

Voters okay 6-mill levy

Owengage in good position-Fennell

Regardless of what the future holds, taxpayers in the Owengage school district demonstrated Monday that they are ready to pay for education for their youngsters.

They did it by authorizing extra school tax for the second time in as many years at a time when community after community has been flatly turning down extra millage propositions.

Monday they authorized a six-mill tax levy for two years by a vote of 288 to 215. In February 1967 they okayed a $425,000 bond issue for construction of new classrooms.

The increased operating levy will enable the district to cover an estimated $25,000 operating deficit this year, Supt. Allen Fennell said, and enable us to meet our present obligations as well as estimated increased operating expenses.

The additional funds solved one of the problems of the district and plans are going forward to find solutions to two others that the district has been wrestling with, Fennell reported.

"I think this district is in a good position", Fennell said. We have met with the school boards of Sebawaing-Unionville, Lakers and Cass City and all have said that they would welcome us.

The survey showed that 59 voters favored consolidation with the Unionville-Sebawaing district.

Fennell said that it was likely that a new consideration of the proposed high school site would be necessary for Owengage to consider joining this district.

The voters were asked where they would like to go if they could transfer individual property.

267 favored Lakers.
176 favored Cass City.
15 favored Unionville-Sebawaing.

76 were undecided.

In the comment section of the survey 13 persons said they favored having the district remain intact. Indicating the interest in the proposal, 70 per cent of the ballots were returned.

County employees push for union

Members of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors were informed Friday at their regular monthly session in Caro that county employees in the courthouse and jail are forming a labor association.

Quentin O'Dell said that he appeared before the board so that the supervisors would know what was happening and to show that the organization attempt was not being conducted "behind their back".

The union will be used to settle grievances with the board, O'Dell explained. He said that other than wages he was not prepared to specify the nature of the grievances.

The first meeting of the organization was held Monday night. However, no cards have yet been signed and no official count of the number of workers who will join is available. The group had organized using department heads, but later learned that they are not eligible to join.

O'Dell said that at this time plans call for just a "local association". We do not intend to affiliate with any national organization unless we see that it is needed when we talk over our problems with the supervisors.

The union spokesman said that officers of the association will be named and further organizational details completed at a second meeting that is expected to be called in the near future.

No injuries in minor crash

Injury was avoided in a two-vehicle mishap Monday night at the corner of Bay City-Forrestville Road and Cemetery Road.

A pick-up truck driven by Gerald Prieskorn, 36, of Cass City and a car driven by Joseph Robert Edwards, 19, of rural Bad Axe collided.

Prieskorn reported to Cass City Patrolman William McKinley and deputies of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department that he had stopped for the four-way stop intersection when the car driven by Edwards hit the right rear fender and door of the truck he was driving.

Edwards reported that he did not stop at the corner as his brakes failed and he did not have time to pump them again. The front end of his vehicle was damaged.

A table in the truck was also damaged in the collision.

Edwards was ticketed for failure to stop for a stop sign.

Mrs. Marjory E. Hoppe, 50, of Cass City suffered cuts and bruises in the collision of automobiles driven by her and Peter N. Kandell, 49, of Carsonville. The accident occurred on M-53, near Thomas Road, 1 1/2 miles west of Bad Axe, Monday afternoon.

WAS IT SPRING or the new school that brought this couple to the open house at the new Cass City High School Sunday afternoon?

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Since the Chronicle published its special school section last week, two persons said that we did not give enough credit to Supt. Donald Crouse.

One of the critics is very close to the scene. No one knows the hours he spent putting across the bond issue and the nights he worked ironing out construction details, our informant said.

I'll second this appraisal. Certainly, if you were to single one man's effort for the new school it would have to be the superintendent.

But when it comes to writing features, it should be remembered that our superintendant has been here four years . . . and the odds are great that we'll have plenty of time in the years ahead to tell his story.

With his talent he'll be recognized.

For the fourth year in a row, Cass City medical facilities and drug stores are sponsoring a message that points out the dangers of poison in the home.

How much good does it do? According to a survey before, during and after poison prevention week last year, the number of inquiries increased sharply when the publicity appeared nation-wide.

There is no doubt, authorities say, the continuing emphasis has developed a serious interest in childhood poisoning . . . both prevention and proper cure procedures.

Coach David Martin of Caro got away with it but he almost didn't. At the district tourney at Caro Friday his Caro Tigers were leading by 11 points with a minute to go and he flooded the floor with reserves.

When he called time out with four seconds remaining on the clock, Cass City trailed (according to the scoreboard) by just three points and had the ball. John Maharg scored and time ran out with the score supposedly 55-54.

Gratifying, says board Throngs see high school Sunday

"It's a little different from when we went to school, isn't it?" "I look, here's where we have our art class." "Kinda plush, ain't it?"

These were comments overheard Sunday afternoon as an estimated 2,500 persons crowded into the new Cass City High School for the open house inspection.

"It was extremely gratifying to us", said board President Horace Bolen, "that so many persons are interested in our school and we appreciate the turn-out and the many favorable comments that we received."

The response was so great that board members unofficially were saying that maybe it would be a good thing if an open house were held again next year.

Then the taxpayers could see just how the school was progressing after a year's use and after all the bugs have been ironed out of the operation, they said.

Board members were official greeters to the throng Sunday.

After the tour visitors were served refreshments by members of the Cass City Chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Top rating for band

The Cass City High School band received an unexpected lift Saturday when the unit was awarded a Division I top rating at the annual District Band Festival held at Delta College.

It was the second I rating in seven years for the band which earned the top rating at the 1966 district.

Judging on a one through five basis, the band was given two one ratings and a pair of two ratings. . . . to just slide into the top ranking.

The judges liked the appearance and the behavior of the band. They said that the players had good intonation and technique and showed good potential.

They criticized the players for tempo fluctuation and a tendency to over blow.

In sight reading the band was given a two rating.

JUNIOR HIGH

The Junior high band also competed at the district level Saturday and received a Division III rating. The judges said the band was very weak in general technique and intonation. The band also lacked precision, the judges said. They remarked that there were some good individual players and the size and appearance of the band was impressive. They regarded the unit as having a good potential for improvement.

No upsets in village elections

Richard Burdon lost in a write-in bid for president of the village of Gagetown, but was elected as an unopposed candidate for trustee Monday in regular spring balloting for village offices.

Cass City's election was uneventful as the nominated slate was elected without opposition.

Gagetown incumbent president Elery Sontag, who ran on the Democratic ticket, defeated Burdon 70-34.

He was one of three Democrats named Monday. Others were Trustees Harvey Polk and Adam Deering.

Republicans elected were: Burdon, trustee; Mrs. Leota Ashmore, clerk; and William Ashmore, treasurer.

Place Althaver on board at Walbro

Lambert Althaver has been appointed to the board of directors of Walbro Corporation, it was announced this week by W. E. Walpole, president.

The appointment capped a rapid rise for the young executive. He joined the company in September 1954 as an accountant. He was named assistant treasurer Dec. 1, 1956.

Six years later, Nov. 1, 1962, he was named vice-president, finance, the position he holds today.

Althaver replaced Russell Woodard of Owosso on the board, Woodard resigned several months ago.

Althaver is a business administration graduate from Principia College, Elmhurst, Ill. While employed at Walbro he left the parent company for three years to manage the Omro Products Co., a subsidiary of Walbro. He returned to Cass City when the plant closed.

With board's help

Boosters bring band blazers

Vic Guernsey, a member of the Cass City Band Boosters Club, appeared before the Cass City Board of Education Monday night seeking a third of a loaf and ended up with more than half a loaf instead.

The board agreed to come up with 60 per cent of the "bread" needed for new blazers for the Junior High Band if the Boosters would dig up the remaining 40 per cent.

The commitment by the board was based on a total cost of $1600 for 80 blazers with the school paying $960 and the band boosters $640.

When he first approached the board, Guernsey was asking the board to furnish a third, the Boosters a third and planned to ask business and industry for the remaining third.

"I'm against going up and down the street asking the businessmen for more money", Don Reid said promptly . . . and the remainder of the board agreed.

After considerable discussion, it was decided on the 60-40 split which Guernsey said he felt sure that the Band Boosters would agree to. We have a little over $900 in our treasury, he explained.

The board placed one tiny string on the appropriation. It insisted that the buying committee consult with Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn and Don Koepgen for approval on the type blazer selected.

Students will be expected to have dark trousers to go with the new blazers, it was disclosed.

BAND FORECAST

Band Director William Ferguson appeared before the trustees with his forecast for the next five years If his prognostications are correct Cass City's band program will jump by leaps and bounds.

He told the board that he expects a total of 326 persons in the various bands in 1973. There will be 90 in each of the beginning and junior bands.

The 146 students in the high school band will need to be broken into two bands at this time, he said.

Ferguson also outlined what he felt the department should have in equipment next year.

In addition to the replacement of instruments that the school buys (the more expensive one) he asked for a high fidelity stereo tape system for $700, 10 new music stands and additional band uniforms of the larger sizes. Replacement uniforms cost about $100 each, Supt. Donald Crouse remarked.

The board deferred action on these requests.

HUNTER SAFETY

The school will include four hours of hunter safety instruction in the curriculum for junior high students next year. The course will be taught by the State Conservation Department. There will be no shooting.

OTHER BUSINESS

Ed Doerr explained the new package insurance program the school is under and said that it is some $700 less than the previous scattered policies.

He was told to check the amount of liability coverage carried and to report back to the board.

The board voted to transfer any claim that they had to Ferguson School property to Mrs. Thelma Pratt.

The transaction was needed so that Mrs. Pratt could have a clear title to the property. Actual records concerning the land have been lost, but it was agreed that when it was no longer used as a school the Ferguson site would revert to the original owners.

AFL-CIO to sign workers

Pending verification by authorities that a majority of the affected employees have signed cards indicating they wish to affiliate, the Cass City School Board said Monday that they would not request a special election to determine whether employees should be represented by the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 547 (AFL-CIO).

The board was informed in a letter from James Wyman, financial secretary, that the employees wished to join the union. Members had previously been organized but were not affiliated with any national union.

The only provision stipulated by the board was that the new union not include the head cook, head custodian or assistant head custodian who are regarded as being in supervisory positions.

The union will represent the cooks, bus drivers, boiler operators and all other non-teaching personnel at the school with the exception of the secretaries.

Centralized OB ward profitable for hospitals

Because obstetric (maternity) wards in hospitals must be kept separate from other areas they pose a cost problem to administrators everywhere. When no babies are arriving, the maternity ward lies idle and brings no revenue to the facility. The problem is compounded when there is a limited number of patients.

For this reason officials at Cass City Hospital and Hills and Dales General Hospital decided Jan. 1 to centralize obstetrics at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

William Stanley, administrator at Cass City Hospital, says that the move has released beds for regular patients . . . making a more efficient operation.

The increase in patient load at Hills and Dales should help defray costs at that facility.

Centralized OB service here follows a pattern established in many other communities where the patient load is not heavy enough to warrant departments at every hospital.

Stanley said Monday that no other change in the service at Cass City Hospital is contemplated.

Area counties receive pay in lieu of taxes

Payment to the three upper Thumb counties in lieu of taxes from the State Department of Conservation has been made for land owned by the State and used as conservation lands. The three were among 40 counties in the southern lower peninsula to receive payments.

Payment was made at the rate of 61 per cent of the amount that the land would generate in tax funds.

Conservation officials say that the remainder of the money will be paid if the legislature okay a deficiency appropriation.

The amount owed increased this year because of the increase in State valuation.

Tuscola county received $17,186.47. Sanilac's share was $3,990.28 and Huron county's payment was $5,004.78.

THE FUTURE

And the future of the district; the third major problem that persons in the district are seeking the best solution for.

As a starter, a survey has been conducted to determine just what the people wanted.

Charter members feted Gavelites observe 25 years

Cass City Gavel Club commemorated 25 years in Cass City Tuesday, Mar. 5, with a social ladies' night meeting at Bella Vista restaurant in Seville.

The silver anniversary observance was highlighted by presentation of plaques to Dr. Fritz, Dr. K. I. MacRae and Lester Ross, the three original Charter members still in the club.

Ross was the organization's secretary. Also feted were Dr. Esther McCullough, Mrs.

Lucille McCullough and Mrs. Lucy Starman. The three are widows of members who were able to attend the celebration.

The gavel club was originally formed to "write, give speeches and learn parliamentary law", but rapidly became a full-fledged civic club.

Over the years, one of the primary interests of the club has been the Cass City Recreational Park. With an investment of over $30,000 the club has built the football, softball and baseball field. For years the community has had the most modern track due to improvements completed under club sponsorship.

The park is still of primary concern to Gavelites. Members plan to develop the latest addition to the park as soon as a master plan is developed by the village.

For years the Gavel Club operated with a restricted membership of 25 persons. Recently, members voted to increase the membership to 30, although the five open chairs have not yet been filled.

SPORTS FANS!

By H. M. Buleen

Do you know when the first NCAA championship basketball tournament was held, and who won it? ... First one was staged 29 years ago, in 1939, and the first school to win it was the University of Oregon.

Did you know that in the entire history of the NCAA basketball tournament, an Eastern school has won the championship only three times? ... The only Eastern schools who have ever won it were Holy Cross in 1947, CCNY in 1950 and LaSalle in 1954.

Here's an amazing fact you may not have known about UCLA's basketball team that won the national championship last season ... UCLA won the NCAA title even though they did not have one senior on the squad! ... All the players were sophomores and juniors ... No other team in the history of basketball ever won the NCAA championship without a senior.

Community Lenten services Sunday

The first in a series of Sunday evening community Lenten services will be held in the Cass City Church of the Nazarene, on Third Street, March 17 at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Marion Hostetter, minister of the Presbyterian Church, will deliver the sermon. Special music will be furnished by the host church.

Other services of the series will be conducted as follows: March 24, in the Methodist Church, with the Rev. Ira L. Wood, of Salem EUB Church, speaking.

March 31, in the Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Richard Spencer, of the Church of the Nazarene, speaking.

April 7, in Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church, with the Rev. James Braid, of the Methodist Church, speaking.

The community is invited to participate in these services of the season of spiritual emphasis.

Varsity Club to benefit

Alumni to return in all-star clash

Some of the stars of recent vintage at Cass City High School will be returning Saturday, March 30 when the Alumni All-stars face the Broadway Harlem Clowns in an exhibition.

Joining the former Hawk greats will be Cass City's coaches James Wynes, John Bifoss and Ron Bass.

Heading the alumni will be Walt Hampton, who went on to grid greatness at Central Michigan. Others fans will remember include: Larry Robinson, Bob and Roy Tuckey, Jim Walters, Bob Morley, Ed Retherford, Dale McIntosh and Robert Watson.

The benefit game is sponsored by the Cass City High School Varsity Club. The Clowns are one of the best colored traveling basketball teams.

The unit plays 150 to 160 games a year. Featured is Andy Sheppard, the team clown and also one of the nation's best cagers.

Matt Jackson is the team's rebounding ace and Leroy Alexander, a guard, is a top-play maker and dribbling star.

In addition to the game, fans will be treated to the usual array of trick passing, comedy, ball handling and fancy shots associated with the team for 35 years.

PRELIMINARY GAME

In addition to the feature attraction, a preliminary game between six grade teams will be played. It starts at 7 p. m. Tickets for the contests are available from any member of the Varsity Club and will be 25 cents cheaper than tickets available at the door.

Article tells of speech program in Tuscola County

Ronald Laeder of Caro and William Francis, formerly of Caro, have an article in the recent issue of the Journal of Speech and Hearing Disorders. Laeder is coordinator of the speech correction program in Tuscola county and speech therapist in Millington and Mayville schools. Francis formerly was with the Tuscola Intermediate Office as a speech therapist in Cass City and Unionville. He is now at the University of Florida.

The article describes an annual workshop for high school students with a stuttering problem, that is part of the program in Tuscola county.

An organizational meeting of the Cass City Little League will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room at General Cable Corporation, Dean Hoag, president, announced this week.

All managers, coaches and others interested in the league are urged to be present.

Officers will be elected.

FB women plan spring events

A Study Committee of Tuscola County Farm Bureau Women has begun a series of discussion and survey sessions, from which will come recommendations to the organization later in the year.

A select group met with the coordinator of women's activities for Michigan Farm Bureau, Helen Atwood, March 6 to review changes in people, communities and agriculture in the 23 years the group has been organized.

Placing emphasis on structure, participation and programming, the study committee, headed by Mrs. Ford Boyne of Marlette, Mrs. Stanley Lagos and Mrs. Clare Carpenter, both of Cass City, will consider member needs and people involvement.

Later the same day, at the regular monthly meeting of the farm women, 25 gathered at the Farm Bureau Center's new conference room to hear Miss Atwood relate activities that members of the State are involved in.

Dave Cook of Sandusky, new regional representative, spoke on legislative matters affecting the farmer.

One For The Road

He conned her. .
but how much ?

By Dan Marlowe

The well-dressed man lingered near the cigar case until the line of restaurant customers paying their checks had moved past the cashier. He stepped up in front of the girl then and placed a restaurant check for 45¢ and a $20 bill on the counter. "Sorry to hit you with a $20 this early in the morning," he said easily. "I was sure I had a $1 bill, but I guess not. I'll take as many singles as you can spare, by the way."

The cashier placed the $20 bill on the front of the register, then counted out 55¢ in change, 9 dollar bills, and a $10 bill. The man picked up the change in his right hand and the bills in his left. "I believe I'll take a pack of cigarettes, too," he said, pointing to his brand in the rack on the cash register. "It wouldn't be my luck that you're a single girl and don't have a date tonight?"

The girl looked at him for the first time as she placed the cigarettes in front of him. He was pleasant looking and had a prosperous appearance. She said nothing, but turned her hand over so that her wedding ring was visible. "I'll bet you take it seriously, too," he sighed as he handed her 35¢ for the cigarettes. He slipped the remainder of the change into his pocket, then removed his hand and looked at a $1 bill in it. "Look at that, will you? I knew I had a single." He started to add the $1 bill to the bills still in his left hand, palmed the single, and thrust the remaining bills toward the cashier. "Here. No need for me to take all your singles. Give me a $10 bill for this."

The cashier took a $10 bill from the register and handed it to him. "You do take the wedding ring seriously?" he asked as she started to re-count the bills he had handed her. She nodded, smiling faintly. He shrugged and turned away from the register, pausing a few feet away to open his pack of cigarettes. "Sir!" the cashier called to him. He looked in her direction, and she beckoned. She showed him the $10 bill and the nine ones. "You gave me $19 instead of $10 in singles, sir."

"Now that's what I call an honest girl," he said warmly. He looked at the $1 bill again visible in his left hand. "Shows what happens when a man's distracted by a pretty girl, doesn't it? Sure you won't reconsider about tonight?"

"I'm sure, sir."

"Just my luck," he repeated. "Well, thank you very much." He dropped the $1 bill on the counter. "Add that to the $19 and you can give me back my $20 bill," he said. "That way you'll still have your singles. And I sure wish you'd change your mind about that date."

She shook her head, smiling openly, as she handed him the $20 bill on the front of the register. "Last chance?" he said after starting to turn away. She repeated her headshake. He saluted her with a flirt of his hand expressing regret, walked out the restaurant door and down the street, stopping in at a five-and-ten and picked up a 45¢ bag of candy from a counter, and approached the girl cashier with a $20 bill in his hand. "Sorry to hit you with a $20 this early in the morning," he began.

(Question: exactly how much money did the film-fam artist short-change the restaurant cashier?)

Mrs. Mary Kritzman Phone 872-3108

The RLDS Women's Department will meet Thursday evening, March 21, at the home of Mrs. Robert Sawdon of DeFord with Mrs. Don Smith as cohostess. Roll call is a favorite painting and members are asked to bring a picture or painting, if possible.

The RLDS church will observe a fellowship evening with a simulated Hawaiian Luau Sunday night, March 17. A potluck supper of salads and Hawaiian dishes will be served at 7 o'clock and later Lillian Dunlap will show slides of her trip to the islands last year. Anyone is welcome.

LAING F. B. MEET

The Laing Farm Bureau met recently at the home of Mrs. Ben Burnison with five families and two visitors present. Chairman Frank Pringle presided and Secretary Marie Meredith read a letter from Mrs. Clara Carpenter who will be guest speaker at the March 19 meeting. This meeting will be in the Shabbona Community Hall with Urban and Shabbona Farm Bureau groups as guests. County board member, Laurence Hyatt, reported on the county board meeting.

Women's committee member, Mrs. Frank Pringle, gave an exhibit on flower arrangements.

Laurence Hyatt led the discussion on "The Changing Role of Local Governments."

Miss Flora McRae of Detroit spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McRae.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunlap were in Saginaw on business Tuesday.

47th ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Adam of Marlette celebrated their 47th wedding anniversary with a dinner Saturday at the Crossroads Restaurant.

Others in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Adam. Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Bruce Adam's sister, and Russell Adam, a brother of Mr. Adam, were attendants at their wedding.

Anne Mitchell, owner of Crossroads, who personally served the party, also served at the bride's table as a girlhood friend 47 years ago when they were married in the home of Mrs. Adam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stitt of Shabbona.

Mr. and Mrs. Art VanVleet of Caro were Tuesday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hirsch.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunlap were Sunday afternoon and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Trisch and family in honor of the birthday of Ronnie Trisch. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Trisch of East Dayton and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Klink of Caro.

Mrs. Ken McRae and Susan were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. William McRae.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bader were Mr. and Mrs. Grant Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Watson and son Steven and Mr. and Mrs. George Woodard and children, all of Caro.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Milligan and girls of Ilemans were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Albert Leslie. Other visitors were Mrs. Robert Wallace and girls of Hemlock, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Behr and Mrs. Dale Leslie and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hirsch were Thursday supper and evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Chard.

The Bunco Club met Saturday evening at the Shabbona Community Hall with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wallace as hosts. Sally Masten won first prize, Harvey Foote won second, and low prize went to Mrs. J. D. Masten. Traveling prizes went to Mrs. Paul Phillips and Lloyd Bader and door prize to Andrew Hoag.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sawdon and children and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brauer were visiting Sunday near Oxford. Mr. and Mrs. Brauer spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brauer and family. The Sawdon family were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mann and family and supper guests of the Lyle Brauers.

Mr. and Mrs. Voyle Dorman visited relatives in Flint Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hoag, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vatter and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Behr were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hill Jr. and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Kritzman and Mrs. Elsie Roback spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kritzman of Snover.

Mr. and Mrs. Clara McQueen enjoyed dinner at Frankmuth in honor of their 12th wedding anniversary Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Woodward and Mrs. Bill Woodward attended a bridal shower Sunday for Marion Linderman in the Lutheran School in Harbor Beach.

CASS CITY

In Cass City the only new member of the council will be Edward Golding Jr. who was named to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the late Glenn McCullough.

Re-elected were: president, Lambert Althover; clerk-treasurer, Ruth M. Hoffman; assessor, Mac O'Dell, and trustees, George Dillman, Dr. Delbert Rawson and William S. Selby.

Michigan State University's College of Education works with 120 Michigan school districts in its teacher-training programs. During 1966-67, more than 2,200 MSU students participated in the programs.

AROUND THE FARM

Certified seed worth the cost

By Alfred P. Ballweg

Without good high quality seed and pure as to variety farmers would be severely handicapped in the production of high yielding crops. A farmer already has one strike against him in producing a crop if he starts with poor seed. Trying to save money by not buying the best certified seed is like trying to save time by stopping the clock.

Tuscola County farmers produce the best certified seeds grown anywhere in the United States. Why? Because Michigan has one of the best programs for maintaining varietal purity and field and bin inspection of any other state. Therefore Michigan farmers who plant Michigan certified seed have a built-in hedge against crop failure.

Certified seed costs more to produce but it is worth the additional cost.

According to drill box surveys weed seed is higher in non-certified seed. In the Illinois 1966 soybean yield contest 57 growers reported using certified seed as compared to 31 producers who planted non-certified seed. The average yield for certified seed was 50.17 bu. per acre while non-certified seed yielded 45.09 bu. These are convincing arguments for the use of certified seed.

Until recently the potential seed buyer was faced with only two classes of seed to decide between -- certified and non-certified. He could choose certified seed and be assured of high quality seed, or take a risk in buying noncertified, or "common" seed. But today the seed buyer must decide between several classes of seed. Some of these choices are, so to speak, "second- or third-class cousins" to certified seed and thus give the implication that they are about equal in quality. Most of this seed is sold as "year from certified." Other seed is being sold as "from certified," or "verified." It is ironic that these kinds of seed are able to compete with certified seed because of the very fact that certified seed is so highly regarded.

Whether seed is labeled as "year from certified," "from certified," or "verified," the buyer is taking what may be a very expensive gamble. The problem arises from trying to define the meaning of these designations. How many generations has the seed been increased away from certified seed? Even one generation from certified may well represent the chance for loss of genetic and varietal identity. This generation gap has caused both Michigan and the International Crop Improvement Association to drop the Registered seed class in the certification program. In contrast to this almost everyone knows what is meant by certified seed. The definitions, as well as the rules and regulations for producing certified seed are clearly defined and established by law. These are available to everyone, and there is no doubt about the meaning and quality of certified seed.

So keep in mind when you are offered seed advertised as "from certified" or "verified" you are not buying "certified seed."

Thought For Lent

Bread alone is not enough

Fr. P. Pijnappels

NOT ON BREAD ALONE ... Or, could it be done? Could a person live on bread alone? You may like your bread - toasted, French or otherwise - yet if you never tried or had to live on bread alone, your eyes would lose their usual sparkle and take on a hazy, far-away glance as you keep repeating to yourself: bread alone, without any of your favorite trimmings, even without the most ordinary spread to go with it. . . . Try as you may, the question never takes on the spectral proportion of a real problem as long as you know yourself within safe reach of your refrigerator, stocked with neat rows of fresh eggs, cartons of juicy bacon, and the freezer compartment bulging with packages of choice steaks.

What with our surplus of agricultural products and prices steadily on the decline on the grain markets, it seems like a sad fairy tale that there actually have been - and still are - plenty of real people to whom bread alone was a grim reality. To them, bread became synonymous with life, and there wasn't anything they were not willing to part with to secure a supply of bread. In the winter of 1944 in the City of Amsterdam, Holland, a house was traded for a loaf of bread.

Reduced to its simplest format, life can be sustained on bread alone. As long as a person has at least bread, his life is safe. The Lord did not teach us to pray for our daily bacon and eggs - the daily bread is all He inserted into the Our Father. In the long run, the diet will turn out monotonous; even the Jews got "fed up" with the manna which they, in the relief of its first appearance, had praised as bread from heaven.

Fact is that - under unusual circumstances - a person can make do with less than bread. There isn't even a slice of stale bread in the survival kit of the night crews of the Strategic Air Command. During their training they are taught - and learn by experience - that practically anything that moves has some nutritive value - and that the delicacy of a lizard is in its tail. Persons have managed even to survive for a surprising length of time without any food, merely maintaining the basic level of body fluid. Do you remember the saga of Ralph Flores, the Alaskan bush pilot who, after his plane crashed in the Alaskan wilderness, lived for 50 days with his passenger in sub-zero temperatures and by the time of their rescue, had for 6 weeks subsisted on nothing else but melted snow. Their feat was surpassed by Moses who at the time he received Yahweh's laws stayed on Mount Sinai "for forty days and forty nights, eating and drinking nothing" (Ex. 34:28). So, it was no news to Christ that a person can survive on bread alone - and even less if need be; He knew this also by personal experience: just when He said: "not on bread alone. . . ." He had completed a fast of his own, 40 days, without food.

To pinpoint the precise sense of the Lord's saying you want to put it back in its original context. The phrase was part of the dialogue between Christ and the Tempter, occurring at the end of the fast which preceded Christ's ministry. The scene was not arranged for our benefit: it was a serious - as - death confrontation between Christ and Satan, with the initiative originating from Satan intensely interested in discovering the nature and purpose of Christ.

Reading the scene as recorded by St. Matthew (4:1 ss.) you will notice that in his first try the Tempter did not resort to any kind of deal as he did on his two following attempts; he was cautious not to show his cards and merely suggested a little trick.

There is no doubt that Christ had taken on a perfect human condition submitting him to the whole gamut of human experiences: He felt the pangs of hunger and the aches of pain like any of us. There was only one difference: like his activity, so was his experimental sphere drawn into the magnetic field that gave it a unique direction to the Father: He was the "Faithful Servant" of Yahweh as never there was one nor again will be.

When St. Matthew soberly remarked that at the end of his 40-day fast Christ was hungry, he must have felt at a loss to adequately describe the feeling of exhaustion and the craving for food experienced by Christ. It was on this feeling that the Tempter played when he made the innocent-looking suggestion: "If you are the Son of God, tell these stones to turn into loaves."

Christ surely would have welcomed bread - any kind of bread. But not at this price, not at the expense of a show of power that would have served no purpose other than satisfying the curiosity of his adversary. Such a show would have been unbecoming of Yahweh's Faithful Servant.

The conclusion of this first encounter was meant as a rebuke of Satan; but it also formulated a vital condition for the preservation of the dignity of man and his society.

If under unusual circumstances we may manage to survive on bread alone, bread alone and all it stands for: the bewildering array of material comfort, is not able to preserve our potential nobility. To actuate and protect that nobility we need the addition of an intangible quotient; or, as the Lord reminded Satan: "Man does not live on bread alone but on every word that comes from the mouth of God."

GROUPS TENDED TO congregate at points of special interest while the features of the new school were examined and explained. These visitors stopped in the new art room.

THIS UNIDENTIFIED student took advantage of the school open house to more than see the facilities. While in the instructional materials center (library) he stopped to read a book.

Send pair to Jackson prison

Two men were sentenced to Jackson Prison Tuesday by Judge James Churchill in Tuscola County Circuit Court in Caro.

Buster Brown, 25, of Millington was sentenced from 3 to 4 years for assault with a deadly weapon against Betty Brown, his wife.

He had pleaded guilty of beating her up and aiming a 16-gauge shotgun at her.

The sentence will start Sept. 30, when Brown was jailed on the charge.

Warren McVittie of Lexington was sentenced to 2 1/2 to 10 years for breaking and entering the National Light Metals and Plastic Company in Caro with the intent of committing a larceny.

The sentence will date from Jan. 23.

A third criminal sentencing Tuesday placed Gary Ross of Lapeer on probation. Ross pleaded guilty of breaking and

EDITOR'S CORNER

Later it was found that the Hawks trailed by three points in an unexplained snafu, but it made no difference in the final outcome.

The point is that with a game this close, Martin could have been the goat of the decade in the Thumb.

Games with wider spreads than 11 points have been lost in less time. Last year Flushing trailed Buena Vista by 10 points in the regional tourney with something like 30 seconds left and won the game in regulation time. Cass City once scored 10 in the final minute to beat Sandusky and many years ago in the semi-finals of the State tournament Highland Park came from about 15 points behind to win in the closing couple of minutes on the way to a State championship.

You can see last minute miraculous victories are not one in a million and that rushing in reserves with a 10-point lead isn't all that smart. If Caro had lost, he never would have lived it down.

Mrs. R. O. Avery is one up on the National Geographic Society. On two separate occasions she has seen a California Thrasher (Toxostoma redivivum) in the yard. First seen Feb. 24, the sighting was confirmed when she spotted it again Mar. 10.

Geographic says in its book, "Song and Garden Birds", that "the swift-footed Thrasher never leaves his namesake states in the United States and Mexico". The Thrasher has a dark gray-brown head and back, brown eyes, pale cinnamon belly and undertail coverts, a long curved bill and long tail.

entering Legg's Restaurant in Kingston.

Judge Churchill placed him on probation for four years and ordered him to pay a fine of $100 and costs of $100 at the rate of $20 per month.

In a case heard Tuesday, Mar. 5, Raymond Hurd of Caro pleaded not guilty to attempting to open a coin receptacle at Frederick's Laundermat in Cass City.

Hurd was also charged with larceny from a building at the Rainbow Laundry in Caro. He pleaded guilty to this charge. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and sentence will be passed April 9.

Demonstrate new fire truck for Lions club

Chief Nelson Willy and Milton Connolly recounted the history of the Elkland Township Fire Department for the Cass City Lions Club Monday, Mar. 4, at the club's regular meeting at Martin's Restaurant. The pair also explained the features of the new fire truck and demonstrated the unit to members.

A question and answer period concluded the program. Clare Mellendorf, owner of Clare's Junoco Service, joined the club.

3PW views slides on Hawaii March 6

Twenty-three members of the Business and Professional Women's Club met Wednesday evening, March 6, at the New Jordan Hotel for their regular meeting. Two guests, Clara Jaffney and Ruth Rothfuss, were also present.

Mrs. Rothfuss, who has been a missionary to Hawaii for 20 years, spoke and showed slides in the island. She was introduced by her sister, Grace Lemeth.

Mrs. Nemeth, membership chairman, presented corsages to the four newest members of the club, Elaine Romain, Edna Wright, Elsie Hahn and Elfriede Koepf. A gold certificate, a coveted state award, was presented to Mrs. Nemeth or bringing five ladies who joined the club within a year.

Martha Knoblet reported on the 50th anniversary party in Detroit and announcements were made regarding the spring district meeting in Lapeer March 30 and charter night for the St. Charles club.

Also discussed were the club's recent bake sale and plans for their bus trip to Detroit.

Mary Kirton, Lorraine Y'Dell, Verna Mae MacIae and Jerry Fischer were named to the nominating committee.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 61, NUMBER 48

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN - THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 1968

Mrs. C. Carpenter FB delegate to crime conference

An area resident has been appointed by Governor George Romney to serve as a delegate to a one-day conference, "The Challenge of Crime in a Free Society" to be held at Detroit's Cobo Hall March 14.

Taking part in the event will be Mrs. Clare Carpenter of Cass City, Information Chairman for Tuscola County Farm Bureau.

The aim of the meeting of Michigan's leaders is to discuss key issues in crime prevention and strengthening the state's criminal justice system.

"There is no doubt in our need for constructive thought and persistent engagement with serious problems of crime," the governor said, "citizen commitment is critical on at least several fronts."

The keynote address given by James E. Fain, executive editor of the Dayton (Ohio) Daily News, will cover the National Crime Commission Report.

Other areas in which conference workshop discussion will take place is police-community relations, organized crime, court's administration and juvenile court operation and correction programming.

ANOTHER WEEK, ANOTHER WINNER has been selected in the free week-end offer by Cass City Merchants. This week's winner is Forrest Tyo who submitted his name at L & S Standard Service. Presenting the certificate is Floyd "Shorty" Luettkie. Watching is Louis Salas, co-owner.

Tree and shrub seedlings available at District office

The Tuscola Soil Conservation District is again making tree and shrub seedlings available to property owners in the Tuscola District in the spring of 1968, Bruce Ruggles, District secretary, has announced.

Tree planting is one of the important conservation practices that the District is stressing because many acres are best suited to growing trees, Ruggles stated.

The species available include: red pine, white pine, Austrian pine, Scotch pine, Norway spruce and white spruce for reforestation, or windbreaks. Species of shrubs beneficial to wildlife include: multiflora rose, Autumn Olive, Siberian Crab, Honeysuckle and highbush cranberry. Some of the shrubs are made up into packets of 125 plants each for the convenience of the cooperator, Ruggles explained.

These plants may be ordered at the District office, 852 S. Hooper Street, Caro, from 8:00 to 4:30, Monday through Friday.

The different species of plants are best adapted to certain soil conditions so it is best to discuss these conditions with Soil Conservation Service technicians before placing your order, Ruggles emphasized.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Figuring out a diet

By Marion Hostetler

"You're in the wrong business," will be taken by most folks as a compliment, not a complaint. If you want to make a carpenter feel good, don't tell him what a neat house he built; tell him what a good singer he is. If you want to make a surgeon happy, compliment him on his rose garden or his success in the stock market.

Everybody seems to have a secret hankering to know what life would have been like if he had taken up a different occupation. Clergymen wish they were writers. Writers wish they were fishermen. And farmers... farmers wish they were almost anything else under the sun.

When so many farm boys are leaving the farm, I'm always surprised and pleased to hear about one who plans to stick with agriculture... and who is preparing to make a go of it.

years than Battel has been alive. "I would have been glad if they'd offered a course in maple sugar production, but they didn't," was Mark's parting comment.

Didn't I say everybody has a hankering for something else?

Mark's interest in maple sugar stems from the fact that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Battel, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Battel, have been long-time owners of one of the finest stands of maple sugar in the area.

The syrup they distill adds a special flavor to the pancake and sausage supper that is open to the public every spring at the Fraser Presbyterian Church.

When I used the expression "surprised and pleased" above, it reminded me of an old comedy monologue that may be new to some of our younger readers. Goes like this:

I was a thetting out in front of the country thore one afternoon when up come a thtranger.

He that down behide me for a while, and then he thaid, "What are you moith ethpethially interethed in?"

"Well," I theth to him, "thome folkth ith interethed in one thing, and thome folkth ith interethed in another thing, but the thing I am moith ethpethially interethed in ith thpitting. Not common ordinary thpitting, like thpitting on thtreeth and thidewalkth, but fanthy thpitting. Thpitting in looph and curvth and thpiralth, and in and out of windowth."

"Thyow me thome of your thpitting," he thaid.

Tho I thyowed him thome of my thpitting. I thpit in looph and curvth and thpiralth, and in and out of windowth. And he wath very mutth thurprithed and pleathed, ethpethially pleathed."

And then I thaid to him, "And what are you moith ethpethially interethed in?"

He thaid, "I too am interethed in thpitting." Tho he thpit for me, in looph and curvth and thpiralth, and he thpit right between my eyeth! I wath very mutth thurprithed and pleathed, ethpethially thurprithed.

Hobby Club meets at Dillman home

Seventeen members of the Hobby Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. George Dillman.

Assistant hostess was Mrs. Ella Price.

The program was a report by Miss Agnes Milligan and Mrs. Grant Brown on their trip to England and Scotland last summer.

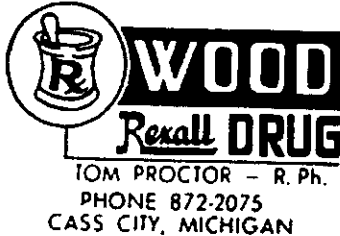

Behind the Counter Drug Costs—

In a period when the price of most goods is steadily rising, you may be surprised to learn that drug costs are a smaller part of America's health-care dollars than ever before. According to the Department of Commerce, only 14 cents of that dollar is now spent for the purchase of drugs from retail outlets—and only 9.8 cents of that is spent on prescription drugs. The figure was 17.5 cents, 20 years ago.

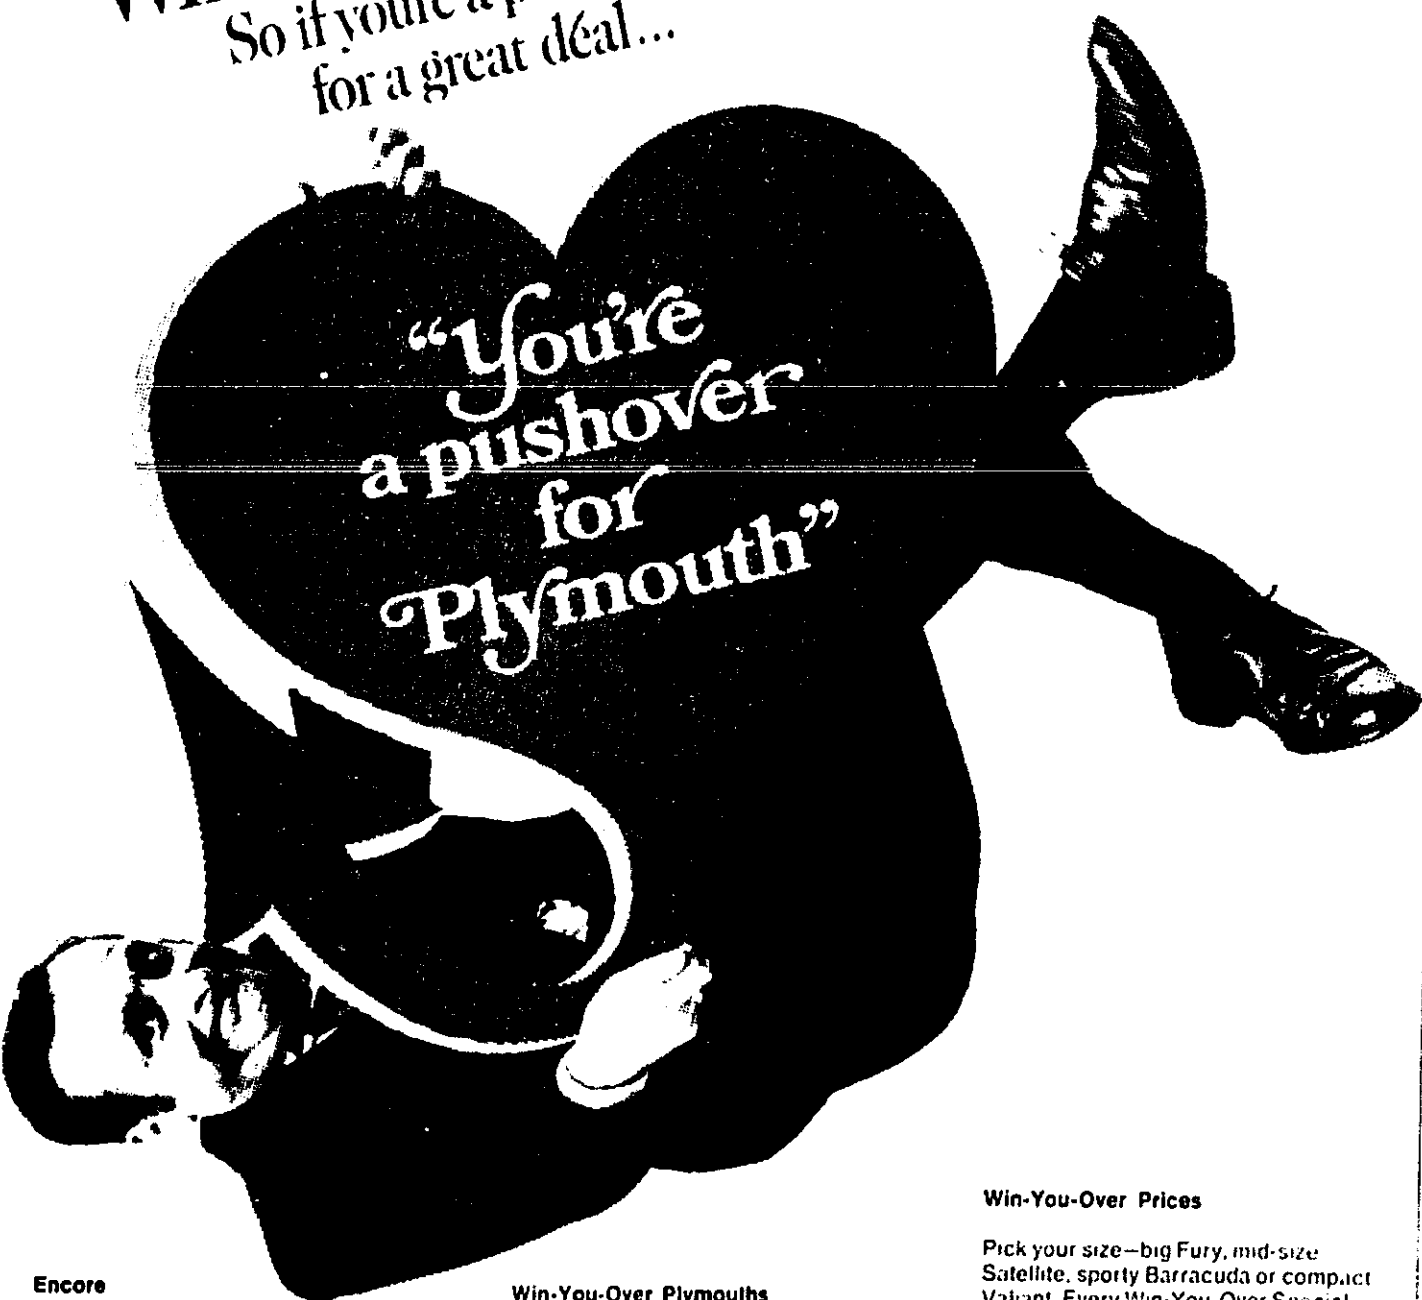

At the same time, these drugs are saving you money because they are more effective. Three decades ago, a case of pneumonia would cost the patient a $500 hospital stay, not counting the loss of time away from work. Today, the patient is cured with 30c pills prescribed by his doctor. A case of mastoiditis might entail an operation (and possibly impaired hearing) that could cost more than $1,000. Now the inflamed mastoid is cured for $15 to $20 worth of prescription drugs.

In 1930, a mental patient could expect to remain in an institution for 30 years, or for the rest of his life. Today, with the help of new drugs, 75 percent of these patients are discharged after the first year. It once took more than a month for patients with lobar pneumonia to be cured and back to work. Now $15 to $30 worth of drugs will cut that time from five weeks to two, at a time when it costs almost $60 a day to keep a patient in the hospital.

Yes, prescription prices have increased less than the general increase in the cost of living, so it is now possible for your drug dollar to buy more in better health today than ever before.

3 firemen at Indiana school

Three Elkhart Township firemen recently attended a two-day fire school to study the use and maintenance of new fire apparatus.

Attending the session at the John Bean Division factory and fire school in Tipton, Ind., were Nelson C. Willy, Elkhart Fire Chief, and Firemen James L. Jozewski and Eldon Stoutenburg.

They studied the use of high pressure fog in fighting three mock fires.

AT CASS CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Thursday, March 21,

8:04 p. m.

Spain is a country where history comes to life. Remnants of many civilizations remain in Spain: Iberian, Phoenician, Celtic, Roman, Visigothic and Moorish. Great names have been spread across the pages of Spain's history: Cervantes, El Greco, Goya, Columbus and Isabella. Spain is an ancient country, full of sunshine, gay fiestas, sad and fiery music, great art, emotional people and magnificent architecture. Howard Pollard brings to us the Spain from antiquity to the 20th century in a colorful backdrop of interesting scenery.

day night if they didn't git to be a little more optimistic about things in general he aimed to close down ever Saturday at noon. He said he went home ever Saturday night on the edge of a nervous breakdown on account of having to listen to the fellers moan and groan about the world going to the dogs.

Zeke Grubb was of the opinion it would be good for the storekeeper to have hisself a good nervous breakdown, said any feller that could have a nervous breakdown and git the mess we was in out of his system would be better off.

Ed Doolittle denied the fellers was moaning and groaning, claimed they was just recommending a few changes here and there. For instant, he said he would start with the Star Spangled Banner and come on down to the President's budget.

Ed said the Star Spangled Banner was wrote back when we had sailing ships and statesmen. In them days, said Ed, we lined up on one side and the bad ones on the other, but now we git lined up in the middle with everybody lined up agin us. Ed claimed the "red glare at twilight's last gleaming" was more apt to be people running through the streets setting fire to all the stores. And the only thing we can note from "sea to shining sea" was higher taxes and more handouts.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Ed that we need to bring the Star Spangled Banner up to date. But he was disagreed with Ed on the President's budget. Zeke said the new budget didn't call but fer 45,600 more people on the Government payroll and the President said we was cutting corners to where we ain't spending but $20 billion more than we was taking in. He was of the opinion this corner cutting might be the start of a trend and he was in favor of letting Ed rewrite the Star Spangled Banner and leave the President's budget alone.

And Ed told the storekeeper we was already working on this optimistic angle, reported he had saw where a Washington column writer named Russell Baker said the Government was operating the Office of Optimistic Prognosis, or OOP they was calling it. Ed said the job of OOP was to win the war with Vietnam in the press and keep it won until we could win it on the battlefield. Ed reported this feller Russell claimed OOP had reported more Vietcong killed in this war since 1965 than they was people in both Vietnams. This, claimed Ed, was the "new math" at its best.

Personal, Mister Editor, I was agin monkeying with the Star Spangled Banner and was in favor of still praying and hoping. Life may begin at 40 but roomatism and gout sets in at 70 and sometimes I figger Ed was coming down with both.

Yours truly,

Uncle Tim

Lutheran women in regular meet

The March meeting of Good Shepherd Lutheran women was held March 4 at the church. Mrs. Frank Butler, chairman, presided at the Missionary League meeting and a discussion period was held.

During the Ladies Aid meeting, two group projects were discussed.

Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. Pete Martin, attended. Roll call was answered by naming a flower using an initial from members' names.

Mrs. Harold Deering and Mrs. Al Avery were cohostesses at the dessert luncheon closing the meeting.

For the April meeting, Cass City's exchange student, Per Peterson, will be guest speaker.

MAEH board holds meet

Mrs. Walter Moderow of Reese was one of 35 Extension area leaders who attended the Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers' board meeting at the Albert Pick in East Lansing last week.

The planning meeting involved the leaders in the developing of loan lessons for health, citizenship, safety and international programming. The lessons are used in connection with the Cooperative Extension Service family living education program but are also available for other groups and individuals.

On this year's agenda, the MAEH Board was also planning details for the triennial meeting of the Associated Country Women of the World, which is scheduled Sept. 3-14 on the MSU campus.

Mrs. Moderow, who represents Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties on the MAEH Board, is currently serving on the State scholarship committee. She attended the meeting with Mrs. Margaret Ann Ross, Thumb Extension Home Economist, who is a liaison advisor to the state body.

"If It Fitz . . ."An old friend comes to town-crash!

By JIM FITZGERALD

A phone rang from out of the past, reminding me I haven't always been married, it just seems that way.

The same call reminded my wife she didn't actually marry me so much as she saved me. She didn't wear a wedding veil, she wore a Salvation Army cape. Her dream, from the day we met, was to move with me into a vine covered Rescue Mission we could call our own.

The phone call was from Jerry Smith (name changed to protect the guilty and avoid a lawsuit). He was 2 classes behind me at St. Stephen High in Port Huron many years ago. After World War II, he was 2 drinks ahead of me at the Alibi Bar.

Jerry and I were members of a loosely knit group of veterans generally called, for lack of a more apt title, the Town Bums. Membership was varied and transient, numbering anywhere from 10 on bleary Sunday mornings ("I've got the blahs") to 25 on jumping Saturday nights when nobody could get a date.

Many of us attended junior college, if classes could be arranged so as not to interfere with the cocktail hour (3 p.m. to last call). Some of us looked for jobs. ("I've been sitting on this stool all day and not one job has walked by"). All of us lived on public funds - unemployment pay, GI bill, insurance rebate or mustering out pay. There were even a couple of amputees who bought more drinks than the other heroes, because they got bigger checks every month.

Which reminds me of my special buddy, Tom. He left most of his index finger on two Jims. Tom used to stick his finger stump up his nose, or in his ear, and startle the devil out of innocent passersby.

Tom was the first of us to marry. He was also the first to go to jail for more than overnight - nonpayment of alimony - and he was the first to die, in an auto wreck. If he were still alive today, Tom would probably still be somewhat of a bum. And I would still like him.

Which, I guess, is what this column is all about . . .

Old buddy Jerry phoned because he'd hit trouble driving through my town. He'd been in a minor collision, no injuries and not much damage to the cars. But the police claimed he was drunk. Jerry's call to me was "the one call allowed," just like in the movies. He was at the State Police post where he refused to take the breathalyzer test. He was going to jail and what could I do about it?

I hadn't seen Jerry twice in the last 15 years. I hadn't heard one word about him in at least 5 years.

"I think he's a builder," I told my wife. "I think he has settled down with a wife and 3 kids, just like me. I think he is a responsible citizen and he has just had a bad break - the type of thing that might happen to any social drinker who bumps against a cop with a sensitive nose."

"You think," said my wife, "but you don't know. He might be Public Enemy Number 1. He might be the biggest souse in Port Huron. This might be his 25th arrest this year. Are you going to run around trying to get some bum out of jail?"

"He's my friend," I explained, listening hard for the sound of bugles and drums. I felt like Pat O'Brien forgiving Jimmy Cagney for crippling Pat's grandmother. "Besides I know Jerry's not Port Huron's top souse. Don is. You remember Don, he stopped to use our John last year and fell in the bathtub."

So anyway, folks, I saw the sheriff and I saw the justice of peace. I lent Jerry bond money and offered him the use of my razor. It turned out I was right; he is a steady worker with a fine family and this was his first brush with the law, ever. I shall leave it to a higher court to decide if he was a drunk driver that one night. Certainly he was a contrite, grateful man the next morning and I was glad to help him a little. If I ever stub my toe in Port Huron I'll know who to phone after my mother hangs up on me.

I bid Jerry farewell ("Just show me those lousy city limits") on a Saturday morning. That afternoon my wife and I attended an International Girl Scout fests at a huge field house in Flint. Our middle daughter, klomping in wooden shoes, was somewhere among those thousands of squealing girls and leading leaders. As we searched for her, I made a sudden observation.

"You know," I told my wife, "I'm the only man in this place. I must be losing my mind." "It's better than hanging around the Alibi Bar with Jerry and the boys all Saturday afternoon like you used to do, isn't it," she asked, and I could almost hear her tambourine rattle, ye are saved, brother.

That made me think, really think, about how marriage has enriched my life and changed my Saturdays. I could not give her a dishonest answer.

"No," I answered.

Onward and upward.

Cub Scouts to see hockey game

Cass City Cub Scouts, with Cub Scouts from Deford and Kingston, will attend a hockey game in Port Huron Saturday evening. Port Huron plays Toledo at McMoran Sports Arena.

Cubs will leave Cass City at 5:30 p. m. for the game that starts at 8:00. Following the event, Cubs will also meet the players.

This is the second time Cass City Cub Scouts attended a hockey game as part of their year's program, according to Cubmaster Clyde Wells.

SOUTHERN TRIP

Clara and Alma Vogel and Edith Schweigert of Caro and Ida Gordon left Jan. 22 for a tour of Southern States.

In Georgia they saw a patch of cotton that had not been harvested.

In Florida they visited many Michigan friends. With stops at Silver Springs, Lakeland, Tampa, Clearwater, Sarasota, Zephyrhills, The Keys, Miami, Ft. Lauderdale, Tarpon Springs, Fort Meade, Fort Myers and Panama City, they took the Gulf of Mexico route. In Florida they also saw fields of sugar cane.

On the Gulf trip they traveled through Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana to Texas. They visited the mouth of the Mississippi River and saw rice paddies flooded to prepare the soil for planting which will be done later by airplane.

While in Texas they visited Old Mexico twice, at Reynosa and Metamor. They traveled through the fruit belt of Texas at Brownsville, Edinburg and San Frenos. Much of the fruit had been destroyed by Hurricane Beulah and the floods it brought four months ago still cover much of this area.

On the return trip they saw The Alamo in San Antonio and were on the street in Dallas where President Kennedy was assassinated and also the L.B.J. Ranch. This is a ranch with Hereford cattle, white-tailed deer and small game. The driveway to the ranch crosses the Pedernales River on a concrete ford below a low dam. In the yard is a century-old oak under which pet peacocks wander.

They visited Oklahoma City, Okla., Kansas City, Kan., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peterson. In Kansas City, Mo., they visited a cousin at Stonecroft, Shawnee, Kansas and Kankakee, Ill., they visited Mr. and Mrs. James Coy and arrived home Sunday, Feb. 25, after having traveled over 6,000 miles.

J. Freiburger receives promotion

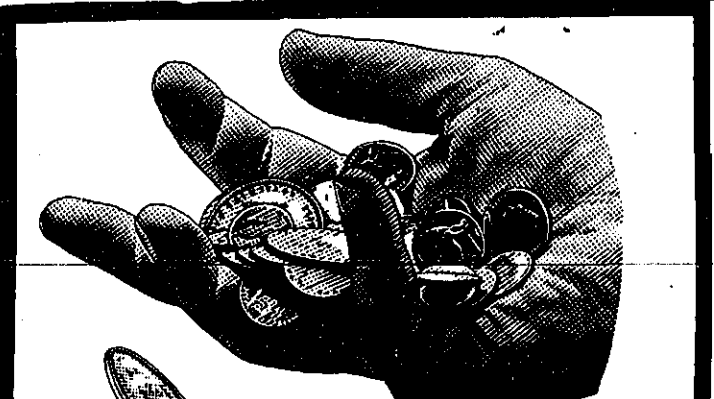

James A. Freiburger, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alger Freiburger of Cass City, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky., Feb. 9.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

The early promotion is based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

Freiburger entered the service in November, 1967, and spent a furlough at Christmas time with his family in Cass City.

He is now stationed at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

School scribbles

By L. H.

Deford

The teachers of Deford Elementary School are planning a Spring Parent-Teacher conference for Friday, March 22. All the parents are urged to attend.

Mrs. Norman Crawford, the second grade teacher, hasn't been teaching for awhile because of an illness. Mrs. Dave Ackerman has been substituting for her.

Spring is here! Would you believe that the fourth graders have put away the basketballs and are enjoying themselves outside playing softball? A softball game between the boys and girls has been scheduled for this week. (If it doesn't snow!)

During art class the fourth graders made and decorated kites, which are now being displayed on the classroom windows.

Evergreen

by Barbara Dorland & Darlene Wentworth

A week ago last Friday Evergreen played Snover two ball games. (I'm not sure if they were basketball or softball games, but since they were two weeks ago, I think they were probably basketball.) The girls tied 16 to 16, and Evergreen's boys won 46 to 36.

Last Tuesday night another 4-H work session was held at Evergreen. Everyone is working hard to complete their projects by achievement time - March 23.

Three new students entered Evergreen March 6. They are: Timothy, Donald, and Michael Russel. They are in 6th, 5th, and 2nd grades respectively. The sixth graders had a candy and popcorn sale in school last week!

The students have been doing a lot in art lately. The first graders made a farm scene entitled "Our Friends At The Farm." The 2nd graders made a scene entitled "Saving Pennies for a Rainy Day," which is being displayed on Mrs. Bailey's bulletin board. The kindergartners are making kites, and the students in Mrs. Johnson's room decorated the hall showcase for spring.

W. Campbell Elementary

For the first time since last fall, the kindergartners were able to play on their playground one day last week. While they were out-of-doors, the students noticed that some branches have buds on them already!

Something's up in the kindergarten room! They need lots of plastic soap cartons - big and little - and some oatmeal boxes. (Whatever they're making has something to do with Easter.)

Cass City Intermediate

The new student council of the Intermediate School had its first real meeting Monday. Various committees were organized. Among these are: a twirp week committee, a committee to look into the code of conduct and dress, and a committee in charge of activity forms. (Before any class can have a party, sale, or something of the like, they have to put an activity form through the council for its approval.)

At the meeting it was decided that each class could only have two activities per semester.

Mr. Stickle took the Student Council around the school to show them some damage that has been done. The council, in turn, was to bring this to the attention of the student body and to urge them to take a little more pride in their school.

Tuesday morning, the students had homerooms in which they discussed the minutes from the Student Council meeting and various ideas for Twirp Week. On Wednesday, Mr. Cleland visited the eighth grade classes to take a survey of what courses the coming freshmen are planning on taking.

This is a small example of the art that is dominant in our school today. If you can't read it, it says "SOCK IT TO ME!" The picture was drawn by Linda Brown.

Mrs. Quick's room has been doing stichery in art. Mark Drew's picture of a butterfly was voted best by the class.

Mrs. Howarth's third grade has won the Library award for November, December, January, and February. (That's quite the record!)

Mrs. Frederick's room has started a garden! The students have planted tomatoes, cucumbers, peas, and watermelons in hot beds that the students made. They have also started flower beds of zinnias and Chinese Forget-me-nots, and pots of gladioli, crocuses, and giant aster bulbs. The students hope to have lots of blooms this coming spring in their east windows.

In art class this week, Mrs. Frederick's students drew pictures of St. Patrick, which they mounted on their bulletin board with green construction paper. (Just to add the touch of a wee bit o' the Irish to their room).

C. C. H. S.

Tuesday morning, some Juniors and Seniors took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. To qualify for a scholarship on this test you only have to have an average score of about 99.99 percent! (One wrong and you'd flunk!)

Also on Tuesday, the 6th hour bookkeeping class took a field trip to the Walbro Corporation where they saw the IBM system and processing data machines.

Wednesday afternoon two car-loads of art students went to Bay City to see a Ceramic Show, but when they got there - the place was closed! So, instead of seeing the show, they went to MacDonald's!

The Spring Forensic contest was held Wednesday afternoon. The different subdivisions of readings were: multiple readings, in which a group of students read and interpret a short play, radio broadcasting, oration, declamation and humorous and interpretive readings.

In the multiple readings, participants are judged on how they work as a group, their interpretation of what they read, and of course how well they present it. Taking first place in this part of the contest were a group of students who read "Hamlet". In the winning group are: Ben Bifoss, Shari Geiger, Jan Glaspie, Libby Hillaker, and Jeff Spencer. Taking second place was the reading "Cupid on the Loose". Students in this group were: Tim Rabideau, Linda Dillon, Jim Maharg, Patty Wood, and Betsy Hostetter.

John Novak won first place in the radio broadcasting part of the contest, and Gary Sefton received second place. Each contestant had to give four minutes of news and weather and a one-minute editorial.

Students giving an oration were judged on their memorization and composition. (Students have to write their own oration.) Winning this portion of the contest was Linda Smith, first place, and Sandy Holcomb, second.

In declamation a student reads someone else's oration, and is judged on his memorization and interpretation. The winners of this section were: Carolyn Jones, first, and Jan Koepfen, second.

Last, but not least were the humorous and serious interpretive readings. In the humorous readings, Judy Snear took first place and Muriel Nicol took second. In the serious readings, Pam Dobbs took first place and Ellen Morgan received second.

Judging the contest were Mrs. James Wynes and Mrs. Brewster Shaw. The student chairman was Karen Holm, and the timekeepers were Joyce Gordon, Jean Russell, and Linda Brown.

The students who took first place will go to the district forensic contest to be held in Vassar. If someone were to receive a first at the district contest he would go to regionals, and if he received a first at regionals, he would go to the State Forensic Contest.

Friday we had a pep assembly to raise spirit for the tournament game. Pep talks were given by Coach Wynes and Jan Glaspie.

CLUB NEWS

The Spanish Club had its regular meeting Tuesday. The club has decided to go to a Spanish Workshop in Midland on April 16, rather than go to Detroit. The 16th is a school day. (Alright!)

Actually, it should really be a worth-while trip. Jose Greco is going to be there to talk to us on various customs of the Spanish-speaking people and other "cosas de interes."

The Future Nurses Club had a meeting after school Tuesday to discuss going to Delta College. They went to Delta Saturday.

CCHS used to have a Teacher's Club, but it disappeared this year. However, some teachers want to reorganize it, and the first meeting of the club was held Tuesday, March 12.

TID BITS

The Junior's magazine sale, which ended last Wednesday, was a big success! We went $1,549.52 over our 2,000 dollar goal.

The top sellers were:
1st John Krug - $221.15
2nd Terry Brinkman - $220.42
3rd Barb MacRae - $164.32
4th Jim Burk - $147.84
5th Kaye Spencer - $144.42
6th Neil McCallum - $102.64
Happiness is an ambitious class!

The Junior High and Senior Bands went to their district festivals last Saturday. Although the Junior Band returned with a third, the Senior Band returned with a first division! Alright! Happiness is getting a first at the band festival!

Men who aim at nothing in life are almost sure to hit it.

Deadline near for wheat and feed grain sign-up

Growers are reminded that March 15 is the last day for filing applications to take part in the 1968 voluntary wheat and feed grain programs.

Chairman Mike Singer, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, points out that signing up is the first necessary step to qualify for benefits of these programs.

Any producer who has planted wheat within his farm allotment is eligible to participate in the program.

Price support for wheat and corn and marketing certificate payment for wheat will be available only to those who file an intention for the programs.

The 1968 programs provide for substitution between wheat and feed grains or feed grains and wheat.

The current sign-up period in Tuscola county began Feb. 5 and ends March 15.

Farm operators are urged to file program applications before the deadline date.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Police Chief Carl Palmateer and Patrolman William McKinley captured two prison escapees, believed to be in the area to rob a village market, after spotting the two men in a stolen car.

Ronald Good and Richard Ziehm, both of Gagetown, were named to top offices in one of Huron County's three Dairy Herd Improvement Associations.

Gagetown hit the headlines of the metropolitan press - which was publishing in those days - with a break in the water lines due to severe winter weather.

A flu epidemic hit the high school last week and one day there were 84 students who stayed home ill.

Cass City High School Board of Education voted to spend $5,500 for athletic equipment after hearing the critical condition of the department outlined by coaches Wayne Wilson and Orlie Lemanski.

Announcement of the merger of Little's Funeral Home and Douglas Funeral Home brought to a close the 46-year history of one of Cass City's oldest businesses.

TEN YEARS AGO

Kenneth and Arnold Coepland have purchased the Mac & Leo Service Station.

B. F. Benkelman Jr. will try for another term as president of the village council and Mrs. Wilma Fry will try for the post of secretary and treasurer in the coming municipal elections.

Mrs. Dean Toner was chairman of this year's observance of Beauty Salon Week by the 34 members of the Thumb Cosmetologist Organization.

Miss Annette Pinney, Frank Walsh, Ed Johnson and Mrs. James Wallace will enter exhibits from Cass City in the 46th annual Regional Art Exhibit at the Saginaw Museum.

Mary Logas, Robert Phillips and Phyllis Churchill were elected as secretary, minute-man and recreation leader respectively of the Deford Farm Bureau recently.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Owners of discarded nylon and silk hosiery still have today in which to contribute them to the war effort before the first shipment leaves Cass City.

Leonard Gulls of Cass City was one of 30 Tuscola County men to pass the army physical.

The Sebewaing brewery, the only one in the Upper Thumb, had an output of 13,492 barrels as compared with 12,361 in 1941.

March 10 will be the last day for registration for institutional

4-H youth to attend conference at Mich. State

Four hundred young people from throughout Michigan will attend the Michigan Youth Conference for Natural Beauty and Conservation at Michigan State University Saturday, March 16.

The conference, to be held on the MSU campus, is being planned and conducted by the youth under the chairmanship of Mary Damson of Holland. She represents the Camp Fire Girls in this State-wide program.

Morning workshops will feature programs and discussion on litter, pollution, forestry, soil and minerals, wildlife, parks and recreation areas and neighborhood beautification. The afternoon will be devoted to program planning for cooperative "back home" projects.

The Tuscola county 4-H youth delegation will include eight youth from the county 4-H clubs and three adult leaders.

Former Evergreen man succumbs in Marlette

Vern W. McGregory, 80, a resident of Marlette for 22 years, died Thursday, March 7, in Marlette Community Hospital following a lengthy illness.

He was born Sept. 7, 1887, in Evergreen township. He was married to Iva Harms in October, 1915, in Argyle. She died in 1938.

His second marriage was to Frances Harris May 10, 1941, in Berkley, Mich.

Survivors are: his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Donald Caister of Marlette; three step-daughters, Mrs. James Barrom of Lapeer, Mrs. Anthony Cece of Ferndale, Mrs. Joseph Gardner of Oak Park; a step-son, Orval Harris of Imlay City; 17 grandchildren, and 30 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in the Marsh Funeral Chapel Monday with Rev. Rex Dixon officiating.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery, Cass City.

5th annual YFC program at Caro

Youth for Christ will present the fifth annual "Night of Sacred Song" Saturday, March 16, at 7:30 at the Caro Baptist Church.

The Jones Sisters from Cleveland, Ohio, and Gary Moore from Kansas City will be the featured artists.

The Jones Sisters have sung as a trio for more than 15 years. They have been featured in Billy Graham Crusades and currently they are featured on a weekly broadcast, the Hour of Freedom. They are also recording artists.

Gary Moore, a great baritone soloist of the Midwest, will render several musical selections.

Pvt. J. Meddaugh completes course at Fort Benning

Army Private James A. Meddaugh, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian W. Meddaugh of Decker, completed a track vehicle maintenance course Feb. 21 at Fort Benning, Ga.

During the course, he was trained to repair engines, transmissions and the fuel, electrical and hydraulic systems on the Army's track and armored vehicles.

A true copy.
Beatrice P. Berry, Register of Probate.
