

New pool survey plans finalized

Cass City Rotary's plan to canvass the village to see if residents want a new swimming pool were finalized this week by the club's board.

A selected sampling of the town is planned. Members of the Club will go door-to-door with a letter explaining the project and showing a sketch of the proposed new pool.

The letter explains what is wrong with the present facilities and explains details of the new pool. It says that a heated pool would cost $46,000 and a bath house would double this cost, bringing the total expenditure to some $92,000.

Persons contacted by club members will be asked to fill out a card and mail it to the club.

By checking yes or no, they can indicate whether or not they want a new pool and if they favor a bond issue for $1.00 per $1,000 actual value of property. (Two mills of state eligible valuation.)

Finally the card has a space to show how many members are in the family.

The club decided to use the card system instead of having an interviewer collect the information when the letter is delivered so that the persons would not feel constrained when answering and would express their true feeling about the pool project.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

When a dictionary firm publishes a new dictionary you'd better believe that the competition checks it. Want proof? Just try and find the word millage in any of the new ones.

It's just not there. But we have an old trusty unabridged Webster's published in 1935 where the elusive word is listed.

They just don't make them like they used to.

It never rains but it pours. Periodically, interested residents bring to the Chronicle old newspapers they come across in their homes. I don't believe we've had any for about a year, but within the last two weeks two have been found and submitted.

One brought by Charley Goff is described in an article in this issue. The other was submitted by the Harry Littles.

It is a copy of the Detroit Journal dated Saturday, April 19, 1919. Yellow with age it breaks apart almost at the touch.

I watched Caro play in the district tournament at Flint last week. The Tigers were defeated by the regional champs, Buena Vista.

Our county seat neighbors were in front at the half and, I thought, played about as well as they were capable of playing.

The Saginaw quintet simply had too many good players.

A quirk about the Buena Vista team. The squad trailed every team at the half . . . yet won all three regional basketball games by 10 points or more.

They are an explosive team and if they had three hot nights, Caro might be able to say that they were defeated by the State Champions.

It looks as if there may be action on the school political front. Out at Deford residents are urging attendance at a meeting to select a candidate to place on the ballot for the upcoming school election.

At the present time the two most recent additions to the district, Evergreen and Deford, are not represented on the board.

When the district first went to election by ballot, there was a great deal of activity among the candidates. In recent years activity has slackened. It would be good for all concerned if a rip roaring battle for a board post occurs this summer.

Lounsbury hurt in gun mishap

Tom Lounsbury shot two fingers of his hand with a .22 caliber rifle Sunday morning while hunting. According to the report of Tuscola Deputy George Baird of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, Lounsbury set down the rifle and it discharged.

The youth was hospitalized at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Complain of high prices in '33, too

Today's schools are running in the red and housewives are up in arms about the high prices of food and meat . . . so what else is new?

Way back on Mar. 8, 1933, according to the Detroit Evening Times brought to the Chronicle by Charles Goff, these were some of the headlines:

Grocers deny rise in food prices here. "Prices are not fluctuating any more than usual," Leonard Simmons, industrial manager of the Board of Commerce declared . . . what is needed is a form of national currency to be used as a medium of exchange. (Hamburg sold for 3 pounds for 25¢).

"Schools seek 4-million loan to provide food and gasoline for cashless teachers and to keep elementary and intermediate schools open".

Other items of interest in the ads: Hudson's promoted 5-feature bloomers for 50 cents, children's dresses for 54 cents and nurses' uniforms for 89 cents.

Sunny service Oil Co. advertised Zip gas available at 36 stations.

Chamber fete tickets on sale

President Dick Drews announced this week that tickets are now on sale for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet slated April 9 at Cass City School.

This year's program will feature a noted speaker from the State Chamber of Commerce, Drews reported, as well as the usual selection of the Junior and Senior Citizens of the Year and introduction of Chamber officers.

Tickets are available from members of the Chamber board, both local banks and Wood Drugs.

Chamber mail balloting starts

Balloting for positions on the board of directors of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce is now underway.

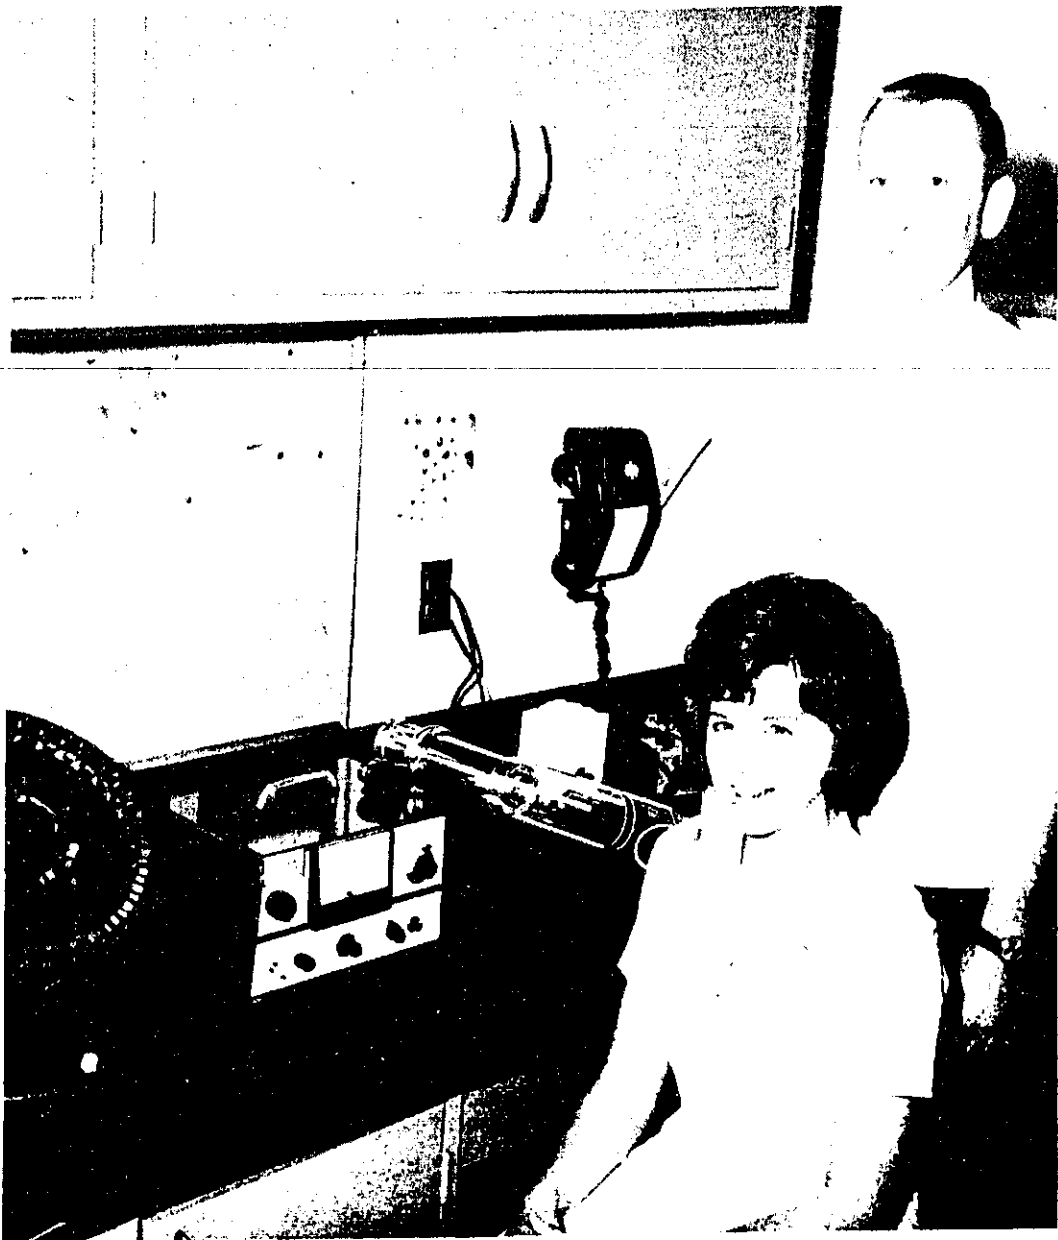

The mail ballot was distributed Monday and four members will be named from nine members.

The candidates are: William Repshinska, Diane Chippi, Arthur Randall, Keith Polanz, Scott Kelley, Rodney Krueger, Edward Golding, Don Erla and Frank Haythorn.

Pastors name Rev. Knight president

Parents need to furnish love, understanding, and consistency to their children, Cass City's clergymen were told by Cass City's youth counselor at their meeting on Monday noon. Jerry Cleland, also outlined the needs of youth and the role of the church in helping to meet those needs.

The group, during the business portion of the meeting, elected the Rev. Harold Knight president. He is the United Missionary pastor living next to the church on Van Dyke Road. Vice-president is David Altman, minister of the Novesta Church of Christ. The Rev. Ira Wood, pastor of the Salem EUB Church, was selected secretary while the Rev. Robert J. Searls was named publicity chairman.

DONNA HOUGHTON the pretty lab assistant at Hills and Dales, helps demonstrate the Scintigron, latest in the array of machines used by Jon Fahrner, technician. The unit includes the disk at the left and the box-like affair with the glass tube. It uses radio active material.

Space age machine infallible

Weight watchers beware! the Scintigron is here

If you've been overeating lately and excuse those extra pounds as due to a thyroid condition . . . better not let them rope you into Hills and Dales Hospital lab.

There's a new machine there that just won't let a guy get away with anything. . . It's as great a detective of the expanding waistline as the breathometer is for the drinking driver.

You just can't beat it.

The new machine is called a Scintigron and it's used on the thyroid gland. It cost $1,600, Jon Fahrner, technician, said and paid for itself in about six months.

Fahrner is a young, serious talking expert in the lab field who left a teaching post to work at the hospital.

A college graduate, he was well regarded at Cass City High School before leaving to accept his present position.

Before the invention of the little machine with the long name, a fellow could have an excuse even after taking a thyroid test.

The original method was the basal metabolism test which required a patient to lie down and completely relax in a hospital bed for several hours before the test.

And who relaxes in a hospital bed? But no relaxation, no valid test.

Next came the protein bound iodine test. This always worked provided you hadn't taken any medicine for a month or so . . . if you did the test became as valid as a Confederate dollar following the Civil War, Fahrner explained.

The Scintigron appears fool-proof. It operates with radio active material . . . either added to a blood sample or taken orally. The patient downs a couple of pills and his blood is tested after the space-age cocktail has gone to work.

The blood is then placed on a revolving disk for a couple of hours after which the machine "reads" the blood to find the thyroxin output.

Too little thyroxin and the thyroid is lying down on the job . . . you're liable to be too thin and have that worn out feeling all the time.

Too much and you may be excitable and overweight. If the balance is okay, the only thing left is to start that exercise of pushing back from the dinner table.

The Scintigron can be used for a variety of other purposes, says Fahrner. It measures cholesterol and detects anemia. One of the biggest advantages of the unit is quick diagnosis.

Before the unit was in operation, samples were sent to Bay City and it was about two weeks before the results were known . . . today an emergency reading can be had in about two hours.

Another cheerful note about the new machine is that it reduced the hospital's operating costs and avoided what almost certainly would have been another jump in the skyrocketing cost of being ill.

Hills and Dales has the only Scintigron in Tuscola county and currently makes about 25 tests a month. A special license is required for the radio active material and it is kept in a special refrigerator bought for the purpose.

MUCH EQUIPMENT

Although the Scintigron cost $1,600, it is only one of many expensive items in the lab . . . and not the most expensive, either.

We have a couple of microscopes that cost that much, Fahrner explained, and other machines that cost more.

One is the spectrophotometer, the workhorse of the lab . . . used more than any other machine. Every test involving chemistry starts with this unit, Fahrner said. It tells about the blood by measuring the color intensity.

"If I check for diabetes", he explained, "I add the appropriate chemicals to a blood sample and the spectrophotometer gives me the answer. The darker the blood, the more sugar present; the lighter the blood the less sugar content". Other tests run the same way.

With all of these various medical machines around, you'd expect the lab to be housed in spacious quarters . . . actually, the room is about the size of an ordinary patient room at the hospital . . . and it's bulging at the seams.

It's not likely to get any better in the near future, Fahrner believes, but if the hospital expands, they have plans to give us more space.

We could really use it, he concluded wistfully.

Another machine frequently in use is the centrifuge. The two machines at Hills and Dales operate much the same as a cream separator . . . separating blood instead of milk.

One machine takes normal sized vials, the other, small vials. The small vial machine is really in the mial class. It handles vials less than 1/32 of an inch in diameter.

Another exotic machine is the flame photometer. It's used to measure potassium, sodium and calcium.

With all of these various medical machines around, you'd expect the lab to be housed in spacious quarters . . . actually, the room is about the size of an ordinary patient room at the hospital . . . and it's bulging at the seams.

Sanilac looks at higher salaries

The salaries committee of the Sanilac County Board of Supervisors is considering a wage increase for county employees.

Chairman Claude Wood said that a study is underway and that recommendations would be presented to the Ways and Means committee before the April session of the board. Although he declined to say how much the increase might be, Wood explained that the committee is looking for a method of salary classification determined by the employee's capability.

The last increase ranged from 5 to 10 per cent.

County toll climbs to 8

3 die in two crashes in Kingston area

The highway death toll in Tuscola county climbed to eight as three persons were killed in two accidents during the week. Dead are Faith B. Parker, 35, of Kingston, William Thomas Everett, 17, of Kingston, and James Zells Jr., 36, of Yale.

Everett and Zells were killed in a crash Saturday at 2 a. m. on M-46, a half mile east of Kingston. Both men were driving alone. Sandusky State Police investigated and reported that Everett was traveling east on M-46 near Cemetery Road when his car apparently crossed the center line and struck the west-bound Zells auto head-on.

Coroner Ben Collon said that both were dead at the scene. Two other persons were slightly injured when a truck driven by Lester Marquardt, 38, of Kingston, rammed the smashed cars.

Marquardt was hospitalized for cuts and bruises for a day at Hills and Dales General Hospital. Virginia Marquardt, 35, suffered scrapes and bruises but was not hospitalized.

Zells was the manager of a new Cass City auto manufacturing plant division of General Cable that is opening in the building across the street from the main plant.

PARKER CRASH

Mrs. Parker was killed Wednesday, Mar. 13, when the car she was driving was struck by a Grand Trunk freight train at a crossing near the west village limits of Kingston at noon.

Four-year-old Julie Parker, a passenger in her mother's car, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Tuscola County Sheriff Hugh Marr said that the Parker car was going west on State Street and crossed the tracks in front of a 13-car freight train.

Edward York, engineer, reported that all warning signals were in operation at the time of the mishap.

The Parker car was carried 46 feet from the point of impact.

It was the third fatal car-train accident within a year in the county. In January a Unionville man was killed and Mrs. Eugene Bock died in a crash at the M-61 crossing in Cass City June 2.

Funeral services for Zells were held Wednesday at St. John's Lutheran Church in Capac. Rev. Bruno Breukner, pastor, officiated.

He was born July 2, 1931, in Emmett, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Zells Sr. He married Lorraine Grambow, Oct. 14, 1952, in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Surviving are: his widow, two sons, Jerome and Robert, and a daughter, Debra, all at home in Yale, and his parents.

Final rites for Everett were held Tuesday at the Methodist Church in Kingston. The Rev. Sherman Heidt officiated.

The youth was a senior at Kingston High School. He was a member of the Varsity Club and the Dramatics Club. He was born July 25, 1950 in Kingston.

Surviving are: his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Everett; two sisters, Mrs. Marilyn Catran of Milford Center, Ohio, and Beverly, at school at Spring Arbor, and two grandmothers.

Burial was in Kingston cemetery.

JACK LAURIE traces his route in a 36-day trip abroad, all expenses paid. Around the world

Laurie ready to tell of program

Way back in November 1965 Jack Laurie told the Chronicle that his three-year study program was a chance in a lifetime and an opportunity to "learn and tell".

Well, the learning is over and now Laurie, a slim, soft spoken 28-year-old young man leader is ready to do the telling.

And he has much to tell. He just returned from a 36-day tour that spanned the globe and capped the program, and he's come back with some definite conclusions.

One is that Europe is quite ready to care for itself. If we as American businessmen-farmers expect to get any share at all of the European market we've got to get over the idea that we can dump what we don't need here over there, Laurie believes. "The European housewife is just like her American counterpart. . . they demand quality and convenience. . . if we don't furnish it, we won't sell," Laurie said.

Farming in Europe is highly developed and production is good. Problems there are the same as they are here. . . how to keep the young man on the farm and solve the labor shortage, Laurie feels.

Laurie was one of 30 students who participated in a program made possible by a grant from the W. K. Kellogg foundation for development of rural leaders. It was known as the Kellogg's Farmers' Study Program and included study and three trips. Total cost for the three-year study for 30 different groups was $432,225 over a five-year period.

The field trips started with a tour of Northern Michigan. It was followed by a tour of the United States, including stops at Washington, D. C., the south and west coast.

The final year's highlight was the recently concluded international trip.

Each winter for three years, Laurie said that he attended special four-week short courses in connection with the program. At these sessions he studied a wide range of subjects including political science, government, geology and similar courses.

The winter portion of the program was held at Michigan State's Kellogg Center and was sort of a homecoming for Laurie who graduated from State in 1962 in agricultural economics.

One of the reasons that Laurie was selected from among scads of candidates was his record as a civic leader. He is a member of the board of the Michigan Farm Bureau and active in the American Dairy Association. He farms, with his father, 300 plus acres northwest of Cass City on Dodge Road.

BAD START

We had marvelous weather for our trip, Laurie recalled, but it started out badly. Through the entire 36 days the only time we were forced to change our schedule was in Detroit where we were fogged in for a day. We were supposed to depart Jan. 31, . . . but didn't leave until Feb. 1. After this it was smooth sailing.

Laurie said that the trip was not designed to learn technical details.

Concluded on page 6.

Eskilsens in narrow escape

Four members of the Eskilsen family of Cass City were injured in a single car mishap Tuesday, Mar. 12, on M-53 at Mayville Road.

The four were returning home from funeral services at Millington for Mrs. Arthur Eskilsen's brother, the Rev. Clinton Edgerton.

Theron Berton Eskilsen, 36, the driver of the car, said that he lost control of the car on ice and it skidded off the road and turned over in a ditch.

"The good Lord was watching", said Mrs. Mildred Eskilsen, "and that was the only reason we weren't all killed."

Although the car was badly wrecked, the four escaped with minor injuries. Theron Eskilsen suffered a cut over the left eye that required stitches. Judith Eskilsen, 32, and Mildred Eskilsen, suffered cuts and bruises.

Arthur Eskilsen, 72, was shaken up in the crash, but otherwise uninjured. The four were treated at Mariette Community Hospital.

HOSPITALIZED

Diane Lynn Rocheleau, 18, of Gagetown was taken to Caro Community Hospital for treatment of injuries received in an accident Saturday at 11 p. m. on Luder Road, a quarter mile north of Gifford Road.

Miss Rocheleau reported to Tuscola County Sheriff's Department that she saw a truck in the road, tried to stop and lost control of her car. She left the road and hit a tree stump. A passenger in the vehicle, Tom Myers, was uninjured.

SPORTS FANS!

By H. M. Bulen

How well do you know your basketball? ... Here's a little test for you ... Suppose a player shoots from under the basket and the ball goes up through the hoop from underneath and then comes back down into the basket... Does it count? ... The answer is no ... The rules say the ball must enter the basket only from above it in order to count as a score.

Do you know which National Hockey League team has been playing the longest without being able to win the Stanley Cup? ... The answer is the New York Rangers. ... They've played every year since 1940 without winning it.

One of the most amazing records in sports history has been set by Wilt Chamberlain -- and it has nothing to do with scoring ... It's Wilt's record on committing personal fouls. ... Wilt holds the all-time record for playing the most consecutive games without fouling out. ... At the start of this season, he had gone through 624 straight games over a period of eight years covering his entire pro career and had NEVER fouled out of a game!

I can't believe my government

By JIM FITZGERALD

The truth is, I am fed up with my government. I am disgusted, heartsick, frustrated, angry and bewildered. And I feel guilty. After all, it is MY government and if it is guilty of any crimes, I must share in that guilt. These somber thoughts were turned on by the front page of last week's Lapeer County Press. One article told about the death of 2 more Lapeer boys in Vietnam. Another article revealed that Genesee County will build a 700 acre park which will extend deep into Lapeer County. The combination of the 2 stories, side by side, pushed me over the cliff. For a long time I have been a dove. But a hesitant dove, fluttering weakly about the sharp edges of dark disbelief. I was convinced my government was wrong in Vietnam. But I refused to join those who claimed my government was lying to me. The President of the United States wouldn't condone lies told for selfish, political, face-saving reasons. He wouldn't allow his administration to mouth baloney while 19-year-old boys died in rice paddies. Would he? Wouldn't he?

Why not? Genesee County officials lied to me about their park. They did it cleverly, using cute, vague phrases. But with the slick varnish chipped off, nothing is left except lies. For months, a few citizens insisted that park plans were a certainty. But Genesee brass said no, the park was a never-never land dream that might possibly come true some day but goodness, not for a long time. The suspicious citizens answered nuts, construction would begin this year and Genesee was already eyeing homes in the park's path.

I refused to believe public employees would lie so blatantly to their employers - the taxpayers. I was nuts. A few weeks after I printed the Genesee lies, the park plans were publicly announced. Detailed maps appeared overnight. Genesee officials simply thought the park plans had to be officially confirmed by God Almighty before they became the public's business. This is the same strategy used by boxers who don't telegraph their punches. No wonder the taxpayers are punchy. If it hadn't been for those few doubting citizens, and newspaper exposure, Genesee would probably still be plotting its park in the dark.

If county officials can lie like that, why not Federal officials? The Genesee action made a non-believer out of me. This country is being bled by bureaucrats who think the government is their own personal bag. They think they know what's best for Joe Taxpayer. They tell Joe what they want him to know. They twist the facts so they'll look good, and Joe won't get upset. What Joe doesn't know can't hurt them.

It is disgusting enough when this official sleight of hand involves a county park or a township dump. It is heart-breaking when it involves your 19-year-old son who may not live to be 20.

U. S. Senators, most of them fellow Democrats, are questioning LBJ's widening credibility gap. Other well informed men share these doubts.

The U. S. is killing women and children in bombing raids. This bloody action was sparked by an enemy attack on our ships in the Bay of Tonkin. Now there appears to be a real question as to whether we were really attacked. We are using a foggy incident to justify the slaughter of civilians and the destruction of cities. What kind of tragic nonsense is that?

Countless Washington officials said the Pueblo was not in Korean waters when it was captured. But Defense Secretary McNamara told the nation, via TV, that we really couldn't be sure. Maybe the Pueblo was violating Korean waters. Only the captain could say for sure and he's not available for comment.

And so it goes. Who do you believe?

I am as good a flag-waver as the next guy. I ache for our young men in Vietnam. I appreciate what they are doing. Nothing grieves me more than to be told I am "letting down our boys" because I think the U. S. should get out of Vietnam. But no one, from LBJ on down, has justified all those deaths to my satisfaction. And I cringe when all the bodies are counted, ours and theirs.

I keep listening, hard, for my government to explain clearly what it is doing. But I don't believe what I hear. I can feel shame and guilt for my government. But I can't believe it. And I am fed up.

Maharg on Thumb B all league team

Cass City placed John Maharg on the Thumb B All-conference team announced last week by league officials.

Maharg who stands an even six feet is a senior and he moved to the first team, the first time he received league honors in his career.

Maharg was seventh in scoring in the all-area and when he was "right" he made Cass City a team to reckon with. Flanking Maharg are three other seniors and a sophomore. Two "Lakers" were honored. Named were Terry Heck, six feet, three, and Gary Buschlen, 5 feet, 10 inches. Marlette's Marty Blackmer, five feet, 11 inches was the fourth senior on the team.

Ernie Weiss, a five foot, nine inch sophomore from Frankenthum, rounded out the starting five.

The second team included Frankenthum sophomore Rick List and four seniors. The seniors are: Earl Hunkins, Vassar; Ed Kosanke, Sandusky; Pat Howard, Bad Axe, and Paul Travis, Caro.

No Hawk cage received honorable mention.

Shelley to show African safari in village Monday

Last year's visit by Howard Shelley sponsored by the Cass City Gun Club proved to be one of the most successful of the season, earning the plaudits of many persons attending.

Because the first was so well received, members immediately decided on a repeat performance the following year.

So Monday, Mar. 25, Shelley will return to show and narrate "Camera Caravan" a modern adventure film story of an African photo safari. The show is slated at 8 p. m. at Cass City High School.

The film captures an epic 22-day journey into the game-rich plains area of East Africa. Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania.

The film features close up shots of African big game animals . . . including a pride of lions working over its kill, a young antelope.

Tickets are on sale from any member of the gun club and will be available at the door. Proceeds will be used to finance club projects.

CONVERSATION PIECE. We all talk about the weather and saving money, and most of us let it go at that.

Thought For Lent

Do you know what you really want?

by Dr. Marion S. Hostetler

One day while I was attending college, a woman spoke to a group of students about "How to receive whatever you really want."

The first thing to do, she said, is to decide what it is that you are going to ask for. If you want to visit England, don't ask for $1000, and don't ask for a steamship ticket -- ask to be in England. Otherwise, you might receive the money, but conditions might prevent you from making the trip.

Then on three consecutive nights you are to lie awake in bed for three-quarters of an hour, from 11:15 to midnight. During the first fifteen minutes, you are to wish for whatever it is that you have decided is most important to you. During the second fifteen minutes, you are to feel confident that you'll get it. (This rules out fantastic or impossible desires.) During the final fifteen minutes before midnight, you are to imagine that your desire is already a reality. Do this three nights in a row, she said, and within thirty days you will have been granted your wish.

I tried her system at that time, and part of my wish came true. Groups who have tried it since then have reported substantial proportions of success. This Lenten season might be a good time for you to try it -- if you can decide what it is you really want.

One day when Jesus was walking toward Jericho, a blind man happened to be sitting by the road begging. When he heard that Jesus was passing by, he shouted, "Jesus! Jesus! Have mercy on me!" Jesus stopped and asked the blind man what he wanted. There was no doubt in the blind man's mind, and no delay in his response.

"Sir, I want to see again." I don't suppose that Jesus restored sight to every blind person in Palestine, but here was one man who did receive divine help through Christ . . . because he knew exactly what he wanted.

Nobody appreciates his eyesight as long as he can see without difficulty. It is only the blind who know how precious sight can be.

So the thing you want most urgently may have some connection with a lack in your life. If you are sick, you might ask God to grant you health. If you are in financial difficulty, you might feel that more money would be the solution to your problems. Anyone who is starving would undoubtedly think money was less important than food. Anyone who was about to die might consider food less important than life.

But suppose you are getting along fairly well -- no poverty, no sickness, no family problems (I'm just supposing!) -- what would you ask for then? Would you like to be President of the United States? Chairman of the Board of General Motors? Elizabeth Taylor? The Pope?

Before asking for such things, perhaps you ought to examine yourself to see what you would do if you had them. Do you have the strength of mind and flexibility of character and political know-how to survive even twenty-four hours as president?

"Oh," you say, "I would just ask God to give me the wisdom and strength that a president needs."

Very clever, but when you were thus transformed, would you still be you? Do you like yourself well enough that you want to keep on being yourself? If so, it might be wiser to ask for something that would fit into the life you are already living. The question to ask is this: "Since I am what I am, what is the one gift that would do most to make my life what it ought to be?"

One way of determining what your supreme desire is, is to soft-pedal your ordinary day-to-day desires. That, perhaps, is the purpose of Lent -- to learn to sidetrack one's small desires -- for rich food, extraordinary excitement, drinking to escape from life's tensions -- in order to become aware of the one thing more valuable than anything else . . . for you.

I hope you can find out what you really want. Because Jesus is still saying to you what he said to the blind man beside the road to Jericho: "What do you want me to do for you?"

Use the present to plan the future or you won't have one. Progress in any nation depends less on getting ahead than extending a helping hand.

School scribbles

By L. H.

Deford

Last Friday was the beginning of the new hot lunch program at Deford. The program ran smoothly and the students enjoyed their lunch.

Also on Friday, the students of Deford went to the Intermediate school in Cass City to see an assembly. Miss Naomi Gibbs presented a program of pantomime, ventriloquism, and sand painting. All the students enjoyed her program very much.

Parents! Don't forget . . . Friday, March 22, is your big chance! You can go to the Parent-Teacher conference and talk to your child's teacher.

W. Campbell Elementary

Mrs. Haythorn's first grade class went on an interesting field trip last week. They visited the Walter Godall and the George Czekal farms. They saw all kinds of animals including peacocks, deer, doves, guinea hens, golden pheasant, and white turkeys, only to mention a few. Some students were surprised to learn that white turkeys are half chicken and half turkey. (They probably just figured that white turkeys were rejects!)

Since the trip, the students have been very busy writing letters and stories and making pictures about their trip.

On Wednesday the elementary Student Council had a meeting. The officers were elected: Gloria Decker, president; Pam Ahern, vice-president, and Suzanne Pobanz, secretary.

All students were present at the meeting and some of the following suggestions were made:

1. No snowball throwing. (In this weather?)
2. No grabbing of other girls' and boys' coats while playing.
3. Don't stand on sinks or pipes.
4. Bus students are to get on the bus and stay there.
5. Don't waste liquid soap.
6. Stay away from cars.
7. Help keep the bathrooms clean.

Sandy Gue's mother brought two five-day old chicks to the kindergarten. Their names were Fred and Titi. In the morning they were frisky and lively, but by the time the afternoon rolled around, they were ready to go back home.

C. C. H. S.

Tuesday morning we had a student council meeting in which the faculty basketball games were discussed. The menteachers are to play Senior boys who haven't earned their letter in basketball, and the women teachers are going to play the senior girls.

The two games are going to be on a Friday night sometime in the near future, and the admission will be fifty cents for both adults and students. The proceeds from the game will go toward the Thelma Hunt Scholarship fund. (The Thelma Hunt Scholarship is given to some senior from Cass City and is usually one-hundred dollars.)

Wednesday, we had our talent show, which had a total of nine acts. Winning first place were the "Sounz". The band really has five members, but two are students from Bad Axe, so only the three students from our school who are in the band, Randy Aleksink, Ken Eisinger, and Ken Hlatt, played in the talent show. They even had go-go girls! The dancers were:

Wanda Miracle, Pat Sawicki, and Peg Chandler.

Taking second place was Tom Fulcher, who sang a solo and accompanied himself on the guitar.

Two of the three majorettes - Debbie Boylan and Joan Malack, took third place with the routine they did to "Peter Gunn."

Other acts included a trampolone demonstration to music, another band - "The Knights of Time," two other voice solos, a group of girls who danced, and a "Truth or Consequences" show.

The show began at 1:20 and was to end about 2:15, but instead it ended at 2:50! (Happiness is a long talent show!)

The MC's for our talent show were Dick MacRae and Jack Selby. Sometimes, when they told jokes (or tried to) a shower of pennies, and sometimes dimes or quarters, would come from the audience!

The winners were chosen by all the students who voted in their seventh hour classes by a secret ballot.

Thursday morning the Senior College Prep Class went to the Saginaw Library for a day-long study session. After their hard study, (?) they got to eat at McDonald's!

Friday was the last day of the fourth marking period. (That's four down and two to go!)

CLUB NEWS

The GAA had two practice sessions last week, since a game with Caro is planned for March 26!

The Spanish Club is having a bake sale March 30 at Ryland and Gue's.

The new Future Teachers Club had its first meeting last Tuesday night. Paula Copeland was elected temporary chairman and Linda Brown, secretary. The aims of the club were discussed and after the business was over, a pizza party was held!

The FHA had a meeting last week. Would you believe they made about twenty-two dollars on the fudge they sold during the lunch hours? Considering that the fudge was only five or ten cents for a piece, and that the sales only lasted two days, they made quite a lot of money!

The club voted to spend $75.00 on shrubbery for the new school this spring.

TID BITS

All the students who will be 15 on or by August 30 signed up for Driver's Education last week, and all the upperclassmen promised themselves that they wouldn't drive anywhere around Cass City this summer!

Last Wednesday night, all the baseball candidates met to discuss the upcoming season. (Already?)

Would you believe that bus 23 was late last Thursday? Word has it that the students had to get on three different buses to get to school, because a couple of them had engine trouble!

When going to the cafeteria for lunch, it's every man for himself. It's either RUN or be trampled!!

Last Tuesday night at the GAA practice, some of the women teachers showed up to practice for their faculty game.

A lot of them were really good shots, but I think they're really going to have a rough time playing the senior girls, because they don't get as much exercise as the students do. (They don't have to run from class to class during the day!)

Misery is: Trying to walk to lunch.

Trying to get to your car on a warm day without getting muddy.

Having to stay in school when the senior English class is in Saginaw and at McDonald's!

Having to go back to class after an assembly.

Being an MC and telling a joke that nobody laughs at!

Owengage names top students

Michael D. Comment, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Comment, Gagetown, is the valedictorian of the Owendale-Gagetown class of 1968. It was revealed last week by Principal Keith E. Moore.

The honor student has been active in school affairs throughout his high school career. He was vice-president of his class in his Freshman and Sophomore years and a member of the student council as a junior. He is senior class president.

He played varsity football and had a part in the Junior and Senior Class plays. He maintained a 3.75 average. A member of St. Agatha Church in Gagetown he plans to attend Michigan State, majoring in Engineering.

SALUTATORIAN

Class salutatorian is Jerry Bernhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bernhardt of Owendale. He has been active in basketball, football, baseball and is a member of the Varsity Club. He was president of his Sophomore class and was a member of the Junior Class play.

He attends St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Linkville and plans to attend Michigan State. His average was 3.6188.

Also placing in the top rank were Kathleen Kovach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kovach; Marjorie Dietzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Dietzel; Fran Simmons, daughter of Mrs. Maude Simmons; Nancy Good, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Good Jr.; Sandra Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Powell; Jim Szidlik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Szidlik; Jean Nicholas, daughter of Mrs. Lola Nicholas; Joyce Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas; Richard Roth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Roth, and Kim Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Brown.

Mrs. Charles F. Parker III

Connie Lynn Moore and Charles Frederick Parker III exchanged nuptial vows Saturday evening, March 16, at a candlelight service in the First Baptist Church at Lansing.

Dr. Julius Fischbach and Rev. Scott Irvine officiated at the 7:00 p. m. double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Moore and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parker, all of Lansing.

The bride approached the altar with her father. She chose a gown of chrysanthemum pattern lace over white peau de sole. The princess style sheath floor-length gown, with wide portrait neckline fashioned with scallops and long fitted sleeves was graced with a wide detachable chapel train bordered with scallops, which hung from the shoulders.

In the center front, at a slightly high waistline, was an inserted draped bow.

A plateau of overlapping petals of tulle with pearls and tiny blossoms secured her triple bouffant veil of imported French illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, centered with pink sweetheart roses.

Carolyn Kirby of Lansing was maid of honor. Florence Moore of Cass City, cousin of the bride, Ann and Joan Moore of Lansing, sisters of the bride, and Gail Parker of Lansing, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids.

They wore identical floor-length sheath gowns of chiffon over matching tulle. The maid agriculture, but rather to broaden the outlook of the persons attending.

"I'd say that it succeeded," Laurie said. When you talk about crowded conditions and poverty in the East (Laurie was in Thailand, Japan and India, among other countries) you don't know just what it means until you've actually experienced it. When they say that postwar Europe is booming you can't realize how much until you enter a French farm that is 400 to 500 years old and see the automatic dish washer.

MEETS PEOPLE

Another bright spot in the tour was that it was arranged so that the observing farmers could meet some of the top people in various countries.

That's something I never could have experienced without the sanction of the program, Laurie observed.

Most folks would say that the entire program, costing an estimated $5,000 per person, was a once in a lifetime opportunity.

Laurie agrees.

Magazine day program at WSC

The Woman's Study Club met Tuesday, March 12, at the home of Mrs. Herbert Ludlow. Twenty-one members and guests enjoyed the program, Magazine Day, presented by Miss Muriel Addison.

This has become one of the favorite programs each year. Miss Addison chooses a variety of articles, some humorous, some serious and many from current issues and present day problems.

At roll call members responded with a current event.

Mrs. McCullough reported that the Cass City council, in answer to the club's request to have the village sidewalks plowed after a snow storm, said it would be too expensive and that the walks were too uneven. It was voted to make a contribution to the speech correction program in Tuscola county.

Ronald Laeder of Caro, coordinator of the program, has stated there is a great need to help high school students who have serious speech defects. It is hoped the funds will enable them to attend the course at Central Michigan University this summer.

In Tuscola county there are two students who need this help.

The nation's largest Office of Equal Opportunity grant -- for $1,082,000 -- was granted last year to Michigan State University. The funds are to supplement money already being invested in the state's young people who show promise but lack the means for higher education.

You'll buy a new furnace maybe once in your life. Here's how to do it right.

First, call Edison. We'll give you the names of electric heat contractors near you. Each has been Edison-approved as capable and reliable. (And, right now, each will give you a $150 trade-in on your old furnace if you convert to electric heat.)

Next, the contractor will check your home, review your needs, and recommend the type of heat best for you. He will estimate both installation and operating cost and give them to you in writing. All without obligation. We'll check the quotes if you like.

Then, after your new electric heat system is installed, Edison and your contractor will make any adjustments necessary to the system if operating cost exceeds the original estimate during the first three years of use. At the end of this time, if operating cost still exceeds the estimate, and you aren't satisfied, Edison will remove the system and refund your original price.

That's our new Three-Step Protection Plan. Remember the first step. Call Edison.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 61, NUMBER 49

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN - THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1968

Behind the Counter Show globes—

Centuries ago, apothecaries prepared their own medicines from available herbs, leaves and roots. From these materials gathered in nearby woods and fields, they prepared extracts and infusions to treat a variety of ailments. Each chemist had his own secret file of "receipts" that would cure stomach aches, skin disorders, and general weariness. If he wasn't afraid of being accused of witchcraft, he might even be able to whip up a love potion or two.

These chemists often placed the bottles of multi-colored liquids on shelves or window-sills, where they didn't take up too much space but were readily available. These bottles gradually became identified with the chemist's shop, just as three golden balls and a striped pole marked the pawn shop and barber shop.

Today, of course, drugs are developed through intensive research, and the pharmacist as a difficult enough job keeping track of these without repairing all his own compounds. But you still see ornate bottles of colored water in many drug stores, as a professional symbol. These "show globes" are a reminder of the pharmacist's heritage and tradition, even in this day of antibiotics, hormones and other wonder drugs.

Meanwhile, drug researchers have turned back to the old apothecary recipes, to see if there is an active ingredient that can be extracted from the time roots and herbs the ancient chemists used for so long.

THE NINTH WINNER in the 10 week free week end at an Albert Pick Hotel was Mrs. William Zinnecker. Her name was drawn from Gross & O'Harris Meat Market. She receives her certificate from co-owner James Gross.

Right seed corn helps at harvest

Selection of seed varieties on the basis of their maturity time can be used to extend corn and grain harvesting seasons to three to four weeks, reminds Alfred Ballweg, County Extension Agricultural Agent. "Michigan State University research shows that maximum meat or milk production comes from corn silage harvested at approximately 35 per cent moisture and maximum grain yields come from corn shelled in the field at 26-28 per cent moisture," he says.

To increase your chances of putting your silage or grain under ideal conditions, select varieties carefully. Plant early maturing varieties first and follow these up with those that mature later.

The county agent warns farmers to make variety selections early before spring work bogs them down.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Half Nelson Donahue fights tonight

By Marion Hostetler

Out of the files of the Cass City State Bank has come a yellowed newspaper more than a third of a century old. Named "The Rotarian," it was designed to publicize a minstrel show put on here by Rotarians on May 18, 1934.

Faced with the necessity of advertising the event before it happened, headline writers brought forth such involved prose as "Half Nelson Donahue, Famous Negro Wrestler, Is Wounded In Chest by Hog-Man Campbell Tonight."

Today's high school students have probably never seen a minstrel show, since it is currently considered bad taste to highlight the peculiarities of minority groups. For their benefit we may explain that a minstrel show was composed chiefly of jokes and singing. The chorus usually sat in a semi-circle on the stage, with "end men," made up as Negroes, sitting at both ends of the line. In the middle of the line was the master of ceremonies, known as "Mr. Interlocutor."

It was the end men who furnished most of the fun, while the circle did most of the singing. Apparently the Rotary minstrel featured end men by the name of Donahue and Campbell. All I know is what I read in the paper.

The minstrel show came to a sudden halt this evening at the point when Half Nelson Donahue was called upon to sing. It is the law of Rotary that no member shall refuse to perform any act when called upon, and Soot Campbell had boastfully proclaimed at the beginning of the show that he would shoot any man who failed to carry out his part.

When Soot told Half Nelson to "Get out there and sing," the music started for his song, but no sound came. Again Soot warned Half Nelson, but still he did not sing.

"You can't make a fool out of me," called out Half Nelson. "Your ancestors took care of that," said Soot.

"Say, nigger, if you want to put on a real show come out here and fight," challenged Half Nelson.

"You call me 'nigger'; sure I'll fight." Bang!!!!

Half Nelson reeled. Blood gushed forth. Police grabbed the assassin as he attempted to escape at the rear of the theatre.

****

It must have been a hilarious evening. I wasn't there, but I was in a minstrel show myself in another state in the early '30's. Looking back at it from the vantage point of the '60's we can see that today's riots are acting out the line, "You call me 'nigger'; sure I'll fight." In an unequal contest any weapon will do.

The front page of the "Rotarian" featured local jokes like this:

"Did you ever hear J. D. Crosby tell about the time he arrived home early one morning and his wife yelled out, 'Jim, what time is it?' J. D. answered, 'Twelve o'clock,' and he said just then the cuckoo clock struck four, and he had to cuckoo the eight times himself."

****

In exchange for a good meal, Chick Schwaderer offered to clean chimneys, fix chairs, carry away rubbish or repair light fixtures. "I can work any day but Wednesday. On Wednesdays, I bid on road jobs."

Theron Donahue, who was building his home at that time, offered to remove tonsils in exchange for plaster for the living room, or to take out an appendix in exchange for a front door.

Fred Bigelow advised hardware customers to arrange in advance for frozen water pipes or busted furnace boilers.

Willis Campbell said, "If you will feed your pigs on my rations, you will observe a wonderful growth. I shall be glad to call at your farm anytime and give a food demonstration. You'll be surprised what I can do with food."

A physical count of business concerns listed in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book totaled 595 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in Tuscola county in January, 1968.

W. S. Garrison, District Manager of the Detroit office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., announced that a similar count in January, 1967, had disclosed 562 businesses listed in the county.

He said that nearly three million such requests are being mailed this year to businesses ranging in size from small neighborhood retailers to multi-million dollar corporations.

Farm Bureau to mark 50 years

The Tuscola County Farm Bureau is ready to celebrate its 50th anniversary with a birthday party March 23 in the Caro High School cafeteria.

Working arrangements are Mrs. Clare Carpenter of Cass City, chairman, Mrs. Ford Boyne of Marietta, Leon Keimath of Millington and Alfred Goodall of Cass City.

At the program, scheduled for 8:00 p. m., eight of the past county presidents will give a brief resume of activities or accomplishments during their tenure of office. Goodall is slated to act as master of ceremonies.

The keynote address will be given by Elton R. Smith of Caledonia, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

AROUND THE FARM

Test procedures become refined

By DON KEBLER

Over the last month, during my travels around the county, I have been comparing MSU soil testing procedures and fertilizer recommendation methods used over the last 16 years. Finally my conclusion was that basically few spectacular changes in either have occurred. When I say this, it is not meant to convey the idea that the changes which have occurred are not significant.

I am sure all of us who have seen the advantages of manganese on small grains, cucumbers, beans and beets or Boron on beets and alfalfa know these developments are significant. What about the recent research breakthrough on zinc need for corn and beans or, the eye-opening alfalfa yields obtained when larger quantities of potassium fertilizers are used?

We have found band placing of fertilizers to the side and below the seed level to be the best method yet devised. Always apply some fertilizer when planting.

Soil testing procedures haven't really changed too much. We used to have a field soil testing kit in a "fishing-tackle" box. Then we developed soil testing procedures where a photo-electric cell read the density of color of phosphorous and potassium solutions extracted from a soil. The fishing-tackle box has gone by the way. Just recently, in the last five or six years the development of the Flame Photometer method was made and is now used by the MSU Soil Science Dept., plus other modern soil testing laboratories.

All these soil testing methods were developed to both increase soil test accuracy and to refine the system of soil testing.

In spite of these evolutionary changes and refinements, field and greenhouse research still shows the basic plant food needs to be nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium. And in certain mineral soil areas or fields - manganese, zinc, boron and in a very few cases magnesium may be needed.

I am not going to neglect a real important crop need and that is calcium. A P-H test is all important to determine phosphorous, zinc, manganese, boron and other crop nutrient availability during the growing season and for the proper fertilizer recommendations. This same P-H test determines where limestone is needed to supply magnesium and/or calcium both being plant food nutrients.

Fertilizer recommendation methods have undergone evolutionary changes too. I could even say revolutionary changes in this 16 year period.

When I first came to this county we gave fertilizer recommendations, based on a soil test, as to so many pounds of a certain fertilizer analysis per acre, with or without trace elements and additional nitrogen or lime if needed. It was not long before this method was refined. We soon began making fertilizer recommendations on the basis of pounds of water soluble nitrogen and potash, citric acid soluble phosphorous and soluble elemental trace elements needed per crop, based on a crop yield, and on a specific field and from a soil test.

This is the procedure now followed for making fertilizer or, better yet, plant food nutrient recommendations. While we were developing this system newer fertilizer carriers were being developed which further changed our recommendations. Lower analysis fertilizers such as 3-12-12 decreased in use while higher analysis such as 8-32-16, 6-24-24 and 11-46-0 etc. increased. We also are seeing an increase in the price of adding separate nutrients like potassium to adjust fertility levels before applying planting fertilizers.

When all is said and done, these changes are inevitable. Yet our soils have not relatively changed in their basic natural levels of nutrient holding and supplying capacities.

Basically silt loam, clay loam and clay soils in this part of the county are richly endowed with potassium with phosphorous being more limited. Lighter textured soils, the sandy loams, loamy sands etc. are not as richly endowed with natural potassium. They leach readily compared with heavy textured soils. These with this being the general case we are most apt to find fertilizer needs on the heavy soils to be higher in phosphorous than potassium. On light textured soils the needs are most apt to be equal amounts of phosphorous and potassium and often greater amounts of potassium than phosphorous.

My ending remark to this is "Don't Guess - Soil Test" and we should be using more plant food nutrients and not less, whether they be in the liquid or dry form.

This truck is actually building a highway. One out of every three miles of Michigan's street and highway system is paid for by trucks. One large truck pays as much in highway-user taxes as do 30 automobiles. Heavy trucks (20,000 pounds or more), comprising 1% of all vehicles, pay 16% of all highway costs. Our interest in good highways is for real. We want to pay our fair share.

Highway users pay in advance, for roads yet to be built, and generally, in proportion to the use they derive from them. Highways cost the Federal government nothing; they have no effect on the Budget. If expenditures for highways are cut back, the tax paid by users still accrues in the Highway Trust Fund, which was created by Congress to finance the world's finest highway improvement system, and is by law earmarked for highway purposes only.

Interstate highways, built for reasons of national defense (but with not one penny from the Defense Budget), have been of great benefit to all motorists. The trucking industry has certainly benefited. But once and for all, let the record show:

THERE IS NO SUBSIDY FOR HIGHWAYS!

Scab apple control tips in bulletin

Sanitation and management are the two best ways to control apple scab, a yield and quality-reducing fungus familiar to all parts of the state, according to Alfred Ballweg, County Extension Agricultural Agent.

While varieties vary in their resistance to the apple scab organism, no cultivated commercial variety has the resistance to eliminate the need for chemical sprays.

For any spray program, it is essential to know the life cycle of the fungus causing the disease so that control can be directed to the weakest points in the life cycle. A new Extension Bulletin -595- "How to Recognize and Control Apple Scab," discusses fully the life cycle and fungicides used for its control, according to the agent.

The bulletin is also useful for orchardists having difficulty recognizing scab on leaves and sepals or in the early stages of tree growth.

One For The Road

The filter's good but not adopted

By Dan Marlowe

The Case of the Strickman Cigaret Filter (continued):

I wrote in this column 8 months ago that Columbia University sponsorship of the filter wouldn't work. Chemist Robert L. Strickman, inventor of the filter, had turned his product over to the university. It was to be administered by a foundation which would license all applicants. Since the filter cut resinous tars by 87% and nicotine by 67%, for reasons of health alone Columbia assumed that cigarette company applicants would be numerous.

I wrote at the time that it wouldn't work that way.

A quote from the previous column: "Columbia University is in for the biggest shock in its corporate existence when it attempts to interest the cigarette companies in its health-aiding product."

And another: "The cigarette companies are not -- repeat NOT -- interested in seeking out an item, however beneficial to health, equally available to all of them."

I went on to point out that the companies were far more concerned about finding differences to be exploited in advertising than they were health-giving samenesses. And I said also that it would probably take direct government intervention to induce the companies to unite on a single filter.

TIME magazine's March 8th issue tells the story. Columbia University has dissolved its foundation.

A university spokesman said that it had made "a well-intentioned mistake in entering a highly controversial and competitive commercial field." Red-faced but firm, Columbia backed out of the deal.

The university spokesman hastened to add that the decision in no way reflected upon the merits of the filter. This was pertinent since two of Canada's largest cigarette companies (Imperial Tobacco Co. and Rothmans of Canada Ltd.) have already signed up for it. None of the U. S. corporate giants in the field have touched it, however.

The financial implications of the filter are enormous. Strickman has set up a new foundation (since Columbia's withdrawal). The two Canadian licensees alone will contribute an advance payment of $400,000 to it and possible royalties of $5,000,000 a year. Any one of the major U. S. companies which signed up would dwarf those figures.

But as Columbia found out the hard way, this is not the way of the U. S. cigarette world. As it stated here 8 months ago: "Anyone who imagines the cigarette companies are going to get together on a single product for which none can claim superiority is the ultimate dreamer."

In the U. S., at least, advertising is still the tail which wags the manufacturing dog.

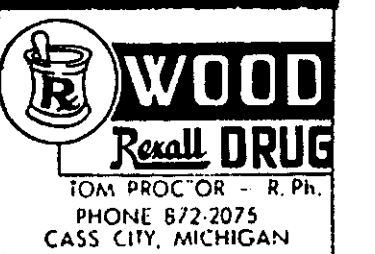

Men who deceive themselves are easy marks for deceivers.
