HAWKS WI

by Clarke Haire Publisher

A hard hitting, swarming, defense keved Cass City's victory over host Ubly to kick off post season play in 2015. With the 34-6 Division 7 Pre-District win, the Red Hawks advance into the Region 2 District Final Friday where they will take on undefeated Sandusky. A win against the host Redskins would result in Cass City's first district title on the gridiron in school history.

"Our defense has kept us in every game and they proved it again. Come support your Red Hawks for the district title game in Sandusky," said Cass City Coach Scott Cuthrell.

While the Cass City defense dominated the action for most of the night, it didn't look like that would be the case early. The Bearcats took the opening kick and found pay dirt 2 plays later. But the touchdown didn't stand as the hosts were flagged on the scoring run.

With Ubly still deep in the red zone, Mason Erla intercepted an Ubly pass in the end zone momentslater to thwart the Bearcat scoring opportunity clock before the intermission Nick Perry gave Cass City a 6-0 advantage with a one-yard plunge.

Cass City would extend the gap to 14-0 on their next drive courtesy of Shaede Perzanowski who scored on a 21-yard sprint, followed by an Erla pass to Parker Haire for the points after. The Red Hawk marker was set up by the winners' defense that halted Ubly on a risky fourth down play in their own territory.

Another defensive stand on Ubly's next possession would hand the ball back to Cass City on downs. Erla would end the first half scoring when he rambled 44 yards to give the Red Hawks a demanding 21-0 edge entering the final half. While Erla provided plenty on hard hits from his defensive secondary spot, none were as loud as the thundering crash the senior quarterback made while plowing over an Ubly defender near the goal line for the final first half points.

Sawyer Cuthrell put Cass City on top 27-0 to start the final half, capping a 59 yard drive with a 3-yard dive

Ubly's Derek Brown sprinted 37yards with 4:27 left in the third to prevent the shutout. He led the Bearcats – who were limited to 225 on 18 carries.

Cass City, meanwhile, received a game-high 132 yards rushing from Cuthrell, while Perry pitched in 97 rushing yards and Perzanowski added 62.

Notwithstanding Cass City's offensive numbers, it was the Red Hawk defense that proved to be the difference

Haire, who was WLEW radio "Freak Nasty Player of the Week" following the Red Hawks' playoff win last year, was recognized for his efforts by MLive.com for his playoff performance in week one of the 2015

Union: district's bargaining tactic a disappointment

by Tom Montgomery Editor

Cass City Education Association (CCEA) officials called the local school board's decision to air specific details in the district's latest contract offer to teachers last week a "disappointment".

Union representatives Kris Milligan and Josh Stern, who sat down with the Chronicle for an interview Monday afternoon, also suggested there's no need to delay further negotiations until early 2016 - a situation school officials say is due to conflicting schedules. In fact, Milligan and Stern said, the

Sanilac Co. drug team bags mountain of pot

by Tom Montgomery Editor

Sanilac County Drug Task Force officers bagged a big one - in the form of more than 350 pounds of marijuana plants plus another 10-plus pounds of processed pot – while serving a search warrant in Sanilac County's Lamotte Township last week.

According to drug task force Director Jim Johnson, the regional drug team executed the warrant Tuesday at a residence in the north 2000 block of Lamton Road

"The search warrant was based on information and investigation of illegal marijuana (growing) and processed marijuana (possession) by the occupants of the residence," Johnson said.

"Results of the search warrant found in excess of 355 pounds of dried marijuana plants/plant remnants. There were 10 1/2 pounds of processed marijuana found in totes, boxes, jars and shelves throughout the home and out buildings," Johnson said. "Those items involved with having a grow oper-Please turn to page 6.

The kids will also polish their skills in the area of working with spreadsheets. "They'll be looking at how we can analyze and use data," he said.

The CAP is an auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force with three main missions to serve America: aerospace education, cadet programs for youth ages 12 to 20, and emergency response services such as search and rescue and homeland security.

The organization's roots date back to the 1930s, when more than 150,000 volunteers with a love for aviation argued for an organization to put their plane and flying skills to use in defense of their country. As a Talk to anyone who knew Bob Hirn and they'll tell you his was a life well lived.

From acquaintances to longtime friends, those who knew the Cass City man say he was a devoted husband and father who was proud of his family. And a man who dedicated his life to giving back to his community in more ways than most, freely sharing his myriad of skills and boundless energy, and always doing so with a smile on his face.

Hirn died last Wednesday, Oct. 28, at United Hospice of Marlette Residence Center in Marlette following a lengthy illness. He was 73.

"He was truly a remarkable man. He really was," Friends of the Thumb Octagon Barn President Rose Putnam said of Hirn, whose legacy in the Thumb includes playing a key role in restoring the historical Thumb Octagon Barn and helping to create the Thumb Octagon Barn Agricultural Museum near Gagetown.

Putnam recalled recruiting Hirn to join the Friends of the Thumb Octagon Barn shortly after he sold the Caro Building Center, which he had owned and operated until his retirement.

Dr. Donahue award goes to C. Bellew

The Hills and Dales General Hospital Foundation recently held its third annual Fall Donor Appreciation Dinner at Northwood Meadows in Cass City.

"Each year at the dinner, someone is honored with the Dr. H.T. Donahue Award. This individual is nominated by the foundation board and is dedicated to both Hills and Dales and the Cass City community," said Danielle Blaine, foundation director.

Hills and Dales Director of Pharmacy Craig Bellew was honored with this year's award.

"Not only does Craig handle the inpatient pharmacy services for Hills and Dales, he also was a key leader in the start of Hospital Drive Pharmacy," Blaine noted. "Craig is a mentor to employees and students, and is one of the biggest promoters of Hills and Dales. Additionally, Craig is very active in Rotary and serves on the school board for Cass City.'

Amish buggy collides with auto Thursday

by Tom Montgomery Editor

Sanilac County Sheriff's deputies investigated a traffic crash involving a car and an Amish buggy Thursday night in Greenleaf Township. Sgt. Paul Rich reported the deputies were dispatched to the intersection of Bay City-Forestville and Germania roads at 9:52 p.m.

"A 2002 Volkswagen Jetta, driven by 21-year-old Elizabeth Bowerman from Ubly, was traveling eastbound on Bay City-Forestville Road near the intersection of Germania Road when she struck an Amish buggy driven by 21-year-old Mose Kempf from Bad Axe," Rich said. "The Amish buggy was on Germania Road, south of the intersection, and was going to make a left turn into the westbound lane when he misjudged the distance of the car and turned in front of it."

The horse was injured in the collision and became loose from the buggy after impact, according to

The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) along with the Michigan Osteopathic Association (MOA) and Michigan State Medical Society (MSMS), are urging all Michigan residents to protect themselves against influenza (flu) and its potentially lifethreatening consequences by getting vaccinated.

The MDHHS Bureau of Laboratories has already confirmed the first cases of influenza in the state for the 2015-2016 flu season.

"Right now is the perfect time to get vaccinated to protect yourself and your family against the flu this season," says Eden Wells, M.D., chief medical executive with the MDHHS. "The flu is a serious and potentially life-threatening illness; it's not something to be taken lightly. In our communities and as health care professionals, it's important we all encourage our friends and family to remember to get their flu vaccine every year."

The first official week of the 2015-2016 flu season was October 4-10, and during that week state health officials confirmed the first cases of influenza in Michigan. One was confirmed as an influenza A (H1N1) virus, and three cases were confirmed as influenza A(H3N2) viruses. All of the cases were adults.

Flu is a contagious respiratory virus that often causes fever, sore throat, cough, body aches, and fatigue. People already infected with flu can spread the virus to others even before they feel sick. The flu vaccination is the single best way to prevent getting the flu and its complications.

Vaccines available in the 2015-2016 flu season were changed to include the drifted flu virus strain that widely circulated last year.

"The health of our communities depends on a strong flu vaccine program. It has never been easier to get a vaccine and the cases of influenza will be minimal if we have a

When you no longer have a dog, the world is a different place.

The barks of other dogs resound and seem louder than they were before. When a neighbor's dog barks and wakes you in the early morning or late night it doesn't so much annoy, but provokes a twinge of sadness.

When you no longer have a dog you don't have to worry about dog-hair dust bunnies or running out of dog treats. You don't ever have to read the label on dog food for the hundredth time to make sure real meat is the number one ingredient. You can save money at the grocery store because dog food is expensive.

When you no longer have a dog you notice other people with their dogs. It seems as though everyone else has one. They are walking on the street or playing fetch or posting cute dog photos on social media. Sometimes you scroll through them, other times you try not to.

When you no longer have a dog you can walk freely through your yard without constantly having to look down to avoid stepping in the doggy doo – although this takes some getting used to. It's hard to walk freely without looking down when you've done so for more than a decade.

When you no longer have a dog you can take an evening stroll without bringing a plastic bag along. You don't have to pause at every fire hydrant or telephone pole or carry the plastic bag home once it is full.

When you no longer have a dog and the humans in your life are unavailable, sometimes you take walks alone.

When you no longer have a dog leaving the house is simplified. You can be gone all day without having someone let the dog out or feed her lunch. You don't have to secure a spot at the kennel when you go on vacation. There's a certain freedom to that.

When you no longer have a dog there is no one to wag her tail when you come home. And when you return after a long weekend, you don't have to worry about anyone peeing on the floor because they are so glad to see you.

When you no longer have a dog shoes don't get chewed. No one chases the cats or drags her butt across the carpet. There are no dog toots to smell and you don't have to be concerned about anybody ransacking the neighbor's garbage and coming home with a tuna can stuck to her tongue.

When you no longer have a dog, you don't have anyone begging for a tummy rub. No one kisses you all over your face or sniffs you in unseemly places.

When you no longer have a dog, sometimes you dream about dogs and sometimes even about the one you used to have. Sometimes dogs can talk in your dreams. Those are the good dreams.

When you no longer have a dog and you hear creaks or noises from upstairs you automatically think it is your dog and then remember she is gone and it couldn't possibly be her. You wonder how long it will be before creaks and noises become just creaks and noises.

When you no longer have a dog, suddenly puppies take on a whole new level of cuteness and you think, "Maybe," but then just as soon, "Maybe not," because you know your heart isn't ready yet. It may never be. But you never know.

All this – good and bad – is okay, because if you no longer have a dog it means that at one time you did. In doing so, you experienced unconditional love and a companionship like none other. That is a gift. And I believe if you no longer have a dog, it is a gift waiting for you in heaven. Because all dog owners understand: it wouldn't be heaven if dogs weren't there.

Congratulations to Cass City's Sharon Hergenreder. She's the lucky winner – drawn from a hat of last week's Pink-or-Treat visitors at our Main Street office – of a one year Chronicle subscription.

More than 500 folks visited the Chronicle office Wednesday night and were treated to homemade cupcakes courtesy of Office Manger Krysta Boyce, Memory Lane writer Tina Pallas, and their sister Angela Forster during the village's breast cancer awareness campaign.

In all, the 3 local siblings handed out 500 cupcakes, 480 pink beaded necklaces and 175 bottle of water. Thanks girls!

strong response," said Dr. Anthony F. Ognjan, DO, FACP, of the MOA.

Everyone six months of age and older should receive a flu vaccine every flu season. It is especially important that children, adults aged 65 years and older, persons with chronic health conditions, and pregnant women get vaccinated against flu. Flu vaccination for pregnant women does not just protect the mother, it also protects her unborn baby.

Unfortunately, three influenza-associated pediatric deaths were reported in Michigan during the 2014-2015 flu season.

What is especially concerning is that flu vaccination coverage in Michigan's five- to 12-year-olds dropped considerably in the 2014-2015 flu season — down to 52 percent. And, according to Michigan Care Improvement Registry data, only nine percent of Michigan children ages six months to eight years who needed two doses of flu vaccine last season received both doses.

With the flu already confirmed in Michigan this season, there is no way to know when flu activity will be widespread in our community. That's why officials are urging all residents to get vaccinated against the flu before they are exposed to a flu virus.

It takes about two weeks to be fully protected after vaccination. There are multiple types of flu vaccine available this season, and more vaccines will be manufactured than ever before.

Don't wait – talk to your healthcare provider today about which flu vaccine is the best one for you.

result, the CAP was born just one week prior to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, which prompted the United States to declare war on that nation. Assigned to the War Department under the jurisdiction of the Army Air Corps, the contributions of the CAP included logging more than 500,000 flying hours, sinking two enemy submarines and saving hundreds of crash victims

Later, in 1940, then-President Harry S. Truman signed a law incorporating the CAP as a benevolent, nonprofit organization.

Woloshen's model rocket unit isn't his first attempt to give students a first-hand look at the dynamics of flight; two years ago he organized "Young Eagles Fly Day" at the Tuscola County Area Airport in Caro, where 16 of his students had the opportunity to take to the air to experience flying first-hand, courtesy of five volunteer pilots. In fact, thanks to a one-on-one pairing of student and pilot, each youth was allowed to take the controls for a portion of their flights.

Woloshen arranged the outing in conjunction with the Young Eagles, a national program of volunteers who provide, at no cost, an introduction to flight for youths ages eight to 17.

terms on the remaining unresolved issues without attorneys or a mediator present.

"I'm disappointed in the bargaining process and the fact that it was com-promised," Milligan, CCEA president, commented, referring to last week's monthly Cass City Board of Education meeting, where board President Alice Zaleski outlined specific items - from proposed pay increases to issues related to insurance, sick days and overload pay.

"In my 38 years, I've never seen a tactic like this," added Milligan, who noted the negotiations update was placed on the agenda at the beginning of the regular meeting, and after the "public comment" portion of the agenda, preventing the union from responding publicly at that time.

Zaleski offered a list of nearly a dozen concessions she said school officials have offered - but union bargainers have declined to accept, following months of bargaining that began last spring. The union's last contract expired in mid-August.

School officials said the union initially agreed to the school's latest offer, but later backed out pending the results of the district's 2014-15 fiscal year audit.

Milligan indicated the school's impromptu update wasn't complete because it was one-sided.

'There are two sides," she said. "Bargaining is give and take. They talked about what they're giving they didn't talk about what they're taking."

As it stands now, Zaleski said last week, bargainers -- who are working with a state mediator -- won't be returning to the negotiation table until January due to scheduling conflicts.

But waiting isn't necessary and will cost teachers, said Stern, a member of the CCEA bargaining team who pointed out any contract ratified now cannot, by law, be enacted retroactively. "So, as of Friday - nine weeks in (to the school year) -- a one percent raise is 75 percent of a one percent raise," he said.

As for the issues in the proposed contract that require attorneys, those have been resolved, according to Stern, who said there's no reason the two sides can't get together now to hammer out a contract.

School Supt. Jeff Hartel said last week that school officials are continuing to work with the union in an effort to come up with a contract contract could be near, they say local late October 2013, adopting a twoteachers deserve a fair shake - not only because they have repeatedly accepted concessions in the past when the district was facing hard financial times -- but because they have as much personally invested in the school district as anyone, especially considering how important the school system is to the community.

"Our teachers are going to work every day. They are going the extra mile for the kids – all of the extra things are happening," Milligan said. "Good things are happening for Cass City kids."

"What we're asking for for our teachers who are on 'steps', is that step (in pay)," Stern said. "We have teachers who have been here for eight years and are on their fourth for seven straight years and (frozen) steps for four years."

"When the district is trouble, the teachers take concessions and do what needs to be done," Milligan added.

While union officials agreed a new Both sides came to an agreement in year contract, which lifted a fivevear freeze on step pay. At the time, the board agreed to add $1 \frac{1}{2}$ percent to each step and move all instructors up a step.

The union, meanwhile, agreed to concessions that included increasing class sizes before "overload" pay kicks in.

The Cass City Public Schools' financial picture has improved significantly since the last teachers' contract was ratified. At that time, school officials were projecting a year-end fund balance of close to $800,000, an amount equal to 8.7 of the schools' 2013-14 general fund budget.

Although Cass City has continued to lost students, according to the disstep (because) we took zero raises trict's 2014-15 annual audit report, school officials were able to add $211,000 to the fund balance going into the current (2015-16) fiscal year, which began July 1. Currently, the fund balance stands at about $1.4 million.

Jim Hobbs walked away from a 32-year career in education in the Cass City Public Schools a year ago, but he hasn't abandoned his love of music in retirement. Hobbs, who spent the lion's share of his career teaching music to elementary school students, is now working as a school service representative in the Thumb for Kohn Music. "We sell instruments, we rent instruments, we help band directors with the supplies that they need, then there's the instrument repair," Hobbs, 59, explained. "The best thing I was involved in was the third grade spring musical," added Hobbs, who directed the annual event for about 15 years. Hobbs' favorite memories of being in the classroom involve sitting at his keyboard and his stu-dents singing. "It was just being with the kids. When teaching was good, it was really, really, really good," he said. "When the kids would close their eyes and sing like they meant it, it was just too fun to describe."

Readers don't often accuse me of being biased in my reporting, but when they do, it's usually because they're convinced I have an axe to grind.

At least the lady on the phone figured that was the case in my reporting of a recent Cass City Board of Education meeting, in which school officials broke away from the norm in contract negotiations by revealing details of their latest offer to the local teachers union. The two sides have been negotiating since last spring and still haven't ratified a new labor agreement to replace a two-year pact that expired in mid-August.

Anyway, the caller, who would identify herself only as a veteran educator in the Thumb, suggested we were trying to sabotage negotiations and in the process make the union look bad.

Really?

I only got a few "buts" in before she hung up on me (not really a professional thing to do for a veteran in any field), so I'm assuming she wasn't buying my response that we were simply reporting the actions and discussions placed on record during an open session of a school board meeting. And that's all.

She also wasn't impressed with (or didn't believe my statement) that I spoke with union representatives after the meeting and asked if they wanted to comment.

It never ceases to amaze me how many area residents really believe the editorial staff at the Chronicle spends its days working tirelessly to make sure some individuals look good (or bad) in the paper.

I hear comments to that effect now and then, and I can only guess these people a) don't like who we've written about, b) don't agree with something the person (or group) has done or how they conduct themselves in the community, or c) honestly feel we intentionally publish columns, editorials or stories in such a way that someone appears in a positive or negative light based on how we feel about them.

Nothing could be farther from the truth, folks. Sure, no one is absolutely objective. How can we be when everyone grows up with certain belief and value systems, prejudices, etc.? The key, at least for me, is making a serious effort to leave my own personal beliefs and preferences out of my news copy (with the exception of columns and editorials, where I'm relatively free to express my opinion. By the way, so are you, in our "letters to the editor" section on page three).

Anyway, I don't think I could have much respect for a journalist who intentionally slants a story at the expense of the truth. Lord knows we have enough of those clowns pontificating on the boob tube just about everywhere you look.

On the other hand, I've found that the lion's share of accusations regarding a newspaper's alleged favoritism are based - sadly - on information that is short on fact and long on personal opinion, rumor and/or innuendo.

Sometimes it simply boils down to being the messenger.

Keep in mind, newspaper people are supposed to follow some basic rules, starting with verifying and backing up statements with facts before a story is published. That probably isn't a big concern for those who are convinced we're driven by our own personal agendas. I could be wrong. It's difficult to say because the biggest talkers are rarely willing to put their "facts" where their mouths are - in public - by speaking up during an open meeting, surrounded by their neighbors and friends, or by signing their name to a letter to the editor for that matter

That's why the sort of anonymous forums you still see in some newspapers and television broadcasts will never appear (I hope) in the Chronicle. It's just too easy to sound off when you know you're not going to have to own up to your words.

Kind of puts a different light on things when you have to attach your name to something, you know?

Hawk award goes to Younglove, Fritz

The Cass City Board of Education resilience." recently honored the first recipients of the district's coveted Red Hawk for the honor by the sixth grade Award of Excellence for the 2015-16 school year.

They are Nicolette Younglove, a sophomore and the daughter of Jackie Younglove, and sixth grade student Allison Fritz, the daughter of Sarah Lovejoy and Cannon Fritz.

During the months of October, December, February and April, each school building staff is asked to nominate students for the award in order to recognize students for leadership, service, outstanding behavior, excellent academic performance, being most improved or other accomplishments in or outside of school.

The nominees and their families are then invited to attend a school board meeting, during which teachers, administrators and the board members themselves congratulate each winner and present them with a maroon ribbon and certificate.

Math teacher Amy Tamlyn nominated Younglove for the award, noting that as a member of the Friends of the Playground", she and other volunteers enjoyed a first-hand look at Younglove's willingness to give of her own time and talents for a good cause.

"This summer our group devoted several weeks towards revitalizing the aging structure (Cass City playscape) and depended greatly on community volunteers," Tamlyn said. "All of the members on the committee were extremely impressed by Nikki's dedication and commitment to helping during those weeks. Nikki arrived each morning, happy and willing to help in any way we needed her to. She spent countless hours painting, staining, and shoveling mulch and pea stone, and she worked all day.

"Nikki was a vital member of our volunteer team and, with her help, we now have a beautiful playscape for the children of Cass City to enjoy for years to come.

"Nikki's drive to work hard has been something that I have also witnessed in the classroom," Tamlyn added. "There have been times when I know the material is difficult for Nikki, but she still comes to class with a positive attitude and a willingness to do whatever it takes to learn the material.

"This has often meant working on homework after school in my classroom, doing additional online work, and doing additional packets outside of class," she continued. "Nikki has never given up when things have challenged her, and has time and time again demonstrated true

Jackson: "Community lost an asset" in Hirn

Hirn served on the friends' board for many years, including two years as president. He's also credited with spearheading Fall Family Days - an annual fall event at the Thumb Octagon Barn that draws thousands of visitors to the Thumb Octagon Barn each fall – and he served as the event's chairman for 17 years.

But his contributions - many of them completed without his fellow volunteers even being aware of how much he could get done in a day, week or month - were always focused on restoring and expanding on the historical eight-sided barn along with the adjacent Purdy farmhouse and several other buildings on the property along Richie Road.

"Everything he did was hands-on. We couldn't keep up with him," Putnam said. "He touched, molded, restored, built just about every aspect of every building that's out there. He was always there. We certainly would not be where we are today without him.

"He always had such a great sense of humor. He could get people to do things just by asking," she added.

Hirn and his wife of 51 years, Mary Ann, were wonderful neighbors, according to Jim and Jeri Perry, who lived near the Hirn family along Kelly Road for many years. The Hirns moved to Cass City after Bob, a 1964 graduate of Central Michigan University, was offered a job teaching biology at Cass City High School. He also worked for the district as a substitute bus driver and coach.

"He was a helpful neighbor. Our kids grew up together, so we had many nice Christmases together as neighbors," Jeri commented.

Jim agreed. "We had a lot of good times together," he said, adding both he and Hirn were charter members of the Thumb Area Antique Auto Club and shared a love of restoring old vehicles. In fact, the pair virtually worked side by side as each restored their own Model A Fords. "We finished them both about the same time in 1980," he noted.

Hirn also left a lasting impression through his and Mary Ann's work with the Cass City Historical and Genealogical Society, as well as his leadership at Rawson Memorial District Library.

Longtime historical and genealogical society President Katie Jackson said the restoration of the society's early 1900s antique luxury carriage is a great example of Hirn's ability to make things happen.

"It (carriage) was just in terrible shape. I was trying to find someone who could upholster it and bring it up to snuff," she recalled, adding Hirn knew of a craftsman near Traverse City who could do the job, and he promptly transported the carriage up north and then made another trip to bring the restored antique back to Cass City.

"He never missed a meeting. He was involved in so many ways, and whatever he did, it was perfect. He was a perfectionist," Jackson said.

"Bob served on the (Rawson Memorial District) library board for 15 years as vice chairman. He loved the library and appreciated what we did for the community. He also appreciated that the historical society and the Octagon Barn were able to use resources at Rawson," said Kate Van Auken, who has served as director of the Cass City Library for the past several years.

"He would work with Lois Moslander and Ruth Steele on the barn newsletter, advertising pieces, and placements for their annual auction," she added. "Of course, a big part of this was that he had a personality that would make you want to work with him and help in any way you could, because you knew he would do it for you. "For me, he was a huge supporter of everything I did at Rawson," Van Auken said. "He is the main reason I applied for the job (of director) to begin with. I had been on the library board and, in 2002, Bob, Lyle Clarke and I were on the committee to select Barb's (Hutchinson) replacement. After receiving resumes from applicants, he pulled me aside and asked where mine was. I remember thinking he must be joking, but he wasn't. "Bob saw potential in people even when they themselves didn't," she added. "He was always positive...always had a smile...always had a cando attitude." Hirn's legacy of giving back by giving of himself extended to a number of organizations. He served as chairman of the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility Board for about 16 years. He was a member of the Pinney Foundation Board, served on the Cass City Board of Education for eight years, and put in a stint on the Tuscola County Intermediate School Board. Hirn was honored as the Cass City Citizen of the Year in 2005 and was named a Tuscola County Shining Star in 2009. A member of the Cass City-Gagetown Knights of Columbus Council #8892 and the Cass City Gavel Club, Hirn was a longtime member of St. Pancratius Catholic Church, serving as finance chairman, lector and communion assistant. "He was one of the most hard working, caring, involved people I know -Mary Ann, too," Van Auken said. "I will be forever grateful for that fact and that our paths crossed in this life. If you are lucky, you get to meet a 'Bob' a few times in your life." "He was always smiling. He was always congenial. He will be missed," Jackson added. "We've lost an asset to this community. We really have."

October is National Substance Abuse Prevention Month!

Every day, many Americans are hurt by alcohol and drug use. From diminished achievement in our schools to greater risks on our roads and in our communities, to the heartache of lives cut tragically short. The consequences of substance use are profound, yet, we also know that they are preventable.

- 20.6 million Americans over the age of 12 are addicted to alcohol and drugs
 - 14.1 million are addicted to alcohol
 - 3.9 million use illicit drugs with no alcohol
 - 2.6 million consume alcohol and use illicit drugs
- Young Americans aged 12 to 20 account for 11% of the country's monthly alcohol consumption
- Approximately 23 million people aged 12 or older used illicit drugs in 2010.

AAUW Halloween bash generates $600 this year

Officials with the Cass City/Thumb Area Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) reported hosting another successful Halloween carnival Thursday at Cass City Elementary School.

"The chilling air did not interfere with this family event designed for students 12 and under," AAUW member Judy Brown said. "Many students came dressed in costume while being accompanied by parents, grandparents and other family members. Students had an opportunity to participate in football, basketball, golf and a variety of other games including the Creepy Creek. Student participation was rewarded with sweet treats and other treasures. Many children also enjoyed colorful face painting."

In its fifth year of partnering with the AAUW, local Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts operated the popular spook house, according to Brown, who noted the scouts enjoyed participating in the event. "This (also) gives them an opportunity to provide a service activity while generating a little revenue to cover their costs," she said.

"This activity is yet another example of the volunteerism that is very much alive in Cass City," Brown said. "Volunteers from AAUW operated the carnival, while several junior and senior high school students enthusiastically assisted in setting up and running games. Without their assistance and the support of the Cass City Public Schools this event would not be possible.' Preliminary numbers revealed AAUW officials netted about $600 from the carnival. Proceeds from the event will be used to help fund educational programs for Cass City Public Schools, as well as the organization's annual paint-in held in conjunction with the Cass City Freedom Festival.

Owendale Lions Club president Trace Lopez said he was impressed by the expression and creativity of the students at Owen-Gage.

"It is obvious that these young people have strong ideas about what peace means to them," he said. "I'm so proud that we were able to provide them with the opportunity to share their visions.

"McKnight's poster will advance to face stiff competition through the district, multiple district and international rounds of competition if he is to be declared the international grand prize winner," Lopez noted.

One grand prize winner and 23 merit award winners will be selected. The grand prize includes a cash award of $5,000, plus a trip for the winner and two family members to an awards ceremony. The 23 merit award winners will each receive a certificate and a cash award of $500.

"Our club is cheering for Jameson as his poster advances in the competition, and we hope that his vision will ultimately be shared with others around the world," Lopez said.

SURPRISE! HAWKS WIN REGIONAL

O-G stumbles in regional affair

After putting together an undefeat- foe Friday in Posen. The Bulldogs, ed regular season, first year Coach Jim Wencel and his Owen-Gage gridiron team had visions of a long post season run behind a high powered offense that average over 60 points per contest during the campaign, resulting in the Bulldogs' third straight Mid-Michigan 8-Man crown.

Instead, guest Cedarville held Owen-Gage to a season-low 28 points Friday to advance in an 8-Man Pre-Regional affair.

With the 48-28 decision, the Trojans improve to 9-2 and will now meanwhile, enter the record books with a 9-1 slate that includes only the second undefeated regular season at the Owendale School.

After exchanging scores early, Cedarville would settle for an 18-12 halftime advantage.

David Binder accounted for both Bulldog markers before the break. He scored on a one-yard drive in the opening quarter and then found pay dirt from 2 yards out in the second quarter to help keep the Bulldogs in striking distance.

open the final half and Binder's third touchdown on the night had the hosts trailing just 24-20 entering the final stanza.

There the Trojans took control and touchdowns by Mike Haske and Kurt Matkovich helped to put the game out of reach, before Bulldog quarterback Jacob Wright ended the scoring for the hosts in the closing seconds.

With the loss, the careers of 6 senior Bulldogs end. Sure to be missed in 2016 are Wright, Dylan Fritz, Dan Good, Devon Lorenz, Derik Bransen Stimpfel and his Cass City teammates wouldn't be denied Saturday in Harbor Beach, the site of the MHSAA Division 3 cross country regional.

The Red Hawks, who entered the talent-heavy field as the 3 seed, exceeded expectations over the when Coach Jon weekend Zdrojewski's Greater Thumb West champions added the regional banner to an already highly successful season.

A dominating showing that featured personal-best times by 6 Red Hawks - highlighted by Stimpfel's dramatic kick to the finish line and medalist honors - saw the winners register 73 points, while Hemlock placed second with 78 tallies and Caro third with a team score of 80. These three powerhouse teams will all travel to Brooklyn, Sat., Nov. 7, to square off again at the MHSAA State Final race held at the Michigan International Speedway

The conditions Saturday morning at Wagener Park were near perfect for running with a slight wind and temperature in the low 40's at race time. The course is typically one of the faster tracks in the Thumb; mostly flat, with hard packed running surfaces throughout, that led to great results.

For the champion Red Hawks personal-best times were posted by six of the seven competitors. Stimpfel turned in a winning time of 15:43, just missing the Cass City school record by a mere 3 seconds. He held off runner-up Evan Goodell in exciting fashion, passing the St. Louis junior for the first and only time with about 30 meters left in the race and holding on for the photo finish victory by .3 of a second.

CarLee Stimpfel was next to the finish line for Cass City. His new personal-best time of 16:28 lands the Red Hawk sophomore on at the spot 5 on the school's All-Time Best Time Board. CarLee placed 8th within the 100-runner field.

Jose Torres was third to the tape for Cass City, and 15th overall, with a new personal-best time of 17:21, while Zane Wright and Michael Rader complete the scorers for Cass City. Wright placed 24th overall with a new personal-best time of 17:46 and Rader came in 25th overall with a new personal-best time of 17:48.

"The difference in the team scoring came from a full team effort. For all of these athletes to run the best race of their lives, all at the same time, and at the biggest race of the year was an absolutely fabulous day," said Zdrojewski. Adding, Gabe Farver finished sixth for the Red Hawks and was 38th overall with a new personal-best time of 18:35 and Jamison Biskner-Kruse finished 59th with a time of 19:31, missing his personal record by one second.

The last regional title for Cass City came in 2008. The Red Hawks will be heading to Brooklyn with Bransen Stimpfel seeded in 9th place and CarLee Stimpfel in 32nd place. The top 30 finishers at the MHSAA State Final receive medals and are named to the All-State dream team. Bransen finished in 4th place Please turn to page 10.

The 6-foot, 185-pound linebacker is always at the top of his game. Haire delivered his usual full-go game in leading the Red Hawks to a 34-6 victory over Ubly in the Division 7 playoff opener. ''He's an outstanding player with a nose for the ball,'' coach Scott Cuthrell said. ''Parker's engine is always running. You would have a hard time finding someone who gives more than Parker on a Friday night." Haire tallied 10 tackles and a sack as Cass City limited an Ubly offense that was averaging 31.4 points per game to a single touchdown.'

The Cass City defense also had Perry with 8 tackles and Perzanowski with 7 stops, while Brad Hacker added an interception. Making their final appearance for the Bearcats were seniors Jeffery Wright, Roman Weltin, Lucas Rothe, Brandon Sadro, Cole Mailrzek, Danile Ruthowski and James McBride.

The awards event featured dinner, a reverse raffle, DJ, 50/50 and more. Winners of the reverse raffle were Julia Robbins, Mary Bellew and Joe Nicholl, according to Blaine, who explained the dinner gives the Hills and Dales Foundation an opportunity to say thank you to all those people who have supported its fundraising efforts throughout the year, and to also show where the foundation money is spent.

"This is just one way we can show our appreciation to our donors," Blaine added. "We are given so much support throughout the year and we want our donors to know we are very grateful."

Cass City FFA still "Meating the Need"

The Cass City Future Farmers of up its "Meating the Need for Our America (FFA) chapter is wrapping Village" project for 2015.

Students are writing a grant application to the National FFA organization in hopes of getting money from its sponsors to repeat the project again in 2016.

In the meantime, Cass City High School agriscience students are raising broiler chickens in the school barn. Two FFA members are also raising birds at their home farms to donate. As students learn about animal care and experiment with feed rations, teams will be participating in a statewide poultry contest with their best birds.

Once the meat chickens are processed, half will be donated to the Revive Ministries Food Pantry as part of the local FFA chapter's Meating the Need for Our Village project. The remaining birds will be made available for sale to community members who wish to order custom-raised birds for $10 each.

Residents interested in placing an order may do so by contacting Cass City High School agriscience teacher and FFA Advisor Russell Weyer at (989) 872-2148 (ext. 3305) or via email at rweyer@casscityschools.org.
