CONTRACTS

In other business Monday, the board reviewed evaluations and approved one-year contracts for the district's administrators.

The evaluations - a first for the Owen-Gage administrative staff - were conducted by the teaching staff as well as board members. Elementary staff members evaluated elementary Principal Bill Britt, the junior-senior high staff evaluated junior-senior Principal Tom Wade, and teachers from both buildings evaluated Supt. Manuel Thies dent, and he has continued to reside in his own home. Trustee Jeff Faist objected to the board salary

"For many reasons, I have decided that I can no longer function effectively"

The board approved a raise committee's recommendaof 2.76 percent along with a longevity pay hike of $300 for a combined increase of 3.29 percent or $1,599 over 1999-00 for Britt. His salary in the coming year will total $50,264.

Wade, meanwhile, was granted a 5 percent wage hike, increasing his salary to $51,554. He will receive another $1,371 in pay for his responsibilities with the student council.

The board approved a combined increase of 4.95 percent or $3,470 for Thies, who will earn $73,610 in 2000-01. The hike includes the same raise awarded to the teaching staff (2.76 percent) plus an amount equal to half of the rent the school receives for a district-owned home ($1,590). In addition, he will be paid $2,000 for his duties as chief contract negotiator. The home owned by the district has traditionally been offered as a perk to the superintendent. However, Thies already owned his own house when he was asked to tion to offer Thies half of the rent amount in lieu of living in the district-owned residence, saying the rent money should be used for future repairs. In any event, he noted, the district has lost a number of students this year and may need the money to offset losses in state revenue.

Hunter made a motion to approve all aspects of Thies' contract. The measure passed on a vote of 6-1, with Faist casting the lone "no" vote.

Trustee Brenda Kretzschmer commented that she was very pleased with the administrators' evaluations and believes conducting such reviews has accomplished the board's goal of obtaining some feedback. "I think we're very blessed to have these gentlemen working for us," she added.

percent for all non-union personnel at the school, including administrators, at its regular meeting Monday night held at the middle school. The raises were suggested by a boardmember committee of Allan Hartwick, Teresa Rabideau and Randy Severance.

The complete salary schedule appears on page 5. The committee conducted a survey of neighboring schools and the raises will keep the school salaries in the same comparable position that they have occupied in recent years.

Salaries are not the highest or the lowest, the committee said, with larger schools receiving more among the 13 area schools surveyed and the smaller schools less.

The consumer price increase for 1999 was reviewed, which is 3 percent for all mid-west cities. The new schedule increases the superintendent's salary to $77,547, plus $6,500 for negotiations and contract maintenance. His contract is for 3 years, salary negotiable each year. Other administrators' contracts are for 2 years. All other salaries are for one year.

It is probable that the new regulations will be changed. A committee will be formed to study a new system. However, board President James Turner cautioned that it would probably take several months to come up with changes. We studied for 2 years before this program was adopted, he said.

Area family mourns death of Marine Corporal Michael Lich of Kingston dies in traffic crash while on duty

by Tom Montgomery Editor

David Lich remembers watching the transformation of his son, Michael, from a high school student uncertain about his future to a mature, proud U.S. Marine.

He recalls trying to convince Michael not to enter the service or to pursue a career in law enforcement like his father. And he remembers the pride he felt when his son followed his heart and enlisted anyway.

The memories turned into heartache last week for the veteran state corrections officer and Kingston police chief, who learned that Michael, 22, had been killed in a traffic crash Tuesday, Feb. 22, while on duty in Yuma, Ariz.

"He was just a joy to have," Lich said Thursday.

As a student at Caro High School, Michael enjoyed having fun and really didn't have a solid plan for his future until he approached graduation in 1996, Lich recalled.

"In the summer of '95 he talked about doing something with his life that was worthwhile and fulfilling," he said, adding it was then he learned his son planned to enter the service. "I tried to talk him out of it. I said. 'It's a rough life. You were not an athlete in high school'. "He said, no, that's what he'd like to do.

"He wanted to become a police officer. He wanted to be in law enforcement, and I tried to steer him away from that, too," said Lich, who has worked for the state of Michigan for 28 years, including 16 years as a corrections officer at Camp Tuscola near Caro.

Lich noted Michael was sports minded - he enjoyed bicycle motocross and Little League as a youngster, and later spent a couple of years on the high school swim team. But growth spurts had left him tall, lanky and uncoordinated. And uncomfortable with the idea of playing sports.

Michael joined the U.S. Marine Corps in February 1996. He left for boot camp the following August, shortly after his 19th birthday. He graduated the following November at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Calif., "and made me

We devote this week's column to trivia gleaned on our recent trip down under.

•Kangaroo is similar to beef and crocodile is similar to chicken. I'll still take real chicken and real beef. My imagination gets the best of me, I guess.

•Sheep and cattle are the big industries in both New Zealand and Australia. Many ranchers are now raising deer and fields full of them are common. Venison is on nearly all menus.

•Qantas is the airline if a glass of wine with dinner is where it's at for you. It's served with dinner and after you've quaffed a glass, they come back and fill it up again. It's the European influence, I suspect.

•In Melbourne, Australia, the gambling casino is on the ground level of a skyscraper. It must be at least a block square. Included are a fast food court and 4 other restaurants. Unlike some casinos in Michigan, the gambling in Melbourne caters to all, rich and poor.

It features slots that play for 2 cents and 5 cents. It also features games for high rollers. At the crap table we saw a man put down $750 in cash and lose his bet. He then put another $750 up and promptly lost again. In 5 minutes he lost $1,500 and then walked away.

Yes, I contributed, too, $50 Australian, about $35 of our dollars.

•While television down under falls far short of the variety that we enjoy, it did snap up the "Who Wants to be a Millionaire" show now the rage on ABC. There were a few variations in the Aussie version, but it was surprising to see it sandwiched between ancient reruns and current news shows.

My son-in-law, Roger Salo, is the chief pilot and flight coordinator for Masco Corp. When I whined about the recovery time it took to get over the flight from Australia, he said that return trips normally take about a day for every 2 hours of time change.

When he returned from a trip to China with his boss, it required 4 days for complete recovery, he pointed out. He also said that the time lag problem was only severe when traveling west to east, not east to west.

That proved to be 100 percent accurate for Esther and me.

Identify this mystery barn

This is one in a series of "mystery" barns in the area. The contest was devised to call attention to the upcoming Smithsonian "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" exhibit at Rawson Memorial Library Mar. 6 to April 15. The exhibit is sponsored by Rawson Memorial Library, Friends of the Octagon Barn and the Cass City Area Historical Society.

Readers who can identify each barn as they appear are asked to call the library, 872-2856, so they can be listed the following week. Warning! Identification gets harder as this contest progresses.

Answer to Feb. 23 Mystery Barn

The Owen Pierce Barn.

The first barn on the Owen Pierce Farm was destroyed by the cyclone of 1905, rebuilt and again destroyed by fire. John and Nora Moshier (brother and sister) built the new and larger barn we see today. The foundation for this new barn was the original huge boulders used for the 2 previous barns. It was a plank barn, a new idea at that time. It is forty by eighty feet in size and one end could accommodate 12 cows, had a birthing pen, horse stable with the hay mows overhead. The other end was a hay mow. There was a long section at the back of the barn for young heifers and a sturdy bull pen. The south end was a tool shed --- small by today's standards but adequate at the time. Since John Moshier, owners have been Russell Peck, Harold Field, Dave Moody, John Lang. Today, Owen and Alyce Pierce use it for their production of honey from their hives of bees.

First callers to identify the Owen Pierce barn were Fred Matthews, Carolyn Klein.

Cass City students endured a scare that most thought wouldn't happen! Fear filled the students Feb. 22 when they arrived at school only to find out that a bomb threat had been found earlier in the morning.

It was around 7:45 when a teacher identified a note that the school officials considered threatening. Students were then evacuated to a location off school property. It was amazing, in my eyes, how well the evacuation went. The school's officials had a very well thought out plan if an incident like this ever occurred.

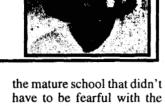

Principal Dorland Kuntz said, "We had our plan in place, we followed our plan and it worked very well."

A dog that sniffs out bombs came from Bridgeport to go through the school. No bombs were found and students returned to school at 10:30 thing of that nature. Sophomore Aaron Dorland said, "I think it was stupid, but it got us a day off. I wasn't going to go back." "It was stupid and a waste of our time", said senior Roy

Davis. Morgan Ware, a freshman, said, "It's stupid! I was scared. I didn't know what to think when I got dropped off at school."

Michelle Kropewnicki said, "I think we all deserve to know who pulled this prank." As for me, it was very scary. I arrived at school like any other day. A girl knocked on my window and told me I had to leave. I asked her why and she replied that there had been a bomb threat. I responded by saying, "Are you joking?" Then I saw a couple staff members outside directing students on what to do. It was very scary. It made me not even want to attend the next day of school in fear that this might hap-

Voters support McCain

Tuscola County residents voted with their counterparts across the state in the Tuesday, Feb. 22, presidential primary election, giving Arizona Senator John McCain the Republican nomination over Texas Gov. George W. Bush.

And county voters did it in a big way, turning out in numbers that surprised County Clerk Margie White-Cormier.

"We're off the charts with crat this one," White-Cormier said, adding she took some heat when election workers in some townships ran out of ballots. "I ordered a third more than what we used 4 years ago."

In all, 7,733 residents turned out for last week's election, representing about 18 percent of the county's registered voters. Fewer than half that number - 3,324 voters --- turned out for the last presidential primary 4 years ago, according to White-Cormier. "Our August primary in 1998 (drew) only about 5,500 voters.'

Village approves consulting firm

Council approved hiring the services of HyettPalma, a national consulting firm specializing in the economic renaissance of downtowns and older business districts, during its monthly meeting Monday night in the village hall. The retention of the Virginia firm comes with a budgeted price tag of $20,000. However, Village Manager Jane Downing said that by joining the National League of Cities, at a cost of under $400, the village will save up to 50% off the company's standard cost structure that could run anywhere between $30,000-$50,000.

The firm's 6-month review process will provide a market analysis specifying downtown retail, office and housing potentials, along with providing economic niches that can be created and sustained. HyettPalma will also work toward creating a shared vision of Cass City's downtown future, and then provide a detailed course of action to achieve the vision.

The hiring of HyettPalma comes with the unanimous support of the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) and the Economic Development Corporation (EDC).

In a related matter, the village council amended the bylaws of the DDA and the EDC Articles of Incorporation.

In an effort to more adequately address the needs and duties of both boards, a reorganization of the boards was approved. The intent of the reorganization is to have a new 13-member board, including the village president, acting as both the EDC and

DDA boards. Village President L.E. Althaver said the reorganiza-

The Cass City Village tion will encourage greater participation and attendance at the board meetings, eliminating problems experienced in past years and allowing the boards to move forward with new business.

Also during the hour-long meeting, the board was addressed by Elkland Township Fire Chief Ron Pawloski.

Pawloski reported that¹ $12,000 has been raised toward the purchase of a new set of Jaws of Life. The new jaws, which will be lighter, stronger and faster than the current jaws, are expected to cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. The council promised to review Pawloski's request for funding and provide a dollar figure at its March meeting.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE - WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 2000 PAGE SIX Bulldogs claim NCTL volleyball crown

The Owen-Gage spikers cruised to an easy 3-game win Thursday against visiting North Huron, securing the North Central Thumb League volleyball crown on the way.

The parents' night crowd was treated to victories of 15-2, 15-2, and 15-10 against the Warriors, giving the defending champion Bulldogs a 12-2 conference mark for the season.

Coach Judy Campbell's squad, 29-9-2 overall, will now look to repeat as district champions this Friday in Akron.

Seniors Cassie Vargo and Melanie Lemanski turned in solid performances to lead the winners in their final home match, combining for 18 service points and 7 ace serves.

Lemanski also posted a team high 11 kills, which

Hawk cagers top BCAS

If the Cass City Red Hawks won as expected Tuesday night at Mayville in the final regular season game of the year, the race for the championship of the Greater Thumb West will go to the final game of the season Friday when USA faces Reese. The Hawks chalked up another win Friday, as expected, against visiting winless Bay City All Saints, 73-33.

They remain a game behind league-leading USA with a mathematical chance to win the GTW title outright, but realistically a tie for the title is the best that Cass City can hope for. USA was to play winless All Saints Tuesday and then close the season against Reese.

Hawk fans would undoubtedly be pleased if the team continued to shoot the way it did in the easy win over the Cougars.

The game was all but decided at the intermission as

Bulldogs stage come-back win against Warriors

With the district tournament on the horizon, Friday's hairraising, 64-63 win over North Huron came at a great time to give Bulldog fans hope for some good things when the annual March classic starts next week.

North Huron came into the game with an 11-2 record in the North Central Thumb League, second only to Kingston, and was favored to add the Bulldogs to their victory total.

Owen-Gage opened the game with some sloppy play and the Warriors took advantage of 12 turnovers in the first quarter, scoring the first 7 points of the game, while jumping off to a 24-11 first quarter lead.

The Bulldogs cut the turnovers to 4 in the second quarter and tightened the defense to get back in the game. Led by Derek Howard with 7 points, the Bulldogs whipped in 17 points in the period and held the visitors to just 2 baskets and as many free throws. At the intermission Owen-Gage trailed 30-27.

The Bulldog rally continued in the third quarter and they moved in front, 44-40, going into the final 8 minutes.

North Huron made a valiant effort to pull the game out of the fire in the last quarter, overcoming the Bulldog lead and moving in front 58-57 with less than 2 minutes left. With the game on the line, Bulldog players made several key plays to salt away the win.

The first was a steal by Howard resulting in a lay-up and a 59-58 O-G lead with 1:17 left. Byron Ignash, who scored 14 points in the final quarter, notched his final bucket to put the Warriors back in front 60-59. Howard countered with a jumper from the foul line to put the Bulldogs ahead again 61-60.

Shane Mellendorf then made a key deflection of North Huron's in-bounds pass, recovered by Howard. Howard was fouled and converted the critical 2 free throws to move the margin to 63-60 with 23 seconds left.

A moment later Nick Warack made one of 2 free throws to extend the Bulldog lead to 4 points, just enough to keep a 3-pointer in the dying seconds by Joe Phillips from tying the game.

North Huron's Ignash led all scorers with 24 points and he contributed 18 rebounds. Howard counted 21 points with 7 rebounds. Corbin Swiastyn was in double figures with 13 for Owen-Gage. The Warriors won the battle of the boards 35 to 23.

OWEN-GAGE - Swiastyn 2-2 (3-4) 13; Mellendorf 1-0 (0-0) 2; Howard 6-1 (6-7) 21; Rogers 1-0 (0-0) 2; Kain 3-0 (2-2) 8; R. Fritz 3-0 (0-0) 6; Warack 1-0 (2-4) 4; C. Fritz 3-0 (0-0) 6; McKee 1-0 (0-0) 2.

Gaertner seeking another term as Huron prosecutor

Mark J. Gaertner has formally announced his candidacy for reelection for Huron County prosecuting attorney. Gaertner, a lifelong Republican, will appear on the Aug. 8 Republican primary ballot.

Gaertner stressed his 15 years of prosecutor experience. From 1991 to 1992 he was Huron County chief assistant prosecutor. From 1993 to 1994 he served as special prosecutor for the Multi-County Citizen's Grand Jury that served Huron County. Prior to this he served over 7 years as a Saginaw County assistant prosecutor, including 2 years running the Drug Enforcement Division and 2 years as the chief trial attorney.

Gaertner stated that if reelected he will continue his efforts at fair and consistent prosecution which, during his present term of office, has led to many convictions of those involved in the commission of serious and violent crimes.

enced its fair share of major crime. Cases involving a 14year-old murderer; the "school bandits" who systematically robbed approximately 50 schools, churches and businesses; the $1.4 million Port Austin area marijuana seizure, and more recently, the home invasion and car crash injuring 4 young persons, are just a few of the examples of the many crimes that have been firmly dealt with." Gaertner said he will maintain his policy on setting clear priorities on what cases go to trial and what cases result in a guilty plea.

"I am especially pleased with the way my office has upheld a tough stance on serious and violent crime, while diverting from the criminal justice system relatively petty matters which in Gaertner indicated he would continue to implement new programs for his office. "In the past 3 years I have started a full time crime victim rights program and a comprehensive domestic violence program both fully funded with state and federal grant money. I have implemented a bad check restitution program that returns money to the county and a program dealing with the financial exploitation of senior citizens that operates at no cost to our taxpayers.

"I have added, at minimal cost, a prosecutor investigator who handles citizen complaints and tracks down fugitives and financial dead beats. Finally, I have established a Prosecutor Adjournment Program that diverts non-violent first time misdemeanor offenders from the court system upon successful completion of a combination of community service, letter of apology, and a local library donation."

creased by 500. Land in farms was estimated to be 10.4 million acres, unchanged from the last 2 years. The average size farm in Michigan was 196 acres per farm, down 4 acres from 1998.

By categories the average farm sizes are 67 acres for the small (down 3 acres from last year), 170 for the medium (up 5 acres), and 713 for the large farms (unchanged from last year).

The number of farms in the United States in 1999 is estimated at 2.19 million, up fractionally from 1998. The increase in farm numbers can be attributed to the continued rise in the number of small farms. Total land in farms, at 947.3 million acres, was down 0.7 percent or 6.2 million acres from last year.

This decline in land in farms continues the historical trend of less land in farms. The average farm size decreased 3 acres from 1998 to 432 acres.

5 YEARS AGO

Dr. Richard Hall has returned to Cass City to practice medicine at the Family First Community Health Center after a 6-month absence from the community. Cass City area residents, like thousands of other people throughout Michigan and beyond, were shelling out plenty of bucks last week in hopes of realizing a $43 million dream. At Fort's Confectionery Store, sales Friday were about triple what they normally are. Ralph Retherford, owner, noted he was selling an average of 2,000 tickets a day last week.

Mandy Deering, whose saxophone solo earned a division I rating, the highest mark awarded at the district solo and ensemble competition in Caro Feb. 18, will go on to perform at a state solo and ensemble festival slated for March 25 in Flint.

A blizzard engulfed the area with little warning Saturday, forcing motorists to slow to a creep in near zero visibility conditions. The result was several minor accidents, including a 10-vehicle mishap 2 1/2 miles west of Cass City.

Cass City Village officials learned Monday their third application for state landfill closure grant monies has been recommended for approval. Provided the application receives legislative approval, Cass City will get a grant totalling $313,532.

Area pastor Charles Emmert has amassed a collection of some 300,000 sports cards, most of them featuring baseball players from the early 1930s to the present.

Elizabeth Weighill will celebrate her 102nd birthday with a party Thursday at Tendercare Nursing Home, Cass City. The former Winnepeg, Canada, resident was born March 1, 1888, in England.

In the wake of the economic downturn, General Cable Corp. of Cass City announced Monday that the plant will institute a 4-day work week beginning Friday.

Roger Little, who provides ambulance service for the area, is pushing hard for an EMT training program in Cass City. It would give the area a head start should the Michigan Legislature pass a bill that would establish strict new guidelines for all ambulances in the state, including 2 emergency technicians (EMT's) in each ambulance. Little said the ideal situation for Cass City would be to add a stall at the fire department and dispatch the ambulance from there.

Industrial farming in the 20th century has rendered many traditional barns obsolete because they cannot accommodate the enormous machinery and harvests of today's large-scale farms. The loss of these architectural structures is forever changing the rural landscape and depriving residents of important historical monu-

Highlighting distinct architectural types, the exhibition's variety of barn styles reveals the creativity of farmers-builders who adapted these structures to fit their own needs, from the connected barns and house of New England to the large dairy barns of the Midwest. Even as barns disappear from the countryside, their role in American culture remains constant. PAGE SIXTEEN Tips to ease sticker shock at the pump

To help ease sticker shock properly at the gas pumps - - prices are 50 cents a gallon higher than a year ago - - AAA Michigan officials offer a dozen easy-to-follow, money-saving suggestions.

1. Slow down. Even a 5speed can affect your gas mileage. Watch your tachometer to gauge engine performance.

2. Keep tires properly inflated. Under-inflated tires pressure below recommended levels.

3. Give your car a full tuneup, as recommended by the manufacturer, including a regular oil and oil filter change. A poorly tuned engine can increase fuel consumption by up to 50 percent or more.

4. Do not purchase midgrade or premium gasoline unless it is considered necessary by the vehicle's manufacturer. Using self-serve regular fuel compared to premium can save an average of 17 cents per gallon.

5. Don't let the vehicle idle for more than a minute. Idling consumes half-a-gallon to one gallon of gas per hour and wastes more fuel than restarting the engine. 6. Accelerate gently, brake gradually and avoid hard stops 7. Combine errands into one trip or go to the one location to take care of as many errands as possible.

8. When travelling, avoid excess weight and reduce use of car top carriers and trailers. Additional weight and vehicle add-ons have a negative effect on aerodynamics, causing engines to work harder and burn more gas.

9. Car pool when possible. 10. Travel during off-peak times, avoiding rush hour.

11. Check the engine oil level when buying gas to be sure the engine is lubricated

12. Large trucks - - which pull heavy loads and are less aerodynamic than cars - - see even greater gains in fuel efficiency with decreased speed. For every one mph increase above 55 mph fuel mile-per-hour decrease in efficiency generally de-speed can affect your gas creases 2.2 percent.

Oilseed can cut fuel economy by a half percent per pound of producers eligible

Producers who planted an eligible oilseed in 1999 are eligible to participate in the 1999 Oilseed Program. Eligible oilseeds are soybeans, sunflowers, flaxseed, canola, rapeseed, safflower seed, mustard and crambe.

A producer's payment is equal to the producer's payment acres times the producer's payment yield times the national payment rate.

Payments are calculated differently for producers who planted an eligible oilseed for the first time in 1999, and for those who planted in 1997 or 1998, as well as in 1999.

For producers who planted oilseeds in 1999 and also in 1997 or 1998, the payment acres is the higher of the total 1997 or 1998 acreages planted on all farms.

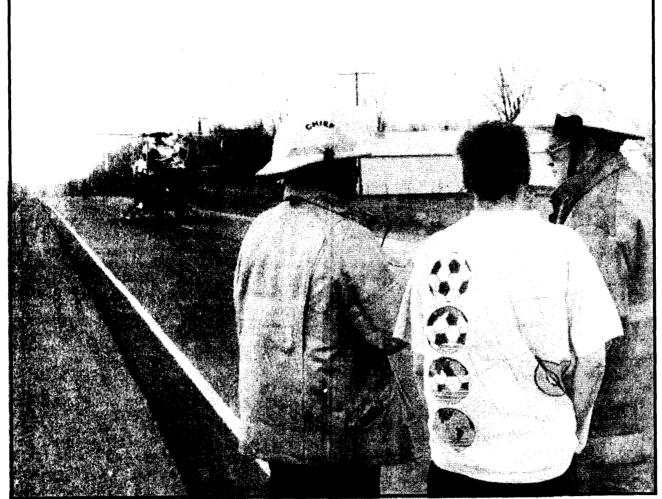

The payment yield for these producers is the higher of: 1. The county average yields for soybeans (the national average yield for minor oilseeds) from 1994 through 1998, after dropping the high and low yields.

2. The producer's proven yield for 1997 or 3. The producer's proven yield for 1998. Officials note that the year with the higher payment acreage may differ from the year with the higher yield.

Four area residents were injured - one of them seriously - when the vehicle they were riding in struck a small clump of trees on the north side of Shabbona Road, one half-mile west of Dodge Road Saturday morning.

Area farmers were in the state's capital city Feb. 15 to take part in the annual Lansing Legislative Seminar held by Michigan Farm Bureau.

More than 350 Farm Bureau members representing 64 county Farm Bureaus took advantage of the opportunity to meet and lobby their state senators and representatives. Tuscola County Farm Bureau participants were Dave Milligan, Steve Foley, Don Keinath, Diane Ballard and Dorothy Keinath.

Three educational sessions served as a forum for Farm Bureau members to learn about and discuss issues, including property tax, highway funding, and farmland preservation. An evening reception brought legislators and their aides to the Lansing Center to meet with the farmers.
