Ubly bond vote okayed

by Tom Montgomery
Editor

Officials in the Ubly Community Schools are hoping residents in their district are willing to give up one Big Mac a week - less than $60 annually — to fund upgrades and repairs to the school building.

That's what officials estimate the owner of a home with a market value of roughly $100,000 would pay in taxes over the course of a year under a proposed bond issue that will go before voters in August.

The Ubly Board of Education recently approved the bond issue during a special meeting, according to school Supt. Ken Sweeney, who said school officials have already received tentative approval from the Michigan Department of Treasury and expect to finalize the paperwork during another special meeting slated for May 21 at 7 p.m.

The proposal asks residents to approve a tax levy of 1.17 mills for the next 15 years, with funds generated by the millage not to exceed $2,080,000.

The proposal stems from months of discussions among members of a subcommittee of the district's strategic planning committee, which was formed in August 2006 and is composed of 20 to 30 school officials and community members.

A year ago, officials were looking at possibly building some new classrooms in an effort to eliminate the need to continue renting the former St. John School for kindergarten classroom space. Other items on the "wish list" were a new media center, gymnasium and library improvements.

However, Sweeney said the scope of the project has since been revised with a strong emphasis on maintaining a building that was built in 1936.

"There's no building projects involved with it at all, just renovation and repair and upgrades," said Sweeney. The list of planned improvements include: roof repair/replacement, electrical upgrades, technology upgrades, a barrier-free entrance at the northeast entry of the school, replacement of several boilers in the heating and cooling plant, locker room upgrades, installation of energy efficient windows in 2 sections of the building (constructed in 1936 and 1967), lighting upgrades throughout the building, completion of a security system, parking lot repaving and lighting upgrades, and the purchase of 3 or 4 school buses over the next few years.

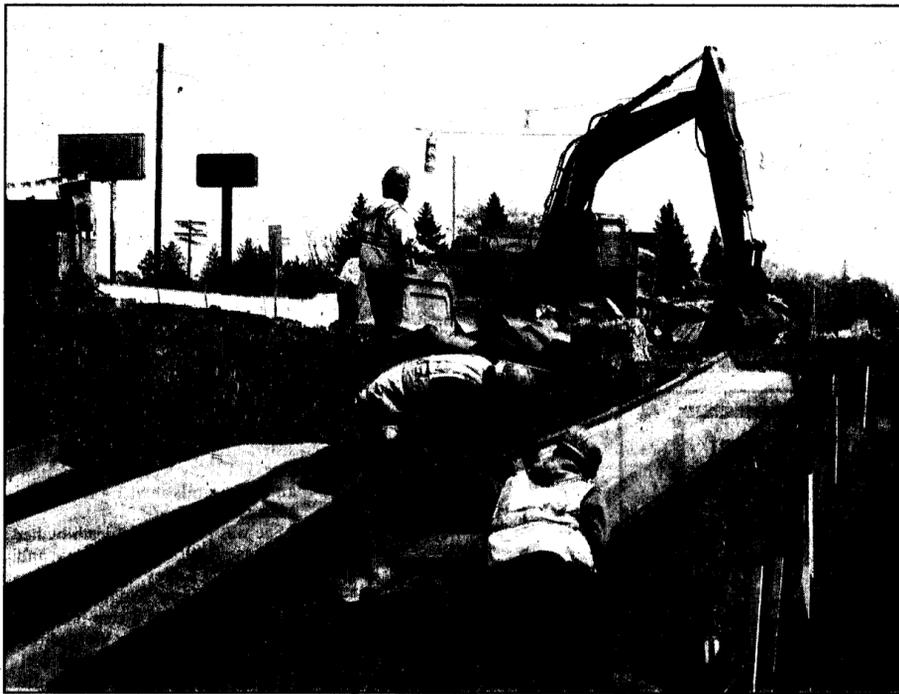

Although no time is a good time for another tax, Sweeney indicated the school district has some positive things going for it in terms of finances, including the fact that Ubly currently has no millage levy in place.

School officials a year ago retired a 1991 debt that started out at 3.4 mills and was less than 3 mills last year. Money from that levy was used for several improvements, including classrooms that replaced portable buildings, a pair of computer labs and a multipurpose room.

Another positive factor is that the Ubly Community Schools hasn't lost students at the rate that some neighboring districts have experienced, costing hundreds of thousands of dollars in per-pupil funding from the state. In fact, until this year, when the school saw an enrollment drop of 12 students, the district had lost no more than 6 students annually during the previous 10 or 12 years.

"We understand that times are tough now," Sweeney said. "But we think that this project...is pretty minimal (in cost). I don't see any frills in it."

"We've always tried to maintain our building the best we could, and that's pretty much what we're trying to do with this - maintain our facilities and make it another 50 years," he added.

WORK IS UNDERWAY west of Cass City, where contractors began the process early last week of replacing the bridge over the Center B drain. The $740,000 project is expected to be completed in August.

Ubly High juniors will represent the Thumb at national meeting

Members of the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) may not be familiar with tiny Ubly High School when they gather for the 2008 National Leadership Meeting this summer in Orlando, Fla.

But 2 Ubly High School juniors are aiming to make sure their peers remember them after the meeting, July 13-17.

Amanda Grifka and Jennifer Messing both earned "gold" in their respective National Star Events - Grifka in career investigation and Messing in financial planning — during the Michigan Leadership Meeting, April 9-11 in Midland. Messing's top score earned her the right to represent Ubly in Orlando. Grifka's score wasn't quite enough to qualify her for the national event, but she'll be representing Ubly in Florida after being elected to the Michigan FCCLA State Executive Council as secretary for 2008-09.

According to veteran Ubly FCCLA Advisor Tammy Laurie, the mission of FCCLA is to promote personal growth and leadership development through family and consumer sciences education.

"Focusing on the multiple roles of family member, wage earner and community leader, members develop skills for life through character development, creative and critical thinking, interpersonal communications, practical knowledge and vocational preparation," explained Laurie, who has served as the Ubly FCCLA chapter advisor for 24 years and was named the state "Advisor of the Year" in 2007.

Laurie noted that Grifka and Messing competed in STAR (Students Taking Action with Recognition) events in which members are recognized for proficiency and achievement in chapter and individual projects, leadership skills and career preparation.

The pair also received "Power of One" awards for their completion of Power of One Units entitled A Better You, Family Ties, Working on Working, Take the Lead and Speak our for FCCLA.

In addition a group of Ubly freshmen - Brandon Glaza, Nikki Grifka, Laura Warner and Lauren Peplinski - competed and earned a gold award in a state STAR event known as Healthy Lifestyle Challenge, a team activity that recognizes participants who develop a project in response to a case study situation related to healthy lifestyles, in this case physical fitness and nutrition.

Grifka is a veteran of the Ubly

FCCLA chapter and currently serves as its president. The daughter of Barb and Greg Grifka, she has been involved since the eighth grade, when she earned a trip to nationals in San Diego, Calif., along with a partner for their award-winning entrepreneurship project.

"I kind of like to choose something that's different. I wanted to stick it out," she said of her involvement in FCCLA.

This is Messing's second year in FCCLA. The daughter of Jeff and Tammy Messing, she said it was Laurie that encouraged her to get involved. "(She's) also my cross country coach and she brought it up one day," recalled Messing, who serves as treasurer of the local chapter.

"I like being involved in a lot of things," she said, adding she was attracted to the competition as well as the community service aspect of the organization. "And there's a lot of good people in the group, so I stuck with it. It's a good time, good leadership opportunities, too."

"I like how it has so many different (activities)," added Grifka, who said the local FCCLA chapter has been involved in organizing blood drives and promoting the Ubly Community Schools' on-going "Ubly PRIDE (Prepared, Responsible, Integrity, Dignity, Effort)" campaign.

Both she and Messing indicated they're looking forward to their upcoming trip, and the opportunity to represent Ubly at a national event.

"I would like to bring back another medal - just to work hard and make my presentation better," Messing said.

A lot of people might be thinking that Ubly is just a small school in Michigan, Grifka said, "but really, we have a lot of potential. We just have to put ourselves out there," she added.

Editor's note: the cost of attending the 2008 National Leadership Meeting is $100.

More distance learning on agenda for O-G pupils

Owen-Gage School officials are gearing up to offer students an expanded curriculum of advanced courses without hiring a single teacher.

The Owen-Gage Board of Education last week received an update on the purchase of equipment to provide more distance learning options for the district's students beginning next fall.

"We're looking at expanding into more distance learning as well as 'virtual experience learning' opportunities," said Owen-Gage Supt. Dana Compton. Towards that end, he added, school officials have used a $55,000 USDA grant to purchase 25 laptop computers.

Compton pointed out that Owen-Gage students have already been exposed to virtual learning experiences, such as taking advanced language or science classes, through the Michigan Virtual High School (MVHS).

MVHS is an online resource that enables Michigan high schools and middle schools to provide courses, all taught by certified teachers, and other learning tools that students wouldn't otherwise have access to. Funded by the Michigan Legislature in July 2000 to be operated by the Michigan Virtual University, a private, not-for-profit Michigan corporation, MVHS enables students to take a variety of classes provided they have a computer and Internet access.

"This (project) will also expand into some interactive," said Compton, who noted that with virtual learning, students complete courses and receive feedback, but with interactive learning, the experience involves 2-way communication with a teacher and students located in other school districts.

"The virtual is more self-directed and it is delayed time. Interactive distance learning is 'real time' stuff. You have a face-to-face instructor and student relationship. It's traditional classroom, real time," Compton explained.

Students set for exercise party today

Campbell Elementary School students are eager to help Michigan retain its record as the state with the most participation in the world's largest exercise class.

Today (Wednesday) at 10 a.m., students from all 50 states and 50 countries will participate in ACES (All Children Exercise Simultaneously), a one-day youth exercise program designed to highlight the importance of and need for youth fitness.

Michigan schools have joined together in large numbers to role model their commitment to health. Last year, more than 1,000 schools and their nearly 450,000 students participated.

Gov. Jennifer M. Granholm and First Gentleman Daniel G. Mulhern are co-chairing ACES this year. "Dan and I

We've mentioned before that we enjoy watching the Game Show Network. Well, we used to.

Not so much any more. Our favorite word shows, Chain Reaction and Lingo, have disappeared from the daily lineup, replaced by more and more gambling type games. I expect Password will be on the way out as well.

Now a phone quiz, in which viewers can win prizes by correctly answering movie trivia questions, encroaches on game time.

The hosts of this new GSN "live" venture encourage viewers to take a survey on their website. I thought this would be an ideal opportunity to tell them that we miss the displaced games. So I logged on to take the survey.

Alas! It seems they aren't really interested in the opinions of an old lady. After giving my gender and age, the screen promptly thanked me for taking the survey and closed.

I wasn't sure if that was sexism or ageism. So I logged on a couple days later as a younger female. Immediately, I was presented with a real survey, with an opportunity to voice my opinions.

It's probably to be expected. We old-timers are pretty weird.

It's common knowledge that old ladies wear funny underwear. But at least they do wear it and don't expose it, except maybe on a clothesline. Old women tend to be wrinkled and droopy. It's like they never heard of Botox or plastic surgery.

Old men are just as bad. They go around paunchy and bald, seemingly oblivious to Bowflex and Rogaine.

What's really amazing is that these decrepit old individuals stay together. They naively consider "for better or worse, richer or poorer, in sickness and health" and "till death us do part" literal promises.

What an antiquated concept! Can you believe it, my uncle and aunt are celebrating their 75th wedding anniversary, for heaven's sake!

Some old folks are naive enough to fall for scams because of their old-fashioned belief that people are honest and a deal sealed with a handshake is as binding as one printed in triplicate and signed by a notary.

You see, seniors for the most part practice the Golden Rule: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. The more modern philosophy seems to be "Do unto others before they do it unto you."

It's also true that the majority of this generation grew up with the philosophy that if you can't pay for it, you don't get it. Was there no credit when they started out? They paid their bills, tried to save a little, and got by on what was left. How outlandish is that?

Way back in their day, they knew their neighbors and were "neighborly." They rarely locked their doors, and they looked out for the welfare of others. Regardless of how little they may have had, they were willing to share it with those who had less.

Furthermore, even though they're retired, they still believe in the work ethic. They subscribe to the honest day's work for an honest day's pay theory. Anything less is considered dishonest.

They're thankful for and proud of our country and the freedom it affords. They pray for our troops and our leaders.

Considering all this, I guess it's understandable that the modern generation isn't interested in old folks' opinions.

We're irrelevant.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

If you have been around for a decade or 2, chances are the efforts of the late B.A. "Curly" Calka touched you one way or another. He and wife Pauline were an integral part of the social and business fabric of Cass City and the Thumb.

That's background for a clipping sent to me concerning the work of another Calka, Curly's brother Barney, 86-year-old resident of Sterling Heights.

For years he has conducted a campaign to correct the unjust World War II execution of Pvt. Eddie Slovik. It was the only execution during the war, although 49 death sentences were issued among 21,000 desertion sentences.

In the lengthy article the political ramifications are discussed and Calka's effort over the years to prove the soldier's innocence told. Now he is trying to secure a posthumous "pardon of forgiveness" for Pvt. Slovik.

He vows to continue the campaign in his remaining years. It must be a family trait. That determination is a carbon copy of Cass City's Calka before he passed away.

The copy of the story that appeared in the April 8 Oakland Observer can be seen at the Chronicle.

Interested in Michigan traffic crash facts in Michigan? There's an ocean of information available, compiled by office of highway safety planning. State-wide, county and city data from 1992 through 2007 is available on the web, <http://www.michigantrafficcrashfacts.org>.

Included in the sea of information are sections on alcohol, deer, drivers, vehicles, motorcycles, trucks and older drivers.

Maybe it's not as bad as it seems? There is story after story on TV and in newspapers on the possible reduction in business that the present economic climate may affect firms that depend on discretionary income to survive.

There was no indication of a slump in Midland Saturday night. We were in town to watch a grandson play in a baseball tournament and decided to eat out. (We always do, given the opportunity.) Anyway, we stopped at 2 restaurants and there was a wait at both. The third try was the charm, there was no waiting but the Chinese restaurant was also very busy.

Tuscola, Huron airports receive grant funding

As part of a statewide plan to speed up construction projects and create tens of thousands of jobs for Michigan workers, State Rep. Terry Brown (D-Pigeon) last week announced about $316,000 in funding for projects at the Tuscola Area and Huron County Memorial airports.

"My top priority is creating good-paying jobs today for our workers, and to do that we must attract top-notch employers to our area," Brown said. "Investors want to make sure that traveling to the Thumb will be easy and reliable, and that's where our airports are absolutely vital. This funding will help ensure that our airports meet the needs of corporations considering starting up businesses here and creating jobs for our workers."

Under the plan, Tuscola Area Airport would receive $157,895 to install medium intensity taxiway lights on a parallel taxiway and do other work. Huron County Memorial Airport will also receive $157,895, which would be used for an environmental assessment and design for parallel taxiway A.

The projects are among hundreds of construction projects at universities, colleges, airports, military facilities and state parks across the state that will help create more than 29,000 jobs for Michigan's workers. It is part of a plan to pump $1.8 billion into the economy and help move Michigan forward.

"We must invest in our Thumb workers and our infrastructure, such as our airports, in order to turn our economy around," Brown said. "By improving our airports, we are making our communities safer and stronger for our own residents as well as more attractive for visitors, new residents and employers."

HHW event set in Sanilac

Sanilac County MSU Extension is sponsoring a spring household hazardous waste collection Saturday, May 17, in the Sandusky area. An appointment is required to attend and there is no fee for Sanilac County residents.

To schedule an appointment or to get more information on any Sanilac County recycling program, call Shelly Brown at the Sanilac County MSU Extension at (810) 648-2515.

Sanilac County does provide its residents with two HHW collections each year and all residents are encouraged to take part in these collections.

The back forty

by Roger Pond

United States agriculture and the agencies serving this industry have made great changes during the past century. Even though there has been some progress, a few problems defy solution.

An 1893 report of the Secretary of Agriculture describes some of the early concerns within the USDA. Secretary of Agriculture, J. Sterling Morton writes, "This department was instituted by act of Congress in February, 1889. It is therefore, the youngest in the Executive branch of the Government of the United States, and not yet perfectly emerged from the period of formation."

He can say that again. I think USDA employees would agree the department hasn't "perfectly emerged" even yet.

Of all the transformations in the USDA the thing I miss the most is the old agricultural bulletins we used to stock in county extension offices. There was a time when a person could go to the extension office and find a bulletin on everything from curing hams to making horseshoes.

In his book, "This Trifling Distinction", Maine author John Gould describes the reliance upon government research during the 1930s and '40s. Gould once took it upon himself to poke fun at the serious tone and stilted language of university writings of the day, but was surprised to learn people took him seriously instead.

Gould claims he wrote a magazine article for "The Farm Quarterly" during the mid-'40s, pretending to be a dairy science professor who was studying the effects of "horn elevation" upon milk production of dairy cattle. His research began when an Ayrshire cow by the name of Lulu, knocked her horns off while leaving the barn and had to have them reset by a taxidermist.

An inadvertent placement of the horns resulted in a higher angle of adjustment than previously held, and the cow immediately began producing more milk.

Chuckling to himself as he wrote, Gould used as many big words as possible while describing further studies in which he tried the same treatment upon several other cows. He found that increasing the horn angle by 10 to 35 degrees caused a doubling of milk production.

His technique required unscrewing the horns with a Stillson wrench and replacing them at the new angle. Later studies confirmed a lower mortality rate when the horns were knocked off with a baseball bat instead of using the wrench.

Gould sent the article to the only publication he thought might have a sense of humor, and was inundated by inquiries from people wishing to study the phenomenon further. He even got letters from dairy scientists and others who should have known better.

I often think of Gould's story when writing this column. Sometimes I worry that folks may not see the humor in what I think is funny.

I take pride in one thing, though: I may threaten a few cats, but I've never suggested folks should unscrew the horns from their cows.

The Haire Net

Punishment or rehabilitation?

I've often debated with myself about what the ultimate focus of the treatment of criminals should be - punishment, or rehabilitation?

A case that recently hit the news columns illustrates how the emphasis would change the life of Marie Walsh.

She was in jail in Michigan on a drug charge and given a maximum sentence of 20 years. She claims now that she pleaded guilty to the charge because she was told that she would be placed on probation. Officers on the case deny it.

Anyway, that's not the issue here. There is a connection to Cass City because a brother lives here. He hadn't heard from her in the 32 years since she broke out of jail after a year and fled to California. That's not the issue either.

Today jails are overflowing and convicted criminals, including some with serious semi-life threatening offenses, are paroled early because their jail population exceeds the legal limit.

If you feel that the primary focus of jail sentencing should be rehabilitation, then without a doubt Walsh, who was sentenced to 10 to 20 years, should be placed on probation.

With her husband of 23 years, she raised 3 children under the name of Marie Walsh.

Now 53 years old, she has not been arrested for any other criminal activity when she was jailed pending a return to Michigan.

If further investigation doesn't reveal any other illegal activity, it's safe to assume that she is no threat to society.

The only issue that remains is should the now-respected citizen be punished because she was involved with heroine when 19 years old?

Seldom has there been a case as clear-cut as this one. A parolee or a forced release from jail can put persons on the street that really aren't reformed.

There appears to be no danger of that with Walsh. So it comes down to how you feel about the justice system.

Should she be made to pay more for her past misdeeds, or be allowed to return to the life that she successfully led in California?

In this particular case I can see no merit in adding to Michigan's crowded jails by adding another inmate who has been a productive citizen for 32 years.

"The Maroon and White"

by Lauren Hudson

Friday night the cafeteria was packed as performers did their best under the hot "theater" lights. The place was full of talent, all the performances left the audience stunned.

Starting at 8 o'clock sharp, the event charged $4 admission. The money went to help fund the yearbook. There was also a dance after the show.

Mr. Hobbs was the host of these events, and starting out the talent show was Mike "Rocky Top" Merriman with freestyle dancing. This "new guy from Tennessee's" routine involved handstands and somersaults, while lip syncing and dancing to a hip hop song. His style was robotic and entertaining.

After the curtain closed and Mr. Hobbs announced the next performers, the curtains opened up to the song "Bohemian Rhapsody" by Queen with Sam Patnaude miming on a piano and Travis Hoffman and Ben Farkas coming out of trash cans. Sam lip synched to the song while Travis and Ben adlibbed random ballet styles behind him. Travis also did cartwheels and Ben did somersaults. When Sam did an air guitar during the guitar solo in the song, Carl Nicol appeared from behind the stage with his guitar and started playing the solo behind Sam. It was very funny and such a performance to see too!

Performing a comedy routine, Joe Yax was next. His performance was quite funny with his "redneck jokes". "When I was younger I had the worst case of stage fright...I was frozen to the ground when it was my turn (to perform when I was younger)," he told me later.

The sultry, resonating, magical sounds of the harp filled every corner of the cafeteria when Alyssa Nicol performed next. A very talented musician, Alyssa will be attending the University of Michigan and studying music performance and playing in the U of M's orchestra.

Trying out for American Idol this summer, Anita Hill sang Jessica Simpson's "Take my breath away". Her voice was amazing. She can sing, and she told me that her grandmother can sing too. Anita definitely has a natural talent inherited from her loving grandmother. (On a personal note: "Good Luck at 'Idol' Anita!")

After all of these talented performances, one would think that nothing else could surprise them. Trey Helwig took it away on his drums. It was just him on his drum set; "I endorse the use of ear plugs!" Trey commented to the audience while putting some in. He drummed very cleanly and very crisply on the set and pulled off very talented drum techniques.

The Spice Girls decided to make a guest appearance at the show and the girls, whose real identities are Cassie Simpson, Caitlin Rickett, Becca Doerr and Stephanie Regnerus, were very energetic, had attitude and danced.

Once again, the curtains closed. Mr. Hobbs did his normal routine of introducing the next performer and the curtains opened to Sam air guitar! Carl came out after a beat and was the true soloist. Continuing to play, Carl nonchalantly walked over to Sam, tapped him on the shoulder, and Sam left Carl to "rip" away on the solo. He was fantastic. Just when the audience was mesmerized, Sam came out with a soda for Carl, who drank the soda while still soloing one handed!

The show only got better. Kristie Karr and Danielle Delamater performed an interpretive dance to the song "Harder, better, faster, stronger" by Daft Punk. They wore black shorts, black tank tops, and wore the painted boxes over their heads. On their bodies they had painted the lyrics of the song, the lyrics were few. Some words were left undone and continued on the next person, so, when the 2 danced to the song and choreographed the words on their body to the lyrics; it aligned and made a creative visual, especially when the song picked up pace.

The next group to perform wasn't at the show. They were unfortunately stuck at the delayed track meet. Sam helped fill in the time by doing his many, many impersonations and improving. As the delay grew, other performers went out and either improved or performed an encore. When the last group finally did arrive, those performers who kept the crowd entertained in the meantime must be thanked for standing up and taking charge to help others.

The "Lifehouse Group" of Justin Valdez, Megan Woodruff, Caitlin Sorensen, Brian Burke, Isaiah Battel, Ashleigh Moore and Cassie Simpson, performed a silent skit to one of the Christian rock group, Lifehouse's, songs. The skit had a very powerful message about life, God, and the unfortunate path many ignored teens go down. The skit had a deep meaning and brought tears to everyone in the audience's eyes. Unofficially, this group won.

"The Taste of Ink"

Graduation becomes imminent for Kingston seniors finishing up their last full week of high school. With only 5 days left for those who don't have to take exams, the senior activities for this week will be the most memorable throughout the whole year.

Before the seniors graduate, they had to dance the night away at their prom. The junior/senior prom occurred this past Saturday, May 3. Held at the Woodland Hills Golf Course, this prom began with pictures then progressed to dinner and finally the dancing entertained guests throughout the rest of the night. "Dancing Under the Midnight Sky" was not only the theme of this prom, but also exactly what was on everyone's minds. It will not be forgotten soon by those who attended.

"Great friends, loud music, and awesome food!" commented Emily Kolacz. "It's the best way to end your senior year, being with your good friends and just having a good time."

Prom is one of the last occasions to make memories with fellow classmates before the actual day of graduation. Not only will all the seniors be parted from each other, but also from younger classmates that they have taken the time to befriend. The one day that each senior has waited for their whole life is coming up faster than they could ever imagine. As exciting as graduating high school used to seem, it has now become a feeling of being scared that you might never be as close to friends as you once were. Most are moving onto college or away from the area and beginning a new life and finally hitting what is known as the real world. Nothing will ever be the same, but it might not be as bad as some might imagine.

As these feelings finally begin whirling in everyone's mind, Kingston seniors are forced to embrace them and make the most out of their last 5 days of this week. So far, the activities for the week include college day, a senior breakfast, a senior cookout during lunch, a softball game against the teachers, class pictures, and tractor day. Who knows what random moments may occur and what tears may be shed by the end of the week.

The Kingston seniors class of 2008 class flower is the stargazer lily, the class song is "Time of Your Life" by Green Day, and their class colors are teal and silver. The commencement ceremony will be Sunday May 18, 2008. "Life brings tears, smiles and memories. The tears dry, the smiles fade, but the memories last forever."-Class motto, Seniors '08.

LeValley, Witherspoon and Varney award recipients

Cass City School officials last week formally recognized the latest recipients of the district's coveted Red Hawk Award of Excellence.

The Cass City Board of Education recognizes students during the months of October, December, February and April. Recipients are chosen by staff members in each building based on leadership, service, outstanding behavior, excellent academic performance, most improvement or other accomplishments in or outside of school.

School board members personally congratulate each winner and present them with maroon ribbons and certificates.

The April Red Hawk Award of Excellence winners includes fourth grade student Maegan LeValley, daughter of Richard and Paula LeValley.

"Maegan LeValley stands out among others. In all subjects, Maegan 'thinks deeper' and connects what is being learned to her world and the world around us," said teacher Yvonne Sherman. "Multiple times throughout the year, she has shared these connections, and at the same time has peppered our class discussion with intriguing questions to take us more thoroughly into a topic.

"Maegan challenges herself to do her best while appreciating the struggles of others. She is a willing partner when group work is assigned and encourages those around her to do their best," Sherman added.

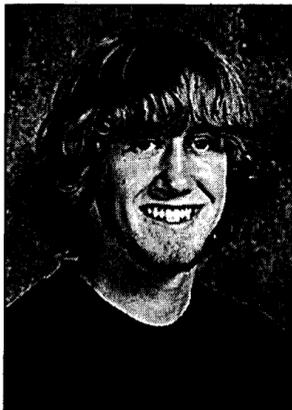

"A sense of humor and a quick smile characterizes Maegan's personality and makes her an enjoyable student in the classroom. She can look at each situation presented and turn it into something fun."

Aubrei Witherspoon, a fifth grade student and daughter of Richard and Lynette Witherspoon, was named the middle school award winner.

"Aubrei is an outstanding student and person. She is every teacher's dream to have as a student," the staff wrote in its nomination letter. "Aubrei works very hard to turn in quality work. She works diligently and goes over and above what is expected. Because of her diligence, Aubrei has made numerous gains academically this year. She is conscientious about turning her work in on time. Neatness in her work is another excellent quality.

"Whether she is working independently or in a group, Aubrei can be counted on to be a good worker. She is willing to listen to others' ideas as well as contribute her own ideas for group projects," the staff wrote.

"Aubrei's behavior is excellent. She has a positive, smiling attitude all the time. (Her) quiet, winning personality makes her a pleasure to have in class (and) she exemplifies all of the pillars of character on a daily basis."

Finally, at the high school, the April recipient is Benjamin "Lukas" Varney, a junior and the son of Ben and Kathryn Varney.

"For 3 years I've had the privilege of having Lukas Varney as a student. In order to achieve the highest grades and my genuine respect, he has demonstrated outstanding character and maintained his sense of purpose," said teacher Linda Volz.

"Lukas is always a very respectful and courteous student. Not only is he polite towards me, but his peers and substitute teachers as well. He is able to work with any student in the classroom, so I always felt comfortable placing him into cooperative group learning activity," Volz added. "I could also count on Lukas to be trustworthy and honest. He has the courage to do the right thing even though it may not be the popular course of action. Lukas is secure in his values and doesn't have any problems adhering to them.

"It is my belief he will be successful in any endeavor he undertakes because of his solid work ethic and his integrity," Volz concluded.

Down Memory Lane

By Tina Pallas

5 YEARS AGO

First grade teacher Sherry Dillon is retiring this year after teaching 29 years at Campbell Elementary School, but she will continue to watch her students grow and will take fond memories of the students and staff with her.

Jimmy Froede and his uncle, Bill Froede, each bagged turkeys while hunting opening day on private land in Tuscola County. Jimmy's bird sported a 9 1/4" beard and tipped the scales at 22 1/4 lbs., while Bill's bird had a 10 1/2" beard and weighed 21 1/2 lbs.

Chuck and Amy Emmert presented the first Alison Lauren Emmert Memorial Scholarship to Matt Stoutenburg. Alison Emmert died in 2002 after battling cancer. The scholarship is awarded to a graduating Cass City senior based on academic performance, character, school and community involvement and student response questions.

Kayla Zaleski pitched the first no-hitter in her high school career in the nightcap against Dryden that was mercied after 5 innings with the Bulldogs leading 12-0.

10 YEARS AGO

Mother and daughter, Charleen and Pam Broyles, both received degrees during commencement exercises Saturday at Saginaw Valley State University. The pair celebrated their accomplishments, as well as Mother's Day, with family and friends over the weekend.

The 18th Annual Gavel Club Golf Tournament was won in record form Saturday at Rolling Hills Golf Course. Posting a 4-man scramble tally of 56 on the par 70 track were Dave Behrens, Bob Doerr, Dave Whittaker and Bill Wiebel.

The Hawks rode on the heels of 3-event winner Ryan Brinkman to finish third with 77 points in the Hatchet Invitational Saturday. Brinkman won the 100-meter in 11.62 and the 200-meter with a time of 23.42. His third win was in the 300-meter hurdles in 40.29.

Annette Bredemeyer, Cass City, struck mushroom gold last week in the area while searching for tasty morels. Bredemeyer said she was ready to give up when she discovered a patch of about 40 or so morels.

Having been a teacher for 40 years, 27 of them at Owendale and Owengage, Mrs. Eva Rochefort, 59, has decided it's time to retire. Among Mrs. Rochefort's prized possessions are the annuals for every year she has taught at Owendale-Gagetown, starting in 1955-56.

More than $200, which will be used to buy food for needy families, was raised from an amateur talent show last Wednesday in Caro. The show at the Knights of Columbus Hall was sponsored by the emergency food program coordinated by Tuscola County Emergency Services Director James McCann. The show only drew about 50-60 spectators, according to John Ecken, one of the organizers. Thirteen acts performed. Named by the three judges as the best act were dancers Gretchen Schneider, Cori Hillman, and Judd Krause of the Caro and Cass City areas. Second place was Dan Bristol of Caro, who played guitars and sang. Third was the Wayne LaPratt family of Caro, who played musical instruments and sang.

In Thumb B Association track competition it's not a question of whether or not the Cass City girls will win. The question is, by how much? And usually the answer is by a big, big margin. The Hawks participated in three conference meets during the week. Tuesday, May 3, at Marlette the opponents were Bad Axe and Marlette. Cass City topped Bad Axe, 106-41, and Marlette bowed, 114-33. Thursday, May 5, the Hawks topped North Branch, 105 1/2 to 42 1/2. Against Bad Axe the girls swept all but three first places.

Need your lawn mowed? Yard raked? Flowerbed worked up? Can't do it yourself? Then call on the students from the Ecology Class at Cass

City High School. Each weekday morning between 10:30 and 11:30 five students will be on the job, working on yards and around homes of people who are elderly, ill or for some other reason cannot do the work themselves. The project idea began earlier this year in the class of 24, according to Nancy Auvil, instructor of the group. The service is free of charge.

Cornerstone opening ceremonies were held Sunday at the site of the old St. Pancratius Roman Catholic Church, Cass City, with 200 people in attendance. The old facility served parishioners for 70 years before it was torn down recently. The ceremony was conducted by president Bob Him who introduced families who have belonged to the parish for 50 years or more. They were Glenn McCloyre, Myrtle Hennessey, John Kelly, Marian Turner, Marge Bliss, Fr. Leo Gengler, Loraine Donnelly, Marie Murray and John Garety. Among the items found when the copper box was opened were a picture of Pope Pius X., a note from the church committee, a Tri County Chronicle and a Detroit Free Press dated Sept. 23, 1903.

According to figures released by the Sanilac County Extension office, most students looking for summer jobs can expect to make between $1.60 and $2.00 an hour.

The Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club met Wednesday, May 2 at Veronica's Restaurant. The club awarded three Senior girls $100 scholarships. The three are Tamara Vatter, Zan Eubank and Cheryl Kozan. They have been accepted at various colleges.

MAEGAN LEVALLEY, fourth grade (left), and Aubrei Witherspoon, fifth grade, are among the April Red Hawk Award of Excellence recipients honored by the Cass City Board of Education last week.

Red hot Red Hawks to be tested in upcoming tilts

The streak of games against some of the better teams in the Thumb and in the Greater Thumb West conference continued this week for Cass City with games at USA Monday and at Bay City All Saints Thursday. Next Monday, May 12 at Freeland also promises to be a stern test. The Hawk softball team won 4 of 6 games last week and 10 of their last 12. Unfortunately, the 2 losses were to GTW leaders Reese. Although disappointed by the defeats, coach Josh Stern still feels that his charges are able to play with the tough Rockets. They have a fine team, he says, and we need to have one of our better games to post a win if we should play them again in the tournament. We didn't play our best Thursday. The story of the first game that Reese won 7-0 was the pitching of Abby Harrington. The Rockets opened the game with a pair of runs in the first inning on a walk, hit batter and a single by Danielle Kern. Reese added a pair of runs in the top of the fifth to go up, 4-0. The Hawks' best chance to get back in the game came in the bottom of the inning. Heather Moore and McKensie Parrish opened with hits and there were runners on third and second with no one out. Harrington then struck out the next 3 hitters to end the threat. For the night, the Rocket ace struck out 14 while scattering 5 hits. Reese salted away the game with 3 more runs in the sixth. Amanda Langenburg took the loss, allowing 8 hits and 2 walks. In the nightcap, the Rockets broke open a tight game with 5 runs on 5 hits to win 7-0. Harrington allowed just 4 hits and 2 walks. Parrish was touched for 10 hits. Despite the final score, the game was close until the fifth. The Hawks trailed 2-0 going into the fatal fifth. Lauren Dillon collected 2 of the Hawks' 4 hits. Harrington had 2 hits for Reese.

SATURDAY TOURNAMENT

The Red Hawks brushed aside a pair of class B schools Saturday in a Caro tournament. Both games featured fine pitching by the Hawks and their opponents. Cass City met Cros-Lex and Parrish hurled a neat 2-hit, one walk shutout as the Hawks' 6 hits and a walk produced a 3-0 decision. Cass City scored in the first inning on a pair of walks and a single by Parrish. The Hawks added another run in the fourth as Moore lashed a triple and scored a moment later. An insurance run was racked up in the sixth as Lauren Bennett opened with a single, her second hit of the game, and came around on a hit by Megan VanVliet. The Hawks rolled to their second win of the day with a 3-1 decision over the Caro Tigers. Cass City scored twice in the third as Parrish walked and Dillon and VanVliet singled. The Hawks' final run of the game was racked up on a walk and errors. An opening single by Emily Koehler and a Hawk error in the last inning accounted for the Tigers' only score in the game. Carly Rabideau was the winning hurler, allowing 3 hits while walking a pair. Ellis took the loss. BAD AXE TOPPLED The Hawks had their hitting togs on against Bad Axe and mercied the Hatchets in both ends of the doubleheader in Cass City. In game one the Hatchets opened with a lead-off hit by Ashley Bensinger, who scored on a Hawk error. That proved to be the only run for Bad Axe as Amanda Langenburg hurled a fine 4-hit, one walk game. Trailing by a run, it didn't take Cass City long to start a scoring parade. When it was over, Cass City had mercied the Hatchets with a 12-1 victory. The Hawks scored 2 in the first, 4 in the third, 2 in the fourth and ended it with 4 more runs in the fifth. Cass City wrapped up 8 hits to go with 7 walks. Dillon and Maddie Dooley led the hit parade with 2 hits each. The nightcap provided an easy win for Rabideau as her teammates wore out the path to the bases with a 17-1 decision. She allowed just 2 hits while walking 4. Eight players contributed hits led by Parrish with 4 hits in 4 trips and Rabideau with 3 hits in 4 trips. Bennett, Parrish and Langenburg each scored 3 runs.

Bulldogs set up showdown with Memphis

Owen-Gage did its part to set up Thursday's North Central Thumb League showdown with Memphis. The 2 division leaders, the YellowJackets in the NCTL-S and the Bulldogs in the NCTL-N, will enter the Owendale contest, where they hope to prove who's the NCTL's best squad, holding identical marks in conference play. Coach Doug Hyatt has to feel good entering the conference's marquee game to date, as his Bulldogs improved to 8-2 (11-7 overall) with a doubleheader sweep Thursday against host North Huron. The visitors slugged out a 9-5 win in game one and then captured game 2 in dramatic fashion, winning 10-9 in extra innings. Hyatt was most impressed that his Lady Bulldogs never quit after trailing in both games and rallied to earn come-from-behind wins. Also in each game, the Warriors were able to knock both starting pitchers from the hill, only to see the Bulldog relief pitcher receive credit for the win. In game one, the Bulldogs trailed 5-3 entering the 6th inning where they plated 4 runs that proved enough for victory. Offensively, April Nowaczyk and Amanda Faist were both 2 for 4 with a pair of RBIs to lead the Bulldogs. For North Huron, Jodie Pettit, who handled the pitching duties and suffered the loss, had 2 hits and Nicole Church added 2 RBIs. Bulldog hurler Lauren Mandich earned the win in relief of Mariah Francis. In game 2, the see-saw affair ended in the 8th frame when Allyson Brown scored the game winner on a fly ball off the bat of Sara Lesoski. Facing a 9-5 deficit, Owen-Gage rallied in the 6th inning on a 3-run triple off the bat of Katie Rhodes. At the plate, Faist was 2 for 4 for the Bulldogs, while Samriny Radabaugh and Shonna Elliot each doubled. North Huron's Sarah Piotter clubbed a homer, while Pettit had 3 hits and Sara Clancy had 2 safeties. Bulldog Francis earned the credit on the hill in relief of Mandich.

Cass City golfers win

The Cass City golf team continued to roll Thursday, posting a 162-188 victory over visiting Mayville in a Greater Thumb Conference crossover outing held at Rolling Hills Golf Course.

Matt Hallwood was the match medallist, carding a score of 38 to lead Cass City on the par 35 course. The Red Hawks also had Darrin Howard and Paul Rubey with identical scores of 40, while Aaron Bader completed the hosts' scoring with 44.

For the Wildcats, Blake Buckmaster posted a 39, while Nathan Hopp and Kyle Aiken both shot 48 and Corey Kelley added a 53.

Cass City improves defense on ball fields

Combine good hitting with fine pitching and it's likely that a victory will be the result. That's what happened in the first game of a doubleheader Thursday at home against the Reese Rockets. The Hawks won 6-0 behind the one-hit, one walk pitching of Brent Doerr. It was the team's first win in the Greater Thumb West. Travis VanAlst took the loss.

Coach Nathan Haag said that the team took a giant step forward defensively in the game against Reese.

The Hawks won the opener with a 3-run splurge in the third and then followed up with a pair of runs in the fifth and another in the sixth.

Leading the offense was Trevor Phillips with 2 hits in 3 trips and an RBI; Lukas Varney added a double and RBI, and a double and 2 runs were scored by Steven Schotter. Zack Abell drove in 2 runs and Austin Babich dove in 2 runs and scored another with a key hit.

Reese bounced back in the nightcap as James Stockmeyer bested Babich in a pitching duel, 3-2.

The Rockets had forged into the lead with single runs in the first, third and fifth innings. The Hawks rallied with a pair of counters in the sixth inning, but couldn't push over the tying run. Stockmeyer did not walk a batter and struck out 4. Babich allowed one earned run, 5 hits, walked 2 and struck out 6.

Babich rapped 2 hits in 3 tries and drove in a run. Chris Childs doubled and scored. Varney had a hit and scored a run and Schotter and Clinton Ellis each had a hit.

TOURNAMENT

Much of the action in the 2 games played Saturday in the Birch Run Invitational was compressed into the final innings.

In the first game the Hawks lost 4-3 to OA Carlson. Cass City was in front, 3-0, at the end of 5 innings when the winners staged a 4-run rally to win the game. Lukas Varney was the loser in relief. He allowed 4 hits and 3 walks in 3 innings on the mound.

The outcome was reversed in the second game. After allowing Perry to come from behind with 5 runs in the last inning, the Hawks rallied to score 3 runs in their half of the inning to win. After the first 4 batters reached base, Doerr popped out and a wild pitch allowed Varney to score. Wild throws allowed Childs to score the winning run from second base.

SKY HIGH

Summersett newest school record holder at Cass City

It has been a record-setting season for several Cass City thinclads.

First came Austin Babich's new school mark in the 200-meter dash. Next came Jennica Richards' record-setting performance in the 100-meter hurdles. Last week, it was Chris Summersett's turn.

Summersett established a new standard in the high jump during a triangular meet in Unionville when he skied 6' 5.25". Tim Englehart set the previous record at 6' 4.25" in 1991.

Summersett's effort also returns the high jump mark to the family bloodline as his grandfather, Wally Hempton, held the Cass City mark until 1976 at 6' 3".

"Chris is one of the most naturally talented athletes. I think we have only tapped into a small part of what he is capable of doing. He has unlimited potential in so many facets of the athletic arena and with some dedicated hard work this will not be the only record he will break," coach Scott Cuthrell said.

Summersett was one of 4 individual Red Hawk winners at Wednesday's meet helping Cass City to a winning total of 74.5 points, while Uby finished as the runner up with 53.5 and host USA tallied 44.

Lukas Varney was Cass City's only individual double winner at the meet claiming the 1600-meter run in 4:43 and the 3200-meter run in 10:38. Also for the winners, Chris Childs earned the 800-meter title with a time of 2:13 and Mark Koepf won the pole vault with a height of 13'.

On the girls' side, Uby edged the Patriots, 81-71, for the team title and Cass City finished a distant third with 16 points.

Richards was a double winner for Cass City in both hurdle events. She won the 100-meter event in 16:51 and the 300-meter race in 50.14.

REESE INVITE

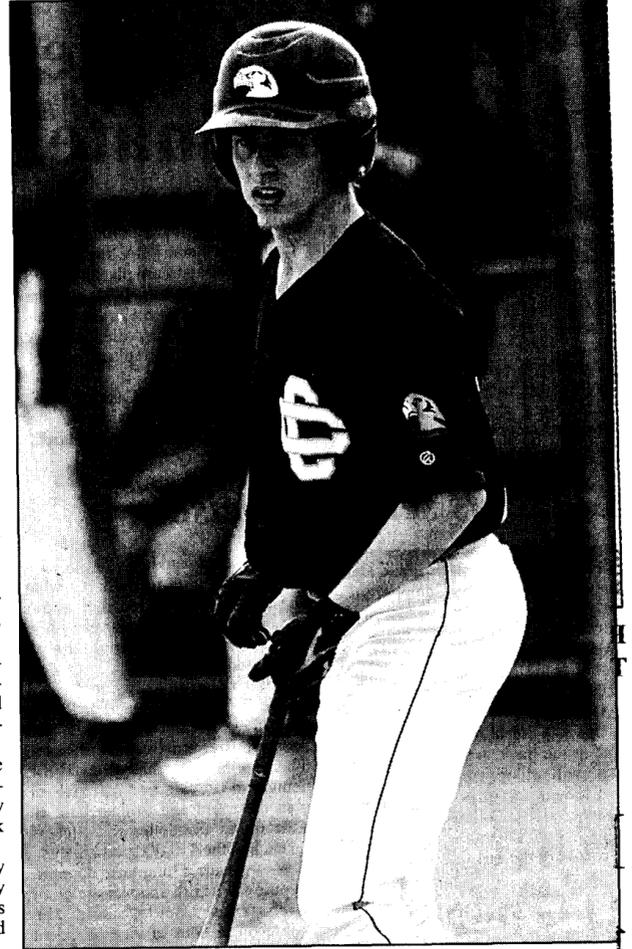

Friday the Hawks finished third at the 8-school Reese Invitational. The Rockets captured their own event with 158 points, while neighboring Frankenmuth was the runner-up with 129.5. The complete team standings also had Cass City with 84, Valley Lutheran 49, Harbor Beach 36.5, Marlette 31, USA 25, and Sandusky 10.

Varney turned in Cass City's best showing on the track with the team's only winning time of 10:26 during the 3200-meter. Varney also had a pair of top 3 finishes in the 1600-meter (4:37) and 800-meter (2:06) runs for the Hawks.

In the field events, Koepf won the pole vault with a height of 13' while Chris Zawilinski was the runner-up and Summersett placed third as both jumpers cleared 6'.

Childs in the 1600-meter (4:44), and Summersett in the 400-meter (53.25) dash were Cass City's other top 3 place winners at the meet.

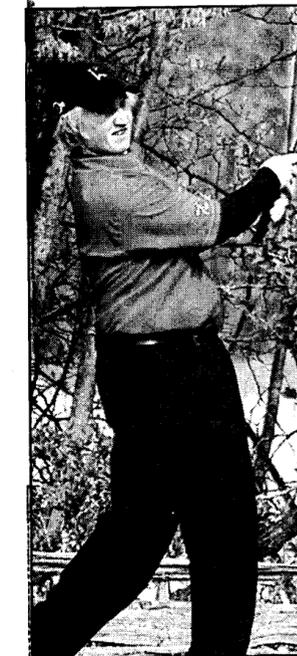

Turning to the girls' field, Richards finished the runner up in the 100-meter (16.66) hurdles and 4th in the 300-meter (51.15) hurdles for Cass City, which accumulated just 12 team points.

STEVE SHOTTER looks for a sign in Thursday's GTW tilt with Reese. He doubled and scored twice in Cass City's game one victory.

DARRIN HOWARD shot 40 Thursday to help his Red Hawks defeat visiting Mayville 162-188.

MATT HALLWOOD fired a 38 Thursday to earn medallist honors for Cass City at Rolling Hills Golf Course.

Owen-Gage no match for Warriors

The Owen-Gage Bulldogs bowed to potent North Huron in both ends of a doubleheader Thursday as the North Central Thumb League North leaders posted an 8-2 decision in the opener and followed it with an 18-2 victory in the nightcap.

Nick Zaleski took the loss and Mike Nienaltowski hurled a 5-hitter for the Warriors in the first game.

Key blow for the winners was a round tripper with 2 mates aboard by Anthony Irving.

The Bulldogs' Brent Reil, Devin Prich, Brandon Dubs and Hunter Champagne each picked up a hit and Justin Trupe walked twice.

John Iseler, Myke Schmidt and Nienaltowski had a pair of hits each for North Huron.

Owen-Gage jumped off to a 2-1 lead in the first inning of the second game, but after that it was all North Huron as the Warriors scored early and often to take the one-sided win. Kurt Dyhe pitched the distance, allowing 5 hits. He also contributed a strong day at the plate with 3 hits, including 2 triples. Also with 2 hits for North Huron were Cam and Myke Schmidt, Irving, Peterson, Erik Dyhe and Justin Ventline.

For the Bulldogs, Reil, Prich and Zaleski were each one for 2.

Academic Games teams dominate

Cass City High School students dominated the competition during the annual Tuscola County Academic Games competition held recently at Saginaw Valley State University, where they competed in testing and group projects in 5 different areas.

Cass City's teams claimed first place in the math, English and technology categories, and clinched second place in science and social studies. In all, 6 schools competed, with Caro and Vassar taking second and third places, respectively, in math. Caro finished first and USA third in science, Vassar and Caro placed second and third in English, USA was the winner and Mayville was third in social studies, and Mayville and USA took second and third place, respectively, in technology.

Jim Green, one of the Cass City Academic Games coaches, said it was the strongest finish for the Red Hawks in recent memory.

Students set to exercise

Continued from page one. have always stressed the importance of physical activity and sports in our lives and the lives of our children - we'd like to encourage all Michigan families to step up and get moving in 2008," Granholm said.

At Campbell Elementary School, students will celebrate ACES by meeting at the track, where students and staff will walk/jog together.

Elementary physical education teacher Betsy Dillon said the Cass City School District is committed to improving the health and fitness of each and every student. "ACES is a great opportunity to reinforce what the students have learned about physical fitness during the year, while having fun with our school family," Dillon added.

Michigan's efforts are coordinated by the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health and Sports, and sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance. Their sponsorship has allowed the council to provide free materials to plan the event and to distribute an educational newsletter and stickers for each of the 450,000 participants.

"We've made a long-term commitment to the health and well-being of Michigan residents," said Jim Robinson, executive vice president of Farm Bureau Insurance.

ACES was founded by New Jersey physical education instructor Len Saunders in 1989. Saunders wanted to encourage his students to be more physically active. Now in its 20th year, the program reaches millions worldwide. A number of national organizations support the effort, including the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, National Recreation and Parks Association, and the National Association for Health and Fitness.

Softball players' trip an absolute success

by Coach Josh Stern
 Cass City Softball Coach

During spring break the Cass City High School softball players went to spring training in Orlando, Fla. This was the second trip for the program, with the first coming in 2005. This year's trip saw 12 players and 7 adult chaperones attend.

With an early flight Sunday morning, the team stayed near Detroit Metro Airport Saturday night, and then began their week by waking up at 5:30 a.m. to catch their flight. At 5:30 a.m., the temperature in Detroit was a chilly 34 degrees, but 5 hours later in Orlando, the temperature was already in the 70s.

From the airport, the team boarded a bus that took them directly to their hotel, Disney's All Star Sports Resort at Walt Disney World. As the team began to prepare for practice, the sunny Florida skies turned to gray and the skies opened as it began to rain and it would not stop raining for well over 12 hours. With practice canceled by the Disney spring training staff, the team headed off to Disney's Hollywood Studios in the pouring rain. Tower of Terror and Rock-n-Roller Coaster were favorites of the night.

The next morning, the team rose early to head to practice at 7:30 a.m. Disney's Wide World of Sports complex is a beautiful facility and even with torrential rains all day and night, the next morning there were no signs of rain on the fields. The girls worked hard for 3 hours in the hot Florida sun and it was only the second practice the girls had even had outside due to uncooperative weather this spring in Michigan. That afternoon and evening would be spent at the Magic Kingdom. The girls saw 2 parades, a fireworks show, and rode nearly all the rides in the park.

The Lady Hawks finally had the chance to sleep in and then headed off for another 3-hour practice in which they accomplished a lot and had the best practice of the season. The Michigan High School Athletic Association prohibits teams from Michigan from doing anything but practice when traveling more than 400 miles round trip, outside of the state. Watching other teams play games on gorgeous fields in beautiful weather was the hardest thing for the players to deal with on their trip. The rest of the day was spent at Disney's Blizzard Beach and in Downtown Disney for dinner and shopping.

The team hit EPCOT on the last full day in Florida and rode Mission: Space, Test Track and Soaring. They also squeezed in a lunch with the Disney “OLYMPIC ATHLETES” gathered Saturday at Rawson Memorial District Library, which hosted one of its “You Can’t Do That at the Library” events. The activities included a torch relay, Olympic Pictionary and a triathlon.

“Walk-a-Mile” event set

Michigan’s 46 Community Mental Health Services Programs are hosting “Walk-a-Mile In My Shoes”, a rally at the state Capitol, Wednesday, May 14, and Tuscola County residents will be on site supporting this effort to combat stigma. May is Mental Health Awareness Month, and the Michigan Association of Community Mental Health Boards (MACMHB) and Tuscola Behavioral Health Systems (TBHS) are encouraging mental health and developmental disability supporters and others to attend the fourth annual event, designed to raise awareness of mental health services in Michigan and combat stigmatization among the public and policymakers regarding mental health and developmental disability disorders.

The rally starts at 1:30 p.m. on the front lawn of the Michigan Capitol. More than 1,500 advocates are expected to participate this year.

Susan Rickwalt-Holder, director of Marketing and Training Services at Tuscola Behavioral Health Systems, said the rally helps showcase the importance of addressing issues facing people with mental illness, developmental disabilities and those with addictive disorders.

“We have marched in the rally since its inauguration in 2005. We took part in the successful rally in 2006 and 2007. We are excited to become a part of the impressive 2008 Walk a Mile in My Shoes Rally, and we are eager to once again join advocates from across the state to bring our message to the public,” Rickwalt-Holder said. “There is a compelling need to continue to work and understand the realities of mental health and illness, in order to make improvements in our current system.”

In Michigan, one in 5 adults will experience a mental health disorder at some point in their life, yet many of them cannot access the treatment they need.

This fourth annual rally will feature representatives from Michigan’s 46 Community Mental Health Services Programs, and advocates from each of Michigan’s 83 counties, who want to promote a higher awareness of mental health issues among the public, media and legislators, will walk a symbolic mile from the 4 corners of the Capitol front lawn and converge on the front steps of the Capitol.

Mental health supporters will provide statements on mental health disorders and developmental disabilities in an effort to bring attention to the wide range of the Michigan population who are affected.

The event is slated to run until 3 p.m., after which attendees are encouraged to visit the offices of state lawmakers to promote important mental health and developmental disability issues such as insurance parity and the necessity of state budget support for mental health programs and local community mental health facilities.
