

Two new directors

Development Corporation's share now $100

Although not designed as a money making property, the Cass City Development Corporation has done quite well over the years since it was organized in 1954 to promote Cass City.

Started with $12,500 with stock issued at $10 per share, the present book value of the stock is now a little over $100, according to President Herb Ludlow.

The increase in net worth of the organization has come through two investments. . . one to Walbro Corporation which leases its engineering building from the company and the other from 37 1/2 acres near the present industrial park, known as the Schell farm.

The corporation keeps only enough cash to meet current obligations and the remainder is invested. Presently, the mortgage for 37 1/2 acres purchased for $5,625 has been cut to just $493.75 and the loan for the building under lease to Walbro has been reduced to just $2,900. It is through this lease that most of the profits of the concern have been realized.

At the annual meeting Tuesday, Feb. 20, two new directors of the organization were named. Robert Keating will replace James Gross and Robert Tuckey will take the seat occupied by Luke Tuckey.

Both of the former board members resigned.

Rev. Ira Wood escapes injury

Cass City was featured in two out-of-town accidents during the past week.

Rev. Ira Wood of Cass City escaped with minor injuries in a two-car collision while on his way home from Adamsville where he has spent several days.

The accident occurred near Three Rivers in southwestern Michigan.

Dwight Turner, of Jackson, who was visiting his parents, the Aaron Turners of Cass City, over the week end, struck and killed a riding horse Sunday on the Kingston Road.

The rider, Patricia Ann Liss, 12, of Kingston, was slightly hurt.

$2,000 damage in Gagetown fire

Damage was estimated at $2,000 Thursday in a fire at the home of Mrs. Harry Johnston, Gage Street, Gagetown.

Firemen reported that the fire evidently started because of faulty wiring where the line ran into the basement of the home.

The fire was reported at 1 p. m. and was extinguished in 45 minutes. Damage was confined to the basement. A set of golf clubs was destroyed.

HELLO . . . DAVID? Guess what day this is? This conversation is apt to be repeated a great many times Thursday as wide-awake girls take advantage of a once in four years opportunity. Karen Gaffney, 16, is on the phone with David Osentoski issuing a leap year invitation.

New Cass City pool will hinge on survey results

It just may be that there will be a crackdown in the area on persons who illegally traffic in alcoholic beverages. Cass City Justice Hugh Connolly this week reminded residents that furnishing beer to minors, illegal transportation and similar infractions can bring a $100 fine and as much as 90 days in jail and the assessment of court costs. This could be the least of the troubles.

I'd think that a bigger risk would be that the young boozier would go out and kill himself or someone else in a joy ride and the person who furnished the alcohol would be held jointly responsible.

In a couple of weeks many of you will be receiving a postcard asking for an opinion about whether or not Cass City should have a new, larger pool.

When this card comes do yourself and your community a favor and fill it out. It will be designed so that you can give your opinion by merely checking the appropriate boxes and will be postage pre-paid.

It will not be necessary to sign the card unless you want to and the composite results of the cards returned will be used to make a decision that

Results of a special community meeting Tuesday, Feb. 20, to determine whether the community wants a new, spacious swimming pool were inconclusive and the Cass City Rotary Club voted this week to poll residents to determine the general feeling towards the project.

W. B. Edwards, a registered professional engineer specializing in pool construction, answered questions at the Tuesday meeting and explained pool costs and sizes to members of various men's and women's civic clubs and other interested residents.

He explained that a pool with about 5,000 square feet of surface and with ample deck area would cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. However, he added, a new pool of this type would need both facilities that would cost another $50,000.

The reason for the large capital expenditure for the bathhouse, according to Edwards, is that the facility must meet State minimum health standards.

That means, he explained, that there would have to be numerous showers, "wet" and dry toilet facilities for both men and women and specified locker space. Present facilities would not be acceptable if construction were to start today, he said.

After his talk, a question and answer period was held under the direction of Rotary President Tom Proctor.

INDOOR POOL

One of the first questions was why the community could not build an indoor pool. Edwards explained the big cost here was building the shelter.

"You just can't take an old shed and toss it over the water or even a well constructed building," he maintained. "For when you heat water for swimming, you need something to dehumidify the air and a heating system that will take care of the water and the pool area. . . this is what costs the money," he pointed out.

Don Crouse reported that the new pool was something that Cass City could very well use. As far as an indoor pool is concerned, he said, it might be well to remember that if the tri-county area is successful in securing a new community college, it would include an indoor swimming pool that would service the three counties.

The area served would remove another objection to the indoor pool. . . the prohibitive cost for maintenance with only a limited area to draw from.

FINANCING

While there appeared to be general sentiment in favor of a new pool, suggestions about how to pay for it drew a variety of comments.

It was suggested that the civic clubs raise half of the money and the remainder be raised by taxes. Some favored placing the whole proposition before the voters in the form of a special tax and others were in favor of delaying the project to a more propitious time.

Village President Lambert Althaver said that the village

Open House near for new school

On January 8 the new high school opened its doors for the first time to the members of the four senior grades.

On Sunday, March 10, the school will open its doors to their parents so that they may look over the new facility - from kitchen to chemistry lab. The Chronicle has taken a look, too. In keeping with the occasion, a special section will appear in next week's paper telling the story of the school, its history, its meaning to Cass City and what the educators think about it. Watch for it.

was in no position to spend any of its funds for a new pool. He pointed out that maintenance of the present pool is steadily increasing.

Edwards estimated that the cost of maintaining a pool of the suggested size in a suburban area would approach $10,000 yearly, including taxes.

It was generally agreed that the cost in Cass City of a municipally owned (tax free) pool would be substantially less than this. . . but more than the cost of the present small pool.

CUT COSTS

Although the cost of the facility was estimated at $100,000 it was concluded that this cost could be sharply cut with the use of volunteer labor and equipment.

The first thing that must be decided, all agreed, was whether the community wants a new pool at this time.

To get the grass roots view, the Rotary club is now preparing a post card survey to residents with questions that will attempt to find out the general consensus among all the residents of the community.

Area strikes concluded

Labor peace returned to the area last week as strikers at two nearby plants settled their differences with management and returned to work.

A week ago, members of the United Dairy Workers Local 83 employed at the Nestle Co., Inc., Plant in Ubly ratified a new two-year contract by a vote of 29 to 26.

The close ballot, similar to the close 41-39 vote which ended the Walbro Strike on Feb. 19, ended a 45-day strike in Ubly.

A 39-day strike against Active Industries of Elkton came to an end Friday when members of Local 628, Allied Industries Workers, ratified a new three year contract by a vote of 182 to 114.

Olin Ramseyer, manager of the Nestles plant, said that full production was resumed Saturday, three days after the settlement was reached Wednesday.

At Elkton, a spokesman for Active Industries said that production was resumed at 7 a. m. Friday but that full production would not be reached for several more days.

The pact at Active Industries, which calls for a wage and fringe package of 63 cents an hour for three years, was reached after the union reconsidered its earlier rejection of the same terms. Base rate paid to workers before the pact was $2.38 an hour.

A week prior to the settlement, members of the union had rejected the agreement by a vote of 180 to 118. As a result, the old bargaining committee had resigned.

Owengage residents ask: what's next?

Residents of Gagetown made it as plain as the nose on your face Tuesday night that they are desperately concerned about the future of their school.

More than 100 residents of the Gagetown area turned out on a bitter cold night to meet with the Owen-Cage School Board to discuss what is to become of the school district.

It was standing room only as they crammed themselves into the small cafeteria to hear Allen Fennell, school superintendent, make a pitch for the passage of a special six mill proposal on March 11.

Brushing aside the chance to pick the budget apart, or to take the board to task for needing new tax monies, the residents reached right out for the nitty-gritty and asked: "What's going to happen to us?"

"We are concerned, Burt," said one resident to Burton Roth, president of the O-C school board, "about the millage. But we are also concerned about what's taken place in the past few weeks."

"Could you tell us what the future plans are?"

Questions about future plans came after an embarrassing silence fell over the room for several minutes when Fennell called for questions on the millage proposal following his 20 minute slide presentation on the need for more money.

From the questions and quips that flew about the room during the two hour meeting, it was plain that the residents feel that the days of their school district are numbered and they are willing to accept this as a fact.

"If it's inevitable," said another resident, (speakers did not identify themselves) "why not accomplish it now instead of later?"

A number expressed bitterness that they had been left out in the cold in the discussions between the Unionville and Sebewaing School boards that led to the recent consolidation of the two schools.

"We must look to the future," said Roth, "and not the past." The crises for Owen-Cage came with the recent merger of the two school districts to the west.

Now, surrounded by consolidated systems, the school district is operating an expensive K-12 program for a small school population that is not growing. And it is being forced to seek $70,000 to continue operations.

About the future, Fennell said: "It's a real tough question."

Roth read a letter received from the new school board appointed to operate the newly consolidated Unionville-Sebewaing district in which the board invited the Owen-Cage board to meet and discuss possible merger.

"All they are offering us is annexation," said a voice from the rear of the room.

"What do they want, to talk with us for another 30 years," quipped one of the bitter.

Roth said that his board had a meeting set up with the Cass City School Board on Wednesday and a tentative meeting with the Laker Board sometime in the future.

The audience patiently waded through the complex terminology and steps involved in any dismemberment of their district: consolidation or annexation or property transfer.

Fennell cautioned that the school district could not be broken up unless every child in the district had some place to go.

"You can't leave a lunch sitting in the middle with no place to go."

He said that from what he had been able to determine in his discussions with other school systems that:

- None of the surrounding school districts are willing to take all of the Owen-Cage district.

- None of the surrounding districts are willing to accept any students from the O-C schools until two years from now.

"There wouldn't be much point in turning it down (the millage proposal) then if we are going to have to run the schools for the next two years," said a resident.

To repeated questions as to why the board doesn't take immediate steps to amalgamate in one form or another now, Fennell and Roth answered that "it will take time."

"We haven't even met with the other boards yet."

"How long can we run our own schools?" one resident asked.

"As long as the people support the district or until the state comes through with a more equitable and fair method of school taxation," Fennell said.

The superintendent said that as far as future taxes went, it would make little difference to O-C residents which district they joined because the millage levy at each is about on a par.

"And I guarantee," he said, "that any school district that is not asking for money this year, will have to next year. No school can operate on the finances of today."

Fennell urged that the construction of two new elementary schools - stalled since June - be resumed.

"I have been assured by at least two districts that, if we merge with them they will run these schools as part of the system."

A little sadly, one resident summed up the mood of the crowd: "We don't want to bow to them. We just want to be equal to them."

The only humor - the house came apart - during the meeting happened when one resident asked innocently: "Is politics involved?"

Council sets new budget

Money matters dominated the agenda Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the village council as it approved its 1968 budget, raised sewer rates and borrowed money to pay back bills.

By unanimous vote, the council approved a $213,706 budget for the coming year, a $13,329 decrease in expenditures from last year's record budget which brought with it a tax increase.

The 1968 budget is, however, $11,132 higher than in 1966. No mention was made by the council of any tax increase this year and Lambert Althaver, president of the council, said that none had been considered.

However, after a pause to deliberate, the council did approve a recommended hike in fees for sewer service, effective with the next quarterly payment.

The increase brings the fee for sewer usage up to par with the fee charged for water for all the 725 users in the village.

WHO IS AFFECTED

The hike will hit only those who pay what is termed the "minimum water rate," and those who pay the "maximum."

As Althaver put it, the increase puts sewer rates to 100 per cent of the water rates.

Under the new rates, persons using 5,000 gallons or less annually, and who pay the minimum water fee of $4, will now be charged $4 for sewer usage also, instead of the previous $2 fee.

Persons using between 5,000 gallons and 25,000 annually will not be affected by the hike as they already are charged the same amount for water and sewer based on usage.

Users of over 25,000 gallons, who were being charged 20 cents per 1,000 gallons of water and 15 cents per thousand for sewer usage, will now be billed 20 cents for water usage and 20 cents for sewer.

Althaver noted that this year budget estimates call for about $52,000 in revenue to be derived from these two charges.

Councilman Dr. D. E. Rawson expressed his concern that big users - particularly those who use a great deal of water to keep their lawns - may feel "extremely bitter" about the hike because such water does not drain off through sewers.

MAKES MOTION

However, Councilman Bernard Ross said that he felt the "minimum users" should not be singled out and that the fee should be applied at both ends. He made the motion.

Under the new budget, some $161,706 will be spent for general operations: administration, the water works, the disposal plant, police, etc.

The remaining $52,000 will be applied to street maintenance and new construction.

The 1968 construction program was described by Althaver as one that "is not too ambitious."

"We are pulling back a little bit," he told the council.

Projects for this year will be limited to completing the blacktopping of West Church Street to Weaver and wrapping up the storm drainage on East Church Street from the park to Seeger.

HORROW MONEY

After Councilman George Dillman reported that the village has accumulated some $5,550 in unpaid bills - many due local businessmen, some since October - the council approved a resolution.

Weaver takes reins at Mac and Scotty's

One of Cass City's older businesses will change hands Friday when Mac & Scotty Drug Store will be sold to Mike Weaver, 27, formerly of Mt. Pleasant.

Weaver has been in the drug store since Feb. 20, but the change of ownership will not become effective until Friday, according to the joint announcement made this week by the principals.

The business was purchased from Mrs. J. Glenn McCullough.

Although comparatively young, the new owner has six years of experience in the retail drug business.

He joined a Mt. Pleasant firm after he graduated from Ferris State College in 1962. He learned that Mac & Scotty's was for sale through a friend in the business.

"I was impressed," he said, "with the business community in Cass City and am delighted to be joining what appears to be a progressive town."

Weaver is no stranger to the Thumb. He spent his youth in Elkton and graduated from Elkton High School.

He was married in Sept. 1966 and he and his wife, Toby, have already moved to the community.

We need Meter Maids

By Stan Putnam

What this burg needs is a pretty meter maid to peddle tickets to truant parkers along main street.

Ever since I arrived at the Chronicle late as usual one morning, I've been told a number of times: "You've got guts leaving your car parked out in front of (the Chronicle) like that."

Or asked: "Have you got a ticket yet?"

Well, I confess that I'm a bit callous in my approach toward the parking meters scattered up and down Main Street.

I guess after Detroit, I feel that with all this space Cass City has to spare for parking, even at high noon, no one would be selfish enough to rag me for a nickel.

But I'll make book that I'm not receiving any special consideration from local law enforcement agents - it's just that they haven't seen my truancy yet because of other matters on their minds.

Which brings me to my point.

A city installs meters to make money.

Back when I was young and fresh in Detroit, you could gamble with the odds - six to one or higher - in your favor that you could park downtown without getting tapped for a $5 fine for not paying your five cent piece.

Occasionally there would be a crack down. Wait it out. Take a bus.

But since Mayor Cavanagh instituted the corps called meter maids - booted lasses riding three wheeled motor cycles with their one assignment being to pass out parking tickets the odds are dead against you. But dead.

Now, all you have to do in Cass City is to get the village council to create the post, advertise for some handsome lass with time on her hands who'd like to pick up a bit of extra change, outfit her perhaps in a modified go-go costume, get her a bicycle and you're in business.

And you'd be making money too. Even if it was only enough to pay a meter maid salary, think of the pleasant diversion it would afford Main Street businessmen who, on slow days, don't have anything better to do than look out their front windows.

We've gotten some static ever since "Our Fitz" took after Gov. Romney in his column for chancing pneumonia out in New Hampshire by campaigning without a top coat in sub-zero temperatures.

Recently we received a note from a "Romney Fan," enclosing a magazine article based on a recent book published about Romney, his ways, and his presidential hopes.

The fan alleges that the article rebuts "Fitz's" argument that Our George didn't wear an overcoat just to be different while he greeted workers at a plant gate.

The magazine story recounts - as did a chapter in the book - the fact that Romney always wears a "temple garment" (an undergarment much like long-johns) under his suits as part of his practice of Mormonism.

As far as I could figure it personally, Romney didn't wear an overcoat, earmuffs, scarf, hat, hood, and/or mittens in the 15 degree below freeze because he was told not to wear them.

It wasn't because he wore a long undergarment or sought to stand out from a crowd of bundled up humanity.

At a special press briefing for reporters who chased after the Gov.'s caravan in New Hampshire during January, we were told by Romney aides: "We have to make him look like a fighter. Tough. Persistent."

Why? Because Romney is, by all odds, the underdog in the New Hampshire primary and has a long way to go to catch up to Dick Nixon.

"That's why we had him stand out there in the cold for two hours."

Thought For Lent

Job lost all — gained all

By the Rev. James Braid

The story of Job is drawn in black and white and the exaggerations are startling.

We find Job sitting in a pile of ashes with his friends. No one said anything. Finally Job broke the silence and he said "I wish I were dead."

You might say, "Come now, things are never as bad as they seem. Every cloud has a silver lining. Things will get better."

Or you might have taken a sterner view and said, "You've got to snap out of this depression. Try to look on the bright side of things."

You might have taken a more practical view and said, "You've got to take the bitter with the sweet. After all you've had good times and your share of success. It is only fair now that you should have your share of troubles."

If you were an agnostic you might say, "There is no justice you know. There is no need to look for it. You have to take life as it comes. Nobody knows where the lightning will strike next. Don't ever expect much and you won't be disappointed."

Job's comforters told him "Man is born to trouble as the sparks fly upward." God punishes sin with tragedy. We can never know all of God's ways but we know his punishment is always less than we deserve.

How would you feel if your friends told you this. You would question their friendship. If you are like Job you wouldn't find much comfort. They tried to apply a theological formula which had some truth in it but which was not the whole truth.

When selecting material for slippers, choose a closely woven fabric. You will find that it protects against dust, holds its shape well, and wears well.

Job's words were: "I know that thou canst't do all things and that no purpose of thine can be thwarted. I had heard of thee by the hearing of the ear, but now my eyes see thee."

The love which Job discovered gave him initiative to pick up the pieces and start over again. May each one of us in this Season of Lent discover in Christ and the cross God's nearness and his love which will enable us to live with the mysteries of life we can never fully understand with our mind.

Start children's immunization now

If your child will be entering school for the first time this fall, now is the time to begin his immunizations, says Dr. Robert E. Rowe, county health officer.

The law requires that a statement, signed by a physician, be submitted stating that the child has been protected or immunized against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, measles and poliomyelitis. A test to determine the presence of tuberculosis is also required.

Your family physician can provide these immunizations and the tuberculosis test, but it is best not to wait until the last minute, cautioned Dr. Rowe. Everyone will be trying to obtain them at that time.

If for any reason the child cannot be taken to a private physician, the Thumb District Health Department can provide these services at their monthly immunization clinics. This month it will be held Feb. 29 from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m.

AROUND THE FARM

Light may guide way to top yields

By Alfred P. Ballweg

Could management of light increase corn yields? According to some work done by the Agricultural Research, U. S. Department of Agriculture, it could.

A phenomenal yield of 377 bushels of corn per acre on an experimental plot supports a theory that light, or the lack of it, is the chief limiting factor in present-day corn production.

During the past 10 years, farmers in the Corn Belt have increased corn yields from 65 bushels per acre to more than 100 bushels per acre through use of hybrids, fertilizers, irrigation and modern equipment.

Pendleton and Peters nailed boards together and covered them with heavy-gauge aluminum foil, creating reflectors 18 feet long by 6 feet wide. They placed the reflectors on the north side of a border row of corn planted in an east-west direction, about 2 feet from the row and angled so that light would be reflected into the lower and middle leaves of the corn canopy.

interior rows. All plants were watered and fertilized to achieve optimum growing conditions.

Yields from the light-rich interior rows and half again as large as the border rows that received normal sunlight. Plants in the light-rich areas were shorter and had thicker stalks. Multiple-ear plants occurred more frequently in the light-rich areas.

The researchers tried three seeding densities in their experiment. Normally lit plants fell farthest behind the reflector-lit plants when seed density was highest, because normal sunlight could not penetrate the canopies of closely spaced plants.

On sunny days, the reflectors heated up the air in front of them by 3 to 5 degrees C. Some tip burning and leaf rolling was observed in the light-rich areas.

In earlier studies, Pendleton and Peters experimented with strips of white plastic spread between rows of corn to bounce sunlight up into the lower leaves of the crop. The technique improved yields by about 20 percent. Whether or not these light-reflecting techniques prove feasible on a large scale, it appears likely the next big breakthrough in corn production must come through better management of light.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Here's an interesting statistic from the National Basketball Association that shows how much running the average player does during games. . . . It's been estimated that professional basketball players wear out a pair of basketball shoes every three or four games!

Ever wonder what was the longest successful shot ever made in a basketball game? . . . Until this season, the record was held by an Alabama player who some years ago made good on an 88-foot shot. . . . But a new record was set earlier this season by Jerry Harkness, a player in the American Basketball Association. . . . He heaved the ball 92 feet in a desperation shot which traveled the length of the court and went into the basket! . . . That stands as the longest goal in basketball history.

Here's an oddity about the National Hockey League this season. . . . Philadelphia is in the Western Division of the league and Chicago is in the Eastern Division -- but Philadelphia is more than 600 miles east of Chicago!

Winners never seem to find fault with the referee's decision.

A FOREST OF HANDS go up for the ball after a shot by Ron Weippert went astray in the last regular season game of the year against Vassar Friday. The Hawks lost in double overtime, 78-77.

Whew! Hawks bow in double overtime

One of the larger crowds of the season turned out for the final game of the regular season Friday against the Vassar Vulcans and they were rewarded with the most exciting game of the year. Cass City dropped a 78-77 decision in double overtime. Cass City actually lost the game from the foul circle. They hit only a miserable 48 per cent from the charity lane while outscoring the visitors from the field 60 to 56. The Hawks had numerous chances to salt away a victory in the dying moments of the regular season and in the first overtime period, but were unable to cash in. It looked for awhile as if the game was going to be a repetition of the first encounter between the two Thumb B Conference foes when Vassar waltzed to an easy win. The Vulcans moved out in front by eight points in the opening stanza only to see Cass City come roaring back to trail by just three points at the end of the quarter, 18-15. The Hawks continued to rally in the second quarter and moved into a one-point lead by intermission, 35-34. Vassar gained a one-point advantage in the third quarter and at the three-quarter mark the game was all even, 48-48.

Joe Graham had an opportunity to salt the game away in the dying moments, but failed to cash a couple of charity tosses. However, his crucial buckets earlier in the game kept the Hawks in contention.

John Maharg had a chance with last second shots from outside to win for his team, but failed to connect.

It was Maharg, as usual, who led the Hawks. He scored 31 points in the losing effort and played a strong defensive game before finally fouling out in the last minute of the second overtime.

Vassar could point to the play of two boys for its win. Earl Hunkins played a strong defensive game, causing several Hawk turnovers while whipping in 27 points.

In the overtime, with two of Vassar's best rebounders fouled out, Ron Frederick personally took over. He scored the key baskets and did a yeoman's chore rebounding to keep the Vulcans close enough so that they could finally pull the game out in overtime. He scored 27 points to tie with Hunkins for point honors for his team.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Vassar's Junior Varsity had little trouble with Cass City's JV team in the preliminary as they walked off with a 74-53 decision.

Dale Ashmore scored 14 for Cass City and Mark Zwerck hit 42 for Vassar.

It Seems To Me

Take a close look at war stories

By Rev. R. J. Searis

"Why," asked The Christian Century, "the step-up in atrocity stories? Each story may be true; atrocities are common in war, and they take place on both sides. But the question is why these and similar accounts are being released in the U. S. at this particular time. Dating back to last summer, why were they withheld until now? What purpose can it have other than to try to win support for its Vietnam policy through the passionate emotion such stories arouse?" We ought always examine the time and place of releases doled out to us by the military leadership there. So It Seems To Me!

A Minneapolis poll shows that people regard the advice of clergymen as better than that of lawyers, bankers, beauticians, taxi drivers and bartenders. Ranking higher than ministers as counselors, however, are dentists, doctors and parents.

The Gallup Poll now reveals that church going is once again on the increase after dropping slightly for ten years. About 51 million adult Americans attended church worship services in a typical week. Church leaders privately had predicted a continuation of a slight drop in church going.

Already the rise in city crime rates is becoming an issue in the political campaigns of this fall. Part of this rise in urban crime is related to last year's race riots. Two extremes in handling this problem are voiced by Roy Wilkins (moderate in his approach to the problem and leader of the NAACP) when he said, "The get-tough policy does not pay and it does not work." He made that statement in reply to one earlier made by Police Chief Walter Headley of Miami who had announced he was declaring war on hoodlums. Headley declared that 85 per cent of Miami crime is committed by Negroes and that he would use shotguns, police dogs and special task forces to keep order. We are amazed that any police chief finds it necessary to announce that he, and his force, are doing something beyond a war on hoodlums. What else have they been doing? Do we really want to find a remedy for crime or do we prefer to use crime suppression as a means of accomplishing other objectives? This question will be asked of all good police forces in the nation by their own leadership.

This column from time to time brings you humor. Try this humorous bit, with the explanation that the punch line appears in the very last sentence. A king who ruled a small island empire loved animals so much he outlawed all hunting. The animals soon overran the island, eating all the food and making life for the natives so unbearable that they finally revolted and killed the king.

This was probably the first time in history a reign was halted on account of game!

STRIKES

In Uby, Nestle Co. employees won a 22 cent an hour wage and fringe package over the next two years. The base rate was $2.49 an hour. Fringes include increased hospital and pension benefits.

The strike by some 70 workers at the Nestle plant, which processes milk for Viet Nam, began on Jan. 8. The Active Industries, struck on Jan. 15 by its 450 employees, produces stampings for the auto industry.

Cass City Frosh split a pair

Cass City's Freshmen split a pair of games during the week. The Hawks lost to Marlette, 59-46, Wednesday, Feb. 21, and defeated Frankenmuth, 62-47, Monday.

Kim Hopper posted 22 points for Cass City. Dan Calster netted 10 and Dave Mutch scored 19 for Marlette.

Against Frankenmuth, the Hawks turned the tables on a club that earlier had defeated them by 28 points. Coach John Bifoss said that the team played well on defense and controlled the backboards.

Scott Guernsey and Dan Calster scored 15 for Cass City while Kim Hopper chipped in 13.

For the season, Cass City won four and lost eight. In a "B" game, Cass City dropped a 45-37 decision to the Eagles. Jeff Spencer scored 18 for the Hawks which played the final two periods with four players.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Zeke Grubb was telling the fellers at the store Saturday night it was mighty hard for a feller like him that was raised in the horse and buggy days to get used to the speedometer of life today. He said he has saw where 195 people could cross the continent in five hour in a jet, get served three meals, see two picture shows, read a magazine and play a few hands of poker.

Clem Webster said he also had the bad luck to be raised afore we crossed the New Frontier and arrived in the Great Society and good life. But he said the difference between him and Zeke was his family had the horse but no buggy.

Like I told you onct afore, Mister Editor, when the fellers at the store git to talking about the days of their youth they usual end up in a lying contest.

But Ed Doolittle brung them back to 1968 by announcing he had saw where the Environmental Science Services Administration was the name the Government was now giving to the Weather Bureau and that, with this fancy name, natural they was asking the Congress fer a big increase in funds. They was claiming they needed this money to study and buy equipment so they could predict the weather as much as a week in advance. As it was now, they claimed, they couldn't git a "accurate forcast" more'n two days ahead. Ed said he was agin this extra fund request, claimed he could git the weather fer the next two year out of his 59 cent Almanac.

Clem was defending the Weather Bureau, said the Great Society was gitting on the automatic and doing everthing scientific. Fer instant, he said he saw where one Government agency was making real tasting bacon from soybeans and hog feed out of oil.

Bug Hookum was disagreed with Clem on this item, claimed we might as well feed the soybeans to the hogs, make bacon the old fashioned way and use them research millions to buy color televisions fer them that was on the welfare program. Farthermore, said Bug, if everthing used as much oil as his 1954 car, we was going to need all the oil we could git in this country without feeding it to the hogs.

Personal, Mister Editor, I'll have to admit the speedometer was gitting a little too fast fer me, too. Fer instant, I saw a ad in the papers about new homes fer sale that had "large woodburning fireplaces." I didn't know they was anything

When the Albert Pick free week end trip contest started several weeks ago, it was announced that only selected hotels would be available.

But when Mrs. Ella Cumper won she failed to understand this and asked for reservations in a Chicago Pick motel. . . and got them.

This week's winner, Carl Palmateer, reported with a grin that he guessed he'd try Florida. . . and he might as well because if they nix Florida he can always go to the other locations previously announced in the contest.

This is the sixth week of the contest. There will be four more winners before the free trip offers are discontinued by the 21 participating merchants.

Cattle price climbs in Thumb

Two area livestock agents report this week that the price of beef on the hoof has gone high.

"The cattle market," said Robert Labor, manager of the Michigan Livestock Exchange east of Cass City, "has been awful strong the last couple of weeks."

"It has been throughout the nation."

A report from Chicago states that slaughter steer prices last week - advancing to 50 cents a hundredweight - are the highest they have been in 22 months.

Frank Fullmer, operator of the Fullmer Livestock Yards Inc., in Caro, said that he noticed the price increase last week.

"Some have gone up, but not all," he said, "it depends on the type of animal."

Fullmer said that in the past week steers have been sold at $29 a hundredweight as opposed to $26.50 in prior weeks.

But he cautioned that there was a price spread of $2.50 depending on the quality of the beast.

"In the upper bracket," he said, "the price of lightweight choice steers has gone up $1.50."

He also said that, while the price for hogs is "slightly lower," the price of high choice veal calves, at $47.50, is higher than past months.

"It always is at this time of year, though," he said.

Labor said that choice steers in his yards are selling at 29 cents a pound, as opposed to 26 to 27 cents in recent months. Fed Holsteins are selling for 27 cents a pound.

"I'm even selling cows at 22 cents," he said. "That's awful low for cows."

He said over the past three or four years cattle prices have climbed during January and February. "Choice (animals) are scarce."

Neither Labor nor Fullmer felt they could estimate how long the strong market will last. "It's hard to tell," they both said.

Deaf receive $25 for new day camp

At its monthly meeting the Thumb Area Hearing Association received its first $25 contribution toward a summer day camp for hard of hearing and deaf children to begin in June.

The contribution was given by the Tuscola County Chapter of the Michigan Education Association.

The day camp is being organized to provide stimulating activity and experience for the hard of hearing and deaf children in the area. The project is the first undertaking of the newly formed association.

Any interested parent wishing to have their child enrolled in the day camp should contact Mrs. Leona Kellitz, 1619 E. Caro Rd., Caro, phone 673-4918, for an application.

Any group or individual desiring to help in this project either through financial contribution or volunteering service may offer assistance through Mrs. Leona Kellitz.

Millington Firm seeks redress

A Millington firm this week filed a damage suit for $50,000 in Tuscola County Circuit Court charging that it had lost this revenue through the negligence of two firms which handled a shipment of a head turret lathe.

The V. W. Kaiser Eng., Inc., of Millington named the Eazor-Daniels Co., of Ohio, and the W. H. Nechen Co., of Flint, as defendants in the suit.

Kaiser claims that the two firms were negligent in shipping the lathe which Kaiser had ordered late last year and, through this carelessness, the lathe fell off the trailer when it was being unloaded.

Kaiser said that it cost the firm $25,000 to have the lathe repaired and that lack of the lathe caused a six months interruption in production.

Annual meet for board Mar. 8

Mrs. Merna Goss of the office of planning will be the featured speaker at the annual dinner of the Tuscola County Social Services Board Friday, Mar. 8, at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility in Caro.

Mrs. Goss will tell of the changes from the State that the county can expect in the future.

Also revealed will be the annual report of the social services board in a meeting slated in the supervisors' room at the courthouse in Caro, Morley J. Bates, secretary, reported.

Gary Lee Simmons and Thomas Clement have been named valedictorian and salutatorian of the Senior Class of Kingston High School. The announcement was made recently by J. G. Schwartz, principal. They will head a class of 45 students.

Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Velda Simmons, Kingston, has compiled a 3.743 point average. At the present time he is serving as president of the student council, previously serving as vice-president.

A member of the National Honor Society, Simmons plans to attend Bethel College.

Thomas, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clement and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Clement, Kingston, has compiled a point average of 3.628. He attended Kingston Elementary and Junior High Schools and continued his education in Marlette and Chesaning before returning to Kingston for his senior year.

Recently Clement was inducted into the Kingston Chapter of the National Honor Society. He was also named as a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition. While at Chesaning, Clement served as president of his Junior Class.

Following graduation, Clement plans to attend the University of Michigan, majoring in liberal arts.

Other top ranking students at Kingston include: Brett McLaughlin, Barbara Bragg and Connie Collins.

Drews named to top Rotary post

The Cass City Rotary Club elected officers for 1968-69 at its regular meeting Tuesday at the New Gordon Hotel.

Named president was Richard Drews. Other officers are Lambert Althaver, vice-president; Ken Eisinger, secretary, and Gary Anderson, treasurer.

The new state will be installed at the regular meeting of the club July 2.

Roger Marshall showed a film of a 500-mile snowmobile race as the guest speaker.

Conservationists to meet here

The report of election results for two directors and an address by Dirk VanderVoet, Michigan soil scientist from the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, will highlight the annual Tuscola County Soil Conservation District meeting Thursday.

The meeting is scheduled at the Cass City Cultural Center at 1:30 p. m.

In other activities, FFA demonstrations will be given by Cass City FFA Chapter, Lyle Clarke, instructor.

The FFA trophy award will be presented to Caro, Kingston and Reese with an introduction by Maynard McConkey of Cass City.

One For The Road

Take 15 years ... be a magician

By Dan Marlowe

How to become a magician in ten easy steps:

1. At age 9, have a grandmother, the late Mary Woodward of Bad Axe, who gives you a book telling you how to do simple magic tricks.
2. Have a minister, Rev. John Roach, then of Pigeon but now of Brown City, who is an amateur magician and encourages you to go on to more complex tricks.
3. Have the perseverance to practice daily until you can do thirty minutes of close-up table magic.
4. Have the desire to go on to the larger illusions and the good fortune to meet Larry Thompson of Livonia, better known as "La-Thom the Magician," who serves as your mentor.
5. Have a father, Ray Woodward of Pigeon, who turns over his workshop, his spare time, and his valuable suggestions for the creation of special magic effects.
6. Have a mother, Helen Woodward of Pigeon, who cheerfully volunteers to be the lady sliced into six pieces and the lady floated in mid-air.
7. Have a sister, Lynne Watson of Rochester, with more than enough good looks and stage presence to serve as your chief on-stage assistant.
8. Have a brother-in-law, Bill Watson of Rochester, who serves capably on the microphone as back-stage narrator.
9. Have an aunt, Mrs. Raleigh (Mildred) Woodward of Lapeer, who deftly runs up colorful costumes for the female assistants.
10. Put it all together and stage a two hour SPECTACLE

OF MAGIC show featuring a colorful Galaxy of Silks routine, the Arabian Tent illusion, the Toy Shop routine (in which the lady gets sliced into six pieces and miraculously reassembled), the Guillotine, the world famed Asra Levitation act, the almost unbelievable Escape Box, and many, many more feats of magic too numerous to mention.

R. B. (Brent) Woodward, formerly of Pigeon and now of Harbor Beach, is the man who successfully put together the above listed ingredients, and in matinee and evening performances the other day he proved for 120 minutes of each show that the hand is indeed quicker than the eye.

The backstage area at Brent's shows is a revelation to the novice in magic: a table loaded with audio equipment; racks of costume changes; individual scripts for the narrator, the man on sound effects, the men on lights back-stage and up in the balcony, and for each of the four girl assistants; and more than 250 separate components of the various illusions, all carefully labeled and arranged in precise order so the assistants can produce them on stage when necessary. A hundred hours advance preparation would be a conservative estimate of the time Brent Woodward put into his show exclusive of rehearsal and performances.

So you can see that there's nothing at all to becoming a magician if you get yourself born into the right family and don't care what you do with the next 15 years of your time.

BRINGING in the bad news, Owen-Gage's Superintendent Allen Fennell (standing) tells taxpayers their district is running in the red and will need $70,000 more if the school is to continue operating. Owen-Gage will vote millage March 11. (Related story on page one.)

Jet Cadets hold pantomime party

Thirteen Jet Cadets attended a "Pantomime Birthday Party" Friday at the Baptist church. The party was designed to honor or famous persons having birthdays in February.

Participating in the pantomimes were: Kathy McArthur, Wendy Ware, Cindy Ware, Mark Shaw, Brian Helwig and Debbie Canfield.

Miss Mary Hanby and Mrs. Edith Ward were in charge. Refreshments were served and games were played.

The Jet Cadets meet each Wednesday evening in the church annex at 7:30. The group includes youngsters in grades one through six.

COUNCIL MEETING

proved a motion to borrow $6,000 for 90 days.

Action came after it was pointed out that total cash on hand amounted to $5,500, with this earmarked for the weekly $1,354.54 village payroll. No tax income is due until April.

Althaver said that the problem stems from the fact that the village ended the year with only a $2,200 surplus left over from the 1967 budget.

At the beginning of 1967, the village had $29,000 left over from the previous year, he said, and in 1966 the figure stood at $40,000.

In supporting the action, Dr. Rawson noted: "I'm sure we would not allow these businesses to pay us in such a way if they owed us money."

In other action:

The board received its annual audit report from the firm of Yeo and Yeo of Saginaw.

Appointed William Schram as the village's street administrator to coordinate street maintenance with the state highway department.

Coming Auction

Saturday, March 23 - Ernest Cook will sell cattle, milking equipment, farm machinery and feed at the farm seven miles east, two miles north and 3/4 mile west of Uby on Priemer Rd.

Advertise it in The Chronicle.

Spelling always was inconsistent

How do you like ghoughpht-heightteeau chips? If consistent spelling rules were ever enforced, Americans would be munching them by the millions. A 19th century doctor, exasperated by the inconsistencies of English spelling came up with this version of "potato" by combining the gh in hiccough, the ough in dough, the phth in phthisis, the eigh in neighbor, the tte in gazette and the eau in beau.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Has anybody seen my $46,000?

By Marion Hostetler

"A couple who spent a night at Pocahontas Motor Lodge, Williamsburg, Virginia, brought back a card with the following message which they'd like to share with you:

IF YOU PLAN TO SMOKE IN BED

Inform the Hotel Desk where to send your remains.

Leave a list of your nearest relatives at the Desk.

Leave your Last Will and Testament with the Clerk.

Check your insurance policy; make sure premiums are paid.

Inform the guests on each side of you of your intention to endanger their lives.

Advise others on your floor to check the nearest exit or fire escape.

While we're on the subject of smoking, here's a letter from L. D. Kanouse that was published in HEALTH:

"I figured up one time that a pack of cigarettes a day at 30¢ a pack would come to $100 a year. If a person started at 15 years of age putting this same amount to work at 6% annual interest, at the age of 60 he would have $23,290.00... and an income on that date of more than $1,000 a year. Yet I have heard people with a cigarette hanging out of their mouths say: 'I can't afford so and so.' Would you feel proud to stand up before God and say: 'Forgive me for burning up $23,000 in my lifetime.'"

I told my kids that I knew an easy way for them to earn $23,000. They were so enthusiastic about it that we figured they could save at least an equal amount by not drinking until they were 60. That would be $46,000. Then Don asked, "Dad, where's the $46,000 you saved by not smoking or drinking?"

I never can seem to put the younger generation down!

Lucille Nickelsberg was in Israel with her husband for four months on a business assignment a couple of years ago.

Later, they wanted to visit some other countries in the Near East. They found it necessary to secure new passports...

because if the stamps in your passport indicate that you have been to Israel, you won't be permitted to enter an Arab country like Jordan or Egypt.

The Egyptians seem to think, "Anybody who's a friend of Israel is no friend of mine."

An interesting example of "guilt by association," or "a man is known by the company he keeps."

****

We take notice of things that appear to have meaning, or that reinforce some favorite belief of ours. That must be why I noticed that Roy Brown lives at 4321 VanDyke Road and Raymond Wallace lives at 4321 Argyle Road. Gertrude Stirton lives at 4567 Seeger Street. Cliff Croft's phone number is 2345; Clare Carpenter's is 2468.

Of course there isn't really any meaning to a street number of 1234 or 4321, but since it appears to have meaning, we notice it. I remember seeing a garage in Detroit at 12345 Woodward Avenue... an address worth hundreds of dollars in advertising value.

Because of this quirk of human nature, we need to watch ourselves lest we find significance in something that was really meaningless. If we think of a certain person as a spendthrift, each time we see him buying something we tend to think he's wasting money.

A noted scientist said that he made a particular effort to note any exception to rules or laws in which he believed, because he knew the tendency of human mind to make the facts fit into preconceived categories.

****

In a letter from a friend on the West Coast whom we have known for many years:

"Of our large family there are just two of us left. A friend here says that's what happens to large families. But small families are that way from the start."

****

If I ask you to bring me a file card, I may mean a card suitable for use in a filing cabinet, or a wire brush used for cleaning the kind of file mechanics use.

Zontians name nominating committee

A nominating committee to select a slate of officers of the Zonta Club of Cass City was elected at the club's regular meeting Feb. 20 in the New Gordon Hotel.

Named to the committee were Mildred McConkey, chairman, and Lottie Konwalski and Esther McCullough.

A report on the club's recent Antique Show was received, one that indicated there is a growing interest in this type of show.

Plans were formulated for the annual Zonta Club rummage sale and a report of the proceeds of the Gingerbread House was given. The next meeting will be held on March 19.

COMPROMISE
Difference of opinion presents no problem to peoplewise enough to split the difference.

"Tell it to the Marines" is an expression older than the United States. British sailors thought that their Marines were capable of swallowing any yarn and often warned a story teller that the Marines might believe him but the sailors wouldn't.

At our meeting on Feb. 22 we had 22 guests from Pigeon. Our total attendance on that day was 84 Seniors.

Many thanks to your fine reporter and to you for the write-up and picture.

The Tuscola County Federation of Farmers' Clubs will observe the 25th anniversary of the organization of the federation at Caro.

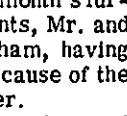

B. J. Dalley of Cass City was chosen to be a delegate for Tuscola county at the Democratic County Convention held at Caro.

The belfry and the walls of the cloak room of the Heron school in Grant township were damaged by fire.

The demand for good work horses in Michigan exceeds the local supply; few people realize that the number of horses shipped into Michigan each year from other states has increased more than six-fold during the past eight years and now exceeds the number of colts produced annually within the state.

Satisfied citizens made no effort to change village officers as these people were nominated

Evergreen

by Barb Dorland & Darlene Wentworth

On Washington's birthday a play entitled "George The Poem Maker", was presented to the students of Evergreen. The actors were the students on Gerold Lewicki's team from Mrs. Gray's room. Since Gerold's team lost the contest to see which team could get the least demerits for poor behavior in class, they had to present this play!

I remember when I was in second or third grade, our teacher decided to have one of these demerit-type contests, only it was on an individual basis instead of on a team basis. It was really rough trying to sit through school all day without talking and not to answer a question unless your hand was in the air and the teacher called on you! By the time the teacher usually got around to calling on you, the answer as well as the question could be forgotten!

But for some the worst part of the whole thing was getting the demerits. Such a big thing was made out of it by the students and the marks were posted next to your name on a huge chart on a bulletin board! Evergreen played two basketball games against DeFord Friday. Evergreen defeated DeFord in both games by the scores 32 to 10 and 36 to 12.

W. Campbell Elementary

On Washington's birthday many of the classes in the Elementary school presented plays. Ann Whittaker, who is in third grade, told me of the radio play some members of her class presented for other classrooms.

The announcer for this play was Susie Benkelman and the characters were:

- Brian Helwig - George Washington.
- Scott Hendrick - Robert E. Lee.
- Mike Drews - Benjamin Franklin.
- Danny Erla - Abe Lincoln.
- Eric Frederick - Robert Frost.

Also on Washington's birthday the third graders in Mrs. Howarth's room recited several choral poems to other classes.

Three classrooms of fourth graders went to see sheep sheared! They took a bus to Hutchinson's farm and watched a ewe being sheared. They also learned that lambs are born with long tails, which have to be cut off. Janice Heckroth, who wrote a report on their trip, spoke for her class when she wrote, "We THANK Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson for the fine time!"

Mrs. Quick's second grade has just finished a unit on the Solar System. They learned all about the planets, the sun, and of course Earth.

Many of the rooms in the elementary school are making puppets and writing and presenting plays with them!

Mrs. Retherford's fourth graders have been studying weather topics, and have used pictures, diagrams, and sometimes experiments to illustrate their reports.

CASS CITY INTERMEDIATE

The Intermediate school has formed their own student council! The representatives were chosen on Feb. 13. They are:

- 8th grade - B. J. Haire, Robert Jordan, Brad Uhl, Martin Osentoski and Bev Dorman.
- 7th grade - Drew Guernsey, Mark Postuszny, Kip Hopper, Patti Rabideau and Roy Sef-ton.
- 6th grade - Gevin Bennett, Lois Field, Henrietta Cooklin and Mike Frederick.
- 5th grade - Carolyn Smith, Brent Uhl, Diane Gould and David Eberline.

Mrs. Blinder's Room - Karen Ashmore.

These representatives and their sponsors - Mr. Doerr and Mrs. Tuckey - held their first meeting 2nd hour Monday. At this meeting they chose their officers. They are:

- President - B. J. Haire
  - Vice-president - Drew Guernsey
  - Secretary - Patti Rabideau
- Last week the seventh grade tournaments were held at Cass City. Monday night Cass City played Caro and lost, but on Tuesday night they played Frankenmuth and won.

Friday the Intermediate school had another Pep Assembly for Saturday night's tournaments. In the assembly some boys from the seventh and eighth grades were called out to the center of the floor to do the chug-chug, a cheer which is almost as important to Cass City as the school song. Mr. MacTavish gave a Pep Talk and introduced the seventh grade players. A spirit jug was also held and the eighth graders won again.

The Junior Magazine Sale started Tuesday morning. The goal was set at 2,000 dollars for the class. The Juniors were offered two candy bars for every subscription that they sold the first night, and what is really neat is that some sold 10, 11, or 12 subscriptions; therefore, they got 20 or more candy bars when they were handed out Thursday!!! (And they were good candy bars too!) By Thursday afternoon after school, we had gone over half way toward our goal.

In selling these magazines you get all sorts of reasons why people won't buy any. Such as, "I've got bad eyes," or "No time to read!" Some people don't even bother to answer the door. (Misery is selling magazines in the middle of February especially when people don't answer the door!)

Wednesday morning The Thumb B Student Council meeting was held in the library of our new school. The Council is planning a big dance for sometime in April. They have contacted a number of bands and hope that "The Rationals" will be able to make it. If everything works out, it should be one of the best dances yet!

Since the last regular game was Friday, we had a special Pep Assembly. In the assembly the senior basketball players - Dave Sherrard, Joe Graham, Mike Murphy, John Maharg, Ron Weippert and Don Hostetler, and the senior cheerleaders - Brenda Powell, Kally Pine and Gloria Stine, were all honored since Friday night was the last time they would ever play or cheer on the home floor.

Also receiving recognition were Debbie Boylan, Pep Club President, and Coach Wynes. Mrs. Bifoss, the Cheerleader's coach, was given a special recognition with each of the cheerleaders giving her a long stem rose. (All-in-all she got 18 long stem roses!) The pep assembly Friday was to be this year's last, so the tie between the Freshmen and Seniors in the Spirit jug had to be broken. I think everyone expected the judges to give it to the Seniors, but the judges surprised us and gave it to the Freshmen, making them the winners of the spirit contest for this year.

CLUB NEWS

The Ski Club had a meeting Tuesday night to organize everything for Saturday's trip. The club left Saturday morning at 7:00 a. m. for Silver Knob for a great day of skiing.

The FHA had a meeting Tuesday. They decided to follow the French Club's example and have another bake sale during the lunch hours on March 7 and 8.

Wednesday night the GAA had their regular basketball practice. The club decided to invite Caro's and Laker's GAA's to our school for some games.

TID BITS

I don't see how some sport fans can say that there is nothing they like better than a game so exciting that it has to go into double over time. Maybe it's okay when your team isn't playing, but when your team is - it's enough to give you heart failure! I think the whole student body of CCHS felt that way last Friday in our game against Vassar.

Agent's Corner

By Mrs. Ann Ross
Extension Agent

With the new removables -- removable wall paneling and wallpaper -- you can truly "take it with you." These new developments in wall coverings give your home a new look that's transportable.

Assembling the removable paneling is so simple it's a do-it-yourself project for most, says Mrs. Ann Ross, Thumb Extension Home Economist. And as an extra added attraction, it's not damaging to any wall.

Special adhesive strips join the paneling to the wall magically and permanently until you want to take it down. The joints between the panels are filled with a snap-in plastic molding. When it's moving time a gentle tug at one corner is all the persuasion the paneling needs and it's off in a jiffy. Wallpaper is now just as removable -- a boon to the apartment dweller who doesn't want to invest in paint and paper he can't take with him. Even those who own their own home may find the paper easier to take off -- especially nice in event of a move.

Any wallpaper can be made removable with a special new liquid base coat which works well on all kinds of wall surfaces. Once the base coat is dry, you paper in the conventional way, but use a special ready-mixed paste.

Do you need a special kind of paper? Not at all; any kind will do. And it will stay until you decide it goes. Then it can be rolled up and moved. You can number each panel consecutively for easy re-handling on new walls, Mrs. Ross says. More special paste? The new walls need only be treated with the release base coat, but the same paper can be rehanging by simply wetting the back. No new paste is necessary.

Every time you run a traffic light you're betting your life against a few seconds time.

When children must share toys, set the timer on your oven or an alarm clock to signal the end of each turn. This usually stops arguments, and the youngsters enjoy taking turns.

NFO ALL-Commodity Holding Action Is Gaining Strength And Winning

GRAIN A WINNER!
Why? Because all that NFO members and all other agriculture producers have to do to secure 1.50 per bushel on corn, $2.00 on wheat, $3.00 per bushel on soybeans, $2.25 per cwt. on grain sorghums and comparable prices on other grain commodities is to follow the advice of the NFO. The first step non-members have to take is to join the NFO and support their efforts.

NFO has advised its members to:

- Block their production together for nationwide block bargaining by using the NFO Grain Bank for grain cannot be sold for less than the above prices or the imposition grain sales program which gives members the opportunity to make the individual decision as to the period of time in which the grain will be sold. The purpose of this is to block the production together so that buyers of grain cannot buy from individual members but must fill their need from the production block together. This prevents dribbling out the supplies, prices go up, so NFO prices can be reached.
- Seal all the grain eligible for loans. This serves two purposes. They can get about as much money by securing the loan as they can get by selling their grain and by retaining ownership, they can take advantage of the price increases that are sure to come. It also serves notice on grain buyers that the grain is being securely held.
- SIGN UP 50% IN THE FEED GRAIN PROGRAM. THE PURPOSE OF THIS IS TO SHOW THAT WE ARE NOT EVEN GOING TO PLANT 50% OF THE FEED GRAIN BASE. THERE IS NO USE PLANTING THE CROP IN NORMAL FASHION UNLESS WE GET A PRICE FOR OUR PRESENT PRODUCTION.

The above three steps are sound and will assure victory. Grain prices have already started up. The effect of grain being put under loan is building. As of February 1, a shocking total of 183 million bushels of soybeans were under loan, 347 million bushels of corn under loan, with 275 million bushels of this stored on the farm. This is compared with 192,873,000 bushels sealed last year. There is now 238 million bushels of wheat under loan as compared with 122 million bushels for last year. The feed grain sign up is running very high.

NFO has been using its super-contract bargaining structure for house canvass of members to get grain sealed and a sign up on the grain program. This effect will build and must be added to.

MEAT HAS BEEN ADDED

Meat has been added to the NFO all-commodity holding action. NFO target prices include approximately 23c per pound on hogs; 32c per pound on cattle; 29c per pound on lambs.

Already price gains have been recorded, but do not use day-to-day prices or receipt fluctuations as a yardstick to measure progress. It is the overall, long, hard-pull waiting to CONTRACTS AND PRICES that will bring the real results.

DAY TO DAY FLUCTUATIONS IN PRICES AND RECEIPTS ARE UNIMPORTANT. PROCESSORS AND BUYERS HAVE ONLY ONE WEAPON TO USE: TRY TO MAKE EVERYTHING APPEAR NORMAL SO THAT PRODUCERS OF AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES WILL LOSE HOPE.

Receipt figures are only figures and production can be juggled from market to market. But receipt figures do not meet processor needs. Only agricultural production meets their plant needs and producers own that production first.

To show how unreliable government receipt figures are, on one day at Kansas City there were 4,944 cattle. NFO members count showed 2,800. Chicago reported 4,949 hogs. NFO members count showed 2,651. And there are hundreds and hundreds more similar examples that could be reported, showing the concentrated effort on the part of industry trying to break the NFO struggle.

From station WIRL, Peoria, Illinois: "We feel that this NFO holding action has made a substantial decline in the marketing, particularly here at Peoria. We had only 12,000 hogs this past week as compared to 18,000 a week ago and of course an 18,000 running period as compared to a year ago. This gives a slash in number of about 33% in our area. One of the things that the NFO should be COMPLIMENTED ON is that they have NOT ASKED FOR ANYTHING UNREASONABLE. They are asking for $23 hogs and $32 cattle which is well within reason, when you consider the other segments of our economy, and here we are at the highest level of economy in our nation's history while parity prices on agricultural commodities are at the 1934 level!"

But there is a news blackout in some areas on the NFO all-commodity holding action because the powers to be are trying to keep agricultural producers from pricing their products. NFO realizes this will be a long, hard battle but producers own the food first and if they refuse to sell their products, they will get contracts and their prices.

There is about a 5-day meat supply in storage and three days in transient. Light-weight hogs and cattle are being slaughtered, thus reducing future tonnage. This all-commodity holding action is proving that producers have enough strength to raise the price.

NOW WE MUST KEEP ON HOLDING UNTIL WE GET OUR CONTRACTS AND OUR PRICE.
How long it takes is unimportant. The important thing is that the job is done so that they can get their price from now on.

LET'S GET WITH IT "NO PRICE, NO PRODUCTION"

All non-members should immediately join the NFO to become a part of the effort. The NFO has had the greatest surge of new members in the history of the organization. Agricultural producers by the tens of thousands are realizing daily that NFO offers the only hope and is leading the fight for fair prices.

THE ALL-COMMODITY HOLDING ACTION COVERS THE AREA FROM MAINE TO CALIFORNIA, AND FROM THE STATE OF WASHINGTON TO FLORIDA. NFO IS NOW ORGANIZED IN 40 STATES.

Milk and other commodities will be added at the opportune times so that NFO can reach a climax of strength on all commodities at about the same time, so that it will be truly an all-commodity holding action designed to shut down the agricultural plant if necessary until contracts and prices are achieved.

FALSE RUMORS ARE BEING SPREAD BY PROCESSORS AND BUYERS THAT THE NFO HOLDING ACTION IS ABOUT TO BE CALLED OFF. THIS IS ABSOLUTELY NOT TRUE. THE ALL-COMMODITY HOLDING ACTION WILL CONTINUE UNTIL CONTRACTS ARE SIGNED AND NFO PRICES ARE SECURED. AGRICULTURAL PRODUCERS MUST GET THEIR PRICES NOW!

There is almost no opposition of agricultural producers to the effort, but this is not enough. Every producer should join the NFO now, no one except NFO members and other sympathetic producers want NFO to win. Some rural businessmen, bankers, PCA officials realize that accounts receivable nor can loans be paid unless the producers get a fair price for the production they now own.

THE ONLY WAY PRODUCERS CAN GET A FAIR PRICE FOR THE PRODUCTS THEY NOW OWN IS TO REFUSE TO SELL THOSE PRODUCTS AT THE PRESENT LOW PRICES. THE ONLY REASON AGRICULTURAL PRODUCERS ARE RECEIVING THEIR PRESENT LOW PRICES IS BECAUSE ENOUGH OF THEM PRODUCE AT THESE LOW PRICES.

The decision that agricultural producers are making this day, this minute, this hour and in the days and weeks ahead will determine whether they get their prices and contracts or whether they are going to continue to receive their present low prices.

The NFO is not asking producers to desert their present farm organization-but to join the NFO for purpose of uniting agricultural production through NFO collective bargaining program to secure contracts and fair prices.

If the thought of buying a new furnace bothers you, read this new Three-Step Protection Plan.

- First, call Edison. We'll give you the names of electric heat contractors near you. Each has been Edison-approved as capable and reliable.
Next, the contractor will check your home, review your needs, and recommend the type of heat best for you. He will estimate both installation and operating cost and give them to you in writing. All without obligation. We'll check the quotes if you like.
Then, after your new electric heat system is installed, Edison and your contractor will make any adjustments necessary to the system if operating cost exceeds the original estimate during the first three years of use. At the end of this time, if operating cost still exceeds the estimate, and you aren't satisfied, Edison will remove the system and refund your original price.
