there, she participated in field hockey and track. She taught 3 years at Caro High School before accepting a position at Middleville, where she held a variety of positions over 16 years. Lohela was girls' physical education teacher, high school counselor, assistant principal and athletic director.

The last 4 years she has been at McBain, where she worked as middle school principal, counselor and athletic director.

She and her husband, Kari Lohela, an engineer, have been married 4 years.

KARIN PEARSON

Karin Pearson, graduate of Central Michigan University, will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Veronica L. Commire, who in her 2 years in the system received plaudits for her work as English teacher and her work producing the school play.

Pearson was active in drama and theatre at CMU.

JOAN HELWIG

Joan Helwig is the new middle school guidance counselor. She moves to Cass City from Caro, where she was middle school counselor for 9 years. She replaces Dick Partlo, who retired.

Prior to her job at Caro, she taught for 2 years at Bullock Creek. Helwig has a BA degree from Michigan State and an MA degree from Central Michigan.

To accept the post, Helwig resigned from the Cass City School Board, where she has served 3 years of a 4-year term.

BRIAN KNOLL

School authorities received a surprise resignation from band director Brian Knoll, who is leaving after 2 years in the system. He informed the board that he has been accepted for officer training at the United States Naval Academy.

Supt. Ken Micklash said that the administration will meet quickly to interview candidates and a replacement is expected this week, possibly by the time this is read.

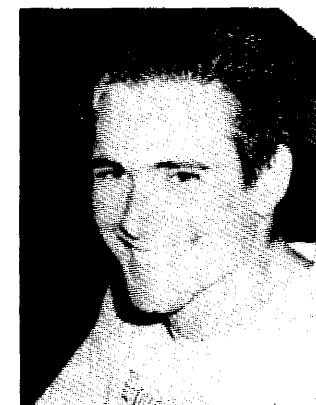

The reason for the haste is that an instructor is needed to accompany students to a summer band camp that starts Aug. 19.

The candidate with the inside track for the job is an unnamed friend of Knoll's who is also a graduate of the University of Michigan.

A special meeting of the board has been called for Thursday morning to confirm the choice of the new director.

It will be the first of 2 special meetings. The second is scheduled for Aug. 21 for approval of an initial contract in the middle school construction.

Mayville man dies in crash

A Mayville man died in a 2-vehicle traffic accident Thursday in the Mayville area.

Troopers from the Michigan State Police post in Caro identified the victim as Kevin Blake Conly, 33.

Conly was driving on Clifford Road east of Hurds Corner Road at about 5:30 p.m. when he collided head-on with another vehicle driven by Robert J. Rowan, 18, also of Mayville, according to reports.

Conly was dead at the scene. Rowan was flown to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, where he was listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit. Rowan's condition was not available early this week.

The cause of the accident remains uncertain and under investigation.

Troopers were assisted at the scene by the Mayville and Marlette ambulance services, the Mayville Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies and Mayville police.

Meg's Peg Memories

by Melva E. Guinther

Bud Sickler, who lives in Florida, writes that a recent column brought back memories of his youth spent in the Deford and Kingston areas.

He says that the Molnar Grocery, which, we wrote, opened in Deford 50 years ago, was the Sherwood Grocery when he lived there, and "Who could forget the Sherwood girls, Louella and Onalee?" Apparently he hasn't.

Sickler, as well as others, confirmed my belief that there was a Kroger store in Cass City at one time. Bud worked at the store when Stan Nagle was the manager.

His interview for the job consisted of adding a long list of numbers on a 20-pound grocery bag. No scanners back then. Bud says the customer got the bag with the numbers on it so they could check the figures.

He also worked at the bowling alley setting pins for a man named Larkin, for 5 cents a line.

Bud recalls moving from Kingston to Deford in the winter by bob sled and driving the cattle down the road.

Neva Zinnecker was his teacher in the 2-story Deford School.

Later, when the family moved to a farm south and east of Cass City, he attended the Paul School, which Eva Marble taught.

In the winter he went early to build a fire in the school's pot-bellied stove. Miss Marble was fortunate. Usually the teacher had that responsibility.

One winter, Sickler recalls, he and his father, Lowell, spent all their free time digging out a basement under the Church of Christ. He says it took a long time with a horse drawn scoop.

Another winter he worked for the Horner family in the Deford area for $5 a month.

A Chronicle picture of high water under the Cass River bridge brought back memories, too. He said in the 30s the bridge was either replaced or repaired and the road closed. Bud remembers fording the river in their Model T west of the bridge.

After dropping out of school after the 8th grade, Bud says Willis Campbell, teacher and long-time superintendent at Cass City Schools, came out to the farm and convinced him to go to high school, found him a place to live near the school and directed him to the job at the Kroger store.

He says Campbell and Coach Lester Ross had a great influence on his life.

Bud is one of the out-of-staters who has come back for every reunion, but has been disappointed that a lot of 1942 classmates who live in this area don't attend. That's a frequent complaint of members from all classes.

It's hard to say why. Perhaps high school wasn't a pleasant experience for everyone, and some would rather not be reminded of it. Or maybe it's because they see former classmates quite often. Whatever the reason, reunions seem to become more meaningful when you've moved away.

Perhaps absence really does make the heart grow fonder.

If she didn't have enough credits already, Miss Rose Hoelzle earned herself a few more with her performance as Jo in the Port Austin Players' "Little Women." The play was very well done and the Cass City sophomore was magnificent in her role.

Around 45 percent of all people on earth now live in or near cities.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

The Michigan Farm Bureau says that deer and bear baiting is good news...and bad news.

The good news is that it provides a market for crops that are damaged and can't be used in any other way. The bad news is that feeding deer creates an even larger deer population that causes more crop damage.

It's expected to be a hot topic in fall meetings of Farm Bureau locals.

The National Academic Funding Advisor states that over $6 billion of assistance to college-bound students goes uncollected each year, probably because students are not aware of it and do not apply for grants.

There are over 375,000 non-government scholarship and grant sources available which do not have to be paid back.

A 1996 publication that shows how to apply and what's available can be secured by sending a self-addressed DOUBLED stamped business (No. 10) envelope and $2.00 to cover handling to NAFA, 815 Middle Street, Dept. 47, Portsmouth, NH 03801.

School people will be anxiously waiting for the results of bids for the new middle school. Built into the specifications are several "Cadillac" features, including complete air conditioning for the building and advanced technological equipment.

However, if the bids come in high, these and other extras will be removed to get the cost down to the money approved by the voters.

And, no, a swimming pool is not on the agenda regardless of the "extra" money that might be available.

Offer free vision, hearing screening

The Tuscola County Health Department will be offering hearing and vision screening for any child who may have missed Kindergarten Round-Up, and who will be entering school in the fall.

Screening will be done Aug. 19 and Aug. 23, at the Tuscola County Health Department, 1309 Cleaver Road, Caro, from 8 a.m.-12 noon, and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. To schedule an appointment, call the Health Department at 673-8114, ext. 110, and ask for Sandy.

The purpose of this screening is for early identification of possible hearing or vision problems. These problems can be subtle and difficult to detect, but they can affect a child's performance in school and other activities.

Parents are encouraged to take advantage of this free service.

Keep cool

When transporting food to a picnic site, keep it cold to minimize the growth of bacteria. Pack meat and other perishables in coolers containing ice or cold packs. Keep the cooler in the shade and avoid opening the lid too often. If you are bringing along a lot of beverages, use a separate cooler for the bottles or cans.

It's been proved again. You are never too old to learn. Some of us only do it the hard way.

Let's start at the beginning. In my bedroom are 2 built-in chests of drawers separated by a vanity area, which is basically a flat surface of about 6 feet in front of a mirror.

That surface has been painted many times over the years, so many that the paint no longer covers without chipping.

The only solution, remove the paint and start over. I hesitate. I waver, but the directions on the bottle convince me. All you do is pour that gunk on and wait a bit and take it off. Presto! The job is done.

Any fix-it-yourselfer knows right now that this is the first time in my 74 years for a job like this.

I was jolted a little when advised that you don't just pour gunk on and take it off. Wait at least 5 hours. It ruined my plans for the evening, but then sometimes sacrifice is necessary.

Armed with my cloth to wipe away the paint, I returned to mop up and finish the job. I couldn't even wipe away the gunk and I quickly acquired a putty knife on the advice of knowledgeable friends who had trouble hiding their smiles.

No, you don't press so hard that you gouge the wood, I learned. (I told you this was an educational experience.) When that paint resists the gunk, you chip away what you can and pour on more, wait another 5 hours, and repeat the process. Then you do it again.

Meanwhile, what paint has been scraped away in small flecks has a life of its own. It flies. It flew to the bottom of my shoes and it wouldn't have taken a woodsman to track just where I went in the house before I found that the bottom of my shoes were covered with paint. (Did I tell you this was a learning experience?)

There's no end to learning. For the second and third rounds of gunk and paint removal, I switched to an old pair of slippers. Paint chips flew on them, too, but I didn't care. They were headed for the junk man anyway. But I did care that the chips found their way into the slippers and covered my feet and ankles. Some found their way inside of my T-shirt.

We are now in the second day for this simple paint removal job and there's no way to know when the stench will abate enough so that I can return to my comfortable bed or even the one in the adjacent room. Sleeping in the family room on the pullout

A trial has been scheduled for Dec. 2 in Tuscola County Circuit Court for a Caro man charged in the traffic death of an Akron motorist in June.

James D. Beardsley, 32, recently stood mute to several charges, including operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor — causing death, manslaughter with a motor vehicle, and failure to stop at a serious personal injury accident.

The first 2 offenses are punishable by up to 15 years in prison and/or fines of $2,500 to $10,000. The maximum penalty for failing to stop at a personal injury accident is 5 years and/or a $5,000 fine.

Beardsley, who waived his arraignment in circuit court, also faces charges of driving while his license was suspended or revoked, and driving without insurance.

The defendant is charged in the death of Kevin R. Horner, 25, of Akron.

The fatal crash occurred at about 8:15 p.m. June 2 near the intersection of Dutcher and Ringle roads in Fairgrove Township, according to Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies, who reported an eastbound pickup truck driven by Beardsley rammed into the rear of Horner's motorcycle, which had stopped at the signed intersection.

After impact, deputies said Beardsley struck a stop sign, drove into a plowed field and then fled the scene. He was arrested about 20 minutes later, about 2 miles from where the accident occurred.

Beardsley remains lodged in the Tuscola County Jail. His bond has been set at $100,000 cash.

Anti-logging protesters are back in the woods, again. Over the past 5 years more than 200 people have been arrested for attempting to obstruct logging within the Nez Perce National Forest in Idaho.

While some folks applaud these demonstrators for their perseverance and dedication, others wonder if these people are actually protesting or just lost.

It's been years since we've seen so many people sitting in trees and chaining themselves to logging equipment in an effort to get their picture taken.

I think protests, such as these, represent a classic social confrontation. It's the hard-hat, lunch-bucket, venison-eating logger against the ... Oh well, never mind. You already know how I feel.

I'm concerned that the timber industry always seems to lose these events, from a public relations standpoint, at least. The timber people lose the P.R. battle because they don't understand the media, and they can't comprehend a person who buries himself in the road and hopes everyone has good brakes.

Another reason industry doesn't get fair coverage is they don't have good names. Loggers have regular names like Frank Jones or Jim Schultz, while protesters have creative names like Doug Fir, Red Woods, Forest Duff.

Some years ago an anti-logging demonstrator appeared at a timber sale in Oregon, wearing a grass skirt and claiming her name was "Cedar Tree."

That same year a group of demonstrators climbed on top of a Forest Service office in Washington and jumped up and down on the roof until police were able to net them. The head man in this event should have been called Lucien Shingles, but I'm not sure he was.

A recent Idaho protester tried the heavy-handed trick of sticking his arms in cement to slow down his eviction. "Rocky Fingers" would have made a nice name for him.

Why can't loggers and Forest Service people come up with some fun names and creative tricks they could play on the protesters?

Nobody wants to read "Joe Smith dragged a protester out from under his pickup this morning." A good reporter wants something like, "Anti-logging protesters were removed from the site by Larch Mountain employees, Roland Bouncem and Scuffum Badly.

"They weren't very heavy," Bouncem explained.

Forest rangers must be tired of giving their real names, too. They could be Smokey Rabbit, or Count DeCampers. Administrators could sign in as Paper Shuffles, Juan Mormeeting, or Buster Files.

Next time we have one of these forest sit-ins, I'd like to see some really good names on both sides. I see no reason the protesters should have all the fun.

FRED MATTHEWS, right, was presented with a plaque and certificate in appreciation of his 12 years of service on the Cass City School Board. Board President Jim Turner made the presentation at a special meeting Thursday at the high school. Matthews expressed appreciation for the award and said that he would still be around. I'm not going anyplace, he grinned.

Unveil new irrigation project

The unveiling of Michigan's first irrigation district breaks new ground in agricultural production and environmental protection, Department of Environmental quality Director Russell Harding announced Thursday.

Federal, state and local officials dedicated the Mud Creek Irrigation District in Huron County, capping a cooperative planning effort that spanned more than a decade. Gov. John Engler also praised the partnership.

"This project is a tribute to those who work the land," Engler said. "The ingenuity and determination of the Michigan farmer has made agriculture our state's second-largest industry. The Mud Creek Irrigation District is an excellent example of why Michigan's agribusinessmen are at the forefront of this evolving industry. It also shows public and private partnerships at their finest."

This is the first such project in the Great Lakes region. It will provide timely irrigation to area farmers, allowing for expanded crop production.

Harding pointed out that the project contains stringent environmental safeguards. For example, the pumping schedule will be restricted to minimize fisheries impacts.

The project also marks the first time that Michigan is requiring conditions to prohibit the introduction of zebra mussels or other exotic species into unaffected state waters. Micron screens will be used to filter out zebra mussel larvae.

Eating habits

Erratic eating habits can rob teenagers of valuable nutrients. Teens need to get adequate amounts of protein, iron, calcium and vitamin B12 during their critical body-building years.

"This is an innovative way of harnessing our natural resources to better serve farmers and consumers," Harding said. "The DEQ is committed to ensuring a critical balance between the needs of agricultural production and environmental protection. This project allows us to explore the feasibility of establishing other irrigation districts in Michigan."

Authority for the Mud Creek project is granted under Public Act 205 of 1967. Local farmers began pursuing the concept in 1983. The initial proposal was followed by several years of economic, environmental and engineering studies. Engler led the effort and consulted other regional governors about the consumptive use of Great Lakes waters.

"We're pleased that the Mud Creek project is under way, as it will provide supplemental irrigation on a larger scale and should improve income for our farmers in the Thumb while protecting the environment," said Dr. Gordon Guyer, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. "This project will serve as a model for other regions of our state looking for improved management of agricultural resources."

An estimated 6 million to 8 million gallons of water a day will be pumped from Saginaw Bay via Mud Creek during the growing season. Cost of the pumping station and related facilities is about $2 million in federal funds.

Individual landowners will pay for on-farm improvements such as tiling and retrofitting. Five land operators with a total of 700 acres will be involved in the start-up phase. The irrigation district can ultimately serve more than 2,100 acres.

The Mud Creek Irrigation Board is responsible for operating the district with input from landowners and farm operators. The Department of Environmental Quality maintains superintending authority.

3rd annual barn bash Saturday

The village of Gagetown and the area's historical Octagon Barn will be jumping with activity this weekend as crowds gather in both locations for the third annual Octagon Barn Festival.

Proceeds from Saturday's day-long celebration will go towards continued efforts to repair and preserve the unique, 8-sided barn and nearby farmhouse, which are located east of Gagetown on Ritchie Road.

Last year's festival drew some 4,500 people and raised nearly $10,000.

The 1996 festival will kick off at 10 a.m. Saturday with opening ceremonies in Gagetown, followed by the annual parade at 11 a.m. Live entertainment will begin at noon and continue until dark. Other attractions include arts and crafts, antiques and antique cars, a car wash, farmer's market, flea market, dunk tank, clowns, children's activities, mule team and horse drawn wagon rides, a bake sale, tractor display and country line dancing instructions, chicken barbecue and ice cream social.

A country critters pet contest is scheduled for noon, followed by a husband calling contest at 1 p.m. and a kids' tractor pull at 2 p.m. A street dance will begin at 7 p.m. and continue through midnight.

At the barn, festival goers can tour the historical buildings and check out various displays. There will be a "medicine man show" and children's activities, including a petting zoo.

CASS CITY ARTIST Pat Smith has spearheaded the annual Octagon Barn Calendar project for 1997. Several area artists' works, including the one above, will be highlighted in the calendar, which will be available starting this weekend during the Octagon Barn Festival.

Letter to the editor

Summer intern praised

Dear Editor:

Just a note to let you know how pleased we were with the article published in the July 10, 1996 edition written by Rebecca Messer. This article was in regard to our children's 4-H steer project.

We were a little apprehensive when we were first contacted by Rebecca to do a story about our children's past success. We didn't, in any way, want it to sound like we were bragging.

After meeting Rebecca and re-enforcing our feelings to her, we felt much more at ease. Rebecca was very professional but had a friendly and comfortable way about her. Even though she admitted she knew little about steers, she had the knowledge and ability to ask the right questions and obtain the correct information to write an intelligent and informative article.

I believe that not only Rebecca has gained in knowledge and experience by doing her internship in our small community, but the Cass City Chronicle and the community has grown by experiencing Rebecca as well.

Sincerely,

The Neil Sweeney family

Your neighbor says

School better than work

Richard Haas doesn't know how he'll spend his last 2 weeks of summer vacation.

"I don't know, I guess I never thought about it." The 13-year-old added, after giving the question some thought, "I guess I'll do the same thing I've been doing all summer, working."

The eldest son of Barb Haas has been cutting grass and doing his friends' paper route as a way to earn extra money this summer.

Haas, who has a younger brother, Andrew, 9, said he has not been doing the paper route all summer, but is filling in for his friend, Josh Dillon.

"I agreed to be his sub. He's at a wedding, so I haven't been doing this all summer, just the last 2 weeks."

Haas said he really hasn't done much else exciting this summer, except swim at the pool a couple times, and he added he has not let his younger brother tag along with him.

"I left him at home on purpose." The eighth grader did say he is looking forward to going back to school in a few weeks.

"It's better than working all summer."

Haas said his favorite subjects are math and science.

Harbecs' grandson Siradakis earns baseball scholarship

Two grandparents who are residents of Cass City have an extra reason to be proud of their grandson this week.

Jack and Frances Harbec are just beaming with pride because their grandson, Andy Siradakis, recently received a baseball scholarship to Sam Houston State University in Huntsville, Tex.

The son of Eft and Beverly Siradakis of Bay City, Siradakis will be a junior at Sam Houston in the fall.

Siradakis, a 6-foot-4, right-handed pitcher, attended Mineral Area College in Park Hills, Mo., on a baseball scholarship for his first 2 years of school.

Attending Sam Houston will be a step up for Siradakis. It is an NCAA Division I school and the Bearkats qualified for the NCAA tournament last season.

"He is a good pitcher," Frances said. "I'm not saying that just because he is my grandson. He really has a lot of potential there and the coaches seem to think so, too."

Siradakis started playing baseball in little league and Frances said he excelled in the sport right from the beginning.

"He just loved his baseball," she added.

Although grandma and grandpa would like to see Siradakis with the Detroit Tigers, Frances said Siradakis just wants to play in the major league.

"He wants to play for any team that will grab him," she said.

Sam Houston might be the right place for Siradakis to develop his potential. Former Sam Houston players who have played in the majors include ex-Tiger Glenn Wilson and Milwaukee Brewer Steve Sparks.

Siradakis was 10-8 with 11 saves in 2 seasons as a starter/reliever at MAC. He struck out 67 batters in 60 innings pitched last season.

Summer in Cass City quite an experience for 'city girl'

by Rebecca Messer
Staff Writer

Cass City has been quite an experience for me. In fact, my experiences with Cass City started long before my first day on the job back in May.

Two years ago I was sitting in a journalism class at Central Michigan University, when the editor of CMLIFE, Marjory Raymer (remember her?) came to speak to our class.

During Marjory's visit she told us she did an internship at the Cass City Chronicle.

As she described the paper, Cass City and the types of stories she did, I thought - "Ugh! Who!? in their right mind would ever want to do an internship in a small town in the 'Thumb"? If I get an internship, I am NOT going there!"

Little did I know.

I had long forgotten about the Marjory Raymer incident when Tom came to Central to interview students for the internship.

VISIONS

Being a bona fide city kid and never having been to the Thumb, I had no idea what to expect when I first came to Cass City. However, I am a "military brat", so I am pretty well traveled.

I have seen many a small town out west with signs saying "Population 18."

As you drive through "town", you see one house with an old man rocking on the front porch, a gas station that looks like it hasn't seen gas since the depression and a dog running across the street with more ribs than an all you can eat rib dinner at Ponderosa.

You can imagine what I pictured Cass City to look like.

And after driving through Reese and Caro I was a little concerned about what I was getting myself into.

As I got closer to Cass City, my only thought was "Please God, let there be a movie theater in town, at least. I'm not asking for much, just a movie theater."

To my pleasant surprise there was, and much, much more.

ANIMALS PART I

While I have had wonderful experiences with the people of Cass City, my more interesting experiences have been with animals.

Before I begin, let me state I am an animal lover. Well, I like cats.

Cows and wasps seemed to have defined my experiences with animals this summer.

Wasps decided they wanted to be my best friends and visit me often in my apartment. I had 5 such visits.

I am told this is not a lot. After having a wasp take a shower with me, drenching my aunt's lace curtains, (that I borrowed for the summer) with Raid wasp killer and "ruining" my grandma's brass lamp, (also borrowed for the summer) from dousing a wasp with oven cleaner, my wasp experiences came to a head late one hot July night.

I had gone to bed and was awakened by an all too familiar buzzing noise above my head. Too afraid to turn on the light, (because it might have stung me) I grabbed the phone and called my boyfriend.

I hysterically crying by this point, demanded he come over and kill the wasp. Did I mention that he lives 2 hours away and it was midnight? He told me I was acting ridiculous and hung up. So much for Prince Charming coming to the rescue.

NOTE: I had to use oven cleaner because I ran out of Raid and all the black stuff falling off the lamp ended up being tarnish. I actually did grandma a favor.

PART II

Comparatively, the cows have not been that bad, but I still prefer to keep my distance, which I've learned makes taking pictures of them a little difficult.

Somehow the cows at the Tuscola County Fair found out I was not all that fond of them and decided to protest by not posing for their pictures properly. (See page 3, July 31 issue for explanation)

I've learned, (sort of) cows are not just cows. They are steers, calves, cattle, heifers and bulls.

Much too complicated for this city girl. I prefer to call them cows no matter what sex or how old. Unless, of course, I'm writing a story.

I did, however, "overcome" my fear and got close enough to a baby cow to pet its nose. It was kinda cute and fuzzy, but I don't think I'll do it again.

I've also done stories where naming specific animals was involved, yet I've had no idea what kind of animals they were.

I've spent a couple afternoons describing animals to my co-workers, Janet, Louise and Deb, so they could tell me what kind of animals I had seen, so I could give them a name in the story.

THE END

Overall, I have really enjoyed my time in Cass City. I have gotten used to the fact that everyone knows everyone else in town, even though it drove me crazy the first few weeks I was here.

I have started to like walking into the library or the store, knowing the employees and striking up a conversation.

Or when you walk into IGA with nothing but a credit card to buy groceries, because in the city that's how you do it because you'd be crazy to carry cash, only to realize they don't have machines so you can't pay by credit card.

They were nice enough to hold my groceries and put them in the cooler so they wouldn't rot, without asking for 10 forms of identification to ensure I came back.

It makes you feel like people will kinda look out for you.

Immunizations

Act 299, Public Acts of 1975, authorized the Director of the Michigan Department of Public Health to specify, by regulation, the immunizations and tests required of all children enrolling in Michigan schools for the first time. This year the following immunizations are required: Diphtheria, Tetanus, Rubella, Pertussis, Measles and Poliomyelitis.

In addition, each new school entry must have had a vision screening test.

The parent or guardian who, because of religious or other convictions, does not want his child protected from these diseases must submit a signed statement to that effect.

As part of our school admission procedure for your child, we must enforce the law stated above. We must have the health record or a similar statement in order to admit your child officially to school. If you have questions about this, please contact your local school, your doctor, or the Thumb District Health Department.

Discrimination Prohibition and Student Information

It is the policy of the Cass City Public Schools to not discriminate on the basis of sex, race, religion, or other prohibited matters in employment, or in educational programs. Anyone who feels that a violation of rights has occurred should notify: Curtis Cleland, Jr. Civil Rights Coordinator, Cass City Public Schools, 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726, (517) 872-2148.

On occasion the Cass City Public Schools does release the names of individual students and directory information such as grade level, honors and awards. If any parent or adult student wishes to not have such information released, notification, in writing, must be sent to: Kenneth J. Micklash, Superintendent, Cass City Public Schools, 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726.

Student Accident Insurance Policy

Student accident insurance is available for parents to purchase through the Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company. This low cost insurance plan can provide coverage for students at both school and home. Forms for participation will be given to all students to take home during the first week of school. Please review this information carefully and contact your child's principal if you have any questions.

Guidance and Counseling

The school guidance program is designed to assist students who have personal and social concerns, and to help students design academic programs to meet their individual needs and abilities. College admission and financial aid assistance is provided for students interested in continuing their schooling after graduation. One of the programs designed to benefit both the student and the community is the cooperative education program. Under this program, some students are placed in on-the-job-work situations for part of each school day. Students and parents desiring more information are encouraged to contact the guidance offices.

Free and Reduced-Prices

Student Meals

The Cass City Public School's policy for free and reduced-price meals or for children unable to pay the full price for meals served under the National School Lunch, School Breakfast or Commodity School Programs uses the following household size and income criteria to determine eligibility.

Family income criteria to be used for the 1996-97 school year for FREE AND REDUCED - PRICE MEALS or FREE MILK

Total Family Size	A. Scale for Free Meals or Free Milk			B. Scale for Reduced Price Meals
	Year	Month	Week	Year	Month	Week

2	13,468	1,123	259	19,166	1,598	369
3	16,874	1,407	325	24,013	2,002	462
4	20,280	1,690	390	28,860	2,405	555
5	23,686	1,974	456	33,707	2,809	649
6	27,092	2,258	521	38,554	3,213	742
7	30,498	2,542	587	43,401	3,617	835
8	33,904	2,826	652	48,248	4,021	928
Each additional family member	+3,402	+284	+66	+4,847	+404	+94

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free and reduced price meals or free milk.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced price meals, households should fill out the form and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school.

NON FOOD STAMP/HOUSEHOLDS: An application which does not contain all of the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) monthly source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.); (2) names of all household members; (3) social security number of adult household member who signs the application; and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

FOOD STAMP/AFDC HOUSEHOLDS: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" (AFDC) for your child, you only have to list your child's name and Food Stamp or AFDC case number, and sign the application.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data, or qualifying children for other federal and state programs, as authorized by the United States Department of Agriculture. Applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced price meal or free milk benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes unemployed, the household should fill out an application at that time.

In most cases foster children are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free or reduced price meals or milk for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Under the provisions of the policy the building principal will review applications and determine eligibility.

Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. The household also has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: Kenneth J. Micklash, Superintendent, 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726

Special announcements concerning school closing will be made through the following public service facilities: Radio WKYO - Caro, Radio WMIC - Sandusky, Radio WLEW - Bad Axe, Radio WHNN - Saginaw and Radio WIOG - Saginaw, TV-5-Bay City. Announcements will be made as soon as a decision is reached.

THE 10 SPOT AND MORE, a retail store located in downtown Cass City, is a family project. Sisters Becky Retherford (left) and Julie Martinez have been co-owners of the store for 2 months.

Sisters co-owners of new Cass City business

Sibling rivalry does not apply to 2 local business owners.

Sisters Becky Retherford and Julie Martinez are the co-owners of a relatively new store in Cass City called The Ten Spot and More.

"It's always been a dream of mine," Becky stated as a reason why she wanted to open the store, "and I had a chance to do it, thanks to our father and her (Julie's) husband."

Located on the corner of Main Street and Leach, the store offers women's fashions at reasonable prices. Most of the store's merchandise is less than or close to $10.

Hence the reason for the name of the store. Even though items are relatively inexpensive, the store has new sale items and specials every week.

The Ten Spot, which has been open for 2 months, celebrated its grand opening last Friday and Saturday.

The grand opening featured a balloon bust. Customers who purchase an item had the opportunity to pick a balloon off the ceiling and pop it to claim the prize inside.

Prizes included coupons, instant Lottery tickets, video rentals and movie passes.

Becky and Julie agreed that business so far could not be better. "We couldn't have asked for a better 2 months. People have really been supportive," Becky said.

The sisters said they have had customers from as far away as Unionville, Port Huron and Caro, "from all over the Thumb, really," Julie added.

They have also developed regular customers who stop in every week, they said. "We get new stock every week, so people come back each week to check it out," Becky said.

For right now, both of the sisters make up the sales staff. They also enlist the help of 2 other sisters, who fill in while Becky and Julie work at their other jobs.

Becky said she is glad her sisters are there to help her. "It was a scary thing to do this. I would not have done it if Julie hadn't done it with me."

Bean research tour set Aug. 20

A look at current crop research trials and commemoration of 25 years of agricultural research will be the focus of an Aug. 20 event at the Saginaw Valley Beet and Bean Research Farm near Saginaw.

The Silver Jubilee will begin with guest registration at 2:30 p.m. Tours of the 120-acre research site will run from 3 to 5:30 p.m.

Michigan State University researchers and Extension specialists will show and discuss current activities in managed cropping systems, tillage alternatives, weed control, sugar beet seed and dry edible bean variety development.

The program and barbecue commemorating the 25th anniversary will run from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Established in 1971, the research site is owned cooperatively by Michigan's dry bean and sugar beet industries and is leased to MSU for use by Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station scientists.

Research focuses primarily on sugar beets and dry edible beans because they are ideal companion crops that can be grown in rotation on the same soils. The Saginaw Valley, the second highest producer of dry edible beans in the United States, also produces about 3 million tons of sugar beets each year, ranking Michigan fifth in sugar production.

Cooperative owners are the Michigan Bean Commission, the Michigan Bean Shippers Association, the Michigan Sugar Company, the Monitor Sugar Company, the Monitor Sugar Beet Growers Association, Inc., and the Great Lakes Sugar Beet Growers Association.

To register for the celebration, contact the Michigan Bean Commission at 517-224-1361.

Tuscola residents okay surcharge, 3 renewals

Tuscola County voters proved generous in the Aug. 6 primary election, giving the nod to most Republican incumbents and approving 4 ballot issues, including a 16 percent surcharge increase on residents' phone bills for 911.

A hotly-contested race for register of deeds was a highlight of the election, with incumbent Republican Ginny McLaren eking out a 33-vote victory over challenger Orvil Beecher, 2,383 to 2,350.

McLaren faces Democrat Barbara E. Gaul in the November general election.

In another countywide primary race, incumbent Drain Commissioner Sarah Pistro won the Republican nomination by defeating challenger

Petroglyphs open through Labor Day

Prospective visitors to the Sanilac County Petroglyphs have until Labor Day to make their trip.

The petroglyphs, which open Memorial Day weekend, officially close for the season Labor Day weekend.

Although the petroglyphs do not have guided tours, employees are on hand during the open hours of the site to let visitors into the area.

The petroglyphs are open 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Wednesday through Sunday.

A walk through the petroglyphs takes anywhere from 5 to 15 minutes.

Other activities are offered at the site, such as a 45-minute petroglyph interpretive program and a nature trail hike, which takes about an hour to complete.

The petroglyphs are a series

Dennis Henry, 2,702-1,978. Pistro will run unopposed in the fall.

Voters also decided a trio of county commission races, including the District 2 representing Elkland, Elmwood, Novesta and Kingston townships. Incumbent Republican Edward C. Scollon, Cass City, easily defeated challenger Stanley May, also of Cass City, 470-150.

District 4 incumbent Commissioner Susan Osborne was ousted in a 5-way race for the Republican nomination to represent Indianfields and Wells townships.

The winner was former commissioner Norma Bates, who received 314 votes to Osborne's 270 votes. John Fields followed closely with 254 votes, while Mary Kay Nowland-Raymer received 130 votes and Patrick Trisch, 53 votes. Bates will run unopposed in November.

In District One, comprised of Akron, Wisner, Columbia, Almer and Ellington townships, incumbent Republican James D. Schafer turned back challenger Thomas A. Baird, 554-418. Schafer also faces no competition in November.

BALLOT QUESTIONS

County residents overwhelmingly voted in favor of a 16-percent surcharge increase on base phone bills to fund central dispatch upgrades. The measure passed 4,464 to 2,597.

The project will include construction of a new dispatch center and new emergency communication equipment for police, fire and ambulance personnel. It will cost residents an additional $2.67 per month per household, or about $32 annually.

Voters also approved millage renewals of .9741 of a mill for 2 years for primary roads and major street repairs (4,711-2,319), .4871 of a mill for 4 years for bridges/local streets (4,462-2,426), and .2397 of a mill for 6 years for the medical care facility (4,522-2,456).

In all, 8,113 residents — less than 20 percent of the county's registered voters — went to the polls.

NOVESTA MILLAGE

Novesta Township voters said "yes" to a special road millage. The request — one mill for 3 years — passed 87 to 74.

The ballot question marked township officials' third attempt in recent years to get a road millage passed. Voters in August 1994 rejected a request of 2.5 mills for 5 years. Likewise, a reduced proposal of 2 mills for 4 years was defeated 3 months later.

Sanilac County voters reject proposed millage

There were no upsets in the Sanilac County primary election last week, although the race for treasurer was close, and voters overwhelmingly rejected a millage request for county operations.

Among county commissioners facing opponents, Republican incumbent Commissioner John Merriman, Deckerville, received 514 votes to turn back challenger Theresa Glaza of Snover for the District One seat. Glaza received 372 votes.

District One is comprised of Evergreen, Greenleaf, Austin, Argyle, Moore, Minden and Wheatland townships.

In District 4 (Elmer, Watertown and Washington townships) newcomer Cynthia Teeple garnered 454 votes, enough to win the Republican nomination over challengers Timothy M. Woelkers (347 votes), Elfrieda Conrad (265 votes) and Kevin R. Wormwood (211 votes); and incumbent District 5 Commissioner Carl D. Black (491 votes) defeated challenger Karl Stacer (350 votes) for the Republican nomination. Black represents Sanilac and Lexington townships.

In other Republican primary races, Prosecutor James V. Young (3,981 votes) defeated challenger Dale Ostertag (3,160 votes); Sheriff Virgil Strickler (4,045 votes) turned back newcomer James Merriman (3,108 votes); Clerk Linda I. Kozfay (3,665 votes) defeated challenger Laurie L. Turnbull (3,254 votes); and Treasurer Carol A. Dale (3,434 votes) edged out newcomer Douglas D. McGuire (3,427 votes).

In a 4-way race for a lone road commission seat, Republican Harold Donaghy emerged the clear winner with 2,447 votes. Other votes were cast for Roy W. Goben (1,990), Lynne Noll (1,446) and Jack Gillig (563).

MILLAGE

Voters voiced their opposition to a proposed tax increase of 2/3 of a mill, defeating the measure 4,447 to 2,730.

Had voters approved the request, the county would have levied a total of 5 mills as it did 22 years ago. The Headlee Amendment has since reduced the levy to 4.3395 mills.

The millage had been requested for 6 years to offset shrinking revenues, including a major source of funding — interest on the county's delinquent tax revolving fund — which is dwindling.

County officials said a "no" vote on the millage request will translate into significant cuts in non-mandated services, which includes central dispatch/911, road patrol, health department, medical care facility, community mental health, Cooperative Extension Service and 4-H programs.

Despite the vote, county residents apparently were not opposed to a pair of millage renewals.

Requests of .2 of a mill for 4 years for library services, and .2 of a mill for 4 years for senior citizen services passed 4,381-2,858 and 4,923-2,378, respectively.

In all, 8,299 voters, or about 29 percent of the county's registered voters, went to the polls Aug. 6.

TOWNSHIPS

Among area townships, Evergreen Township voters said "yes" to a request of one mill for 4 years to fund road improvements. The measure passed by a vote of 72 to 42.

Likewise, Greenleaf Township voters approved a one-mill renewal for 4 years for fire protection.

In addition, Republican Margaret Ford won the Republican nomination for the post of supervisor with 36 votes. Write-in votes were cast for Ralph Hoxie (15), Bob DeLong (4), Robert Brown (2) and John Nicol (one).

Incumbent Supervisor Curtis Cleland Jr. did not seek reelection.

Winning a pair of trustee seats, meanwhile, were Republicans Mark Battel and Brian Sweeney, who received 29 votes and 52 votes, respectively. Incumbent Vera Nicol, who withdrew from the race, received a pair of write-in votes.

Gaertner defeats Hagen

Huron County voters unseated incumbent Prosecutor Leslie Hagen and overturned a ban on Sunday hunting in the Aug. 6 primary election. Attorney Mark J. Gaertner easily won the heated race with a total of 4,613 votes. Hagen, who has served as prosecutor since 1991, garnered 2,382 votes. Gaertner faces no opposition in the fall.

In other county primary races, Warren Krohn won a 4-way race for the Republican nomination for the District 4 county commission seat. Krohn received 338 votes, while Larry Schmitt Sr. received 268 votes. Fred Duggan garnered 178 votes and David Wolfe, 150 votes.

Krohn faces Democrat Orville Liedke in the general election. The winner will represent Chandler, Meade, Oliver and Colfax townships.

In District 5, representing Verona and Sigel townships, incumbent Republican H.W. Weitenberger turned back a pair of challengers. He received 600 votes, compared to 222 votes cast for Richard Peterson and 208 votes for Robert Hogan. Weitenberger will run unopposed in November.

Likewise, District 7 Commissioner Martha Thuemmel, who represents Lake, Hume, Pointe Aux Barques, Dwight and Lincoln townships, defeated challenger Kurt Damrow, 698-548, for the Republican nomination. She is also unopposed in the general election.

SUNDAY HUNTING

County voters overturned a nearly 60-year ban on Sunday hunting with the repeal of a 1937 law that allowed residents to hunt only on state land on Sundays. The measure passed 4,442-2,916.

Eleven Michigan counties, including Tuscola, Sanilac and Lapeer, have Sunday hunting bans of one form or another on the books. Huron County's law was originally enacted due to religious reasons and trespassing concerns, according to county officials.

Nearly 8,500 residents, representing about 33 percent of Huron County's registered voters, cast ballots in last week's primary election.

TOWNSHIPS

Voters in 2 area Huron County townships decided primary races.

In Brookfield Township incumbent Treasurer Robert J. McPhail overcame a challenge from fellow Republican Susan Albrecht. McPhail received 101 votes and Albrecht, 49 votes. All other township officials ran unopposed on the Republican ticket.

In Grant Township, Republican newcomer Michael Mandich won the supervisor's job with 65 votes. Also vying for the post, vacated by incumbent Betty Powell, was Janice L. Brandel, who received 46 votes.

Two other incumbent Republicans, trustees David Ellicott and Donnie Metzger, received 75 votes and 70 votes, respectively, to retain their seats. Also vying for one of the posts was challenger Marshall Sheldon, who garnered 62 votes.

In addition, township voters approved a millage renewal for road maintenance and dust control, 85-30.

THIS PECULIAR sunflower plant popped up in a Cass City area cornfield, apparently planted there by a bird after feasting on some sunflower seeds.

Clean, condition seed

Wheat seed guidelines

Farmers who want to use their 1996 wheat crop as a source for seeds for 1997 planting should follow some common sense guidelines to prevent a loss of quality due to this year's wheat scab outbreak, according to Dr. Gordon Guyer, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA).

Wet weather conditions combined with warm temperatures have created the worst outbreak of wheat scab in 100 years. Wheat scab (Fusarium graminearum), a mold, can produce a substance called vomitoxin. While vomitoxin can affect flavors in foods or baking quality, its most significant effects are poor weight gain and feed refusal in livestock fed affected wheat, especially hogs.

"This year's wheat crops can be the source of healthy seed for next year if the seed is properly cleaned and conditioned," said Guyer.

Farmers should first remove poorly developed seed from the seed lot, since these are the seeds most likely infected with vomitoxin. This can be done by carefully adjusting the combine during harvesting to eliminate underdeveloped kernels. Airflow through the combine should be increased to blow out the light, poorly developed kernels.

All seed should be cleaned and conditioned in the same way commercial seed is prepared. At a minimum, this includes careful screening and sizing through a fanning mill (air-screen mill) to remove underdeveloped seed. A gravity separator can also be very useful to eliminate lighter weight infected seed that might remain a problem. Finally, all seed should be treated with an effective fungicide such as Vitavax-Thiram, Dividend or Raxil-Thiram.

After cleaning and conditioning, seed should be tested for purity and germination. The cost is $10 for both tests ($5 just for the germination test) if conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, or $7 per test if analyzed by the Michigan Crop Improvement Association. The managers of both facilities recommend any person submitting a seed sample should:

• Collect a representative sample of the lot or quantity: one-half pound for just a germination test or a 2-pound sample for a full purity and germination test.

• Unconditioned seed submitted for testing should be screened prior to submission to remove small grain and inert that will be removed in subsequent conditioning.

• Both facilities require a seed analysis request form be submitted with the sample or include your name, address, kind and variety of seed, lot number, and indicate the test requested.

Submit samples to:

Michigan Department of Agriculture, Laboratory Division - Seed, 1615 S. Harrison Road, East Lansing, Michigan 48823 or Michigan Crop Improvement Association, P.O. Box 21008, Lansing, Michigan 48909-1008.
(If mailed UPS to Michigan Crop Improvement Association, send to: 2901 W. Jolly Road, Okemos, Michigan 48864).

If you have any questions pertaining to sample submissions, contact Steve McGuire at the Michigan Department of Agriculture (517-337-5084) or Ann Tucker at the Michigan Crop Improvement Association (517-355-7438).

For more information about wheat scab, vomitoxin, and seed issues contact Gary King at the Michigan Department of Agriculture, 517-373-9747.

Population to increase to 9.8 billion

The United Nations estimates that by the year 2050, the world's population will swell to 9.8 billion people from the current 5.7 billion. The U.N. says the world will have to come up with 75 percent more food to feed the masses. Overall, world food supplies have doubled in the last 40 years and that trend will have to continue. The report said Asian countries will have to increase food production by 69 percent and Latin American and Caribbean countries will have to increase production by 80 percent, while North America will have to increase food production by 30 percent to meet the needs of growing populations.

Body language

You may think of body language as only applying to people, but it works with animals, too. For example, cows are gentle and social animals and respond to a person who has calm and quiet body language. Cows communicate with body language, too. A tail that's hanging straight down means the animal is relaxed. Ears that stand straight up means the cow has been startled.

Thieves loot GTE truck

Cass City police are investigating the theft of more than $2,000 worth of equipment from a GTE truck in Cass City sometime over the weekend.

Thomas Guinther reported a Texas Instruments lap computer valued at $2,000 was stolen from a company van along with a Rolodex electric pocket organizer valued at $200.

Police reported it appears the culprit(s) gained access to the van by climbing under a gate at the fenced parking lot at the GTE office, 4463

Seeger St. The suspect(s) then walked to an open garage and broke a vent window on the van.

The theft remains under investigation.

In other activity over the past week, village police arrested 3 men, including a Cass City resident who was placed into custody after reporting he was bitten by a dog. Anthony Bloomfield, 27, was arrested Friday afternoon on a warrant alleging malicious destruction of property over $100 and trespassing June 4 in Ellington Township.

Also Friday, police arrested Steven M. Pomeroy, 27, of Caro, at a Maple Street residence after officers learned of his whereabouts and of a valid warrant for parole violation.

Vernon E. Clapsaddle, 35, Cass City, was arrested early Sunday morning on suspicion of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and driving while his license was suspended. His vehicle was stopped on Main Street near Brooker Street at about 2:25 a.m.

like last year," she said.

Last year distributors had a hard time keeping up with the demand for stock, while distributors have had no such problems this year, she said. Leinweber said demand is not as high this year because of the weather.

"Last year it got hot everywhere. This year it was hot 2 days, which were the hottest days of the year and then the rain cooled it right down," she said.

Last week's hot weather didn't have much of an effect on sales of fans at Bigelow Hardware either.

Owner Jerry Stilson said, "We didn't sell too many fans, business has been about the same all summer."

Guilds in top 20 at pageant

Danielle Guilds recently returned from competing in a pageant of a different sort, where she was selected as a top 20 semi-finalist.

From Aug. 2-4 Guilds, a Cass City resident, participated in the Pre-Teen Michigan Scholarship & Recognition Program in Lansing. The program is not a beauty pageant, contestants are evaluated on their grades, academic performance, volunteer time to both church and community and school recommendations.

During her time in Lansing, Guilds was tested extensively on current events. She also participated in one on one interviews with 6 judges.

The daughter of Glen and Deb Guilds, Danielle was one of 190 girls from across Michigan who participated in the weekend.

In addition to interviews and testing, fun activities were set up for the girls such as an autograph party. The party was designed as an opportunity for the girls to meet informally, and exchange addresses and phone numbers.

Decked out in poodle skirts and saddle shoes, the girls performed a tribute to the 50's, before the finals began Sunday.

After being selected as a top 20 semi-finalist, Guilds was asked a final question before the panel of judges, other contestants, previous tit. holders and audience members.

The question Guilds had to answer was "How much allowance do you think a pre-teen should get in the 90's?"

Guilds said, although she did not receive the final title she was proud to make it to the top 20 semi-finals. She was also happy to make several new friends and gain numerous pen pals.

She also has a wonderful lifelong memory of a great weekend.
