O-G Board extends Compton's contract

Owen-Gage School Supt. Dana Compton will remain at the helm of the area district for the next 3 years following his annual evaluation last week.

The Owen-Gage Board of Education discussed Compton's performance over the past year during a 90-minute executive session last Wednesday night. After returning to regular session, the board voted unanimously to retain their superintendent.

"It went fine," Compton said of his review. "It (contract) has been a rollover contract and now it's been renewed for 3 years." The new contract will expire June 30, 2010.

The executive session also included some preliminary discussion related to upcoming teacher contract negotiations. The teachers' current 3-year pact is expiring June 30.

Compton acknowledged both sides will have to take into consideration the state's economy and the uncertainty over whether legislators will cut into funding earmarked for Michigan's schools to help balance a budget that's deeply in the red.

"We're still doing fine. We're still in the black," Compton said of Owen-

Gage's finances. "But we're concerned, as all districts are, about Lansing, and whether there are going to be funding (cuts). We just have to make sure we continue to be a viable district, and we don't know what's going to happen with the economy and the governor."

The latest discussion in Lansing has school's losing $34 per student in state funding this year, which translates into about $6,800 for Owen-Gage.

"For anybody - whether you have 200 kids or 1,000 kids - that hit, percentage-wise, is going to be the same on your budget," Compton said, adding school officials have few options when cuts are made so late in the fiscal year. "Our personnel costs are all locked in, the benefits are locked in, our supplies - we've already purchased them - your transportation and food service - those are all paid for. Basically, at this point you just sustain a hit on your budget. It's

Badge of courage

Bronze Star awarded to Stine for actions in combat

by Tom Montgomery
Editor

When Carol Stine talks about her son, Kevin's, high school days in Almont, she remembers a young man with little motivation and no direction.

"Kevin was a horrible high school student. It's not that he wasn't smart, he was just lazy," the Kingston woman recently recalled. "He quit school when he was 16 and went back and got his GED."

Ask her about Kevin today, however, and she'll tell you about a young man with not only direction, but also a strong sense of patriotism, responsibility and courage. "He's just a take-charge person, but with a reason and a calmness — Kevin doesn't raise his voice," she said. "He's become what I knew he could be."

Stine, 28, has also become a decorated war veteran since enlisting in the U.S. Army back in the fall of 1999 and serving in a variety of locations, including a stint patrolling the streets of Baghdad, Iraq. A staff sergeant currently stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C., he was recently awarded The Bronze Star, the fourth highest combat award of the U.S. Armed Forces, for his actions during combat in Afghanistan last year.

"Due to security reasons, I can't go into detail (about the mission)," said Stine, a member of the 82nd Airborne Division who was deployed to Afghanistan in March 2006 after 18 months of special training.

"I'm still stationed at Fort Bragg," he noted. "I love airborne operations — nothing like jumping out of a perfectly good airplane."

"I am what I call myself a true Patriot," Stine said. "I don't question why America is at war; I just know she needs me and that is all I need. I truly believe if people like me and other service members weren't on the front lines, the fight would be here and more American families would suffer. I think some people forget that or don't want to admit that."

Stine is quick to say his outlook and sense of purpose has changed drastically since his days as a teenager.

"I was never interested in school," he acknowledged. "After high school I became a young father at the age of 18 — a beautiful girl named Hailey, who is now 10. Two short years later my son, Jerod, was born and I soon found the financial difficulties of having a family so young. Without any college and a lack of money to attend, it was difficult to find a career that could provide for my family the way I wanted. That is why initially the armed forces attracted my attention as a career."

Stine enlisted in the Army in September 1999 and attended basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., followed by additional training as a Bradley Infantry Fighting Vehicle mechanic. He completed both, earning a "distinguished honor graduate" citation in the process.

"I was sent to 1st Battalion 94th Field Artillery, 1st Armored Division, stationed out of Baumholder, Germany, in May of 2000," Stine said. "Being stationed in Germany, I was able to travel across Europe and see the different cultures. It was definitely an extraordinary experience to live in Europe for 3 years."

IRAQ INVASION

Stine's unit was then sent to Kuwait to prepare for the invasion of Iraq.

"We came in right behind the 3rd Infantry Division and assisted in the taking of Baghdad," he said. "I spent the next 8 months patrolling the streets of Baghdad — made it through with minor injuries."

"If there is one thing that I can remember about Baghdad, it's how different Saddam's living conditions were (compared) to his...countrymen," Stine said. "The city streets are horrible. Imagine your home town without any simple government or city services. Your hometown having no trash disposal, so the last 10 years of trash are in the streets. It's sickening, especially when Saddam's palaces had groomed

Benefit set for the Chris Klco family

by Tom Montgomery

Chris Klco's plans to take his passion for youth ministry overseas fell apart in an instant on a damp fall day last year at his Rockford home.

The 38-year-old former Cass City man was painting his house along with a group of missionary youths Oct. 1 when he and a 16-year-old youth member made accidental contact with a nearby electrical wire. The youth was killed and Klco was critically injured by the jolt of electricity that surged through their bodies.

"We're not sure if the ladder touched the line or if (the electricity) just arced over," said Klco's sister, Amy Peters of Cass City, who noted it had been a wet fall and the ground was damp.

Klco was burned and his heart stopped beating. He wasn't breathing when he entered the hospital and was revived with the use of electric shock paddles.

Peters said her brother lost a toe, but his burns are healing. Tragically, however, the lack of oxygen when his heart stopped caused significant brain damage.

Klco, the son of Alan Klco, owner of Knight Insurance in Cass City, grew up in Cass City and attended school in town. He is now back at his Rockford home, but faces a long and difficult road to recovery. Not surprisingly, the medical expenses have been staggering, and the couple's medical insurance has run out.

Although he is miles away, friends and family members in the Cass City area are showing their support for the Klco family by hosting a fundraiser this month.

The event, slated for Friday, April 20 from 4 to 7 p.m. at the VFW hall in

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Hendrick “student of month”

Jaclyn Hendrick

Jaclyn N. Hendrick has been named Owendale-Gagetown School's “Senior Student of the Month” for March.

Hendrick was a member of the varsity softball team her sophomore year. She was chosen as a class representative for homecoming her junior year and also was a queen candidate for homecoming and snowball as a senior.

She served as her class treasurer and was named a “focus” student as a junior. This year, she has served as an aide to the athletic director. Hendrick has been a student in the automotive technology class at the Huron Area Technical Center the past 2 years.

The daughter of Dennis and Michelle Hendrick of Deford, she plans to attend college in the fall and work at Bell-Wasik in Caro.

took a little more effort, but even a math dummy like me was able to figure it out, as were the fifth graders.

Perhaps I give the general population too much credit.

An email account told of a contestant on another TV show I don't watch, “Who Wants To Be A Millionaire?”

If it's true, which it claims to be, the woman failed the very first question, which is generally considered a gimme.

According to the account, the original question was: Which of the following is the largest: A) A peanut; B) An elephant; C) The moon; D) Hey, Who are you calling large?

She opted to use her first help line to have 2 of the wrong answers removed and was left with the choice of an elephant or the moon. Then she went against the advice of her remaining 2 lifelines, a friend and the studio audience, and answered that an elephant is bigger than the moon.

Do you think it's time to start worrying?

A lot of us aren't as smart as we think we are. I heard about a hotshot lawyer who thought he could outsmart a policeman who had stopped him on the highway. The cop asked for his license and registration.

The lawyer asked, “What for?”

Policeman: You didn't come to a complete stop at the stop sign.

Lawyer: I slowed down, and no one was coming.

Policeman: But you didn't come to a complete stop. License and registration, please.

Lawyer: What's the difference?

Policeman: The law says that you have to come to a complete stop. License and registration, please.

Lawyer: If you can show me the legal difference between slow down and stop, I'll give you my registration and license, and you can give me a ticket. If not, you let me go and don't give me the ticket.

Policeman: Sounds fair. Exit the vehicle please.

He got out of his car, and the patrolman took out his nightstick and proceeded to beat him unmercifully.

Then he asked, “Now, do you want me to stop or just slow down?”

I think he made his point.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Ashley Klemkowsky, the daughter of Pete and Tammy Klemkowsky of Morgantown, WV, has signed a letter of intent to play soccer at the University of Charleston, WV starting in the fall. The parents are well known in the area. Both are 1980 graduates of Owendale-Gagetown. Her grandparents are George and Joan Klemkowsky of Caro and Virginia Kain of Owendale. A cousin, Brandon Dubs, was one of the top players for the Owen-Gage basketball team this season.

Ashley Klemkowsky

It was about 10 years ago that I was taken to Maxfield's Restaurant, tucked away in the middle of nowhere, 3 miles north of Edmore. It had obviously been expanded at that time and I wondered to myself if it could survive. I returned last week and not only did the restaurant survive, it boomed. It will seat about 500 and I was told that in peak periods there usually was a waiting list. A history of the organization revealed that it was now run by a fourth generation of the Maxwell family. Additions to the Maxwell empire now include an Inn and the Depot, a convenience store, both located in Edmore. Now Maxfield's offers buffets Tuesdays through Saturdays for $7.95 or $8.95. The difference is that for an extra buck you gain access to an extensive salad bar. The cheaper buffet has a cole slaw in place of the salad bar. The "mini" buffet includes potatoes, 3 vegetables, a pork dish and fish. The food was tasty and avoided becoming unattractive and no longer fresh. Give it a 6.5 on the 1-10 scale.

Cass City had a tentative plan in place to move girls' and boys' sports as requested in decisions by a lower court and will be dusting them off following the refusal of the U.S. Supreme Court to hear an appeal by the Michigan High School Athletic Association. The changes required to be in force by the start of the 2007-08 school year will switch girls' basketball from fall to winter and volleyball from winter to fall. Boys' golf and girls' tennis switches from fall to spring in the Lower Peninsula. In one plan for the change in Cass City it was suggested that the girls play on Monday and Thursday and the boys play Tuesday and Friday and switch days each season. However, for a smooth operation it may well be that changes in season be correlated with other schools in the various conferences. Some of those details will be ironed out in a special meeting slated today (Wednesday), athletic director Aaron Fernald said. At the very least the myriad problems that the switches will require will be a headache for athletic directors already hard-pressed to find coaches and referees, as well as available gym time for all sports.

Elkland Township Board approves '07 spending plan

Elkland Township officials "held the line" in spending as they approved a trio of budgets for the new fiscal year during their annual meeting last week. The township's fiscal year began April 1. The township board approved a general fund budget totaling $331,070, a decrease of $57,530 compared to the previous spending plan. "We really didn't do much increasing (in spending) at all," said township Clerk Norma Wallace, who noted the board's pay remains the same, although the cemetery sexton received a small increase because he no longer utilizes a township-owned residence. Township Supervisor Dan Erla said another reason the budget is reduced is because of cuts in revenue sharing from the state. And, the township spent $80,000 in roads last year. The board also approved the township's cemetery budget, which totals $118,000, about $27,000 more than the previous year. A majority of the increase is due to the purchase of a replacement pickup truck, according to Wallace. The 2007-08 fire fund, meanwhile, totals $91,815, a spending decrease of about $6,000 compared to 2006-07. In a related matter, the board held a Truth in Taxation hearing and approved an operating tax millage of 1.6468 mills in the coming year. A Truth in Taxation hearing is required by the Headlee Amendment, which limits to the rate of inflation the annual increase in property tax revenue that schools, townships and governments receive. "It's not an increase in taxes," emphasized township Assessor Doug Powers, who explained the board action simply prevents the millage rate from being rolled back. There may still be a rollback, he said, depending on the final numbers once the county completes the equalization process over the next couple of months. In any event, the difference in revenue brought into the township because of the Truth in Taxation hearing is minimal, according to Powers, who said the increase last year totaled about $3,000. In other business last week, Erla reported the second phase of the Elmwood Road project is scheduled to get underway this summer. The project, covering a one-mile section from Doerr Road to Koepfgen Road, will include ditching, culverts and gravel. The work will cost an estimated $67,000.

Recycling expensive but well worth it

Over the last quarter century, while tramping through the woods or disturbing the fish in a favorite river, any bottles that littered the area were more than likely to have been transported into Michigan from a neighboring state. It's changed a little today, and now when a bottle is found discarded it may well be one that held a health drink or water that does not require a bottle deposit. For me, it's an oxymoron to drink water for its healthy purity and then toss the container to pollute the environment. Polls show that a sizeable majority approve of the bottle deposit law and would be happy to see it expanded to cover all bottles and cans. So the question is not whether an expanded law would be popular, but how it can be handled. Retailers point out with justification that handling bottles adds at least a nickel to the cost in addition to the bottle deposit. Bottles filled with objectionable waste are a perennial problem and shouldn't be around food stores, opponents of an expanded law point out. There have been several suggestions for a way to expand the bottle law, including a penny tax on purchases of $2 or more regardless of the amount spent that would be used for bottle pickup and recycling. All of the suggestions have a common denominator—they require more money than is generated today. If projections are accurate, the problem will become more acute in the future. By 2010 the sale of bottled water and non-carbonated beverages will exceed that of beverages now sold in deposit bottles. That means that there will be 4 billion more cans and bottles to care for. Despite the environmental advantages that a bottle deposit brings, it has been slow to catch on nationwide. There are 11 states with deposit laws ranging from a low of 2 cents and a high of 15 cents with the majority charging 5 cents. When I enter Ohio or Indiana, that are among the many states without a bottle deposit law, the difference in roadside bottle litter is easy to see. Harder to see will be a solution that pleases environmentalists and a high percentage of the people in the state and includes a solution to the problem that it creates for retailers. That solution would ultimately be more expensive, but one that's well worth the few cents per bottle that it would cost to increase recycling and keep Michigan clean.

The back forty

by Roger Pond

I feel better now. The city council in Portland, Oregon has voted not to bomb Iran. This makes Portland the second city to pass such a resolution. Berkeley was the first. (I don't believe any cities have decided we should bomb Iran.) Berkeley went one better than Portland. That city council also encouraged Germany to indict former Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld for war crimes. This all seems odd to me. These towns have rotting sewers, gangs shooting each other, and people living under bridges; but the council is debating about whether to bomb Iran. In recent years the Portland City Council has voted to call for an end to the war in Iraq, to condemn abuse of the U.S. Patriot Act, and to deplore the military's "don't ask, don't tell" policy toward homosexuality. And the sewers are still leaking. Why don't these folks tend to what they were elected for? Maybe they should have a training meeting or something? I'm reminded of a psychologist who spoke at a county agents meeting back in the '70s. This man believed a major factor in a person's personality was the time period in which we grew up. He said folks who grew up in the '20s and '30s liked to do things in groups: Company picnics, church socials, square dancing. (My parents, for example, took most of their vacations with other couples.) The psychologist said people who grew up during the depression were hard working and careful with money, as we might expect. They were very reluctant to quit a job, because it might be hard to find another one. This fellow said folks who grew up in the 1960s were into causes. Everybody had a cause in the '60s. Save the whales, ban the fur trade, save the forest. Sometimes the '60s people get so caught up in their causes they forget where their responsibilities begin and end. The psychologist said everyone would be better off if these folks went home and cleaned up their rooms. About the time I heard the psychologist speak, some folks decided they needed to reform our local schools. They were most concerned about the curriculum, I think. Sports were getting too much attention. The arts were under-appreciated, and the kids needed more foreign languages. These people conducted surveys, met with administrators, and pestered the school board. It was a small group, but they created quite a fuss. A couple of years after this little crusade, one of the women involved told my wife she probably wouldn't have gotten so caught up in all of that school stuff if she hadn't had so much free time on her hands. She should have been home cleaning up her room.

Red Hawk Talk

by Kyle Swanson

Spring Break. It's a time for teachers and students to catch their breath and relax before they gear up for the end of the year rush. Over the past week, I have talked with several students from Cass City to see what they are planning to do over spring break.

A number of students told me that they would be traveling over spring break. Several people said that they were headed south for a little vacation. Carly Rabideau, a sophomore who recently went to Europe on the forensics trip, told me that she was going to North Carolina to visit family. However, she also added that she will actually be stopping to visit some of the kids from North Carolina that went on the tour in Europe with her.

A few other students told me that they too were headed south, some to South Carolina, some to Tennessee, and, of course, some to Florida.

However, some students said they wouldn't be traveling so far. There were a few students who told me that they would be going to a relative's house for an Easter dinner. Other students told me that they weren't traveling, but rather that they were having family over at their house.

Still, there were other students that told me they would just be staying home over spring vacation.

One student, Katie Klco, told me that she was planning to go shopping for prom and that she was going to plan everything for her open house. Andrew Martin said that he too was planning to stay home, get some work done, and play a little basketball.

Yet, there was still another group of students. These are the students who said they had absolutely no clue what they were doing. It seemed that for most of the people in this group, they didn't think they would be traveling anywhere too far from home, but rather staying in the general area. However, most said that they weren't sure what they would do during the week. One student told me, "I guess I will just be around, hanging out with friends and stuff."

As for me, since I went to Europe just a few weeks ago, I will be spending my spring break in Cass City. And after talking with Katie Klco, I might try to follow her lead and get some of my open house stuff done, too. It may not feel like it yet, but there are only 25 days of school left for seniors, and 30 days until graduation.

So, whether you're traveling to a place far away or just staying home, enjoy your spring vacation and try to relax. It won't be long until final exams are here and school is out.

Deputy credited with foiling escape attempt

An observant deputy is being credited with foiling a planned escape at the Sanilac County Jail last week.

Police arrested 20-year-old Sara Marie Bauer, Deckerville, Tuesday, March 27, after allegedly attempting to help a Sandusky man escape during a hospital visit, Sanilac County Sheriff Virg Strickler announced Thursday. The inmate's name has not been released yet.

Strickler said the planned escape was uncovered early last week after Corrections Deputy Ryan McConnachie discovered some irregularities while closing out the account of an inmate who had been released from custody.

"He discovered that another inmate was contacting an outside source through the 'releasing inmates account,'" Strickler explained. "Upon further investigation he discovered a plot to escape. The information was forwarded to Detective Sgt. James Johnson, who headed up the investigation."

That investigation revealed that a suspect outside the jail planned to hide several items at McKenzie Memorial Hospital in Sandusky, and the inmate, who was scheduled for a routine visit to the hospital, was going to attempt to pick up those items and escape with the help of the outside suspect.

At about 7:40 p.m. Tuesday, the female suspect traveled to the hospital, where she entered a restroom and then left the building.

"Investigators and hospital staff then entered the restroom and located several items hidden above a ceiling panel," said Strickler, who didn't describe the items. "It was then decided by investigators to allow her to leave the area and continue to (keep an eye on) her, hoping to identify any other accomplices that may be involved. Investigators believed she would return to a parking area at a pre-determined time to facilitate the...escape."

About 4 hours later, members of the sheriff's department's Special Response Team arrested the female suspect as she was en route to the planned escape location. Strickler said investigators seized several items of evidence in her vehicle and through the execution of search warrants and jail cell searches.

Bauer is being held on a $100,000 bond and faces several charges, including aiding a prisoner escape, conspiracy, possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony, and possession of a short-barreled shotgun.

The prisoner, a 35-year-old male, is awaiting trial on charges out of Sandusky and the state of Maine. He remains in custody and now faces additional charges related to the escape attempt.

Strickler said the county owes a debt of gratitude to Deputy McConnachie for his professionalism. "His actions avoided possible serious injury or even death, to fellow officers and innocent bystanders," the sheriff added.

Band concert set May 6

The Sanilac Community Symphonic Band will present a variety of spring-time music during its annual spring concert, Sunday, May 6, starting at 3 p.m. at the Sanilac Career Center, located 7 miles south of Sandusky on Aiken Road, just east of M-19.

Admission is free, but donations will be accepted — all contributions will go towards band expenses and the purchase of new music.

On a wall right outside the office at Kingston High School hangs a bulletin board. It is decorated in red, white, and blue and contains a scattering of pictures of soldiers.

To the far right of the board, there are pictures of soldiers completing their missions either entitled "Operation Iraqi Freedom" or "Operation Enduring Freedom." To the left of these are 2 sections separated by a poem dedicated to the troops stationed over in Iraq. The first section is labeled "In Honor of Our U.S. Soldiers" and has the names, military branches, and pictures of 11 different men and women from our area who are either currently serving or have already served. The other section has the names, ages, and pictures of 4 other individuals. The words over this section read, "In Memory of Our Fallen Soldiers Who Gave the Ultimate Sacrifice."

Since March 20, 2003, the United States has had troops over in Iraq fighting. In the past 4 years, we have managed to find and capture Saddam Hussein and set up some semblance of a government for the Iraqis. But many of us (Americans) are asking ourselves, is it worth it? Or better yet, was it worth it in the first place?

In just the small community of Kingston, many have gone to Iraq to fight, and some have lost their lives in the process. Also, recently in the news, Congress has been talking about pulling the troops out of Iraq, but President Bush believes they still have a long way to go before we pack our bags and leave the Middle East.

Opinions on the conflict are plentiful and varying. Should we have ever sent troops to Iraq?

Senior Sarah McLellan believes we were right in doing so, "I believe that if we (the U.S.) have the power to help others that we should do so," she said. Sophomore Brent VanHorn agrees with Sarah adding, "How can we ever forget what happened Sept. 11...some say Iraq has nothing to do with Sept. 11, well, that is yet to be determined, but, what, are we going to...just leave Iraq alone, even when their dictator had connections to terrorists?"

However, Freshman Mack George disagrees, "We had no reason to go over there, except for the weapons of mass destruction, for which there (are) none," he said. Mrs. Shelly Terbush, an English teacher at Kingston High, shared her opinion: "I believe that lack of communication between countries and NATO could have prevented our current situation."

Troop withdrawal is another controversial topic. When? How quickly or how slowly?

What will be the result? Freshman Chelsea Ruggles answered the "when" question by stating, "I believe we should pull the troops now. We've given Iraq enough guidance, so they can go on their own now." But Brent VanHorn does not believe the job is done. "When the work there is finished [we can pull out]. I know the longer the troops stay, the more the death count for the war will go up, but freedom comes with a price," he said. Answering the "how quickly or how slowly" question, Junior Sarah Vroman thinks that "we should slowly pull out." The answer to the "what will be the result" question is, "If we pull the troops out now, Iraq will go back to the way it was; if we pull out later, more troops will die," according to Mack George.

No matter how many opinions each of us possess, this topic will be a sore spot until the issue is completely resolved and the troops are back home. Teacher Mrs. Sara Roberts sums up the conflict, "Overall, I feel we are fighting a battle that will never end; they were fighting long before we came along and will be long after we leave," she said.

However, a good question to ask ourselves is how would we like it if the shoe was on the other foot; if we lived in a country without liberties, oppressed by a dictator. And once the dictator is gone would we want the country that liberated us to continue to help?

Security funding set for county agencies

Enhancing homeland security measures is the goal of more than $40,000 in federal funding recently awarded to Tuscola County law enforcement agencies.

Congressman Dale E. Kildee announced last week that the $40,099 grant will come from the fiscal year 2006 Appropriations Act for the Department of Homeland Security.

Of the total, $10,553 will go to the Michigan State Police post in Caro for the purchase of thermal imaging equipment, including a surveillance camera that can detect activity/movement through smoke, fog, rain and darkness. Another $15,712 will be given to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, also for thermal imaging equipment, and the Caro Police Department will receive $13,834 for the purchase of surveillance equipment.

"Preserving our safety is a top priority," Kildee said in announcing the grant. "This funding will strengthen local emergency preparedness by helping to equip our first responders with the tools they need to protect their communities, and themselves, during an emergency."

The funding is part of the Commercial Equipment Direct Assistance Program, which works to enhance local/regional response capabilities, risk management abilities and interoperable communications.

LaBuhn, Lackowski top 2007 graduates at Ubly

Ubly Community School officials last week announced the top graduates of their Class of 2007.

The valedictorian is Shelby L. LaBuhn, daughter of Steve and Vicki LaBuhn of Bad Axe, and the salutatorian is Kara L. Lackowski, daughter of Dan and Karen Lackowski of Ubly.

LaBuhn, who will graduate with a grade point average of 3.9572, has earned numerous academic medals in high school. She has been Academic All-State and a finalist for the MHSAA Scholar-Athlete Award. She has also been a "student of the month" and "co-student of the month".

LaBuhn has been a member of Ubly's volleyball and track teams throughout high school. In volleyball she earned most improved player honors as a junior - the squad was the Greater Thumb East Conference champions and Class C District champions in both her junior and senior years. LaBuhn has been an all-conference pick for the past 3 years on the track team, which has been Greater Thumb East Conference champions for 3 years, regional champions 2 years and state champions one year. As a junior she was named most improved athlete.

LaBuhn has also been a member of the Ubly marching, pep and concert bands the past 4 years and served as drum major for 2 years.

Last year she was initiated into the National Honor Society (NHS) and served as an honor guard during graduation. As a senior she served as the NHS president. She was also elected class treasurer in her sophomore year and is a class representative this year. LaBuhn is a 4-year team member of Teens Against Tobacco Use and the Youth Advisory Committee, and serves on both the yearbook and high school newspaper staffs.

Her activities also include volunteering for events such as Special Olympics and as a 4-H camp counselor.

The granddaughter of William and Rose LaBuhn of Bad Axe and Mary Lou Maurer and the late Norman Maurer of Ubly, LaBuhn plans to attend Lake Superior State University and major in environmental science. Lackowski, who will graduate with a 3.8967 grade point average, has also earned several academic honors and medals, and is currently a dual enrollment student through Saginaw Valley State University.

She has been a member of Ubly's cross country team for 2 years, the basketball team for one year, the cheerleading squad for one year and the volleyball team for 4 years. In cross country she earned "rookie of the year" honors, the Will to Win Athlete Award, and All-Scholar Athlete honors. The squad was the district and league champions during her junior and senior years.

Lackowski has served on the yearbook and newspaper staffs for 2 years and has been very active in student government throughout high school. She is currently vice president of the student council, which competed at regionals and placed in the top 3. Lackowski was inducted into the NHS as a junior and has been active as a fundraising committee and honor guard member. She was also a member of the 2006 homecoming court.

Lackowski is active as a volunteer as well, donating her time and efforts for a variety of programs, including Adopt-A-Family.

The granddaughter of the late Bill and Lorraine Lackowski of Parisville and Charlene and the late Gordon Bensinger of Ubly, her future plans include attending Saginaw Valley State University. She has been accepted into the school's honor program and received a Presidential Scholarship, and will be a pre-dental major.

Down Memory Lane

5 YEARS AGO

Dr. Gary W. Baughman knows marathons. A podiatrist who serves patients at the Northeastern Foot and Ankle Clinic in Cass City and Essexville, Baughman logs 20 to 40 miles a week and has completed more than 60 marathons, including 3 ultra marathons - a pair of 50-mile and one 100-mile event. "You're so focused and concentrating on what you feel, you don't see anything," he said of a distance runner's focus when he or she competes. Baughman recently ran a very different kind of race. The event was a standard marathon (26.2 miles), but it was anything but typical - his surroundings this time included the Coliseum and the Trevi Fountain in Rome, Italy.

Cass City High School graduate Whitney Osentoski is achieving his goal to be on stage performing. After moving to New York City last summer, he began auditioning the next week after settling in the Big Apple. After just 6 weeks he had his first paying job in Atlantic City as a dancer for a show at the Sands Hotel for a run of 2 months. After returning to New York, he was faced with unemployment again, so it was back to auditioning every day. He also landed a couple of part-time jobs to pay his bills and was lucky enough to have a flexible schedule so he could continue to audition. An audition came up for a European Tour of "Chorus Line". He excitedly called home after receiving a callback, and after 4 additional callbacks and a week of sitting on the edge of his seat, he received the news that he had won the part of Mike in the musical.

Catching fish was a bonus, Clarke Haire said, as the annual father-son fishing trip for steelhead trout ended last Thursday afternoon. A big bonus it was, after spending 8 hours floating a 5-mile stretch of the Manistee River downstream from Tippy Dam. The trip produced 3 steelhead, 9.5 pounds, 10 pounds and a giant 14.5 pounds, weighed on the scales of guide Dennis Borsum. It wasn't a day when the trout were indiscriminately pouncing on any bait that came their way. The weather was tolerable, ranging between 23 and 32 degrees. Our first fish was landed at about 8:30 a.m., and we started fishing at 7 a.m. It took another hour and a half before the second fish struck and the big fish hit around 1 p.m.

Richard Shemko has tested his skills on more courses than most golfers will ever see, but he'll have a difficult time topping his latest adventure. A 1986 graduate of Owen-Gage High School, Shemko recently returned from a 2-week expedition to Antarctica, where he saw countless species of plants, birds and animals, as well as enormous glaciers, icebergs and mountains. And, yes, he even swung a golf club after reaching his destination - Neko Harbor. The trip of a lifetime was a milestone for the accounts receivable analyst, who previously had visited sites in North America, South America, Africa, Europe, Asia and Australia, as well as a majority of the United States. The trip proved to be a real challenge, according to Shemko, 28, who said he wouldn't recommend the journey for an inexperienced traveler.

The Greenleaf Township Board adopted a 1997-98 budget totaling $84,035 during the annual township meeting, held March 29 at the township hall. The new budget represents a planned spending decrease of nearly $3,000, or about 3.5 percent, compared to 1996-97 expenditures, according to Clare Brown, acting deputy clerk. He noted the township starts the new fiscal year with a combined fund balance of $83,000. In other business during the annual session attended by 23 people, including 5 board members, the board discussed a possible addition to the township hall. No formal action has been taken yet on the proposal, according to Brown, who explained the township is considering adding bathroom facilities and possibly a kitchen.

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs have historically counted on contributions from underclassmen - Becky Howard, Susie Salcido, Angie Wildman - when making a run for the North Central Thumb League softball title. And that's exactly what coach Dean Roller sees happening with his 1997 team. And although the underclassmen will need to contribute if the Bulldogs are to challenge Kingston for the league crown, the Dawgs are a team dominated by a fine core of senior athletes.

25 YEARS AGO

Brewster Shaw, astronaut speaking here, will be transported to Cass City from Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, by Dale McIntosh. The Army hasn't changed much. He needed to present the Army with his car license number, time of arrival, etc. in advance. Incidentally, Shaw will fly here from the west coast. That's a two-hour trip. He may detour a bit and fly over Cass City on his way to Selfridge. That's 10 minutes more. (From Rabbit Tracks)

Hard driving - It wasn't a good week last week for Crawford Road or for those who normally drive on it as a result of the heavy rains Tuesday, March 30. Just south of M-81, it was flooded. About .7 mile south of Kelly Road, part of the road had washed away.

Fears of rain during Saturday's fourth annual Wilmot to Kingston road race proved unfounded. Instead, what was falling was snow flakes. That combined with strong winds made conditions miserable for the 5.4 mile event, but despite that, 113 runners finished and no one became ill. Finishing first was Tim Brown, 25, in a time of 32:11, with Kingston High School senior Jack Barden coming in second at 32:20, and Jim Finlayson, 42, third at 33:22. Top woman finisher was Kingston senior Jill Barden at 41:43. She was 15th overall and the only woman in the top 25.

35 YEARS AGO

Donald Miller Jr., 23, started work Monday as Cass City's fourth police officer. The 6' 3", 230-pound man is an ex-Marine sergeant and served four years in the corps, spending time in Vietnam. He comes to Cass City from Flint, where he recently completed 20 weeks of police training at the Genesee Community College, which is assisted by the Flint Police Department. Miller and his wife Bridget are looking for a home in Cass City. He will work with Police Chief Gene Wilson for about a month. The addition of the fourth man will give 23-hour police protection when he begins working alone.

I don't know if Edsel Connell of Inkster was trying to tell me something when he dropped off a book on English usage the other day, but I infer that he was. He implied, no, he told the office staff that I like to get arguments going and I can have some fun with this book. I don't know about that, but wasn't it tricky the way I tied in a couple of words that most of us feel say the same thing, but don't? I'm referring to the words, infer and imply. When someone tells you taxes are too high, he is implying that his are too high, too. When I draw that conclusion from what he says, I'm inferring it from what he says. I'm indebted to the office staff for those little pearls of English usage...but I do have a pet no-no of my own. Take this sentence: Everyone does it, but I'm different, am I not? Nine of 10 these days would say, "I'm different, aren't I?" What they are really saying is "I'm different, are not I?" That's affected usage. I'd much rather hear "ain't I." That's wrong, sure, but it's not artificial or pseudo-correct. (From Rabbit Tracks)

Cass City selected its 10th citizen of the year Tuesday night before a crowd of some 200 persons who crowded the cafetorium for the high-light event of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce year. Selected were W. E. Walpole, president of Walbro Corporation. James Bauer, a member of the selection board, introduced Walpole and reviewed his history and achievements.

Lady Hawks eyeing GTW championship

Despite the loss of 6 outstanding players, the Cass City Red Hawks promise to be in the thick of the Greater Thumb West softball race this spring.

The trouble is that even though Cass City has the pitching and the veterans ready to roll, other teams in the GTW also are loaded and ready to compete. Cass City could finish on the top or possibly as low as fourth.

One of the strengths of the Hawks should be pitching. Ace Courtney Rabideau will be the anchor as she starts her fourth year on the varsity. Backing her will be senior Emily Schinnerer, who steadily improved last season.

There will be holes to fill, including 2 first team all-conference players, Brandi Talaski and Jenni Brinkman. Also gone will be Ashley Hendrick, a veteran infielder-pitcher and Renee Czekai, who was one of the team's top hitters and a veteran catcher. Aimee Hennessey has also graduated and Sara Meeker will not compete this season.

Replacing Czekai behind the plate will be sophomore Megan VanVliet. Returning to first base will be senior Becca Bennett. Coach Josh Stern said that she came on strong last season and has played well in practice.

Second base promises to be a battle between sophomore Amanda Langenburg and junior Lauren Dillon. Senior Ashleigh Rabideau will take over at third and junior Heather Moore will start her second year at shortstop.

All of the 13 members of the squad will see action during the year.

Expected to provide strong competition are Bay City All Saints, Reese and Unionville Sebewaing. Stern says Bay City All Saints is ranked number 2 in the state in class D with a veteran team built around the pitching of sophomore Louise Rezmier and veteran Lynsay Weaver. Reese is a feared team, as is USA. The Patriots lost their dynamic pitching duo of Sarah Alegria and Erica Houthoofd, but coach Stern pointed out that any team that is the defending state champion will be tough despite the absence of their top pitchers.

Weather permitting, Cass City will have 8 non-conference games to iron out the wrinkles to prepare for the conference opener April 30 at Bad Axe. It begins today (Wednesday) at Millington. The first game starts at 4 p.m.

Cass City ready for baseball opener

Weather permitting, Bill Hartzell will formally begin his Cass City varsity baseball coaching career tonight (Wednesday) when the Red Hawks face visiting Millington in non-conference play.

While the Hawks will feature 5 returnees from last year's team that battled for the Greater Thumb West championship until fading in the final week of play, it will be without the services of several key performers.

Absent for the 2007 campaign, via graduation, are 3 GTW all-conference first team selections in Brad Langenburg (player-at-large), Jeff Stoutenburg (catcher) and Justin Glaza (third base). Coach Hartzell will also need to fill the offensive firepower supplied by senior second team all-conference player Derryl Schenk and honorable mention choice slugger Cody Halasz.

Despite the heavy graduation toll, the Hawks should once again figure into the GTW race. To do so, the Hawks will need to rely heavily on their 3 returning GTW honorees and several unproven players.

Senior Brad Hartel, a second team all-conference pitcher in 2006, will give Cass City a pitcher capable of holding any opponent in check. When Hartel isn't on the mound, look for the southpaw to patrol center field.

Making the switch from outfield to infield this year is senior Cameron Lautner. He, like Hartel, was a second team GTW performer in 2006, and will be counted on to use his speed to score runs for the Hawks.

Austin Babich, an honorable mention GTW pick as a freshman, should be a team leader in RBIs and will help out on the pitching mound. His strong arm allows him to cover more ground as the team's shortstop.

Another senior returnee, Andrew Martin, will also spend time on the hill, in addition to guarding the infield at first base.

Among the most important untested newcomers are Chris Zawilinski and Dereck Halasz.

"Chris has a big job to do replacing Jeff (Stoutenburg)", said Hartzell. "But he's been my catcher for a long time. And Dereck will be a utility player."

Halasz will spend most of his time in the outfield, but could also fill in on the infield and help with the pitching chores, according to Hartzell.

Hartzell, who coached the junior varsity in 2006, has also called on the services of 4 sophomores to help this year's effort. Luke Newton, Cole Miller, and Lukas Varney will all see duty in the outfield, while Brent Doerr will handle the throws at first base when Martin is on the rubber.

O-G set to defend title

Owen-Gage coach Doug Hyatt has several reasons to feel confident about his Bulldog softball team's chances to successfully defend its North Central Thumb League - North title as the 2007 season approaches. Hyatt, in his second year in charge, has 11 returnees from last year's squad that compiled a 14-4 conference mark. The defending champions' roster, 18 in all, has the potential to become an NCTL-N annual power in the years ahead as it is void of any senior members and consists of only 4 juniors. The Bulldogs, however, will need to find a pair of replacements in the infield from 2006, but will otherwise field a team with plenty of playing experience. Gone via graduation are third basemen Michelle Brown and second basemen Barbie Littlepage. Both were NCTL-N all-conference performers in the final Bulldog season. "If we can find a solid second and third basemen we should have a good season," Hyatt said. "Defensively, we should be good up the middle in the early season and we have talent at the other positions to be good as the year progresses." Stepping in to fill Brown's shoes along the third base line will be sophomore Sammy Radabaugh. One of the Bulldogs' top utility players as a freshman, she saw action in every position, except catcher, in 2006. Topping the list of returnees for the Bulldogs will be sophomore short-stop Amanda Faist and junior center fielder April Nowaczyk. The pair combined for 120 stolen bases in 2006. "(Amanda) is one of the team leaders on and off the field and probably our best hitter," Hyatt said. "April is very solid as our leadoff batter." The Bulldogs will also have an experienced pitching and catching tandem as sophomore Mariah Francis and catcher Katie Rhodes are both back from last year's team that compiled a 16-14 mark overall. Hyatt feels Rhodes was a big key to the team's success last year and will be again this year, while Francis was the pitcher of record in the team's 16 wins as a freshman. Also back from last year's squad and sure to see an abundance of action in the early season are Bethany Kovach, Alisha Kovach, Stacie Dorsch, Sarah Lesoski, Brittany Parks and Ashley Rockefeller. "Several of these girls are willing to give up their position (from last year) for the good of the team," Hyatt says. "We will try to get to know our players and their strengths and weaknesses in the early part of the season. We are still a very young team."

That experience changed Stine's direction in the Army.

"In one mission, we assisted the Army Special Forces on a raid for weapons," he recalled. "During the mission, I was drawn to their professionalism and abilities. It was then I decided on my career change into combat arms. I loved being a mechanic, but there was something more that I could do and I knew it."

Stine was sent home from Baghdad in December 2004 and received orders to report to Fort Bragg, home of the 82nd Airborne Division and Special Forces.

Stine indicated information about his duties since is classified, so he can't go into detail. All he said was, "I have worked with some of the best organizations the military has and am proud to be associated with them."

KINGSTON IS HOME

On the other hand, Stine has plenty to say about his "adopted" home and the people who live in the Tuscola County village.

"Kingston has definitely become my home town. I have had so much support from the community there," said Stine, whose brother, Brian, 18, has been a standout athlete in several sports at Kingston High School and will graduate this fall.

"I have had unbelievable support from everyone in the town of Kingston," he continued. "The VFW members sent care packages to many of the soldiers that deployed with me and they were greatly appreciated, and I was able to bring them a flag that we flew over our camp in Afghanistan as a symbol of our appreciation for what they did when they served, and also for the support they gave us."

"It took guys like them so I can enjoy my freedoms — it's just my generation's turn."

Stine's mother believes the armed forces is the best thing that ever happened to her son.

"You know the old expression — the Army can make or break you?" she said. "The Army made a man of him. It was already in him, but the Army brought it out."

"He's making a career out of it — he loves what he does," she added.

And, he's racked up a host of awards, including 2 Army Commendation Medals, 5 Army Achievement Medals, a pair of good conduct service medals, the Afghanistan Campaign Medal, Iraq Campaign Medal, National Defense Medal, Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, Global War on Terrorism Expeditionary Medal, Overseas Service Medal, Army Service Medal, Parachutist Badge, and the German Schutzenschnur.

"The only medal I don't want him getting is the purple heart," Carol Stine added. "It's scary, but you're proud. You're just so proud of them."

"I can't imagine myself doing anything else," Stine said. "I am a soldier and will be till the day I die."

Compton explained HISD officials are working with local districts on preventative and remediation programs for all students. “It’s really focused, number one, on reading, so the reading skills are supported by the grade level. Secondly, there’s positive behavior support, which is required by the state of Michigan,” he said, adding Owen-Gage has been proactive in both areas for some time.

Servicemen’s jobs protected by bill

State Rep. Terry Brown (D-Pigeon) last week announced a plan to protect the jobs of military members by giving them 90 days to re-apply once they return to Michigan.

“Our servicemen and women who come back from fighting on the frontlines need time to transition ease back into civilian life,” Brown said.

Currently, state law requires employers to keep service members’ civilian jobs open for just 15 days once they get home from active duty. Brown’s proposal extends that to 90 days. The extension shows our service members the respect and consideration they have earned.

Campbell School “round-up” slated Thursday, April 19

Campbell Elementary School will host its annual kindergarten round-up this month.

The spring kindergarten registration, for parents only, is scheduled for Thursday, April 19, starting at 6:30 p.m. at Campbell’s Early Childhood Education Center.

School officials say this meeting is important for anyone who has a child who will be 5 years old by Dec. 1, 2007.

Parents need to bring their child’s birth certificate and immunization record. To obtain a certified birth certificate, contact the county clerk’s office in the county where the child was born.

At the round-up, parents will need to set up an appointment for a Gesell Screening along with vision and hearing screening. Every child entering kindergarten will participate in each of these screenings.

Those parents unable to attend kindergarten roundup are asked to call the school at (989) 872-2158 to make an appointment as soon as possible after April 19.

Crisis center in need of volunteers

The Thumb Area Assault Crisis Center in Caro is in need of some help.

The center, which provides a safe shelter for victims of domestic and sexual violence and their children, is seeking volunteers to help with a wide variety of tasks.

"Volunteers are wanted for one-time events, such as spring cleaning and yard work, as well as (for) on-going needs such as providing childcare, tutoring, or transportation for victims who are searching for employment or a permanent place to live," explained Carol Arman, communications manager for the Human Development Commission (HDC), which operates the facility.

In addition to providing emergency shelter to domestic violence victims, the assault crisis center operates a 24-hour crisis line that offers counseling, support and information about domestic and sexual violence. Arman noted volunteers are needed to answer the crisis line and would be trained to do so by assault crisis center staff members.

The assault crisis center serves victims throughout the Thumb area, and provided counseling or shelter to 67 women and 75 children last year.

Benefit slated for Chris Klco family

Cass City, will feature a baked potato dinner with a variety of toppings, salad, dessert and beverage. Free-will donations will be accepted at the door, and organizers are planning a silent auction throughout the evening.

Area residents and businesses that would like to make a donation are asked to drop off auction items at Knight Insurance, 6468 Main St. Monetary contributions should be made out to the "Chris Klco Benefit Fund" and taken to the Independent Bank branch in Cass City.

Klco's accident came just as he and his wife, Correna, were preparing to put their house on the market. They had planned to pack up their belongings and move with their 5 children, ages 6 to 17, to Brazil to work as missionaries.

"That was his passion - working with kids, with youth groups - that type of ministry. He was very involved for 20 years," Peters said of her brother, who was employed as chief financial officer for Datacomp, a Grand Rapids company that appraises manufactured homes. She noted Klco was responsible for starting an inner-city basketball league for kids in the Grand Rapids area, and had hoped to start a youth program in Brazil.

Now, he is struggling with the aftermath of electrocution.

Klco will have to re-learn everything, according to Peters, who said her brother is confined to a bed and undergoing physical, occupational and speech therapy. He can't speak, but recently began taking solid food again, although he's still being tube fed. "It's definitely 24-7 care. It's very trying," Peters added.

In spite of the challenges he faces now and in the future, Klco's prognosis has improved drastically since the accident occurred. Peters recalled doctors initially believed her brother would spend the rest of his life in a vegetative state.

"He can read, he recognizes people, he can watch movies, he smiles when he's supposed to, he cries when he's supposed to," she said. "He's definitely improving."

Diabetes key factor

While many people know someone who has had a heart attack or stroke, they may not realize the role that diabetes plays.

In fact, adults with diabetes are 2 to 4 times more likely to suffer a stroke or heart attack than someone who does not have diabetes, according to officials at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The American Diabetes Association and the American Heart Association have recently made a joint statement that health care providers must step up efforts to prevent diabetes and cardiovascular disease.

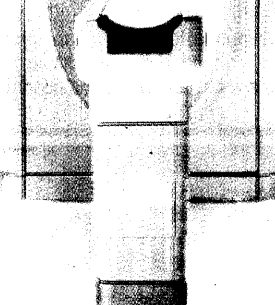

"Heart disease remains the number one cause of death in both adult men and women," said Kathy Dropeski, R.N., education director at Hills and Dales. "The statement identifies a core set of risk factors that lead to diabetes, heart disease and stroke. These risk factors, which apply to men and women, include elevated blood glucose (blood sugar), elevated LDL cholesterol levels (the "bad" cholesterol), elevated blood pressure, tobacco use and obesity.

Education, Dropeski said, is the key to prevention.

"Research has shown that controlling these risk factors is a vital step in preventing heart disease and stroke," she added. "A critical first step is for each person to discuss their risk factors with their doctor. If a person has diabetes or pre-diabetes, it is critical that he or she get the condition under control."

"A certified diabetes self-management education program teaches not only about blood glucose control, but also weight control, cholesterol control, healthy eating and activity," Dropeski said.

Anyone interested in learning more about diabetes management and available education programs is encouraged to contact their doctor or call the Diabetes Education Program at Hills and Dales at (989) 912-6365.
