rowd ations sign

An overflow crowd of irate businessmen crowded into the meeting room of the Cass City Municipal Building Tuesday night demanding that the zoning commission change the ordinance controlling signs in the Cass City business district.

What had ignited the crowd of some 50 persons was the $25 fee that was required to erect permanent or temporary signs and the tickets is sued by Cass City Police to 4 firms that were in violation of the ordinance. Five other firms removed signs to avoid being ticketed.

Despite diligent efforts by the village to notify businesses of the sign ordinances, enforcement caught many of them by surprise. It was explained that notifications of the proposed enforcement were mailed to all Main Street businesses with a date on which non-compliance would result in tickets.

Despite this, nearly all of the persons—attending claimed that they never read

The new ordinance was enacted, they pointed out, in answer to many residents' complaints about the shabby way that signs were left dangling in the wind. An illustration of the problem. Althaver pointed out, is that the tape holding a long-gone sign was left on the face of the building for over a year. A charge of selective entorcement of the ordinance was quickly answered by village manager Jane Downing.

who said that the list of the firms with tickets was available to anyone who cared to see it. FINES NEGATED

Businessman Rich Y voiced the sentiment of crowd when he asked board what action it into Ypma of the ed the tended

Althaver said that he would don his other hat as president of the village and assured the crowd that the $5 fine for temporary signs which several small business owners claimed was the "life blood" of their businesses would not be collected.

I will recommend to the district court that the fines and costs estimated at about $100 not be levied, he added. Enforcement of the ordinance will temporarily be sustined.

will temporarily be suspended.

While that answered some of the immediate concerns of the group, the basic problem remains. That concern was aired by businessman Gerald Prieskorn, who said that the banners and signs were getting out of hand.

To solve the problem, a committee of zoning board members, possibly village council members and business persons who object to the ordinance, will be formed.

It will examine what measures other Thumb communities have taken to control signs and come up with a plan for Cass City.

It promises to be a challenging task, balancing the business needs with the community's desire for a neat-appearing, attractive village. The board approved the plans for the regional dialysis center to be built 47 feet back from its Main Street location. The 4,500 squarefoot building will be vinyl sided. Tell Me Your Dreams by Sidney Sheldon: Three beautiful women, Ashley, Toni and Alette, are suspected of committing a series of brutal murders. The police make an arrest that leads to one of the strangest murder trials in history and a defense based on an unusual piece of medical evidence. The story moves quickly from London to Rome to Quebec City to San Francisco with an ending that will leave the reader

Day of Confession by Allan Folsom: A cardinal vicar of Rome is assassinated and Harry Addison in Los Angeles, receives a desperate message from his long lost brother, Danny, a priest at the Vatican. Within hours Danny is aboard a bus that blows up and Harry heads for Rome to find out what is going on. He begins to suspect that Danny wasn't on the bus and is running away because he is suspected of killing the cardinal. Harry is framed for the murder of a policeman and while he is on the run from that accusation and looking for Danny he finds himself in the midst of a mammoth conspiracy involving the Vatican.

Field of Thirteen by Dick Francis: The book contains a series of 13 short stories, many of them new and never published. Why am I not surprised that among the very few of the 50 or so residents attending last week's protest meeting with the Cass City Zoning Board without a direct stake in the outcome was Robert Papovich?

Papovich could be indirectly affected because he is a sign painter, but I can't believe that this was the primary reason he was in the center of the front row. #### Report stolen cycles

A reported burglary in Cass City over the weekend enabled village police to identify the owner of a motorcycle that was tossed into the Cass River at the south end of the village's walking trail last month.

But who stole the bike along with another motorcycle remains a mystery.

The Honda motorcycle stolen last month belongs to Frank Risken of Rochester Hills, owner of the Nestle Building in Cass City.

Risken identified the cycle after reporting Saturday that someone had broken into the Nestle Building, stealing 2 Honda motorcycles he had stored inside the building, which is located at the corner of Nestle and Church

According to Cass City police reports, the culprit(s) gained entrance by kicking in a door on the east side of the building. Police also noted someone forced open a second-floor interior door, breaking the door frame

There have been incidents of change within the village where the new way has been challenged partially just because it was new.

Now I'm not talking about the era when the community was split over whether or not the trees in the business district were to be cut. Or when the village council sneaked off unannounced (illegal today) to vote to install meters on Main Street and never reveal which council person voted to do so.

You could say that both changes were ill advised because meters were eventually removed and trees planted on Main Street. However, that conclusion would be open to serious challenge.

Conditions have certainly changed from the time meters were installed and removed, and the trees planted were much different than the large mature trees that were

It wasn't too many years ago that burning was banned in the village. It was dismaying at first for many who wondered what they were going to do with the garbage that formerly was burned in the messy old trash cans. Or, even worse, how those mountains of fallen leaves that formerly were burned were to be taken care of.

What at first was to be a problem turned out to be a much better way of caring for the garbage and the leaves.

What made it better was that the village bought equipment to handle the leaves when they were placed at the curb and the regular pick up of garbage, now accepted without thought, was inaugu-

It all didn't just happen. The leaf disposal system started in answer to a need expressed by village residents.

Thinking about all of these past events over the years, it shows that the village leaders at the time, when made aware of a problem, took steps to rectify it.

And when events proved that the suggested cures weren't effective, like they proved not to be for the trees and parking meters, they were discarded.

There were acrimonious accusations hurled back and forth, but in the end the issues were resolved. We hope that the commitV/SA* recently about choosing a wasn't supposed to be amusing, but it was for me.

The modern trend is to case-out the schools when moving to a new location. That way folks can buy a house in the right area, Thereby deciding which school their kids will attend.

Nobody even thought of shopping for a school when was a kid. That would be like choosing your parents. Kids just went to school where they were born.

If your parents moved, you went to a new school; but you never had a choice. If we had a choice, most kids would have chosen no school at all. So parents didn't talk much about options.

Nowadays parents spend weeks visiting schools and interviewing teachers and principals to decide where little Alphonse will learn his ABCs. It's too bad the school doesn't have a choice. They might like to send little Alphonse somewhere else.

Besides, there's no point in talking to teachers and principals when choosing a school. If it were me, I'd bypass the teachers and principal and go straight to the janitor. That's the person who knows what's going on. Teachers may come and go, but custodians are there for the long-haul. If you want to learn something, the janitor is the guy to see.

Harry was our janitor when was a kid, and everyone knew he ran the school. If someone wanted to use the gym, Harry opened the doors.

If something broke, he fixed it. When the principal forgot his key, Harry let him into the school.

Nothing is more poignant than an administrator begging the janitor to let him into

He would look at our pile of erasers and ask, "Where did you boys get all of these?'

We explained our technique of going room to room, collecting erasers. "All of the teachers seemed happy to get rid of them," we told him.

Harry never said so, but the twinkle in his eye was clear enough. He knew how Harold and I got that eraser cleaning job: All of the teachers were perfectly happy to

Audit brings good news O-G union airs grievance

Details of a grievance recently filed by the Owen-Gage Education Association against the school district were presented to school board members at a monthly meeting Monday night.

Donald R. Noble, Michigan Education Association representative, addressed the board on behalf of the local teachers union, saying the grievance involves an elementary school teacher's loss of her extracurricular position as sophomore class advisor.

Noble stated the contract

In addition, teachers who hold extracurricular positions have the right to retain those positions if they wish, he said, and if an administrator feels the person is not doing their job, the contract provides for a board of review to hear those concerns before any decision

In this case, Noble continued, the teacher in question was asked and she wanted to retain her position as sophomore class advisor. How-

Noble said the teacher, who was not named, wants to be reinstated as sophomore class advisor with all back pay and benefits.

Owen-Gage Education Association President Sandy Parks noted the teacher has since served as co-sponsor of the junior class, and she has agreed to continue in that role for this school year.

However, Parks added, she wants to serve as sophomore class advisor next year as she has for some 10 years, and she wants to be able to attend some class meetings.

School Supt. Manuel Thies indicated time spent attending meetings in Owendale, away from her classroom at Gagetown Elementary, was a factor in the decision to appoint another person to serve as sophomore class advisor. He declined further comment, noting the teacher was not in attendance at Monday's meeting.

Thies said the board's grievance committee will discuss the matter and make a recommendation within the next month.

GOOD NEWS

Turning to other matters, the board received some good news in the form of a 1997-98 audit report presented by Shay Lafferty of Laine, Appold and Co.

Lafferty gave the district a clean bill of financial health, saying the year's general fund revenues topped expenditures by more than $100,000. General fund revenues totaled $2,021,139, while expenditures came in at $1,906,565.

"Basically, you did some great budgeting," Lafferty said, adding the district held the line on spending in a year that saw a decrease in retirement expenses and an increase in state revenues.

Lafferty reported the up by $95,000 in 1997-98 compared to the year before, and up by some $600,000 compared to 4 years ago. Lafferty said Owen-Gage is

Woman

A Vassar area woman was recently arraigned on a charge of second degree child abuse, alleging she caused serious physical and/ or mental harm to a child between 1994 and 1998 in Vassar Township.

Sandra K. Curtis, 37, Vassar, was charged in Tuscola County District Court. Bond was set at $7,500 and a preliminary examination was scheduled for Thursday at 9 a.m.

Tuscola County Chief Assistant Prosecutor Mark Reene said Curtis is charged with knowing that her boyfriend was allegedly molesting a child in her care. The boyfriend, Steven L. Doyle, 40, Vassar, has been arraigned in Tuscola County District Court on 27 counts of criminal sexual conduct.

A preliminary examination date for Doyle is pending completion of competency and criminal responsibility exams of the defendant, Reene said.

Champions

Hawks claim title

All season long Coach Paul Chappel has considered the play of senior Ryan Downing a substantial key to his Cass City Red Hawk golf team's success. Last Wednesday, Downing proved his mentor correct at the Bay County Golf Course during the Greater Thumb Conference league tourney.

Downing, perhaps the team's most erratic scorer, fired a personal best 18-hole total of 80 to help Cass City n the Greater Thumb League crown. Downing's total was the 3rd best score on the day.

Entering the match, Cass City trailed hosts Bay City All Saints by one point. But a terrific team outing by the defending champions gave the Hawks their 2nd title in as many years.

"When I got to the course (at Rolling Hills to pick up the kids) Wednesday, there were a couple of guys practicing on the putting green, a couple more on the driving range, and a few others practicing chips around the green. And this was at 7:30 in the morning," said a pleased Coach Chappel. The practice seemingly paid off as Cass City easily won the league tournament with a team total of 320. Finishing runners-up on the day were the All Saints, who tallied a team total of 331, followed by Mayville with a score of 356 and Bad Axe, who shot 366. Finishing a distant 5th place was Lakers with a team total of 381.

The final conference standings duplicated each school's finish at the league tourna-

Not to go unnoticed at Bay City was the play of Dave Hobbs. Hobbs recorded medalist honors with an impressive round of 74. After recording a 39 on the front 9, Hobbs opened the back 9 at 5 under par - eagle, par, birdie, birdie, birdie - and posted a score of 35.

Also helping the Hawks to retain their title on the day, with their 18-hole totals, were: Brent Goslin (82), Matt Ender (84), Nick Chappel (89) and Joel Brinkman (95).

ALL CONFERENCE TEAM

The Greater Thumb Conference all conference golf team was announced following Wednesday's tournament. Four Red Hawk golfers were among the league's first and second teams. Included on the league's 6-member first team were Red Hawks Dave Hobbs and Brent Goslin. Named to the league's second team were Hawks Ryan Downing and Nick Chappel.

Also selected to first team honors were: Eric Shark and Mike Wenglikowski from Bay City All Saints, Drew Brining of Bad Axe, and Jamie Buehler of Mayville.

Rounding out the second team were: Brian Campbell and Jeff Genow from Bay City, Jake Raleigh of Mayville and Kerry Biarski of Bad Axe.

Coach Dave Fritz's Bulldogs used a rugged defense to record a 43-22 North Central Thumb League - Southern Thumb Association cross-over victory. The win lifts Owen-Gage's mark to 3-6 overall heading into this week's games with NCTL foes Port Hope and Kingston.

The Bulldogs will have entered Tuesday night's tilt as heavy favorites to top Port Hope on the Blue Stars' own floor, but will need a perfect game this Thursday if they have any hopes of knocking 7-0 Kingston from the unbeaten ranks in league play.

At Armada, Cassie Vargo helped put the guests on top 10-7 after the opening period as she connected on a pair of field goals in the game's opening 8 minutes.

The game was decided during the middle 2 frames as the Bulldog defense held the Tigers to just 8 points. Heading into the final frame, the guests enjoyed a 30-15 mar-

Hawks lose at Byron, Mayville next

It's too late for the Cass City Red Hawk football team with its one-win, 5-loss record to post a winning season after Friday's 28-0 loss to Byron, and the team will be playing for pride only as the gridiron year winds down.

While the Hawks have been out-manned in a couple of the losses, other defeats were counted when the football fortunes spun against the Hawks, who entered the year with high hopes.

Friday Mayville comes to town for the Cass City homecoming game. While the Hawks will be underdogs, a win for Cass City would not be considered a giant upset.

It depends on what team shows up, Coach Tom Oesch said. I thought we played exceptional defense against the Lakers, but we weren't able to continue it through the rest of the games.

If the Hawks are to challenge for wins in the last 3 games of the season, they will need to find a way to finish off drives with touchdowns. After Mayville, Cass City faces Bay City All Saints and Marlette.

The loss to Byron was a prime example of the problems the team has faced in this troubling season. It's hard to imagine that a team with a 338-yard to 209-yard total offense advantage in the game would be on the short end of a 28-0 score.

The difference was that Byron cashed in on every scoring opportunity and Cass City cashed in on none.

alties and mental mistakes at key times and stopped 3 times within Byron's 10-yard

Meanwhile, Byron made the most of limited opportunities to score. In the first period the first marker came on a 52-yard run. Later in the quarter the winners took advantage of good field position capped by a 16-yard scoring run and a pass for the extra points.

Byron scooped up a Hawk fumble to score again before the half. Cass City had driven to the Byron 14 with a chance to get back in the game. When Byron recovered the fumble and went the 86 yards to score, Cass City's chances for a win evaporated.

After a scoreless third quarter, Byron made its final drive of the night, scoring from 6 yards out.

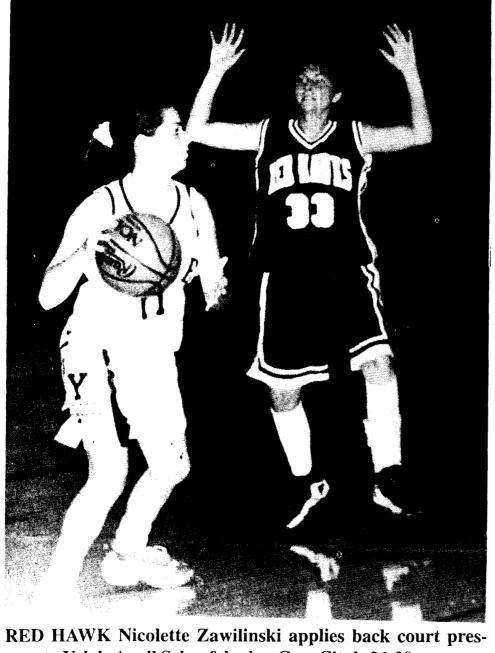

One bright note for Hawk fans is that Cass City, which has experienced more than its share of injuries this year. came out of the game without further loss of key play-

Adam Dorland, with 69 yards in 13 carries, and Bill Goodall, with 4 receptions for 46 yards, led Cass City's offense while Nick King contributed 8 tackles on de-

Cass City cagers nip Yale, 36-30

For awhile last Tuesday Hawk fans were concerned that the school's hoop team would bow for the third time this year to teams from the Greater Thumb East League while maintaining a leagueleading 4-1 record in the Greater Thumb West.

The Hawks trailed visiting Yale from the GTE at the end of the first quarter 10-7, but rallied to post a low scoring 36-30 win over the visitors in the only game played last

The game was the first of 2 non-league tune-ups for the Hawks. Tuesday they were to face Brown City and Thursday a key game is carded at the Lakers, tied in the loss column with Cass City. The winner will have a big leg up for the league title.

The Hawks will probably have to come up with a more potent offense than they exhibited against the Bulldogs if they are to prevail against the Lakers.

Yale presented a rebounding challenge against Cass City. Matching the Hawks' twin towers, Mellendorf and Shelly Ulfig,

The second and third quarters belonged to Cass City and the rally was enough to allow the team to edge out the win.

It was a nip and tuck battle in the second quarter. Tara McNeil, returning to the lineup after missing 4 games, scored from underneath to close the gap to a point.

After that Cass City threatened to take the lead several times and midway through the period tied the score on a pass from Ulfig to Mellendorf. But a basket by Nicole Palazzolo put the visitors ahead again. The Hawks finally took the lead in the dying moments of the half on a rebound bucket by Mellendorf and then countered a basket by Fletcher with a pair of charity tosses by Mellendorf to end the half in front, 19-18.

Ulfig took personal charge of the game in the third quarter with 5 hoops for 10 of the 14 points scored in the quarter. The Hawk defense helped, holding the visitors to 6 points in each of the last

Teen Read Week Oct. 19-25

The Rawson Memorial Library will participate in the first national Teen Read Week, Oct. 19-25. The goal: To turn teens on to reading. The message: "Read...for the fun of it."

The teen years are a time when many kids reject reading as just another dreary assignment. They stop reading. Test scores drop. The goal is to remind teens that reading is not only important, it's fun, it's free. They can do it anytime, anyplace. The library offers many books and resources on topics of special interest to teens. During Teen Read Week, the library is inviting teens 12-17 to commit to read 1/2 to 1 hour each day. The library's meeting room offers a quiet reading place in addition to the other reading areas available in the library. The week will conclude with a pizza party and book discussion for all participants to be held Monday, Oct. 26, at 4 p.m. in the library's meeting room. To participate, please register beginning Oct. 12 at Rawson Memorial Library.

Domestic violence not tolerated

Dear Editor:

With the most comprehensive domestic violence laws in the nation, Governor John Engler this week announced the next step to build on that legacy. Twenty years after the formation of the Domestic Violence Prevention and Treatment Board, Michigan last week took the next step in combating domestic violence. With the establishment of batterer intervention standards, judges will have minimum standards to use when sentencing criminal defendants.

The recommendations made by the Batterer Intervention Standards task force hold batterers uniformly accountable and keep the safety of the victims and other family members as a priority. Governor Engler has committed to working with Michigan's Chief Justice Conrad Mallett to implement these recommendations.

Thanks to the hard work of this task force, Family Independence Agency employees, judges and community groups, Michigan has made tremendous progress in comThey have all undergone extensive training to recognize the first warning signs of domestic violence in the hopes of preventing it before it

Input from these important stakeholders have helped our state lawmakers put into place the most comprehensive domestic violence and stalking laws in the nation. One major victory was a 5bill domestic violence legislative package signed into law in 1995. The package:

* Set criteria for issuing personal protection orders (PPOs) and required judges, who refuse to do so to explain why in writing. * Expanded the scope of the law to include people in a dating relationship. * Prohibited the purchase or possession of a firearm when part of a domestic violence or stalking injunction.

* Made PPOs effective immediately when a judge signs them to avoid delays. * Required PPOs be entered immediately into the statewide police computer sys-bating domestic violence. ment was the state's implementation of a toll-free hotline (1-800-99-NO-ABUSE) to help families in crisis. The Michigan Department of Community Health and State Police are also to be applauded for developing better methods to identify victims and their assailants and share critical informa-

attend conference More than 250 people attended the first conference structured especially for citizen volunteers who will serve on Michigan State University Extension county councils

The conference, held Sept. 14 at the Kellogg Center in East Lansing, was titled "Creating Our Future: Connecting MSU to Michigan Communities."

In addition to greetings delivered by MSU President M. Peter McPherson, and Fred Poston, vice-provost and dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, the group heard from a panel of Extension council members who reflected on rewards, responsibilities and results of their council activities.

They also received background information on political and financial trends affecting MSU and Extension from Steve Webster, MSU vice-president for governmental affairs, and Lynn Harvey, professor of agricultural economics and Extension specialist in state and local government.

Tobin Smith, formerly from Caro and chairperson of the Virginia Extension Leadership Council, gave the luncheon address. He talked about the issues involved in creating a system of leadership councils for Extension in Virginia.

The afternoon program featured tour options or minisessions designed to acquaint council members with MSU Extension programs and ac-

Council proceedings

The Regular Meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held Sept. 28, 1998, at 7:00 P.M. All Trustees were present with the exception of Trustee Kropewnicki.

Minutes of the August meeting were approved as presented.

The August Financial Statement was reviewed.

Treasurer's report showed that 93.7% of taxes have been collected to date. Jim Luth, owner of McDonald's, and Ralph Retherford, owner of Fort's Store, were present in regard to the letters they received concerning banners and portable signs. The Ordinance was explained and they have been asked to meet with the Village Manager to resolve their specific problems. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Horlacher were present and inquired on the mowing of weeds at Ridgeway Drive and Northwood Circle. Village Manager, Jane Downing, responded that the lots should be completely mowed by the end of the week.

The Manager's Report was

An invitation was received from the congregation of the Cass City United Methodist Church to attend a Service of Celebration on Sunday, Oct. 4, 1998, at 2:00 P.M.

Village Manager, Jane Downing, President Althaver and Trustees will meet at 4:30 P.M. at the Wastewater Treatment Plant on Tuesday, October 13, for a tour of the facility.

Trustee Prieskorn voiced concern over possible Ordinance Violations within the community. After much discussion, the consensus of the Council was to have the Village Manager look into Code Enforcement and prepare a plan and policy of enforcement for the existing Village Ordinances together to celebrate the Thanksgiving holiday and to share in the performance of great music with friends and colleagues. With this in mind, sponsors appropriately have planned a performance of the Bach "Concerto for Three Violins", featuring 3 generations of violinists, Doris Preucil (grandmother), William Preucil Jr. (son), and Alexandra Preucil (granddaughter), as soloists. This will be their first performance of this composition together.

Other composers to be featured during the 1998 Festival are Brahms, Bernstein, Haydn, Mahler, McMichael, Loeffler, Strauss, Respighi and Mozart. Music for organ, mezzo-soprano, flute and guitar will dominate the concert in Caro Nov. 24. "Each season, the Village

Bach Festival seems to have brought something new and stimulating in terms of repertoire and musical artistry,' said Althaver, chairman of the Festival. "The vast amount of repertoire and the consistently high performance level has distinguished the Festival now for 20 years. It will be diffcult to see it end, but we are so very grateful that we have been able to sustain such a high quality series of concerts in rural Michigan. Our lives have been deeply enriched by the presence of all the committed and gifted musicians who have performed for the Village Bach Festival since its inception in

Meet the candidates Monday

A public meeting to question candidates for public office from a biblical point of view will be held at the First Baptist Church of Caro Monday night, Oct. 19.

The forum is called "Christians Meet the Candidates" and has been held every election year in Tuscola County for many years. This year's event is sponsored by most of the Baptist churches in the county and is expected to draw representatives of several denominations. The program will begin at 7 p.m., and the public is invited to attend at no cost.

The First Baptist Church of Caro is located at 1535 Gilford Road, which is next to the Caro Community Hospital. People from every area church are urged to attend this forum.

4-YEAR-OLD Kela Robb wants nothing more than to take her first steps without the help of a walker.

Kela's first steps goal of fund raisers

Tammie is a 1983 Cass City High School graduate and the daughter of Tom and Doris Stimpfel of Cass City.

BIRTH DEFECT

Born 2 1/2 months early at just 3 pounds, Kela had her first surgery to repair a birth defect that left most of her intestines and part of her stomach and liver outside her body. She has endured a dozen operations since, including 9 brain surgeries to relieve pressure caused by fluid on her brain.

"For the past year and a half, she's been pretty healthy," Tammie commented Sunday at her parents' Cass City area home. life, some of it was just touch $24,000 to cover the costs of and go. There were times 3 therapy sessions in Poland. when we thought we might

At 16 months of age, Kela was diagnosed with cerebral

Tammie noted the disease is not degenerative, meaning the damage done to her brain will not get worse, but it won't get better, either.

Four years of therapy have helped Kela learn to sit up, crawl and even stand for brief periods. "She walks with a walker now. She stands independently for maybe 20 to 30 seconds," Tammie said. "That's something we've been working on in therapy here."

Kela's only hope for independence, Tammie added, is hours of intensive physical therapy to "teach" her legs to function the way they should.

Which is where the trip to Poland comes in.

Kela's doctors believe an innovative clinic — the Euromed Rehabilitation Center in Mieino, Poland may give her the opportunity to walk on her own.

Euromed offers an intense, 28-day therapy program that uses a special "Adeli" suit originally developed to help rejuvenate cosmonauts' muscles after returning to Earth. It has been modified and used in Poland since 1994 to help rehabilitate children with cerebral palsy from around the world.

NO MIRACLE CURE

"This is not a miracle cure," Tammie pointed out, adding children accepted into the program work aggressively at physical therapy 6 hours a day, 6 days a week.

"These kids do remarkably hard work to further themselves. It's not going to be a pienic for my daughter or my husband (who will accompany Kela)," she said.

It also will not be cheap. The family has been told it will probably take 3 or 4 trips to Poland within the next 2 years for Kela to get the maximum benefit from the program.

The therapy, room and board for Kela and one parent is $5,500 for each 28-day program, plus round-trip airfare, estimated at between $1,000 and $1,700. There will be another $500 to $1,000 in other travel expenses.

Organizers of the upcoming "The first 2 1/2 years of her benefits hope to raise about According to Tammic, Kela will be part of a study headed by Dr. Edward Dabrowski, co-director of neurology and rehabilitative medicine at Children's Hospital in Detroit. The study results will determine if a facility similar to the one in Poland can be set up in Michigan and what parts of the Euromed therapy program should be adopted in the United States.

In the meantime, Kela's family has high hopes for the therapy.

Kela, a preschooler at Emmanuel Lutheran in Bay City, will always have a disability, but learning how to walk will open the door to a life of independence, Tammie said. "I would like her to have as much a normal life as possible. Kela, who was officially accepted into the Euromed program last month, will leave Nov. 9 along with her father for her first visit to the Euromed facility. They will return to Michigan in mid-December.

"I can't imagine how much I'm going to miss them, but at the same time I know, I know in my heart this is going to be a turning point for her," Tammie said. "I believe she's going to come back walking. It may be only a few steps.

"That would be the greatest Christmas present in the world.'

United Way goal $25,000

campaign netted contributions totalling $45,000, topping that year's goal by $20,000. In 1995-96, donations totalled another previous record — $34,000 exceeding the goal by $14,000. A total of $29,000 was collected in 1994-95, when the goal was $19,000, and $24,000 was collected in 1993-94, easily topping that year's goal of $18,000.

Most of the contributions received during the United Way campaign are distributed the following spring. One exception is money spent on an annual Christmas basket program that benefits needy families in the area.

A full 85 percent of local United Way dollars remain in the community through allocations to local groups and agencies such as Boy and Girl Scouts, little league, the Cass City Fourth of July Festival, Tom Thumb Community Choir, school programs, American Association of University Women and the Village Bach Festival.

The local United Way board also contributes to the United Way of Tuscola County to help fund agencies and services that benefit residents in the Cass City area.

Anyone who isn't contacted but would like to make a donation this year can contact any Cass City United Way Board member. They are: Kirk Winter, president; Dawn Prieskorn, vice president; Nina Davis, treasurer

Dale McIntosh, secretary; and trustees John Maharg, Beverly Perry, Joe Guza, Beth Howard, Ken Spencer, Colleen Langenburg and Wayne Dillon.

Contributions can also be mailed in care of Kirk Win ter, 2971 Huron Line Rd., Cass City, MI 48726. Additional information is available by contacting Winter at 872-2151 (work) or 872-4671 (home).

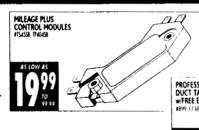

MEMBERS OF THE Cass City United Way Board (above) met Thursday to set this year's campaign goal. Taking into consideration the loss of more than 100 jobs at Walbro Corp., the board decided on a goal of $25,000, $5,000 less than last year.
