Rotary sees slight dip in gift requests

by Tom Montgomery Editor

Cass City Rotary Club members have once again made their lists and checked them twice, shopped 'till they dropped, then bagged and tagged their way to another successful Christmas for Kids campaign.

"The numbers were down a little bit this year — probably (by) 10 to 15 families, which is a good thing," Rotary Club member Pat Curtis said of this year's effort to help ensure that Christmas morning is very merry for dozens of youngsters residing in the Cass City School District.

Curtis said contributions were plentiful during the campaign, now in its 15th year. "There was a lot of good community support," he added.

Among the organizations lending a hand was Rawson Memorial District Library, which took in a record number of books — more than 300 — to donate towards the cause this year.

THE AREA'S first significant winter storm of this season left a thick coating of ice on just about everything, resulting in headaches for motorists across the state over the weekend. Tens of thousands of Mid-Michigan residents lost power, according to published reports, which indicated the impact was less severe in the Thumb, where DTE officials stated some 6,000 customers were without electricity in Still, Stewart did make the trip, and she left with several bags filled with gifts. And, it didn't cost her a penny. Stewart says a gentleman she had never met before covered her tab without a word. The anonymous gentleman has a reputation for embracing a practice known as "paying it forward" - sharing his own resources with others and asking nothing in return with the exception that they, too, "pay it forward" for someone else when they are able.

"I was purchasing five of the $2 bags (of merchandise), and the lady at the counter told me that someone paid for my purchases," Stewart recalled. "I had tears in my eyes and my heart fluttered. That $10 meant a lot to me. My children got a lot of Please turn to page 10.

There's a new cop in Sanilac County, and Sheriff Garry Biniecki says he anticipates the latest recruit will be an asset to his department and to the communities he'll serve in the coming months and years.

The new officer hasn't marked his second birthday yet, but he's already patrolling the streets and getting to know his territory, according to Biniecki.

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Health insurance focus of workshop

To assist residents to learn how to Insurance Needs; My Health make a smart choice about health insurance, Huron County Michigan State University Extension will host free Smart Choice workshops Monday, Jan. 13, from 1 to 3 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Huron Expo Center, 170 W. Soper Rd., Bad Axe.

Research shows that almost all consumers are confused about how to purchase and use health insurance. Many people are not comfortable with the terms and rules of health insurance plans. Many consumers don't have confidence in their decisions.

With the passage of the Affordable Care Act and the recent opening of statewide health insurance marketplaces in Michigan and elsewhere, a focus has been directed toward important issues involving health insurance. MSU Extension wants to help consumers take control of their personal and family financial and health needs with the Smart Choice for Health Insurance workshops.

The Smart Choice program offers tools to give people confidence and help them build their smart shopping skills.

Through the Smart Choice program, participants will find tools they can use, such as definitions (you will need to understand health insurance), Sample insurance plans (to show how insurance plan information will look), Worksheets (to help vou make vour own Smart Choice insurance purchasing decision. Worksheets include My Health Insurance Plan Comparison; My Monthly Spending Plan)

Registration is required. Call the Huron MSUE Office at (989) 269-9949, (ext. 602) to register.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus

Eight-year-old Virginia O'Hanlon wrote a letter to the editor of New York's Sun, and the quick response was printed as an unsigned editorial Sept. 21, 1897. The work of veteran newsman Francis Pharcellus Church has since become history's most reprinted newspaper editorial, appearing in part or whole in dozens of languages in books, movies, and other editorials, and on posters and stamps. We present it again to our readers for their enjoyment.

DEAR EDITOR: I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in THE SUN it's so.' Please tell me the truth; is there a Santa Claus?

VIRGINIA O'HANLON. 115 WEST NINETY-FIFTH STREET."

VIRGINIA, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except [what] they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, VIRGINIA, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no VIRGINIAS. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Slices of Life by Jill Pertler Affluenza - blame the parents

As a self-professed fan of the English language, I like four separate occasions - each episode lasting the better part of nine months. to think I stay hip with our ever-evolving lingo, but I learned a new vocabulary word this week. It came to

A logical person might not buy this affluenza defense. In fact, she might go so far as to say affluenza isn't real and is a fancy term made up by some rich person's hired psychologist. I'd tend to agree with this - if logic were the issue here

Some things – like flying reindeer or putting a dead tree in your living room – are just too illogical not to be logical. You couldn't make up something so outrageous. Affluenza fits comfortably into this category. It's too bizarre not to be the real deal.

As a parent, this worries the heck out of me – not about my kids contracting affluenza (we should be so lucky). My concerns are bigger and more widespread.

Consider the implications: if kids can blame their problems on their parent's wealth, what's next? For the last 20 years, I have been a completely imperfect parent and could be accused of spreading any one of a number of afflictions to my children including strictodystrophy, dowithout syndrome, no-means-noriasis, lose-my-temperitis, procrastipation, and acute crabbiosis - to name just a few.

It's pretty clear; I've been a veritable wrecking ball in my kids' lives. They're so messed up, they'll probably never catch affluenza and will be forced endure a plain, everyday existence like mine: One where there isn't enough money to really count, but we feel rich – in all the ways that matter.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did vou ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, VIRGINIA, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood

Baker College officials name Thumb native new president

Regents has announced that Thumb native Wendy "Wen" Hemingway will become president of Baker College of Flint when Dr. Julianne Princinsky retires Aug. 31, 2014. Hemingway will join Baker College Jan. 2, to serve as chief operating officer during the transition.

Following a 20-year career in retail commercial banking, and Hemingway has spent the past six years in entrepreneurial endeavors, including manufacturing, consulting and leading a real estate company she founded.

'It's difficult to imagine Baker College of Flint without Dr. Princinsky," said F. James Cummins, Baker College System president. "She has advanced the college in many ways during her 18-year tenure as president. However, Ms. Hemingway possesses outstanding executive abilities and is well suited to leverage her corporate and entrepreneurial experience to benefit Baker College and its single, focused goal of preparing others for meaningful careers."

Hemingway held positions in the retail and commercial divisions of NBD, National City Corporation, Fifth Third Bank and Citizens Banking Corporation, where she advanced to senior vice presidentdirector of commercial sales.

In 2008, she turned to entrepreneurial interests. She helped launch and manage Shadowood Technology, a retrofitter of diesel engines developing an emerging technology. As an independent consultant, she specialized in mergers and acquisitions,

"I am honored to become a part of more than a century of tradition in providing the most focused approach to education and training available,"

Wendy "Wen" Hemingway

Hemingway said. "I look forward to continuing the work necessary for our graduates to be successful throughout challenging and rewarding careers."

Hemingway is well known to the Baker College community. She has served as a member of the Baker College of Flint Board of Regents 2008. She has also been a trustee for City, 75 miles northeast of Flint.

development, vendor management, and a director of the Jewell Educational Fund for the past two vears.

Hemingway earned an MBA in accounting from Wayne State University. At Oakland University, she received a Bachelor of Science in human resource development with a specialization in training and development and a minor in management with a concentration in labor studies. She is also a certified treasury professional (CTP) as designated by the Association for Financial Professionals. A Mayville native, she resides in Lapeer County.

As a trustee for McLaren Oakland, Hemingway serves as board treasurer, chair of the finance committee and a member of the audit committee Princinsky's tenure with Baker College of Flint spans 38 years, beginning in 1976 as an instructor. She became president in 1995. Under her tutelage, Baker's enrollment has grown from nearly 3,300 to more than 5,000 students today. She was the first female president of a Flint-based college and the first woman president within the Baker College system.

Baker College of Flint is the largest of the 12 Baker College campuses. It employs more than 600 instructors, staff and other support personnel at three locations: the 40-acre main campus on Flint's southern border; the Center for Transportation Technology at I-69 and Dort Highway on 11 acres in the City of since 2006 and as chairperson since Flint; and a satellite campus in Cass Cass City reeled off 14 unanswered points Thursday to open its non-conference affair with guest Almont and never looked back enroute to a 52-42 victory. After pouring in a season-high 26 points just 2 days earlier, Red Hawk center Chris Summersett served notice to the Greater Thumb West Conference that he'll be an offensive force to reckon with, as he pumped in a game-high 24 markers while leading the hosts over the Raiders.

Members of the Cass City Rotary Club finished up their final packing chores Saturday morning at the Curtis Chrysler dealership in Cass City. With an outpouring of support from the community, the club was able to serve 135 families during this year's Christmas for Kids campaign. Cass City Middle School students in Ryan Walker's seventh grade class brought in food items, a host of presents and opted to give up the pizza party they earned earlier in the year, instead donating their $50 prize to an 'adopted' Thumb area family.

Santa Claus (Sing to Yankee Doodle) by Brandon Miller, 9th grade, Cass City High School -Santa Claus comes to town, Riding behind a reindeer. Throws a present in a house, And hopes the people like it. CHORUS: Santa Claus get going, Big Red Santa Claus. Make sure you don't miss a house, Big Red Santa Claus. - Santa Claus don't be late, Everybody is waiting for you. If you're late they might get mad, And hit you with a snowball.

Cass City Intermediate School officials recently announced their "motivated" students of the month for December. They are sixth graders Nathan Mastie, Andrea Speirs, John Rae and Jenny Laming, and fifth graders Danny Sherman, Ed Hartwick and Leann Foster.

Barbara Hutchinson, librarian at Rawson Memorial Library in Cass City, received a check for $125, representing a payment of 20 cents per gallon for each gallon of gas sold during a specified period during the grand opening of People's Choice Market in Cass City. Other donations made included $135 to the Cass City Student Council and $160 to the Cass City Band Boosters.

Gavel Club officials have estimated that Santa Claus handed out between 300-400 packages of candy to area youngsters Friday evening, Dec. 20. Club members, giving Santa an assist during his busy season, packed approximately 800 packages of candy. Candy not given out Friday was left with Santa to give to children who had missed out.

Consumers Power natural gas service to Gagetown was approved by five votes more than was needed to meet the 60 percent of the total vote required for ratification during an election held Wednesday, Dec. 18, in the village. Mrs. Vernon Beachy, village clerk, reports that 117 ballots were cast with 74 "yes" votes and 42 "no" votes. One ballot was spoiled. Santa Claus received more orders for color television sets for area homes this year than ever before, according to reports from Cass City's two leading television centers.

The increase in color sets in the area is in keeping with the general buying trend across the nation, following recent color receiving improvements and reduction in prices. "In a few speculates years,' Bud Schneeberger, of Schneeberger TV Sales and Service, "there will be just as many color sets as black and white." Thumb Appliance Center's Zenith color sales are holding their own, reports Harold and Stan Asher. "We started selling color sets a little, over a year ago," Stan recalls, "and sales this year are somewhat ahead of last year."

O-G plays, then stays, at northern Michigan island gym

Owen-Gage used a successful road trip last week to run the Bulldogs' early season boys' basketball record to 5-0.

It was no ordinary road trip for Coach Steve Hollocker's gang.

We went to Mackinac Island played Tuesday night, spent the night on their gym floor and then played Vanderbilt (Wednesday) on our way back down," Hollocker said.

The Bulldogs defeated their island hosts 58-31 and Vanderbilt, 70-44.

Four Bulldogs reached double figures in Wednesday's victory over Vanderbilt, led by Jake Wright with 18 points, while Dan Good scored 16 and Ben Good, 15, for the winners, who also had Quinn Smith tack on 14 markers.

A day earlier, the entire Bulldog roster entered the score book on their way to an island victory. Owen-Gage leaped out in front 22-9 after one period and never looked back in the non-conference contest.

Wright and Ben Good finished with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

LADY 'DOGS

The Owen-Gage girls' team also made the trip to northern Michigan last week and split tilts with hosts Mackinac Island and Vanderbilt.

Mackinac Island squeaked out a 34-32 decision over the Lady Bulldogs, who were able to bounce back to defeat Vanderbilt, 50-33.

Harbor Beach showed no effect numerous shots in the lane, where Wednesday and cruised to an easy Greater Thumb Conference crossover boys' basketball win.

Cass City was the victim in the nonconference contest and was delivered their maiden loss with a 62-33 drubbing.

The hosts went on a 10-0 spurt midway through the opening frame and enjoyed a 14-5 margin entering the second quarter. There Harbor Beach increased the gap to 27-12 at the 0(0-2)2. intermission.

Eli Kraft took over after the break points in the third to help build a 46-27 difference on the score board entering the final stanza.

Coach Clarke Haire says Cass City played its best game since he took the helm in 2012 last Tuesday against visiting Vassar in the Greater Thumb West opener for both schools.

Despite suffering a 43-31 setback, Cass City battled the Vulcans from start to finish.

"We decided before the game to push the ball up the floor and look points and Elizabeth Cypha regisfor a shot before Vassar's defense could force us into our half court

It was one step forward and two the frame sliced the margin to 10 points, but could get no closer on the night.

"From day one, I've always told the girls to compete. They came to play against Vassar. If we can challenge Vassar, we should be able to battle most teams in the Thumb," Haire said.

Chambers finished with 7 points and Erika Martin added 5 for Cass City.

Vassar's Rebecca Huizar posted 9 tered 7.

USA

says DNR

Michigan's 2013 firearm deer season is now in the books, and challenging conditions and lower deer numbers in some areas have likely led to fewer deer being taken this year, according to the Department of Natural Resources. Firearm season deer check-station activity declined in all regions of the state compared to 2012.

Each year the DNR generates preliminary estimates of the firearm deer harvest shortly after the season closes on Nov. 30. Those estimates are replaced by a rigorous assessment of harvest and participation over all deer seasons using an annual hunter mail survey.

The 2013 firearm deer season harvest appears to have decreased in all regions this year, but particularly in the Upper Peninsula and southern Lower Peninsula. Experiences can differ widely within regions; DNR biologists estimate the harvest (compared to 2012) was down perhaps 15 to 20 percent across the Upper Peninsula, decreased only slightly in the northern Lower Peninsula, and declined perhaps 10 percent in the southern Lower Peninsula.

"Deer populations in the Upper Peninsula are feeling the effects of late and heavy snowfall last winter, and in some areas of southern Michigan are still recovering from an extensive outbreak of epizootic hemorrhagic disease two summers ago," said Brent Rudolph, DNR Wildlife Division Deer and Elk Program leader.

"A new antler point restriction in 12 counties of the northern Lower Peninsula has added protection for young bucks," noted Ashley Autenrieth, Wildlife Division deer biologist for the northern regions, "so we expected buck harvest in that region to be lower for at least a year."

Severe weather conditions, warmerthan-average temperatures and concentrations of standing corn that provide secure cover for deer also contributed to adverse hunting conditions in some locations. A recent national survey highlighted that persistence pays off, particularly when conditions are not ideal. Successful deer hunters hunted an average of 18 days, which is longer than the entire sets. That gave us some open looks in the first half."

Kara Reif made the most of Cass City's up tempo attack and had the hosts trailing just 14-9 after one quarter and 27-16 after two. Several times the senior forward used a shot fake from the wing that allowed her to penetrate into the lane. There she made good on 3 field goal attempts and finished with a career-high 12 points to lead Cass City.

Vassar also was able to gain access to the lane on the night and holding in transition. They found our wing the key was senior LaTonya Wilson. She recorded game scoring honors with 22 points, including 16 before the intermission.

Wilson is the best player that we have faced this year. She is quick, can jump, and will hurt you from outside and inside. She was the difference tonight," said Haire.

Vassar held Cass City to a Shania Chambers field goal in the third quarter and entered the final 8 minutes with a 36-18 advantage.

To Cass City's credit, they never surrendered and mid-way through Cass City entered Thursday's GTW match-up against USA with high hopes after their promising showing against Vassar. The Patriots, however, squashed the visitors' new found optimism with a relentless defense during the lopsided 55-5 defeat.

The visitors were held scoreless from the field on the night.

"Give credit to USA's defense. They did a good job of getting back players quickly and didn't allow any easy shots," said Haire.

Martin had Cass City's only points in the opening half. Her charity tosses put Cass City on the score board near the end of the initial stanza, and despite a sluggish start, the guests trailed by single digits entering the period before the break.

That quickly changed as USA scored the game's next 24 points and led 35-2 at the break. USA then used a 12-1 run in the third period and an 8-2 run in the final period to complete the beat down.

"I think our girls have a mental block when it comes to USA. This wasn't the type of game I wanted to enter Christmas break on."

Hunter Langenburg and Martin each scored 2 points for Cass City.

USA's Erika Fritz led all scorers with 14 markers, while Stephanie Neuman and Samatha Ewald split 26 tallies.

Curtis wasn't far off when he predicted the club's 2013 drive to collect toys, clothing and other items would be similar to that seen in recent years. It's a need the local Rotary Club has managed to meet with the help of the community. Last year's campaign concluded with volunteers serving roughly 116 families — more than 330 children in the local school district.

K-9 on patrol in Sanilac Co.

'Baki', an 18-month-old "К-9 German Shepherd, officially joined the ranks and began patrolling the streets on Monday, Dec. 9, along with his partner, Deputy Josh Horst,' Biniecki said.

Just three days earlier, Horst and Baki graduated from the intense, five-week Basic Canine Handler's Course through the Mid-Michigan Kennels in Eaton Rapids. Baki is considered a "dual purpose explosives detective and patrol dog" and will assist with tracking, area and article searches, according to Biniecki.

"K-9 Baki replaces K-9 Adam, who retired in May of 2013 after serving seven years; and K-9 Kaye, who retired in March 2012 after five years of service," the sheriff noted. "Both retired K-9 Adam and K-9 Kaye are enjoying retirement with their former handlers and their families.'

Paying it forward in village their Christmas presents that day, and I had extra gas for the week from that wonderful person (whose) kindness will...forever be in my heart."

Stewart wasn't familiar with the phrase, "pay it forward", but she knows all about the satisfaction that comes with giving. She still remembers seeing a little boy at the local thrift shop who wanted a comforter on one of the shelves, but his mother couldn't afford to buy it for him. Stewart's heart sank as she watched the boy, prompting her to step up and pay the bill herself.

"I just never thought it would happen to me," said Stewart, a regular customer at the Revive Ministries Thrift Shop.

"I go there every Tuesday. That's usually where I get my children's clothing — it's very clean and neat. It's really helpful," she said, adding she planned to do some Christmas shopping there as well last week, but was hesitant because she wasn't sure if she would have enough gasoline for the rest of the week.

"I was debating that day if I should even go," she recalled. "I had enough to afford it, but I was running a little low on money — I was counting change."

Jaime Fritz of Revive Ministries called the anonymous donation an awesome example of paying it forward in action.

"A customer left money to pay for the next individual's purchase. There was money left over, so the next individual's purchase was paid for. That individual then left money to pay for the next individual's purchase," Fritz said. "The customer just did it on their own. They left $10, which I believe turned into approximately $15. There were four customers that afternoon that had their purchases paid for.'

"I was very blessed that day," Stewart commented. "It was a great feeling and I'll never forget it. You just have no idea how it impacted me "

CASS CITY FIFTH grade student Raeven Periso, daughter of Kenneth and Liza Periso, and high school sophomore Jose Torres, the son of Heriberto Estupinan and Ana Herrera, were recently honored by the Cass City Board of Education and school staff after being named the latest recipients of the coveted Red Hawk Award of Excellence.

Periso, the daughter of Kenneth and Liza Periso, Deford, was nominated by teacher Andrea Ross.

"Raeven is an outstanding student and a wonderful role model for her peers. Her strong work ethic and determination to be the best she can be distinguish her from others her own age," Ross said in her nomination letter.

"I can't think of too many times she hasn't had that wide and friendly grin spread across her face," Ross added. "One day, not too long ago, I was having a rough morning. I was in the hall collecting myself and as I turned around to enter the classroom, there she was...wide-grinned and holding a bouquet of silk flowers for me. She said, 'Mrs. Ross, I was thinking about you and wanted to give you these'. Needless to say, the tears came and I put my arms around her and hugged her for her beautiful act of kindness.

"She touched my heart in an indescribable way that morning. That's Raeven; kind, generous and always thinking of others.
