

TUSCOLA COUNTY Sheriff Tom Kern presents Mike Essex with a plaque honoring the Cass City area man, who helped a lone deputy subdue an intoxicated suspect who was involved in a street fight in Almer Township Aug. 8.

Mike Essex is the kind of guy who doesn't think twice when he sees a stranded motorist on the side of the road. He simply stops and offers to lend a hand.

But the Cass City area resident went a step further on an August night in Almer Township, where he helped a lone Tuscola County Sheriff's deputy break up a fight and subdue an intoxicated suspect.

Tuscola County Sheriff Tom Kern recognized a surprised Essex Friday afternoon at the sheriff's department by presenting him with

Jim Jashinske, the incident took place Aug. 8 when Deputy Ted Hull was dispatched to an area on Deckerville Road near Colwood Road regarding 2 subjects fighting in the road-

"Upon arrival there was only one officer available," Jashinske said. "Deputy Hull was dealing with a very intoxicated subject who wasn't cooperative during his investigation. When the suspect saw the victim again, he lunged at him and continued the fighting.

New programs boost numbers

New education programs have boosted enrollment in the Cass City Schools, giving the district an increase in student numbers after 3 consecutive years of significant losses.

Last Wednesday marked the annual fall student count across Michigan, one of 2 counts used to determine state funding for schools each year.

"Overall, the district's (student numbers are) up, but it's because of a couple new programs we're running," said Cass City School Supt. Ken Micklash.

He explained that Cass City's new Alternative Center for Education (ACE) currently has 7 students enrolled, and the district's new role as fiscal agent for a Tuscola Intermediate School District secondary transition program has generated partial funding credit - nearly $9,000 — for 13 more stu-

In all, local school officials reported a total enrollment of 1,516 students last week, but the new programs boost the enrollment to 1,535 students, compared to 1,525 a year ago.

The enrollment at Elementary Campbell School is 518, while the middle school has 495 students and the high school, 503 students.

Cass City's 2003 enrollment marked the loss of about 38 students compared to 2002. That figure followed losses of about 20 students a year earlier and some 40 students the year before. In other area districts:

*Owen-Gage School officials reported an enrollment of 216 students in grades K-12, compared to 225 students a year earlier.

The net loss will actually be 8 students because Owen-Gage, along with a handful of other small Michigan school districts, is allowed to average its student numbers over a 3-year period.

*Kingston Community Schools rebounded in a big way this fall after recording its first decline in student numbers in several years last February.

Supt. George Bednorek reported a total enrollment of 676 students, 18 more students compared to last February and 10 more students over the district's count a year ago.

Student numbers are critical to the financial health of Michigan schools, which receive a majority of their funding in the form of a state foundation allowance. That allowance is applied to the number of students enrolled in each district, and the enrollment is determined by "blending" 2 separate counts; one conducted in September and the other during the previous February.

In recent years, the state's formula has placed a heavy emphasis on the fall count, which has been worth 80 percent of a district's blended

"I concur with Deputy Hull since I have had the experience of being in a fight when there was no backup at the time of the confrontation and a citizen pulled the subject off me," Jashinske said in a letter to Kern.

"He did a good job," Kern said Friday. "What he did - a lot of guys wouldn't do it. He just jumped right in

"When I first got there they (subjects) were both fighting, and one of them was very obnoxious. He was really doing a number on the other guy," he recalled.

It wasn't the first time Essex, 40, has stopped to offer another citizen a helping hand, but he admitted this was an extreme example. "I just happened to be in the right spot at the right time, or the wrong spot at the wrong time," he said.

"My wife says someday I'm going to get myself in trouble doing that," Essex joked. "I'm just glad I was able to help out. Kern thanked Essex for coming to the aid of one of his deputies, saying the county is fortunate to have a citizen who is willing step in and help prevent a dangerous situation from getting out of hand.

"You don't have many people who want to get that involved these days, so this is cool," he said.

volunteers have collected a list of military casualties from Cass City over the years. They include 10 from World War I, 13 from World War II, 2 from Korea and 2 from Vietnam.

The estimated cost of the memorial is just under $15,000, according to Little, who noted Tuckey Concrete has offered to donate some materials. He asked that the village provide labor for the footings as well as a site for the memorial, in this case the small memorial brick park just west of the municipal building.

Little said the proposed location would be ideal because of its central location, which should reduce the chances of vandalism, and because of existing lighting at the site.

He told the council that funding possibilities include the Pinney Foundation, community donations and federal/state grants.

While the village would be responsible for the memorial, village President L.E. Althaver said maintenance costs would be minimal. He also indicated the project fits in with past Pinney Foundation requests.

"I think with a modest inkind contribution from the village, the money can be raised on a volunteer basis, he added.

The council voted to provide labor, the site and other non-financial support, and will apply to the Pinney Foundation for up to one-half the project cost.

SIGN CHANGES

Turning to other matters, the council approved several street sign changes recommended by village Manager City Police Chief Gene Wil-Sheridan proposed replac-

While there has been only one reportable accident at that intersection, the increased traffic and the offset streets in that vicinity dictate that a stop sign should replace the yield sign.'

Traffic has also increased at the nearby intersection of Church Street and Veterans Drive, according to Sheridan, and the alignment of Erla's Food Center's entrance and exit causes some confusion for motorists.

The council agreed to place "Children at Play" signs in the vicinity.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

In other business Monday, the council set Trick-or-Treating hours at 5:30 to 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, and authorized use of the former Kritzman building as an approved indoor bow and arrow target range.

Scott Hendrian is the owner of the 3-story Main Street building, which currently houses his Hendrian Floor Covering business on the ground floor.

"Mr. Hendrian is considering setting up an indoor bow target range on the second floor of the building," said Sheridan, who, at Hendrian's invitation, visited the building along with Deputy Police Chief Craig Haynes.

"The second floor of Mr. Hendrian's building can be fixed so as to prevent an arrow from escaping from the range. By boarding up the one north facing window and using heavy carpet material to stop the arrows, the building can contain arrows used on the target range.

"Mr. Hendrian's understanding of range safety indicates that he can operate his range safely," Sheridan added.

Audit confirms school operated in the black

School auditors, Anderson, Tuckey, Bernhardt and Doran. P.C presented the annual audit to the Cass City School Board Monday evening. It confirmed that black in the 2003-04 school

Total general fund revenues were $11,231,497 and total expenditures $11,035,420. The school added $16,250 to its healthy fund balance, bringing the total to $1,626,223. That's about 14 percent of the school's general fund expenditures, said Anderson, which is within the recommended guidelines of 10 to 15 percent.

Despite staff cuts, instruction costs, budgeted at $7,332,918 were up $26,638 to $7,359,556

Other than the audit presentation it was a quiet meeting. To meet the requirements of new state regulation the board voted to have school elections on the Tuesday following the first Monday in

A public meeting will be held in conjunction with the next regular session of the board Monday, Oct. 25. The date could be changed at the public meeting if the public is not satisfied with the new date.

The school election will be handled by the county clerk and the board must pick one of 4 dates that coincide with state elections. However, the board can hold certain millage elections at other than the regular election. The election of officers will be held yearly if present plans are followed.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Cass City will act as fiscal the school operated in the agent for the Tuscola Intermediate School District secondary transition program. The school will not be responsible for any cost connected with the program and its sole duty will be to handle the October meeting.

OTHER BUSINESS

The board approved a trip to London England for Chad Daniels' theater students. It will be the second trip to England. Daniels explained that half of the class went during spring break last year and the other half will be attending this year.

The school added $16,250 to its healthy fund balance, bringing the total to about $1.626 million.

funds provided the program by the state. For that, the district will receive 10 percent of the funds. It's a win-win situation for the school, Supt. Ken Micklash said. Tammy Downing was hired to teach on a 70 percent of a yearly contract.

Kurt Tuckey explained to the board a problem with funding for the Alternative Center for Education (ACE) program. Now the school at Deford has 7 students, with several others pending. However to get enough credit to get a high school diploma before they are 20 years old credits earned in the GED program are necessary. State payment depends on students earning a high school degree. The matter is expected to be reviewed at

The students, not the school, will pay all the costs of the trip.

The board approved participation by the school band and other school groups to attend the Tuscola County Pumpkin Festival in Caro on Sunday, Oct. 10.

Four teachers, Cathy Cooper-Stickney, Tracey Jaworski, Tammy Schefka and Paula LeValley gave a slide presentation with commentary on the Kindergarten Literacy Support, reading program and writers' workshops and showed figures that indicated the value of the program.

A roundtable meeting with staff groups will be arranged with selected board members attending each session.

Cass City has a very nice "rail trail" that operates from the top of the hill in northwest Cass City to the Cass River. But compared to the Pere Marquette Rail-Trail (PMRT) it's like comparing a 2-lane dirt highway with I-75.

If the Cass City trail extended to Caseville it would be only slightly longer than the PMRT trail that runs 29.4 miles from Midland to Clare.

The PMRT is hard surfaced all the way and for about 2 feet from the edge of the surface on each side the weeds and grass are carefully trimmed.

I walked 2 miles of the trail Sunday, where it crosses the Salt River. It was busy with bike riders. It's also available for walkers, runners, in-line skating and is handicap accessible. Adjacent to the trail at Coleman is a 5-mile equestrian trail. There's also food, picnic areas, restrooms and ample parking.

Resident reports purse missing

Witnesses help police nab Saginaw man in village

Cass City police nabbed a would-be thief early last week with the help of a couple witnesses.

Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson said the suspect, Mitchell R. Roberts, 26, Saginaw, allegedly entered a car at the Main Street home of Dorothy Stahlbaum during the afternoon hours of Sept. 20 and then walked away with Stahlbaum's

Stahlbaum told police the purse contained some $300 in cash along with several credit cards and 2 check-

According to reports, one witness stated he saw Roberts enter the passenger side of Stahlbaum's car and take something out, although he wasn't sure exactly what. Another witness offered police a similar account and stated the suspect was standing outside the Cass City VFW Hall.

Police confronted Roberts, who denied entering the car or taking anything, although he pointed to a row of cedar trees and indicated the purse

Firefighters extinguish equipment

Elkland Township fire fighters responded to an equipment fire last week in the parking lot at Walbro Engine Management Corp.,

6242 Garfield Ave., Cass City. Fire Chief Ron Pawloski said a piece of asphalt paving equipment caught fire Tuesday afternoon when a gasket leaked fluid onto flames used to heat a tank on the equipment, owned by Tri-County Asphalt. He estimated the loss at $32,000.

Fire fighters were at the scene for about 30 minutes.

Band hosting Fall Fest this week

The Cass City High School Band will host a Fall Festival this weekend to raise money for the band's trip to Orlando, Fla., in March

The event, planned for Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the front lawn of the high school, will include a full carnival with rides, games and plenty of food provided by Schmidt Amusements. The Red Hawk Marching Band will also make an ap-

"He had no identification on him, no license, no money," Wilson said, adding Roberts has been arrested before in Oklahoma and Denver, Colo.

The local department has handled numerous incidents involving theft of property from vehicles over the past few months, but Wilson said it's unlikely Roberts is responsible.

Wilson said Roberts was in Cass City on the day of his arrest with some other salesmen, going door to door for a Saginaw spray clean busi-

The Haire Net $50,000 available, no place to put it

There's a significant amount of money waiting to be given away for a significant project benefiting Cass

The money, $50,000 or more, comes from the Pinney Foundation and the 10-member board is obligated to spend the revenue, plus up to 5 percent of the principal, Mike Weaver, president said.

The problem, Weaver says, is that there is not one qualified applicant for the funds this year.

There have been many requests that do not meet the criteria that the board has established. School groups on field trips, for instance, are certainly valuable to the students involved, but it would be a stretch to say that they are a major help to the entire Cass City community.

Generally, Weaver explained, the board has determined that the Cass City School District is the area where the money will be spent, although in previous funding the Octagon Barn in the Owen-Gage district has received financial aid. Other well-known gift recipients include Rawson Memorial Library, Northwood Meadows, Cass City Recreational Park and similar non-profit organizations

In the past the board has looked favorably at qualified organizations that have received public financial support previous to receiving foundation money.

The board's problem of where to place the majority of the money was thought to be solved for several years when some $200,000 was earmarked to help build an indoor pool at the high school.

It's probably sure that the boosters of a Performing Arts Center will be knocking at the Foundation's door if plans for the building ever get to the action stage. If it comes to pass, judging by the results of the swimming pool campaign, it will need tax support. The Center project is at least 4 times more expensive than a new

Just like a country needs strong leadership, so does our school. This is where Student Council comes into play. This year I've noticed that our school's student leaders are exceptional! Each class has a president, vice president, treasurer, secretary, and four representatives. There is also an Executive Board that includes our student body president, Paul Hoelzle; vice president, Krista Homakie; treasurer, Angela Stoeckle; secretary, Stephanie Richards; secretary of attendance, Jeff Stoutenburg; my position as parliamentarian; and our FYI (Future Youth Involvement)

Swanson. Student Council has a role in almost every event that is hosted by our school. Homecoming alone requires committees for our spirit week, pep assembly, parade, floats and cars, Powder Puff football game, court member elections, half time, and the dance after the game. Each committee has a committee head and four members. Every member is expected to share the work equally, and it is the committee head's obligation to be sure that things run smoothly and that each member is assigned a task

I enjoy being a part of Student Council. As parliamentarian I am in charge of making sure that the meetings follow parliamentary procedure. However, my favorite part of my position is being able to represent our student body at the school board meetings. Stephanie Richards says that she likes

Student Council provides great benefits for the futures of its members. Courtney Rabideau says, "Student Council teaches great skills that will be useful later in life, like responsibility and leadership." Many college and scholarship applications strongly support the display of leadership, both in the school and in the community, and Student Council establishes a great background for

Despite the hard work, time. and dedication that is required in Student Council, there are only good things that come from the experience. Becca Doerr agrees, and says that she likes the responsibilities, the people, and the activities in which she is involved through Student Council.

The Student Council is currently busy getting ready for Homecoming. Stress levels are high, but I've never seen a group that handles their responsibilities with such great attitudes. If this first month is any indication, we have an awesome year to look forward to!

Now I would like to further explain a statement from my last article. Last week I stated that students are required to maintain 40 hours of community service. However, I wasn't specific about what the 40 hours are required for. Parents and students, have no fear, these hours are not required to graduate. The 40 hours are an added requirement for attaining the Michigan Merit Award, which is the scholarship available for those students who pass all four sections of the MEAP test. I'm sorry for any confusion that I caused.

Thumb legislators play key role in sugar deal

State legislators representing the Thumb area have played key roles in helping Michigan Sugar Company finalize acquisition of Monitor Sugar.

Senator Jim Barcia (D-Bay City) and Senator Mike Goschka (R-Brant) announced Thursday that the Senate unanimously passed SB 1349, as amended by the House, which amends the terms of a $5 million loan granted to Michigan Sugar in 2001.

The bill is now on its way to Gov. Jennifer Granholm for her signature.

Barcia sponsored and Goschka co-sponsored SB 1349, which was necessary to allow Michigan Sugar to meet the financing requirements of its proposed acquisition of Monitor Sugar, currently owned by South African-based Illovo Sugar Ltd. Barcia said the legislation will save thousands of jobs in the sugar beet industry throughout the Saginaw Valley and entire Thumb re-

The future of the sugar in-dustry in Michigan and nearly 3,000 jobs depended on quick action by the Legislature," Barcia added.

"Without the hard work of Senator Goschka in the Senate, and representatives Joseph Rivet (D-Bay City), Tom-Meyer (R-Bad Axe) and Jim Howell (R-St. Charles) in the House, this bill would never have been passed in such an expeditious manner."

"Agriculture is vital to the entire region, and the sugar beet industry reigns as king throughout the Saginaw Valley and Thumb," Goschka said. "Representative

Howell was instrumental in to have been the sponsor of re-inserting language into the bill that directs the state to redefine the terms of its original agreement with Michigan Sugar, and lobbied effectively to gain the support of Senate leadership.'

Goschka was the sponsor of the original bill that allowed Michigan Sugar growers to purchase 4 plants from Imperial Sugar Company of Texas for $63.5 million.

Then-Senate Bill 551, which took effect Oct. 8, 2001, allowed the state treasurer to make an interest-free loan of $5 million to aid in the purchase, with repayment beginning in 2005. SB 1349 simply instructs the treasurer to subordinate the existing loan to the loan that will be used for the purchase of Monitor Sugar.

"I have always been proud this interest-free loan," Goschka said. "Senator Barcia's legislation is the perfect complement and capstone, which will have the end result of saving jobs and preserving our agricultural heritage.

"I am glad that Michigan and Monitor Sugar can now move forward and avoid the outsourcing of the sugar industry in Michigan," Barcia said. "As sponsor of the bill that was passed today, I credit everyone in helping to move the bill rapidly through the Legislature."

When the merger of Michigan Sugar and Monitor Sugar companies does take place, it will establish Michigan Sugar as one of the largest grower-owned sugar processing cooperatives in the nation.

With Homecoming just around the corner, I want to focus on the people that make Homecoming, Snowball, and other events pos-

Student Council is one of the most important organizations Owen-Gage has. They not only organize events, like Homecoming and pep assemblies, they also control what classes and clubs do. The student council consists of 4 officers: President Jessica Neal, Vice President Michelle Brown, Secretary Nicole Schmidt and Treasurer Nathan Rogers.

Every month, student council holds a meeting with the presidents and representatives from each class to discuss school issues and make regarding decisions fundraisers and events. The biggest task for student council right now is Homecoming. Not only do they have to purchase the crowns, flowers, and sashes, they also Millington, was sentenced to have to organize the whole 30 days in jail (deferred) and event. good on my college application. It is also a good way to be involved with my school." Michelle Brown said, "I wanted to be on student council because I thought I could help." For Jessica Neal it was more about having power than anything else. "I get to be the boss!" was her answer.

Since this club is involved in so many things, I knew that being a part of it must be a stressful job. From the answers I received, I realized that holding student council meetings brings a lot of stress to the members. Jessica and Michelle both said the most stressful part is having everyone talk at the same time. The second stress is not being able to please everybody. Nicole said it is hard to keep everything orga-

I also wanted to know if the members have learned anything from being in a group that is so important to our school. Jessica said that she has learned patience, organizational skills, and how to bargain. Nicole has learned how hard it can be to keep determined people under control when they all have ideas. Nathan Rogers learned something that maybe he should have already. "I learned how to add faster."

I wanted to write about student council so that they can get the credit they deserve. I think people sometimes forget all the important things that they do. If it wasn't for them, our Homecoming might not be the great event that it is. We might not have the spirit days that lead up to Homecoming, and who knows, maybe we wouldn't have crowns to give away.

Hunting a family tradition

Cass City teen bags a bear

Cass City High School sophomore Kati Hill may be just 15 years old, but she's already a seasoned hunter, having spent countless hours in the woods with her father and grandfather, all of Cass

In just a few years of hunting, Hill has bagged whitetail buck and a turkey. She recently added a black bear to the list.

Hill was hunting on state land in the Mio area Sept. 17 with her father, Kim Hill, grandfather Howard Hill and some of their friends when she bagged the 220-pound bruin with a 12-gauge shot-

"I've hunted deer, turkey, coyote and bear for about 4 or 5 years. My dad and grandpa hunt a lot, and my grandpa got me into bear hunting," Hill said, noting her first taste of bear hunting came a year ago, although she was unsuccessful.

This was different, however, and Hill was quick to credit her hunting party and their tracking hounds with the Hill's father, Kim, who along success she enjoyed.

"We had one of our dogs down (on the scent) and the guy we hunted with, Dana DeLong, had 2 dogs down," she recalled. Aside from DeLong, a Kingston resident, Jeff Naegele of Cass City and Harbor Beach resident Gary Waun also brought their dogs, which together successfully treed the bear. "And then I went in and shot it," Hill said.

"I wasn't scared," she added. "It was a lot more exciting. My heart was really racing afterwards."

Hill, who takes an active role in training the hounds, said she enjoys watching the dogs in action.

"We train the dogs from July 15 through Sept. 15 for bear," she explained. "I usually see 20 or 30 bears every summer just from training our dogs on them. We go every week-

"She's been with us for 5 years, running dogs, and loves to listen to them," said

Beware of callers

A recent flood of telephone calls to area residents asking for funds to support the Sanilac County Sheriff's Department has Sheriff Virgil Strickler issuing a message to citizens: beware.

"If your phone is ringing, it's not the sheriff's office calling," said Strickler.
"These callers are not affiliated with our office nor have we asked anyone to make calls on our behalf."

Questionable tactics by telemarketers claiming to support law enforcement often involve promises of providing better protection for the community or "fixing" minor violations like speeding or parking tickets.

Strickler also warns citizens to be aware of who is calling, "Many times organization names sound similar enough that citizens believe they are talking to someone who is legitimate." Stickler said the Michigan Sheriff's Association, his professional organization, never solicits money by telephone from anyone. He recommends that if residents receive one of these calls, stay calm and follow these steps:

* Ask the caller to clearly state who they represent.

* Ask for the caller's name and a number where you can call them back.

* Do not send money by any means (courier, overnight delivery or wire) to anyone who insists they receive the money immediately.

with his father have hunted all their lives, although neither has bagged a bear yet.

"She handles a gun real well, she's very confident and she shoots real well. And she's really safety oriented," he added. "She's learned how to get in and out of the woods, too, so she's learned about the woods.

"She's maturing very good for a young sportsman. I'm very proud of her."

Although hunting bear might seem potentially dangerous, Hill said his daughter's experience and that of the hunting party ensures a safe hunt.

"She knows the group of guys we hunt with. We're always safety conscious of what's going on and the surroundings," he added.

Kati said she just enjoys getting out and sharing a sport that has deep roots in her family.

"Just watching the dogs run and listening to them, and spending time with my dad and grandpa - spending quality time with my family and friends," she said.

Frank Nemeth, Deford farmer, is the first person in the area to install plastic drainage tubing in place of the familiar cement tile for land drainage. Nemeth is placing the light-weight, hard plastic tile in a 38-acre field on Deckerville Rd. He is enthused about its potential for drainage. It's suppose to last a lifetime, he explained, but no one really knows because it hasn't been on the market that long. There isn't any guarantee that goes with it, he explained.

Sanilac is the only county in the Upper Thumb that has a modern up-to-date soil survey map completed, it was revealed this week by officials of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. Tuscola County is in the group where modern surveys have not been started. The only complete soil survey for Tuscola County was made in 1926 and that survey is very general and of limited value to those interested in specific soil areas. At the present rate of mapping it is estimated to take about 35 more years to complete the surveys.

CASS CITY'S Chris Landrith picked up valuable yardage against USA, but also suffered interceptions by the potent USA backfield. Defending Landrith on this pass play is Dustin Bitzer.

Patriots take undisputed lead in GTW

To defeat this year's unde-Unionville-Sebewaing Patriot football squad requires an A-plus game by another good team and Friday the Cass City Red Hawks didn't have it. Critical turnovers and failed opportunities let the Patriots post a 37-0 win Friday and take the undisputed lead in the Greater Thumb West.

Coach Scott Cuthrell said that he felt his charges played a good game. But against a very good team you can't have turnovers and little mistakes, especially on third down, and expect to win. USA is a very good team, he added.

In the early moments of the game the Hawks were pinned to their own 6-yard line and failed to rack up a first down as a pass to an open receiver was dropped and Cass City was forced to kick. The Hawk punt was returned to the Cass City 38 and from there USA scored in 6 plays. Lance Travis did the bulk of the running including a 12yard gallop and punched over from the Cass City 3 for the touchdown before running for the extra points with 4:05 left in the quarter.

The Patriots scored again with 6:39 left in the half. A key play in the 80-yard drive down the field with Bitzer was a pass to Zachary Retzler that covered 25 yards and another 16-yard completion that moved the ball to the Hawk 30. From there USA scored in 11 plays. The extra point try failed. The Hawks moved the ball well on the ensuing kick-off, moving from their own 36 to the Patriot 13 before being stopped. Key plays in the drive were 2 passes from Chris Landrith to Nick Stoutenburg.

Although the Hawks trailed

14-0 at the half, there was still hope for the Hawks who gained 6 yards on the first running play in the third quarter and appeared ready to compete.

But on the second play of the quarter Cass City fumbled and USA recovered. It was a crushing blow. USA scored in 10 plays. Quarterback Jordan Bitzer went 3 yards around end for the marker. The pass for extra points was good and USA led 22-0 with 6:04 left in the

On the next series, Bitzer intercepted a Hawk pass to stop a drive on the USA 30 and then, helped by a Hawk penalty when it was fourth down and 5 yards to go to keep the drive alive, marched the nine.

The game was played before the largest crowd in recent years for a Cass City game. Another large crowd making the touchdown from is expected at Reese Friday. Although USA is now the odds-on favorite to win the GTW crown, Cass City has a legitimate chance to make the play-offs for the first time ever. A win over the Rockets would go a long way towards achieving that goal. To qualify, Cass City must win 3 of the 4 games left on the schedule against Reese, Bad Axe, Deckerville and Freeland.

Kingston collects homecoming win over Owen-Gage

The Owen-Gage football team should welcome the month of October with open

After completing September's portion of its gridiron schedule Friday at Kingston, where the Cardinals hammered their guests 42-7, the Bulldogs will return to Owendale to close out the remaining season with a 4-game home stand. Owen-Gage is hoping that home field advantage Friday against Carsonville-Port Sanilac will be enough to halt the team's current 4-game slide. To top the Tigers on homecoming night, however, Coach Scott Gaeth's Bulldogs will need to turn in a better defensive effort. For the second straight week, the Bulldogs vielded over 40 points in defeat.

Owen-Gage surprised the Cardinal homecoming crowd when they struck first on an 83-yard touchdown pass from Grant Champagne to Andy Kretzschmer before most fans had settled into their seats. Aaron Faist added the point after kick and the Leading 14-7, the Cardinals would add 2 more scores before the break on E.J. Herron's 12-yard pass to Brennen Osantowski and a 3-yard run from Stine.

Kingston would add to its 28-7 margin in the final half as Tony Filipek recorded a 23-yard score in the third quarter and Stine found pay dirt from 11 yards out to start the final period.

In addition to Stine's 4touchdown effort, the Kingston offense had Filipek gaining 115 yards on 17 totes while Herron completed 15of-24 passes for 179 yards. Nathan Harneck led the Kingston receivers with 6

Champagne led the Bulldog offense on 13-of-38 passing for 188 yards, however, the visitors were limited to just 12 yards on the ground.

Hawk offense struggles during trio of setbacks

Offense was a problem for the Hawks this past week as they played 2 very physical teams and an improved Harbor Beach squad. Against Memphis, they generated only 7 shots, played in their end most of the game, and never generated any consistent pressure on the opponents. Defense was spotty and Caleb Hanby stopped 26 shots. The goals scored were all solid shots, set up by good offensive ball control. Coach Reed said there was not a particularly good effort on either end for the

The USA game was fast and physical, with the Red Hawks giving as much as they got on the field. USA scored first, but Sean McFarland evened the score late in the first half on an unassisted goal. Unfortunately, that was all the offense the Hawks could mount, as they failed to get a good chance in the second half. The physical play dominated the second half, and they did not back down, but neither team generated much until late when USA put the game away. Ross Forrest and Andrew Klco had solid defensive games, and Sam Howard played well between midfield and forward. Gavin Mills played well at midfield and Jacob Hanby got time at forward, showing good ball skills. Shane Bloomfield finished the game in net and is showing steady improvement.

Cass City remains undefeated in GTW with win at Bad Axe

Cass City Red Hawks continued to roll on undefeated in Greater Thumb West competition with an easy win at Bad Axe Thursday, 67-46.

Just how strong this year's Hawk hoop squad is will be answered in the next 2 games on the schedule, starting with the test at home with the Lakers Thursday. After that the Hawks meet a strong Harbor Beach squad in a non-league game. The Lakers are 1-0 in league play. Cass City jumped off to an early lead against the Hatchets and controlled the game. The first period surge was led by the 2 sophomores playing their first year on the varsity. Emily Schinnerer netted 6 points in the opening stanza on her way to her best scoring night of the season with 22 points. Sara Meeker scored a pair of hoops as she also posted her best scoring night of the season with 12 points.

At the end of the first quarter Cass City was in front, 17-9. Dana Peterson led a Hatchet rally in the second quarter. She netted 10 of her 21 points for the night in the quarter and the Hatchets closed the gap to 31-26 at the intermission.

A strong third quarter put away the game for Cass City. Schinnerer burned the nets for 4 hoops and 2 free throws and the Hawks rolled to a 21-7 advantage and a 52-33 lead going into the final 8 min-

Hawk depth prevails in cage win over Valley Lutheran

Kim Sheltraw singlehandedly kept visiting Saginaw Valley Lutheran in the game Tuesday in the first half by shooting 3-pointers like they were lay-ups, but the overall depth of the Cass City Red Hawks prevailed in the first Greater Thumb West game of the season. The Hawks defeated the Chargers, 65-49.

Sheltraw netted 3 quick treys in the opening moments of the game to pace the visitors to a 14-9 lead and by half time she had 17 points and 5 3-pointers. Sheltraw added a hoop to open the third quarter to move the Chargers to within 4 points, but after that she netted just one more trey late in the game when the Hawks were in complete control.

The Hawks countered that splurge with a one-two punch of its own. Keeping the game close were Ashley Hendrick and Emily Schinnerer.

The duo accounted for all but 4 of Cass City's points until there was just 6:19 left in the half and the score was tied at 17-all.

The Hawks then went on a 16-10 run to lead at the half, 33-27, and Valley Lutheran never got closer than 5 points behind the rest of the game. Hendrick led the spurt with 6 points, but the rest of the team shared the offensive load. Sara Meeker, Courtney Rabideau, Schinnerer and Jenny Brinkman scored. In the third quarter the Hendrick-Schinnerer duo accounted for all the points netted by the Hawks, with 6 points each. In the fourth quarter Cass City opened with an 8-2 run for a 53-39 lead and then coasted to the win. It wasn't a particularly good game for Cass City. Turnovers were frequent in the first half for the Hawks.

Coach John Maharg must have stressed defense at the half as the team pressured Sheltraw after the intermission, limiting her to one 3pointer and 5 points.

Hendrick netted 22 points for the Hawks and Sheltraw had the same amount for Valley Lutheran. Schinnerer scored 19 for Cass City and Chelsi Gnatkowski totaled 13 for the Chargers. CASS CITY - Hendrick 11-0 (0-1) 22; Rabideau 1-0 (2-

The Midstate Rodeo Association encompasses 6 states: Illinois, Indiana, New York, Ohio, Wisconsin and Michigan. Throughout the year, rodeo participants in this region compete for points which qualify the riders for the finals held in the fall. The top 10 teams from the Midstate Region have fought for the chance to win this year's championship.

"We'll have the best-of-thebest competing in all 7 of our events, which includes bull riding, calf roping and barrel racing," said Engstrom, "eighty outstanding riders have qualified for the privilege of competing in the finals, and it's always a thrilling contest!"

"This is the first time an event of this size has been held at the Howe Arena," noted Nancy Jones, fair board secretary.

"We're very excited to have them here. It'll be great, not only for rodeo fans, but for the entire Sanilac area. The participants, their families and the event organizers total approximately 300 people, and they will need over-night accommodations and places to eat and shop. It should be a real boost for the local economy."

Racing fast and furious in Ubly

Racing action was fast and furious at Ubly Dragway recently for the 14th annual Arthur Janowiak Memorial Race Weekend.

Season points championships were decided in both the Ubly Dragway Home Track and Michigan Pro Racing Series divisions. The 2003 Michigan Big Bucks champion, Corey Mikus of Kaleva, again was on top, with a total of 294 points. His closest competitor, Wayne Ledford of Bear Lake, finished with 245 points for the season.

The Pro Championship winner was a dark horse; Tim-Smith, who hails from Milan, came from the middle of the pack and dominated the weekend to the tune of $9,000, winning the event both days.

In the Street Class, John Keenon of Midland took home the 2004 championship with his Sunday win.

With more than $20,000 in prize money, the recent race featured $6,000 to win in the main event, and $3,000 to win the next day. Forty-five of Ubly's top racers will now travel with Team Ubly to the Michigan Bracket Finals at

Mid-Michigan the Motorplex the first weekend in October. The Ubly Team hopes to recapture the state championship it won in

Stay alert, avoid falls this season

Falls are the most common accidents in agriculture, yet they are perhaps the most difficult to guard against. Falls often result in serious injuries that require hospital emergency room treatment or untimely death. The best weapon against unintentional falls is staying alert. Your chances of falling are increased by haste, emotional upset, illness, alcohol and drugs.

Kids real losers with proposal 1

Proposal one was drafted by several tribal casinos and the 3 Detroit (Las Vegas operators). If passed, the state constitution will be amended requiring both statewide and local voter approval of any form of gambling authorized by law and certain new state lottery games. This amendment would require the Michigan Lottery to have statewide voter approval for expanding or introducing new club games, as well as voter approval in 1,700 different localities.

Voter approval sounds harmless until you read the last line. The 3 Detroit casinos and the tribal casinos have exempted themselves. The ones who drafted this proposal don't want your approval. They want a monopoly on expanding and developing new gambling in Michigan.

This proposal will restrict the Michigan Lottery from being able to adapt over time and compete with other gaming venues. Currently, the Michigan Lottery generates nearly $660 million annually for K-12 public education. In the coming years it is anticipated that club games alone will be generating close to $100 million for K-12 public education. With the passage of this proposal, the ability for the lottery to effectively manage their games and improve upon being competitive will be compromised. The real losers in this proposal are the children of Michigan who rely on the lottery to raise money of public education and the Michigan taxpayers who will be burdened with replacing critical school funding through other forms of taxation. It remains to be seen how this proposal might affect charitable gaming and bingo games in Michigan as new technology becomes

This proposal is not about voter's right. It is a greed driven effort by the tribal casinos and Las Vegas interest in Michigan to establish rules by which everyone else must play.

A law that doesn't apply equally and fairly to everyone is bad. Because of the unfairness of this proposal and the fact that Michigan taxpayers will end up covering the loss of revenue that the Michigan Lottery generates for K-12 public education, I urge everyone to vote "NO" on Proposal 1.

TENDERCARE staff and residents display the Eden Tree Award.

Tendercare staff, residents gather for big celebration

It was standing room only as Tendercare Cass City recently celebrated receiving the "Eden Tree" award with Hawaiian flair. The celebration included colorful leis, grass skirts, a tiki bar with tropical drinks, and hula dancers Tendercare Administrator Brenda Gleason said the staff has worked very hard to receive this prestigious honor.

"We started our Eden journey in 2000 by sending our administrator to Eden Associate training," she said. "Approximately 25 employees have received certified associate training so far. Our staff is committed to the principles of Eden.'

The Eden Alternative is an innovative philosophy that states loneliness, helplessness, and boredom account for most of the suffering in the long-term care environment. "By implementing the principles of Eden, we are creating a vibrant living and working environment. We at Tendercare Cass City, see the long-term care as a human habitat where people continue to live and learn rather than an institution for the dying and frail elders,'

Gleason said. Some of the projects that have resulted from the Eden journey include a pavilion for gatherings, raised flower beds for gardening opportunities, pets that live at Tendercare, street names for hallways so residents live on streets just like before, redecorating rooms and halls, and restaurant style dining.

Results of implementing Eden are increased resident and family satisfaction, and increased employee retention, according to Gleason.

State Rep. Tom Meyer and State Sen. James Barcia spoke at the celebration, commending staff for caring for the elders that live at Tendercare. Tendercare President Tim Lukenda praised the staff for their commitment to the Eden Alternative.

Jack Steiner from Bringing Eden Alternative to Michigan (BEAM) presented the Eden Tree Award to staff members and residents from their Eden Core Group. The plaque has a maple tree without leaves, which signifies the beginning of something grand.

After the presentation, a group of hula dancers entertained the audience. Musical entertainment by Karen and Steve Bouverette and also Jerry Lamaroo concluded the celebration.

Still, the 1999 Cass City High School graduate is happy to have the opportunity to learn the job inside and out in the Owen-Gage School District as well as spend some time in the classroom, substitute teaching.

"It's part-time, but I just couldn't believe I was going to be AD," said Haag, who was hired in mid-August. Haag had been searching for a physical education teaching job since he graduated last spring from Eastern Michigan University, where

It's a job Haag has been preparing for since high school, starting with his own interest in sports. At Cass City, he was a member of the varsity football and baseball teams for 4 years, lettering in both sports. He also played basketball for a couple years.

Haag spent 4 years as a lifeguard at the Helen Stevens Memorial Pool, has coached Little League for 4 years and currently serves as president of the Cass City Little League. volved kids, and I finally got the picture?

Still, Haag has faced some challenges in his new role at Owen-Gage, but he's met those obstacles by putting to use some good advice from one professor, who told him successful athletic directors develop friendships with and rely on key support staff.

"It was definitely overwhelming at first," he said. "I have to give a lot of credit to the custodians, Moe Winand chester Rockefeller, and the secretaries, Judy Winchester and Liz Roemer. They've been involved here so long, they know what's going on. They keep after me and make sure I'm aware of things.

Haag said his duties include scheduling games and making arrangements to have officials at each athletic event, and ensuring school facilities are ready.

"It's game management, making sure everything's set to go," he added. "And keeping an eye on sportsmanship issues, which hasn't been a problem.

"I like it a lot," Haag continued. "I've gone to church all my life in Gagetown. You know the kids and you know the families, so you're always rooting for them.

"I still root for Cass City, but yeah, I've got my loyalties at both places."

Although his position is part-time, Haag also enjoys substitute teaching, and spends as much time at the school as he can.

"I have no set hours to be here, but I feel like if I don't come in, I might miss something," he said. "I feel more part of the school district if I'm here every day.

"You always hear about people who don't like their jobs, but I enjoy being here," Haag added. "I get paid to watch sports and make sure everything goes okay. It's a

Gift of life

St. Agatha Parish donates AED to Elmwood-Gagetown firefighters

Members of the St. Agatha Parish in Gagetown recently donated the gift of life to the community in conjunction with their 125th anniversary

That gift came in the form of AED, or Automatic External Defibrillator presented to the Elmwood Township-Gagetown Fire Department. The $2,500 donation included on-site training for the department.

"Although the fire department is not considered the first responder in a heart attack emergency, there could conceivably be instances, such as a fire, where they are already on the scene, (and) this AED would give them the opportunity to administer a lifesaving procedure," said church member Gordon Kujawski.

A heart attack victim's chances for survival are improved when defibrillation is administered in the first 3 minutes following the attack.

According to the American Heart Association, for every minute that defibrillation is delayed, the chance for survival decreases by about 10

Sudden Cardiac Arrest strikes up to 500,000 Americans each year, and only 5 percent of them survive. Most commonly, the victim
