United Way girds up to meet record goal

Cass City United Way officials are shooting for another record campaign.

The local United Way board recently set the 1997-98 goal at $30,000, an increase of $5,000 over last year. The official campaign gets underway Oct. 15 and runs through Nov. 15.

"We're going to bump it (goal) up a little bit this year," said Cass City United Way President Dawn Prieskorn. She noted the decision was based largely on the past generosity of the community's industry and business, including the local campaign's top contributors — Detroit Edison, Walbro, UPS and General Cable Co.

This will be the second year uled to be mailed out this the campaign will rely on a direct mailing to residents, rather than having board members go door-to-door, asking for donations.

"People are going to be more familiar with it, and I would expect to see more (donations) coming in from that," Prieskorn said.

The return on last year's mass mailing was somewhat disappointing, with only a small percentage of some 2,400 forms being returned. Still, the effort netted just under $3,000, according to Prieskorn, who added, "Going door-to-door, we were lucky to get $1,000."

Donation forms are sched-

Cass City United Way officials have reason to be optimistic as they gear up for another campaign.

After setting a then-record campaign goal last year, the board watched as donations poured in totalling some $45,000, $20,000 more than the goal and $11,600 more than the amount collected the previous year.

It was no fluke.

In 1995-96, donations totaled another previous record — $34,000 — exceeding that year's goal by $14,000. A total of $29,000 was collected in 1994-95, when the goal was $19,000, and $24,000 was collected in 1993-94, easily topping that year's goal of $18,000.

United Way officials attribute the consistent success of the local campaign to the fact that a full 85 percent of local donations remain in the community. Money is also allocated to the United Way of Tuscola County to help fund agencies and services that benefit residents in the Cass City area.

Among the area groups receiving United Way funds last year were: Boy Scout Troop #594, American Association of University Women,

"Contributions ranged from a few dollars to $25,000 and it appeared from the very beginning that the community was really behind this effort. Right now we stand less than $10,000 from our goal, and we have every expectation that we will reach that figure in the near future."

Pastor Dr. Philip Rice will make house calls

Dr. Philip Rice isn't a medical doctor, but he makes house calls just the same.

His instruments are faith and compassion, with a good dose of humor and warmth mixed in for good measure. Rice, a native of Novi, is the new pastor of the United Methodist Church of Cass City, where he has been serving full-time since July.

"It's a friendly town, a lot of community spirit," Rice said of his impression of Cass City. "Everybody's been very friendly.'

Rice and his wife, Charlene, have 3 grown children; Jennifer, who is married and resides in Muncie. Ind., Brian, who is also married and lives in Grand Blanc, and Joanna, a student at Western Michigan University.

Rice earned his master's degree at the United Theological Seminary, and his Doctorate of Ministries Degree through Drew University, Madison, N.J.

He entered the ministry full-time in 1971, when he began serving a 2-point charge in Hellman, located in Montmorency County, and Spratt in neighboring Alpena County. Since then, he served 4 years in Homer, 8 years in Freeland and 10 years at St. Luke's in Essexville.

The ministry was a second career choice for Rice.

"In some ways, it (ministry) was in the back of my mind. I had a feeling somebody was trying to tell me something, but I took a detour to teaching; I taught school for 3 years," he said.

"But I finally gave in, and I haven't regretted it more than once or twice a year," he joked.

"You've got to have a sense of humor in this business, or you'll go crazy.'

Rice freely incorporates humor into his ministry, although he's careful not to allow it to interfere with his message. "I try to work it in. Of course, the danger is that you can get sidetracked," he said. "I think the trick to a good worship service is walking the subtle line between seriousness and light heartedness. . .and human warmth."

Rice added he particularly enjoys preaching and leading in worship. "I find that really fulfilling, and I like good discussion groups — trying to pull together the truths of our faith with contemporary realities."

Rice said the ministry offers countless opportunities to meet and interact with people who are at all stages of life, in both the good times and bad. "And that's the thing I really enjoy about it."

As the new pastor of the United Methodist Church in Cass City, Rice will have a hand in nurturing the continued growth of a congregation formed more than 2 years ago as a result of the merger of the Trinity and Salem United Methodist churches.

The joining of the 2 churches was a positive decision, according to Rice, who lauded former pastors Rick Sheppard and Bob Garrett with their leadership in uniting the congregations. Months later, the new congregation was ready to build a new home, and groundbreaking ceremonies for a $1.6 million, 13,471-squarefoot church building were held in late June.

As construction continues, Rice has his sights on building up members of the church both as a congregation and as a force in the community.

"What I would like to see would be a well-rounded church," he said, adding a good music program, healthy Sunday School program, relevant worship, study/growth groups and fellowship-type activities are all part of that

At the same time, Rice would like to see outreach programs in the form of invitations to worship, as well as community service

"One of the first things we need to do when we get into the new building is to find out what the community needs are," he continued, noting the next step will be to meet those needs, making the best use of the new church build-

"My goal would be, frankly, to wear (the building) out," he said."

Bake 2 quarts of milk for 8 or 10 hours in a moderate oven in a jar covered with writing paper tied down. It will then be as thick as cream and may be used by weak persons.

Eat in pure air and in pleasant company. Light conversation and gentle exercise promote digestion, but work of any kind retards it. Avoid severe bodily or mental labor just before and for 2 hours after a full meal.

Disinfectants are sometimes very disagreeable. One that is very agreeable is made of fresh ground coffee on a shovel of hot coals.

Enamel for shirt collars and bosoms is made by melting one ounce of white wax and 2 ounces of spermaceti. Heat gently and turn into pie pan. Add a piece of the polish the size of a cherry when making boiled starch, enough for a dozen shirt fronts.

To clean silver easily, save water in which potatoes have been boiled with a little salt. Let it become sour, which it will do in a few days. Heat and wash the articles with a woolen cloth, rinsing in pure water. Dry and polish with chamois leather. Never allow a particle of soap to touch silver or plated ware. For wiping silver, an old linen tablecloth cut in pieces of convenient size and marked "silver" is very nice.

To keep ice water, make a hat-shaped cover of 2 thicknesses of strong brown paper with cotton batting quilted between, large enough to drop over and completely envelop the pitcher. This prevents the warm air from coming in contact with the pitcher, and ice will last a long time.

To keep off mosquitoes, rub exposed parts with kerosene. The odor is not noticed after a few minutes, and children especially are much relieved by its use.

Celebrate Life dance slated to promote cancer screening

The fourth annual CEL-EBRATE LIFE dance will be held Sunday, Oct. 19, from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Colony House in Cass City.

"There will be great dance music, a chicken dinner available for $5 from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m., and lots of door prizes," said Christine Hoppe, project chairman.

"In the past, the theme has been all country, but we've added variety this year. There will be dance demonstrations by competition dance teams from Sally Doerr and Dynamic Dance Design, by Keith Fehlinger, a coach, instructor and choreographer of Ballroom Dance, and a country group, yet to be named.'

Everyone attending will have the opportunity to take a dance lesson from Sally Doerr, Keith Fehlinger and a country dance instructor. And there will be plenty of time for just plain dancing and having fun. Snacks and beverages will also be available.

Approximately 200 people from the greater Thumb Area attended the dance last year.

But now we've got the 1996 Farm Bill with new emphasis for environmental benefits on CRP ground. The new guidelines include points for protection of endangered species. That's where the fun begins.

News reports from Kansas say as many as 1,000 farmers in that state might lose CRP contracts because their land should not have been credited as habitat for the burrowing beetle and the swift fox. Both are endangered species.

Someone complained the swift fox and burrowing beetle were never documented in that part of Kansas, and the U.S.D.A. was thrown into a tizzy.

The U.S.D.A. administrators should be ashamed of themselves. Nobody should be expected to document a swift fox.

But that doesn't bother the long-time former Cass City resident, now of Caro, who finally received the medals he earned during World War II at a ceremony held Sept. 20 in Detroit, more than 50 years after his discharge as a

Turner is quick to point out he was no war hero, but he recalls his 26-month tour of duty was interesting just the

A farmer who later worked for the Michigan Department of Mental Health for 19 years before his retirement in 1983, Turner was drafted in September 1944. He took a bus from Caro to Detroit, then was shipped off to Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Turner completed his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., where he also graduated from communications school. He was then sent to Fort George E. Meade, Md., then Fort Jackson, S.C., where he joined the 28th Tank Battalion.

"I was a cannoneer," explained Turner, whose job was to load and unload shells for a mammoth 76-millimeter gun on a tank powered by 12-cylinder Cadillac gas engine. "Those shells were so hot, I had to wear asbestos gloves to take them out."

As the troop ship entered Pearl Harbor, he recalled, there were ship bows and sterns sticking up some 30 feet out of the water - - victims of the Japanese attack years earlier that sparked the United States' entry into the

The troop ships later headed for their final destination: the Philippine Islands.

It was a long ride, according to Turner.

'On the boat we had 2 meals a day, all standing up. It seemed they fed us so many Spam sandwiches, to this day I can't eat a Spam sandwich," he said, adding the only fresh water available was used for drinking, so the soldiers showered and shaved with salt water.

After arriving at the Philippine Islands, Turner and his fellow soldiers, each wearing a full pack and armed with machine guns, climbed off the ship on ropes and onto landing crafts that would transport them to the beach at Luzon.

Which is when things became interesting.

"We were trained as a tank outfit. We trained extensively in South Carolina, and we were good," he said. "Going overseas, we were on one ship and our tanks were on another ship. We never saw the tanks; they went to Manilla.

'We woke up the next morning and we were guarding a Japanese prison compound and guarding supply depots."

Looking back, Turner doesn't think the diversion of his unit's tanks was a mistake.

"The Army never told us anything, (but) I think we were scheduled for the invasion of Japan," he said. "There were an awful lot of supplies stored on the Island of Luzon."

Turner doesn't recall how many Japanese prisoners there were, but he remembers guarding them was no problem. "To my knowledge, they never gave us a minute's trouble," he said.

At the same time, there were an estimated 500 Japanese soldiers armed and still somewhere on the island.

Turner described the Japanese as short in stature, but time, I got the Good Conduct Medal," he said.

But he never received his other medals.

Then, recently, Turner received a call from Sen. Carl Levin's office inquiring about whether those medals had even been sent to him.

During the Sept. 20 ceremony held in Troy, Turner was awarded the Victory WWII Medal, the American Campaign Medal and the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre of Operations Medal. He also received a second Philippines Liberation Ribbon.

Turner, a lifetime DAV member and a member of VFW Post 3644, Cass City, still thinks about what might have been had the United States opted to invade Japan.

"That would have been a real bloody mess because those people (Japanese) were so dedicated," he said. "If we had invaded, perhaps I wouldn't be here today.'

Donates $100

She worked in the one-room library

Enclosed is my check for $100.00. Please accept this donation in memory of my parents, Ernest and Thelma Schwaderer.

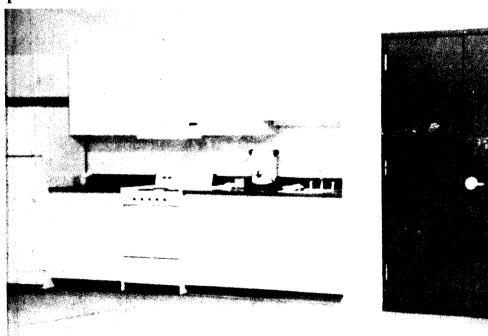

Recent visits to Cass City have acquainted me with the current library. My own memories go back to when the "library" consisted of one room way at the back of the second floor of the Wood Drugstore building. It then expanded to a second room across the hall; the check out-and-in counter was a table in the hall. There were many books by and about Mary Baker Eddy and large samples of Edgar Rice Burroughs and Grace Livingston Hill. Variety grew as the library expanded and it was a wondrous place for me as I had exhausted our small family collection and the libraries of any neighbor who would let me look.

Occasionally I was drafted to open and close the library. I can still smell the inky stamps, see the box for the fines and hear creaking stairways as customers came and went. Most memorable of all, though, was closing time when all the lights were turned off and I went racing down the hall past the darkened doors of William Miller's law office, Ms. MacCrea's beauty salon and Dr. Schenck's dentistry establishment. How I ran for the safety of the lights from the drugstore and the barber shop!

Best wishes for all your projects.

Sincerely, Alice S. Wood

Those who tour the library will find greatly expanded facilities, allowing even better service to library patrons.

The expanded building, including a storage basement not available before now, has added a total of 4,800 square feet, doubling the size of the facility.

A new community meeting room, named in honor of the Pinneys, will provide 28 by 44 feet of space and seat 100 persons. It has kitchen facilities and can be divided into 2 rooms to allow meetings to be held simultaneously.

New restrooms and a lobby area with a display case have been added. The existing library has been totally renovated with new carpeting, light fixtures, circulation desk and expanded shelving for books and periodicals. The building was also made barrier-free to permit access to all persons. The children's area is greatly expanded and 5 new computer stations have been added.

The library serves Cass City and the townships of Elkland, Ellington, Elmwood, Evergreen, Grant, Greenleaf and Novesta, an area of approximately 8,500 residents. It had small beginnings in 1910. It was started by the Women's Study Club and was located in various buildings through the years, until a building was constructed at its present location at the corner of Seeger and Pine streets in 1970.

A brief program and formal ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held soon after the open house begins. The Friends of the Library will serve refreshments and be stationed throughout the facility during the open house to answer questions and guide visitors.

A game high 21 points from Tonya Smith Thursday wasn't enough to lift Owen-Gage over visiting Akron-Pairgrove. The Vikings handed the Bulldogs a 49-41 North Central Thumb League loss.

The contest dropped Coach Dave Fritz's cagers to 1-7 on the campaign. Following a Tuesday tilt in Carsonville-Port Sanilac, the Dawgs are scheduled to entertain Port Hope this Thursday in league action.

In the outing with Akron-Fairgrove, Smith and Viking Danielle Latimer provided most of the action. The pair traded baskets throughout much of the evening.

Clinging to a single point margin, 8-7, Latimer helped her team gain a 27-15 advantage by the intermission as she fired in 8 of her team

Owen-Gage got back into the contest following the halfway break as Smith took over the scoring for the hosts. She led a 19-11 Bulldog run with 11 tallies.

The Vikings, however, preserved the win by outscoring Owen-Gage 11-7 in the final period. Latimer posted 6 points in the final frame.

Besides Smith, Owen-Gage's Cassie Vargo was the only other player to reach double digits, finishing with 10 points that included 2 hoops from behind the 3point arc.

The stands were filled with spectators Wednesday night, Oct. 1, awaiting the start of the fourth annual Cass City High School powder puff football game.

In the 1970's there were there have been just 5 recorded girls' football games,

The game is played with flags and penalties are given for tackling. Anyone tackling must sit out a play for the first offense, and the second offense calls for ejection from the game.

This year's seniors have been a part of the modern tradition, playing all 4 years of their high school caleer. They were part of a record of 1-2-1, with their only win coming in their junior year. In this year's game, the only touchdown made in the first half was by Lindsay Maharg, for the seniors, in the second quarter. The game ended in a tie after Melissa Homakie, underclassman, scored a touchdown in the third quarter, with a final score of 6-6. The seniors attempted 2 other touchdowns, but were pulled back due to penalties.

A-F hands Owen-Gage 5th loss

Owen-Gage Bulldogs suffered their 5th straight gridiron loss Friday when visiting Akron-Fairgrove spoiled the Bulldog homecoming with a 24-0 North Central Thumb League win.

"We felt good (about our chances of winning) going in," said Candela. "We had played well against Peck and Kingston, but Akron physically beat us. We couldn't stop them."

More to the point, the Bulldogs couldn't halt Matt Erdody, who rushed for 196 yards and accounted for the visitors' final 18 points.

"We've got some players," continued Candela. "We'll come back. I don't think this team will just lay down."

Owen-Gage will need to bounce back quickly, however, if they hope to capture an NCTL win this season. The Bulldogs wrap up their league campaign at North Huron (1-4) this Friday.

The Vikings registered the game's first points on a 38yard pass play from Kyle Brink to Robbie Prime with 8 minutes remaining in the opening period. Erdody started his scoring binge when his point after kick split the uprights and ended the scoring in the game's initial period. The Vikings were denied another touchdown before the intermission when the Owen-Gage defense stiff-on a gutsy 4th and short.

The Vikings got another scoring opportunity, however, when Brent Dost foiled a Bulldog reverse that led to a short Bulldog punt.

Erdody added to the Vikings' advantage at the intermission when he closed the first half scoring with a 25yard field goal.

"It was homecoming and we couldn't get fired up," lamented Candela. "You've got to be able to self motivate."

The contest became a defense struggle in the final half.

The Vikings were able to hold the Bulldogs to 160 yards of total offense. Joel Bolzman led all Bulldog rushers with 97 yards on 25 totes. The hosts also collected 31 yards via the air on Derek Howard's 5 completions in 12 attempts. Howard's favorite target was Anthony Brinkman, who netted 17 yards on 2 recep-

Leading 10-0, Akron removed all doubt from the game's outcome on Erdody's 85-yard touchdown run with slightly over 2 minutes left on the clock. Erdody scored his final marker moments later when he broke loose and scampered 39 yards to pay dirt.

Defensively, Owen-Gage had Dan Dorsch with 2 solo tackles and 8 assists. Jeff Maxson was credited with 2 ened at the Bulldog goal line solo stops and 7 assists.

Hawk hoop team bowing to area's top echelon teams

At the start of the season there were great expectations and high hopes that the Cass City Red Hawk hoop team could compete with the best in the Thumb.

After all, the team had height and the team had experience, including 3 starters from last year on a team that ranked with the top Thumb teams at tournament time last

While the team has coasted by the teams with losing records, it has been no match for schools in the upper echelons. Schools competing for league championships.

Because it hasn't, all Cass City can do now is work towards ironing out the flaws and be ready for the tournament run at the end of the regular season.

Cass City took charge early to dominate against the Mayville Wildcats. Using balanced scoring, Cass City edged out to a 12-8 lead.

The Hawks received some offensive help from unexpected sources to add to the lead in the second quarter. While the Hawks' twin towers were blanked, Andrea Rea, Carrie Wentworth and Becky Dore accounted for all the scoring that gave Cass City a 9-5 lead at the inter-

USA runs roughshod over Cass City, 38-14

It wasn't fancy, but, oh, how effective was the performance of the visiting USA football team that used smash mouth football to roll over the Cass City Red Hawks at their homecoming game, 38-14.

About the only positive note for Hawk fans was that the team came out of the game with no injuries. It's likely that Cass City will need all of its players this Friday when Byron (4-1) comes to

They are a lot like USA, Coach Tom Oesch said, big players with an offense similar to the one that USA used to decimate Cass City.

We were physically manhandled, Oesch said, and I was disappointed with our effort.

The Patriots' domination started the first time they got the ball. A good kick placed the ball on the USA one-yard line. From there USA marched down the field, picking up 6 first downs in a 14-play drive that consumed most of the first quarter. The Churches celebrate 150 years

Port Austin Lutheran Mission and the 16 Thumb-area Missouri Synod Lutheran churches are celebrating 150 years of missionary work and ministry in the Thumb, according to Pastor Timothy Loewe of St. Paul Lutheran Church of Linkville.

"In this 150th anniversary year of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, it is important to know that the Thumb was evangelized by Missouri Synod pastors from the very beginning," Rev. Loewe says. "We're proud of the heritage we have in God's Word and our Missouri Synod roots in the Thumb. Many of our 16 Missouri Synod Lutheran churches in the Thumb have been here for over 100 years. "Through all those years the grace of God has allowed committed Thumb-area Missouri Synod Lutherans to build a mighty fortress of faith in the Thumb," Rev. Loewe says. "The congregations of Bad Axe, Cass City and Caseville have all been established within the last half-century with Caseville celebrating its 25th year in 1997. We have an ongoing commitment to our newest ministry in Port Austin,"says

Rev. Loewe. Efforts for a festival worship service on Reformation Sunday, Oct. 26, are being led by Pastor Richard Wilson of Trinity Lutheran Church in Forestville and Pastor Kenneth Lueke of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Bad Axe. Activities will include all 16 Thumb-area Missouri Synod Lutheran churches and the Port Austin Lutheran Mission. Please call Pastor Wilson at 517-864-3745 or Pastor Lueke at 517-269-7642 for more information.

IRS seizes Caro radio stations radio stations WKYO-AM and WIDL-FM last week, taking the stations off the air.

IRS officials seized the broadcasting studios located in the Broadcast House on Cleaver Road as well as the stations' transmitter towers Thursday.

Elcy Maccani, public affairs specialist at the IRS Public Affairs office in Detroit, said the IRS placed liens on Jackson Communications Ltd., the stations' parent company, for more than $102,000 in unpaid employment taxes between 1990 and 1992.

In a statement released Friday, Bill Jackson, president of Jackson Communications Ltd. and general manager of WKYO and WIDL, expressed disappointment with the IRS.

"The action, in our opinion, is a flex of muscle," Jackson stated

"They have. . . alluded in statements that their action was in a gray area of the law. In my opinion, their decision to close our business was a discretionary move on their part," Jackson said. "In fact, our legal council put the IRS on notice earlier this week that closing our business could likely be a violation of the law. An IRS attorney had even indicated to revenue agents that was a possibility."

Jackson stated he is not denying the business owes the federal government, and he pointed out the failure to pay does not represent a protest to the taxation. "We simply

The IRS shut down Caro have not had (the) funds to do that," he explained.

Jackson said advertisers represent 98 percent of the income needed to run the radio stations. In recent years, however, the number of viable businesses has dwindled and competition for advertising dollars has increased.

"We have been honest and up front with the IRS on our progress of finances and ability to fulfill our obligations to the government. Just this week we paid them substantial amounts of money. We are making every effort to resolve this matter and meet those obligations."

Jackson noted he has been in contact with the staffs of both U.S. Senator Spencer Abraham and Congressman Jim Barcia in an effort to keep them informed "because it is our belief that the IRS action is not in the best interest of the public that we as broadcasters serve.

"In the meantime, we regret our failure to provide our listeners (with) the services they expect from WKYO and WIDL.

The assets seized by the IRS will be sold unless the company can meet its obligation on the unpaid balance, according to Maccani, who noted affected employees have been given credit for the unpaid employment taxes.

A date has not been set for the sale, however, Maccani said property is generally offered for sale 30 to 60 days following seizure.

Maccani said the decision to seize property is not taken lightly by the IRS. In fact, she added, fewer than onehalf of one percent of such cases go to seizure in Michi-

Rosemarie Gallagher announced Oct. 3 that the next Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up will be held during a period from Oct. 14 through Nov.

"This will be another opportunity for landowners to sign up for a voluntary program to get financial and technical assistance for improving their land, water and resources," wildlife Gallagher said. "If you haven't tried to get into the program, if your CRP contract offers were not accepted in Sign-up 15 last spring, or if you have contracts expiring this fall, this is the time to make new contract offers." The CRP is designed to improve America's natural resource base. Landowners enter into contracts with the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to enroll erodible and other environmentally sensitive land in contracts for 10 to 15 years. In exchange, they receive annual rental payments and a payment for up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing approved practices.

Did you know that: The average number of animals that a typical shelter takes in each year equals about 5 to 7 percent of the human population of the community that shelter serves. Caro's population is 4073 people. The Humane Society of the United States estimates that, depending on the geographic region, about 30 to 60 percent of all animals brought in to shelters in the United States are euthanatized. It also estimates that 25 to 35 percent of all animals who enter U.S. shelters are adopted by new owners. harpist Anne Preucil Last year the Tuscola County animal shelter helped place 250 animals. Members of the Festival Orchestra, and vocal and instrumental soloists gather for this annual Thanksgiving holiday to rehearse and perform the music of J.S. Bach and other baroque, as well as romantic and modern, composers. Concerts are held in the First Presbyterian churches of Vivaldi, Cass City and Caro.

World acclaimed performers from 13 states will assemble to share their talents in the presentation of these 4 exceptionally varied concerts, spanning a repertory of 4 centuries. Featured vocal soloists are Penelope Jensen, soprano; Eileen Farrell, mezzo-soprano; Quentin Quereau, tenor, and Timothy Jones, baritone. Cellist Brant Austin Taylor, a festival favorite, will perform the "Cello Concerto in C Major" of Franz Joseph Haydn, and Lewellen will be featured in the "Danses Sacred and Pro-

James will also return to Caro to perform organ works on the Aeolian Skinner pipe organ of the First Presbyterian Church. Other composers to be presented at the 1997 Festival include Corigliano, Respighi, Vaughan-Williams, Sibelius and Honegger.

"Each successive season of the Village Bach Festival proves to be ever more stimulating and rewarding with music making of the highest order," said Holly Althaver, Chair of the Festival. "It is a feat of the spirit to hear the music for those who come to share the talent of these gifted performers."

The Festival is made possible, in part, by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs.

Swinton faces prison

A Vassar man who was shot during a stand-off with Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies last December has been sentenced to 25 to 60 years in prison.

Jonathon Swinton, 44, was sentenced Friday by Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge

Patrick Joslyn. Swinton had pleaded guilty to second degree murder. In exchange, the original charges of open murder, assault with intent to commit murder and 2 counts of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony were dismissed.

The homicide took place Dec. 15 in Juniata Township. According to investigators, deputies were dispatched to a reported shooting at 4097 Wilder Rd. at about 7:40 p.m.

Upon their arrival, officers were confronted by Swinton, who was armed and holding a wounded woman at gunpoint. Reports stated deputies attempted to negotiate with Swinton in an effort to bring the incident to an end and obtain medical help for the victim. However. Swinton aimed a shotgun at Both Swinton and the wounded victim, Mia Jo Crittenden, 29, Mayville, were transported to Saginaw hospitals for treatment.

New books at the library

Here on Earth by Alice Hoffman: After nearly 20 years of living in California, March Murray, along with her 15-yearold daughter, Gwen, returns to the small Massachusetts town where she grew up, to attend the funeral of Judith Dale, the beloved housekeeper who raised her. Thrust into the world of her past, March slowly realizes the complexity of the choices made by those around her, including Mrs. Dale, who knew more of love than March could have ever suspected; Alan, the brother whose tragic history has left him griefstricken, with alcohol his only solace, and Hollis, the boy she loved, the man she can't seem to stay away from.

Dancing at the Harvest Moon by K.C. McKinnon: After her husband of 20 years leaves her, Maggie McIntyre discovers letters she received many years ago from her first love, Robbie. She decides to return to Little Bear Lake and recapture the woman she once was - the woman she knows she could be again. But time has changed Little Bear Lake. The Harvest Moon dance hall where she worked as a waitress is closed. While Mattie struggles to reopen it, she begins to fall in love with a young man who helps her with the project. Soon she has to decide which is more important to her: what other people think or what she feels in her heart.

Control possible

Weeds continuing problem

Perennial weeds have become a continuing problem for Michigan farmers as reduced tillage or no-till practices have been put into use.

"Probably the best opportunity for dealing with most of our common perennial broadleaf weeds using non-selective herbicides is following wheat harvest," says Jim Kells, Michigan State University Extension agronomist. "This allows application of herbicides to the weeds at the time of year they are most susceptible."

Kells says the ideal growth stage to control perennial weeds is the flower bud or full flower stage.

"Once that stage of growth is reached, they can be treated anytime from then until just prior to a frost. Perennial weed treatment will not be effective following a plant-damaging frost," Kells says. "That means that most of the applications will be made in September or perhaps early October."

Meat taboo?

Folks who consider red meat taboo should "rethink their beef with beef", according to a recent McCall's magazine article, "Meat Makes a Comeback." The article praises today's leaner and trimmed beef products. It mentions low-fat cuts and notes that the leanest cuts of beef, like eye round, contain as little as 4 grams of fat per 3-ounce serving compared to 3 grams for skinless chicken. "Smart carnivores can have their steak — and their health and waistline too", the article

For maximum effectiveness, the weeds should be at the proper growth stage; be green, healthy and actively growing; and not be under moisture stress. Herbicide application should be made several hours ahead of rain. and winds should be calm to nearly calm to reduce potential for herbicide drift. Ideally, the temperature on the day of herbicide application will be around 60 degrees F.

A perennial weed, Kells explains, is any weed that is capable of surviving 3 or more years and that reproduces vegetatively — that is, from plant parts other than seeds. Such weeds reproduce either by forming rhizomes (underground creeping stems), runners, bulbs, tubers or creeping roots. They may or may not produce seeds, but they always have the potential to reproduce vegeta-
