HyettPalma: downtown vision "doable"

"Cass City is a reality based community," Doyle Hyett of the Alexandria, Va.-based HyettPalma Inc. told residents Thursday. "You're not asking for everything under the sun. You're asking for things that are doable and manageable."

HyettPalma specializes in revitalizing downtowns with what is known as a Downtown Action Agenda through the "America Downtown -New Thinking. New Life" program, which was developed by HyettPalma in association with the National League of Cities.

The local effort, which cost $25,000, began in August with a Community Vision Session, during which members of the community offered their input and suggestions. During a 3-day visit, the consultants met with community members, business owners and their customers, village council members and Downtown Development Authority-Economic Development Corporation officials, community leaders and others.

Telephone surveys were completed, and HyettPalma completed a comprehensive retail marketing, office and market analysis of the village's downtown.

COURSE OF ACTION

Hyett said Thursday that his firm gathered all of the information and drafted a marketdriven course of action designed to capture Cass City's economic potential.

The village already has many good things going for it, he pointed out. "Residents see Cass City as a strong, well-balanced and diverse community," he said. "You have an inordinately high level of pride in your community. . .that is being dis-wholesome as you are.' Hyett recommended that the community focus first on what he called the "core"

played in many ways."

The community has a strong industrial base and is building on its reputation as a central hub of the Thumb, attracting business such as Detroit Edison, the Thumb Dialysis Center, Thumb MRI Center and Michigan Department of Transportation.

A big concern among residents, he said, has been the loss of some longtime "anchor" businesses in the community, and the question of whether local retailers can survive in the shadows of the retail giants in surrounding communities.

You can compete with the big box retailers just like every other small and larger town across the country," Hyett said. The key, he added, is to find ways to make improvements that will instill a strong sense of confidence in potential investors in the downtown area. Cass City's industrial base is a key to the town's economic strength, he acknowledged, "but small business development is something headway in a short amount of time given limited financial resources, he explained.

"Hit it really, really hard, with everything you've got. The ripple effect is what we're after," Hyett continued, adding success there will result in prosperity rolling in other parts of the downtown and into the surrounding neighborhoods.

Hyett noted the core downtown district already boasts several strong anchors in the form of the Cass Theatre, municipal building, Rawson Memorial Library and several businesses. He suggested the addition of restaurants, perhaps by forming a local group of investors.

"Food draws like crazy," he said, adding a community center would also be welcome, but that residents might want to explore using existing meeting space for that purpose until the cost of building a new facility can be justified and afforded.

BEAUTIFICATION

Hyett also recommended professionally designed beautification projects such brick crosswalks, customized banners, and more landscaping under the guidance of a landscape architect. Parking lots could also use more greenery and the addition of customized signs that would be unique to Cass Hyett said business owners must be encouraged to maintain their properties, and that village officials need to enforce blight, sign and other ordinances when necessary. "If I operate a dump, it's affecting my neighbors on both sides. It's affecting my neighbors all the way down the block. It's hurting everyone," he said. In cases where the owner of a neglected property refuses to budge, it might be worthwhile for the local DDA to make an offer for the building in question and then lease or sell the property to a new

Township opposes proposal

Elkland Township officials are supporting the Michigan Township Association's stand against Proposal 2, known as the "Let Local Votes Count Home Rule Ballot Proposal

Township Clerk Norma Wallace reported the township board endorsed the MTA's resolution opposing the proposal during an Oct. 9 monthly meeting.

Voters will decide the fate of the statewide proposal during the Nov. 7 general election.

If approved, the measure would amend the Michigan Constitution to require a super majority, or two-thirds vote, in the State House and Senate on bills seeking to eliminate or pre-empt existing local ordinances or charter provisions.

The proposal would affect laws enacted on or after March 1, 2000, which would increase the scope of state intervention in municipal concerns, property, or government of a city, village, county, township or any municipal authority.

Supporters say the proposal advocates the right of local citizens and taxpayers through their local government - to choose their own local laws and ordinances by making it more difficult for lawmakers to approve bills that restrict or eliminate local authority.

MTA officials, however, say Proposal 2 would effectively allow big city mayors to take control of the Michigan Legislature at the expense of smaller units of government such as townships and villages.

They say the measure would have dire effects on Michigan's local governments by setting a terrible precedent for minority rule and unilaterally repealing laws impacting municipalities that passed the Michigan Legislature with less than two-thirds support since March 1, despite the fact that they were enacted legally by majority rule.

In other business during the monthly meeting, the township board held a Truth in Taxation Hearing to consider a proposed increase of .0035 mills in the township's operating tax millage rate to be levied this year. No public comment was offered during the hearing, according to Wallace, who noted the additional millage will increase operating revenues by .14 percent.

A Truth in Taxation Hearing is required under the Headlee Amendment, which limits to the rate of inflation the annual increase in property tax revenue that schools, townships and governments

Also last week, the board appointed inspectors for the November general election. They are: Precinct One -

Elwyn Helwig, Pat Wells, Shirley Strickland, Yvonne LeValley and Betty Greenleaf; Precinct 2 - Sue Ellen Greenlee, Jessie Goodall, Joan Little, Margie Morley, Sandy Nizzola and Mary Rabideau.

New books at the library

The Blind Assassin by Margaret Atwood: The novel begins with the words: "Ten days after the war ended, my sister Laura drove a car off a bridge." These words were spoken by Laura's sister Iris about her sister's death in 1945 which was pronounced accidental. The reader expects this to be Laura's story but it turns out to be a novel within a novel; a science fiction story told by 2 unnamed lovers who meet in dingy back street rooms. When the story returns to Iris it is through a 1947 newspaper article about the discovery of a sailboat carrying her husband's body. This novel has many threads and as they all come together the reader will discover that the story the author is telling is much more complex than it seems at first.

The PMS Outlaws by Sharyn McCrumb: Forensic anthropologist Elizabeth MacPherson finds herself hospitalized with depression after her husband disappears in a boating accident. Meanwhile, her brother Bill has bought a stately old mansion to use as a law office, finding out after the sale is final that there is a charming old codger living in the home who plans to stay there. Bill's partner is trying to track down an escaped convict and her fugitive attorney who are nicknamed the PMS Outlaws. These 2 characters are having a great time seeking out lust-crazed men and making their lives Jayber Crow by Wendell Berry: Jayber Crow, born in Goforth, Ky., and orphaned at the age of 10, had thought he wanted to become a minister. But as he studied at the seminary, there were many questions in his mind and no one could give him answers that satisfied his curiosity. So Jayber settles down in the small community of Port William, Ky., and becomes the town barber. In that position he can daily listen, see and talk to others about the life going on around him. As his life transpires he sees more each day that hope provides for him and those around him and that love is love's reward.

One of the aims of the current plan to revitalize Cass City is to bring back the spirit that earned the village the name, "Christmas Town." It's a positive step, but reaching the heights that it did in the 1960s is all but impossible. Trutnfully, it may have been too much of a good thing, but it did galvanize the town and the community in a cooperative vol-

Why too much of a good thing? In 1963 it was estimated that 10,000 visitors came to see the Christmas pageant. A picture in the Chronicle showed cars lined up to Elkland Cemetery still waiting to try and see the show, two-thirds over, held on a hill in the northwest area of the village.

Not counting the pageant day, 7,224 cars were clocked at the Recreation Park in an 8-day period.

The visiting village planners (see story) suggested that a part-time person be hired to help with the ambitious plan outlined for the revival of the downtown business district. There are no plans to hire a person immediately, Village Manager Jane Downing explained.

But we would be very happy if it becomes necessary to hire someone part-time, or even full-time, because it would mean that the program had been successful, Downing points

The annual fall student count date has come and gone. This year again, the Cass City Public Schools has maintained its previous 16 year record of stable enrollment. It's possible, but not easy, to clone a human, all experts in the field agree, and it is regarded as inevitable that it will be accomplished soon.

Already fertility specialists in the United States and abroad with easy access to spare human eggs are working with cloning techniques in laboratories, although not transferring cloned embryos to women's wombs.

Clones that have survived to birth have been completely normal. Clones have mated and given birth to normal offspring.

There is about one chance in 100 that an embryo will survive to birth. The procedure is not harmful to the surrogate mother because spontaneous abortion usually occurs early in the pregnancy. There are some 50 women in a religious group ready to become surrogates.

They are members of the Raelians, an offbeat religion that preaches that cloning is the way to eternal life. It started when a former sports writer announced he had a meeting with extraterrestrials in 1973.

A wealthy American couple that lost a 10-month-old girl through a medical accident has earmarked $500,000 for a clone of the girl from a preserved cell. My heart goes out to these parents, much as I would be filled with sympathy with a friend dying from an incurable disease. They are trying to repair a big hole in their life and are grasping at straws as a way to fill that vast emptiness.

If the cloning happens to be successful, there would be no miracles here. Everything will be different. In a dozen years everything changes. The baby they lost is gone, no matter how much a clone is produced physically. You can't clone what happened to the girl in the 10 months of her life. Or the way the clone would be treated by the parents, regardless of how noble, how loving they are

This experiment involves fitting juvenile wolves with collars that produce a mild electric shock. Then a potential victim (such as a calf) is equipped with a transmitter that delivers a jolt of electricity to said wolf when he gets within "biting distance."

Bird dogs have been trained this way for decades. Imagine a biologist running after his wolf yelling, "Come back here you stupid *&*%, *&*%$!"

Biologists believe that wolves learn to hunt from their parents. A shock-educated wolf is supposed to teach her pups to kill wildlife such as elk, deer, and buffalo while avoiding all of those things the adult wolf finds shocking.

It's like teaching our kids how to eat. We say, "Yuck, burritos and cream soda! Those things will make you barf!'

The kids say, "That shows what you know. I eat 6 of these every day."

The wolf experiment takes place at Ted Turner's Flying D Ranch in southwestern Montana. I presume the wolves will be attacking Ted's buffalo while learning not to kill Herefords, Angus, Brahma crosses, Watusi, Scotch Highlanders, sheep, dogs, goats, cats, horses, chickens, pigs, etc.

I should explain these Montana wolves are an endangered species imported from Canada some years ago. Wolves were considered extinct in the western states before the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service went to Canada and got some more.

These Canadian wolves were bred and nurtured in captivity; then released into the northern Rockies. They've been having a wonderful time ever since.

I don't see how we can transplant a Canadian wolf into the U.S. and then label her pups an endangered species. It's like your cat having kittens in the oven. That doesn't make them biscuits,

The endangered species act is applied differently to wolves than it is to fish, for example. Wild fish can't even be transplanted from one river to another, let alone

That's how we get the Puget Sound Fall Chinook, Methow River Spring Chinook, and the Upper Smith Creek Gravel Spawning Under The Trees June 23rd Chinook. All of these have to be saved.

Fish born in a hatchery are called "hatchery fish," even if their ancestors were wild. It's like someone asking if our parents were wild. We'd have to say, "probled bly. But the ably. But that was many years ago." Descendants of hatchery, fish aren't considered wild; even if they were spawned in the wild. Hatchery fish are often clubbed to death to keep them from competing with endangered "wild fish."

That's because fish an managed by the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), whereas wolves are managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. If the NMFS managed wolves those shocking experiment wouldn't be necessary.

Those Montana Lupuses would be sent back to Canada and clubbed to death if they tried to return.

The easier decisions are Gose relating to senior pictures. You have to decide what photographer you're going to, when you're getting them taken, which proofs you're going to buy and how many of each. Then one of the most important decisions that you will ever make in your life is choosing the college that you will attend for the next two to eight years. When going into college you have to have some sort of an idea of what you want to major in and what you plan to do for the rest of your life.

It's terrifying to actually think you have to make all these decisions in less than a year. It's also scary to think that you have to decide what you want to do for the rest of your life. It seems like I just started high school the other day and now in a matter of a year I have to decide where I am going to college and what I want to be for the rest of my life. A lot of us need to start getting prepared and on top of things for our future. Seniors should be getting their list of colleges down to about four or five and start filling out applications for them and sending them in. Mr. Dillon, the high school's guidance counselor, encourages seniors to get those applications in the mail. He also recommended those students interested in financial aid should make sure their parents' taxes for this year are done by February. As you can see, seniors at Cass City High School have a lot on their minds, as well as their parents. There is only seven more months until seniors graduate, so make the best of those seven months and get things done and planned for college.

Permission needed to exercise right?

Letter to my friend John,

In reference to the Haire Net, Sept. 27. John, it totally baffles me how someone as bright as you can be so consistently wrong on the issue of gun control.

You are correct about the Supreme Court's interpretation of the 2nd Amendment.

not for the benefit of the child's history book appeople but for the security of those in power. "Original intent" always has been and always should be the basis for Supreme Court decisions. But there are 2 exceptions: guns and lawful money. Why might that be, John?

That many people don't realize they're being conned is Their "misinterpretation" is not surprising. Pick up your proved for government schools. Read the 2nd Amendment and then read their "interpretation" of it. Our children are being taught that the state has the right to train the militia in the use of weapons. No mention in the interpretation of the Right of the people to keep and bear arms. Wonder why?

Our Michigan Constitution is even more specific in that it says the people have the Right to keep and bear arms for defense of themselves and defense of the State. It's hard to imagine how any literate person could misinterpret such a simply written statement. Realizing how all of the past and current tyrannies began their development, it's not hard to imagine why government might want to misinterpret our Right to keep and bear arms. The 2nd Amendment insures that we can also exercise our Right and duty "to alter or to abolish it" when "it" (government) becomes destructive of our Rights as it states in our Declaration of Independence. You ask "What protection does carrying a concealed gun really offer?" According to all of the studies, concealed weapons are the single biggest deterrent to crime. As a matter of fact, when rape and other violent crimes got totally out of control in Florida, particularly Dade County, the authorities decided to end their restrictions on concealed carry permits. The violent crime rate and especially the rapes dropped drastically almost immediately simply because the criminals didn't know who was carrying a gun and who wasn't. The resourceful criminals found new victims though....tourists. Not likely they would be armed. An easy and safe target. Stories about children killing children with guns is commonplace in the news today. Consider that in 1996 accidental firearm deaths in the U.S. 42 of those deaths involved children from 0-9

The No Problem People

Gallup indicate that there are

1.915 children died in motor vehicle crashes and another 490 died when they were struck by motor vehicles. 805 lost their lives from drowning, and 738 were killed by fire and burns. Almost twice as many children die from drowning in bathtubs and more children die in bicycle accidents each year than from all types of firearm accidents. One child is one child too many. But do our hypocritical, anti-gun celebrities and political leaders, most of whom are either themselves armed or have armed body guards, campaign to eliminate automobiles, swimming pools, bathtubs and bicycles? One of our most outspoken political gun grabbers, Sen. Dianne Feinstein (D-Calif.), has a concealed carry permit. She apparently considers her safety and her life more valuable than just common folk.

Since 1993, 82 students have been murdered in shootings in schools according to the National School Safety Center. During the same time period there have been 99 children killed by government mandated airbags. Before eliminating airbags, the obvious question we have to ask is, "How many lives have airbags saved?' From an article in the San Francisco Chronicle, 6-30-99. Dr. David Lawrence says, "About 180,000 hospital patients die each year from error or complications arising from just the use of prescription drugs." To suggest that we attempt to "save" those unfortunate 180,000 by doing away with hospitals and prescription drugs and leave millions to die would be ab-

Without exception, every state that loosened concealed carry laws noticed a measurable decrease in deaths by firearms. Fifteen national polls taken by such groups as the Los Angeles Times and years old. In the same year 760,000 defensive handgun uses during any given year and 3.6 million defensive uses with any type of gun. Even the FBI stats claim anywhere from 1 to 2.5 million. That seems to be considerably more than "marginal safety" and perhaps a few million more than are accidentally killed by firearms. Your statement, "Nearly all law enforcement agencies concur that gun control is the best course to follow for the common good," is absolutely incorrect. A survey of 15,000 chiefs of police and sheriffs conducted by the National Association of Chiefs of Police found that 93% believed that law-abiding citizens should continue to be able to purchase guns for self-defense. In a similar survey 71% did not believe that stricter handgun laws would reduce the number of violent crimes.

gun control law does not have the backing of the majority of average citizens. A national poll by Lawrence Research Group (Sept. 1996) found that by a margin of 69% to 28%, registered voters favor "a law allowing law-abiding citizens to be issued a permit to carry a firearm outside their home for personal protection." Another study found that only 16% of those polled favored a ban on handguns. Hardly a

And John, a nation-wide

You may be "convinced that the danger to families is greater than the safety that carrying guns provides," but the facts prove that opinion to be unfounded. In Canada and Britain, where guns are much more restricted than in the U.S., almost 50% of home burglaries are committed with the residents at home. By contrast, in the U.S., it's only 13%. If you put a sign in your front yard saying "There are absolutely no firearms at this house," do you think your chances of being burglarized might increase or decrease? The same principle applies to concealed weapon carry permits. When they are abundantly commonplace statistics prove, without exception, rapes, violent assaults, muggings, and even murders decrease drastically. Why do you think the national media and the political Dianne Feinstein clones don't want us to know the facts? Again I ask, how can we be required to get permission to exercise a Right? Could it be that we have the Right to carry an unregistered gun (our property)? Might we have to obtain permission to carry a registered gun (the State's property)? Did you volunteer? Something to think about.

Proposal 2 is bad for state

Dear John:

Proposal 2 is bad for Michi-

While proponents are quick to point out that local vote will be more important if this proposed constitutional amendment passes during November's general election, they aren't telling you that any legislation intervening in local government could be blocked with just a one-third minority of the state legislature. That's minority rule, and that violates our country's principle of letting laws reflect the will of the majority of citizens. What's more, Prop. 2 would unilaterally repeal existing laws impacting municipalities that passed the Michigan Legislature with less than two-thirds support since March 1, 2000, even though those laws were enacted legally by majority rule.

Only big cities would benefit from Proposal 2. Michigan's counties, townships and villages would suffer dire consequences, and we simply can't let that hap-

Voting NO on Proposal 2 means voting yes for a level playing field in the Michigan Legislature.

the contamination of our drinking water. We should have been notified the first time (Sept. 5) and every time the water is found to be contaminated. Why weren't we informed? After all we are drinking this water. How many children and adults suffered flu like symptoms that may have been caused from drinking the water?

What I am talking about is

When I called the health department I was told the contamination wasn't harmful. If it wasn't harmful then why are we being told not to drink the water? And I might add it was the same kind of contamination found on and off through the month of September. I feel, as well as many other parents I talked to, we should be informed each and every time the water is found to be contaminated. Let us make the choice of whether we want to drink it or not.

Thank you

"It's the second biggest association in the United States. We have over 1,000 members (in Michigan)," she added. "We even have our own website now.

"This covers kindergarten through college," Biefer explained. "The goals of the association are to spread the word of how important art is to a well rounded education, and to make sure we do it the right way.'

Biefer has been involved with the association for as long as she has been a teacher, but she became more active about 15 years ago. She went from being a member to serving as a liaison officer for Region 11, which covers Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac, Saginaw and Gratiot counties. Her duties included setting up regional art shows designed to showcase the talent of students in the

Aside from the regional art shows, the association sponsors an annual conference, workshops and mini-conferences. Biefer credits the support of her husband, Russ, an assistant principal at Cass City High School, with her ability to remain active in the many activities of the association.

"I really, really enjoyed being a liaison officer," she said, smiling. "Then they talked me into being vice president."

Biefer's duties as vice president involve overseeing all of the liaison officers in Michigan's 16 regions.

She's quick to point out, however, that she's not the only Michigan Art Education said.

Association official representing Tuscola County. In fact, Pam TerBush, an art and French teacher in the Mayville Schools, currently is president of the association, and Judy Hoelzle, an art teacher in the Cass City Schools, now serves as liaison officer for Region 11.

Kingston area resident Jean Kempa, who teaches in North Branch, serves as liaison officer for Region 10, according to Biefer, whose twin sister, Marianna Fiedor, an elementary art teacher in North Branch, is liaison officer for Region 10.

"All of us have been teaching just about the same amount of time. So, we're a pretty close knit bunch," she Biefer spent the first 16 years of her career teaching only art, then she spent the next several years teaching art along with high school English. "This year I'm back to all art and loving every minute of it," she said. Biefer indicated she's thrilled to be teaching elementary art again because it will now be easier to build an art program much like an athletic program, with younger students learning the basics early on.

Biefer believes art, like music, enhances the entire educational experience for students. "It's trying to get the kids to think more abstractly. It's been proven to help kids learn better," she Biefer also believes art offers an opportunity to build self-esteem and confidence, especially to those students who may not excel in other subject areas.

Which has a lot to do with Biefer's enthusiasm when it comes to the Michigan Art Education Association.

"I just think it's really important for people to know how important art is to the curriculum for the kids," she

Encouraging safety-belt use to reduce tragedies, the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning (OHSP) and the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) are teaming up to bring local business owners the opportunity to have a real impact on the safety of their employ-

Parking lot signs reminding employees to "Click It or Ticket" are available at MDOT's 25 Transportation Service Centers (TSCs) across the state, including the Cass City TSC.

"Safety belts are proven lifesavers. If business owners encourage belt usage by their employees, real human tragedy is reduced," said Betty Mercer, OHSP division director.

Safety belt usage jumped dramatically following the implementation of a standard enforcement law, Public Act 29 of 1999, March 10, 2000.

Prior to the law safety belt usage was approximately 70 percent. Immediately after implementation of the law, usage quickly rose to more than 83 percent. Business owners concerned about employees' health and safety have an opportunity to increase this figure and reduce both personal tragedy and business costs by installing signs encouraging employee safety belt usage.

"We are pleased to again partner with OHSP to help increase safety belt usage in Michigan. Business owners can come into any one of MDOT's TSCs across the state, obtain a sign and receive installation instructions," said State Transportation Director Jim DeSana.

"Click It or Ticket" highway signs are located throughout the state, including 71 rest areas. OHSP has been leading a public information campaign since October 1999 to educate the public about the new law. According to the new law, drivers and front-seat passengers are to be buckled up or face a citation that could lead to a fine of at least $25 plus fees and other costs. The law also requires all children under the age of 4 years to be placed in child restraint seats when riding in a vehicle in all seating positions. All other passengers under 16 must be buckled up regardless of seating position.

OHSP is funding signs from federal traffic safety education funds.

The Hawks, with a score of 339, finished second in regional play behind Goodrich, 330, among the 19 schools entered. The first 3 finishers qualify for the state finals. Caro was third with 349.

The finals are scheduled Friday and Saturday. After the preliminaries Friday, the field is cut to the top 12 teams and ties and the top 12 individuals and ties to compete for the team and individual championships Saturday. Cass City is scheduled to play at 10 a.m. Friday.

One of the toughest tasks all season for Coach Dr. Paul Chappel was selecting the team for the regionals. Cass City has 6 players that were very close in ability. Five players are allowed in the regionals and Chris Maharg got the nod over Joel Brinkman because he played better in both league tournaments.

Scores at the regionals were high because of wind and dried out greens, although the golf course was in excellent condition.

Hawks add 2nd gridiron win

The Cass City Red Hawks racked up their second straight victory in a row Friday with a 24-14 decision over visiting Bay City All Saints, 24-14.

The team ends its season Friday with a non-conference game at Richmond and would like nothing better than to end the year on a very positive note with a third win, possibly indicating better things ahead for Cass City football.

The win was not without a downside for the Hawks. Both Khoury and Dorland suffered injuries and are doubtful for the final game of the year.

The Cougars scored first with a drive that started on their own 18 yard line and took 15 plays, capped by Ryan Lukowski's 9-yard jaunt around his own left end for the touchdown. Ryan Holmgren blocked the extra point attempt.

That was it for All Saints until late in the fourth quarter when the Hawks had virtually clinched the win.

Tim Khoury was a touchdown machine for Cass City, scoring all 4 of the Hawks' touchdowns.

The first tied the game at half time. Ouarterback Khoury kept the ball and went over from the 5-yard line. The drive covered 68 yards. Key plays in the drive were a 35-yard pass, Khoury

If rookie Coach Scott Gaeth's gridiron team can topple visiting AuGres-Sims this Friday in the Bulldogs' final tilt of the season, he will accomplish in his first season, something that Owen-Gage couldn't do during the entire 1990s.

Finish the campaign with a winning record.

Owen-Gage's chances of ending with their best mark since the 1989 season, where they completed the season at 5-4, however, will be no easy chore. AuGres invades Owendale with a lofty 5-3 record, one win away from automatically making the state playoff picture.

Against their northern foe, Atlanta, a high powered offensive attack saw Owen-Gage rack up 372 yards of offense, including 136 yards via the air.

Bulldog quarterback Ryan Fritz completed 8 of 14 passes, including 3 to his favorite target, Jeremy Story, for 52 yards. Fritz also connected with Matt Rogers for one score of 39 yards and ran for another from the 2-yard line in what has become standard operating procedure for the senior southpaw.

After a scoreless opening quarter, the visitors recorded a pair of markers before the break, where they enjoyed a 12-0 margin.

Senior Tommy Minker broke the scoreless deadlock with his first career touchyard plunge. Nathan Kain, who led all rushers with 105 yards on 22 carries, ended the scoring before the half when he found pay dirt from 2 yards out.

Leading 12-2, the Bulldogs used 3 scores in the final period to ice the game. Nick Warack opened the 4th period scoring with a 2yard dive.

Fritz finished off the visitors when he ran for the next score, then connected with Rogers for the game's final touchdown.

Defensively, Warack registered a team best 11 stops. Earl McKee added 8 tackles, while Rogers recorded 5 solo tackles and 2 assists.

The Bulldog defense also created 3 turnovers, including interceptions by Jeremy Kady and Shane Mellendorf. Kady also came up with the lone Bulldog fumble recovto Holmgren, and a 12-yard run by Matt Stoutenburg.

Cass City went ahead to stay with 4:32 left in the third quarter as Khoury scored from 25 yards out. The drive covered 75 yards. Big chunks of yardage in the drive were eaten up by Stoutenburg, who rambled on runs of 15 and 16 yards.

In the next 2 minutes the game was decided as the Hawks took advantage of a pair of Cougar fumbles deep in their own territory to score

The first drive started on the All Saints' 20 and Cass City took just 4 plays to score with Khoury going the last 10 yards on a run around his left end.

The kickoff was fumbled and this time the Hawks took possession on the Cougar 24. Four plays later Khoury went over from the 5-yard line.

All Saints added a consolation tcuchdown in the fourth quarter with a 6-yard run by Aaron Smith. Brian Erndt added a 2-point conversion.

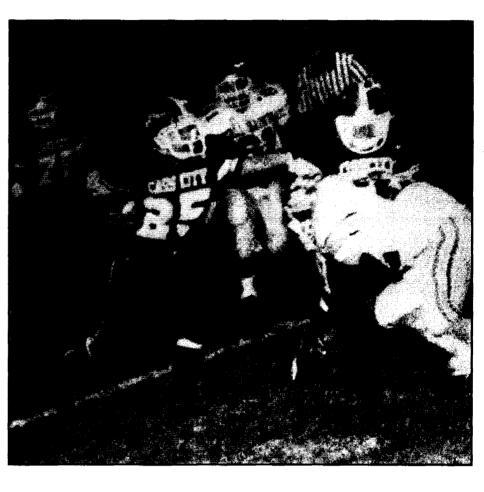

Khoury netted 79 yards on 21 attempts and Stoutenburg had 74 yards in 15 carries. Aaron Dorland averaged 5.8 yards, running just 4 times and gaining 23 yards.

Holmgren had a big night on the receiving end of Khoury's passes, netting 69 yards on 4 completions. Defensively the Hawk line dominated, led by Andy Stoeckle, Chris Ziehm, Eric Brown and Jason Barrigar.

The pleasing performance was led by Sara Homakie. When the junior guard plays well, the Hawks respond with their better games. Against Mayville she was the leading scorer with 18 points. In addition, she pulled down an awesome 18 rebounds, 8 on offense, and added 4 assists and 2 steals. For the night the team hit

Bay City handles Hawk cagers, 50-43

Cass City dropped its second straight Greater Thumb West league game last week as the Red Hawks fell to visiting Bay City All Saints Tuesday, 50-43.

The game pitted the superior speed of the Hawks against the more physical Cougars, led by Jacquie Caprathe and Stacey Werner. It was the fourth quarter that again proved fatal to Cass City, similar to the results in the Reese game.

For the first 3 1/2 quarters it was a see-saw affair with the lead changing hands several times. With 3:57 left in the game the score was tied at 41-all. All Saints then ran off 7 unanswered points to win it. Tracey Werner converted 2 free throws, Stacey Werner added a trey and Lisa Paveglio scored her only cal of most of the game. The Cougars jumped off to a 4point lead before the Hawks bounced back to tie it and after that there was never more than 4 points separating the teams until after the Sara Homakie, with 5 points, and Diedre Deering, with 4 points, paced the team in the first quarter. The teams traded baskets in the second period and at the intermission Cass City was in front by a point, 25-24.

The Cougars started strong remaining in the period. Going into the final quarter the visitors led 35-32.

That set the stage for the Hawk rally to tie, only to lose it in the final minutes.

Deering, with 12 points, was the only Hawk in double figures. Paveglio netted 15 to lead All Saints. Homakie, with 12, and Holli Cooper, with 10, led Cass City rebounders.

JV GAME

Cass City's junior varsity had little trouble posting a decision over the All Saints' JV, 43-26.

Peck's pressure too much for Bulldogs in NCTL cage tilt

Visiting Peck jumped out to a quick 15-2 lead Thursday in Owendale and then held on to hand host Owen-Gage a 63-57 North Central Thumb League setback.

Coach Dave Fritz's Bulldogs had trouble handling the Pirates' (6-6 overall, 6-2 NCTL) full court pressure defense and fell behind 45-31 at the intermission.

The Pirates' Cyrstal Messing, Heidi Gordon and Sarah Kronsnicki combined for 24 tallies in the initial frame that ended with the visitors holding a demanding 26-8 mar-

Messing, who tossed in a game high 25 points, hurt the hosts throughout the opening half, where she tallied 19 markers that included 3 hoops from behind the 3point arc.

Peck's pressure defense led to 45 free throw attempts on the night for Owen-Gage, but miserably, the hosts connected on only 24 of the free-

Owen-Gage received a season high 24 points from Erin Salcido, while teammates Melissa Ziehm and Dee Fritz each posted a dozen points.

CPS

Owen-Gage had little trouble with Carsonville-Port Sanilac Tuesday and recorded a 55-31 decision.

The hosts built a 24-17 lead at the intermission and then outscored the Tigers 18-3 down the stretch to register the victory.

Salcido posted game scoring honors with 18 points, which included 8 points in the final and deciding frame. Ziehm tossed in a pair of 3pointers for the winners and finished with 11 points. While Salcido was fueling the Bulldogs' offensive exploits, the entire Bulldog bench helped to limit the Tigers to a solo basket by Amanda Zech over the game's final 8 minutes. The Tigers received a team high 9 points from Liz Aebel.

The Tigers will receive a chance to seek revenge this Thursday, as schedule makers put the Bulldogs on the Tigers' home court in an NČTL tilt.

October domestic violence month

October has become known as the National Domestic Violence Awareness Month throughout the country.

"It's the perfect opportunity to connect with our communities, educate individuals

'bout domestic violence, and coordinate trainings for individuals interested in volunteering to help those affected by domestic violence," commented Gwyn VanDevender, victim services manager at HDC's Thumb Area Assault Crisis Center.

Last year the Thumb Area Assault Crisis Center proded services to over 250 victims of domestic and sexual violence in Huron. Sanilac and Tuscola coun-

The "shelter" provides a safe environment where victims and their children receive food, shelter, clothing, support, crisis intervention services, individual and roup counseling, advocacy, and information and referral services. In addition, the Thumb Area Assault Crisis Center provides a 24-hour Crisis Line where individuals can receive immediate assistance and information regarding domestic and sexual violence.

"In recognition of October : National Domestic Violence Awareness Month, we are planning several speaking engagements to local groups, various support group activities, volunteer recruitment and training, and a Spaghetti Dinner Benefit for the Assault Crisis Center," stated VanDevender.

10 YEARS AGO

Tom Hyatt, 23, Snover, is recuperating and was expected to be released from St. Mary's Medical Center, Saginaw, Tuesday. He was hospitalized after his hand became caught in a corn picker Monday at the Harland Lounsbury farm, where he was working. He had surgery Sunday and doctors were hopeful that he'll have full use of his hand.

Some 100 persons turned out Saturday morning for a ceremony honoring Cass City area servicemen now serving in Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf. Red, white and blue ribbons honoring 25 local men serving in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines were tied to trees by brothers, sisters, mothers, fathers, wives and others during the hour-long ceremony, held at the village park.

After nearly 2 years of discussion and planning, members of 3 Snover area churches have united to create a new body. Members of the Elmer, Moore and Trinity United Methodist churches have merged to form the Heritage United Methodist Church. The Rev. Mike Norton, former circuit minister for the 3 Snover area congregations for 3 years, is pastor of the new church.

Area residents are invited to enjoy a hauntingly good time Oct. 26, 27 and 31 in the basement of the Cass City Cultural Center, where the Cass City Jaycees have been busy setting up "Spook House 1990.

Downtown vision "doable", Hyett tells audience

in an effort to immediately level portions of the building that can't be salvaged. The property, he added, would be an ideal site for additional medical facilities or an elderly housing complex.

Building code enforcement is a key, according to Hyett, who recommended that a part-time position be created to assist Village Manager Jane Downing.

In terms of making improvements, the Cass City DDA, in cooperation with local banks, offers a low-interest loan program to business owners interested in sprucing up their buildings. Hyett suggested that the DDA require a percentage of each loan be earmarked for improvements to building exteriors, and that the village continue to offer design assistance to property owners.

Probably the most effective strategies in working with businesses, Hyett said, is to have someone on the street every week, talking with business owners about their needs. He referred to his earlier suggestion of creating a part-time position, noting this person could be the one to work with storeowners. In addition, the EDC-DDA should consider meeting with prospective business owners a couple times each

SERVICE

Hyett suggested that businesses can make a number of improvements without major expense, including paying close attention to offering their customers exemplary service. Improved window displays and opening up restrooms to the public are other ways to cultivate business, he said. Owners should also consider market-driven business hours based on when their customers have time to shop.

Despite the challenges, Cass City is moving in the right direction, according to Hyett, who lauded programs such as the Cass City Chamber of Commerce's new sign promotion and preparation of a new brochure to market the community.

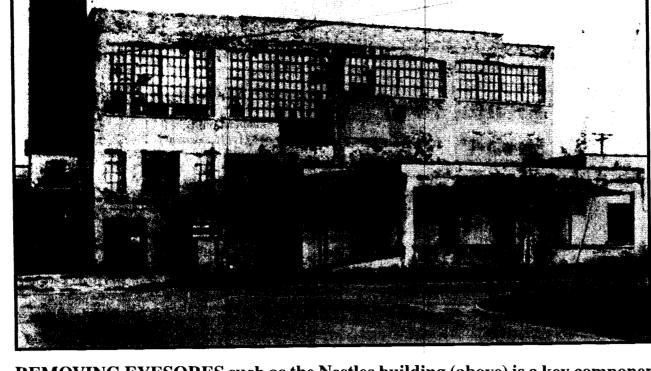

Hyett noted a number of residents surveyed were interested in creating a "theme" for Cass City.

"We would suggest preservation as your theme," he said. "The American public loves preserved, older down-

The key word, Hyett concluded, is "downtown."

"If you don't remember anything else I've said tonight, I'd like you to remember this: as the downtown goes, so goes the town."

Ironically, Cass City's business district took another hit a day after Hyett's presentation when officials at the Cass City IGA Store, 6121 Cass City Rd., posted a "going out of business" sign (see related photo, page one). Cass City Village Manager Jane Downing acknowledged the news was disappointing, but indicated she's optimistic that new business opportunities will arise in the near future.

REMOVING EYESORES such as the Nestles building (above) is a key component of the Downtown Action Agenda designed to revitalize Cass City's downtown business district.

It's school bus safety week

AAA Michigan is reminding motorists that Oct. 15-21 is National School Bus Safety Week. This year's theme is "Railroad Crossing Quiet Zone.'

"More people die in highway-rail grade crossing crashes in the United States each year than in all commercial and general aviation crashes combined," says Jerry Basch, manager of Community Safety Services for AAA Michigan.

"Michigan had 98 railroad crossing incidents in 1999, leaving 37 people injured and causing 14 deaths. Fortunately, team safety measures prevented any school bus tragedies. By creating a quiet zone inside the bus as it approaches a railroad crossing, students can help
