Brewster Shaw's son one of 2 men slain in carjacking

The family of Cass City native and former Astronaut Brewster Shaw is mourning the loss of a son who was slain along with another man in Austin, Texas, last week.

The body of Shaw's son. Brandon Shaw, 20, a University of Texas architectural engineering student, along with the body of Juan Javier Cotera, 25, a City of Austin employee, were pulled from Town Lake last Wednesday, the Associated Press reported. The 2 men, who didn't know each other, were found in the trunk of Shaw's 1982 Volvo.

A county medical examiner ruled the deaths homicide Thursday after determining the cause of death was drowning.

Shaw was the son of U.S. Air Force Col. Brewster Shaw Jr., who grew up on a Cass City area farm. He flew 3 space shuttle flights, then left the astronaut corps in 1989. He retired as director of NASA's space shuttle operations 2 years ago.

Both teenagers were in custody Thursday, charged with aggravated robbery, although police indicated they may upgrade the charges to capital murder.

A story published in the Austin American-Statesman reported Shaw and Cotera apparently were random victims of a carjacking crime spree that involved at least 6 incidents in 3 days.

The story reported Cotera was walking with a female friend to her car late Monday night, June 30, when both were abducted. The woman was allegedly sexually assaulted and tied to a tree before the suspects disappeared with Cotera. Soon after, police think Shaw's car was rammed by the suspects.

The story reported the suspects then allegedly abducted Shaw, ordered both him and Cotera into the trunk of the Volvo, drove to the edge of Town Lake and pushed the car into the wa-business.

Cass City's 19th annual Fourth of July Festival proved to be yet another success, with new events adding spice to the already exciting celebration.

Jane Hittler, a member of the Fourth of July Festival Committee, said the Festival went well overall this year, with some added activities coming off without a hitch.

The Saturday morning 5k run and one-mile walk, in its first year, was sponsored by M.A.R.C. and received excellent participation.

"That was great and that was a new thing," she said, adding the walk and run were well organized. "They even had painted arrows all through the route."

Also adding a bit of pizazz to the festival was the holein-one contest held at Northwood Golf Course. The contest was held over the weekend, with qualifying rounds taking place Friday and Saturday and the final hole-in-one contest, Saturday afternoon. And while no one scored a hole-in-one, prizes were awarded.

"Hole-in-one was a huge success," Hittler said. "They had a tremendous response." She added Saturday's grand parade was another key to the festival's success, with a good variety of floats and "Other years it had been better, but the crafters did well. They felt they were quite successful."

Hittler said the fireworks were a hit as usual and were bigger and better due to the generous contributions of area businesses and civic groups. This year $5,000 was spent on the 20-minute firework show.

"We've never spent that much, because we never had that much. This year there was a lot of generosity where (some donors) gave more," she explained.

"I encourage it and help them, but they're the ones that do it," he said.

Last year, Kate won grand champion honors for her steer as well as reserved grand champion showmanship honors. She also placed first in junior showmanship in the sheep category.

This year Kate is looking to repeat her honors, and the boys hope to receive some recognition also.

This year Paul and Joe will be showing steers and sheep, as they have for the past 3 years. Before that, they showed dairy cattle. Kate, meanwhile, will be showing a steer, dairy cattle and sheep

The DeLong siblings begin training the steers for the fair in early spring. The routine of getting the steers ready for the show begins in the morning after chores.

The animals are first brought in from the fields and tied up with their heads up, according to Joe, who explained this builds muscle in the steer, especially in the hind quarters. The steers are then let go

Paul noted it is also important how the family houses the steers. They are housed in a cool and shaded area in an effort to prevent the animals from losing their hair, which is a bit of a challenge in the middle of July when it's natural for steers to lose their hair.

The DeLongs then walk the steers every night just before "They get used to it and it's just a routine," Joe said. All this training is done in preparation for the Tuscola County Fair, among other

I've been forced to rethink my decision not to see "Les Miserables" after talking with Geraldine Prieskorn, who's seen the musical 7 times.

The Prieskorns reminded me that "Fiddler On The Roof" is essentially a sad tale, and I never miss an opportunity to see it.

So, on their recommendation, we probably will give "Les Miserables" a hearing if we get the chance. We may be pleasantly surprised.

Cass City's 19th annual July 4th Festival attracted several celebrities to the area under alias names. One was spotted playing Rolling Hills Golf Course Thursday during the festival's yearly best-ball tournament.

PAVIN ON TOUR

PAVIN IN CASS CITY.

Took in the new John Travolta and Nicolas Cage thriller, Face Off, recently. It's a good summer thriller movie, despite a dragged out chase scene in the ending. I rate it a 6 on the 1-10 scale. Could have been a 7, except the production was partially spoiled from talking kids in the row behind us. That's something that has never interfered with an evening at our own Cass Theatre in over 25 years of patronage.

There's good and bad news from the Cass City hard courts. The good news, reports varsity basketball Coach Jeff Hartel, is that for the first time in 9 years of coaching his summer troops went undefeated (10-0) during summer camp held recently at Central Michigan University.

The bad news is that Hartel now sports a new buzz-cut hairdo, courtesy of his players, for a promise made before the start of the camp if they went undefeated.

As a first-hand witness, it's certain that the Red Hawks of 1997-98 know more about hoops than hair styling.

Summer storms have hammered a number of Michigan communities in recent weeks, most notably the Detroit area, where 5 people, including 3 children, died last week when a storm picked up a pavilion they were seeking shelter under and tossed them into Lake St. Clair.

Cass City has been spared any real storm damage so far this summer, but Elkland Township Fire Chief Ron Pawloski reminds residents to be prepared just the same. In the event a funnel cloud is sighted in the immediate area, residents will hear a 3-minute blast from the fire siren, meaning everyone should take cover immediately. Three short siren blasts indicate the danger has passed.

July 4 holiday among the safest

Michigan State Police troopers at the Caro Post reported this year's 4th of July celebration was one of the safest in recent memory for Tuscola County.

Troopers responded to only 3 traffic accidents over the official weekend that began at 6 p.m. July 3. Only one of those accidents involved a minor injury.

Troopers worked 92 hours of traffic patrol over the 3day period and issued 130 traffic citations. Forty-seven speeding violations were written as well as 13 seat belt violations. Four motorists were arrested for operating under the influence of liquor and 4 others were cited for other alcohol violations. Other violations included failure to stop and yield at intersections, improper passing, equipment, and registration violations.

Troopers issued 101 motorists verbal warnings for other violations and assisted 5 motorists and were able to get them on their way safely.

In addition to traffic patrol, troopers responded to 30 complaints from Tuscola Central Dispatch and generated 28 complaints through patrol activity.

"Our personnel did a fine job of enforcing the traffic laws over the weekend.' stated F/Lt. Doug Lautner of the Caro Post. "We are very happy that most everyone was able to enjoy a safe holiday weekend in Tuscola County. Hopefully, this trend will carry through the rest of the summer so we can have one of the safest tourist seasons on record.'

Suspect arson in fires

Elkland Township fire fighters suspect arson in a pair of recent fires, including a blaze that caused minor damage to a shed at the Jack Esau residence, 6100 Milligan Rd., Monday night.

Fire Chief Ron Pawloski reported the alarm came in at about 10:15 p.m.

Firemen were able to get the fire out quickly, saving the contents of the shed, including a horse-drawn carriage. The structure sustained minor damage.

Over the weekend, fire fighters were called away from the Fourth of July fireworks display to a barn fire that was apparently set intentionally.

 \mathbf{T}_{he}

Firemen were on stand-by at the village's recreational park when the alarm came in at 10:25 p.m. Saturday.

Pawloski said the remains of a wind-damaged barn at 7175 Hadley Rd., Cass City, were fully engulfed in flames when fire fighters arrived. In addition, a small shed located 75 to 100 feet away from the barn had also been set on fire,

The owner, Dan Franzel, told Pawloski neither structure had been used in years. There was no damage esti-

There is no doubt that everyone who needed emergency transportation who lives in the Mayo Clinic area, that extends in a 500-mile radius from Rochester, Minn., would be overjoyed with the new Mayo MedAir plane.

That plane has all the goodies, custom designed to Mayo MedAir specifications. The interior includes built-in patient-care systems, monitoring devices, computer network and digital communication links. The airplane has a special larger door to ease patient loading and can accommodate up to 2 patients, 4 care givers and 2 pilots.

reputation.

Because of its reputation and the purchase of this very expensive plane, it seems obvious that cost is no concern. But as the cost for health insurance continues to soar well above the rate of inflation, can we afford the giltedged service like that provided by this new plane? Sure, you can't put a price tag on a human life. Sure, the plane will undoubtedly save patients otherwise lost. But at what cost to all who have been forced into managed care. To all who have seen co-pays increase, hospital stays cut and treatments curtailed. Typical is the Medicare payment for Pap tests, once offered every year, now paid for once in 3 years.

There's no way to measure the uncounted patients that succumbed because they didn't have the money for needed medical care.

A new diagnostic test will now allow USDA researchers to identify the mystery insect that spreads "yellow vine," a sporadic but devastating disease that infects watermelons, cantaloupe and other cucurbit crops. Using a new molecular test, researchers are now able to rapidly scan the tissue of insects for the unique, genetic calling card of the culprit behind the disease: a bacterium-like organism. An outbreak of yellow vine can cost producers as much as $4,000 per acre.

Again, this would be more fun if you wanted to go to the other end of the terminal, but a guy has to be flexible if he wants to enjoy his trip.

All of the major airports have people conveyers these days. Airport planners have discovered that travelers get along better if you keep them moving and a bit shook-up.

Things are much less formal at the smaller airports, but they have ways of keeping passengers on their toes, too. The commuter planes the little airports cater to are an experience in themselves.

I took my first trip on a commuter plane years ago and was amazed by the difference between commuter travel and flights on the larger planes. You don't have to arrive at the airport an hour-and-a-half early to prove you can identify yourself for one thing.

Ubly area couple

Misicos share love of painting

By Angela Cook Staff writer

John and Lila Misico have been together 58 years, and have not only 4 children, 9 grandchildren and 12 greatgrandchildren to show for it, but countless works of art.

The Ubly couple have been painting together, creating their own works of art, for 20 some years, and now have a house filled with pieces of

Lila first got the couple interested in art when she began attending art classes in the 1970s. She started out gan painting her ceramics with china painting.

"I felt they needed a little dressing up," she said. John said he needed a little coaxing to begin dabbling in art. He recalled taking Lila to an art class where the teacher insisted he participate. After that, he added, there was no going back. "That got me started."

Through the years the couple have started and completed many art projects together.

Lila cited a painting they

> "I've done that several times," she said, referring to taking photos for John to

> Along the way the artists have also created pieces of china painting together, including a ceramic cup featuring a barn. Lila explained she did the painting, while John did the drawing.

"An awful lot of things were done cooperatively," she

In addition to drawing and painting together, the couple has traveled as far as Frankenmuth to take art classes together.

John was quick to point out the couple did not necessarily need the art classes to better their skills, but they did serve to get them out of the house and enhance their cre-

"You don't have the inspiration at home," he said.

While the couple works together on projects, they also do work on an individual basis. John was asked last year to create a logo for Ubly's 1996 Centennial.

He was later asked to design a logo for the Ubly Area Historical Society. Lila commented John en-

John said he was doing an art demonstration in BadAxe when a woman pointed out the barn he was painting was the birthplace of her husband. She then asked if he would finish it and sell it to her, and that was when John lost interest.

"That was 15 years ago and I can't bring myself to finish it," he said.

Despite their polite refusal to sell their work, they do create pieces for members of their family, often reflecting their personalities.

John explained while on a hunting trip, his nephew knocked the ears off a rabbit while shooting it. So to represent the event, John painted a cup displaying a rabbit having its ears shot off.

Yet another piece depicts their daughter-in-law in an outhouse talking extremely fast and tripping over her words. John said he created this scene on a cup because she talks extremely fast and it fits her personality.

"Most of our paintings have gone to family," Lila said.

INDUSTRY, COMMUNICATION and farming are all represented in this logo which John Misico recently created for the Ubly Area Historical Society.

Corn versatile field crop

The corn that you eat on the cob or buy in stores as canned or frozen corn is mostly sweet corn. By far the largest amount of corn produced in the U.S. is field corn. Field corn and products derived from field corn make their way into everything from corn flakes to soda pop, toothpaste and aspirin. It's estimated that in 1996, more than 1.58 billion bushels of corn went into food, seed and industrial products.

Les Kendall escaped with his life but sustained second and third degree burns on his arms and head when an explosion sparked a massive fire at his home west of Cass City Saturday night.

Veteran Cass City fire fighter Milt Connolly was named the new Elkland Township Fire Department Chief Monday night. Connolly, who has nearly 30 years' experience, had been serving as acting chief since the retirement last month of Dick Root, a 40-year department veteran.

Daniel Kingsland, 13, of Cass City was riding his bicycle near West Street at about 9 p.m. Thursday when the chain apparently came loose, sending him flying off the bike. He remains hospitalized at St. Mary's Medical Center in Saginaw with a fractured skull.

An unidentified motorist may have saved the lives of Shirley and Edward Periso Monday morning when he noticed that an attached garage was belching smoke as he passed by a little before 7:00. He hammered on the door and woke the couple, who succeeded in getting out of the home with their pet dog. Although the home suffered smoke damage, fire fighters succeeded in saving the structure. Damages were estimated to be in excess of Perfect weather greeted the July 4 Festival with a guesstimate of 10,000 people attending the day-long events.

Police are looking for the driver of a pickup truck which severed a utility pole at the intersection of Seeger Street and Garfield Avenue early Friday morning. The vehicle also knocked down a street sign and hit the porch of a nearby residence.

Fourth of July Festival committee member Geraldine Prieskorn was in the limelight Friday evening. She was interviewed by WNEM-Televison 5 weatherman, Chuck Waters, who luckily spotted some of the native "flying mice," which assured good weather over the holiday weekend.

The Elkland Township Fire Department has passed the 1/ 4 mark toward its fund raising goal of $10,000 for the purchase of pagers. Some $800 was raised in the department's raffle over the weekend, in addition to a $377 donation from Provincial House. About 12 people participated in the horseshoe throwing contest as part of the 4th of July activities Saturday. The singles contest winner was Rick Lopez of Gagetown and the runner-up was Scott Ackerman of Cass City. The doubles winners were Scott Ackerman and Dean Rabideau of Cass City and runner-up winners were Larry and Mary Williams of Cass City.

Provincial Homes refused the proposed Donahue site for building a facility. Richard Palms, a vice-president of Provincial Homes Inc., released a statement Thursday that his company has decided to abandon plans for building a facility in Cass City unless the community shows a definite desire to have it locate in a site in Hills and Dales subdivision.

Friday was Bill Englehart's 91st birthday. He still works in the field discing or cutting hay on the family 120-acre farm. Together with his wife, he milks 5 head of cattle every morning and night.

An estimated $5,000 damage was done to the Clinton Law home Thursday morning, when fire broke out in the living room of the residence one mile east and 4 miles north of Cass City on Schwegler Rd. Cause of the fire is thought to be faulty

Lynn and Dick Albee, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Albee, are employed in summer jobs at Mackinac Island. Also employed on the island is Janet Walmsley, daughter of Mrs. John Francis. Frank and Glen Meiser spent 3 harrowing hours lost on Lake Huron Sunday. They started on a fishing trip to the Charities, but the water became choppy and shortly after arriving they decided to return home. After a couple of hours in the boat and still no land in sight, they knew they were lost. They decided to ignore the compass, go against the waves and hoped to be travelling in a straight line. When they finally spotted land, they thought it was the Charities or Sand Pointe.

The land proved to be Point the lake to the opposite shore.

In a talk at the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday at the New Gordon Hotel, Dr. W. Continued warm weather has heated up attendance at : Helen Stevens Memorial Pool and at the arts and crafts building. Staffs at both Cass City recreational facilities report the summer of 1997 is off to a busy start, with plenty of children taking advantage of both swimming and arts and crafts, and no major problems encountered so far.

"The pool opened on May + and has been very busy ever since," said Whitney Osentoski, assistant pool director.

We have had 4,000 swimmers so far this season (as of June 27) and it looks as though we will continue to have good attendance. We are now running early bird essions) 5 days a week instead of 3, and the early bird

New books at the library

Rawson Memorial Library continually purchases new books. Best sellers, both fiction and non-fiction, are always on the list and other books with good reviews are also chosen. Here are reviews of some recent arrivals at the library.

Fiennders Keepers by Jean Marsh: At Fiennders Abbey, still and cool summer after summer, a fire in every grate each winter, the family has prospered for generations. As the 19th century draws to a close, little indicates that anything there, in the farms and fields, lanes and stables, could ever change. England is sleeping, its dreams peaceful and sweet. With the passing years progress invades the small town and all of England is awakened. Anne Fiennders would never allow her son Richard to marry the gamekeeper's daughter, Mary Bowden. But Richard and Mary face the end of an era of rigidly ordered living and the collapse of class barriers as they struggle to break free from their families' expectations and create a new life they can live together.

Outside Agency by Kieran Lenahan: Former attorney Kieran Lenahan has finally realized a lifelong dream, a place on the prestigious PGA tour. But his lucky streak ends abruptly with a blow to the head on the 17th tee at Orlando's Bay Hill Classic. Two weeks later, he is found in an apartment in Gainesville, along with a murdered woman. Kieran has no idea who she is, or what he was doing there. All he knows is that the police consider him a prime suspect, and he has no answers, no alibi and most terrifying of all, no memory. Now, as he heads for the Sawgrass Players Club, site of the PGA's most important sporting event, a career-making championship and an imminent murder charge hang over him. All he has to do is reconstruct the last 2 weeks of his life.

Tear This Heart Out by Angeles Mastretta: This is a tale of the tumultuous years following the Mexican revolution as seen through the eyes of the irresistible Catalina Guzman, a young girl who is taken from her poor parents to marry a retired general almost twice her age. Catalina has heard rumors that Andre Ascencio is a philanderer and madman, but she falls blindly in love with him. It is not until they are married that Catalina discovers the extent of his ruthlessness and infidelities. As he struggles for political control, she begins a fight for independence, a journey toward liberation that will transform her from child to woman.

Historical society meet features special program

Tuesday, July 8, the Watrousville-Caro Area Historical Society was to have held a summer meeting at the Watrousville General Store Museum.

Edwin Luther, 85, and his daughter, Ann Ransford, were to share some of their family treasures by telling family anecdotes that surround these family artifacts. Included was a collection of glass slides taken in the 1890s around the Grand Rapids area, a Lincoln dresser knob, a crazy quilt, Civil War memories, antique guns, and more.

The public is invited to join the group and consider telling family stories at future meetings to continue this living history show and tell. The Watrousville General Store Museum is open every Thursday from 1-4 during the summer and features a fine historic collection from the community's past.

180 billion served

If the federal school lunch program had a slogan, it would proudly boast "over 180 billion served." Like McDonald's, the school lunch program has fed many hungry school students over the years. The program turned 50 years old in 1996. The school lunch program, which has come under recent political attack, has provided elementary and high school students - rich and poor, urban, suburban and rural - with federally subsidized meals each day.

April 4, when she called her mother and asked her to take her to the hospital.

Bliss said her daughter had developed walking pneumonia. After 6 days at Hills and Dales General Hospital, she began to bleed unexplainably and was transported by FlightCare Helicopter to Grand Blanc.

"It (illness) progressed and what happened was it hit her hard," Bliss said, referring to the pneumonia. "It happens at times, but it's very, very rare, and they don't really know why."

Upon arrival at Genesys, Ehrlich was put on a ventilator. "They induced uncon-

But her condition wors-Bliss said her daughter's kidneys began to fail, prompting doctors to put her on dialysis, and her lungs collapsed repeatedly.

"So many things happened," said Bliss, who explained a bacterial infection attacked Ehrlich's immune system, turning her own antibodies against her. "Everything seemed to come to a head at that point."

Ehrlich, a 1992 Cass City High School graduate, has since begun a slow but sure recovery.

She has little memory of what's taken place, according to Bliss, who noted Ehrlich was unconscious for a total of 7 weeks. Even then, she had the constant support of family members, who stayed by her side and talked to her continually.

MUCH BETTER

"She is getting much better." Bliss said Thursday. "All the tubes are gone. She got the trach out, but she's still on oxygen to help her breathe. The prognosis is that she should be fairly healthy."

Bliss said it will take up to a year for her daughter to regain her lung capacity, and it will be at least 6 months before doctors will be able to determine the extent of damage to her lungs.

For now, Ehrlich is continuing rehabilitation therapy, including exercises to help her learn how to walk again following several weeks of not using her muscles.

A newlywed, having been married just last September, she said the prayers and support of her family, as well as friends and others in the community have meant a lot. Gagetown resident Pauline Reehl, along with her husband, Tom, have spearheaded the upcoming benefit picnic. She said a host of residents are reaching out to

Tammy and Bill. Reehl, a close family friend, said 3 other Gagetown residents - Jessica Ricker, Phyllis Root and Barb Adams -- are all pitching in to help organize the benefit, while Faron Alexander, a Cass City D.J. who entertained at the Ehrlichs' wedding, is donating his services for the picnic. "There's a number of people who are involved. We approached the veterans in Cass City and they donated the (VFW) hall. The Knights of Columbus are also backing us, and Tom has gone to a lot of merchants in Cass City, and they have have been very supportive of it."

Likewise, merchants in Gagetown, Bad Axe and other area communities have offered a helping hand. Reehl indicated the upcoming benefit was organized to help the Ehrlichs get back on

"We want to be there to support them, just to help them in any way we can," she said.

SECTION 6. Severability.

Should any section, subdivision, clause or phrase of this Ordinance be declared by the courts to be invalid or unacceptable, such holding shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the Ordinances as a whole or of any part thereof, other than such parts so invalidated or declared unenforceable.
