Behind the Counter Prescription records—any time

One "bonus" you derive from making all your prescription purchases at one pharmacy, is the druggist's accumulated record of the drugs you have been taking over the past few years. You may not see the advantage of this as long as you're being cared for by one doctor who is familiar with your medical history. If he should forget what you've been taking, his records will also show which medicines he has prescribed for your condition, in the past.

But someday you may have to describe your aches and pains to a strange doctor, who may ask you what you've been taking for the condition. Usually the patient says, "a little red and yellow pill about that big," and the doctor has to guess which of several drugs you are describing. It's much easier—and safer—if he can contact your pharmacist and check the record of your purchases. The druggist can often tell the doctor not only the type of drug, but the dosage and the length of time you have been taking it. Then the doctor knows what has helped you (or failed to help you) in the past, and can decide whether or not to continue in the same direction, or to prescribe another medication.

This is true in chronic or recurring illnesses, and may be all the more important for the person who is seldom sick, and who hasn't paid much attention to the type of drug given him during an illness he has almost forgotten about.

DELEGATES TO a three-day conference for young farm couples from Michigan were Mr. and Mrs. David Loomis of Cass City.

Future bright, farmers told at Lansing conference

Young farm couples attending a three-day conference in Lansing recently were described by farm officials working with them as "hard headed, hard working dreamers, with their feet firmly planted in Michigan, but with their eyes on the world."

The 30 young farm couples, including Mr. and Mrs. David Loomis, R-1, Cass City, were brought together as guests of Michigan Farm Bureau and affiliated companies in a project aimed at a two-way communication between youthful farm leaders and the organization which serves them.

During the three days, participants were exposed to a variety of farm-service programs ranging from labor recruitment to farm recordkeeping. They reviewed cooperative marketing - bargaining programs, insurance - protection, cooperative purchasing of fuels, feeds and other farm supplies.

Part of one day was spent in a bus tour to Leonard Refinery at Alma, and to a new farm supply center at Saginaw; then the group visited the modern egg-packing plant at Brighton, where computerized machinery cleaned, graded, and sorted eggs on a high-speed assembly line basis.

Hostetter's Hodgepodge Pitfalls of credit many and varied

By Marion Hostetter

Frank Reid told me an interesting tale about a man who managed to fleece the public without committing a crime. It seems this fellow came to town and deposited $3,000 in the bank in a checking account. Then he went shopping at various stores, buying expensive items and paying for them by check. Since he was a newcomer, the merchants would phone the bank to ask whether he really had an account there, and would be assured that he did.

Early the next morning our hero—or should I say villain—went to the bank, withdrew all his money, and skipped town. And, believe it or not, he hadn't done anything illegal. It's illegal to write a check if you don't have enough money to cover it in the bank at the time, but nothing is said about withdrawing the money before the check has been cashed.

This is one thing that makes credit the downfall of so many young businessmen. How much credit to extend, and to whom, and how to make collections . . . If you don't know the answers your business will go down the drain in short order. If you wonder about such problems, why not seek the advice of Frank Reid? He had a remarkably successful record along this line during his many years as manager of the elevator here.

I'll have to keep that idea on file under the heading: "Things to Do on My Last Day in Town." On second thought, I'd better check with a lawyer on my next-to-the-last day in town, to be sure the law hasn't been changed.

Speaking of lawyers, did you hear about the motorist who drew up to the curb in front of a local clothing emporium on the day after New Year's, just as Bill was opening the store in the morning? "Shay, feller, have you got a criminal lawyer in this yere town?" asked the stranger.

Figuring that an irresponsible question deserved an irrepressible answer, Bill replied, "We think we have, but we haven't been able to prove it yet."

The recent feature story about Alma College students Bonnie, Bob, and Mary Lou Spencer reminds me that the state of Michigan is trying hard to make it possible for any eligible Michigan resident to get a college education.

(1) The Michigan Higher Education Authority will guarantee a loan of up to $1,000 a year at any local bank to enable a qualified student to attend college.

(2) Competitive scholarships are awarded to Michigan students, valued at up to $800 a year. A year ago, more than 25,000 took the test; 5,731 received monetary scholarships; and 3,604 (whose families were financially able to send them to college) received honorary scholarships.

(3) In order to give students freedom to choose between a state-supported institution of learning and a privately supported one, tuition grants ranging from $100 to $500 a year

Alcohol Education Council to meet

The annual meeting of the Tuscola Alcohol Education Council will be held at the Caro Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21, at 3 p. m., according to Louis Severance of Akron, president of the group. Speaking at the meeting will be the Rev. Lawrence Malone of Grant, Mich., representing the Michigan Temperance Foundation.

Rev. James Braid officiated at the funeral service Tuesday at 1 p. m. at Little's Funeral Home. He is pastor of the First Methodist Church. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Everyone interested is urged to attend.

Helicopter newest wrinkle in emergency sick care

Many an injured soldier in Vietnam owes his life to a helicopter air lift. Such prompt medical attention may soon be available to those injured on Michigan highways.

emergency cases. The director of the hospital also cites helicopter service as a faster way to transport difficult cases referred from other institutions.

that suspects take a test or forfeit their licenses. Officials are concerned that the law has loopholes which will permit some to escape it.

A person refusing a test in Michigan is entitled to a hearing before a board. Attorney General Frank Kelley has ruled that this hearing needs the full treatment of court procedures.

Service is on a trial basis, but Superior president Walter A. Gutkowski feels that the helicopter rescue unit will bring about a rapid increase in demand for the service.

IMPROVEMENT POSSIBLE

Death can be reduced substantially on the highways any time the people of the state want to be hardboiled about it.

Traffic-clogged expressways which hinder ambulance runs present little problem for the vertical travel of a helicopter.

The trouble is that facing up to the facts can be painful. What is needed is new and stiffer laws which mean that drivers who drink really do go to jail.

Rates for the service are comparable to land vehicles: $30 plus $1.50 per mile. Conventional ambulance rates in the area run $25 plus $1 per mile.

Experience in London could motivate action. A new stiff law there met much resistance, but permitted police to give a "breathalyzer" test to anyone driving.

According to Gutkowski, the helicopter can carry two injured persons and cruises at 90 miles per hour. Its top speed is 105.

University Hospital plans to blackout, fence and light a landing pad 70 feet in diameter and only 100 yards from its emergency entrance.

Michigan's new "consent law" went into effect Nov. 2. The full effect of the law is not yet felt, but the number arrested for drunken driving has doubled.

Several University Hospital physicians have studied helicopter use in combat zones and are confident that the new service will prove its value in

Beware of cut rate seed warns extension agent

Farmers interested in getting something for nothing can buy themselves a lot of disappointment cheaply by using "cut-rate" seed, warns Alfred Ballweg, County Extension Agricultural Agent.

Ballweg warns farmers that cut-rate handlers, who use price concessions, are pushing Atlaswede clover again this year. But Michigan State University research has shown that their contentions are not always true and that over a two-year period Michigan Mammoth will outperform Atlaswede by about two-thirds of a ton per acre per year.

The MSU variety trials have proven that Pennsco, Lakeland, Dollard, and Michigan common medium all out-yield the Canadian develop variety. Research also shows that Atlaswede, a one-cut type, has a high percentage of smooth stems and leaf branches, making it highly susceptible to leafhoppers. It is not recommended for planting in Michigan.

MSU researchers recommend Lakeland, a consistently good performer.

The Agricultural Agent advises that farmers who don't know their seed varieties had better know their seed dealer.

Children's Friend Auxiliary meets

The Lutheran Children's Friend Auxiliary, West Thumb Chapter, held its January meeting at St. John's Lutheran Church at Kilmanagh, Monday evening, Jan. 8.

The Rev. Edward Reinker opened the meeting with prayer, followed by an Epiphany devotion with Mrs. Arthur Haag in charge. Mrs. Haag showed a filmstrip "A Tip or Talent".

Mrs. Clarence Kern presided over the business meeting. Eight members and three guests were present.

A profit of $100.69 was realized from the bake sale held in Sebawaing recently. It was decided to give $125.00 to the Children's Home to be used in the boys' room or to send boys to camp.

Mrs. Kern reported on the Auxiliary Convention held at Peace Lutheran Church, Saginaw, in October.

The next meeting will be held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Linkville, in April. A silent auction will be held.

Refreshments were served by the ladies from Kilmanagh.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Most of the session at the country store Saturday night was took up with how to make a cherry pie. Ordinary, the fellers would leave such items up to their old lady, but the storekeeper had got a memorandum from the Food and Drug Administration through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare advising on the new requirements for Government approved cherry pie.

On account of most of your readers, Mister Editor, probable buys a cherry pie now and then, I borrowed this Government memorandum for my little piece this week. I don't know how much it cost the taxpayers to get out this information on cherry pie, but I would guess around the $20,000 mark. I'll skip the first half of the memorandum and just put down the second half so's the wimmen folks can be safe and sure in this matter.

"Subsection (B): The number of cherries per ounce of a pie, as required in paragraphs (A) (1) of this section is determined as follows: Remove the filling and cherries from the pie and distribute evenly over the surface of a 12-inch diameter U. S. No. 8 sieve (0.094-inch openings) stacked on a U. S. No. 20 sieve. Wash the cherries and cherry fragments free from adhering material with a gentle water spray. Drain the cherry contents on the No. 8 sieve for two minutes in an inclined position (15-30-degree slope). Do not discard the contents of No. 20 sieve. Transfer the whole cherries to a pan and determine the weight of all whole cherries. Count the whole cherries and calculate the average weight per whole cherry. Collect the cherry fragments from both the No. 8 and No. 20 sieves. Weigh the cherry fragments and calculate the whole cherry equivalent based on the average weight per cherry. The number of whole cherries plus the number of whole cherry equivalents is the total number of the cherries in the pie. Calculate the number of cherries per ounce of net weight of pie. If the total is less than 2.7 cherries per ounce it does not quality as cherry pie under the Food and Drug Administration." Clem Webster of the Great Society claimed this was proof our Government cared about us and was looking after our interests. Ed Doolittle was disagreed with Clem, said it didn't prove nothing only we got a heap of folks with their nose in the tax bucket that couldn't find nothing else to do.

Personal, Mister Editor, I ain't crazy about cherry pie and I couldn't care less if they was requiring 2.7 cherries per ounce or 7.2 per ounce. But I was a little disturbed to see where our Government had give the University of Florida a grant of $159,000 to teach mothers how to play with their young'uns. I'm afraid this will ruin the young'uns.
 Yours truly,
 Uncle Tim
