Area United Way collects $57,000+

More than 2 dozen Tuscola County groups and agencies, including several in the Cass City area, will be receiving checks soon from the United Way of Tuscola County, thanks to a successful 2006-07 campaign.

Still, United Way officials say they are striving to build on that success in hopes of meeting an ever-growing need for many services throughout Tuscola County.

The United Way of Tuscola County Board of Directors conducted agency presentations March 20 and 22.

"These presentations allow agencies requesting funding to present their agency and programs to board members, and allows board members to become familiar with and ask questions of the agency representatives prior to making fund allocation decisions," explained Jim Heiser of Cass City, who serves as director of operations for the county United Way. "A total of 30 agencies participated in these 15-minute presentations.

"Each year, it seems that the needs become greater, and the board of directors continues to work harder to raise additional funds to support the work these agencies perform," Heiser said.

The United Way board then met March 22 and allocated a total of $57,325 in funding. "Checks for 50 percent of each agency's allocation were mailed late last week, with the second check to be presented at the annual campaign kick-off breakfast in September," noted Heiser, who said $7,647.50 was collected as a result of last fall's mail-in campaign. "The original target was to get back to the $7,500 mark, and we are pleased that we had success in meeting this goal.

"Although this (year's overall) allocation is better than last year's $50,000, it is still not as good as we can be," he said. "Our emphasis again this year will be to improve payroll deduction participation at existing locations and solicit additional business and industry to begin payroll deductions."

Heiser pointed out that improving the amount of money collected each year is simply a matter of encouraging more individuals to contribute a modest amount of cash.

"To show the power of participation, take the total number of families in Tuscola County, and subtract the number of families at or below poverty level multiplied times 2, and then subtract the number of families that already give to United Way," Heiser said. "If the remaining families would give $1 per month, we would be able to allocate over $200,000 each year. "This example points out that a high percentage of participation can be the answer to increasing funding significantly," he added. "Obviously, large donors are never discouraged, but all donors are welcome and needed."

When allocating money, United Way officials focus on 4 basic categories of need within the county. They are health, education, emergency preparedness assistance and avoidance, and youth activities and development.

With those areas in mind, officials spread out the funding to a host of agencies, including the American Association of University Women, Alzheimer's Association of Mid-Michigan, American Red Cross, Cass City Literacy Council, Foster Grandparent Program, Friends of the Thumb Octagon Barn, Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council, Rawson Memorial Library, Thumb Area Assault Crisis Center, Thumb Area Big Brothers-Big Sisters, Tuscola County Christmas Baskets, Tuscola County MSU Extension (4-H), and the Tuscola Homeless Coalition.

Heiser said some individual donors also request that their funds be given to specific agencies, including the Cass City Little League, The Fowler Center and Catholic Family Services, as well as United Way agencies in Huron, Sanilac, Bay and Saginaw counties.

Heiser reminds area residents that the Pension Protection Act was signed last August, giving IRA investors older than 70 1/2, who face making required minimum distributions (RMD), even though they don't need the income, an opportunity to donate up to $100,000 in 2007 from their IRA to a public charity and not owe any tax on that money. The United Way of Tuscola County qualifies to receive donations made this way.

"You do not have to claim the money as a taxable RMD before you make the donation," said Heiser, who suggests that interested residents contact the financial institution administering their IRA, their financial advisor, or their local United Way.

Business and industry representatives who would like to learn more about payroll deduction programs, or who would like to schedule a presentation from the United Way, can contact Heiser at (989) 325-1980, or e-mail: info@unitedwaytuscola.org.

THE CALENDAR SAYS it's spring, but few folks could have convinced Todd Furness of that Saturday as he greeted passersby in front of Gaffney's Hometown Kitchen in Cass City. Furness, 29, Cass City, is a cook at the restaurant, owned by his mother, Carol Gaffney. Weather forecasters are calling for a gradual warm-up, with temperatures expected to reach the 50s by this weekend.

Eagle Scout

Hanby earns scouting's highest rank

It isn't unusual for prospective Eagle Scouts to select a final project that will improve their own hometown in some way, such as painting, landscaping or building benches.

Kurt Hanby, 18, of Cass City, went all the way to Mexico to compete his Eagle project, the last requirement to earn scouting's highest rank. In the process, the experience boosted his interest in possibly making the mission field his life's work.

Hanby, a senior at Cass City High School and member of Boy Scout Troop 500, Cass City, was formally honored Saturday afternoon at the Cass City Missionary Church, where more than 50 area residents, scouting officials, fellow scouts and members from Hanby's congregation attended his Court of Honor. The Court of Honor is the official ceremony in which a scout is presented with the Eagle Rank and medal.

Hanby actually completed his Eagle project last summer. He canvassed businesses in the community in an effort to collect personal care items — toothbrushes and toothpaste, combs, wash cloths and soap — for small "care packages". He and his fellow troop members then individually packed more than 100 sets of the items for distribution to poor families in a mountainous region of Mexico, about 3 hours southeast of Mexico City.

The trip to Mexico was actually a 10-day missionary outreach organized by Fred and Gail Tuckey, members of the Cass City Missionary Church.

Fred recalled Hanby was very enthusiastic about making the journey and making a difference. "Right away Kurt wanted to know what he could do to be a part of that trip and to be an asset to that poor, living in wooden shacks with metal roofs and dirt floors.

Hanby's gifts and his efforts as part of the local mission team didn't go unnoticed. In fact, Tuckey said the teen received several personal invitations to return, and Hanby plans to spend 2 more weeks there this summer.

"I had a great time last year. It was such a life-changing experience," Hanby said of the trip. "It's humbling to see how the people there live and how much I have compared to what little they have. We take so much for granted.

"Every day we would split up into groups from the church where we were at, and we would go into small villages in the mountains," recalled Hanby, who indicated a single family would gladly share just one of his care packages.

"The people in Mexico are a lot nicer than what is perceived to be," Hanby added. They are generous and friendly."

The scouting officials and scouts in attendance at Saturday's Court of Honor included several family members. His parents, Jim and Rita, are both big supporters of scouting and Rita, currently the scoutmaster of Troop 500, has been a scout leader for many years. Also on hand were Kurt's older brother, Eric, 21, who previously earned the Eagle rank, and his younger brothers, Brad, 16, and Kyle 13, both also Boy Scouts.

"It just makes me so proud of him," Please turn to back page.

trip," he said. "He took ownership right away.

"It (care packages) was a very popular gift in the mountains," Tuckey said, noting the families are very

He was just 7 years old, but Chase Szczepanski had a smile, a laugh, a sense of humor that left an indelible impression on those who knew him.

"He was the most happy, smiling, sweet little boy, just always a sweet disposition - always full of laughter and fun," said Shirley Tuckey, who had Chase in her kindergarten class at the Cass City Early Childhood Education Center. "He loved kids, he loved sports. He was just full of life."

Chase also battled cancer for several months. It's a battle he lost quietly Thursday, at his Shabbona area home, with his family, including parents, Ed and Tisa, at his side.

"It's very hard," said Tuckey, who along with fellow teachers Fran Lovejoy, Tracey Jaworski and Rebecca Walker - all of whom had Chase in their classes - organized a carnival benefit for Chase and his family last fall at the early childhood education center. The event drew hundreds of area residents and raised more than $25,000.

"It's so hard when it's 'your' child (student). You keep hoping that he's going to get better," Tuckey said Thursday. "We just kept hoping and praying. It's going to be a very tough weekend."

Paula LeValley, Chase's first grade teacher this year, spent a great deal of time with the family since Thanksgiving, when Chase could no longer attend classes. LeValley began tutoring the youngster at home, twice a week, one hour a day.

"He wanted to still be learning things, and he wanted to come visit (school)," LeValley said, adding Chase and his mother surprised his class with a visit on one occasion.

"He liked jokes - even when he was sick, he'd try to 'get you,'" LeValley recalled. "And he loved to be read books. He was one of those kids who, when you read to him, you knew he was right there with you."

After starting her visits with Chase, LeValley began taking her family's Yorkshire terrier, "Little Guy" with her, knowing Chase loved dogs.

"There's nothing anyone wouldn't do to make him happy. And he knew how to get you wrapped around his little finger," said LeValley, who even drove to Caro once to buy a chocolate pie for Chase - who had agreed to take his medicine in exchange for Please turn to back page.

Seeley closing books on 48-year career

Ask Sherryll Seeley about her career and chances are she'll tell you, jokingly, that she didn't get far in life.

Granted, Seeley was born and raised in Cass City, graduated from Cass City High School and then stayed in her hometown to pursue a job in banking. But those who have worked with Seeley say she has made a lasting, positive mark on the community in many ways.

The staff at the Chemical Bank in Cass City held an open house in Seeley's honor Friday, following her decision to retire after a 48-year career. She most recently served as assistant vice president and branch manager locally.

"The bank and its customers will miss her daily presence very much," commented Orvil A. Beecher, vice president, Commercial Lending, Chemical Bank. "It is very uncommon to mention a name in the Cass City area that she doesn't know. It is even more rare to have someone enter the bank that she doesn't call out by name in a warm greeting," Beecher added.

Angela and Brandon Toner

Kubacki and Toner exchange their vows

Angela Rose Kubacki and Brandon Dale Toner were married Saturday, Aug. 12, 2006 at the Celebrations Wedding Chapel in Snover. The Rev. Max Gibbs officiated the ceremony. Angela is the daughter of Daniel and Denise Kubacki of Argyle. Brandon is the son of the late Todd C. Toner and Betty and Wilbur Palmer of Cass City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin beaded halter bodice with an embroidered bottom and layered chapel train with rosettes along the backside. Her veil was made by her mother and was embroidered with tiny roses. She wore a rhinestone and periwinkle tiara. She carried a cascading bouquet of open and closed white roses, open light blue roses with ivy and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Paula Booms of Harbor Beach, friend of the bride. The 6 bridesmaids were Tiffany Osentoski of Royal Oak, Nicole Osentoski of Kalamazoo, Michelle Neeb of Bad Axe, all cousins of the bride; Amanda Kaczor of Bad Axe, Tina Davis of Ubyly, and Connie Ross of Unionville, all friends of the bride.

Flower girls were Madison and Mikayla Toner of Vancouver, British Columbia, nieces of the groom.

The best man was Greg LeValley of Deford, friend of the groom. The 6 groomsmen were John Jaworski of Bay City, friend of the groom; Brett Toner of Vancouver, British Columbia, brother of the groom; Mark LeValley of Cass City, friend of the groom; Al Glaza of Ubyly, friend of the groom; Bryan Toner of Deford, brother of the groom; and Darren Ross of Unionville, friend of the groom.

The ring bearer was Chandler Pawlowski of Cass City, second cousin of the bride.

The ushers were Jonathon Kubacki of Argyle, brother of the bride; and Brian Kubacki of Royal Oak, uncle of the bride.

The greeter was Suzette Glaza of Decker, aunt and godmother of the bride.

A reception was conducted at the Ubyly Fox Hunter's Club for approximately 270 guests attending from all over Michigan and as far south as Texas and as far west as Vancouver, British Columbia. A buffet-style catered dinner was provided by Shari Bock of Snover, cousin of the groom.

The bride is a 1998 graduate of Ubyly High School and the groom is a 1993 graduate of Cass City High School. They are both employed at Gemini Plastics of Ubyly and reside in the Harbor Beach area.

"Cornerstone" to perform concert

The Youth for Christ singing group "Cornerstone" is scheduled to perform at the Shabbona United Methodist Church Sunday, April 15.

The concert will begin at 6 p.m. The church is located at the corner of Decker and Severance roads.

"Cornerstone" is a music and drama ministry of Bluewater Thumb Youth for Christ. This year, the group consists of 75 high school students from the Bad Axe, North Huron, Lakers, Harbor Beach, Ubyly and USA areas; 12 adult volunteers and 4 YFC staff. Cornerstone's theme this year is "Mission Impossible: God has given us a Mission that seems Impossible, but through Him everything is possible."

This year's program consists of a live band, music, drama and testimonies. Everyone is invited to attend.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Mike Weaver, chairman of the Pinney Foundation, is again seeking worthwhile projects that may qualify for grants. The funds are restricted to non-profit projects that help the Cass City area.

Grants that aid only one segment of the community, such as an individual church denomination, are ineligible.

Deadline for consideration this spring is May 1. Applications should be directed to Mike Weaver, 7972 Bay Drive Pigeon, MI 48755.

As promised we report: no discernible action Monday visible through my office window on the proposed new Main Street buildings to replace the 2 former buildings that have been removed. But then it would be a surprise if there was, considering the weather that we have experienced in the last week.

Don't ever expect to see a galaxy (9 this year) of valedictorians at Cass City High School again. The grade rating system changes with the class of 2008 in that a point system will be in effect.

That means that no longer can a student with an A- have the same overall grade as the student with an A+ grade. Now both grades are recorded as A at the end of the year.

While next year's valedictorian will be a more significant achievement and the record carry more weight with some college admission departments, it's with mixed emotions that I say good-bye to the current grading system.

It's entirely possible that the difference between the best and the runners-up could be as little as one important paper that calls for discretionary judgment by the teacher.

Early childhood applications set

Applications for the Cass City Early Childhood Program (also known as the M.S.R.P. and the 4-year-old program) will be available Tuesday, April 24, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Baker College campus in Cass City.

The Cass City Early Childhood Program will again be having a joint enrollment with Cass City Head Start at Baker College.

For enrollment, parents will need a certified birth certificate, immunization record, 2006 tax return (or food stamp/FIP case number), and the child's Social Security number.

Parents may pick up an application from any Cass City School office beginning Wednesday, April 25, to be considered for any other openings, either at-risk or tuition.

Applicants wishing to apply for tuition only (if any positions are available) may pick up an application form beginning April 24 and return the forms by June 1.

More information is available by calling (989) 872-2148.

Church to host annual mystery dinner program

The Cass City United Methodist Church will be presenting a mystery dinner featuring "Reading Aunt Louie's Will" Friday and Saturday, April 20 and 21 at 6 p.m., and Sunday, April 22, at 3 p.m. at the church, located at 5100 N. Cemetery Rd.

Area residents are invited to "come and help Gagney and Spacy sort through all the clues and unravel the evening's mystery. Louise Reindorf has left her considerable fortune to her wacky family - there are some surprises in the will that lead to murder."

Tickets are $20 per person April 20 and 21, and $12 per person April 22, including dinner. Reservations are available by calling (989) 872-1263 or 872-5425.

The back forty

by Roger Pond

This is an exciting time for gardeners. Everyone has been cooped up all winter, seed catalogs are arriving in the mail, and nurseries are a beehive of activity. It just seems natural to get outside and plant something.

We must be patient, however. As the old agronomists used to say, "If you are wondering if your soil is too wet to till, you can be sure that it is."

Experienced gardeners know it's too early for some gardening activities, too late for others, and maybe we should just lie down here for a while until we get our senses back.

The whole process of gardening has changed with the advent of rototillers and the adoption of no-till farming, but some folks still use a plow. There's something about the way a moldboard plow slices through the soil that's just more aesthetic to me. (The older guys, who farmed with horses, would probably say the old moldboard was even better with a 'big Percheron up front.)

There's still something about watching a guy with a new International and a eight-bottom plow pull into a garden that adds fervor to the whole thing. The bigger the tractor and the wider the plow the more exciting it is.

That's the way it was when I planted my first garden. I was just out of college and didn't have a tractor, so I decided to dig the garden with a spade. I was young and energetic in those days — and not real smart.

We had about 40-by-80 feet of garden space, but I only planned on planting half of it. I had turned only a few shovels of soil when the neighbor came by with his John Deere tractor — pulling a six-bottom plow. "We could take that fence down, and I'd plow that patch up for you," he said. "It would save you a lot of digging." "Oh, that's O.K.," I said. "I need the exercise. I'll have this dug up in no time."

I looked at the neighbor's big tractor and thought, "He couldn't even turn around in this garden. There's no point in taking the fence down."

When I was still digging a couple of days later, I began to wonder what sort of flaw in my upbringing caused me to turn down my neighbor's offer. Why would a half-way intelligent person decide to turn several hundred square feet of soil with a spade, when the neighbor could have plowed it up in no time?

Why would anyone with a B.S. in agriculture, two courses in basket weaving, and a minor in muskrat trapping do something like that? I was never the smartest kid in the class or anything like that, but I did pass all of the classes.

Then it dawned on me that my college training caused me to do it. I had been off at college for four years. It was so long since I had done any real work, I had completely forgotten what it was like.

Change in seasons will hit attendance

The 2 mothers who started the wheels turning 10 years ago that changed the seasons for school sports teams had it partly right when they said that after a couple of years the program will run and not be considered unusual (or difficult) at all.

It's sure that the schools will conform to the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, but it remains to be seen if it will be accomplished without detriment to the athletes involved.

It's hard to buy into the belief that the change in seasons will help the outstanding athletes be offered scholarships because coaches will have more opportunity to be aware of them.

Supporters say immediately the great athletes will be noticed, but how about the athletes that teeter on the fence - good, but not great? Tell me why they would be more likely to be noticed because they play in the fall or the winter.

It's likely that basketball attendance will take a hit, especially in small towns where the teams are an integral part of the community and adults are perhaps 75 percent of the fans.

Not many fans are avid enough to attend 4 games in a week and when it comes to fan choices the boys have the upper hand.

When this change appeared inevitable a couple of years ago, I daydreamed that a doubleheader with both the girls' and boys' varsity teams playing would be attractive. That was before I stopped a moment to consider the drawbacks. While the doubleheader would attract fans, what happens to the junior varsities when that happens? Because the JV games are hitched to the varsity's games, it allows them to play before fans that perhaps would never see them otherwise.

A tentative schedule has been developed for the switch in basketball and volleyball seasons and the schedule in Cass City is expected to be duplicated in the Greater Thumb West.

The girls will start the hoop season a week or so earlier than the boys. Monday's have been left open to avoid Saturday practices.

There is lots of work to be done before the new schedules are hammered into a regular routine, especially in the junior high level.

My belief is that the crowds will be smaller and there will be no changes in the opportunities for the athletes at the next level.

And less chance for the high school athletes to have the fan attendance that they have always enjoyed.

Red Hawk Talk

by Kyle Swanson

For about 4 years, the after prom party has provided a safe and fun alternative for students after the conclusion of prom. However, due to constraints within the school district and a lack of people to work on the project, this year's after prom party was originally cancelled.

Fortunately, a group of determined parents and students have stepped up to bring back the after prom party this year.

For those who aren't very familiar with the after prom party, it is an event that begins after the conclusion of prom and offers students a variety of activities to participate in.

The event takes place at the high school and begins at midnight, running until four in the morning. At about 3:30 p.m., students begin to gather in the cafeteria for an auction of prizes. Students use the chips that they have won throughout the evening at various games to bid on the prizes. No actual money changes hands at any point during the evening.

This year's event was scheduled to be cancelled due to financial constraints and the absence of anyone to coordinate the event. Fortunately, a few parents and some students stepped forward and volunteered to take on the project. However, the group needs volunteers to work at the event, prizes to give away, and monetary support.

The after prom party for this year is being scaled back. Prizes will not be as elaborate, and some of the activities that were previously available for students to participate in, will not be returning this year. Proposed activities for this year include a variety of card games, bingo, dance dance revolution, guitar hero and movies. Additionally, refreshments will be provided throughout the evening.

Prizes in the past have included everything from a computer to savings bonds, DVD players, mp3 players, stereos, and mini-fridges. However, prizes for this year will not be as elaborate. Some of this year's prizes will be based on how many chips a student earns, while others will be drawn at random.

The group of organizers certainly has a lot of work ahead of them, but they are hopeful that everything will come together.

If you are interested in volunteering at the event or donating, please feel free to contact me. I can be reached by email at kswanson07@hotmail.com or by telephone at (989) 658-8690. Any help that anyone can provide would be greatly appreciated.

I know that this year's event will turn out successful and will be enjoyable for all who attend. If you are a student that has never attended the after prom party and will be going to prom this year, I would encourage you to come to the after prom party. It is a fun and memorable activity for all who attend.

Rioux joins local Tendercare team

Tendercare, Cass City, officials recently welcome a new administrator - Shelly Rioux, who joined the Tendercare team in August 2006 and moved to the area from Grayling.

Rioux brings to Tendercare, Cass City, a background spanning 17 years in long-term care facilities with a wide variety of experiences, including dietary assistant, housekeeping and laundry assistant, medical records/central supply director, business office manager, maintenance assistant, OSHA rules and regulations compliance manager, workmen's compensation coordinator, admissions coordinator and human resources director.

Shelly Rioux

She completed her cardiopulmonary in 1992, accredited medical records technician certification in 1993, AMBA medical billing certification in 2002, associate's degree in science management with a specialty in human resources in 2003, bachelor's degree in business administration in 2004, and received her nursing home administrators license in 2006.

Rioux said she has faced many challenges in the nursing home industry, from OIG audits to state surveys to a nursing home fire in 2005.

"Within 2 months as the administrator for Tendercare, Cass City, we went through our annual state of Michigan inspection," she said. "These surveys are very stressful as state inspectors review everything we do. The nursing home industry is the heaviest monitored industry in the state. Having every 'i' crossed and every 'd' dotted is mandatory and not an option."

"Mistakes? We make them," Rioux acknowledged. "It is being accountable for those mistakes and correcting them so they do not happen again, and this is my intent as the administrator of Tendercare, Cass City. Can I do it alone? Absolutely not. It takes a caring and hard working staff, and this is what I have here."

"Our goal as a team is to improve to make Tendercare, Cass City, the number one choice of long-term care in the area," Rioux added. "I have a strong, caring and devoted team that I rely on and trust. I believe those are the people who make my job rewarding and provide the best care."

Rioux said the success of a long-term care facility depends on its employees along with the community, area hospitals, clinics and physicians.

"The simple label 'nursing home' can make most people cringe," she said. "Nursing homes are not 'where people go to die' anymore. In this day and age, long-term care facilities are more than what the past has made us. Long-term care facilities are specializing in quality of life care for their residents; wound care, rehabilitation services and many other specialties. Some offer special dementia units and others offer more extensive nursing care. I believe in working together with other nursing homes in the area and not against them. We all ride in the same boat."

Rioux said her welcome to the area has been a warm one. "I have joined a new family here at Tendercare, Cass City, along with the community of Cass City," she said. "It is a very friendly community and I was welcomed with open arms and a lot of caring staff, which made the relocation a pleasant move."

"When my family from up north visits, they comment on how wonderful the local people are," Rioux added. "Everyone waves to everyone, which doesn't make me feel like a stranger. I feel like I have lived here my whole life."

Correction

A story in last week's Chronicle announcing Cass City High School's valedictorians and salutatorians for 2007 incorrectly stated that senior Jennifer Hacker is a past nominee for Cass City's "Junior Citizen of the Year" award. In fact, Hacker is a nominee for this year's award. The Chronicle regrets the error.

Cardinal ChatBack

by Hannah Strauel

As the Easter holiday comes and goes, most schools around the country are on spring break or just got back.

This time of year the temperature begins to rise (or at least it should) and before you know it, everyone around you is experiencing "spring fever." Everyone breaks out the shorts, tanks, and sandals, even though the weather does not really call for them.

Throughout this frenzy, a conflict is bound to arise; the school dress code. Girls show up scantily clad for school and are often told to change. Guys break out the ball caps against school rules.

Does anyone like the dress code for school? At Kingston, shorts have a minimum inseam and if they are too short, the girl is supposed to change. Also, hats and hoods cannot be worn during school hours. However, asked whether they liked the school dress code, most students had no problem with it.

Senior Tony Lanava summed up the majority of opinions: "I'm fine with it," she said. Teacher Mary Ann Safranek, who teaches several science classes at Kingston, spoke of the dress code saying, "It is mainly common sense for a public place such as a school. If we are trying to help our young adults make their own good decisions, it is important to be somewhat flexible."

Whether the dress code is popular or not, is it enforced at Kingston? On this question, opinions differed.

Sophomore Jake Shinabarger felt that the dress code is "somewhat" enforced. Bill Kerr, an English teacher, added, "I feel that the dress code is enforced rather well. The paraprofessionals do an excellent job." Junior Stephanie Ramsey disagreed and Tony Lanava said the dress code was "not really" enforced "unless students notice and inform people."

It seems that most people do not have a problem with the dress code, whether enforced or not, but is there anything they would change? Freshman Megan James along with Lanava and Ramsey all like the way the dress code is now and would not change anything about it. However, Jake Shinabarger thinks students should "be able to wear hats and hoods."

Mr. Kerr proposed an idea that would end the struggle with low cut tops, short shorts, and hoodies, "Not necessarily at Kingston, but I wouldn't be opposed to public schools, in general, looking into school uniforms for the student population," he said.

Having every student wear uniforms might be a drastic way to resolve the issue, but then again it might be best. Most people might not have a problem with the school dress code, but are there rules that need to be changed, eliminated, or added? And is the school dress code properly enforced, or do schools need to be more strict or lenient? There are a lot of differing opinions on the matter; what is yours?

VICTORIA KEYES (second from right), daughter of Michael and Shirley Keyes Olivet and granddaughter of Bernard and Mary Dadacki of Cass City, is a senior Greater Lansing Ballet Company member who will be portraying several roles in the company's performance of "Cinderella" Sunday, April 15 at East Lansing High School's Center for the Performing Arts. Keyes, whose mother, Shirley is a Cass City High School graduate, and whose brother, Allan, works for the village of Cass City, has been dancing since the age of 6. She has been trained in ballet as well as pointe, tap, jazz, lyrical, hip hop and authentic Irish Step Dancing and choreography.

Down Memory Lane

By Harmony Doerr

5 YEARS AGO

Not all of us are concerned about those snowflakes that come trickling down after the warm days that we all enjoyed in early March. Art Battel wasn't complaining a bit. This spring has been like two seasons in one, he grinned. Battel was referring to the collection of sap for maple syrup. The alternate cold and warm weather keeps the sap running. It's a great year in the sugar bush. (From Rabbit Tracks)

You may recognize Shabbona United Methodist Church for apple pies, submarine sandwiches and turkey dinners, but it is much more than that. Shabbona United Methodist Church has been in existence for over 100 years. It is a small country church that is growing with vision and passion. Church members are committed to children and youth. In the past few years, they have sponsored over 60 children and youth each year by paying their way to camp. The people of the church have taken on a new mission. They are planning to move the present church to a donated 10-acre parcel of land 3/4 mile north of the current location this spring. A new basement for Sunday school classrooms and activities, a fellowship hall, kitchen and greeting area will be added. An elevator will make the entire building handicap accessible.

From one of the world's most effective cancer drugs to athletic turf that grows indoors, Michigan State University can be credited for advances that have benefited nearly everyone. MSU's historic discoveries include the research that led to the development of hybrid corn and the process still used for the homogenization of milk.

Biotechnology means better tasting tomatoes year-round. Because the fruit softens more slowly, tomatoes bred through biotech can stay on vines longer before shipping to market, thereby adding flavor and color. This also will be possible with other fruits such as peaches, bananas and strawberries.

No TV for a week. It sounds like a punishment harsh enough to make just about any youngster cringe, but a group of Cass City fourth grade students will be giving up the boob tube for entire week. By their choice. The project is being held in conjunction with the Third Annual National TV-Turnoff Week!, April 24-30, according to Campbell Elementary School teacher Yvonne Sherman. The goal, she said, is to encourage people to get back to hands-on and physical activities.

Barb Hutchinson, Rawson Memorial librarian, was in the office clutching a letter from a local organization announcing a $500 donation. It just overwhelms me, the response that we have experienced in this fund drive, she said. The generous response is great, but shouldn't have been unexpected judging by the community's track record in support of worthwhile campaigns. Prime examples, of course, are the Cass City Recreational Park, Hills and Dales Hospital and the over-subscribing every year for the Cass City United Way. Hutchinson is not publicizing the most recent $500 gift giver, pending approval of the donor. (From Rabbit Tracks)

25 YEARS AGO

The Elkland Township Fire Department should have its new tanker truck in about 4 weeks. The township board Monday evening approved purchase of a stainless steel 3,100-gallon tank for the truck, to be constructed by Marcan Industries of Bay City at a price of $11,146. The tank will have a 10-year warranty and was the lowest price obtained for a stainless steel tank, according to Township Clerk Carol Ware. Marcan owner Jack McDaniel, an ex-Cass Cityan and Elkland fireman, was at the meeting, and after it was over, drove the tanker chassis to Bay City, she said.

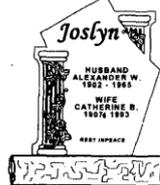

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners Tuesday approved a resolution designating all of the county as the Economic Development Corp. project area for purposes of an agricultural and forestry enterprises program. Once the recently formed EDC is fully operational, it will be able to sell bonds, which will enable farmers to purchase equipment at a lower rate of interest. The EDC will also be able to help finance industrial development through the sale of bonds.

35 YEARS AGO

Administrator Byron Landholt announced this week that operation shift is expected to be started any day now as the brand new wing to Hills and Dales General Hospital is activated. Work on the new surgical patient unit is nearly complete and only a small piece of equipment is needed to give the green light to the waiting hospital staff. The equipment is in transit and if all goes well the wing will be in operation this weekend. When it is operating the improvement will likely be more apparent to the staff than the patient.

A 45-mile-an-hour speed zone on a section of M-81 just south of the Caro city limit in Tuscola County, was announced today by the Department of State Highways. The new zone, extending a quarter mile south of the city limit, will serve as a speed transition zone between the 65-mile-an-hour limit on M-81 and 35-mile-an-hour limit in Caro. The new limit will become effective as soon as signs are posted.

Four students from Cass City High School have been awarded Certificates of Merit by the Detroit Free Press for having distinguished themselves as outstanding debaters. The four are: B. J. Haire, Cara Prieskorn, Ronald Crandell and Mike Klinkman. The students participated during the 1971-72 season in the Michigan High School Forensic Association debate series, sponsored by the Free Press and the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services. The topic debated was: "Resolved: That the jury system in the United States should be significantly changed."

O-G baseball team loaded with veterans

Owen-Gage coach Ricky Behm has a host of returnees from his maiden season as head of the Bulldog baseball program and is hoping for marked improvement in North Central Thumb League play.

While Behm will have over 10 players back from his 2006 squad that posted a 6-12 conference record, gone is all-conference first team performer Trace Lopez. He was the team's pitching ace in his final season and led the team in several offensive categories.

Despite Lopez's departure, the Bulldogs should be strong on the hill with the return of hard-throwing junior Eric Zaleski.

On the infield, the Bulldogs will have a trio of proven players in Brent Reil, Grant Champagne and Justin Trupe, while fellow returnee Kenny Brown will provide leadership in the outfield. The foursome should also be able to supply the Bulldogs with instant offense at the plate.

In addition, Owen-Gage's Will Rabun, Brandon Edler, Nathan Minkler, James Harris and Ryan Francis all return with a year of varsity play under their belts and are expected to give the Bulldogs a strong batting line up from top to bottom.

Behm also has a group of untested players for the 2007 season including Clyde Rhodes, Jim Hard, Robert Leininger, Jacob Moore, Justin Bauman and Devin Prich. How they progress during the season will go a long way in determining the team's success.

Owen-Gage is scheduled to open play this week against visiting Ubyly.

Cass City Campbell Elementary Kindergarten Round-Up 2007

Thursday, April 19 - 6:30 p.m.
Early Childhood Center

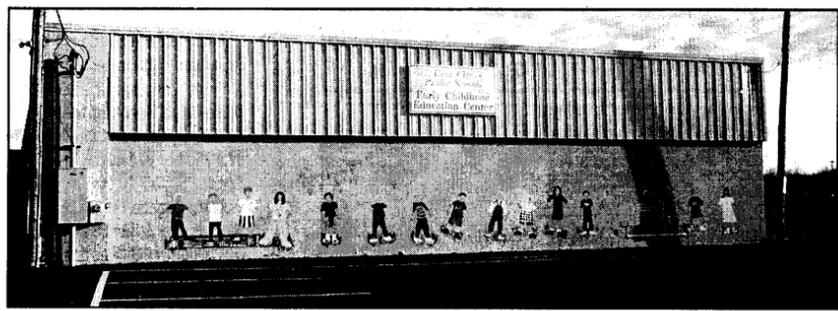

Cass City's young reading program is ranked among the best in the state. Individual attention is key to its success.

Cass City's playscape and playgrounds offer students a secured area to have fun away from the classroom.

In addition to a quality curriculum, Cass City's youths are offered both music and gym classes.

Cass City has ALL DAY kindergarten as well as half day Young 4 and 5 Programs that are held exclusively in the Early Childhood Building. This allows all students to be taught in one safe and controlled environment.

Depth missing in Red Hawk thinclad teams

A lack of numbers on the Cass City track teams will have coaches Amy and Scott Cuthrell leaning heavily on the Red Hawks' top performers for success as they prepare to kick-off their season Wednesday at the Ubyl Invitational.

Besides the low head count on each roster, both coaches will be without the services of 2 of the Thumb's best in the shot put from last year. Scott Meeker and Ashley Puterbaugh, both state qualifiers in their senior year, will be hard to replace in 2007. Puterbaugh is the current school record holder with a distance of 36' 10".

For coach Scott Cuthrell and the boys' team, the loss of Meeker will be lightened, somewhat, by the return of senior Dennis Bowen who also was a state qualifier in the shot put as a junior.

Elsewhere in the field events, the pole vault and high jump should also provide points for the Hawks with the return of Mark Koepf and Chris Zawilinski. Koepf finished as the Greater Thumb West runner-up in the pole vault (11' 6"), while Zawilinski was the GTW (6' 3") and regional (6' 1") high jump champion in 2006.

Around the track, the boys' team should fare well in the distance events with veterans Lukas Varney and Chris Childs leading the way, while Derek Ricker, Tommy Parrish, Austin Babich and Kyle Sieradzki will head the Hawk sprinters.

On the girls' side, returning hurdler Jennica Richards should be a top point earner for Amy Cuthrell's squad.

The Lady Hawks, under a dozen in total, should be strongest in the distance events with returnees Brittany Loomis, Leah Whittaker, and Ashleigh Rabideau back.

Caitlin Sorenson is expected to pace the Hawks in the sprints, while Megan Zawilinski will provide Cass City with a presence in the high jump.

Brown's plan suspends tax

State Rep. Terry Brown (D-Pigeon) today unveiled the Homeowner Protection and Stimulus Plan, a package of bills that will help jumpstart Michigan's economy by suspending the so-called "pop-up tax" and also protect residents from losing their homes when they lose their jobs to outsourcing or downsizing.

"Eliminating the pop-up tax makes buying a home more affordable for young families trying to get a start in life," Brown said. "It also protects seniors from a sudden surge in taxes when they move out of the family home they've owned for years to a smaller, more manageable home."

The plan eliminates the pop-up tax for residents who buy a house during the next 18 months. They will not have to pay the pop-up tax for as long as they own the home. The plan could save a homebuyer up to $1,513 on the purchase of a $100,000 home, based on statewide average tax rates.

Currently, the assessed taxable value of a home may increase yearly by 5 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is lower. When the property is sold or transferred, however, its assessment is "uncapped" and the home is taxed based on its State Equalized Value. This drastic re-assessment creates a pop-up tax that can double the amount of taxes new homeowners must pay for as long as they own the home.

In addition, Brown and his colleagues are developing a plan to protect homeowners who have lost their jobs to outsourcing or downsizing. Eligible residents would receive assistance to make their mortgage and tax payments for six months. The assistance would be funded by a second mortgage on the residence. The state would form a public-private partnership with lenders to run the program.

"As we work to get Michigan back on track, it is only right to support our workers who have lost their jobs to outsourcing or downsizing," Brown said. "Losing a home can devastate a family. Our hard-working residents deserve the dignity of being able to stay in their own homes while they get back on their feet."

Letters to the Editor

Voice your concerns in Novesta Township

Last April I wrote to inform the people of Novesta Township that Ralph Zinnecker, township treasurer, had spoken for the supervisor who was absent indicating that at the annual budget proposal hearing for the next fiscal year (April 1, 2007 - March 31, 2008) the supervisor was asking for an annual $1,000 raise and that he also would request an additional annual $1,000 raise as his position as township assessor.

I also wrote on how they want to employ a new zoning enforcement officer at $15 an hour plus mileage and I also informed the people that the township board wanted to spend $8,400 to pay the attorney to rewrite the new zoning book.

I indicated in my letter that I believed that because of the terrible economic situation we are presently facing that now is not the time for these expenses. This hearing normally should have been in March but the township board decided to have the hearing on April 2 this year.

ing to the electors at the next primary or general election. I intend to get a petition written up and circulated to put the question to reestablish the annual township meetings in Novesta Township to a vote and if the people pass it according to what I understand the people will have a direct say so as to whether the township officers should get a raise.

The next evening after the budget proposal hearing the township zoning commission (formerly the zoning board) meeting was held and the township attorney was there and the creation of the new zoning ordinance and rewriting of the zoning book began.

The zoning commission meetings are every other first Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. and they will be spending a lot of time throughout the next 3 or 4 (or more if needed) zoning commission meetings with the attorney to write and create the new zoning ordinance and to decide exactly what they would like to include in the new zoning ordinance. This new zoning ordinance will be in effect for the next several years and serve as a guide as to how zoning will be enforced in Novesta Township and is very important because it affects everyone in Novesta Township.

I encourage all those interested in voicing their opinion and to express their concerns as to the direction the zoning ordinance may be heading to attend these meetings. They are open to the public and it is your right to express your concerns to these officers. Hope to see you at these meetings and at the township board meetings every first Monday of the month at 7:30 p.m.

Parents - check out free lunch guidelines

Do to the overwhelming amount of students that are behind on their lunch accounts, Cass City Public Schools is concerned that many students may be falling through the cracks of our free and reduced lunch program. We would like all parents to look over the free and reduced lunch application guidelines and apply if they feel that they can be qualified.

Cass City Public Schools would like to assure all parents of the confidentiality of this program. The status of all students is kept confidential and is not shared with others. All students have a pin number that identifies them, the number does not reflect the status of each child's lunch account.

Parents that are self-employed may qualify using your adjusted gross income from your taxes. Unemployed or displaced workers may also qualify. Once you qualify, you are qualified for the rest of the year. If you are currently reduced, but your income has dropped since you originally filled out your form, please submit a new form and see if you now qualify for free lunch. You may re-apply at any time throughout the year.

We are also looking into a program that assists struggling parents that may need additional help. We have not worked out all the details yet, but are trying to help fund some of our reduced lunch students that need additional help paying for their meals.

If you would like assistance or more information on contributing to this fund, please feel free to call Shari Bock, Cass City Public Schools Food Service director, at (989) 872-5729.

Thank you,
Shari Bock

Hospice agency in need of volunteers

Home and Hospice Advantage in Cass City is seeking volunteers in Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties to work with our hospice patients.

Hospice Advantage was founded in 2004 to better serve the needs of terminally ill patients. Driven by patients' choices and the manner they wish to live out their lives, we strive to establish the highest standard in hospice care.

Typically, the needs are simple - companionship and friendship, emotional support, and someone to listen. You may be asked to help write letters or perhaps read a book for someone who has difficulty seeing the words. Maybe you are a worthy opponent at cards or checkers or maybe you are the world's greatest listener. You don't need any special qualifications to be a hospice volunteer. You just need to be a friend.

We offer a comprehensive training program that will better prepare you to offer your vital support. Volunteers are supervised by a volunteer coordinator and are supported by other members of the patient care team.

If you have an extra hour or 2 of time and are interested in hospice volunteer opportunities, contact Kim Jones at Home and Hospice Advantage at (989) 872-5852 or toll free at (877) 872-5852.

HDC seeks contractors for programs

The Human Development Commission (HDC) is seeking local contractors to participate in its Community Development Rehabilitation Programs.

The programs are designed to provide repairs, which will enhance energy conservation, health, safety, and handicapped-accessibility as well as lead abatement. Upon Completion, all homes will (at minimum) pass a Housing Quality Standards Inspection and Lead Clearance test.

A contractor meeting will be held at 429 Montague Ave., Caro, April 27 from 9 to 11 a.m. All new and existing contractors are required to attend. Contact Jim Surbrook at (989) 672-1796 to sign up.

Get Back in the Game. Again.

Not too long ago, a sports-related or accident-caused injury would have left you with a very difficult choice - either go through life with pain and loss of mobility or undergo a difficult surgical procedure.

But today, much simpler, safer and less painful options are available. Like non-surgical therapies using advanced medicines, physical therapy and minimally traumatic procedures - like arthroscopy - to safely relieve pain and restore movement.

So, if an injury has put you on the sidelines, now is the time for you to get back into the game. Please call us today for more information on how we can help you.

Seeley closing books on career

"It's a lifetime, but it doesn't seem like 48 years, that's for sure," said Seeley, who began her banking career with the former Cass City State Bank Jan. 7, 1959. She started out by posting saving and checking account transactions, later became a teller and in time was promoted to assistant cashier.

At the time Seeley accepted that first job, she was studying accounting and bookkeeping at the Saginaw Business Institute. "I had completed 2 semesters there, and then I quit because I had a chance to work at the bank," she recalled. "I had thought about maybe becoming a CPA or a secretary, but then when that job came up, I thought, that's something I'd like to do."

Seeley, a 1958 Cass City High School graduate, was promoted to Cass City branch manager when Chemical Bank Bay Area bought the Cass City State Bank in 1989. In 2000, Chemical Bank Thumb Area (now Chemical Bank) promoted her to assistant vice president and branch manager.

Although it's unusual these days for someone to stay in the same job in the same field for so many years, Seeley indicated she never really considered moving on.

"The customers are a big part of it. I always enjoyed my customers," she said.

"I've always felt fortunate that I could make a pretty decent living in my home town, and I was content to stay here," she added. "It's a good town. It's just what I like."

And Seeley has done more than her share when it comes to contributing to her community.

In addition to her professional career at the bank, Seeley is a charter member and current treasurer of the Cass City Women's Club (formerly the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club) that was established in November 1961. She has served as the organization's president, vice president, treasurer and secretary several times. Seeley also served as district secretary for the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and has attended several district and state meetings representing the Cass City club.

Seeley is a board member of the Tuscola County Community Foundation and Habitat for Humanity - Cass City chapter. She is also a member of the Cass City Planning Commission, Cass City Chamber of Commerce, Tom Thumb Choir, Cass City Historical Society and the Cass City Genealogy Group, and has served as a local representative of the Salvation Army for many years.

Also active in her church, Seeley spent her earlier years in various positions with the Salem EUB Church and has been a long-time member of the Cass City United Methodist Church, currently serving as treasurer and as a member of the parish committee, building fund committee and United Methodist Women.

some woodworking. "I have a lot of hobbies, so I don't think I'm going to be bored," she said.

Still, Seeley isn't actually going to retire completely, at least not yet.

It's certain Seeley will continue to serve the community in many ways, but she also plans to devote a little more time to having fun in retirement. She figures on getting in a few extra rounds of golf, fishing and even

"I'm going to work a couple days a week, basically doing what I'm doing," she confided. "I was actually concerned - just to cut it off cold turkey - if I could handle it," Seeley added. "This has been my life."

Hanby earns the Eagle rank

said Rita, who participated in the Court of Honor. She offered some interesting statistics about scouting: although just 2 in 100 boys will earn the Eagle rank, few scouts will stand before a juvenile court judge, most are involved in a church, one-half will serve in the military, and many find that their participation in Boy Scouting plays a key role in landing a job later in life.

Saturday marked the completion of a trek that Kurt Hanby began in the first grade when he joined the Tiger Cub Scouts.

Completing his project and earning the Eagle rank puts Hanby in some pretty impressive company.

He joins a host of Eagle alumni that include Apollo Astronaut James A. Lovell Jr., former Senator Sam Nunn, businessman H. Ross Perot, Secretary of Defense Donald H. Rumsfeld, and former President and Michigan native Gerald R. Ford.

Earning the Eagle rank takes a great deal of dedication.

To become an Eagle Scout, a scout must fulfill a set list of requirements in the areas of leadership, service and outdoor skills. Although many options are available to demonstrate proficiency in those areas, a number of specific skills are required to advance through the ranks — Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star, Life and Eagle.

Scouts must pass tests that are organized by requirements and merit badges, which signify mastery of specific skills and also help the boys focus on activities of personal interest.

Of the 120 available badges, a Boy Scout must earn a minimum 21 to qualify for Eagle Scout. Of those, 12 are required, including first aid, citizenship in the community, communications, environmental science, personal fitness, camping and family life. Scouting plays an important role in helping to shape young people, according to Hanby, who for now is planning to study business administration at Bethel College after receiving his high school diploma.

"I have a better idea of how to handle emergencies. It's helped me to be a more well-rounded person," he said.

And the Eagle rank? "It's an accomplishment," Hanby said. "That's always been something to shoot for. It holds a lot of weight and it's respected."

the sweet treat.

Most of all, LeValley remembers how Chase's presence, alone, was enough to pick up the spirits of her and her other students. "He's got the nicest smile that just lights up the room," she said.

"My heart's breaking for them," LeValley said of Chase's family. "He was a super kid, always liked to laugh. He was just really special to me."

The Szczepanski family's ordeal began last spring when Chase developed chest pains that continued to worsen.

Doctors at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor discovered the boy had a tumor covering 5 of his upper vertebra. They removed a portion of the tumor, but couldn't remove all of it. Emergency surgery followed after Chase developed headaches from leaking cerebral fluid. Radiation and chemotherapy treatments followed.

In spite of the pain and uncertainty

he faced, Chase was thrilled when he learned about the carnival benefit organized on his behalf last fall.

"It was a wonderful day. It looked like a great turnout," Chase's dad, Ed, said following the event. "This was just such a tremendous experience. I'm still in awe of the whole thing. I'm speechless. (Chase) was just in awe. He couldn't believe all of that was just for him. It was just a good day overall. He had a great day."

OBITUARY

Chase was born June 9, 1999, in Bad Axe, to Ed and Tisa (Darr) Szczepanski.

He is survived by his parents; a sister, Courtney; grandparents, Thomas Szczepanski of Decker, Lois Swan of Decker, and Chuck Darr of Saginaw; a great-grandfather, Walter Szczepanski of St. Clair Shores; aunts and uncles, Richard Szczepanski of Bradenton, Fla., Charles Szczepanski of Harrison, Dawn (Ronald) Decker of Harrison, Tonya Darr of Decker, and Terri (Darrel) Field of DeFord; several cousins and many friends.

He was preceded in death by his grandmother, Linda Mullins; and great-grandparents, Walter and Maxine Goodall, Helen Szczepanski, and Glen and Mildred Darr.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Kranz Funeral Home, Cass City, with Chuck Emmert, pastor of the Novesta Church of Christ, officiating. Interment was in Elkland Township Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to the Family Discretionary Fund.

Arrangements were made by Kranz Funeral Home.

EDC joining effort

The Tuscola County Economic Development Corporation is helping to spread the word about getting more ethanol and agricultural products into local gas stations and gas tanks of vehicles.

Three service stations have been awarded incentives to install or convert fueling equipment to ethanol (E85) or bio-diesel (B20) under the State of Michigan's Bio-fuel Infrastructure Grants (BIG) program; signed into law last July as part of a larger effort to increase the availability of bio-based renewable transportation fuels around the state.

The incentives, approved by the Michigan Strategic Fund chaired by MEDC President and CEO Epolito, were awarded to: WOW Utica and Groesbeck, Fraser, E85, $12,000; Wesco Inc., Howard City, Lakeview, E85, $12,000; and Imperial Co. Inc, Traverse City, B20, $4,000.

Under the BIG program, cash incentives for converting equipment or installing new equipment to dispense E85 or B20 range from $3,000 to $12,000 per station and station owners must agree to provide the bio-fuels for at least 3 years. A total of $172,000 is available for incentives.

For further information, interested business owners should contact the Next Energy Center in Detroit at: www.nextenergy.org

The BIG program is funded through a grant from the U.S. Department of Energy and administered by the Department of Labor and Economic Growth's Office in cooperation with the Michigan Strategic Fund.
