Polega, Powell lauded

Women aid in crash

Harold and Joyce Polega have seen their share of accidents at M-53 and Bay City-Forestville Road since they moved near the corner more than 25 years ago.

Having operated a produce stand at the same location for about as many years, they've also offered help to dozens of lost motorists who stop to ask for directions.

So it didn't surprise them when Redford Township resident Joyce Compton and her 3 children stopped by Saturday morning to ask what road she should take to find Gagetown. But moments later, Harold Polega heard the crash of metal, and he knew there had been another bad accident.

Joyce said her husband immediately called for help and woke her up. She didn't hesitate, leaving to see if she could lend a hand. "I have grandchildren and children. I know how scary it can be for them," she commented Monday.

Polega wasn't alone. Deford area resident Rhonda Powell, a former neighbor of the Polegas, was on her way to work in Bad Axe when she also stopped to help.

Michigan State Police troopers lauded both women for their assistance at the scene of the 2-vehicle traffic accident that sent Compton and one of her children to the hospital.

Troopers from the Sandusky post said Polega and Powell helped out with 3 young children who had been passengers in the Compton vehicle.

"The 2 citizens remained with the children and even went with them to the hospital in Cass City — taking several hours out of their day to help the kids," said Trooper Kathy Nunn.

"The citizens had also helped initially by taking care of the kids while emergency personnel freed the kids' mother from her car, where she was trapped inside."

The accident was reported at 7:40 a.m.

According to reports, a westbound car driven by Joyce M. Compton, 36, of Redford Township, failed to come to a complete stop at the intersection and struck a northbound vehicle towing a trailer and a 24-foot boat. The other driver was identified as Paul R. Yurgen, 50, of Shelby Township.

The impact caused Yurgen's vehicle to separate from the trailer and boat, which came to rest in a cornfield on the west side of M-53.

Investigators confirmed that just prior to the accident, Compton had stopped at Polega's Produce, 6480 Bay City-Forestville Road to ask for directions. As she approached the intersection, reports state, she was looking at a map.

Compton and one of her passengers, Lewis M. Partaka, 11, Redford Township, were transported to Hills and Dales General Hos-

Vassar woman sues sheriff

A Vassar woman recently filed suit in Tuscola County Circuit Court in an effort to re-open the investigation surrounding the death of her son, who was killed in an auto accident more than 6 years ago.

The suit was filed by Avona Hudie, Vassar, against the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department and Sheriff Tom Kern.

The suit notes that Hudie's son, Gregory L. Hudie, 30, was the victim in a May 16, 1992, roll-over car accident on Phillips Road near Denhoff Road in Koylton Township.

According to court records, the news media identified Hudie as the driver of the vehicle involved, but the sheriff's department accident report determined that a passenger in the vehicle, Steven Radick, was the driver, not Hudie. The report also concluded there was only one vehicle involved.

The suit states there has been considerable "private investigation" into the accident and identification of the driver, and that investigation revealed Hudie was, in fact, the driver of the vehicle, and there was at least one other vehicle involved in the accident.

In her suit, Mrs. Hudie states she wrote a letter to the sheriff March 5, 1998, asking that he reopen the investigation due to "newly discovered evidence" in the case.

Four days later, the suit states, Kern allegedly sent Hudie a letter stating he would make "no comment out of the ordinary compared to recent years.

While it has been dry, Cass City has been far more fortunate than other areas of the lower central portion of Michigan, according to Jeff Andresen, an MSU Extension agricultural meteorologist.

"We have some spots in the state that are 7 inches below normal (in precipitation) since April 1," he said, noting the average rainfall for April through July is about 11 inches.

July tends to be one of the wettest months of year, but some areas received less than an inch during the month.

"I would (say) fairly significant drought conditions have developed as a result," Andresen added. "There are some parts of the state that have serious problems. It's not a rosy picture."

The burglary at Kritzman's

Inc. Clothing, 6447 Main St., was reported last Wednesday morning.

Store Manager Judy Britt told police she arrived at the business, unlocked the doors and noticed no signs of forced entry. However, she discovered that the combination dial from the store's safe had been removed and was lying on the floor of the office.

Britt stated she had locked the doors after closing the store at 5:30 p.m. the day before.

During their investigation, officers determined that the suspect(s) had entered a stairwell in the store by breaking through a 14-inch by 14-hole on the east wall. Once inside, the suspect(s) forced open a door that had been nailed shut, then used a file to make a hole through a layer of plywood and dry wall to enter the store.

Officers, who found a metal file with a wooden handle and a 12-inch metal rod at the scene, also discovered that a

The problem is more acute in central and western Michigan, and northern Michigan typically is harder hit than the south, Andresen said. But even in the Thumb, he noted, areas only a few miles apart have received vastly different amounts of rainfall.

A natural result of the lack of rain is little or no subsoil moisture, and without some timely rains over the next few weeks, Andresen said, crop yields will suffer.

Ironically, Michigan's neighboring states — Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania — Please turn to back page.

locked, second-floor door had been forced open.

Reports noted the suspect(s) did not gain entry to the safe, nor was any property reported missing.

In other police reports, a Sanilac County truck driver reported damage to his rig over the weekend.

Eugene M. Tank, Sandusky, told police he parked his 1997 International semi-tractor trailer in a lot at the corner of Garfield Avenue and Vulcan Street Saturday.

When he returned early Monday morning, he discovered a passenger side window had been broken and a cordless radio remote control was missing.

Reports state the remote is valued at $50. Damage to the truck was estimated at $350 to $400.

Village police also reported making an arrest following a domestic dispute between a husband and wife Saturday afternoon. Reports state Derek R. Goniwicha, 28, Cass City, was arrested on suspicion of domestic violence.

Peters studies Reading Recovery

By Leah Nixon
Staff Writer

Marilyn Peters returned from "down under" July 25 with expanded ideas for the Thumb area's Reading Recovery program.

Peters, who is Tuscola County's Intermediate School District general education manager, said she attended a conference geared toward the program in Australia.

This was the second of Reading Recovery conferences which are held every 3 years in different locations. The next conference will be held in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

The conference lasted one week, and then a group of 32 people from Michigan, Tennessee and Texas spent one week in New Zealand with a teacher and his or her family, she said.

Reading Recovery, which was developed by educator and researcher Marie Clay in the 70s and adopted in the 80s by New Zealand, was brought to the Thumb during the 1994-95 school year.

"The whole purpose of attending the conference was to see what New Zealand does in their schools that makes their reading and writing world renowned," Peters explained. "It was a first-hand account."

There is a consulting group of 3 New Zealand teachers who visited the Thumb last spring and who are scheduled to return in September.

As site coordinator for the Thumb area's Reading Recovery program, Peters continued, "It was the nature of the opportunity to go to a New Zealand school. We usually don't go this far. It's the first international conference I've attended."

A reading teacher for 22 years before her most recent 10 years at the ISD, Peters added, "I wish I had the training before, but we did the best we knew how."

READING FOR FIRST GRADERS

Reading Recovery, which is an early intervention program for first graders, catches young readers who fall behind their peers up to par at the first grade level.

Students were a "Chapter One" before the Reading Recovery program, she explained. "Chapter or Title One" is a program for at risk students that has existed since 1962. It was designed to help students with difficulty in reading and math.

"Reading Recovery is designed mostly for early readers," Peters continued. "The program is expensive but keeps children from becoming a Chapter One."

According to Peters, all funding of the program is provided by the schools who participate in the program. Currently, there are teachers trained in the program in all Tuscola County schools, North Huron, Harbor Beach, Uby, Deckerville and North Branch.

"This year we'll pick up Marlette and Brown City," she added.

New books at the library

Among the new books available at Rawson Memorial Library are:

Quite a Year for Plums by Bailey White: In this book the reader is introduced to the peculiar but lovable people who live in a small town in Georgia. Meet Roger, the peanut pathologist and unlikely love object of half the town women. Then there is Roger's ex-mother-in-law, Louise, who works with a typographer to try to attract outer-space aliens by using specific combinations of letters and numbers. And finally there is Della, who likes to paint birds. She captivates Roger with the sensible but enigmatic note she leaves on things she throws away in the dumpster. For example, "This fan works, but it makes a clicking sound and will not oscillate."

Acorna's Quest by Anne McCaffrey and Margaret Ball: Acorna, the unicorn girl, is found as an infant drifting in an escape pod by 3 asteroid prospectors and is raised by them and protected from those who want to cut off the horn on her forehead and make her "normal." Acorna grows up to be a beautiful young lady who has miraculous abilities, including the ability to heal sickness. She has troubling dreams of a beautiful world and yearns to know who she really is and where she came from. She sets off on a quest to find her own kind but she has to face many dangers to accomplish her mission.

American Dreams by John Jakes: In this epic novel of the Crown family of Chicago, Jakes tells the story of 26-year-old Fritz Crown, who wants to pursue a career on the stage. But she must defy her wealthy father and the social convention of the times to achieve her goal. She experiences both good and bad times in her climb to the top of the show business ladder and finds success and romance both on screen and off. Then from her younger brother, Carl, and her cousin, Paul, Fritz receives news of a growing danger, a great conflict that could turn the American dream into a tragic illusion.

Cass City Social Items

Lynette LaPeer and her sister of Alpena brought Michelle Charlene and Stephen LaPeer of Houghton to visit their great-grandmother, Charlotte LaPeer, Sunday. They spent Monday with Mrs. LaPeer.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McIntire of Marlette were Saturday evening guests of Mrs. Charlotte LaPeer.

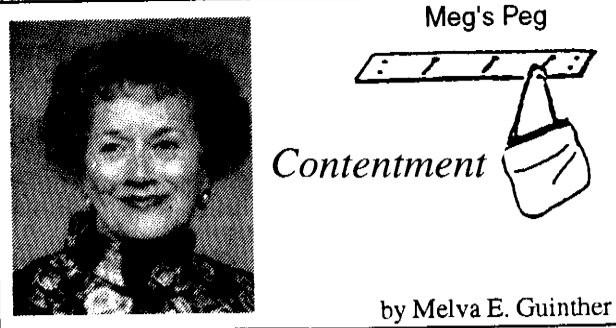

Justin Miller of Byron recently spent a week at this year's Summer Youth Programs held at Michigan Tech University, joining students from across America for the second week of the program. Over 4 weeks, more than 1000 junior high and high school students explore engineering, science and math, computers, art and outdoor activities. Miller studied electrical engineering. A junior at Cass City High School, he is the son of Leah Hoxie of Ubyly and Jack Miller of Byron.

Marriage licenses

Joseph Lee Luana, Deford, and Rebecca Ann Perkins, Cass City. Rosendo Vasquez and Natalie Marie Moreno, both of Caro. George Alan Mansfield and Mary Ann Retherford, both of Millington.

60 attend Brown reunion

The 23rd annual Brown reunion was held July 26 at the Cass City Park. Sixty were in attendance. Families came from local towns, plus Southfield, Waterford, Fenton and Tucson, Ariz.

Contentment

by Melva E. Guinther

Did you see the article in USA Weekend Magazine entitled "Who is Happiest?" It gave the results of a "scientific poll" taken by the publication.

The survey showed that health and religious faith are the most important factors in personal happiness.

The poll also indicated that, in general, the happiest people are married, over 55, college graduates, and earn over $50,000 a year.

Part-time workers and retirees appear to be happier than full-time workers, and people who live with others are happier than those who live alone.

When asked to pick who's happiest, Bill Gates, Chelsea Clinton, Oprah Winfrey, the Pope, or themselves, half of those polled chose themselves.

What is it that determines how happy we are?

Mastering that most desirable but rarest of all human commodities, contentment, has to be a major factor. It takes a lot to ruffle a person who is truly content with who, what and where he is in life.

In spite of the survey results, it's doubtful that many of us can say with the Apostle Paul, "I have learned in whatever state I am, to be content."

There are no doubt a number of factors contributing to a lack of contentment.

One thing that keeps us dissatisfied is what one writer referred to as "affluenza." The need or desire to get more and more things can certainly keep a person from enjoying what he has now.

Many of us imagine that we're supposed to have a certain status that we never quite attain. Unfortunately, constantly looking forward to how things will be when you "arrive", will cause you to miss a lot of enjoyment along the journey.

As Thomas La Mance said, "Life is what happens while you're making other plans." Some people lack contentment because of their perfectionistic standards.

They're in a constant state of turmoil because they live in an imperfect world surrounded by imperfect people, including themselves. Their job, their family and their surroundings never quite measure up to expectations.

If the perfectionist can't succeed in lowering his sights a bit, he'll forever be discontent.

Of course, there's a fine line between contentment and lack of ambition. We wouldn't have the comfortable life that we enjoy today if everyone had been content with things as they were.

Frankly, I'm very grateful that somebody was sufficiently discontent with beating clothes on a rock and a scrub board to come up with automatic washers and dryers.

But there has to be a happy medium that enables us to strive for improvement, but not at the price of satisfaction with life today.

Someone has said, "The good life starts only when you stop wanting a better one."

And therein may lie the secret of happiness.

Cass City class of '53 holds reunion

The Cass City High School class of 1953 held their 45th year reunion Saturday night at Rolling Hills Golf Course. About 70 attended, including 37 classmates.

Former teachers and their spouses present were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Borg, Mrs. Katie Jackson, Art Paddy and Mr. and Mrs. Irv Claxeman.

Bob Fritz of Belrose, NSW, Australia, Mason Cook of Willits, Calif., Clinton and Joyce Eskilsen of Nekoma, North Dakota, and Herb and Marion Head of Zephyrhills, Fla., traveled the farthest to attend.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Stan Guinther, Jane Hool, Tim Burdon, Don Tuckey, Jim Munro, Margie Finkbeiner and Mary Ellen Wilson.

The committee distributed postcards featuring a picture of the former middle school, from which the class graduated. They also provided bricks from the school for each class member and teacher. "Brick" candle holders centered the tables.

A card was signed for Margie Finkbeiner, who recently suffered a broken arm and hip in a fall and was unable to attend.

The class voted to purchase a memorial brick to be placed in the downtown park.

The group agreed to have a 2-day reunion for their 50th anniversary, possibly over homecoming weekend, with the same committee in charge.

What's slim, witty and easy to pick up? Besides me?

It would really help, I kept thinking while picking up trash on M-81 in Cass City Rotary's 2-mile stretch of highway which it cleans, if the bottle return law were expanded to include cigarette packages.

The packages were by far the leading cause of road side litter. It's likely that a 10 cents per package fee would help but not cure the problem. Found in the collected trash were several 10-cent return bottles.

Believe me, big brother has his eyes on you. Received in the mail a large postcard touting trout fishing in New Zealand. It's not too hard to understand how my name got on the list since I am a member of Trout Unlimited and have purchased trout equipment in the past.

How did that company know that one of the things I would like to do is go to New Zealand river fishing?

Perhaps it was coincidence that the advertising message was tailor made for me.

It's a little scary if somewhere there's a file on me that shows such small details as my fishing preferences.

Man faces 31 counts of criminal sexual conduct

A Mayville man suspected of sexually assaulting 5 teens over a period of about 4 years has been formally arraigned in Tuscola County District Court on a host of charges.

Dennis C. Tiffin, 19, Mayville, faces 31 counts of third degree criminal sexual conduct allegedly involving victims at least 13 years of age but under 16 years between 1994 and May 1998 in the Fremont Township and Mayville areas.

Tiffin was also charged with 5 counts of sodomy, delivery of marijuana to a minor, selling/furnishing alcohol to a minor, falsely reporting a misdemeanor, and making an obscene phone call.

The criminal sexual conduct and sodomy charges each carry maximum 15-year prison terms, however, the prosecutors office is seeking to have Tiffin classified as a sexually delinquent person, subjecting him to a penalty of up to life in prison if convicted.

Bond was set at $50,000 for the defendant, who faces a preliminary examination on the charges Aug. 14 at 9 a.m. In other recent district court proceedings:

•Guadalupe E. Ramirez, 19, Akron, was charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor (second offense), fourth degree fleeing a police officer, resisting and obstructing a police officer, receiving and concealing stolen property valued at less than $100, and operating a motor vehicle without a license July 26 in Caro.

Bond was set at $10,000 for the defendant. His preliminary exam was slated for Aug. 21 at 9 a.m.

•Jayson T. Rayl, 17, Cass City, was arraigned on a charge of possession with intent to deliver marijuana July 20 in Wells Township.

Bond was set at $2,000 and a preliminary exam was scheduled for Aug. 14 at 9 a.m.

•Kenneth E. Williams, 25, Flint, was charged with possession with intent to deliver marijuana July 27 in Caro. Bond was set at $5,000 and a preliminary exam was scheduled for Friday at 9 a.m.

•Mary A. Brown, 57, Caro, was arraigned on 8 counts of embezzling more than $100 while serving as an employee or agent for Liebler Construction Co. Inc., Caro, between August 1997 and March 1998.

Her bond was set at $1,000 and a preliminary exam was slated for Aug. 21 at 9 a.m.

The Haire Net

After an exhaustive survey with World War II vets, this writer and Bob Stickle of Cass City, I'm ready to present the lowdown on this year's star movie, "Saving Private Ryan."

The movie, in case you have been comatose for the last couple of weeks or vacationing on the moon, is a story about the Omaha Beach invasion.

It has been given a rating as a best picture by every reviewer that I have read, seen or heard. Absolutely outstanding.

Normally all I need to know about a movie to be placed on my must see list is that it was produced by Steven Spielberg or starred Tom Hanks. Both together on the same flick gives it a 12 rating on the 1-10 scale in my book.

Both Spielberg and Hanks have been touring the country telling everyone that the movie is not for everyone and children under the age of 15 should not see it.

It depicts the war in all of its chaotic and bloody brutality.

Neither Stickle nor I plan to see it. As reported here previously, Bob is a veteran of the Normandy invasion. I can't recall how I learned this, since he never volunteers information about it.

Certainly he has a much more valid reason for avoiding the movie than I.

My 34 months in service during WW-2 was all state-side and included 30 months at Perrin Field, Sherman, Texas, and the worst that I had to handle was the 100-degree temperature that is a given in a north Texas summer. It was, of course, the days before air conditioning and in service a fan was something that you saw when you visited town on leave. But I digress. It's "Ryan" that is the subject here. I go to movies to be entertained. To forget the trials of the day or week. To leave feeling good for the movie experience.

That's why the hero-type war movies such as those played by John Wayne never have been something that I wanted to see. And these were "hero" movies, far from reality.

My actual association with the war as depicted in "Ryan" is probably not much greater than that of my kids, to which WW-2 is something to be studied in the history books.

What separates us is that WW-2 touched every adult at the time in one way or another. While I wasn't in any of the invasions, there were two brothers in my high school graduation class, 2 of my closest friends, who were.

One died in the Normandy invasion and the other died about 2 years following the war from injuries suffered in combat.

I just don't want to go to "Ryan" and come out of the movie feeling sad and dejected thinking about the twins and what might have been.

The back forty

by Roger Pond

© 1997 Roger Pond

I take it back. I take it all back. My long-standing belief that young women are not learning to cook has been seriously challenged.

A recent trip to our family reunion confirmed that many young women are excellent cooks. A few are so good that one youngster placed his mother's pie on the table with the comment, "This is my mother's famous apple pie."

He was accused of lobbying for an increase in his allowance, but I tried his mother's pie, and he was right. It deserves to be famous.

There were more than 80 people at our reunion and nobody went home hungry. I had a little trouble identifying everyone, but we're pretty sure they were all part of the family.

Reunions are a great time for reminiscing and telling old stories. My family is full of stories. Some of them might be true for all I know.

Cousin Dean repeated a particularly funny tale from his childhood, and someone asked, "Is that a true story?" "Well, it was when I started out," Dean said.

Our reunion has grown so large someone suggested we issue name tags next year so everyone can be identified more easily. That sounded like a great idea to everyone except me. I enjoy the suspense of trying to figure out who all of these people might be.

The name tag concept was quickly expanded with the idea that tags could be color-coded so everyone could tell which branch of the family each person belonged to. This led to additional comments that are best described as the "Pond treatment."

The name tag proposal was stretched, twisted, and exaggerated to ridiculous proportions. Someone commented we should put a number on each tag to indicate how many reunions that person has attended. I recommended a black mark for any person who arrived late.

Several people at my table suggested we give gold stars to those who brought the most food or the best dish. I wanted a silver star for anyone who brought deviled eggs.

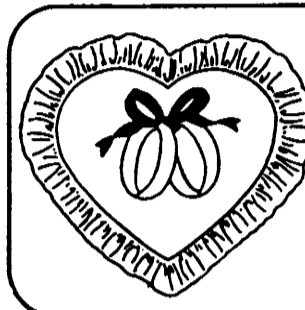

My brother-in-law offered that name tags were too small for all of the information we wanted to put on them. He suggested each person be given a roll of toilet paper containing the required data.

The toilet paper could be hung on a person's belt or waist band for easy access. "Then, folks could take the paper home with them so it wouldn't be wasted like name tags would," he said.

After all of the laughing and joking subsided, I wondered if anyone had a serious suggestion for what started out as a good idea. I should have known better.

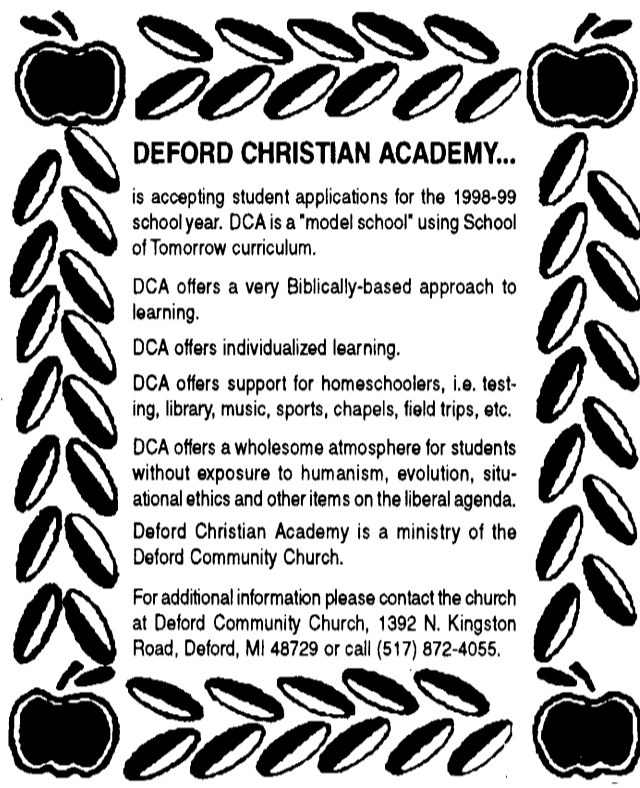

If anyone says something serious at our reunion, we throw them out.

Veteran craftsman Pete Martin still going strong

By Leah Nixon
Staff Writer

Area resident Pete Martin keeps himself busy with his hobby of crafting bird houses, bird, deer and squirrel feeders, tulips and decorative dogs and babies for people to put in their yard.

Martin, who lives on Rescue Road north of Cass City, has been making his creations for about 5 months now. "I used to make tables and swings, all big stuff. But, I can't handle that now, so I do little stuff."

Martin began making his crafts because he felt the need to become involved with something after losing his leg nearly one year ago. "I had to get into something."

He knows a lot of townspeople, he said, after living in Cass City all of his life and Martin sells his crafts from his home and garage sales.

"I got rid of 7 (bird houses) last week and next week I'm going to Bay City and Bad Axe."

Martin does not go to craft shows because he finds it difficult to get around with his Amigo personal transportation unit. However, he is in the process of making a sign to put in his yard letting people know what he is selling.

He may go to craft shows in the future if he has an easy way to get his Amigo in and out of his truck. "People tell me I should, but I hate to have anybody load and unload my stuff."

Feeders, bird houses and tool boxes sell for $15 and dogs and babies sell for $8. "I use 2 by 4s to make stuff because it is a lot thicker and a lot better."

The crafts are mostly pine, Martin explained, saying on the feeders and bird houses the small roofs are all wood shingles. "I have no help, I do it all myself."

"I'll do it until I die I guess," he added. "I'll continue doing it (making crafts) for a while."

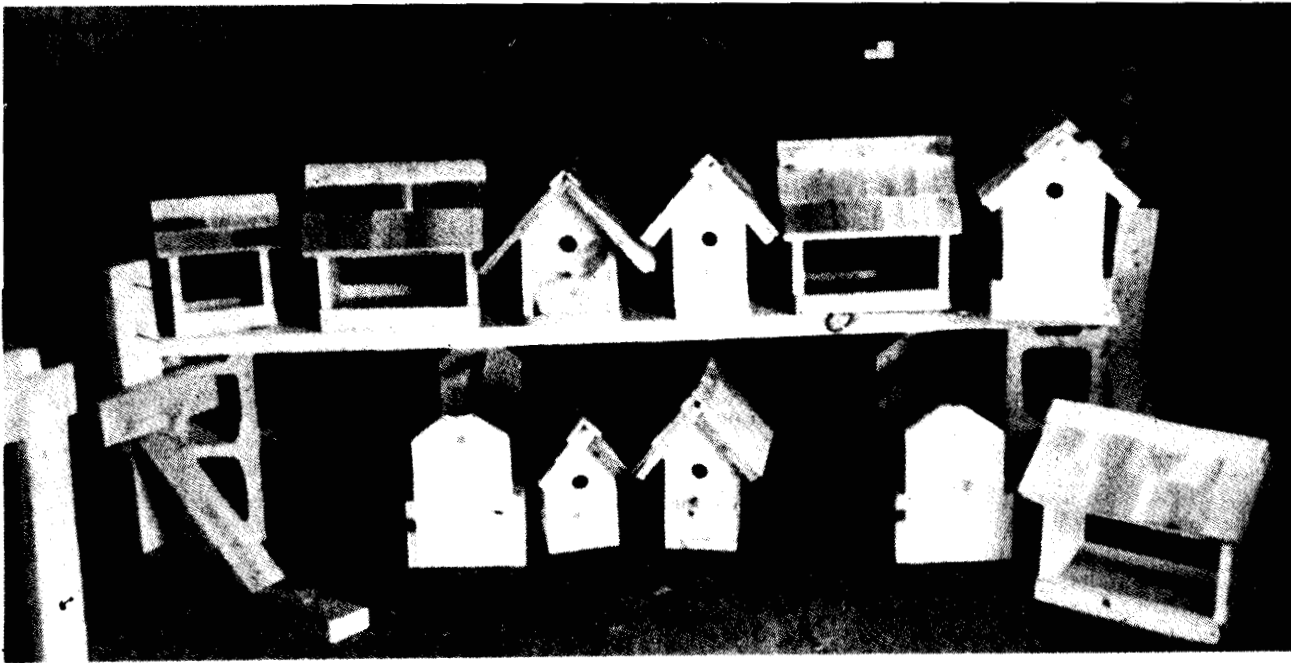

Martin makes his crafts year round and said it only takes about a couple of hours to make a craft.

"I have all kinds of tulips," he noted, adding he has a lot of other crafts, too, including chairs.

None of Martin's friends make crafts, but that does not stop him from spending a good portion of time working on his crafts. "I'm out here (in his garage) all day. I spend a lot of time doing this. I enjoy the work I have here."

He even includes a pole for the feeders and bird houses if people want them. "I put that stuff on a pole if people want."

PETE MARTIN of Cass City is sitting at his work table on a Monday morning where he produces crafts. Martin makes bird houses, bird, deer and squirrel feeders, tulips and decorative dogs and babies for people's yards.

MARTIN HAS his creations on display in his garage. The bird houses he has on display cost $15.

Newsletter offers advice on toddlers

Having a toddler is a wonderful time for parents but it truly is a test of a parent's flexibility, patience, and sense of humor.

Toddlers grow fast and learn fast so each day is different. Every parent can use support during this time, says Barbara Neuman, Extension Home Economist for Huron County MSU Extension.

Michigan State University Extension has a newsletter available that provides practical advice on the parenting of toddlers. It helps parents support their children as they learn new skills - not by pushing, criticizing or comparing their children with others, but by teaching, helping and celebrating their successes. As a parent, you are key in the child's developing a good self image, and this newsletter gives tips on appropriate guidance during years 2 and 3.

This newsletter is free to parents in Huron County. To receive yours, call MSU Extension - Huron County at 517-269-9949. You will receive 12 newsletters written by child development experts on what to expect as your toddler changes. Each newsletter will arrive in a timely manner according to the age of your child. Knowing what to expect at a certain age helps the parent give the proper guidance.

This newsletter is partially funded by the Huron County Council for the Prevention of Child Abuse, Strong Families/Safe Children, Early On Council, Zero to Three Grant, and Huron County MSU Extension Home Economics.

Your neighbor says

Looking forward to school year

Many parents may hear the words, "I wish summer would last longer", from the mouths of their children, and that rings true for 2 Cass City girls. Brittney Ponder and Sherry Putman, daughters of Tom and Louise Ponder, said they both have enjoyed their summer and wish school started later.

Outside of school, Ponder noted, "We've made a lot of friends through camp and going camping."

The 2 girls added they have spent their summer going camping with their family and attending camp, and they plan to spend the last days of summer camping in Bay City for the first time and visiting Michigan Adventure in Muskegon.

"We usually go camping up north in Oscoda," Ponder added.

Both girls attended Michigan Christian Youth Camp, Ponder for the fifth time and Putman for the second.

Not only did the girls meet new friends over the summer, but they may even find new friends at school because both 14-year-olds will be entering high school for the first time.

"They are entering ninth grade and the girls said they are not nervous, but it will be different because they will have a new principal and stricter rules."

Putman added she will also be participating in cheerleading and cross country.

Don't let it become law

Legal suicide not the answer

Some people think, "I may want the option of physician-assisted suicide because if I were suffering I may not be able to take it." This is always a great fear - the unknown. How bad will the pain get? Will it be too much for me to bear? ... But pain can be controlled.

My father died in March of this year from a debilitating cancer of the pancreas.

A few days before his natural death, he gave us a wonderful gift. He gathered us all together and shared his love and faith, giving each of us his parting words of fatherly advice. He talked openly to his adult children of the beauty of life and his acceptance of death. He then asked us to say something. And gathered together we shared our memories and experiences of Dad and of each other. We now have this as a wonderful memory of our father. Had he chosen to end his life due to his fear of pain or of being a burden, we would have missed our father at his best.

Arguments for physician-assisted suicide include a compassionate end of pain and suffering, "death with dignity", not burdening others... phrases chosen to play on our natural sympathy toward the sick and dying. But what will this lead to?

We can look to the Netherlands where acceptance of euthanasia began in the early 1970's. According to Advocates for Better Care, over half of the documented cases there have been carried out without the patient's consent. It is no longer just terminal patients who are being euthanized. It has changed from a right to choose, to a duty imposed on all who are no longer considered productive.

Please give this issue serious thought. I know if you do, you will agree with me that we can not allow this to become law. I encourage you to obtain more information on this issue by contacting your local Hospice agency, Right to Life of Michigan, or your local church. If you would like further information on this issue, write me at P.O. Box 95, Owosso, MI 48867.

Community support key to Festival

Dear Tom and Staff,

It has been just a month since Cass City's 20th Annual Fourth of July Festival. Based on feedback, our village again had a celebration that was both fun and successful!

Events like this don't just happen. It takes the participation, support and cooperation of so many organizations and individuals right here to present a festival of wholesomeness and quality. Both traits we like to enjoy by living in Cass City. The committee is grateful to not only the workers but to the thousands of people who came to help us celebrate!

What about next year? Our immediate goal is to recruit some new persons to share ideas and time. Anyone is eligible to be a part of the festival committee. We appeal to not only your readers but to everyone in the community. Don't hesitate to call. We need you and want you. 872-3147 or -3548.

Gratefully,
The '98 Festival Committee

Arraign 7 in circuit court

The following people appeared in Tuscola County Circuit Court last week on various criminal charges:

- Reginald L. Broadworth, 25, Caro, was sentenced to 3 years probation and 180 days in the county jail, with work release, for his plea of guilty to fourth degree criminal sexual conduct involving a victim at least 13 years of age but under 16 years Jan. 16 in Dayton Township.

Broadworth was also ordered to pay $1,000 in court costs and fines plus $516 in attorneys fees, $540 in oversight fees and a $60 victim crime fee.

- Luther G. Dinsmoore, 18, Akron, was sentenced to 24 months probation and 60 days in jail, with work release, for his plea of no contest to attempted second degree home invasion Sept. 24 in Akron Township.
- He was ordered to complete his high school education and pay $400 in costs and fines plus $769.03 in attorneys fees, $240 in oversight fees and a $60 victim crime fee.

- Rex C. Sparks, 17, Marlette, was sentenced to 2 years probation and 180 days in jail for his plea of guilty to unlawful use of a motor vehicle Feb. 7 in Caro.
- He was ordered to complete his high school education and pay $400 in costs and fines, $500 in attorneys fees, $240 in oversight fees, $1,500 in restitution and a $60 victim crime fee.
- David S. Bradley, 17, Caro, was sentenced to 10 to 15 years in prison for his plea of guilty to third degree criminal sexual conduct involving a victim under the age of 13 years Jan. 4 in Caro.
- William Burnham, 23, Caro, was sentenced to 16 months to 24 months in prison for his plea of no contest to probation violation.

- Robert J. Weller, 30, Vassar, was sentenced to 5 years probation and 365 days in jail, with work release, for his plea of guilty to operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, third offense, April 9 in Vassar Township.
- Weller, whose license was revoked, was ordered to pay $700 in costs and fines plus $1,080 in oversight fees, $235 in restitution and a $60 victim crime fee.
- Ozie Swinton, 40, Vassar, was sentenced to one year in jail, with worksite privileges, for his plea of guilty to probation violation - failure to report to his supervising probation agent.
- Swinton was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. His probation was revoked and his bond was ordered forfeited.

5 YEARS AGO

A 1985 Monte Carlo belonging to Charles Smith of Montrose was stolen early Sunday morning. It had been parked on Oak Street near Main Street at about 2 a.m. When Smith returned at 5:40 the car was missing. A deputy later found the vehicle, which apparently had been spun around in gravel and then rammed up against a bike rack in a grassy area just south of the village pool. Both the car and the rack sustained substantial damage.

It has been announced that an $85,000 grant has been earmarked for a master plan study of the Caro airport.

Paula Byron, who spent a year in Australia as a Rotary exchange student, found the Australian high school, Shalom Catholic College, quite different than Cass City High. She went to school year around with long holiday breaks periodically. Her school was more like college because the whole atmosphere was much more relaxed than it is here.

Jeff Hartel will replace veteran mentor Dave Hoard as head coach of the golf team this year.

The Cass City Rotary Club recently donated $1,050 to the high school basketball program with money raised from the 3-3 Fire in the Sky basketball tournament.

from Boston, where he is preparing to take his bar examinations, was honored for the most years in school, and Ann Lindfors traveled the greatest distance. She resides in her native land of Sweden.

A true fish story. After catching a tagged fish recently, Rick Tuckey measured the fish and mailed the tag to the conservation department. He received a card back from the DNR stating that the fish when released was about 2 inches longer than it was when caught.

Decker, 18, of Cass City, who was a passenger in the car.

The Village of Cass City has purchased some 5 acres of land within the village limits from Mrs. Frank Morris. The village paid $5,000 for the land, which was purchased as a site for the new water tower to be erected.

After 3 months without a regular pastor, the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City will again be served by a full-time minister. Sunday the congregation approved the appointment of Dr. Marion Stewart Hostetler, 51, now pastor of the Kinde and Chandler churches in Huron County.

Tineke van Eerde of Holland, this year's foreign exchange student, will spend from August to December at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Profit. She will live with the Gilbert Albees from December to April and spend from April to the middle of July at the Maynard McConkey home.

25 YEARS AGO

A fire Thursday night destroyed an old 2-story home belonging to contractor James Gray located at the corner of Pine and West Streets. The cause has not been determined.

Steve Bergman, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bergman of Cass City, was listed in poor condition Tuesday at Hills and Dales Hospital, after being struck by a car when he turned his bike into the path of the vehicle.

The Cass City Village Council voted to approve the purchase and erection of traffic signals at 3 intersections within the village. The signals, to be installed at the intersections of Rose and Seeger, Main and Seeger and Ale and Main, will cost approximately $2,500.

Cara Prieskorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Prieskorn of Cass City, returned last week from a year of study in Rhodesia on the African continent as a Rotary exchange student.

Two small tractors stolen Thursday from Rabideau Motors, Inc., were recovered Saturday in a field in Lapeer County.

10 YEARS AGO

The DNR has backed off the proposed Cass River fish kill as residents protested.

The Cass City State Bank board of directors has named C. James Bess president and chief executive officer. Prior to coming to Cass City, Bess was president and CEO of American Bank and Trust Company, Lexington, Ky.

The second annual Fun Day sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce has been scheduled Wednesday, Aug. 10, at Rolling Hills Golf Course.

Around 125 persons, including dates and spouses, attended the 1978 class of Cass City High School reunion Saturday night at Sherwood on the Hill in Gagetown. Gary Warju was recognized for creating the program emblem; Susie (Asher) Hillaker was credited with the latest newborn; Tim Tuckey, who traveled

35 YEARS AGO

Cass City lost one of its native sons this week when Andrew N. Bigelow succumbed to a lingering illness at Hills and Dales General Hospital Sunday. This summer he was forced to sell his hardware business that had been a business landmark in Cass City since 1888.

Gordon Bigham, 16, is still in critical condition at Hubbard Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe following an automobile accident that occurred Sunday. Listed in serious condition is Clarence

Sebewaing Lions Super Race Day to feature Super Sprint auto racing

The powerful thunder of Auto Value Super Sprint Series auto racing is coming to the Thumb.

The powerful machines will present a special program of auto racing at the Sebewaing Lions Super Race Day, slated for Aug. 15 at the Silver Bullet Speedway just east of Owendale.

Super Sprints will bring their time trials at 6 p.m. and will begin racing at 7 p.m.

Time trials are a lap around the quarter-mile oval track at the best speed and time each driver can attain. This will determine placement in the events that make up the racing show, including 8-lap qualifying heats and the main race featuring 20 of the top sprint cars.

Sprint cars are specially built autos with as high as a 750-horsepower engine and a weight of about 1,500 pounds. Most drivers custom build their own cars from the frame right up to the finished product. A distinctive wing on the top of the car is engineered to help keep the car on the track.

Aside from the wing, Super Sprint cars have several special features, according to Tim Deming, a seasoned Super Sprint driver from Bay Port. For example, he said, one of the rear tires is 18 inches wide and the other is 14 inches, which helps the driver negotiate corners.

The cars have 2 sets of brakes, but they must be pushed to get them started, Deming said, adding Super Sprint cars have no starter, battery, transmission or clutch.

Deming, who can cover the Owendale track in 13 seconds, said speeds typically reach close to 100 miles per hour.

Deming and the other Auto Value Super Sprint drivers slated to participate in the Sebewaing Lions Super Race Day travel a circuit covering an area from Michigan's Houghton Lake to the upper regions of Indiana and Ohio.

Deming and his wife, Dorothy, who own T&D Metal Works in Bay Port, are on the road every weekend from early May to late September traveling the circuit.

"Auto racing is the fastest growing spectator sport around today," Deming said, "and one of the most exciting and powerful sports."

Deming began his career at Thunder Road race track, east of Cass City, as a driver of the modified class of autos, and worked his way up to the Auto Value Super Sprints.

"The Lions Super Race Day should be one of the largest events held in Huron County," he said. "I am proud to be part of this racing event. I am looking forward to joining my friends and competitors that night."

The week before the upcoming races, 2 lucky people who hold advance tickets will be chosen to join Deming's pit crew. They will be able to help work on his 02 Super Sprint car, meet other drivers, look over the other cars up close, and view the races from pit row.

Also on the slate of racing for the Lions Super Race Day are street stocks, sportsman's, limited late model, figure 8, and a special celebrity challenge.

There will be giveaways all day long, with a top prize of a special edition go cart. Food tents and a beer tent will also be on the grounds that day.

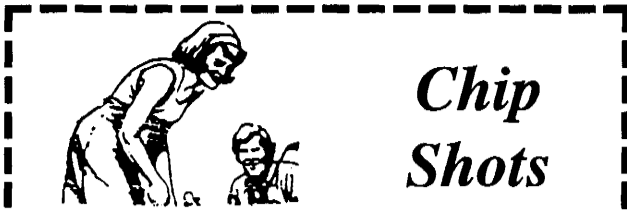

Advance tickets can be purchased at Luke's Market, Gettel Auto Mall, Peking City, Ray's Citgo & Nascar and Independent Bank, all of Sebewaing; at T&D Metal Works or the Deming trailer at race tracks; at Auto Value Discount Auto Parts in Essexville, or from any Sebewaing Lions Club member.

Yields could suffer Farmers need rain soon

By Leah Nixon
Staff Writer

Rain is on the minds of many area farmers whose crops look good now, but without more rainfall could suffer substantial decreases in crop yields. "They're doing well for the amount of rain they've had, but it's generally dry and if we don't get rain fairly soon, it will have an impact on yields," said Tuscola County Extension Agricultural Agent Harold Rouget. "So much depends on rain from now on." Angela Eichorn, an Extension agricultural agent in Huron County, agreed. "Precipitation has been spotty and some areas are experiencing droughty conditions. It doesn't look that bad, though."

The yield from the second cutting of alfalfa was lower than anticipated, but the yields from the next cut should be good, Eichorn said. Farmers are averaging about 50 to 80 bushels per acre with a good test weight. Sugar beets look good, along with the corn crop, which is 3 to 4 weeks ahead of schedule, with 90 to 95 percent of it tasseled out, ac-ording to Eichorn. When the tassel emerges from the plant it means pollination is going to occur, she explained. The silks on the corn are pollinated and kernels are developed in the ear. "We've been really lucky," Eichorn said, noting yields will be average or maybe slightly above average compared to what she described as great yields in Saginaw County due to higher rainfall amounts there. Sanilac County Extension Director Martin Nagelkirk concurred with his colleagues, saying, "We'll see what the next couple of weeks bring. We're sitting good, but we need rain shortly."

Aside from the weather, Nagelkirk pointed out, farmers have also been hit with poor prices. Growers are receiving 10 to 30 percent less than anticipated for goods produced. "The bottom line is that doesn't bode well when farmers are not awarded for the commodity produced. "It's a day to day thing, though," Nagelkirk pointed out. "Commodity prices can rebound, but there has been a pattern all season of weak commodity prices." According to figures compiled by the Federal/State Michigan Agriculture Statistics Service, prices received by Michigan farmers for the full month of June and mid-month prices as of July 15 were up and down. Corn prices were down by 9 cents to $2.05 a bushel from June and down by 58 cents a bushel from a year ago. Soybean prices, meanwhile, were up by 22 cents to $6.15 a bushel from June but were down $1.20 from July 1997. Dry beans were the same as June at $19 per hundredweight (cwt.) and up by $1.70 from July 1997, and wheat prices were down by 10 cents to $2.50 a bushel from June and down by 70 cents a bushel from July 1997. Milk prices for July were down 30 cents from last month at $13.50 cwt. On a positive note, despite moisture stressed crops and poor wheat commodity prices, disease and pests are less than what farmers generally see, he said. "There are nice stands and good growth and health." Eichorn agreed, saying, "As long as growers scout and keep on top of pests, they're not a problem." The lack of rain has also made incidences of fungus less likely, she continued. "Fungus requires rain." At the same time, Eichorn suggested that it would be a good idea to drill in alfalfa seeding in wheat stubble fields by Aug. 10 in order to avoid problems such as smaller stalks, weedy stands and winter damage. "It would be excellent for weed control benefits," she said.

BEN ZIMBA, son of Jesse and Sally Zimba, is cultivating a field off Mushroom Road in Deford. Jesse said they work down the field to keep grass and weeds out until fall seeding. He hopes to plant alfalfa the first or second week of August if it rains. Right now it's too dry.

Soccer connection available

In response to the tremendous growth in youth soccer, Michigan Live has launched the Youth Soccer Connection at <http://www.mlive.com/ysc>.

This feature offers Michigan youth soccer teams, clubs and leagues the chance to build their own free, easy-to-update Web sites or link to their existing Web sites. Michigan Live's Youth Soccer Connection enables soccer groups to:

- * post their group's information, news and schedules
- * publicize tournaments, clinics and activities
- * publish web links and information on how to get and stay involved in the sport
- * find out the latest youth soccer news and events around the state
- * be listed in Michigan Live's searchable statewide soccer directory

"The sport's become so popular, that 'soccer moms' are as abundant as minivans," says Dave Farrell, Michigan Live Editor-in-Chief. "Being a soccer dad, I can attest to the usefulness of this site. It's so easy to use, my 10-year-old son built a web site for his team."

Anyone with Internet access can build a free web site or promote their existing site through Michigan Live. The process takes only minutes and it begins at <http://www.mlive.com/ysc>.

Michigan Live (<http://www.mlive.com>) is a comprehensive web site featuring news and information about Michigan people, places, and things to do. Michigan Live features daily news, sports, entertainment, games, weather, talk and more. It's available free to anyone with Internet access.

Quilt display slated

More than 20 quilts made by Florence Karr Tuttle will be on display at Rawson Memorial Library from Aug. 10-15 during regular library hours. Among the quilts to be exhibited is a queen size Dresden Plate quilt which Florence is donating to the Friends of the Library to be sold to benefit the library. Tickets may be purchased at the library for a drawing to determine the winner of this quilt.

This exhibit is being held in memory of Ruth Grassman Houghton and her father, Preston Karr.

68 attend family reunion

The annual Lounsbury-Dean family reunion was held Sunday, July 26, at the Cass City Village Park. Approximately 68 family members attended. Loren Brinkman offered the blessing prior to the potluck meal.

Traveling the farthest to attend were Mike and Marian Quinn from Mesa, Ariz. Also from out of state was Camilla Partlo from Cleveland, Ohio.

Of the Lounsbury descendants present, Jessie Goodall was the oldest and her great-grandson, 8-week-old Jacob Allen Cole, son of Lec and William Cole, was the youngest. Another infant was 5-month-old Emily, daughter of Sam and Tonia Barriger.

Of the Dean descendants present, Murwin "Duteh" Ainsworth was the oldest and "Spike" Pomeroy was the youngest. Eighteen-month-old Anthony Quinn made a seventh generation appearance for the annual event (Townsend and Mary Dean Lounsbury; daughter Clarabell Woolman; daughter Winifred Strong; daughter Marian Quinn; son Tom Quinn, son Darby Quinn, son Anthony).

A moment of silent prayer was held in memory of family members who had died during the year: Myrtle Helwig, Linda Ussery, Audrey Barriger, and Leslie Lounsbury.

The same officers were re-elected: Tom Lounsbury, president; Murwin Ainsworth, vice-president, and Carol Lounsbury Strecker, secretary-treasurer.

Crown Nancy Puvalowski, 18, bean queen at Huron County Fair

Nancy Puvalowski, 18, daughter of Ray and Joyce Puvalowski of Ruth, was crowned the 1998 Huron County Bean Queen at the Huron Community Fair Monday.

Puvalowski was sponsored by Gettel & Company-John Deere. She plans to attend Oakland University, majoring in elementary education.

During the year Puvalowski will represent Huron County Bean Growers at various events in Huron County and around the state.

Also named as first runner-up was Angie Roestel, 18, of Pigeon, daughter of Don and Peggy Roestel. She was sponsored by the Proud to be Farm Bureau Community Action Group. Second runner-up was Angie VanErp, 19, of Bad Axe. The daughter of Bob and Sue VanErp, she was sponsored by the Young Ideas Farm Bureau

Community Action Group.

The Huron County Bean Queen Contest is sponsored by the Huron County Bean Growers and Huron County elevators. Local merchants have generously supported this contest by providing gifts for the new queen.

For users' protection

Credit card companies offer plans

(NAPS)—Smart consumers are always looking for the best value when they shop by comparing product features and benefits, and keeping an eye out for sales and other discounts. However, many shoppers don't think about what will happen after they bring their purchase home and begin using it.

For example, you've just bought a camcorder and placed it on the table. While reading the instructions, you accidentally knock the camcorder to the floor. What do you do? Believe it or not, you may be protected! "Consumers today are becoming more savvy about the value of credit cards as they shop for the best deals," said Marla Isackson, Vice President, Consumer Card Services, American Express. "Many cards provide benefits and services that save our customers time and money as well as assist them with unexpected emergencies."

Safeguard Your Valuables—Broken? Stolen? Get A Replacement
Expensive items such as camcorders, video cassette recorders and baby video monitors are breakable and may be prone to accidents in households with small children. But consumers can breathe a little easier because some charge and credit card companies, like American Express, offer purchase protection plans. These plans typically cover accidental damage and theft for a certain amount of time from the date of purchase. Protection is usually limited to a specific amount per occurrence, in excess of other insurance, so be sure to check with your credit card company first.

Extend Your Warranties For Free!

You may not need to buy additional warranties on major purchases because some charge and credit card companies will extend the terms of the original manufacturer's warranty. For example, American Express offers Buyer's Assurance which provides an extension of up to an additional year, on US warranties of 5 years or less when items are purchased entirely on their credit cards. There may be some restrictions on coverage, so call your credit card company first to double check.

forecast. "The long-term outlook has been thrown into a turmoil due to the end of El Nino and the beginning of La Nina, (which) is forming right now," he added. The weather phenomenon known as El Nino was believed responsible for the warmer than usual winter experienced last year in Michigan. La Nina, El Nino's cool weather cousin, could also have an impact on the Midwest, according to Andersen. There is a probability Michigan will have a colder and wetter winter this year, but there are no guarantees, he concluded. "Sometimes these weather patterns don't materialize."

New books at the library

Closed Chambers by Edward Lazarus: (nonfiction) This book is a fascinating and troubling account of politics at the Supreme Court. Using his own experiences as a law clerk the author opens the court to inspection and takes a revealing look at secret routines.

The Job by Douglas Kennedy: Ned Allen is a successful ad salesman for a computer magazine and his wife has an equally prestigious job. Everything is going wonderfully for them until Ned's company is sold and he is fired under circumstances that make it impossible for him to get another job in his field.

Genuine Lies by Nora Roberts: Beautiful movie star Eve Benedict has decided at the age of 50 to write her memoirs and has chosen Julia Summers as her biographer. Julia has a 10-year-old son to raise and can hardly refuse Eve's offer.

Peters studies Reading Recovery

readers to work one-on-one with specially trained teachers, Peters explained. Children are released from the program once they are reading at the class average or above.

New Zealand schools emphasize both reading and writing, which American schools are now doing more with the advent of the MEAP writing test, but there are methods in New Zealand that will be incorporated, she added. "Reading and writing go hand-in-hand."

"Reading Recovery is a wonderful program that gets good results one-on-one, but we need to get the information out to classroom teachers," she commented.

The guidelines of the program state there must be one teacher for every 2 first grade classrooms, Peters said. "It's necessary to have full implementation."

Peters is having a training class for classroom teachers this fall. "There are about 40 people signed up already. Last year a team from Cass City was trained."

The trained teachers return to their school and train other teachers, she explained.

TEACHER LEADER

One teacher, who is the teacher leader, promotes Reading Recovery throughout the Thumb area. Caro teacher, Deonna Montei, spends one-half her day teaching in Caro and the other half serving as a teacher leader.

Montei holds training classes and then continues contact with trained teachers in meetings 4 times a year, Peters said. "It is continual contact year-round."

Montei attended the conference with Peters and 2 other Caro teachers, Sue Chambers and Barbara Holzworth. Conference costs were covered for Peters by herself and her employer, she said. "The cost was split because part was work and part was pleasure."

The group spent 2 weeks touring while they waited for New Zealand students to return from their "winter holiday", she added, saying, "It is winter there right now."

hospital, Cass City, for treatment of injuries. Partaka was treated and released. Compton was admitted, however, hospital officials declined comment regarding her condition.

Two other passengers in the Compton vehicle, Tiffany J. Compton, 5, and Penny M. Partaka, 16, were not injured. Reports indicate all 4 occupants were wearing seat belts.

Yurgen, who was also wearing a seat belt, was not injured, nor were his passengers, Carl J. Mehrer, 42, Clinton Township, and James W. Luth, 45, Macomb.

Troopers cited Compton for failure to stop for a stop sign. Trooper Nunn was assisted at the scene by 2 troopers from the Bad Axe post, a deputy from the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department, the Elkland Township Fire Department and Cass City MMR Ambulance personnel.

Polega, who works at Regency Plastics in Ubyly, said she and the other women simply tried to reassure the children.

Polega noted a third woman also helped at the scene. She didn't know the woman's name, but said she works as a newspaper carrier and resides in the Kingston area.

"That can make all the difference in the world — especially if the children are injured — that they stay calm," she added. "The oldest girl did a fantastic job with the younger ones."
