Filion gets vear in jail, probation

VOLUME 93, NUMBER

Melissa Filion, the third of ne so-called "school banits" convicted for their roles n a series of burglaries in the 'humb in 1997, was ordered o serve 4 years probation ind one year in jail last week n Huron County Circuit

The sentencing of Filion, 21, a Bad Axe resident, folows a failed attempt to take ier case to the Michigan Court of Appeals after enterng a conditional no contest plea earlier this year to a :harge of conducting a crimi-1al enterprise. She was subequently ordered to serve 18 nonths to 20 years in prison, 10wever, under the condiions of her plea, Huron County Circuit Judge M. Rihard Knoblock and the county prosecutor's office igreed to put the sentence on 10ld during the appeal pro-

Filion had hoped to argue that the statute covering the offense of conducting a criminal enterprise did not apply to her involvement in the burglaries. She maintains she only assisted her co-defendants after the crimes occurred, however, prosecutors say her actions – helping the other defendants sort and divide up stolen cash after each break-in - ensured that the crimes would continue, thus making her a key player in the criminal enterprise.

But the appeals court refused to hear Filion's appeal, sending her back to Huron County Circuit Court last Please turn to page 13.

Rodeo highlights 118th fair

Professional rodeo action will again highlight a full week of family fun during the Tuscola County Fair, which will get underway Sunday at the fairgrounds in

As always, the fair, celebrating its 118th year, promises something for everyone, from 4-H livestock shows and pickup and tractor pulls to carnival rides and plenty of music and tasty treats.

The price of a ticket remains the same this year at $7 per person, which covers admission, parking, grandstand events and rides. Children under the age of one year get in free, and no admission will be charged on opening Sunday.

This is the fifth year that the International Professional Rodeo Association will be featured at the fair. The action is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Friday, July 23, and Saturday, July 24.

Also returning this year is daily harness racing, starting at I p.m. Monday through Thursday, with Friday scheduled as a rain date.

Free entertainment will be offered throughout the week, featuring the Comedy Safari Show in the tent in front of the merchant's building.

The fair kicks off Sunday with a 4-H dog show at 10 a.m. The 4-H parade is slated to begin at 6:15 p.m. (starting at the sugar beet plant through the fairgrounds to the grandstand), followed by the annual 4-H talent show and crowning of the 4-H king and queen at 6:30 p.m.

A full evening of gospel music will get underway at 7:30 p.m. Featured will be the Praise Quartet, Two for One, and Family Traditions. Monday's activities include 4-H horse and rabbit shows, both at 9 a.m. Also on tap are performances by country and western singer Mandy Lynn with her band, Britt Small, starting at 8 p.m.

Tuesday is "Kids Day" and all children ages 14 years and under will receive a $1 discount until 4 p.m. Four-H swine, goat, horse and poultry shows are all slated to get underway at 9 a.m., followed by a 4-H and open dairy show at 10 a.m., and a 4-H and open sheep show at 5 p.m. Also on tap is the everpopular demolition derby, which will start at 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday's activities start out with open horse and goat shows, and a 4-H and open beef show, all slated to begin at 9 a.m. The small livestock sweepstakes will get underway at the rabbit judging tent at 6 p.m., and the 4-H large livestock sweepstakes will follow at 7 p.m. Fans of pickup and tractor pulls will want to be on hand at 7:30 p.m., when that competition will offer drivers the chance to battle for bragging

Senior citizens will get an admission price break Thursday, "Senior Citizen's Day", which features free admission until 6 p.m.

The day will feature the annual 4-H and FFA small animal sale at 9:30 a.m., with the 4-H and FFA livestock sale scheduled to start at 1 p.m. (buyers check-in begins at noon). Rounding out the day will be pony pull competition at 6 p.m.

Friday will kick off with a 4-H and FFA large livestock judging contest at 9 a.m. Pedal pull competition is slated to start at 4 p.m., followed by the first night of rodeo action at 7 p.m.

"The first 2 years we only had (the rodeo) one night. Since then, we've gone to 2 nights and it has filled the stand both nights every year," Fair President Junior Vandemark said of the popular attraction.

Saturday's slate of activities includes a light horse pull at 10 a.m. and heavy horse pulling at 1:30 p.m. Rodeo action continues Saturday at 7

The fair concludes Sunday with motorcycle time trials at 11 a.m., with the races scheduled to get underway at 1

MEAP scoring snafu delays local results

By Jolene Schultz Staff Writer

Incorrect scores on many state-assessment exams have some Cass City School officials questioning the validity of all test results.

According to Joan Helwig, guidance counselor and Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) test coordinator for Cass City Middle School, the incorrect scores on the MEAP tests are a result of scoring mistakes by the National Computer Systems (NCS) in Iowa. NCS is under a 3-year contract with the State of Michigan to score MEAP tests.

According to Helwig, the Statewide MEAP score mess-up of NCS is big, and may even end up costing NCS a couple million dollars to fix. And, it has caused Cass City Schools a number of headaches.

First, statewide results for fifth-grade science are wrong. Helwig said the constructive response problem on the test was scored wrong, which may result in incorrect scores across the state, including Cass City Schools.

"I think it's a combo of computer and human error," Helwig said. But, she noted, it's not the fault of Cass City Schools.

"We checked and double checked. I know they were shipped out right," she said. "The mistake was on the other end." Brad Warfel, communications consultant for the Michigan Department of Education at the MEAP office in Lansing, said that statewide scores are now cor-"There was a technical Warfel went on to explain that they found out about the glitch only days after the results were sent to schools. and so the schools did receive incorrect results as far as fifth-grade science scores. He said that NCS spent 3

Zimmerman gets 30-50 year term

A Gagetown man was sentenced Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court to 30 to 50 years in prison for his role in a break-in of a Gagetown business last December.

Allen N. Zimmerman Jr., 35, received concurrent prison terms of 30 to 50 years for safe breaking and breaking and entering a building with intent to commit larceny, and 10 to 15 years, also concurrent, for larceny in a building. The charges stem from a burglary Dec. 4 at the Gagetown Inn, 4773 State St.

A jury found Zimmerman guilty on the charges after a 3day trial last month.

His co-defendant, James E. Smith, recently entered a plea of guilty to one count of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny, a felony punishable by up to 10 years in

Under a plea agreement, charges of safe breaking, larceny in a building and conspiracy will be dismissed, and Smith will be ordered to make full restitution.

He faces sentencing Aug. 27 at 8:30 a.m.

During the 1998 Tuscola County Fair, Katie received 3 trophies, awarded to her for reserve grand champion over all feeder, grand champion homegrown feeder, and first place dairy feeder calf. The feeder, weighing in at 450 pounds, sold to Ruggles' Farms at $1.25 per pound.

Katie, daughter of Jane and Keith Wood, is very confident in Phoo. She's been walking him since he was 2 weeks old and continues to train him with a show stick. He seems comfortable beside Katie and doesn't mind being led by a halter.

He almost seems like a pet. But he's not.

"It's a business," Jane Wood said. "If you get into it, you have to learn to let go of the animals." Katie kissed Phoo's nose.

A couple of items in the passing parade that sparked questions. Decisions reached that challenge fairness or personal responsibility.

The first involved Terry Nichols, now serving a life sentence after conviction for participating in the Oklahoma bombing. He is back in court alleging that the government withheld 43,000 FBI documents that could have helped his case. The prosecutors countered by saying that 1,200 pertinent FBI files were turned over to the detense and those that were withheld would not have altered the decision.

The prosecutor says that there is no legal or factual basis for turning the documents over to Nichols' law-

If that is true, the question that looms instantly for me is if that is so, why not turn them over? If there is sensitive material involved certainly. I'd think that the decision to withhold it should have been decided before the original trial by an impartial judge, not by the prosecutor who has an obvious bias.

The second was the decision reached by a jury in Florida finding the tobacco industry guilty of producing a product that causes diseases in the heart, lungs and throat. They also had to decide whether cigarettes were addictive and whether the tobacco industry had concealed the health risk involved in smoking cigarettes.

Certainly the health risk has been established. Certainly, the industry had to be goaded into releasing information on the dangers of smoking. Most folks would agree with that. That smoking is addictive goes without saying.

But somewhere in this decision about accountability, personal responsibility should be a factor. No one made them smoke and for over 3 decades the dangers associated with smoking has been well known. An expose in the Readers Digest in Those were the days when presidential candidates had to prove how strong they were. Readers will remember Bush went jogging, Paul Psongas swam the length of a swimming pool, and Ross Perot said, "Sure I'll exercise with you fellas. Somebody saddle-up my horse."

about the physical strength. We don't expect to see Liddy Dole out there jogging up and down the street. She doesn't have the shoes for it.

Most of these candidates are headed for Iowa to campaign for the straw polls this summer. I hope somebody in Iowa can get some work out of them. (Maybe they can plow a few rounds with their mules like Al Gore used to do.)

I know these campaigns are part of the democratic process, but they're such a waste of time and money. Why can't we just appoint someone who missed the meeting, like the Grange used to do?

Walbro Corp. purchase finalized by TI Group

Although most jobs within Walbro Corporation are secure after its buyout by TI Group Inc., there may be some rationalization of administrative positions, said TI Group spokesperson Larry Weis Tuesday.

However, he noted that the loss of administrative jobs will be insignificant.

"It's a merger that benefits in terms of jobs. It far outnumbers the losses," Weis

The final purchase announcement of Walbro Corporation by TI Group Inc. came July 8. TI Group, a global specialized engineering company, acquired Walbro for a total acquisition of $570 million, of which $388 million was assumed from Walbro's debt.

MEAP results are in

By Jolene Schultz Staff Writer

Owendale-Gagetown School children made significant gains in fifth and eighth grade science, and seventh grade math and reading, showed moderate improvement in fourth grade math, and continued to struggle in fifth and eighth grade writing, according to recently released Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) test results.

According to Rhonda Powers, curriculum coordinator of Owendale-Gagetown area schools, proficient scores include those which rank in the proficient and novice score bracket. Powers said students scoring in the not yet novice bracket are not considered proficient.

The biggest gains came in fifth-grade science, where students were 95.6 percent proficient, compared to the 1998 proficiency score of only 16 percent. The 79.6-

Officers elected

Installation of officers for the 1999-00 school year was the highlight of a brief Owen-Gage Board of Education meeting Monday night.

All officers were re-elected with the exception of new board member Brenda Kretzschmer, who was elected assistant secretary. The other officers are: Paul Hunter, president; Ron Good, vice-president; Walter Swiastyn, treasurer; Randy Howard, secretary, and Tom Mellendorf, assistant trea-

In other business, school Supt. Manuel Thies briefly updated the board on plans to spend $450,000 approved by voters last month for purchase and installation of a new gym floor in the juniorsenior high schools and a host of technology upgrades in both the junior-senior and elementary buildings.

Thies recommended, and the board approved, the hiring of Wakely Associates, Mt. Pleasant, to oversee construction of the new gym floor, including making sure corrective measures are taken to eliminate moisture problems that led to damage of the existing floor. Cost of the contract with the architect/ engineering firm is $11,600.

The work is expected to begin in May or June 2000.

Also Monday, the board briefly discussed plans to build a 24-foot by 28-foot storage building on the west side of Gagetown Elementary School.

TDM Construction, Cass City, was awarded the contract, according to Thies, who noted TDM was the low bidder at $8,200. Two other bids were received, including a high bid of $13,460.

The board also approved Athletic Director Joe Candela's recommendations to hire Al Dadacki, Cass City, as the district's new junior varsity basketball coach, and Rick Salcido, Cass City, as the new golf coach.

eighth graders are still strugpoint jump, according to Powers, is because of staff awareness, changes in teachscores. Fifth-grade writing jumped ing methods and curriculum alignment. Part of it is the changes in the way the teachers present material," Powers said. "You also have to look at the fact that the numbers go up and down rapidly, possibly because a couple students one year aren't doing well."

Powers said there is an average of 25 students per class, and with such small numbers, a few students can make or break the scores.

The second biggest jump in scores came in seventh-grade math, followed by eighthgrade science and seventhgrade reading.

Seventh-grade math scores rose as much as they possibly could. Now at 100 percent proficiency, the scores jumped by 68 points from the low 1998 score of 32 percent. Eighth-grade science scores rose from 20 percent in 1998 to 85.7 percent. Seventhgrade reading scores also increased, jumping 40.9 points from last year to 88.9 percent. Fourth-grade math scores made a moderate gain, jumping 21 points from the year before to a percentage of 94.1. Fourth-grade reading is now at 88.3 percent, increasing by 19.2 points from the previous year.

The smallest gains came in writing, where both fifth and only 4.9 points from last year, and sits at 60.9 percent. Eighth-graders did even worse. Currently at only 57.1 percent proficiency, even after picking up 2.9points from last year, they are still below the state average by 6.4 points.

All other scores surpass the state average by 3 or more

"We're going to look at what we can do," Powers said. "We offered a workshop for the staff last year. It gave the staff ideas on teaching writing."

Powers added, "We're going to toss around a few ideas and look at the MEAP scores and the new direction to go, as well as what changes need to be made to make students most successful.

According to Powers, the MEAP scores for the Owendale-Gagetown area schools have increased steadily over the past 4 years.

"The administration is real pleased with the results," she said. Powers added, "The State puts a lot of emphasis on it, but our students are more than MEAP scores.'

According to Powers, the social studies section of the MEAP test is new this year and scores have not yet been released. She is expecting them sometime in August or September.

Exercising a real necessity

Fitness is an important part of everyone's life. Jerry Ferris, retired from Cole Carbide Inc., is the first to agree. He enjoys exercising, but for him it's also a necessity.

Ferris has been exercising for 11 years now because of doctor's orders. When he was working, he kept injuring his back. He also has a heart dysfunction.

"There's no danger of a heart attack," he noted, "but I'd get really tired."

Ferris began working out at Walbro's fitness center. He said he was able to because his wife, Pat Ferris, is an employee. However, when spouses were no longer allowed to have use of the facility, Ferris transferred to Michigan Athletic Rehabilitation Center (MARC) in Cass City. He's been there ever since.

"I have no choice," he said.

"I ride the aerodynamics, work out on the treadmill and different weight machines," he said. He does this 3 days a week, for about one hour each session. His trainer is Barb Henderson.

"This fitness program helps," he said. "The Lord gave me the strength to do it."

Ferris believes that fitness is important to everyone. In his spare time, Ferris, who has 3 children, enjoys camping, especially at Port Austin in the Thumb. He camps with his wife and his family.

Ferris also enjoys part-time preaching.

Youth soccer camp coming to Cass City Aug. 9-13

A soccer camp for children and teens will soon be available in Cass City.

The Major League Soccer Camp sponsored by American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO), Major League Soccer (MLS) and Cass City will take place August 9-13 in the Cass City Village Park. Children ages 4 1/2-18 are encouraged to register for the Major League Soccer Camp.

"If children have played the game, like the game and want to continue the game, this is the camp to attend,' said Matt Tunstall, camp organizer and assistant regional commissioner of the Cass City region.

Tunstall said experience is not required. Beginners between the ages of 4 1/2-18 are welcome.

"In most soccer camps," Tunstall said, "everyone is thrown together and they try to teach them everything."

But Major League Soccer Camps, held in many U.S. cities throughout the summer, have 6 separate age groups.

"This focuses on each age group," Tunstall said. "The 4-6 year olds will learn how to kick the ball in the right direction. The 9-10 age group will learn passing basics. The high school group will learn the philosophies of soccer, including offensive and defensive philosophy."

Tunstall added, "Imagine trying to teach a 4 year old the basics of soccer. It wouldn't work.

And at this camp, children have the potential to learn about more than just soccer. They will learn about other cultures as well.

The greater percentage of the soccer instructors, Tunstall said, are from overseas, with the majority being from Europe.

The instructors hold either the European Football Association's A or B license, its U.S. equivalent or the Major League Soccer Coach (MLSC) certification award. They have also been edu-

While in Cass City, the coaches will be hosted by area families.

Tunstall added that for every 10 children attending camp, there will be one instructor. With soccer becoming a school sport this fall at Cass City High School, the camp couldn't have come at a bet-

"It'll start getting kids on track with the children from other communities who have had the sport in high schools for a longer amount of time," Tunstall said.

Cass City area children currently play soccer through the AYSO of Cass City, which has been in the area for 1 1/2 years.

"Last year, a Major League Soccer Camp was held in Caro and a handful of Cass City children went," Tunstall noted. "Those handful that went to the Caro camp were a step above the others when they returned." Students from around the area are welcome to attend the Cass City Major League Soccer Camp.

"We even have someone coming from Mount Pleasant," Tunstall said. "Whoever wants to participate can "Not since the returnable bottle laws of the late 70s and 80s, has an anti-litter effort had such a profound effect on beautifying Michigan," said State Transportation Director James DeSana.

MDOT has seen a steady drop in the number of bags reported in recent years. Collections were down to 90,000 bags in 1998 compared to an all-time high of 170,000 in DeSana urges motorists to be extra cautious as they approach any of the estimated 20,000 orange-vested volunteers working along 6,700 miles of "adopted" state routes.

"I continue to be very pleased with the pace and progress of the integration of this global cable acquisition," said Stephen Rabinowitz, chairman and chief executive officer of BICCGeneral.

"Our initial integration efforts focused on the consolidation and elimination of the duplicate and redundant headquarters operations in North America, and purchasing synergies available to the combined company. In both areas we have made strong progress, and have already achieved annualized savings on the order of $18 million.

"We have also identified and are already successfully pursuing enhanced sales opportunities, especially in our North American business. Our most recent efforts, taken in parallel with work on the second phase of the acquisition, have uncovered additional synergies, savings and growth opportunities in our operations outside North America, including a significant reduction in the general administrative and headcount in Europe.

Casinos worry horse racer

By Jolene Schultz Staff Writer

The age-old industry of Michigan horse racing may be in trouble because of an increased number of Michigan casinos, according to Duane Chippi, harness horse owner from Cass City.

Instead of attending horse races, people are opting for more time at the casino, Chippi said. He added that in many states, money is taken from casinos and given to the horse racing industry because of lost profits.

"They took one percent in Indiana and gave it to the horse racing industry," he said. "The State of Indiana does this so the industry can

The State of Michigan has done nothing to help the industry survive, according to Chippi, and if something isn't done - and soon - horse racing will become a small business. This business has thrived in Michigan since 1892, but has existed since the 1840's.

As current owner of about 14 horses, the increased number of Michigan casinos worries Chippi.

"Michigan has done absolutely nothing to help us fight it off," he said. "Canadian races have slot machines and they have the highest purses of any horse track of North America.

The industry has already suffered. The expanded casino in Mount Pleasant, Chippi said, has killed the Saginaw track.

"And there's a track in Mount Pleasant for quarter horses and the casino's pretty much killed that too.'

Chippi's current concern is for the Hazel Park Raceway on the outskirts of Detroit. A Detroit casino will open July

"There's 15-20 minutes between races and at the casino people can bet every 15 seconds," he said.

Chippi said that thousands of people benefit from the horse racing industry because of all the jobs it supplies, from selling horse feed to employment as a horse groomer. According to Michigan Harness Racing News, from the Joint Publicity Committee of the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association and the Michigan Standardbred Breeders Association, the county fair horse racing industry alone has created over 42,000 jobs throughout the state. These individual efforts have resulted in 33 fairs in which Michigan sired 2-year-olds and 3-year-olds compete.

Thanks for calling 872-2010 with feature story ideas

This includes the Colt Stakes at the Tuscola County Fair in

Caro July 19-22

For 20 years, Chippi has owned horses for harness racing. Born and raised on a farm in Shabbona, he was often around horses on nearby farms. He also went to horse races in Hazel Park, near Detroit. Chippi is currently co-owner, along with Dick Sykes and Allen Tomlinson, who is the trainer, of 14 horses. His wife, Janice Chippi, is also in the horse racing business, presently owning 2 horses. Her horse, Perfect Blue Time, won the Saginaw race July 10, becoming the National Season's Leader. "She's more interested in it than me now," Chippi said with a smile. "If I quit, I'm sure she'd still stay in." Janice Chippi has been in the industry for about 15 years.

Chippi has also had much success with racing. In 1990, his horse, Turbo Twin, won 19 of 22 races he competed in as a 2-year-old.

"I had a lot of good horses, but he was so overpowering as a 2-year-old. He could overcome anything," Chippi said. "People came to the races because they heard about him."

Unfortunately, this horse, referred to by Chippi as, "the best horse I have ever owned", fell on ice and broke his leg. That would be the end of Turbo Twin's racing

As a result of Turbo Twin's injury, Chippi now keeps his horses in a stable at Delray, Fla., during the winter. Turbo Twin is now a sire. More recently, the star has been Turbo's Hit Man, the son of Turbo Twin. "He had desire," Chippi said. "He won his first 5 races last year.' Turbo's Hit Man is eligible for the $750,000 Little Brown Jug race in Delaware, Ohio, this year. However, he also has become injured.

"He pulled all his ligaments in one leg while in his stall," Chippi said.

Chippi still has hope for Turbo's Hit Man. The horse will be taken to Ohio July 14, where a veterinarian, Dr. Vonderwell, will care for him.

You don't have to live in Ubly to join in the village's annual summer festival. In fact, residents of the Thumb community will welcome hundreds of area residents to their 1999 Homecoming celebration, which is scheduled for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Young and old alike will find plenty to do, from kids' games to tractor pulls to the annual grand parade.

"We draw people from all over," Homecoming Chairman Marshel Osentoski said of the festival.

July 18-25

"It's kind of like an unofficial family gathering of sorts," he added. "If you attended school anywhere in Huron County, you're pretty apt to see someone you went to school with.'

Even if you don't have ties to the area, he said, you're welcome. "Everybody's a friend here." The celebration kicks off at 9 a.m. Thursday with a village-wide garage sale, which will continue through Saturday. Other continuing activities include 50-50 raffles. A food trailer and beer tent will be open Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Ubly ready to welcome all to annual festival

Thursday's activities include a host of kiddie games - 3-legged race, sack race, coin dig, baby crawl and water balloon toss — in the park starting at 6 p.m. Rubber duck and boat races get underway at 6:35 p.m., followed by seed spitting and penny pitching contests and a hockey competition, all at 7:35 p.m.

An Old Time Fiddler's Jam boree is scheduled for 6 to 9 p.m., as is an ice cream social with hot dogs and soda pop. Another popular event cruise night, is slated for 7 to Friday's schedule of event: includes a "jail and bail' (time to be announced), and the traditional and popular tractor pull event starting a 7 p.m. (weigh-in will be held from 5 to 6:45 p.m.). A black jack tent will open at 8 p.m., and music provided by a D.J. under the tent will get underway at 9 p.m.

The annual kiddie's parade is scheduled for Saturday, with line-up at the TVO hall at 11 a.m. and judging from 11:15 to 11:30 a.m. A pedal pull will follow at 12:15 p.m. and a kiddie tractor pull competition is slated for 1 p.m. Weigh-in for the tractor/truck pull competition will begin at 5 p.m., with competition scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Sunday will kick off with a pancake breakfast and art/ antique exhibit sponsored by the Ubly Historical Society, both at the TVO hall beginning at 8 a.m. The grand parade will get underway at 12:30 p.m., with line-up and judging slated to begin at 10 a.m. A blue grass band will perform following the parade. Also scheduled are a chicken barbecue sponsored by the Ubly Athletic Boosters and FFA, and an ox roast,

Last week's sentencing narks the conclusion of a ase involving dozens of reak-ins in 11 counties, inluding Tuscola, Huron and Filion's co-defendants, Onald J. Kowalski, 22, Bad xe, and John V. Chamagne, 25, Kinde, both leaded guilty to charges of onducting a criminal enterrise and have been senenced to lengthy prison erms. They, along with ilion, were also ordered to ay combined restitution toaling $31,923.54.

Investigators say the 2 men vere responsible for 50 reak-ins between Sept. 29 nd Dec. 20, 1997, and that ilion assisted them in 22 of ne burglaries.

Most of the crimes - 19 ook place in Tuscola County, where the men targeted the Deford, Gagetown ind Kingston elementary schools and the Gagetown Cooperative Elevator.

The crime spree, involving schools, businesses and other facilities in 11 different counties, resulted in an estimated $119,000 in property damage and the theft of a combined $67,000 in checks

More than 30 law enforcement agencies participated in the year-long investigation that led to the trio's arrest.

Looking back, Huron County Prosecutor Mark Gaertner said he's satisfied with the conclusion of the

"The ring leader of this, Donald Kowalski, got 20 to 40 years, John Champagne the guy that cooperated (with police) got 5 to 20 years, and Melissa Filion, the least culpable of the 3, got one year in jail," he said. "The sentences that were handed out were appropriate, so justice was served.'

As for the minimum 18month jail term initially handed down to Filion. Gaertner indicated he had no problem with the revised sentence of one year she received last week.

"We thought, there is no sense fighting for 6 more months of jail time, and calling in 50 witnesses. That's not fair to the taxpayers," he

Besides, Gaertner pointed out, if Filion fails to follow the guidelines set forth in her probation, she will be brought back to court and face a sentence of up to 20 years in prison.

Katie enjoys the fair because she meets so many people and she enjoys competing. But there's a lot of hard work that goes into fair preparation, besides general animal care.

Katie has club meetings where she assists in theme decorating a trashcan for the make an educational display. Katie also decorates her designated stable at the fair,

She is also decorating a cake to be judged in the home economics division of crafts. Katie said her cake, pearance, will encompass a Barbie doll in the center of the cake, and the frosting on the cake will be its dress. The decorated cakes will receive an A, B or C rating.

"You have to make sure what's supposed to be white stays white and what's supposed to be black stays black," Jane said.

Between July 8-10, Jane and Keith cared for Katie's animals while she attended a 4-H camp in Caseville.

Katie still keeps in touch with some of her camp friends. She said many will be at the fair. While at camp, Katie said she goes to the beach, stays in cabins with bunk beds, enjoys arts and crafts and plays games.

"I like gold rush," she said. "We go and find colored rocks - green, red and blue. They're worth fake money and we can exchange the money for different things at camp, like face painting.'

When Katie turns 15, she would like to become a camp counselor at the 4-H camp, as her older sister, Wendy Wood, 15, is now.

"Then I'll have even more fun," she said.

"She'll be in charge of about 9 younger children," Jane added.

As for now, Katie is looking forward to the Tuscola

Scoring snafu delays results

Continued from page one:

ing the problems to the MEAP office in Lansing. The fax date was June 11, and Helwig still hasn't heard

"They said they'd pass it on to NCS," Helwig said. " I think NCS has a lot to deal with right now."

Helwig added, "They said not to distribute the results to the students. They said to just sit on whatever we have until we get the new ones."

Helwig was even told to throw away the fifth grade science results.

"It's just discouraging," she said. "The scores we have now are disappointing. But, I'm not taking it to heart because we don't know how accurate they are. Right now, I question the accuracy of all scores."

The resulting delay means wasted time for Cass City Schools - time that could be spent reviewing the analysis of the results and then setting up a curriculum for the following year. This enables students to score higher on the following MEAP tests. For now, however, analysis of the results and curriculum change will have to wait. "We're not looking at the tests yet because we may not have the right scores," Helwig said. "We'll start out the school year with whatever was planned and when we find out the scores are legitimately ours and legitimately accurate, there may be a realignment of when we're teaching something."

Students, as well, can only sit and wait for their results results that are usually distributed at the beginning of summer vacation.

"Fifth and eighth-grade students won't get their scores until their first report card of next year's school year," Helwig said.

For now, Helwig said she is trying to be patient.

"But it's frustrating," she noted. "We got the results back and they're all messed up - and I mean, they are all messed up. It's not our fault, but we're trying to deal with it the best we can."

Helwig said she is planning in Lansing within the week then.

to contact the MEAP office if results are not back by

Board okays web guidelines

pictures were put on the web, but one individual in the photo wished to remain off the web. Also addressed was the concern of identifying individual art by artist's name.

"How is putting a person's picture on the web different from putting it in the hall or a newspaper?" asked George Bushong, CCHS computer instructor. "The basis of the web is information. Where's the information of that when you put projects up and only Johnny, his mom and his teacher know it's his."

Bushong continued, "I don't think we can really look at a policy that handcuffs us on putting information out there. What's scary about it is that it's new. If we were worried about new things over 100 years ago, we'd still be cooking on wood stoves." Schuette said that she would never put a picture on the web of a child who doesn't want to be on the Superintendent of Schools Ken Micklash suggested sending home permission slips that can be returned if parents do not want their children on the web. That way, he said, no one would have to worry about gathering up hundreds of permission slips from those who wanted to have a photograph of themselves on the web.

'We should look for something to happen tonight," Bushong suggested. "If we put it off, it won't go into effect until after school starts." Also suggested by Schuette is a list for each teacher, naming the children who do not wish their photograph to be on the web page. However, Secretary David Knight said he could see future problems with this.

"When parents go on the web and for the first time see their student on the web without permission, it'll be an administrative nightmare," he said. "I'm pretty sure it's going to happen. Inspection or review by different people is not 100 percent guaranteed. Some will go through."

"We are very selective on what we put in," Schuette

The permission resolution was amended to state that if parents wish to withdraw permission at any time, or reinstate it, to contact the school office or principal.
