Cass City Literacy Council honored for its contribution to Tuscola County community

by Tom Montgomery Editor

A small but dedicated group of volunteers has been changing lives for the better in the Cass City community through a local literacy council that has been able to improve and expand its efforts over the years thanks to a partnership with Rawson Memorial District Library.

Those volunteers have a wellearned reputation for giving back to the community, and their efforts haven't gone unnoticed.

In fact, the Cass City Literacy Council was named this year's Celebrating Tuscola's Stars winner in the Group Category, which recognizes organizations whose volunteer work has made Tuscola County a better place to live and work.

The literacy council along with three other countywide winners in other categories were honored during the 14th annual Celebrating Tuscola's Stars Awards Breakfast Thursday morning at the Tuscola Technology Center in Caro.

"When citizens need a place to get assistance in reading, they often turn to the local library. In this community, the library is absolutely outstanding, and volunteers offer tutoring and mentoring services," Gene Pierce, Tuscola's Stars Planning Team cochairman, said just before he announced the Cass City Literacy Council as the 2016 group winner.

"The volunteers have implemented a program to assist those with dyslexia and use an innovative program called Barton Reading to improve reading and comprehension skills," Pierce added. "This group has even developed a program for teaching those who speak Spanish to learn English as a second language.

"One gentleman drives several miles to receive tutoring assistance from this group and has been doing this for over 14 years. One man, approaching 80 years old, came to one of the volunteers and asked if they could help him learn to read. He is now a reader," Pierce said.

Kate Van Auken has watched the local literacy council touch many lives during her tenure as director of Rawson Memorial District Library in Cass City. Van Auken's appreciation of the volunteers prompted her

Board preparing to adopt a new budget

by Tom Montgomery Editor

Cass City School officials are gearing up to begin work on the district's 2016-17 budget.

The board of education will gather an hour prior to next month's regular meeting to consider its options regarding trimming expenses by roughly $200,000. The budget session, slated to start at 6 p.m. Monday, May 23, is open to the public.

During Monday's regular monthly meeting, Cass City Chief Financial Officer Allison Zimba presented the board with an updated list of anticipated budget losses and gains for the coming year, and noted she'll be suggesting possible ways to cut costs in order to approve a balanced budget by July 1, the deadline set by the state for schools to adopt their new spending plans.

1, the deadline set by the state for schools to adopt their new spending plans.

According to school Supt. Jeff Hartel, Cass City's projected shortfall in 2016-17 is largely the result of a trend in enrollment that earlier this year saw the district post a combined K-12 enrollment of fewer than 1,000 students. "Right now, it's all about the student count, and as a rule, we're losing about three percent of the student population" annually, Hartel said prior to Monday's meeting. Based on that trend, he and Zimba are estimating the Please turn to page 7.

Council okays plans for WWTP upgrades

by Clarke Haire Publisher

Cass City Village officials approved updates to the local wastewater treatment plant (WWTP) Monday and agreed to pay the Tuscola Area Airport Authority its 2015-16 allocation.

Trustee Mick Kirn presented the motions during the regular monthly meeting of the village council, and both were quickly approved.

Kirn's request for SCADA System updates at the WWTP will total $10,365. They include a Dell Opti Plex computer with a 20-inch monitor and a Win911 alarm dialing upgrade, plus startup services.

WWTP Supt. Dennis McCabe feels the SCADA system is "our lifeline" to the plant as it informs the WWTP staff if anything abnormal occurs at the

One of the most important parts of the upgrade is the ability to handle emergences 24/7, according to Village Manager Peter Cristiano.

Grass fire accident claims life of Huron County man

by Tom Montgomery Editor

An elderly Huron County man who was critically burned in a grass fire earlier this month has died from his injuries

Huron County Sheriff Kelly J. Hanson last week said his department had received word that the victim, David W. Nutt, 93, had died at a Flint area hospital.

"It has been decided by the Genesee County Medical Examiner's Office that an autopsy will not be done," Hanson said. "Although foul play is not being suspected, anyone with further relevant information about this tragedy is asked to contact our office at (989) 269-6500."

The accident occurred April 17 and was reported as a grass fire on McTaggart Road, east of M-53, in Huron County's Sheridan Township, where a passerby discovered Nutt severely burned and lying in an area of burned grass.

Gagetown mom, breast cancer survivor shares story of hope and faith

by Tom Montgomery Editor

Amy Witt doesn't have to say a word when it comes to showing how much her 6 ½-year-old daughter, Sadie Alyvia, means to her.

The love and gratitude in her eyes say it all.

Sadie, meanwhile, doesn't hesitate to wrap her arms around Witt while flashing an impish grin. Energetic and full of life, the blond, blue-eyed youngster revels in the challenge of giving her mom "rabbit ears" during an impromptu photo session.

Witt calls Sadie her miracle child. That's no surprise, considering what the Gagetown native and stay-at-home mom went through to carry her daughter to term, followed by a fight for her own life. In the process, Witt faced not only life and death issues, but also dealt with personal struggles that have enabled her to come to grips with her faith in God. "I say she's my life, but she's my lifeline," Witt, 40, commented at her

Center Street home, referring to Sadie. "She brought me back to God." Although she was born and raised in Gagetown, Witt lived in Flint for several years. It was during that time she felt ready to start to her own family. "I always dreamed of being a mother. Always," she recalled, adding her first pregnancy ended in a stillbirth after 12 weeks in 1996. Two years later, a second pregnancy ended the same way, after 22 weeks. She conceived again in 2008, but suffered a miscarriage, which prompted her to see a specialist. "They told me I had an incomplete cervix," said Witt, who later underwent surgery to repair the defect.

In 2009 Witt gave birth to a healthy daughter via C-section. It was a joyful experience after months of worry. "The whole time I thought I was going to lose her," she recalled. "Even after (the first three months), I thought, God's still going to take her from me."

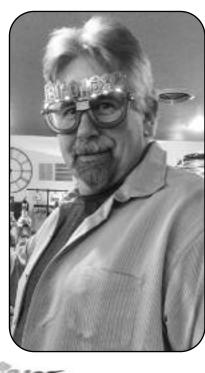

But the joy wouldn't last long.

Please turn to page 8.

AMY WITT SHARES a hug at home with her 6 ½-year-old daughter, Sadie, who was born after Witt suffered through two stillborn births and a miscarriage. Just three months after the birth of her daughter, breastfeeding problems led to a diagnosis of cancer for the stay-at-home mom, who underwent a double mastectomy and is cancer-free today.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku, This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Wencel running

August primary election. Canfield won with 31 percent of the vote, compared to 18 percent for Wencel, who garnered more votes than five other Republican challengers.

Wencel indicated his decision to run as a Democrat this time around reflects his personal distaste for the Republican Party's stand on a number of issues.

"The short answer is...during my last campaign, I realized there is very little room in today's Republican Party for a public school educator,' he said. "That was made quite clear to me during the previous campaign by the leadership of the Republican

"I am still concerned about many of (Gov. Rick) Snyder's policies and strategies, including lifting the cap on charter schools without more transparency with the charter schools," Wencel added. "The privatization of the Grand Rapids veterans' home along with the expansion of the EAA (Education Achievement Authority) and reinstating the emergency manager law after the voters voted it down. The results are plain to see – a financially failing Detroit Public Schools along with the Flint water debacle.

"I can no longer support this party's initiatives."

Since retiring from the Bad Axe Schools in 2010, Wencel has been vice president of public finance in the Michigan office of Hutchinson, Shockey, Erley and Company, which assists school districts and municipal governments with public finance. He was also a part time superintendent for the Owen-Gage School District, leaving that position in 2013.

Wencel was the high school principal at Mayville Community Schools from 1988 through 1994 and currently is the head football coach at Owen-Gage High School and the head wrestling coach at Laker High School.

Wencel resides in Bad Axe with his wife, Rita, a teacher in the Bad Axe School District. The couple has four grown children.

"Being a lifelong Michigan resident with my wife, Rita, I totally understand that our youth are our future. With my experience in education and business I have a vision that makes the future for our children bright," Wencel said in making his announcement last week.

Wencel graduated from Chelsea High School in 1971 and earned his bachelor's degree at Olivet College in 1975. A standout athlete in both high school and college, he earned his Master of Arts Degree from Central Michigan University in 1983

Since 1977, Wencel has amassed an extensive resume as a coach, teacher, athletic director, principal and superintendent. He says his extensive financial experience in the business world along with serving on many local and national boards of directors has given him the leadership abilities necessary to be an effective state representative. "I take a common sense approach in both identifying problems and implementing solutions,"

"The condition of our district, state and even country as a whole needs to change to a new direction rather than our current direction which has caused a downward spiraling effect on our middle class that needs to be stopped and corrected," Wencel said. "The problems with the water in Flint, constant privatizing of services like the veterans' home in Grand Rapids and the funding of K-12 public schools by the Snyder administration has only led to problems.

"I want to make sure that these types of problems are stopped before they are started. It only makes sense to be pro-active instead of the reactive administration that is in place now," Wencel continued.

Wencel noted he and his family have been active members of the United Methodist Church in every community in which they have lived. He has served as president of the Bad Axe Rotary and is a Paul Harris Fellow. He is currently the treasurer of the Huron County Gideon Camp and is a church speaker for the Gideon's International. In the past Wencel has also been a member of the Jaycees and Lions Clubs.

His resume also include serving on several boards, including the national board of directors for the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel, the Huron Board Center Medical Incorporators and Foundation Board, the board of directors for the Michigan Rural Healthcare Preservation, Inc. and the Board of Directors for the School Equity

An avid hunter and fisherman, he is a member of the Michigan Farm Bureau (Huron County), MGRGO, QDMA, Michigan Association of School Administrators, Michigan Association of School Business Officials, Michigan School Boards Association, Michigan Association of Retired School Personnel and the School Equity Caucus.

Michigan is on right track with recovery

Guest editorial by James M. Hohman Assistant Director of Fiscal Policy Mackinac Center for Public Policy

There is a vast turnover in jobs in Michigan's economy — more than one out of 20 are added and lost every three months. This means that there's always someone being left behind during an economic recovery and there's always someone finding new opportunities in a

Yet, the overall direction of the economy still matters and things are going well in Michigan.

In a recent article in Bridge, Ted Roelofs points out that, even though Michigan's unemployment rate has fallen to a 15-year low, the state still has a relatively high "underemployment" rate, and interviews a few people who are employed part-time but would like to find full-time jobs.

However, the share of workers who are part-time for economic reasons has fallen, dropping by 22.6 percent

There are other ways of looking at whether people are having an easier or harder time finding work. The Bureau of Labor Statistics tracks six of them. Regardless of which of these you measure, Michigan's rates are moving in the right direction and doing so at rates that often lead the entire nation.

For instance, from 2009 to 2015, Michigan led the nation in its drop in U-1 (persons unemployed 15 weeks or longer), U-2 (those who have lost jobs and completed temporary jobs), U-3 (total unemployed), U-4 (total unemployed plus "discouraged workers") and U-5 (total unemployed plus discouraged workers and others marginally attached to the labor force) unemployment, and is third among the states in dropping its U-6 (total unemployed, plus all persons marginally attached to the labor force, plus total employed part-time for economic reasons) unemployment.

This is not to say that some people are not struggling — these numbers are never likely to drop to zero — but they are improving and that matters. Michigan has more opportunities for employment for people that are seeking them.

Moreover, there's other good news going on in Michigan. While there have been complaints about people dropping out of the labor force, this has turned around in recent months. The previous two months of data show a stark and, if continued, record-setting levels of people returning to the labor force in Michigan and finding employment.

What's somewhat unique about Michigan's economic recovery is that it's exclusively driven by full-time employment growth. The number of part-time jobs has actually declined in this economic recovery. That is not necessarily a good thing — a growing economy should have more opportunities for part-time employment as

But nearly all signs point to a strong economic recovery and continued growth in Michigan and these opportunities should rebound.

Michigan went through a terrible decade in the 2000s. It is also on a robust economic recovery. It may take a while before the state returns to 2000 peaks (though some areas already have). Yet the recovery has meant more people are part of the workforce and finding fulltime employment in Michigan.

An overdue message to my neighbors

Thank you and I'm sorry. I should have said this earlier – and repeated it many times over the years. To the neighbors on the left and right, kitty corner, in front and behind, and perhaps a few houses beyond that: you've all been infinitely patient with my brood.

This morning while filling my coffee cup, I glanced out the window, which overlooks one neighbor's yard, and noticed two errant tennis balls lingering in their grass. This elicited one of my deep, instinctive mom sighs. As far as I know my neighbors do not play tennis.

My boys do.

Today it was tennis balls, but on any given day any number of items could end up on the wrong side of the fence. Basketballs, soccer balls, golf balls and baseballs all have a tendency to roll outside the lines of our property limits - and are kindly tossed back or fetched by us in what is not always the most timely of man-

Thankfully the balls have always landed in the grass and not gone through a window (so far). I consider myself lucky on that account. Not breaking a window is definitely worth a dose or two of parental gratitude.

As are empty and abandoned juice pouches and candy wrappers in the hedges (she said with her best jest). I guess I can rest assured my kids are staying hydrated. On the other hand, thank you, neighbors, for putting up with empty juice pouches and candy wrappers that you did not drink or eat.

I also apologize for my family's habit of ignoring borders during raucous games of hide-n-seek and ghost in the graveyard. Oh, sure, my kids could play within the confines of our yard, but spreading the game throughout the neighborhood heightens the experience - for the kids, but probably not the neigh-

I'm sorry if ever a lily or hosta or tomato plant has been trampled upon during a feisty round of kick the can, because I'm sure my offspring are as oblivious to the garden in your yard as they are to the one in mine.

One day I will have pristine flowerbeds, but right now I am thankful during the times they unplug and play outside, the old fashioned way. I find joy in their squawks and squeals, but I realize not everyone might react this way. Thank you for tolerating the squawks

I send my deep regrets for that time (make that multiple times) some young member of my family picked apples from your tree (without asking permission to do so). I apologize and send my thanks for the apples. They made a great pie, which I did not regret.

While we're on the subject of fruit, you know how the old saying goes: You can pick your neighbors' apples, but you can't pick your neighbors. In that regard, they are like family. You may not pick them, or they you, but you are stuck with each other for the long haul – or at least until one of you moves. So far most of my neighbors haven't moved. I guess I'll take that as a good sign.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

The Sanilac County Drug Task Force is proud to continue sponsorship of what will be the 25th annual Junior High Invitational Track Meet Thursday, May 5, at 4 p.m. at the Croswell High School track.

All Sanilac County Schools will again participate in both the boys' and girls' division track events. The public is invited to attend free of charge. "As a community leader, we look to your presence as a positive support of our youth," says James Young, chairman of the Sanilac Drug Task Force Board.

The D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) Program is in its 26th consecutive year of presentation in all seven Sanilac County school districts. The goal of D.A.R.E. is to prevent substance abuse and violence (bullying) among children. Emphasis is placed on assisting students in recognizing and resisting the pressures that influence them to experiment with drugs, alcohol and gangs, as well as encouraging youth to help put an end to bullying

Here's another event to mark on your calendar. The second annual Kingston 5K Color Fun Run/Walk is scheduled for Saturday, May 7, at 10 a.m.

Officials say the event will start and end at Kingston High School, with check-in slated for 9 to 9:45 a.m. at the school, located at 5790 State St.

Tara Mallory notes the event is a "fun run" only and is not officially timed. For more information, call her at (989) 325-0576.

Daryl Iwankovitsch reports the recent Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll Drive to help handicapped individuals was a huge success.

Due to the generosity of those in Cass City March 18 and 19, the local Knights made the following donations for handicapped citizens: Cass City Schools special education, $375; Owen-Gage Schools special education, $100; Highland Pines School in Caro, $100; Sacred Heart School in Caro, $450; Tuscola County Special Olympics, $928; and Knight of Columbus State-MI Charities, $488.

The $2,441 fundraising total is impressive for a twoday drive held at the stoplight in Cass City and at Nick's Country Oven.

Captain Art Schotts says that in over 40 years of guiding on the Muskegon River, he's never seen anything like it before.

What the Newaygo charter fishing guru is referring to is the amount of boat traffic chasing steelhead on the blue ribbon stream on the state's west side.

"Its been like Grand Central Station on the water," lamented Schotts before our excursion Thursday.

Despite the crowd, fishing was productive as I landed one small brown trout and three steelies.

Trout opener brings back the memories

> by Tom Montgomery Editor

Note: The following is a reprint of a column I wrote several years ago in honor of my late grandfather, whose memory I carry every day, but especially this time of year.

I still have trouble getting to sleep the night before opening day. The last Saturday in April — the traditional trout season opener in Michigan — has always been a special tradition.

Anyone fortunate enough to have been introduced to the art of stream fishing (or any other type) by a father or grandfather, who knew the value of time invested in a youngster, knows what I mean.

It's been decades since my grandfather, Ray Miller, and I tramped any of the northern Michigan streams he shared with me during the years I was growing up. A Kentucky native who stood all of about 5'5", he succumbed to Alzheimer's disease many years ago. My grandmother, Lorena — his wife of more than 50 years — died less than a year after he did.

Grandpa introduced me to stream fishing when I was about eight, the beginning of an opening day tradition he and I would share for a decade.

"Ray, guess who's here?" grandma would say as my mom drove up into my grandparents' driveway. Grandpa greeted me the same way each time I escaped Grand Rapids' north side for a fishing trip, which was as often as I could manage. "Hello fishin' partner, ready to get your limit tomorrow?"

Our opening day ritual would begin Friday evening, when we'd go outside, flashlights and empty soup cans in hand, in search of night

The thought of paying 50 cents for crawlers back then irked my grandpa, who year after year used the same old seven-foot steel fly rod and closed face reel. I think he won the antique equipment some-

Saturday would begin at 5 a.m. with the trip up to White Cloud. The journey there somehow always seemed much shorter than the trip

Once at the stream, we would part — he would head upstream, while I'd go downstream. "Remember to fish that big log," he'd remind me as he headed off into the brush at a surprisingly quick pace.

His earlier instruction always came back to me as I prepared to tempt a native brook trout out from under that big log.

"Edge up to the stream slowly now," he'd say. "Just drop your bait in and work it down. Drift it along the sand until it slides into that hole."

A distinct tug on my line would pull me from my daze and I'd reel in a hefty 10-inch brookie. I usually picked up a couple more before heading back to the car for a lunch of bologna, cheese and

The day would end after visiting another stream or two, and soon we would be pulling into my grandparents' driveway.

The author and his grandfather, circa 1970

"You all are home kind of early, aren't ya?" were my grandmother's first words as we entered the kitchen. She would glance down at the trout in the cooler. I would always grin, knowing what she would say

"Is that all you got? They look kind of puny," she'd say.

"Is that so?" grandpa would reply. "Well, next time we'll take you so you can show us how it's done," he'd say with a chuckle and a wink at me.

When I return to some of those same old streams, I relive past opening days. I can't help but feel grandpa's presence when I step from my car into a forest alive with chattering birds and squirrels, the rhythmic drumming of a ruffed grouse and the soft gurgling of a nearby brook.

His legacy is still very much a part of my life. He never gained fame or fortune, but this grandson couldn't be richer for having known him and benefiting from his time and patience.

I can think of no finer tribute to the man.

5 YEARS AGO (2011)

Members of the Cass City Board of Education recently honored the latest recipients of the coveted Red Hawk Award of Excellence. Drew Markel is a third grade student and the son of Don and Stacee Markel. "Drew consistently demonstrates good character while at school. He is responsible, respectful, honest and gives outstanding effort to whatever task he is assigned," commented teacher Kris Milligan, who nominated Markel. From the middle school, fifth grade student Savannah Walker, the daughter of Todd and Melonie Walker, was honored. "This nomination is based on academic performance as well as behavior," a nomination letter from the fifth grade teaching team stated. Named this month's high school award recipient was Heather Sweeney, a junior and the daughter of Terry and Colleen Sweeney. "Heather is an outstanding student in her academics, and also one of the most respected students amongst her peers. She is very responsible when given a task; she not only does the job well, but goes above and beyond to complete the finished project in a timely fashion," said Ruth Fluegge, guidance secretary, who nominated Sweeney. The Charmont Lanes "Bowlers of the Year" winners were crowned Friday night in Cass City. The 2011 champions are Ed Schmaltz and Deidra Zdrojewski.

Red Hawk Michael Potrykus recorded Cass City's top individual finish at the Marlette Invitational with a leap of 5' 6" in the high jump.

10 YEARS AGO (2006)

The Cass City Red Hawks added to their undefeated win streak with doubleheader, non-league wins over the undefeated Ubly Bearcats at Cass City Thursday. In the opener against the Bearcats, Cass City jumped off to an early lead with 3-runs in each of the first 2 innings. That was more than enough to settle the issue as Brad Hartel's southpaw slants kept the Hawks in control. He pitched the distance and didn't allow a hit until Justin Fess hit a ball just out of reach of Cameron Lautner that fell for a double to drive in a run and later scored. The final score was 7-2. Fess was charged with the loss and yielded 4 hits. Hartel allowed one earned run with 3 walks and 5 strikeouts. Jeff Stoutenburg, Justin Glaza and Brad Langenburg each scored 2 runs. Cody Halasz doubled in his only official bat and drove in a run. In the nightcap, Cass City lashed out 13 hits and posted an easy 7-0 decision. Coach Ryan Pritchett was happy that the Hawk offense came to life. "The defense was excellent again and the bats finally came alive,' he said. Cass City's season record is 7-

Kelly Smith and Maureen Kawecki, co-leaders of Girl Scout Troop 604, Cass City, recently cleaned up litter around Cass City High School for the troop's Clean Up America Day project. Troop members that helped are Kristen Kawecki, Ali Smith, Samantha Clapper, Alison Blattner, Amanda McCormick, Natasha Wright, Stephanie Heckroth, Katie Michalski and Marisa Schneeberger

Kingston will have an ample water supply for the foreseeable future following the installation of a new water storage tank Monday. The 100,000 gallon tank replaces a 15,000 gallon tank. The new unit Cost $119,000 and was paid for from funds accumulated.

The new track at Cass City High school was dedicated Saturday. Presenting a plaque to the school and the village was Ken Jensen, president of the Cass City Boosters Club. Jensen stressed the role played by club member Bob Tuckey. The plaque shows the names of the persons and organizations who donated to the project. It will be shared and displayed at the Cass City Municipal Building and Cass City High School. Representing the school was Ben Hobart, school board president, and councilman Matt Prieskorn representing the village.

Kerry Mellendorf of Cass City is among several students, faculty members and others slated to be inducted into Ferris State University's Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa. The induction into the national leadership honor society will be held Saturday, when the university's chapter of the organization will celebrate its 20th anniversary.

The Cass City BPW held its regular monthly meeting April 22 at the Charmont. There were 14 members and 6 guests present. The highlight of the evening was the 3 scholarships awarded to local high school students. Those interviewed were Sharie DeLong, daughter of Francis and Sharon DeLong; Janet Kubacki, daughter of Tony and Mary Ann Kubacki; Tracey Patera, daughter of Ron and Vi Patera; Stephanie Spencer, daughter of Al and LuAnn Graham, and Melissa Zinnecker, daughter of Ralph and Pat Zinnecker. The 3 recipients are Tracey Patera, Stephanie Spencer and Melissa Zinnecker.

THE ARTRAIN IS COMING — And to greet its presence in Cass City, May 5-9, 7-foot long banners made by fiber design students of Karen Wallace at the high school will be hanging from downtown lampposts. Completing her banner depicting a peacock was Karen Franks. There will be 11 or 12 banners. Students are also making a quilt for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacKay, Terri Lynn and Bobbi Jo of Cass City, Mr. and Mrs. Jim MacKay, Ann Marie, Debbie and Jimmie of Novi, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Fred MacKay and Tina of Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hewitt of Saginaw spent Easter with Mrs. Evelyn MacKay.

A bridal shower was given Sunday afternoon at the Ubly Community Rosemary honoring McCullough of Cass City. Hostesses were her bridesmaids, Jean Anthony, Connie Meyers, Suzette Glaza, Elaine Cummins and Lori Gaeth, About 50 guests, relatives and friends of the bride-elect and the groom were in attendance. Several pencil games and wedding bingo were enjoyed, with many prizes given. Of those present, MaryLou McCullough of Dundak, Ontario, came the farthest and Viola Schweitzer of Sebewaing was married the longest, 47 years. Each received a gift. Guests attended from Cass City, Ubly, Canada, Pigeon, Sebewaing, Deckerville, Warren, Reese, Caro and Owendale. Miss McCullough will become the bride of Brian Gaeth of Owendale June 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton T. Enderle of Owendale were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, April 11, with a family dinner at the Bavarian Inn in Frankenmuth. Mary Pavlichek and Anton Enderle were married April 11, 1931 by Father J. McCullough at St, Agatha's Catholic church in Gagetown. The couple has six children; Mrs. Robert (Mary Ann) Grasel of Frankenmuth; Mrs. Mike (Theresa) Catania of Warren; Mrs. Richard (Eleanor) Hodges Shoreview, Minn.; Anthony C. Enderle of Owendale; Robert C. Enderle of Southfield, and Mrs. James (Janet) Sims of Bloomington, Minn. They also have 18 grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Enderle are retired farmers and reside on their farm on McAlpin Road. In addition to their children and most of their grandchildren, also attending the Enderles' anniversary dinner were the bridal party from their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Niester and Frank Enderle, all of Owendale.

40 YEARS AGO (1976)

Mrs. Evelyn MacRae was named Citizen of the Year in Cass City Thursday night, and Ann Hobart and Sue Pobanz were named Junior event of this year's Chamber of Commerce banquet held at Colony House. Mrs. MacRae became the 14th recipient of the award and only the second woman to receive the accolade. Mrs. Lucile Bauer was named to the honor in 1966. The presentation was made by Jack Esau, chairman of Cass City's Bicentennial Committee, who cited Mrs. MacRae's contributions to the community over the past 30 years. She is a former teacher at Cass City High School and served on the Village Council, the Planning Commission and the Council of Churches.

For the second time since the award began in 1965, co-Junior Citizens of the Year were named. Ann Hobart, daughter of Ben Hobart and the late Joan Hobart of rural Gagetown, is cosalutatorian of her graduating class at Cass City High School with a 3.976 grade point average. She has been involved in a wide variety of activities in high school, including cheerleading, forensics, student council, Spanish Club, gymnastics and the school newspaper. She was president of her junior class and was on the homecoming court in her junior year. As a senior, she is editor of the school newspaper, DAR good citizen, student council representative and a member of the National Honor Society. Miss Hobart is a National Merit Scholarship commended student. She is involved in church activities. She is employed at a local drug store. Sue Pobanz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Pobanz of Cass City, has also been involved in a number of school activities, and carries a 3.68 grade point average. Her activities include Spanish Club, Pep Band, Band Festival, and National Honor Society. She is editor of the school yearbook. Miss Pobanz has been involved in the Girl Scouts and was a troop advisor for a junior girl scout troop. She is also a member of Campus Life. She is a part-time employee at Provincial House. The Junior Citizen of the Year is selected on the basis of scholarship and community leadership. The selection committee reportedly deadlocked on the choice for Junior Citizen and decided to honor both students.

50 YEARS AGO (1966)

If you have been seeing more and more of those men in black leather jackets and black leather boots scooting up and down the highway on motorcycles recently, these are not members of those widely publicized hoodlum gangs, but proud family men who hold down responsible positions and ride their bikes as a hobby. Instead of nine holes of golf, or baseball or fishing, these fellows get their kicks from participating in the many events designed for fun on a motorcycle. Typical of the growing breed is Richard Wallace, 27, of Cass City, who has been riding and tinkering with bikes since he was 14 years old. Wallace will casually tell you where he works (Chevrolet in Bay City), explain about his army service (Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.) and discuss other aspects of his life without much emotion, but when he talks about the Jackpine, the biggest race in the midwest and one of the greatest in the nation, his eyes light up and you know this is his consuming interest. He's like a little boy in a candy store. For him, this fun and excitement stretches back to boyhood days and is a trait he inherited from his dad, even though his father never rode a bike. When my dad was a boy, Wallace explained, he wanted a bike real bad and his dad never would let him have one. So when I got the bug at 14, dad made sure that I wasn't going to be frustrated like he was and he let me have my first bike. Grant Glaspie, who has been acting postmaster since the resignation of Lewis Bishop, this week was appointed postmaster for Cass City.

They cut the ribbon Thursday for the official grand opening of the Western Auto Store in Cass City and the crowds flocked in. Leroy E. Eding, company representative, called it the biggest grand opening for that size of store that he has ever participated in. To make the opening official, Village President Lambert Althaver, right rear, and Chamber President Clint House cut the ribbon to inaugurate the event. Owner Ferris Ware receives congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. George Phelps of Saginaw announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Kay, to Pfc. Roger L. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Parker of Cass City. Miss Phelps is employed in Saginaw. Her fiancé is presently stationed in Fort Belvoir, Virginia, with the U.S. Army. Wedding plans are indefinite.

Six members of the Boy Scout Troop of Cass City were advanced to the second and first classes at an investure service and court of honor sponsored by Bay City Scouts in the Handy High School auditorium in Bay City Friday evening. Jim McCoy and Fred Auten were promoted to the first class and Jack Tyo, Robert Smith, Robert Fov and "Bud" Tate were advanced from the Tenderfoot to the second class. James McCoy, Fred Auten, Kenneth Citizens of the Year in the highlight Price, Robert Smith, Robert Ryland, Dean Robinson and Ray Fleenor were awarded merit badges for one or more of the following accomplishments: Safety, personal health and music. > Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Railroad took a large delegation of passengers to Deford Thursday, April 24, and again on Tuesday, April. 29, when children from the Cass City School enjoyed "trips" on the train, most of them having their first railroad ride. On Thursday morning, 51 children of the kindergarten and a number of the first grade students, boarded one of the school busses, driven Superintendent J. Ivan Niergarth, and accompanied by Miss Ruth Schenck, kindergarten teacher, Mrs. Arthur Holmberg, Mrs. Edward Baker and Miss Thelma Sickler, visited the farm of Mrs. Leonard Buehrly, seeing the various animals there. The party then were taken to the depot where they boarded the train for Deford. The same bus met them at Deford and brought them back to Cass City.

James McQueen delivered eight fine specimens of Grade Durham cattle to Schwaderer Bros. & Striffler, local livestock buyers, Saturday for which he received the sum of $903, an average prior of more than $112 each. Several other purchases of fine cattle in smaller lots were made from other farmers on the same day. The amount paid out by Schwaderer Bros. & Striffler for cattle and hogs Saturday reached $4796.63. Mr. McQueen expects to market about $400 worth of hogs here tomorrow.

Delbert Landon entertained twelve boy friends at his home Friday in celebration of his eighth birthday. Outdoor games occupied most of the time and at an athletic contest of running and jumping, Alfred West won first place and Ivan Dickinson, second. The supper served was a delight to the guests. A birthday cake with candles, occupied the center of the table and at each place a tiny chicken was perched as a favor. Easter dishes were served.

Good, Muntz and Roemer named top O-G grads in the class of 2016

Owen-Gage School officials recentthe Bulldogs' Class of 2016.

Daniel R. Good, son of David and Julie Good of Gagetown, and Andrew J. Muntz, son of Terry Muntz and Karen Muntz, both of Cass City, are this year's valedictorians, having both achieved 4.0 grade point averages. The salutatorian, with a grade point average of 3.85, is Tyler M. Roemer, son of Matthew and Angie Roemer of Sebewaing.

Good has excelled in both academics and athletics during his high school career. He has been on the honor roll and a member of the 3.0 Honors Club each year. During his sophomore year, he was inducted into the Owen-Gage Chapter of the National Honor Society (NHS).

He has been a member of the Bulldog football, basketball and baseball teams throughout high school, and performed with the Owen-Gage Band all four years, playing the baritone. Good was chosen to be a member of the Michigan All-State Lions' Band the past two summers, traveling and performing in Toronto, Canada, and Honolulu, Hawaii. This June he again will travel and perform with the group in Tokyo, Japan.

Good served as class secretary as a freshman, class president and student council member in his sophomore and junior years, and currently is class vice-president. He was a homecoming representative his junior year and was chosen the 2015-16 homecoming king. He also was a snowball representative his sophomore and junior years, served on the prom committee last year and has been on the yearbook staff the past

As a sophomore, he won the NASA Mission Patch Design Competition and his patch design was flown into space by the SSEP Mission 4. He has attended the Huron Area Technical Center during his junior and senior years, enrolled in the Mechanical Architectural Engineering and Design Program.

Good has also been very active in the community, volunteering at blood drives sponsored by the NHS, Lions Club pancake breakfasts, Owen-Gage's Fun Fair and an annual Easter egg hunt. He is an active member of the Owendale United Methodist Church.

Pattullo honored with Liberty Bell Award

Association last week named Michael Pattullo of Caro this year's recipient of its annual Liberty Bell

The bar association will present Pattullo with the honor during a ceremony planned for Friday at 4 p.m.

The Liberty Bell Program is organized by the State Bar of Michigan and "recognizes outstanding service performed by a non-lawyer citizen who has given of his or her time and energy to strengthen the effectiveness of the American system of freedom under law, in keeping with the spirit of our Constitution.'

Local bar associations throughout the state name their winners, with the local recipients then nominated for consideration for the statewide award.

Pattullo received the 2016 county honor in recognition of the "exemplary fashion in which he exercised a citizen's constitutional right to petition the government for the redress of grievances," said George Holmes, chairman of the Tuscola County Bar Association's Liberty Bell Award Committee.

"The freedoms we enjoy under the Michigan and Federal constitutions form of constitutional rights, and Mr. Pattullo, by example, has demonstrated how to effectively and responsibly exercise one of those rights," Holmes added, referring to Pattullo's work related to wind turbine regulations.

Concerned about the potential health and safety ramifications of wind turbine expansion in his community, Pattullo began researching subjects such as mechanical failure and the medical effects of "infraalso assembled ordinances from other townships as a basis of comparison. TEA Party meeting set April 28

The next area TEA Party meeting is slated for Thursday, April 28, at the Evangelical Free Church in Cass City. The church is located at 6430 Chestnut Blvd. The doors will open at 6 p.m. and all are welcome.

The group's speaker this week will be Jess Atwell, an international business executive and entrepreneur with experience in leading successful turnarounds. Organizers say he will present his unique strategic and tactical thoughts for re-energizing the TEA Party to help regain focus and put the TEA Party back on track to succeed in changing the course of this nation.

to nominate them for a Tuscola's Stars award.

"In 2002, when I was hired as library director, I had the pleasure of getting to know Jane Hittler, who at the time was the Cass City Literacy coordinator. Jane worked tirelessly tutoring those in need and the library was a great spot for those involved to meet. However, if that didn't work out, Jane would always welcome her students in her home," Van Auken recalled in her nomination letter. "In fact, no one is a stranger to Jane. She was not only a mentor, but a friend and confidant to many she helped over the years."

"Connie Iwankovitsch, a retired Cass City teacher, took over the reins a few years ago and has grown the literacy program in our community to amazing heights," Van Auken said. "You can see Connie at the Cass City Schools, at Rawson Memorial Library, and other places in our community not only recruiting students, but (tutoring) as well."

In 2013, after seeing this program grow and more people — Cass City students as well as home schooled students — meeting at Rawson Library, Van Auken proposed trans-

"In November of 2013, Mark Karwowski, pastor at Living Word Worship Center in Cass City, and his wife, Lisa, approached Connie and I about starting a dyslexia program in our community," Van Auken said.
"The Karwowski's had experience with a program called Barton Reading and hoped to secure grants to get the program started here. Grants were sought through the Pinney Foundation of Cass City as well as the United Way of Tuscola County, and Connie and Lisa were on their way!

"The dyslexia program fit perfectly with what Connie was already doing with literacy, and now with small study rooms available at the library, even more people could be helped."

Other "regulars" with the literacy council include Dotty Scollon and Celia House. "Without tutors like Dotty and Celia, the Cass City council would not have the depth or reach it does today," said Van Auken, who noted House has a Spanish background and assists teaching English as a second language.

She added, "With dedicated people like Jane, Connie, Lisa, Dotty and Celia, and support from the community, the Cass City Literacy Council is changing lives for the better. This forming an underutilized area in the group is so deserving of this honor

Hospital earns accreditation

Hills and Dales General Hospital officials last week announced the Cass City hospital's Laboratory and Respiratory Therapy (RT) departments have been awarded College of American Pathologists (CAP) Accreditation.

Following a recent, unannounced on-site inspection, Danielle Moore, Hills and Dales' laboratory manager, reported the inspectors from CAP "were very impressed with our hospital and departments. With only a few suggestions for improvement, the inspection results and accreditation are a testament to the hard work we do every day to ensure the highest standards for our patients," she said.

"CAP is often referred to as the gold standard in laboratory accreditation, according to Danielle Blaine, Hills and Dales General Hospital director of public relations.

"It is a medical society serving more than 18,000 physician members and the global laboratory community. CAP is the world's largest association composed exclusively of board certified pathologists and is the worldwide leader in laboratory quality assurance," Blaine said. "CAP is known for advocating accountable, high-quality and cost effective patient care."

During a CAP inspection, there are many items reviewed, including policy and procedures, quality control programs, reporting formats, equipment, safety records and staff credentials.

"Inspectors spend a few hours with each specific department within the lab — microbiology, phlebotomy, blood bank, etc. — reviewing procedures, speaking with staff and looking at equipment," Blaine explained. "The inspectors also pay a visit to the Respiratory Therapy (RT) staff that is fully responsible for the Arterial Blood Gas instrument. The RT Department also received accreditation and had an outstanding inspection."

Having received their accreditation, the Hills and Dales Laboratory & RT departments join more than 7,700 CAP accredited laboratories worldwide.

"Meeting the stringent CAP standards takes a lot of hard work from everyone, it's not just the lab or RT staff, it is all departments that work together on a daily basis," Moore said. "The accreditation shows that Hills and Dales General Hospital is making patient safety and quality a priority every single day in every department."

Stimpfel brothers continue to dominate in distance events

by Clarke Haire Publisher

Not so fast, little bro.

After finishing behind his sophomore brother, CarLee, in early season races, Cass City senior Bransen Stimpfel put together his best showing of 2016 Friday to defeat his younger family kin and, more importantly, lead Coach Jon Zdrojewski's thinclads to a runnerup team finish at the 14-school invite in Marlette.

"The Stimpfel brothers went first and second in both the 1600 Meter Run and the 3200 Meter Run with Bransen running strong for the first time this season," said Zdrojewski, noting the elder Stimpfel has been nursing injury to kick-off his last go-around for Cass City. Despite the dynamic Stimpfel combo, host Marlette held off Cass City 125-113 to capture team honors, while Almont finished a distant third with 82.5 points. The top five schools at the gathering also included Imlay City and Vassar with 60 and 45 points, respectively.

Highlighting the action for the Cass City men's team was their 4x800 Meter Relay team of Keith Lounsbury, Zane Wright, CarLee Stimpfel and Bransen Stimpfel. They set a new meet record with a winning time of 8:43, erasing the old mark of 8:46 set last year by the Marlette relay team of Connor Bice, Seth Ferguson, Eric Poth and Sam Hacker, Shaede Perzanowski and

The Red Hawks' dominance in the distance races continued at the iumbo meet. Besides finishing one, two in the 1600 and 3200 Meter Runs, Cass City's Wright was the third member of the squad to earn points in the middle distance event,

In the 800 Meter Run, Red Hawk Lounsbury took third, followed by Wright in 6th and Jose Torres in 8th. Other point winners singled out by Coach Zdrojewski included Parker Haire and Darren Miller.

"Parker ran the 110 Meter High Hurdles in a time of 16.86 seconds, finishing second and timed under 17 seconds for the first time in his career. Parker also continued his success in the 300 Meter Hurdles, taking third place," he said, adding, "Field events continue to be difficult for the Red Hawks to score points in with the exception of pole vaulter Darren Miller, who took third place in the very competitive event.'

Cass City also garnered a few points in the sprint races with Brad Hacker taking 6th in the 100 Meter Dash, Sawyer Cuthrell taking 8th in the 200 Meter Dash and Ethan Hulburt taking 7th in the 400 Meter

As always, the Cass City relay teams continue to shine.

Joining the 4x800 Meter Relay team in the winner's circle was the 4x100 Meter relay team of Cuthrell, Bearcats was Daniel Rutkowski. The Haire. They posted a winning time

"All four relay teams took either first or second with another great showing in all relays," Zdrojewski

Turning to the women's field. Reese ran away from the competition with 136 points. Following the Lady Rockets was Imlay City with 101.7 points, Marlette with 78.85 and Almont and North Branch both with a team tally of 73.85.

For Cass City, a pair of freshmen had a banner day. Layna Mathewson took home the 7th place medal in the 800 Meter Run and Dee Dee Hailey finished 8th in her first running of the 300 Meter Hurdles.

Also for the Lady Hawks, senior Victoria Mathewson took 6th in the Pole Vault and the 4x100 Meter Relay team of Victoria Cumper. Victoria Mathewson, Hailey Schmotzer and Brittany Stilson took home the 6th place medal.

CASS CITY QUAD

Earlier last week, on Tuesday, Ubly, Brown City and Harbor Beach invaded the recreational park for Cass City's only scheduled home meet this year.

And when the smoke cleared, the Ubly men's team came out on top with 91 points. Next was Cass City with 90 points, Brown City with 46 and Harbor Beach with 29.

O-G gets off to fast start

Owen-Gage had no troubles in their maiden twin bill contests at Caseville as the Bulldogs used stellar pitching performances to pick up easy victories of 15-1 and 16-0.

Senior southpaw Jacob Wright allowed just one hit, whiffed 12 and walked two to earn the 5-inning opening decision. Caseville's Andrew Sigfried suffered the loss. He yielded seven hits and walked Leading 3-0, the visitors added seven markers in the second frame to remove most doubt from the game's outcome.

Wright was perfect in four trips to the plate - including three doubles to lead the Bulldog attack, while Please turn to page 10.

Pitchers lead Cass City Greater Thumb West sweep

Cuthrell made certain Cass City got off to the start they wanted in Greater Thumb West softball action. The Lady Red Hawk pitching duo combined to allow just one run last Monday, while collecting wins of 2-1 and 12-0 over visiting Bad Axe in the league opener for both schools.

In the early contest, Cass City actually trailed 1-0 entering their final at bats, but plated a pair of runs in the seventh inning to squeak out the

After Lauren Dickinson tallied the hosts' initial run to even the game at 1-1, Brianna Mester came home on a walk off double by Cuthrell that made the home town crowd go wild.

Dickinson went the distance on the hill to pick up the win. She yielded just two hits, no walks and whiffed 11 in a complete game showing.

At the plate, Maegan LeValley was perfect in three trips to pace Cass City, while Lauren Dickinson and Cuthrell split four safeties.

Brenda Mellendorf scored the lone run for the Hatchets.

In the nightcap, Cass City scored twice in the first and added four runs in the second and then rode the arm of Cuthrell to the 12-0 mercy rule

Cuthrell worked six frames, yield-

Macy Dickinson and Sayge ing one hit and fanned a dozen to pick up the victory.

> Cass City punched out 11 hits in the win, including two each by Cuthrell, Baylee Murphy, LeValley and Lauren Dickinson. LeValley blasted a home run and added four RBIs for the winners. NORTH BRANCH

North Branch handed visiting Cass City setbacks of 9-0 and 14-0 last Wednesday as the Lady Red Hawks' pitching staff was short-handed on the night.

"We didn't have Sayge - she has a bad quad – and Macy has an injured throwing elbow," said Hacker, adding "We couldn't get a hit to save our tail."

In game one, North Branch led 6-0 after two innings and cruised to vic-

Bailee Ross went the distance for Cass City on the rubber and was the victim of little offensive support. She gave up 10 hits, striking out one. In game two, Cass City sophomore Megan Graham was called to the pitching circle and took the loss.

"We had to bring up Meagan from the junior varsity team," said

No other details were provided as of press time.

Struggles continue at the plate for Cass City

Hitting woes continue to plague the

Cass City baseball team. The Red Hawks managed to plate

just one run last week in North Branch, where Coach Josh Stern's gang dropped a non-conference doubleheader by scores of 6-1 and 5-0.

Logan Schenk toed the rubber in the opener for the visitors and lasted five innings before handing the ball to Ryan Schmidt. Schenk gave up nine hits and four earned runs in defeat, while Schmidt tossed one scoreless inning in relief.

Schneeberger's ATHLETE of the WEEK

MACY DICKINSON Senior Macy Dickinson is Schneeberger's choice for their Athlete of the Week award win-

The veteran Cass City pitcher was on the top of her game last week against Bad Axe, helping the Lady Red Hawks to an exciting 2-1 win over the Hatchets to launch play in the Greater Thumb West.

Dickinson tossed a gem of a game from the hill, scattering a pair of hits, while striking out 11. She didn't walk a batter and threw a total of 79 pitches, including 62 strikes. Dickinson's performance also included seven groundouts and three flyouts.

Of the 23 batters faced, Dickinson threw 12 first pitch performance from the mound to collect the win for North Branch. He fanned 11 without issuing a walk.

Leading 2-1, North Branch scored four runs in the bottom of the fifth and was able to hold on for victory. Chase Winter scored Cass City lone run in the third on a Sawyer Cuthrell single. Winter collected a pair of knocks to lead the visitors, while Brad Baker added a double.

Game two saw the Broncos earn a 5-0 victory to complete the sweep. Schmidt took the loss on the bump in the nightcap. He worked three innings and allowed one earned run on four hits. He had one strike out. At the plate, Branden Horne and Brent Baker had the lone hits off North Branch starter Carson Kempa who whiffed six.

GTW PLAY

Also last week, Cass City entertained Bad Axe to begin play in the Greater Thumb West and was dealt losses of 4-0 and 10-3.

Jon Messing and Tommy Morneau combined efforts to handle the pitching duties in the early game for Bad Axe. They allowed just 5 hits and struck out 8.

Morneau, who was credited with a save, help his own cause at the plate with 2 hits including a home run.

Branden Horne was the pitcher of record for the hosts. He fanned three and walked two.

Cuthrell delivered two singles at the plate for Cass City and Zack Beecher chipped in a double.

In the late game, the visitors jumped out in front 4-0 after two inning and never looked back.

Luke Stern, Brenden Hamilton and Brent Baker all saw mound duties for Cass City. Stern was tagged with the loss. He fanned four and walked Martin Messing struck out five and went the distance to pick up the win for the visitors.

At the plate, Jack Thompson had three hits, including a double for Bad Axe Dan Good clubbed a double and triple for the winners.

"A nice first win. The bats were working early and Jacob pitched a nice first game keeping it under 80 pitches," said Owen-Gage Coach Brian Wright.

In the late game, Owen-Gage hurler David Binder was equally impressive. He, too, allowed just a solo knock, while posting seven strike outs in the 4-inning affair.

At the plate, Owen-Gage had Wright, Binder and Devon Lorena with 3 safeties each. Wright's big day included a grand slam, while Binder and Lorenz both recorded 2-baggers.

"Very good pitching with good at bats from everyone on the team," Wright said.

Red Hawk Talk

What did you enjoy most about spring break?

by Liz Hayes Student Writer

Hayes is a 10th grader at Cass City High School, she is the daughter of Kelli Callahan and David Hayes

I interviewed three of my fellow students and asked them, "What did you enjoy most about spring break?'

"Hanging out with friends."

-Nicolette Younglove

"Having a bonfire with my family and roasting hotdogs." -Shaylee Ponder

"Playing video games."

-Conner Nitz

In my conclusion, not all students enjoy spring break by going somewhere far away, some know how to enjoy spring break in their own way.

Obituaries

Helen Thompson

Helen S. Thompson, 99, of Cass City, passed away Monday evening, March 21, at her home with family at her bedside.

She was born August 5, 1916, in Alexandria, LA., daughter of the late Morrill and Clotile (Siess) Shaw.

Helen grew up in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. She attended college for two years at Louisiana State University and completed her studies with two years at business college. She was employed for five years with the State of Louisiana in the Department of Research and Statistics located within the State Capital building in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Helen met and married Leonard "Tommie" Thompson while he was serving in the United States Army/Airforce in the 1940s. She relocated to Michigan in 1947, with her husband. They lived in the Elkton area until they purchased a farm north of Cass City in 1957.

Helen was an excellent seamstress and a fabulous cook. She had a sizeable garden for many years, raising vegetables and flowers including dahlias. She also enjoyed her various hybrid roses grown around her country home. She had beautiful African violets growing within her house. Her enjoyment of square dancing with her husband and "The Town and Country" square dance association will forever remain a fond memory with her four children. Helen designed and sewed most of their apparel for square dancing.

Helen was a former member of the Chandler Presbyterian Church and currently, the First Presbyterian Church, Cass City.

She is survived by four children and their spouses, Bettye and Fred Maki of West Bloomfield, Clotile and Ray Fox of Cass City, Larry and Cindy Thompson of Spring Hill, FL and Jim and Rhonda Thompson of Ypsilanti; seven grandchildren; twelve great-grandchildren; three great great-grandchildren and two brothers-in-law, Kenneth (Bernadine) Thompson of Utica and Lyle (Naomi) Thompson of Port Huron.

Beside her parents, she was preceded in death by her husband, Leonard in 2009 and brothers, Morrill Shaw and John Shaw.

A memorial service will be conducted at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, April 30, at the First Presbyterian Church, Cass City. A time for visitation will be from 10:00 a.m. until the time of services.

Interment will be in the Chandler Twp. Cemetery. Arrangements have been entrusted to the Champagne Funeral Chapel, Elkton, Michigan.

Floral arrangements are being accepted or donations may be made to the Rawson Memorial Library, Cass City, Michigan. Words of condolence may be shared at www.cfcelkton.com.

Area youth invited to join in Dairy Odyssey

by Addy Battel 4-H and FFA member

Young people interested in dairy or animal science are invited to spend any of three Saturdays this summer exploring the fun of dairy cattle.

Thumb Dairy Odyssey is a series of fun and educational workshops that will be held in Huron and Sanilac counties in May, June and July, and designed for youths and teens ages 9

I first began the Thumb Dairy Odyssey project after visiting a dairy science program all the way across the state. I had a lot of fun learning more about dairy science, but I began to wonder why there was nothing similar closer to home. The Thumb of Michigan is one of the highest dairy producing areas in the state. So why not get more youth involved?

I want to share my love of dairy with everyone, as we embark on our odyssey through dairy science.

Soon after visiting the program on the other side of the state, I contacted Marianne Buza, dairy educator at ogy (robotic milkers and more), calf the Michigan State University Extension office, for her ideas on how to get more youth involved in dairy. She loved the idea, and we began planning our "odyssey" with the help of Cathy Goulet, Huron County 4-H Program coordinator.

The Thumb Dairy Odyssey program is great for all youth who are interested in dairy science, or simply love to learn about animals. In a series of three, day-long weekend events taking place this summer, youth will learn skills required for successful showmanship and dairy judging, as well as exploring other elements of dairy science in a fun and hands-on way.

Whether kids live on farms or in town, whether they show dairy or dairy steers or don't raise animals, all will benefit and have a good time.

care, and showmanship.

The second event will be Saturday, June 4, at Starward Farms in Sebewaing, hosted by the Sneller family. We'll cover dairy judging, genetics, and the dairy management challenge.

The last session is set for Saturday, July 9, at Roto-Z Dairy in Snover, hosted by the Zwemmer family. Topics will include nutrition, reproduction and breeding, and cow comfort and wellbeing.

Each of the programs will run from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., with registration at 9:30 a.m. Each day will be equally beneficial as a stand-alone event, or you can take on the whole odyssey. The cost is $5 per day per youth, with accompanying adults admitted free, and lunch is included. To register for this event, visit the
