Firemen limit loss in Cass City house fire

Elkland Township fire fighters battled a pair of blazes last week, including a house fire in the village Friday afternoon.

Firemen were called to a residence at 4454 Sherman St., at about 1:45 p.m. Friday.

"We were pretty lucky we got right into it (house) and got the fire out before it did a lot of damage," Fire Chief Milt Connolly said, adding the blaze started in an upstairs bedroom.

Connolly had no estimate on the dollar value of damage, but he said the fire was contained to the one bedroom.

The cause remains under investigation. A state fire marshal is expected to inspect the house sometime this week.

The name of the home owner had not been determined as of Monday. Connolly said the house is furnished, but it appears no one was living there when the fire broke out.

Fire fighters remained at the scene for 2 hours. They were assisted by the Elmwood-Gagetown Fire Department.

TRAILER FIRE

The Elkland Township department extinguished a trailer house fire Halloween night.

The alarm came in at about 7 p.m., according to Connolly, who said the trailer is located on Muntz Road, west of Koepfgen Road.

Connolly said the trailer was old and abandoned. He called it a total loss, saying the fire was suspicious. "We suspect it was probably a Halloween prankster," he added.

School goal: more character education

Character education offered at Cass City Schools will be spotlighted as one of 2 new goals endorsed by the board of education at its meeting Tuesday, Oct. 29.

Board president Jim Turner said that he was looking for a new innovative program, not religious, to develop character in students.

Current practices relating to character education will be assessed. A survey of the teaching staff is planned to determine what is already being done and what suggestions the staff may have for enhancing the program.

Students already are participating in many community service volunteer programs, Supt. Ken Micklash noted, and these and other areas of character education will be reviewed.

The study is expected to be concluded by the end of this school year.

The second new goal concerns physical education. Although physical education is already offered throughout the school, a review of the K-12 Michigan Exemplary Physical Education Program will be held to see if all or part of it can be adopted.

The object is to coordinate the program so that it offers the best in health and fitness for students of all ages.

A special meeting with a representative of the Tuscola Intermediate School District is planned and any changes in the physical education program are expected to be formulated by next July.

Several other goals established by the board were reviewed and continued. One was to have all students improve academic achievement in reading, math, science and writing so that all district buildings can be accredited.

Others include a long-range facility upgrade plan completed by next July and a cooperative and unified board of education dealing with district residents.

One of the goals will probably always remain out of reach. It's that the school have a 100 percent graduation rate by the year 2000.

When it was adopted several years ago, it was pointed out that the goal was one worth striving for even if, practically, it was probably impossible to achieve.

Area teens sentenced for break-ins

A pair of area teens will spend 90 days in an alternative incarceration program and pay $11,439 each in restitution for their roles in a series of burglaries in the Cass City area in July.

Jonathan D. Fetterhoff, 18, Cass City, and Damian G. Izydorek, 18, Decker, were sentenced last week in Tuscola County Circuit Court for their pleas of guilty to charges of conspiracy to commit breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny, breaking and entering and larceny in a building.

The charges stem from break-ins July 18 at the Seeger Street Market, 4119 Seeger St., Cass City, and July 1 at the Helen Stevens Memorial Pool, also in Cass City.

Fetterhoff was placed on 5 years probation and sentenced to one year in the county jail, which was deferred pending his completion of 90 days in an alternative incarceration program. Aside from restitution, he was ordered to pay $1,800 in oversight fees, $1,000 in court costs and fines, and a $60 victim crime fee.

Izydorek received an identical sentence, but must pay $500 in costs and fines. He was also ordered to complete his high school education and maintain a 3.0 grade. Please turn to back page.

THE REV. MARK Todd is only 28 years old, but has already devoted 9 years of his life to the ministry. Sunday was his first day as pastor of the Living Word Worship Center in Cass City.

Area dry bean crop seen as best in the country

After a spring and summer marked by excesses — too much rain, too many pests, too much disease — farmers have finally gotten a break in the form of a string of dry days.

And they haven't wasted a moment, according to area MSU Extension officials, who say the harvest is progressing nicely.

"We're done with navy beans, we're well into the soybeans and I think we're on the downside of sugar beets," Tuscola County Extension Agricultural Agent Harold Rouget said Friday. "We're probably going to finish (soybeans) up in the next 2 or 3 days."

Despite a wet spring and flooding in June, this year's dry bean crop in Tuscola and Saginaw counties has emerged a real winner.

"We probably have the best beans in the country," said Rouget, who added yields were above average at about 5 bags. "We had some frost damage, but not a lot."

In Huron County, Extension Agricultural Agent Carrie Andrich reported mixed dry bean yields. "We estimate we're down a bag or 2; we're running in the 12-bag range," she said. "Our blacks are running a little higher, probably around 13 or 14 bags, but navies were a little under."

Andrich estimated Huron County farmers had harvested about 95 percent of dry beans as of Friday. Less than half of the soybean crop was off, but she predicted farmers would make a great deal of progress with continued dry weather.

"I think it (frost) probably affected some of the soys that were planted really late," Rouget continued. He said the freezing temperatures will also likely result in lighter test weights for corn.

With farmers 2 weeks behind in the harvest, MSU Extension officials are urging them to harvest corn as soon as possible, in part due to widespread corn borer damage resulting in ear drop and lodging.

Rouget confirmed the recommendation, but suggested that individual growers need to assess their fields to determine how they should proceed.

Andrich agreed. "It's a call-by-call on each field. Some fields were missed by corn borers and others were hit hard," she said, adding farmers need to weigh the cost of drying corn now versus any additional losses sustained by waiting.

Andrich noted moisture in the corn isn't near the ideal 15-percent mark required to store the grain. "We're running 32 percent, so the moisture content is really high."

Rouget indicated most farmers will begin harvesting corn once they've finished up with beets and soybeans.

Growers haven't wasted the recent string of dry days, according to Robert Braem, vice-president of agriculture at Michigan Sugar Co., Caro.

"I would say we're around 90 percent complete" with the sugar beet harvest, he said Monday. "It's gone really well. The growers have hit the fields and lifted a lot of beets over the past 4 days."

Braem said yields are averaging about 15 1/2 tons. That's a little below average, but it's not bad given a too-wet spring and summer, which along with disease claimed about 11 percent of the crop.

"Sugar content's been good," Braem added. "I would say we'll end up right around 17 1/2 percent."

When it's all said and done, the success of this year's growing season will range from poor to good, depending on the location of a given farm, Andrich concluded.

"It's hard to generalize this year. If it wasn't the weather, it was disease, and if it wasn't disease, it was (corn) borers," she said, noting some farmers were also hit hard by summer hail storms.

Farming is always a gamble, Andrich acknowledged, "but this year has been trying to say the least. I feel sorry for the guys."

TUSCOLA COUNTY'S dry bean crop emerged a real winner this year, despite farmers' battles with flooding, disease and pests. Farmers continue to make progress on soybeans (above) and beets, and will soon focus their attention on corn.

Mandy and Jeffery Draper

Nizzola, Draper wed in Millington church

Mandy Kaye Nizzola, daughter of Edward and Sandra Nizzola of Cass City, and Jeffery Duane Draper, son of Carl and Pam Henne of Clarkston and Arland and Mary Draper of Mayville, were married Saturday, Aug. 24, at the St. Paul Lutheran Church in Millington. The Rev. John Koczman officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory gown with a Queen Anne neckline with long fitted sleeves and a heart cut out in the back. It featured a layered peplum at the waistline flowing down the back to a full cathedral train. A headband of sequins secured the elbow-length veil.

The bride carried a bouquet of star gazer lilies, burgundy roses, ivory mini carnations, stefanotis, Plumosa fern and ivy. The bride's bouquet and bridesmaids' arm bouquets were designed by the groom's aunt, Connie Damm of Millington.

Maid of honor was Elizabeth Hall of Cass City. Bridesmaids were Melanie Nizzola, sister of the bride, Marideth Angle of Deford, Andrea Cooper, Amy Burns and Janice Doerr of Cass

City. They all wore burgundy crepe floor-length dresses featuring Princess style necklines with ivory Venice lace at the bodice and an ivory chiffon bow at the back with a keyhole open back.

Best man was James Ackerman of Gagetown. Groomsmen were Alan Draper of Millington, brother of the groom; Ed Nizzola of Cass City, brother of the bride; Craig Petzold and Ryan Damm of Millington, cousins of the groom, and Dave Doerr of Cass City.

Ushers were Ed Nizzola and Eric Draper of Millington, brother of the groom.

After the ceremony the reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Caro with 300 friends and relatives attending from Michigan, Ohio, Florida, New York and New Jersey.

The bride is a graduate of Cass City High School and now is a student at GMI in Flint. She co-ops for Delphi Chassis in Milford.

The groom is also a graduate of Cass City High School and works for Arland Draper Masonry of Mayville.

The couple honeymooned in the Traverse City area.

News from Owendale

OWENDALE WOMEN

The October meeting of the Owendale Women's Club was held Monday evening at the home of Jeannette McDonald with 7 members and 3 guests present.

The program for the evening was a display of several miniature structures by Eva Sheutelt on behalf of her daughter, Kathy, who made the many doll houses, mini village and a barn featuring very small details in unique displays.

During the business meeting, conducted by President Joyce Sheldon, the group gave a donation to the Huron County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The Red Cross came to the aid of victims of an apartment building fire in the village recently where 10 families were in need of their assistance.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Sheldon and the auction item was purchased by Bonnie Gaeth. A dessert was served by the hostess and co-hostess Alice Ricker.

The November meeting will be at the school with the program being homemade Christmas angels to be made by the group with the help of Joyce Sheldon.

A birthday supper at the Scott Gaeth home Sunday was held in honor of son Matt's 12th birthday. Attending were great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Joles and Mrs. Helen MacCallum, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gaeth. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Adams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wright and Paul MacCallum.

Paternal grandparents are Jeff and Wendy Matthews of Deford. Paternal great-grandmothers are Mrs. Nora Cole of Deford and Mrs. Sarah Matthews of Port Huron.

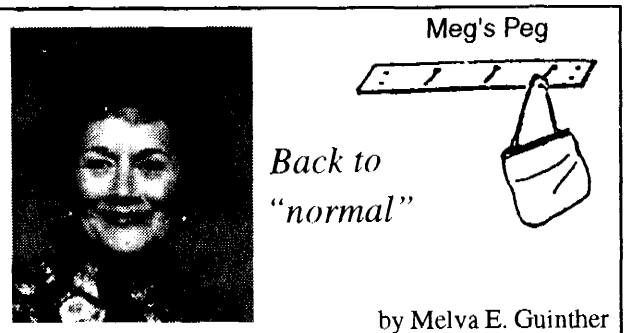

Susan and Neil Schubel

Papp-Schubel vows exchanged in Caro

Susan Renee Papp and Neal Breakie Schubel were married in a 5 p.m. ceremony Aug. 24 at the United Methodist Church in Caro. The Rev. Calvin Blue officiated.

The bride's parents are Stephen and Lois Papp of Cass City. The groom's parents are Harry and Catherine Schubel of Caro.

Matron of honor was Andrea Newvine of Saginaw and maid of honor was Melinda Papp of Pigeon, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Sharon Hergenreder of Kingston, sister of the bride; Lori Weiss of Unionville, sister of the bride; Francis Papp of Virginia, cousin of the bride, Cathy Rousseau of Saginaw and Amy Pekusen of Saginaw. Flower girl was Allison Hergenreder of Kingston, the bride's niece.

Well, now that the election's over, we can get back to the usual commercials. All those political ads were getting pretty tiresome. Now the people in the regular product commercials are folks you can relate to. Look at the unfortunate fellow in the car pool who had no Imodium A-D. Who can't feel for him?

Look at the other guys in the car pool who were all late for work after making all those unscheduled stops. What a way to start the day!

Or take that poor over-the-hill dad whose son beat him at hoops. Man! That's gotta hurt. Fortunately his wife is sensitive to his needs and whips up a powdered drink mix.

As soon as he downs it he's "ready for another game", and you just know that young whippersnapper won't get the best of old dad this time!

One product we have to try is Create A Meal. That couple whose kids have left home really know how to have a good time.

Our kids have been gone for years, and frankly, fixing dinner just isn't all that exciting at our house.

In fact, we didn't have as much fun as that couple does before we had kids. If Create A Meal can put that much spice into life, we'd better stock up.

Another dandy is the guy stopped by a policeman who can't believe the photo on his driver's license is the same guy. (He's been coloring his hair and looks sooo much younger.)

The cop gets so excited, wondering if it will work for him, that you know he's going to rush right to the store and then home to keep that gray from sneaking up on him. And there's no way he's going to give the guy a ticket.

Yeah, right. A "Frank and Ernest" cartoon a while back had Frank telling the saleslady at the toiletry counter, "I forget what the TV commercial called it, but you spray it all over you and suddenly you're in a tuxedo with a very attractive woman."

That's the mentality that most of the TV commercials seem to afford the viewer. Some are better than others, though. One that I think is kind of cute shows the dog getting blamed for the garbage mess which was actually created by the cat. After considering his options, he snatches up the Polaroid and snaps the cat in the garbage act.

When the mistress arrives home, he's sitting there with the evidence in his mouth. Even before the election hype ended, the commercials began that are so artfully designed to tell us what toys the kids MUST HAVE this year. Can the Clapper and Chia Pet be far behind?

We already know it's going to be a Toy Story Christmas at the Guinthers'. Grandson Drew has fallen in love with Buzz Lightyear, and he didn't even see the movie. He wants to wear his Toy Story pajamas every night, and Buzz was the first thing on his Christmas list.

Oh well, isn't that what grandparents are for? We gripe about commercials, but the truth is that they're big business, they must get results, and they do serve a purpose.

Without them, those trips to the frig and the bathroom would have to be planned in advance.

It's a girl!

Rebecca Elizabeth Graff

Rebecca Elizabeth Graff was born at Saginaw General Hospital Oct. 14. She weighed 7 pounds, 4 ounces, and was 19 1/2" long. She is the daughter of Christopher and Barbara Graff of Cass City.

Grandparents are Jim and Marilyn Young of Caro, and Art and Carolyn Graff, of Caro. Great-grandparents are Pete Bungart of Caro, and Grace Graff of Palms.

The parents were told a year ago that they would not have children, but the doctors were wrong, the parents said.

According to AAA, Michigan's top winter destination is Orlando, Fla., regardless if you travel by air or auto. After that the top spots change depending on the mode of travel. By air the next 4 hot spots are Tampa, Phoenix, Ft. Myers and Ft. Lauderdale. By land it's Myrtle Beach, Traverse City, "up north" and Tennessee. These figures are based on 1995 air reservations and Triptik routings. Naturally it doesn't include most of us who just do our thing and get up and go.

High School Proficiency Test

Last March, our eleventh grade students as well as all other Juniors throughout Michigan were administered the High School Proficiency Test (HSPT) for the first time. The test was designed to measure individual student skill levels in the areas of Reading, Writing, Science and Mathematics. The HSPT statewide results have been compiled and distributed to all school districts. Cass City High School students scored above the state average in all four testing areas. This is an accomplishment that not many Michigan school districts can report. In the upper Thumb, which consists of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties, there are a total of 24 K-12 school districts. Of these 24 schools, only Cass City and one other district were able to report that all four subjects tested were above the state average. We are very appreciative of our staff's efforts and proud of our students' performance. Though these results were positive, we must continue to strive for excellence.

Questions can be sent to me at 4868 N. Seeger St., Cass City, MI 48726. Thank you!

Veterans to set up flag display

Weather permitting, members of VFW Post 3644, Cass City, will put up their 160-flag memorial display on Veterans' Day, Monday, Nov. 11.

Work will start at about 7:30 a.m. Part of the display will be set up in front of Cass City Middle School, where the post will raise morning colors to begin the school day.

VFW members said they would welcome anyone willing to help in erecting the display.

The Haire Net

Some of the faces have changed. The organizations are different, or at least carry different names. The problems haven't changed at all.

I was at a meeting of concerned industrial and Cass City business people Wednesday night. It's not a non-profit corporation run by its stockholders any more. It's now the Cass City Development Corp. run under the auspices of the Cass City Village Council. It's not a division of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce now, it's the Downtown Development Association.

The meeting called under the banners of the CCDC and DDA was to determine how best to promote Cass City.

Truthfully, there wasn't much that was new, ideas that weren't brought forth in similar meetings about 15 and 25 years ago.

The same questions broached in earlier meetings remain, what can we do to spruce up the business community and how can we attract more industry to create more jobs in the community.

The answers are unchanging. The consensus at the meeting was that word of mouth by people in the community was the most effective of several ways to promote growth.

There's a tendency to be a little pessimistic about it all because results have been like a seeping spring, not a rushing river.

If you go back to the mid-fifties and compare, there has been progress. Before Anrod Screen Cylinder came to town just after the Nestles plant closed, there was not one industry in Cass City.

It was through the direct efforts of a group essentially just like the one that met last Wednesday that Anrod was enticed to come to town. Certainly Walbro fits that category, as does Hills and Dales General Hospital as well as others.

It's impossible to say that the problems were greater before industry came to town than they are today. Back then we were a more agricultural centered community with more small farms and more farm customers for our businesses. The big chains were only in the cities.

The DDA will have perhaps $60,000 to use for the improvement of the retail business community.

Suggestions have floated around on the way to make the business district more attractive for shoppers.

It would be interesting to hear from you about it. We'll publish all signed, non-libelous letters or, if you desire, forward them unpublished to the DDA.

Finally we have proof: Housework can be hazardous to one's health.

A study by Ohio State University sociologists, Catherine Ross and John Mirowsky, suggests that women (and presumably men) who work at home are more prone to illness than those employed outside the home.

This research involved a random sample of 1497 women and showed the health of housewives deteriorated slightly over one year, while the health of women who work outside the home did not.

"Obviously it is better to be employed in a safe workplace than a risky one. But our results indicate much greater risks to women's health from homemaking than from the average full-time job," Ross and Mirowsky wrote.

I can relate to that. I've been working at home for more than 10 years, and I don't see anything safe about it.

Nothing is more frightening than a load of dishwasher soap in the clothes washer or the image of your kids unhooking the smoke detectors every time you cook a roast?

The Ohio State report doesn't say why men were excluded from the study. My guess is men were left out because they avoid sociologists better than women do.

Several theories have come forth to explain results from the homemaker study. One school of thought says housewives are under more stress and have less control over their lives than women who work outside the home. Another suggests housework makes people crazy, and that makes them sick.

A few people have suggested housework may not be the problem at all. They say housewives (and house husbands) may smoke more, exercise less, and eat more bon bons; and this would make them less healthy.

These folks have promised to clarify their remarks - after the bandages have been removed.

I personally think the "work at home, don't work at home" argument has been greatly over-played. The old belief that wives should remain barefoot and pregnant has gone the way of the Dodo bird.

Everybody knows a woman needs shoes, for heavens sakes; and modern birth control methods have assured they don't get pregnant nearly as easy as they used to.

Now that the majority of homemakers have been liberated, the stigma of working at home has largely disappeared, in my opinion.

The onus of having one's wife work outside the home has faded, also.

I'm reminded of a friend whose wife teaches school (as mine does). This fellow and his wife were married only a couple of years when his new bride asked, "Does it bother you that I make more money than you do?"

"Heck, no!" he said. "I don't mind. You can get a second job if you want to."

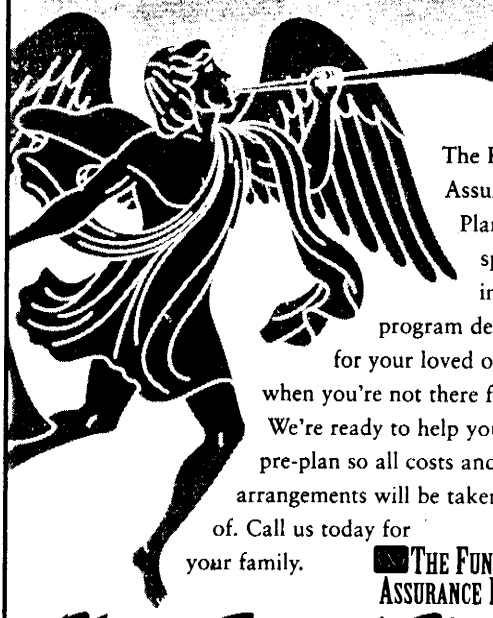

Monroe, Foote take part in co-op program

A total of 161 students, including 2 from the Cass City area, participated in the co-operative education program for summer term through Michigan Technological University's career center.

The area students are Darcie Monroe, Gaytown, who worked in metallurgical engineering at Climax Research Services, Farmington Hills, and Jeromie Foote, who worked in mechanical engineering at Michigan Scientific Corporation in Charlevoix.

Co-op programs require 2 terms of work in a student's area of study, and a final written report. Each term is worth a pair of general elective credits. The terms may be consecutive or alternating, with one report after 2 consecutive terms or one report after each alternating term.

German exchange student

Horn: "Everything is good"

Andrea Horn could be a typical American teen. She loves high school sports, shopping and a good soap opera, and she can't wait to get her driver's license.

She isn't American, but the exchange student, here from Wiesbaden, Germany, isn't unlike her classmates at Cass City High School.

Horn arrived here Aug. 21 for a 10-month stay through the Educational Resource Development Trust. She is being hosted by Dean and JoAnn Rasmussen of Cass City.

Horn has already graduated from high school in her home town, but she is attending classes at the local high school.

And that's where she has discovered some of the biggest differences between her home and host countries. In German schools, for example, Horn said there are sports clubs, but school teams don't exist. Still, she's enjoyed attending football games, and singing with the choir at basketball games.

"In Germany, we can't choose our subjects," Horn pointed out, adding she enjoyed having a choice this year, and she took advantage of the opportunity by taking choir, which was not available at her high school.

She's also taking Spanish, having already mastered English. "I like different languages," said the 17 year old, who also speaks Italian and French, as well as her native German.

"She knew it — slang and all, when she came here," JoAnn said of Horn's command of English.

"You learn it in school, but the European schools just teach the British English," Horn said, noting television and her friends back home helped her to hone her American English skills.

Horn has noticed other differences in attending school here, including the way class schedules are organized. In Germany, she explained, high school classes are set up more like American universities. And, she added, "We don't have to walk from room to room there — the teachers are walking."

The school hour is also shorter (45 minute periods), as are the school days (8 a.m. to noon or 1 p.m.). However, students attend year-round, taking several mini-vacations, ranging from one to 6 weeks, during the year.

As for American teenagers, Horn observed there are very few differences between young people here and in Germany, although laws governing what they can and can't do vary.

"They have to be 18 (years old) to go into a video store,"

JoAnn said.

"But only 16 to smoke and drink," Horn added. The German said teens also aren't allowed to get their driver's license until they're 18, and even then the cost is high, about $2,000 to cover expenses, including tuition at a special school.

Horn hopes to take driver's education classes before heading back home. She also plans to accompany her host family on a visit to Frankmuth.

She recalled riding through Michigan's "Little Bavaria" after arriving in Cass City, and indicated all the lights were a bit of a surprise for her.

Lights aren't part of the Christmas celebration in Germany, she said. "We have Christmas, but it isn't that big like here. We have a tree and presents, but that's it. We put a tree up one or 2 days before Christmas, and then one or 2 days after Christmas we throw it out.

Germans don't celebrate Halloween or Thanksgiving, according to the teen, who said the big celebration of the year is held Dec. 31-Jan. 1, and is marked by fireworks displays and big parties complete with food and loud music.

Horn has already begun to learn about some American customs first hand, including the art of celebrating Halloween. She said she dressed up as a ghoulish "dead German" and took her host siblings, Jordyn, 2 1/2, and Shane, one, trick-or-treating. She noted she's used to living with young children. She has a younger sister and 2 older brothers, all adopted, and her family took care of a total of 16 different foster children while she was growing up.

JoAnn indicated Horn, the couple's fourth exchange student, seems to be enjoying herself.

"Shopping — she spends a lot of money," she added. "She picks up the Enquirer every week, and she picked up on 'Days of Our Lives' real fast."

"Everything is good," concluded Horn, who indicated she hopes to have a better understanding of America when she returns home. "I hope my English is going to be more good. I hope to know the culture better."

GERMAN EXCHANGE student Andrea Horn, 17, holds some German cookbooks, while host sibling Jordyn, 2 1/2, displays a loaf of stollen bread sent by Horn's family back home in Wiesbaden. Horn is staying with the Dean and JoAnn Rasmussen family in Cass City during her 10-month visit to the United States.

Not forgotten

Service honors memory of loved ones

The pain from the loss of a loved one doesn't magically disappear when the funeral is over.

In fact, the grieving process continues long after, which is why Debra Kranz organized a Service of Remembrance and Celebration last year in Cass City. More than 100 people attended the special service, held in November.

Kranz, owner of Little & Kranz Funeral Home, Cass City, hopes this year's event, slated for Nov. 10 at 3 p.m. at the United Methodist Church of Cass City, 4446 Ale St., will be even more well received.

"I started out inviting every family that I've taken care of, but I've basically opened it up to anyone who's experienced the death of a loved one, or a friend or to show support of a friend who has experienced a loss; to remember someone they've loved," Kranz said.

The purpose of the special service, she explained, is to give people the opportunity to remember their loved ones.

"Death and grief is the one thing we all have in common, no matter what our religious beliefs," she said. "I think it's important that we come together to show our love and support."

"It's another chance to publicly grieve, to publicly remember, and it's a time we can bring people together who have similar pain.

"One thing I think is important is that we let the survivor know it's OK that they still feel pain," Kranz added. The service, which will last an hour or less, consists of music, readings and floral tributes, in which survivors are invited to place a flower in a basket in remembrance of a loved one.

"I try to involve as many clergy as will participate. I think it's important that we come together as a community."

The floral tribute provided perhaps the most touching moment during last year's service, Kranz recalled. "It was just the most moving experience. They need to be able to remember again."

"The (response) last year was very, very positive. I had people drive from as far as the Ohio border," she said. "I hope it's even bigger this year and more people will come."

Octagon Barn auction next week

The second annual Octagon Barn Benefit Auction will be held next week.

The auction is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 13, starting at 7 p.m. at Northwood Shores Restaurant in Cass City. Refreshments will be served. Admission is $5 in advance or $6 at the door.

"It's mostly drawings and paintings," Pat Smith, a member of the Friends of the Octagon Barn Committee, said of the items to be auctioned off.

"We have 22 pictures from the (Octagon Barn) calendar — the originals, and we've got several water colors, a painted hand saw, circular saw blades that have been painted, and we have aerial photos of the barn."

Last year's inaugural auction, held in conjunction with the annual Octagon Barn Festival in Gagetown, generated about $1,000.

"We're hoping to double that this year, but we need people to buy tickets and come," Smith said.

All of the proceeds from the auction will go towards efforts to preserve the barn.

The historical structure has been prepared for another winter, according to Smith, who said the Friends of the Octagon Barn now plan to focus on additional roof repairs.

Tickets to the auction are available by contacting Smith at 872-5125 or Norma Wallace at 872-2657, at Community Bank in Caro, or at First of America Bank or Nel's Kitchen, both located in Gagetown.

O-G girls fall to Wesleyan, post easy win over Peck

North Branch Wesleyan provided no treats for Coach Dean Roller's lady Bulldogs Halloween night as the Eagles halted Owen-Gage's 4 game win streak.

Valerie Curell's game high 16 points led the hosts to a low scoring 40-35 non-conference win.

Earlier in the week, on Tuesday, Owen-Gage had an easy time with North Central Thumb League foe Peck and recorded a 60-36 victory in their final home league tilt. The Bulldogs are scheduled to meet North Huron Thursday.

Nominate Powers for athletic award

Katherine Powers, a senior at Owen-Gage High School, has been nominated for the 1996 Wendy's High School Heisman Award.

The national awards program recognizes the accomplishments of high school senior men and women who excel in academics, athletics and community involvement.

More than 20,000 schools were invited to nominate students. Entries will be evaluated by a scholastic review service to narrow the field to 1,020 state finalists and then to 102 state award winners, including the District of Columbia.

Twelve national finalists will be invited to New York City to participate in the day in their final NCTL bout. Against the Eagles, Sandy Hable and Bulldog Melissa Vargo traded a pair of baskets in the maiden quarter, which ended with the hosts in front 11-8.

Coach Paul Lepor's Eagles were able to build a 23-17 margin by the intermission as Curell started to heat up from the perimeter.

Curell gave the hosts their biggest lead early in the 3rd stanza as she connected on a pair of shots from behind the 3-point arc.

Trailing 31-19, Owen-Gage crawled back into the contest with 5 field goals in the paint area from seniors Jennifer Winchester and Kate Powers. Wesleyan held Owen-Gage to 8 points in the final stanza to preserve the win.

"Their quickness gave us lots of trouble," said Roller. Against Peck, Owen-Gage jumped out front 16-9 and never looked back.

Owen-Gage increased their advantage to 32-15 by the break as Powers tallied 11 of her game high 17 points.

Owen-Gage put all doubts of the game's outcome to rest in the 3rd period as they held Peck to only 6 points during the frame.

Besides Powers, Owen-Gage had Tonya Smith, with 16 points, and Vargo, with 10, in double digits. Beth Nickerson finished with 9 points for the winners.

"Melissa had a nice game for us off the bench," said

O-G ends down football year

Owen-Gage ended a long gridiron season Friday at Mio, suffering a 45-6 defeat. The loss puts rookie Coach Doug Hassler's Bulldogs in the record books with a 1-8 mark.

Mio drew first blood in the non-league tilt when Jeff McMullin found pay dirt from 21 yards out. The kick for point after ended the first Roller.

CHAMPIONSHIP SQUAD - There appears to be a bright hoop future for the O-G basketball team. The Bulldogs have a long history of success in girls' basketball and it appears as if the tradition will continue. Front row, from left: Sarah Rievert, Ashley Adams, Melissa Ziehm, Dawn Enderle. Back row: Coach Brian Wright, Jenna Root, Erin Salcido and Stefanie Lowry.

Tournament winners

O-G hoop future bright

There appears to be a bright future for hoop teams at Owen-Gage, judging by the results compiled this year by the 7th and 8th grade teams.

The Bulldogs recently capped a great season by winning a tournament at Akron. The girls defeated Kingston, 28-24, in the finals after topping Caseville, 30-21, in the opening round. Erin Salcido scored 27 points in the 2 games and Melissa Ziehm netted 17.

In the regular season the girls defeated North Huron, 38-17 and 25-21, and Akron, 26-9 and 25-7. Caseville was defeated, 21-9 and 18-14.

The only loss of the season was to Immanuel Lutheran's 8th grade team, 35-20. O-G's 7th grade defeated the Lutherans, 41-17.

During the year Salcido scored 122 points.

CASS CITY'S Chad Diegel (#11) and Matt Oesch (#7) bring down Harbor Beach's Rob Behnke during Friday night's season-ending contest in Harbor Beach. Behnke rushed for more than 200 yards and scored 4 touchdowns in the Pirates' 32-14 win over the Red Hawks.

Hawks grid team ends positive year with loss to Harbor Beach

The final football game of the season proved to be a microcosm of the season for the Cass City Red Hawks. The Hawks bowed to Harbor Beach, which was simply too strong for his team, Coach Tom Oesch said after the 32-14 loss to the Pirates Friday. But like it has all season, the team played hard even though it was behind 20-0 at the half and the Beachers clearly were dominating the game.

While a 4 win, 5 loss season is not one that will be fondly remembered, it was a positive one for Hawk fans. It came on the heels of a 1-8 season and a program that was in shambles.

We need to be stronger, Oesch said, as he assessed the season, and spend time in the weight room to get where we want to be.

Harbor Beach won the game the old fashioned way, playing smash mouth football behind its big line and the power running of Rob Behnke, 230-pound back. The Pirates netted 374 yards all on the ground.

Harbor Beach scored twice in the first quarter. Behnke capped a 59-yard drive, going over from the one.

Later in the period Behnke broke loose for 50 yards in the key play in a drive that covered 65 yards.

The winners made it 20-0 at the half. Behnke scored from 13 yards out.

Oesch said that it spoke volumes for his players that they refused to fold in the last half even though the game was out of reach and there was nothing at stake in the game.

Cass City got on the scoreboard on a 70-yard screen pass from Chad Diegel to Matt Oesch in the third quarter. Diegel then hit Ryan Brinkman for the extra points.

That touchdown was one of 2 that the Hawks scored in the last half to match a pair of scores registered by Harbor Beach.

The second Hawk TD came on a 24-yard run by Oesch.

Leading the offense for Cass City were Oesch, with 53 yards in 8 carries, and Ryan Brinkman, with 52 yards in 5 attempts.

On defense, Tim Spencer was credited with 14 tackles. Oesch had 12 and Chris Hahn and Diegel, 10 tackles each.

Coach Oesch said that he was very pleased with the leadership shown by the seniors on the team and hoped that next year's seniors would provide similar leadership.

It was the final game for 9 seniors. They are: Oesch, Diegel, Hahn, Matt Klinkman, Spencer, Chad Middaugh, Ray Meredith, Josh Little and Dennis Pisha.

Cass City wins pair

Hoop team to challenge leaders

It's showdown time for the Cass City Red Hawk basketball team. Time for the Hawks to show that they belong among the top teams in both divisions of the Thumb C League.

It will be decided by the results of the final 3 games. Thursday the Hawks play at Bad Axe and next Tuesday, at National Division leader Bay City All Saints. A Hawk win would enable Lakers (6-2) to gain a share of the title. The last game of the regular season pits the Hawks against Harbor Beach (16-1), the leader of the Thumb American Division. Cass City stretched its winning streak to 6 in a row last week with easy wins over the Caro Tigers, 57-32, and Marlette, 43-30.

The Marlette Red Raiders fell before a strong third quarter surge by Cass City after one of the team's typical slow first halves, which have plagued the team all year.

The second quarter was especially frustrating to Cass City. The team's total point output was a basket and 2 free throws by Kara Mellendorf.

The output negated a fairly decent first period for Cass City, which jumped off to a 13-10 lead in the first 8 minutes behind 3 baskets by Shelly Ulfig. At the half the host Raiders were in front 18-17.

The third period has belonged to Cass City most of the year and it certainly did against Marlette. While the Raiders shut down Cass City's inside game, the Hawks countered with some fine shooting from 3-point range. Ashlie Chappel whipped in 3 treys and Lindsay Maharg added another while the Marlette offense went into the deep freeze.

Going into the final quarter, the Hawks were in front 33-23. The teams played on near even terms the rest of the way and the Hawks chalked up their second win of the year over Marlette. Cass City's scoring was well divided, with Ulfig, 12, and Mellendorf, 10, in double figures. Melanie Pushing scored 12 for the losers.

first 3 periods before Coach Jim Mastie made sure that everyone saw action.

Ulfig netted 8 points in the second period to lead the Hawks to a 28-17 half-time advantage. The Hawks continued to pull away in the last half, leading 42-25 going into the fourth quarter and adding to the margin with a 15-7 advantage in the final 8 minutes.

CARO GAME

Cass City jumped off to an 11-2 lead in the first 6 minutes of the game against the Caro Tigers and were in control the rest of the way.

A sophomore and a senior had much to do with the Hawks' win. The senior was Peyton Daniel, who was a tiger on defense and a force at point guard. She was credited with 3 steals and close guarding at the point helped disrupt the Tiger offense. On the offensive end she chalked up 8 assists.

The sophomore was Ulfig, who was on the receiving end of some great Daniel passes. She scored 22 points. All of her points were scored in the Curriculum implementation

Select O-G for Huron pilot project

The Owendale-Gagetown Area Schools have been selected by the Huron Intermediate School District as one of 5 pilot schools participating in a regional Goals 2000 curriculum implementation project.

Huron County ISD, in conjunction with educational partners Saginaw Valley State University, Bay-Arenac ISD, Clare-Gladwin ISD and Tuscola County ISD, received a grant to support collaboration in developing a curriculum implementation assurance model.

Schools involved in this project will develop a process to provide assurance to parents and community members that locally adopted curriculum aligns with state goals and standards and is being effectively implemented in each classroom.

Based on the National Education Goals 2000, the Michigan Department of Education grant addresses the following national goals for teaching and learning:

- *Student Achievement and Citizenship — By the year 2000, all students will leave grades 4, 8 and 12 having demonstrated competency over challenging subject matter including English, mathematics, science, foreign languages, civics and government, economics, arts, history and geography, and every school in America will ensure that all students learn to use their minds well, so they may be prepared for responsible citizenship, further learning, and productive employment in our nation's economy.
- *Teacher Education and Professional Development — By the year 2000, the nation's teaching force will have access to programs for the continued improvement of their professional skills and the opportunity to acquire the knowledge and skills needed to instruct and prepare all American students for the next century.

At Owendale-Gagetown Area Schools, the staff will be focusing on the language arts curriculum. Teachers and administrators will be provided with ongoing professional development which supports curriculum implementation.

A leadership series for all school districts within the 4 intermediate school district region will be offered to superintendents, principals, curriculum directors and school improvement chairpersons.

Cass City Girl Scouts active in many community projects

Cass City Girl Scouts have been very active since September. Junior Troop 221 and Brownie Troop 1081 went horseback riding. The Junior troop earned the Horse Lover's badge and the Brownie troop completed one of the bridging to Juniors requirements. Troop 221 also donated craft items they made to the library sale, went to Scream In The Night with troop 958 in Midland, and attended Camp Fowler with Troop 151 for fall camp.

Brownie troop 151 has made decorations for the Community Thanksgiving Dinner and baked goods for the library sale. This troop also hosted a Halloween party and Cookie Kick-off Oct. 28. Approximately 107 scouts and family members met at the VFW hall to play games, take part in a costume contest and donated needed health and food items to the families in Owendale who lost their homes in a recent fire. The Cookie Kick-off portion of the evening consisted of cookie tasting, handing out the cookie order forms and explaining the rules of the sale.

The cookie sale is being held Nov. 1 through Nov. 17. Delivery to customers will be Dec. 7 to Dec. 15. The money the girls earn is used to pay for camp, community service projects, field trips and badges.

Upcoming events include The Mitten Tree, which is the collection of mittens to be donated to the local schools. The girls will also be Christmas caroling at Tendercare.

Attention Farmers and Business Owners

Uncle Sam is giving small businesses another retirement plan to choose from.

Now which way do you go?

Attend one of the two SEMINARS to find out.

A Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant can help you understand which option is right for your business, and what you may need to decide by the end of the year.

Congress recently enacted legislation that replaces the SARSEP retirement plan with the SIMPLE (Savings Incentive Match Plan for Employees) plan.

Unfortunately, the creation of the SIMPLE plan won't necessarily make it easy for small business owners to decide which plan to offer: 401(k), 403(b), SEP, SARSEP, Profit Sharing, Defined Contribution or SIMPLE? There are a lot of issues to consider - cost, tax savings, investment choices.

A Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant, backed by business retirement plan specialists, is fully equipped to help you sort through the options. They can help small for-profit and not-for-profit companies select the best retirement plan for the company and its employees.

For more information, call your local Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant for our recent report on the new legislation. You can also visit our Business Planning Center at our Internet site: <http://www.ml.com>

Smith sentenced in shooting

A Cass City man charged with firing shots at a neighbor's home last June was sentenced last week in Tuscola County Circuit Court to 2 years probation and 180 days in jail.

Roger C. Smith, 29, was also ordered to pay $1,000 in court costs and fines plus $720 in oversight fees and a $60 victim crime fee.

Smith previously pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of felonious assault and resisting and obstructing a police officer. He was originally charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the June 25 incident in Novesta Township.

According to reports filed at the Michigan State Police post in Caro, Smith fired 15 rounds at the George Mester residence, 5244 Shabbona Rd., with a Chinese assault rifle.

No one was home at the time of the shooting. However, reports state Smith then walked to the nearby home of Mester's brother, Charles, and fired another 15 rounds at a detached garage where several of Mester's friends and relatives were standing. No one was injured.

OTHER PROCEEDINGS

In other circuit court proceedings last week:

•Lisa L. Kortman, 26, was sentenced to 2 years probation and 30 days in jail, with work release, for her plea of guilty to embezzlement between May 10, 1995, and Jan. 18, 1996, in Caro.

She was also ordered to undergo substance abuse counseling and pay $200 in costs and fines plus attorneys fees, $27,064 in restitution, $240 in oversight fees and a $40 victim crime fee.

•Ronald C. Christian, 20, Caro, pleaded guilty to grand larceny and conspiracy to commit grand larceny Sept. 22 in Caro.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered. Sentencing was scheduled for Dec. 6.

•Timothy J. Ziegler, 40, Vassar, entered a plea of guilty to possession with intent to deliver marijuana, and fleeing and eluding police July 2 in Denmark Township.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bond was continued at $7,500. Sentencing was scheduled for Dec. 13.

•Edward C. Eddy, 23, Mayville, pleaded guilty to attempted possession with intent to deliver marijuana July 22 in Fremont Township.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered, bond was continued at $2,000 and the defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. Sentencing was scheduled for Dec. 13.

•Ryan D. Malkowski, 18,

Mayville, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering and larceny in a building last December in Dayton Township.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bond was continued at $5,000. Sentencing was scheduled for Dec. 13.

•Todd A. Sefton, 18, Mayville, pleaded guilty to larceny over $100 and conspiracy to commit larceny Sept. 22 in Caro.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bond was continued at $6,000. Sentencing was scheduled for Dec. 13.

•Lewis E. Henderson Jr., 39, Rowlett, Texas, pleaded guilty to failure to pay child support since Aug. 30, 1995.

Henderson was remanded to custody of the sheriff's department. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bond was set at $500. Sentencing was scheduled for Dec. 20.

•Daniel R. Lankey, 18, Detroit, was sentenced to 180 days in jail for his plea of guilty to attempted absconding or forfeiting bond May 31 in Caro. He was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department.

•Cecil M. Randall, 37, Caro, pleaded innocent to a charge of third degree criminal sexual conduct allegedly involving a victim at least 13 years of age but under 16 years July 19 in Caro.

A motion to conduct a forensic exam of the defendant was granted by the court.

•Chad C. Williams, 23, Vassar, pleaded guilty to probation violation — failure to report to his supervising probation agent.

Williams' pre-sentence investigation report was ordered updated. Sentencing is to be set.

•Ryan N. Sholes, 20, Caro, pleaded innocent to unlawfully driving away an automobile Oct. 7 in Indianfields Township.

A pre-trial hearing is to be scheduled in the case. Bond was continued at $5,000.

•Troy E. Giddings, 21, Millington, was sentenced to 2 years probation and 180 days in jail, with work release, for his plea of guilty to fourth degree criminal sexual conduct Oct. 20, 1995, in Millington.

Giddings was ordered to undergo mental health counseling and pay $300 in costs and fines plus attorneys fees and a $60 victim crime fee.

•Vernon E. Clapsaddle, 36, Cass City, was sentenced to 365 days in jail, with work release, for his plea of guilty to operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, third offense, Aug. 11 in Cass City.

He was ordered to pay $1,500 in costs and fines plus attorneys fees.

•Charles Johnson, 50, Caro, pleaded guilty to aggravated stalking last June/July in Caro.

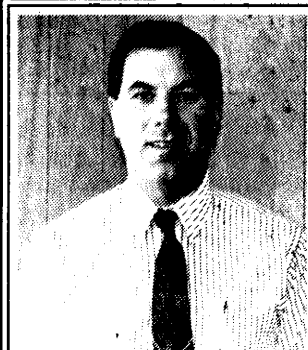

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for the defendant, who was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. Sentencing is to be set.

Card of Thanks

WE WOULD LIKE to thank those who sent us cards or called to wish us a happy 62nd wedding anniversary. Clifford and Thelma Jackson. 13-11-6-1n

I, GRACE NEMETH, and my family wish to thank Rev. Garrett and Rev. Sheppard for their visits and prayers. The church family for their love, prayers, flowers and cards. One never knows how many friends one has till a crisis arises. A special thanks to the Women of the Moose Lodge #940 Caro, the planter was great. For the beautiful arrangements, cards and flowers received from the VFW Auxiliary 3644 of Cass City. To Dr. Arbabi and his crew of knowledgeable doctors, nurses, technicians and lab workers. They were fantastic. Without their hands and the Lord's, who knows what would have happened. Again I say thank you for your kindness, thoughtfulness and the food that was brought in. God bless you all. I am home now. Hope to see you soon. Grace Nemeth and Family. 13-11-6-1

Novesta history focus of meeting

The November meeting of the Watrousville/Caro Historical Society will feature the History of Novesta Township. It will be a review of the township since its inception through the present.

The township history will be given by a prominent township couple, Gerald and Elsie Hicks. Gerald, a retired dairy farmer, is a district director for the Tuscola County Soil District. He is also secretary-treasurer for the Tuscola County Soil Conservation District. Elsie Hicks retired after serving many years as Tuscola County clerk and commissioner.

The meeting will be held Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Caro Municipal Building, 317 S. State St. Refreshments will be served following the program. The public is invited to attend.

Bikers collect cash, toys

The American Bikers Aiming Towards Education (ABATE) group recently held their 6th Annual Toy Run at Ralph's Tavern in Owendale. About 75 motorcyclists donated a new toy or $10 towards the purchase of new toys.

These toys and money donations were given to the Thumb Area Family Independence Agencies of Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron counties. They will in turn wrap the gifts and purchase more and deliver them near Christmas time to needy families in each county.

The total number of toys collected this year reached over 100 and $1,050 was raised. Community donations included a check from Congressman and Mrs. Barcia. Ralph Kain and his daughter Ronda, of Ralph's Tavern, continue to support the club's efforts, promote events throughout the year and donate items each month to members.

To learn more about ABATE, the public is welcome at monthly meetings the first Sunday of each month at 4 p.m. held at Ralph's. ABATE is a non-profit organization that promotes motorcycle safety programs and is very active in legislative actions in Lansing.

Bay Shore Camp wraps up 86th season

Bay Shore Camp of Schwaig recently wrapped up its 86th season of camping ministry, having served an estimated 7,000 people, according to Lew Tibbits, longtime camp director.

Tibbits arrived at the figure by combining all camper and special event registrations, plus estimates of crowd attendance during events such as Family Assembly and the fall benefit auction. Children and youth alone accounted for 1,316 campers, while adults who volunteered as counselors numbered 304.

Bay Shore's 1996 calendar offered 11 camping sessions for youth in grades 3-12, plus retreat sessions for couples, fathers and sons, adults at or near retirement, singles and senior high students. First-time offerings in 1996 included a spring quilt show and a fall weekend for mothers and daughters.

During Bay Shore's 9-day Family Assembly, the campground operated at full capacity with each children's program, Bible study and recreational event well attended. More than 330 children were enrolled in daily programs for youngsters alone.

Barcia aide to visit

An aide to Congressman Jim Barcia will be holding constituent hours in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties next week.

Anyone with a question or concern about an issue before the U.S. House of Representatives, or who has a problem with any federal agency is encouraged to visit.

Barcia's aide will meet with constituents: *Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Huron County Courthouse, board of commissioners office, 250 E. Huron Ave., Bad Axe.

*Nov. 13 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Office, courthouse annex, 207 E. Grant St., Caro.

*Nov. 15 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Sanilac County Conference Room, 37 Austin St., Sandusky.

5 YEARS AGO

Cass City's curbside recycling program, now nearly a year old, is expected to net the village some $1,500 in its first year in proceeds from the sale of recyclables collected in the village.

Cass City High School junior Jude McNaughton was recently chosen to join the Blue Lake International Jazz Band, which is planning a 21-day European tour next summer.

The Cass City Red Hawks wrapped up their first hoop league title since 1980 with their win over Marlette Tuesday, 47-42.

The JV football team posted a perfect football record this year. Several players were cited for effort during the year. The team selected Jason Walthers, Ed Nizzola, John Phillips and Jason Morgan as honorary co-captains.

Darlene Monroe helped the Oakland University Pioneers split a pair of GLIAC matches last weekend. Monroe is second in the league in blocking and eighth in kills per game. She is a Cass City High School graduate.

10 YEARS AGO

Dennis Bartle, 32, of Cass City, was working at the Scenic Golf Course near Caseville when his leg became caught in a power take-off which was being used to run a water pump. He remains in the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

Retired Colorado deputy sheriff Bert Chase, 76, visited his "brother," Bob Neimann of Cass City last week. Bert left Cass City and headed west to become a cowboy in 1921. He returned to his old home town for the first time in 55 years.

The Elkland-Novesta United Way campaign held a kick-off dinner Oct. 29 at Charmont. Mrs. Florence Karr was presented with a plaque recognizing her long and devoted service. Karr has been treasurer for the Elkland-Novesta United Way for 6 years.

Tuscola County Sheriff Paul Berry reports that things were unusually quiet for Halloween throughout the county.

25 YEARS AGO

Dennis Gremel of Deford was driving about 3 miles west of Deford on Deckerville Road early Wednesday morning when he smelled smoke. He opened the hood to the engine and it exploded. His car was totaled by the fire.

The Cass City Red Hawks defeated the Lakers Friday night, 14-0. Tim Knoblet was responsible for a fantastic 23 tackles on defense and Chester Sieradzki made 18. In the fourth quarter, Gene Salas galloped 41 yards, breaking several tackles to score.

Cass City's coaching staff selected Bob Ross and Chester Sieradzki Red Hawk award winners for the week.

In the wake of the current ecology movement and the aspirations of individuals to do something to improve the quality of life, Lonnie Joos of rural Cass City may have part of the answer -- organic gardening. Joos, 24, has put in his first big garden this year. Organic gardening is just like most other gardening except the grower uses natural products for fertilizer instead of chemicals.

Winners have been announced for the first pumpkin carving contest sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, retail division. Winners in the $5 division are John Mocan and Duane and Wendy Smith. The Tom Herron girls won the $3 prize. Two dollar winners are: Kerri Sue LaBlanc, David Mocan, Susan and James Schott, Sue Scollon, Fred Powell, Jack Hartwick, Rusty Schneberger, Steve Ballard, Matt Prieskorn and Greg Erla.

35 YEARS AGO

Plans for a new $135,000 St. Pancratius Church building have been approved, according to Father Arnold Messing, pastor of the St. Pancratius Catholic Church, Cass City.

Mrs. Joseph Sommers, Cass City business woman, was seriously injured when she fell on a wooden stake while cleaning her outside windows Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Robert C. Hervey, Cass City veterinarian, is constructing a fallout shelter in his basement to house his wife and 3 children in the event of nuclear attack.

Secretary of State has released the names of newly appointed or reappointed notaries from Tuscola County during the third quarter of 1961. They are Ronald Geiger, Leslie E. Lounsbury and Orval Hutchinson.

Raymond M. Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fox, Cass City, was one of 8 Michigan State University Air Force ROTC cadets recently honored for outstanding performance in their summer training program.

A former Cass City merchant, Bruce W. Frantz, 38, of Algonac, died Saturday in Mt. Clemens General Hospital following a stomach operation. He was the former owner of Frantz IGA Super Market, now occupied by McArthur's Super Market. He purchased the store from G. B. Dupuis in May 1957.

Letters to the editor

On gun control issue

Need facts, not emotionalism

Dear Mr. Haire,

This letter is in regards to your anti-gun opinions as written in the Wednesday, Oct. 23, 1996 edition of the Chronicle. Your lack of common sense and logic continue to baffle me and it appears that you have replaced both (assuming you once possessed them) with paranoia and emotionalism, which conveniently avoids the necessary work of research in order to back up opinions with facts. You do recall that nasty word "fact" don't you? Liberals, especially those in the media, usually rely on emotional rhetoric and leave out common sense and/or logic. I hope you can stand a few "facts" Mr. Haire, unless you have given up on truth entirely.

FACT - - Douglas Murray of the University of Wisconsin conducted a study for that state's Council on Criminal Justice on the effect of gun control laws, waiting periods in particular, in all fifty states and concluded: "The severity of handgun control laws has no significant effect on violent crime rates...thus far, the relationship between gun laws and crime is nonexistent."

John Lennon's murderer purchased a handgun in Hawaii, a state having strict gun laws/bans, permit requirements, and registration schemes. Neither John Lennon's assassin, nor Lennon's murderer could have been "found out" under any waiting period yet devised. Laws cannot - and never could - read minds.

FACT - - As reported in the Wall Street Journal, Jan. 6, 1994 in covering a story about a Senate Judiciary Committee in August 1993, Deputy Chief Constance, Trenton, New Jersey, stated "Since police started keeping statistics, we now know that assault weapons are/ were used in an overwhelming .026 of 1 percent of crimes in New Jersey. This means that my officers are more likely to confront an escaped tiger from the local zoo than to confront an assault rifle in the hands of a drug-crazed killer on the streets."

FACT - - When the press and anti-gun advocates insinuate that semi-auto owners are, by association, no better than common criminals, law-abiding gun owners resent it. As they should.

FACT - - The National Law Journal conducted a public opinion poll in March, 1994. Among the findings of that poll are the following:

Sixty-two percent said the need for guns is increasing, and a majority is unwilling to accept laws that restrict gun ownership greatly.

As many as 85 percent said they are unwilling to forfeit basic civil liberties even if it could enhance personal safety.

Sixty-two percent of Americans said instead of more law enforcement, there is an increasing need for firearms for personal protection.

The above information was taken from a book I highly recommend that you read Mr. Haire, entitled "Guns, Crime and Freedom," written by Wayne LaPierre. If you don't have the time to look for a copy, I'll loan you mine. It is filled with FACTS, common sense and logic, not emotionalism, paranoia and unsupported rhetoric.

In closing I would like to quote author Tom Clancy:

"I submit that the actions of criminals and lunatics are irrelevant to my right to own and use firearms in pursuit of my personal enjoyment, or in pursuit of my legitimate right to self-defense...Unfortunately, many people with a morbid fear of firearms seek to expand the scope of their prejudices, attempting to enforce them upon others who do not share them."

In my opinion, many more of your readers than you believe employ common sense such as demonstrated in the above when they read your unfounded, prejudiced columns on gun control. Sincerely,

Jon Gaymer
Cass City, MI

Publisher's note: Fact, nearly every independent poll I'm aware of indicates the majority wants gun control. Let's put it to a vote?

Define 'assault weapon'

Media misleading people

Letter to the editor
(Regarding the Haire Net)

In the Oct. 23rd issue of the Chronicle, you mentioned you read an article in the Detroit News about gun control in Great Britain in which the government, in response to a slaughter of children, moved to ban most hand guns. Guns aren't banned in Great Britain. The only ones who own guns are the law abiding citizens which are less than 800. Great Britain is trying to confiscate hand guns from their law abiding citizens.

You mentioned an article on attack weapons. Just what exactly is an attack weapon? March 8, 1995, on the front of the Chronicle, a pair of Cass City Middle School students were facing charges of assault with a utility knife. Is that an assault weapon? In the Sanilac County news last week, a man is being charged with an assault on another person with a baseball bat. Is that an attack weapon? In the Oct. 2 issue of the Los Angeles Times they reported that in their city, they have a problem with golf balls. The problem is that golfers are teeing off late at night, and these balls are smashing car windows, house windows and frequently hitting people. Are these attack weapons? If these are the attack weapons that some people would like to see tougher restrictions on, we're in trouble.

You also mentioned in the Haire Net recently, that since the Brady Bill has been enacted, 60,000 people were turned down because a background check prohibited them from purchasing a hand gun.

Not true. Since the Brady Bill was enacted, 60,000 less hand guns were registered. This does not mean people were turned down, it means they were not registering their guns.

Since the Brady Bill, only 7 people were brought to trial and only 2 are in jail today. The Brady Bill will not affect Michigan in regard to the waiting day period. In Michigan we have an instant background check which the National Rifle Association stated they wanted from day one.

It seems like the media is constantly misleading people. They write articles in papers and show things on TV on what they think are right.

The only freedom of the press we have left is if you own it.

Sincerely,

Frank Kielytyka

Cass City students elect Bill Clinton, Carl Levin

Letter to Editor

On Oct. 29, 1996, the high school government classes had a student/teacher mock election. 411 people participated. The government students acted as election officials. The students were treated as though they were actually voting in a real election. The students had to register to vote and they also were added to the mock poll book to eliminate election fraud. All of this was taken very seriously.

After all the voting was finished, the government classes then had the pleasure of counting the ballots. Included on the ballot was not only the election for the President of the United States, but also electing the Senator, and choosing one thing that was most important to you. Included were such things as the economy and jobs, crime prevention, education, environment and health care.

This is how the election turned out: Bill Clinton and Al Gore won the election with 188 (48%) votes. Bob Dole and Jack Kemp came in second with 129 (33%) votes, and Ross Perot was third, winning 68 (17%) votes. Carl Levin came in first with 269 votes over Ronna Romney, who had 145 votes. Economy and jobs seemed most important to students at CCHS, winning 153 votes. Crime prevention was second with 87 votes. Education was third with 74 votes. Environment had 49 votes, and finally health care, with 32 of the votes.

After all of this was finished, the final results were sent in to CNN newroom. Clinton/Gore 55%, Dole/Kemp 33%, and Perot with 10% was the national count.

HDC slates open house at new complex

The Human Development Commission (HDC) welcomes the public to an open house of its new Green Street Senior Complex in Caro.

Festivities will take place Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m., and will feature hors d'oeuvres, tours, entertainment and fellowship.

The facility is located at 435 Green St. in the former Eagles building, across from the Walbro Technical Center. It houses HDC's Adult Day Services programs as well as the central Tuscola County kitchen which serves the Senior Dining and Home-Delivered Meal programs.

Guests will find a roomy, comfortable building with a number of special features that lend themselves well to quality service. The kitchen is appointed with cooking and refrigeration equipment sufficient to prepare some 350 to 400 meals a day, including convection oven, conventional stove, freezers, walk-in cooler, storage racks and more.

Much of this equipment has been moved from its previous location in Mayville, and joins new items needed to meet the growing demand in HDC's Nutrition Program.

On the Adult Day Services side of the building, there is a large, warm meeting room for older adults to gather and engage in stimulating activities, as well as a patio-style sun room on the front of the building. All remodeling and building tasks were performed by Cass River Enterprises, HDC's own subsidiary, with assistance from the agency's weatherization crew and other commercial sub-contractors.

The open house will allow the public to learn about HDC's programs and its many areas of service in the Thumb. Staff and board members will be on hand to answer questions, and an informational table will also be available. Additionally, the Sacred Heart Men's Choir will perform an informal half-hour concert at approximately 2 p.m.

Anyone who may wish to learn more about this open house, or any other information about the Human Development Commission, may call the agency during regular business hours at (517) 673-4121.

Cass City scholarship to honor Leone Lee Shaw

Ken Micklash, superintendent of Cass City Public Schools, has announced the establishment of a scholarship to honor Leone Lee Shaw.

Shaw, who resides in the Cass City area, received her certificate of graduation from the University of Michigan June 17, 1929. She began teaching in Cass City in 1951. During the 1958-59 school year she started teaching French, Spanish and English at Cass City High School. Currently, there are approximately 140 students enrolled in foreign language courses. The projection is for increased foreign language enrollment in upcoming years. Shaw retired in 1973 after 22 years.

Shaw required the highest standards of honor and personal ethics from her students. She believed in doing whatever was necessary in any subject to become proficient. If it is worth doing, it is worth doing well. She always believed her students would succeed.

This scholarship selection will be based on academic achievement, extracurricular activities and need. It will be awarded to a Cass City High School graduating senior enrolled in the foreign language department who plans to attend the University of Michigan.

For further information, contact Shaw's sister, Carolyn L. Nisbet, at (206) 391-7527.

Application for the $500 Leone Shaw Scholarship will be available in March of 1997 in the Cass City High School Guidance Department.

point average, and adhere to a 10 p.m. curfew.

Additional charges of conspiracy, breaking and entering and larceny, as well as malicious destruction of property — in connection with break-ins July 1 at the Ben Franklin Store in Cass City, Rolling Hills Golf Course in Cass City and Sherwood on the Hill golf course in Gageton — were dismissed under a plea bargain agreement.

Noted harpsichordist to return to Bach Festival

Layton James, harpsichordist and composer, will return to the Village Bach Festival as featured soloist in a performance of the exciting and popular "Concerto No. 1 for Harpsichord", by Johann Sebastian Bach. This concert Sunday, Dec. 1, is in the First Presbyterian Church. Additionally, James will be featured organ soloist Tuesday, Nov. 26, at the First Presbyterian Church in Caro. There, he will be joined by Cellist Brant Austin Taylor in performances of the music of J.S. Bach, Max Bruch, and Cesar Franck.

James has been a member of the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra for over 25 years and can be heard on 14 of that orchestra's recordings. He has been a soloist with the
