Robo Mania

CASS CITY'S Brad Hanby downloads information from a laptop computer to the robot he and teammate Josh Woodruff built for the Robogames competition, held Friday and Saturday in the Cass City Middle School gymnasium. The pair combined efforts to capture first place in 2 out of 3 competition areas.

Local kids flex brain muscle

Cass City Schools is known for having a number of strong programs over the years — basketball, golf, track, debate and quiz bowl among them.

Kevin Green is laying the groundwork for the local district to become a powerhouse in another area of competition: robotics. Judging by his success to-date, it won't take long.

Green, Cass City's KLICK site coordinator, was all smiles after watching his fifth grade students flex some serious brain power at the Robogames Friday and Saturday at Cass City Middle School. Cass City fielded 3 novice teams, which combined efforts to capture first place in 2 of 3 competition areas as well as third place overall.

"It was fantastic. Our kids were the youngest kids there - most of the other teams were seventh and eighth graders. "I was really proud of how our kids did," Green said. "I was proud of all the teams. It was a friendly competition.

"This was our first time (hosting the Robogames)," Green noted. "Last year was the first year we did Robogames, and that was at Amelia Earhart Middle School in Detroit. Our teams took first and third place. After that, we really started getting into robotics."

Robogames are relatively new, with the 2-day event in Cass City being just the sixth event held statewide. The weekend competition was also the biggest success so far, drawing twice the attendance of any previous Robogames. In all, Cass City hosted 15 schools and 58 students competing in 2-person

teams. The visitors included

2 teams from Savannah, Ga. Green explained that the competition kicked off Friday with students learning how to program their robots. Some of Green's more advanced students, including Ivan Peruski, Andrew Peruski, Alex Hiatt, Brandon Hartwick and Tyler Tomlinson, along with high school assistant Eric Hanby, were on hand to answer questions and assist all of the competitors.

The competition itself took place Saturday. "There are several objectives. One is they're learning team building skills. There are also several math building skills and engineering skills," Green said.

Students prepare for the competition by building their own robots with 716piece Lego kits that include a small computer. The next task is learning how to program the robots utilizing infrared transmitters, which are plugged into laptop computers. The goal, Green said, is to program light sensor readings into the robot's com-

"It takes good mechanical engineering skills and computer science skills," he added. "It's pretty technical, but they really pick it up

Saturday's Robogames featured 3 separate competitions, including a shuttle race. There was also a balloon challenge - competitors navigated their robots, each equipped with tacks, within a circle while attempting to pop balloons - and "follow the leader", where competitors used flashlights to guide their robots through a figure 8 course.

"We used to get an allowance for office expenses, but we have put that into our salaries. It used to be you didn't have to pay tax on that, but now you have to," she said, adding the additional $25 was approved to offset taxes.

"We still are low," Wallace said of the salaries compared to other townships. "We're not the top one in the county even though we are the second (highest) populated one.'

Township officials plan to spend nearly $70,000 on road improvements in the coming year, including resurfacing of Koepfgen Road, from M-81 south to Elmwood Road; heavy gravel on Spence Road, and patching gravel on Milligan Road. Also planned is a study/survey for future improvements to Elmwood Road, from Doerr to Koepfgen.

Vassar woman killed in crash

A fatal traffic accident claimed the life of a 60-year-old Vassar woman Friday in Fremont Township.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to the scene of the crash, M-46 and Chambers Road, at about 10:37

Investigators said the victim, Louise Ann Ollila, pulled onto

M-46 into the path of an eastbound semi-truck and was struck from behind. The impact caused both vehicles to slide eastbound some 600 feet to the shoulder of the westbound lane The driver of the truck was identified as Robert E. Hosenfeld, 57, of Richmond, Ind. Deputies said Hosenfeld was driving a truck owned by Spring Lake Farms Trans Inc., Oklahoma City, Okla., and was enroute to Sandusky to pick up a load of peat. He was not injured and was wearing a seatbelt.

Ollila was also wearing a seatbelt. She was pronounced dead at the scene, according to deputies, who said Caro fire fighters used the Jaws of Life to remove her body from the Deputies were also assisted at the scene by the Tuscola County Road Commission, Michigan State Police motor Carrier Division and the Tuscola County Sheriff's Victim's Advocates, who assisted in notifying Ollila's family.

Drew Carey look-alike opens tattoo, body piercing shop

TATTOO ARTIST Megan Gottschalk of Port Austin puts the finishing touches on a half moon and stars tattoo requested by Bobbie Steff, 22, of Kingston, Saturday afternoon at the newly opened Illuzzions tattoo and body piercing business in Gagetown.

Walk into Wayne Coulter's tattoo and body piercing shop in Gagetown and chances are good you'll think that comedian Drew Carey is living a double life.

Coulter bears a striking resemblance to the television sitcom star - horn rimmed glasses and all - so much so that he even fooled a television studio security guard during a trip to Hollywood a few years ago.

So what is the Auburn Hills native doing in Gagetown?

"I've had this going - April 1 wi" be 2 years," Coulter said of his tattoo and body piercing business, which he opened in the former Eagle Dancer Café last October. "I was renting in Caro, and I got tired of renting, and I know the people who had the Eagle Dancer."

Appropriately, Couiter amed his business named Illuzzions.

"Business is pretty good. It seems to be getting better," Coulter said, noting the move from Caro, where he ran a similar business for about 18 months, hasn't deterred prospective clients. "Whether you are tattooing or piercing, they'll drive," he

"We've got a clean, sterile facility, and we treat people decently. The customer's always number one in my books."

Coulter said he believes his prices are more reasonable than those charged in cities. A tattoo can cost anywhere from $25 up to hundreds of dollars or more depending on the design and detail. Piercing prices also vary depending on the customer's request and what they select in the way of body jewelry.

Coulter's staff includes Megan Gottschalk of Port Austin, and Sebewaing area resident Richard Werschky. Werschky is a veteran tattoo artist with some 20 years of experience, while Gottschalk has been doing tattoos since she completed training at a specialized school about 6 months ago.

Coulter, who shares his business with a junior partner and unofficially adopted son, Robert Arnold, 15, of Sebewaing, also specializes in special order 12-volt auto accessories, including neon lighting, stereos, speakers and other equipment.

WAYNE COULTER's face has drawn plenty of doubletakes from people who mistake the area business owner for comedian and sitcom star Drew Carey. Coulter recently opened a tattoo and body piercing business in Gagetown.

The invitation to play was extended by friend, David Smith, minister of the church. Refreshments were served before the program.

For several years the Michigan Citizens for SmokeFree Air has published a guide to restaurants that do not allow smoking. Each year the number grows. In 2001 the book now lists 3,039 that have eliminated smoking in their restaurants.

Fast food chains have jumped on the bandwagon, including Burger King, Dunkin Donuts, McDonald's, Wendy's and Dairy Queen among them.

I suspect, but can't prove, that there are scads of independents that have joined the no-smoke parade but aren't listed. When no-smoking areas were first coming into prominence the no smoking section was usually just a small space tucked away in the far corner.

Today no-smoking sections are usually larger than those where smoking is allowed and often is full when the smoking sections have room to spare.

A little of this and that as seen from the corner of Oak and Main. How things are and how they should be.

There has been a trickle of interest in Michigan to lengthen the times that politicians can serve. Under the current law in Michigan senators can serve 2 4-year terms and House members 3 2-year terms in their life-

The law also limits the governor, lieutenant governor, in mid-March in 1947. attorney general and secretary of state to no more than 24-year terms.

Supporters of extending the term limits would like to get the proposal to the voters this year or next with a petition drive or get the legislature to vote to put it on the ballot. They want to get voters to at least consider lengthening the time lawmakers can serve.

The term-limit law was passed in 1992 and after 10 years if I were asked to vote today it would be a coin-flip.

When the state is run by mostly inexperienced men and women I can appreciate that by necessity they will lean more heavily on the advice of lobbyists which are paid to promote not our interests, but the interests of the company that signs the paycheck.

The new drug, Botox, is giving fresh meaning to the old saying "Don't she look natural?" News reports say women who are concerned about facial wrinkles will be lining up for Botox injections as soon as the FDA approves the drug for removing these creases.

Nobody knows how long the lines will be, but a cost of $200 to $400 every four months is likely to discourage all but the most insane. Botox is a purified form of the deadly botulism organism. Dermatologists have learned the drug can be injected in very small doses to paralyze muscles that create facial wrinkles, such as crow's-feet and furrows-ofthe-forehead.

The principle is the same as those hairdos that were popular back in the '50s. Readers will recall the old hairstyles in which women would insert a pin or a stick in their hair and then twist it. This pulls the hair back into a taut, little bun, much like one tightens the wire on a corner post.

Those hairdos were death on wrinkles. Some women had so much tension on their facial muscles their eyes would slam shut when they pulled the pin on the hairdo. Botox has side effects, too. Dermatologists say these treatments make frowning nearly impossible, and a person may find herself smiling cheerfully while the kids dismantle the dog.

Even worse, Botox patients may have trouble batting their eyes, and napping at the desk is pretty much out of the question without some type of goggles. Folks need to think about these things before they run out to get their face tightened.

I'm surprised nobody has considered men as a market for wrinkle removers. I know I look in the mirror each morning and think about those funny, little dogs the Chinese used to raise.

The hazards from having your skin tightened are not to be taken lightly. I remember a radio program some thirty years ago during which the winner of a liar's contest described a sow he used to own. (If I knew who he was, I would give him credit.)

Hogs were raised outside in those days, and this man's sows had access to the barn as well as a small lot outdoors. Soon after the pigs moved in they built a nice mud hole just outside the barn and began wallowing around in it most of the day.

One day the farmer noticed one of his sows had begun to collect mud in the switch on the tip of her tail. That's pretty common, so he didn't think much about it.

A few days later he noticed lack of sleep.

the mud ball had grown and was almost as big as an orange. The sow weighed nearly 500 pounds, however, so he still didn't think much about it.

The mud continued to accumulate on that sow's tail all summer until by fall the mass of mud was as big as a bowling ball! Finally, the glob of mud on that sow's tail got so big, and pulled her skin so tight, she couldn't close her eyes.

The poor thing died from

What does it feel like to ride in an airplane? What are people like in other countries around the world? These are a couple of questions that have been asked at Cass City High School in the last few weeks. Students there are getting ready to go across seas to Europe during spring break. While in Europe the students will be seeing some highlights of different countries in Italy, France, and Spain on a cultural tour provided by Educational Tours

Starting their freshmen year, students have the opportunity to take foreign language classes offered through the school. The languages differ each year depending on how many people sign up for that language. The choices are French and Spanish and are taught by Foreign Language Club advisor, Mrs. Trisch. Anyone in the foreign language classes can be part of the Foreign Language Club. The club does a fundraiser every year to raise money for the trip to Europe. The trip takes place every three years. The only fundraiser that the club does is selling candy bars. This helps offset the cost of the trip. Since the total cost of the trip is $1,789, every little bit of money helps.

The trip only happens every three years so this year anyone who is a sophomore, a junior, or a senior is welcome to go even if they haven't taken a foreign language. There are 37 participants planning on going during spring break this year. This consists of 25 students and 12 adults from school staff and community.

On Wednesday, March 27, a bus will be leaving from the high school at 6:00 A.M. The bus will be taking the Europe trip participants to really looking forward to this Detroit Metro Airport. From there they will fly to Atlanta, Georgia, and then catch a other countries around the flight to Rome, Italy.

Rome, they will visit that country first. While there the tour group will be visiting the Coliseum, Catacombs, the Sistine Chapel, and St. Peters Square. In Florence. Italy, they will experience the work of Michelangelo, Renaissance Sculptors, and painters work. After Florence, the group will go to Assisi and see the St. Francis of Assisi Cathedral. The last stop in Italy will be Pisa. The participants will visit the Tower of Course. The next part of the trip is in France. In Nice they will visit the French Riviera. Then in Monte Carlo they will visit Monaco. Spain is the final country that the tour group will be visiting. Here the group will go to Barcelona and then end up in Madrid. After the group tours Madrid, they will go to the airport there and start their return flight. From Madrid, they will fly to Atlanta and then back to Detroit. The group will arrive back in Cass

The purpose of the trip is to experience a cultural tour and for students to learn outside of school. Some experiences that the students should get out of the tour are history, foreign languages, different religions, architecture, government, and arts. Another purpose for the trip is for the students to have and opportunity to practice the language that they have learned in class. Mrs. Trisch said, "I just hope everyone has fun and gets as much as they can out of this cultural tour." "I'm excited about the airplane and to see how other people live in different parts of the world," said Jessica Nicol. Tyler Harp said, "I'm trip. I hope that it will expand my knowledge about organization's honor. The first-ever event, held in conjunction with the 3-day FFA Convention on the campus of Michigan State University, was designed to familiarize Michigan's future agricultural leaders with the Capitol, provide a forum for discussion between legislators and FFA members from their regions, and to help identify with the organization, which is devoted to leadership and agricultural awareness.

FFA delegates attending the event represent more than 5,000 Michigan FFA members from across the state and are part of the nation's largest student organization. The annual convention includes a host of inspirational and educational events designed to build leadership.

FFA students across the country represent the future of agriculture, according to Scott Everett, director of the American Farmland Trust, which along with Michigan Agri-Business President Jim Byrum partnered with the 2002 FFA State Officer Team to organize the event.

"Today, there are very few legislators who have an agricultural background, Everett said. "As Michigan's second largest industry, it is becoming increasingly important to education policy makers on Michigan's everchanging agricultural industry and the future it may hold for generations to come."

Prior to the Senate floor ceremony, FFA students hosted a reception in the Capitol rotunda where FFA delegates met with their respective legislators and special guests Secretary of State Candice Miller and Jeff Armstrong, dean of the MSU College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

This year's FFA theme is "Lighting the Fire." "As state officers, it is our goal to help them become effective leaders and encourage communications by lighting the fire in our members," said Butters. "This legislative event provides an exposure to policy makers while opening a line of communication."

Along the way we learned that having money doesn't always make you right, and that having large pieces of land to plant to deer food plots makes you fortunate, but doesn't give you the right to impose your will on others. Area townships served by the Elkland Township Fire Department will pay a little more for the service beginning this year. The Elkland Township Board last week approved increasing standby fees by $25, boosting the fees from $275 to $300 per township section.

The violent, senseless deaths of 4 people at a Comerica Bank branch in northeast Detroit last week hit home, tragically, for a Cass City area family. One of the victims, bank branch Manager Stanley R. Pijanowski, 52, Bloomfield Hills, was the grandson of the late John and Genevieve Erla.

Elkland Township is joining a host of other Thumb municipalities that have made the switch to high-tech voting equipment. The township board last week voted to participate in an effort to incorporate the new optical scan voting machines throughout Tuscola County, township Clerk Norma Wallace said.

It isn't official yet, but interim administration appointments at Hills and Dales General Hospital are expected to be made permanent, with a third veteran hospital employee joining the leadership team. The posts of chief executive officer and chief financial officer have been offered to Dee McKrow and Kathy Rowe, respectively. In addition, Jean Anthony has been named chief operational officer.

House Bill 5763, increasing unemployment checks from $300 a week to $375.

"Jobless workers will receive more money while they are out of work, and that is always good news," said Meyer, R-Bad Axe. "While unemployment benefits are increased to help families through tough times, the system is protected so it doesn't go billions of dollars in debt like it did 20 years ago.

The $75 adjustment reflects a significant improvement in unemployment benefits. Based on inflation rates during the last 6 years, cost-ofliving increases would have totaled only $62.

The bill also rewards employers without layoffs by allowing reductions in unemployment tax payments.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

TOO BUSY TO PRAY?

The Bible tells us that whatever you ask for in prayer, believe that you will receive it and you will. And, whenever you stand praying, forgive if you have anything against any one so that your Father, who is in heaven, also may forgive you for your trespasses (Mark 11:24, 25). Sometimes we expect God to grant us all of our worldly desires, even when we seem to be too busy to go to Him in prayer. We may feel that if God knows all of our needs and what is best for us, He should just take care of us, and that there is no reason to go to Him in prayer. The fact is, He does take care of us and supplies our needs even when we don't always acknowledge Him. It may be hard for us to fathom the love that our Heavenly Father has for us. In a similar way, most of us probably never truly appreciated as children all of the good things our parents were doing for us. Showing love and appreciation is more important for the giver than the reseiver, and more importantly, it draws us closer to each other. God is like a good parent who always wants the very best for His children. He will never leave us or forsake us. When we go to Him in prayer, we can approach the throne of grace with confidence, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need (Hebrews 4:16).

Delight yourself in the Lord and He will give you the desires of your heart. N.I.V. Psalm 37:4

- b. The buyer accepts the premises in their present condition "AS IS" with all faults and without warranties or representations as to condition or state of repair.
- c. The seller reserves the right to accept or reject any and all bids. d. Buyer will assume all property taxes billed on or after
- January 1, 2002. e. Buyer will be required to tender payment in full by
- certified check or bank money order at the time of closf. Closing shall be accomplished on or before April 15,

- session of the property at closing.

If you would like to view the premises, call either Marv Irrer @ 989-375-2376 or Barb Burdon @ 989-665-2482.

DREW WHO?

Although Coulter has made a name for himself in the tattoo business, it's his likeness to Carey that draws stares and doubletakes just about everywhere he goes.

Ironically, Coulter didn't even know who Carey is until a co-worker pointed out the resemblance in 1997.

"I was living in Alabama at the time and I was working at the Olive Garden restaurant in Birmingham," he recalled. "I went into work one day and the bartender told me, 'hey Wayne, come here a minute'. She said, 'you look like someone'.'

The bartender couldn't think of Carey's name right away, but it came to her later. Coulter was astonished when he saw Carey's face on the cover of a television guide. "I said, 'wow, who is he?' I tuned into the show and I could not believe my eyes."

Coulter decided then that he wanted to go to Hollywood and meet Carey.

A week later, a violent storm tore away the awning on Coulter's home, and he packed his bags after receiving an insurance check to cover the damage.

"I found out where the show was filmed - Warner Brothers - and I drove into gate number 2," said Coulter, who was surprised when a security guard at the gate signaled him through. "I pulled over," he added. "I got out and by the time I got out, he saw my Alabama license

Coulter and the guard began talking. "He said he had to get me in to see the show. He called up and got me put on the VIP list, and it almost got him fired," he said. "So, I got in to see the show."

Coulter was later surprised again when Carey came out on stage and publicly welcomed Coulter as the "Alabama Drew".

After the show, Coulter had an opportunity to talk to Carey and his co-stars. "He said, you coming over to Dalt's (Bar and Grill)'? I said, 'sure'. He said, 'you know, you really spooked me'.

A lot of people really did think I was him out in Hollywood," Coulter continued, noting he also met Mel Gibson and was hired as an extra for an X-Files movie during his stay.

UNIONVILLE resident Angela Armstead, 23, shows off the cat tattoo she recently received at Illuzzions in Gagetown. "I just called one day and made the appointment," Armstead said of her decision to get the tattoo - her first. "I've always wanted one."

Hanby and Woodruff also captured first place in the balloon challenge, while the Lady Robo Red Hawks, composed of Sarah Reed and Whitney Laurie, took second place in the "follow the leader" competition (Munger Middle School, Detroit, won the event) as well as third-place team over-

Also representing Cass City were Brittney Loomis and Sarah Howard.

Cass City's success isn't limited to the beginners. Green also has a robotics team that finished 9th overall in a state competition hosted last year by Lawrence Tech University in Southfield. His students were also regional champs in the First Lego League last

Those achievements say a lot for the KLICK program, now in its fifth year at Cass City Middle School. KLICK, which stands for Kids Learn-Computer In Klubhouses, was initially implemented in 9 sites in Michigan, including Cass City. Today, there are 20 sites in the state along with one in Georgia. "We are really considered the elite program in Michigan for KLICK," Green said, adding Michigan State University officials recently selected Cass City for a pilot program involving an advanced robotics curriculum. "The curriculum will be used for future competitions and all the KLICK sites in Michi-

Green pointed out that competition is only a small part of what KLICK is about. The program, he explained, was designed as an after-school program to give youths, especially those in rural and poorer school districts, a place to go and feel safe, as well as a place to learn technology skills.

KLICK also provides community support by offering free services to local businesses, including website production and desktop publishing. The program offers support to school teachers and staff as well.

Green, who runs a one-week "boot camp for the brain" summer camp for students in grades 4 through 7, is optimistic about the future of KLICK and its impact on students. He's already planning to expand the robotics program to the high school

Poison Prevention Week on tap

Children act fast...and so do

In an effort to raise awareness of the dangers of accidental poisonings and to encourage people to take preventative measures, March 17-23 has been designated as National Poison Prevention Week.

Numerous substances around a home are potential poisons in the hands of a child. Glass cleaners, all-purpose cleaners, laundry detergent, plants, paint and medicines are some of the many examples of substances that can be poisonous when used incorrectly.

"Children Act Fast - So Do out of the sight and reach of Poisons" is the slogan for the 2002 Poison Prevention Week to remind everyone to keep potentially harmful substances out of the sight and reach of children. Each year, the state's certified regional poison control centers receive more than 100,000 total calls. Many of these calls would not have to be placed by following

- some basic rules regarding substances around the home: * Keep medicines in childresistant containers.
- * Never call medicine candy. * Store household cleaners, bug sprays, medicines, etc.,

children.

* Don't transfer a poisonous substance to a food or drink container.

* Put a product away immediately after using it.

But should a poisoning occur, it is important to know what to do and be prepared to take the appropriate steps.

The first step is to call the local poison control center, so have that phone number located next to the phone and with other emergency numbers. The new national toll-free number is 1-800-222-1222.

Ask your local pharmacist about poison prevention. Pharmacists are a readily accessible community resource with a wealth of information to share that will help improve the health and wellbeing of their patients.

Poison Prevention Week is sponsored by the Poison Prevention Week Council and supported by the Michigan Pharmacists Association. The MPA, representing more than 3,500 pharmacy professionals, strives to be a leader in professional and scientific advancement.

THE "LADY Robo Red Hawks", fifth grade students Sarah Reed and Whitney Laurie, test out their robot in the competition area Saturday.

Chamber of Commerce is growing

The Cass City Area Chamber of Commerce has experienced phenomenal growth this past year - both in membership and accomplishments. The 2001 business membership reached 153 and approximately 52 individuals joined in support.

Membership in the Chamber provides access to Blue Cross/Blue Shield Group Health plans; discounts on Auto Owners Insurance products and Curtis Chrysler service; and bulk mailing capabilities as well as many other benefits.

The Chamber continues to be the main contact for inquiries of all types. Information by phone, e-mail, snail mail, web-site, and direct contact is furnished to tourists, students, potential resiemployees and many others.

The local community is kept up to date with the Chamber's bi-monthly newsletter - Chamber Chat. Editor Frank Kemp has done an excellent job of producing an extremely professional publication. The Chamber continually strives to support and promote not only the local businesses, but also the entire community. They are the organization behind the very successful Summer Mania and Christmas in the Village promotions. Both events exceeded all expectations this past year and provided a great opportunity to showcase Cass City when visitors came from all over.

The Annual Community Dinner will take place on April 13th at Northwood Meadows. Once again the wonderful tradition of recognizing and honoring a Citizen and Jr. Citizen of the Year will take place. Good food, good entertainment, and good fellowship will be on tap for the night.

There is talk of putting on a spring community wide open house and Summer Mania plans are well under way. The Christmas in the Village event will return this year too.

Frozen foods are very big business

(NAPS)—The innovative thinking of Clarence Birdseye (1886-1956)-known as the father of frozen foodresulted in one of the most significant innovations in the food industry and forever changed the way people prepare and serve meals.

In the early 1920s, Birdseye, then a U.S. government field naturalist, noticed that freshly caught fish froze quickly in Arctic temperatures but tasted fresh when thawed and eaten later. The company carrying his name has led the frozen food industry since 1930 when the first frozen foods were introduced-26 different products, including vegetables, fruits, fish and meats. Today, frozen foods are a $27 billion industry and Frozen Food Month in March recognizes the industry's accomplishments. Check out these highlights from the history of 1934: Birds Eve introduces an inexpensive freezer display case that is leased to retailers, aiding those that couldn't afford the new appliance during the Depression.

1941-45: A tinplate shortage creates a greater demand for frozen food and large quantities are shipped to military personnel in World War II. Working women demand foods with easy and speedy preparation. 1944: National distribu-

Osentoski celebrating 50 years in Thumb

Osentoski Realty and Auction Service is one of the Thumb's premier familyowned businesses, but the reputation of the firm extends well beyond the Thumb.

The auction business was started in 1950 by Ira Osentoski and the realty business opened in 1972. Ira could never have imagined that over 50 years later the firm would be such a success and involve his wife, 3 sons, and his grandchildren the way it does today.

Today the company is run by Ira's wife Marie, sons, David, Martin and Ken Osentoski, and all of their children. The family guarantees personal, quality service from one of the oldest and largest auction services to ever operate in the Thumb.

sums up the services offered. Auctions have been held from Escanaba to Ecorse, and Osentoski Realty was started by David Osentoski. At the age of 18 he began working for Alexander Realty out of Bad Axe. After obtaining his broker's license he opened a small satellite office in the weathered front porch enclosure of his parents' farm on M-53. Having worked with his father in the family-owned auction service. David saw the opportunity to expand services. In 1972 the first Osentoski Realty Company was opened and run from the same porch enclosure.

Business was prosperous and over the course of 7 years, 5 more offices were opened at Port Austin, Bad Axe. Caro, Cass City and Caseville. In the 1980s the Unionville office came along. Deerfield opened in 1994 and the newest addition, Kingston, in March vice, the Osentoski family is very involved in the real estate business. TO THE CITIZENS OF CASS CITY:

Overall, 2001 was a good year for the Village of Cass City.

The economic downturn that has affected our nation has been felt in Cass City. The move of General Cable to another state hurt the overall economic climate; however, it was a disturbing but not a devastating blow. General Cable building was sold in December to a local firm, which has begun renovation in preparation of an expansion of its manufacturing

The terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001 were shocking and a reminder of the security and safety we enjoy in our community. Our Holiday Season was an expression of that. We were more aware of the spirit of the Season. There was a marked increase in the seasonal activities along with an increase in local shopping.

The Hills and Dales Health Care Corporation finished the construction of its Assisted Living facility. It is a beautiful facility and answers a need in

The Village of Cass City remains committed to the delivery of quality municipal services. Improvement of the public infrastructure continues to be a top priority of the Village Council and Administration. This is an important factor to retain commercial and industrial businesses in the

The Downtown Development Authority (DDA) and the Economic Development Corporation (EDC) are implementing actions to assist in the overall development of the community. The EDC sponsored the municipal bonds to pay for the construction of the Assisted Living Facility. They are also involved in recruiting new businesses to the Village. The DDA is working on maintaining and improving the downtown. They have continued their successful program of low interest loans for façade improvement. The DDA and EDC, along with the Chamber of Commerce, share the services of one employee. Each activity has greatly benefited from her enthusiasm and dedication.

The Village staff continues to work hard to supply the best services possible. We shall remember the Year 2001 for its national events and we shall recall the community spirit those events sparked.

Richard's TV stresses service after the sale

Richard's TV & Appliance. moved to its present location 1223 East Caro Rd., may not be the largest television and be one of the leading C Band appliance dealership you will find, but it may very well be the one that offers the best service after the sale you will ever find. Anonka's Witch Museum

The following is the opinion of the firm and is not endorsed by the Chronicle in any way.

Merry Meet.

My name is Anonka, my daughter and I have Anonka's Witch Museum in downtown Caro. Some people have voiced their duplicity on what they assume I may be like.

I am a free thought advocate, so I guess you could say I am an atheist, for I hold no religion and no religion holds me. I give my regards to anyone whether they are bound to a religion or not. I stand firmly on the platform where our forefathers stood, an iron clad constitution with a staunch separation of church and state.

Read the reading window in the front of the museum, it shows other supporters. We all live in religious freedom and freedom from religion, but there are dangerous zealots that are forcing their own brand of moralistic dogma on us all. The radical extremist are in our schools and in our government and right next door. The ranting of far right so called conservatives are working to lay waste to all our freedoms and rights. These control based fanatics are taking every opportunity they can seize, to sneak in their own agenda of ideology, or idiotology.

You don't have to have a religion! Matter of fact, you're better off if you don't subscribe to any religion! Religions come from Pagan myths anyway. Nothing wrong with that, as long as you don't teach that it's a proven fact. That would be like forcing people to believe in Santa or Loony

Any person that places or wants a religious idol on or in a government ground or building is definitely in contempt of USA. If you let religion in the government we will lose our freedoms and be like the Afghanistan and other religious-run countries. We must stay America the

When a person takes deeply to drink, they can become addictive to it and consequently it distorts reasoning. When a person takes deeply to religion, they can become addictive to it and consequently it destroys reasoning. Did you ever try and reason with a religious fanatic?...impossible isn't it?

That is why religion is so harmful to the over-all well being in our public schools because we need reliable reasoning and if they have conflict with facts they become rebellious. A student has to either be a puppet or a rebel.

All our great thinkers were rebels of some sort. Einstein said, "Great minds have always experienced opposition from mediocre minds." Hitler got the Jews together and he said that God approved of how he was handling the Jews. He hated the Jews because he was raised an inflexible Christian, that's why he shaved their heads like the Christian church did to their innocent victims.

So if you keep religion out of our public schools completely, teach don't preach and let the students have some choice about looks and clothes and such, we will To all you good people, repeople into toads.

ligious or not, I wish the very best to you. But to those that have sent me nameless, hate letters and hatred phone calls I have one thing to say...return to sender.

We have a dungeon that guides you back to the bloody history of the Christian church, feel the agony of the innocent and the cries of the young. See what can happen when you mix politics with religion.

I will proceed to explain the craft, the oldest most gentle religion, is the wiccan religion. But it is a religion and am not a Wiccan, as far as religions go, it is a good religion. Please be it known that every religion has something good in it.

Then there is the Natural Witch, it is not a religion and this I work with. The word witch means wise woman and the word wizard means wise man. The word magic means change, the word fortune teller means chance teller. A good spell means when someone says "have a good day" or "best of luck to you" or the like. A bad spell means when someone says "I hate you" or "I wish you were dead". A ritual is a wedding or a birthday party or the like.

Most of your wizards were chemists, scientists, explorers and archeologists. While most of your witches were physicians, mathematicians, herbalists and writers. It's not much different today. They encompass common sense.

We also have a room filled with beauty and delight, take the tunnel to see it. Visit the gothic room, the crystal singing bowl room and the dig into rocks room. Have a dungeon dig, a channeled reading or engage your mind at the freethought center. Potions, notions, all kinds of lotions, gifts extraordinary, fantastic and beautiful; whatever your fancy, it's at the museum.

We are here as educators working to dispel the damaging myths that woman can have better public schools. If you brooms and turn
