

Restrictions in force

Rash of grass fires Saturday

Excessively dry spring weather has created extremely hazardous fire conditions in the Thumb and caused a rash of grass fires Saturday.

Cass City Fire Chief Nelson Willy reported that strict burning restrictions are in force. He said that burning permits must be secured and that no burning would be allowed until after 6 p. m.

Saturday Elkland Township Fire Department traveled 75 miles battling five grass fires.

At 10:30 a. m. a trash burner fire went out of control at the farm of Mrs. Laura Retherford, 6 1/4 miles south and three miles east of Cass City.

At 1:55 wheat stubble at the C. Kolacz farm, southwest of Cass City, which was burning, was kept under control by the firemen.

At 2:12 p. m. the alarm sent the firemen to the Theodore Robinson home, seven miles west of Cass City where 100 acres of grass and hay burned as a fire started there went out of control.

The Michigan Conservation Department issued a ticket to Robinson for burning without a permit.

At 3:45 another fire from a trash burner spread out of control at the Ernest Periso home on Mushroom road, eight miles south and a half mile west of Cass City.

At 3:50 a wheat stubble fire was noticed two miles north of Cass City and the department helped keep it under control.

Willy said that the fires cost $350 in fees alone. In addition, the chief explained, one fire was under the mutual aid program with the Gagetown Fire Department and no money was received.

Horse accident

critically injures

Brad Hartel, 4

Four-year-old Bradley Hartel is recovering from critical injuries received Saturday when he was kicked in the back by a horse.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hartel of Cass City narrowly avoided death in the mishap and was in extremely critical condition for three days.

It was not until Tuesday that the youngster was taken from an oxygen tent and intravenous feeding stopped.

The youth had accompanied his family to feed their riding horse when their pet dog ran near and the horse kicked Bradley in the back.

The unconscious youngster was rushed to the hospital where examination revealed that he suffered internal bleeding and a concussion.

Vassar man is 20th county traffic fatality

The 20th traffic fatality in Tuscola county this year was recorded Saturday when Charles W. Esch, 81, Vassar, was killed while walking two miles east of Vassar.

He was struck by a car driven by Theodore A. Wolfe III, 19, of Snover as he was crossing West Saginaw Road to reach the Vassar Township Hall.

The impact hurled Esch onto the hood and then over the windshield onto the cloth top of the convertible where he broke through, landing on the back seat of the car.

He was pronounced dead by Coroner William Clark at the scene of the accident.

Andrea Blank, 17, of Snover was a passenger in the car.

HELPING CUSTOMERS with these carburetors sends Charles Tuckey from coast to coast and into Europe.

Tell banquet ticket deadline

Chamber of Commerce President Dick Drews reminded residents this week that the deadline for buying tickets for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet is Saturday night.

The annual event will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Intermediate School gym.

Besides an address from a speaker from the State Chamber of Commerce, the Junior and Senior Citizens of the year will be named, Drews said.

Tickets are on sale at both banks, Wood's Drugs and from Chamber board members.

Little problems send Tuckey long distances for Walbro

Original equipment manufacturers who use Walbro carburetors have sent their products around the world and because they have, Walbro's trouble-shooting Charles Tuckey has become a world traveler.

Although his official title is chief of carburetor development, Tuckey does a good many jobs in engineering and one of them is bailing out customers who feel that Walbro's carburetors may not be running quite up to standard.

This job takes him to the east and west coasts frequently. . . . He says that he averages about a trip a month to confer with customers' engineers.

But until early this month, all of the travel was state-side. California and New York were familiar vistas. . . . but Europe and the Arctic Circle seemed as remote as they are to the average resident.

But way up in Lapland the Finns were having trouble. . . . their lumbermen couldn't keep their chainsaws running. . . . and Tuckey received the call to see about the hang up.

What proved to be causing the trouble was the difference

Vanover found guilty

A Tuscola County Jury deliberated for six hours Tuesday night before returning a verdict of guilty of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder against Lowell Vanover.

Vanover had been charged with assault with intent to murder after he had entered the home of his father-in-law, Milton Bedore, supervisor from Columbia township, threatened him with a gun and beat him up after a dispute concerning his wife, Joan, Dec. 21.

Vanover had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. The case went to the jury at 4:45 p. m. and the verdict was returned at 10:45.

Judge James Churchill revoked Vanover's $20,000 bond and he is in jail awaiting sentence.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and sentence will be passed April 30.

Still pending against Vanover is a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

The three-day trial opened Friday. Members of the jury were: Leone Fields, Myrna Barbara, James Gyonory, Alvin Avery, Barbara Gaut, Robert McCormick, Martene Eria, Ann Hiser, Gladys Stout, William Hunter, Gordon Berlein and Deloris Harrington.

TOUGH SLEDDING

Getting to the trouble spot was nearly as big a problem as the trouble itself, Tuckey recalled with a grin.

When we arrived in Finland, it was like a police State. The importer who handled the saws assigned a man to me and one to our import representative and we were never alone.

At night, he recalled, one of them slept with me, one with him. One reason may have been to save costs, Tuckey feels. When they were in our room at night, we paid the costs. . . . perhaps if our hosts had been in separate rooms they might have had to pay for lodging, he said.

The standard cry of the Finns was "Americans on expense account", Tuckey recalled with a grin.

Worse than the surveillance was the weather and more trying than the sub-zero temperatures was the snow. Thirty inches on the level and you constantly break through so the first trip converted me to skis in a hurry, Tuckey said. It took us an hour and a half to go 300 yards to the spot where

Greenleaf clerk steps down after 22 years

Anson Karr, 77, Greenleaf township clerk for 22 years, resigned Saturday at the township's annual meeting.

Karr said that he resigned because of ill health. The township board appointed Clare Brown, Ubly, to fill the remainder of Karr's term.

Other business at the meeting included a discussion of township roads.

Good Friday services slated

The Community Good Friday Service will be conducted in the Cass City Presbyterian Church April 12 from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m.

The Rev. Alex Holmes, minister of the Caro Presbyterian Church, will be the guest speaker. The special music will be rendered by the Chancel Choir of Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Elkland town meeting

Parlay over new fire hall, roads

The annual Elkland Township meeting Saturday at the Cultural Center was highlighted by a discussion of road work and a new building to house the fire department.

Both major roads leading into the village will be resurfaced this year, according to present plans. Cemetery Road north for 3 1/2 miles is tentatively scheduled. The new roadway will include straightening out some of the hills and removal of trees in the right-of-way, Supervisor Ed Golding said.

As previously announced, M-81, from M-53 west, will be resurfaced for about nine miles including Main Street in Cass City.

Neither of these jobs will require township funds. The road that Golding said the board would like to complete, using township funds, is Koepfen Road. One mile remains to complete the hard surfacing of the road from M-81 to Bay City-Forrestville Road.

Allen Merchant asked why township roads could not receive more grading and maintenance. He said that his road (Schwegler) needs grading badly because the surfacing there had broken up.

Golding said that the maintenance was under control of the county.

FIRE HALL STATUS

Cass City Village President Lambert Althaver attended and asked about a new building for the Elkland Township Fire Department.

Golding said that the board had no plans at the moment for a building. He pointed out that the township has $10,000 in bonds put away for a new building and said that he felt that a joint village-township effort might be necessary.

Althaver said that if the C. R. Hunt building was available and the terms satisfactory, the village would be interested. . . .

Fulcher tops in district, preps for state show

Fresh from a first place finish in the area contest and $100 richer because of his victory, Tom Fulcher, Cass City High School Junior, is ready to go on to greater things in the Sound of Youth USA program.

Competing in Flint Saturday, Fulcher was judged the best in the male vocalist class.

The young artist sang "Green, Green Grass of Home" and accompanied himself on the guitar.

Next stop will be the State finals Saturday, April 27. The finals are also at Whiting Auditorium in Flint.

Fulcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Fulcher of Cass City.

to provide off-street parking in the area.

Clerk R. M. Hunter said that when a price is set by Hunt the board would be happy to look over the proposition.

In other business, a proposed township budget of $31,380 was reviewed and the township authorized $400 as its share of the summer recreation program at the Cass City Recreational Park.

A complete financial statement for 1967-68 appears elsewhere in the paper.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

I often vowed that I wouldn't carry credit cards under the theory that they were almost like carrying a large amount of cash. Lost or stolen cards can be a headache.

But this week I succumbed. I received a card from United Airlines through the mail although I can't remember applying for it.

What is it about one of these cards that gives you that puffed up important feeling? Certainly for me to carry an airline credit card is ridiculous.

I might fly once a year. . . . or once in five years and the odds are great that the card will expire (April 1969) long before I have occasion to use it. But it's still tucked away in my wallet.

Speaking of credit and airplanes, when vacationing recently our group had tickets totaling about $1,200 and we used them without paying a cent until after we returned.

The tickets were supposed to have been due before we left, but weren't paid.

None of us ever did get a bill. . . . we gave no credit references.

Did they check us out overnight or just take a chance? If they gamble this way, how much does it cost them in a year? I'd guess not too much.

If they did, they'd change the system.

The highway carnage in bloody March added to the traffic fatalities in the previous two months has law officials looking for new answers.

Sheriff Hugh Marr of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department says that a joint meeting of all law authorities including court officials is being planned to see what steps may be taken to stop the slaughter.

But, he says, I just don't know what to do. It's an old axiom in traffic control that the stricter the enforcement the safer the highway.

Yet, Marr points out, this year our arrests and convictions are greater than the preceding year. . . . but still the deaths occur at run-away

Court ruling may bring reapportionment plan back

Almost sure to be a topic of discussion at next week's monthly meeting of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors is the recent Supreme Court ruling that extends the "one man, one vote" theory to municipal and county levels of government.

The board should have just one worry when they discuss the problem. When to implement a reapportionment system that was hammered out just one year ago.

The system calls for seven districts to replace the present township system, with population about equal in each district.

This plan has been approved by the State and would be put into effect as soon as representatives from the districts are elected.

THE HEAVY DARK lines show the seven districts that will comprise Tuscola County under the reapportionment plan adopted in 1967 by the board of Supervisors. The smaller numbers printed indicate the people in each township and the larger number, the people being represented in each district.

Church overflows at final Parker family rites Monday

An overflow group of mourners crowded into the Canboro Reorganized Church Monday afternoon to pay last respects to the seven members of the Leo Parker family of rural Owendale who were killed in a tragic automobile accident Friday night.

The mourners filled the small sanctuary and the basement of the church where rites were heard by loud speakers. Many of the persons attending were schoolmates of the Parkers at OwenGage School.

OwenGage was dismissed Monday so students could attend funeral services for the family.

Lost in the flaming wreckage were: Leo Parker, 45, his wife, Barbara, 43, five children, Mary, 19, Peggy, 16, John, 11, Susan, 9, and Kelly, 2, and Mrs. Clara Sieger, 36, of Unionville.

The Parkers had piled into their van to go to Fish Point to watch the flights of geese on their way north and were returning to M-25 on their way to Bay City on a shopping trip.

Mrs. Sieger was on her way to Lenten services at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The Parker car evidently rolled through a stop sign on Ringle Road and collided with Mrs. Sieger's eastbound car on Bay Park Road.

Tuscola Sheriff Hugh Marr who investigated said that the accident occurred at dusk. All of the Parkers were thrown from the van while Mrs. Sieger was pinned in the wreckage.

The Parker van, with a full load of gas, exploded on impact.

Five of the Parkers were hurled into a water-filled ditch and two others landed on a bank.

All of the Parkers with the exception of Kelly, were killed in the crash. Mrs. Sieger was dead on arrival at Bay City General Hospital and the girl died a half hour after admitted.

Funeral services for the Parkers were conducted by Elder Clayton Gemmel. Burial was in Grant township cemetery.

Leo Parker was born Feb. 27, 1923, in Grant township, Huron county. Survivors are: his mother, Mrs. Electa Parker, Owendale; a sister, Mrs. Helen Cone, Caro, and four brothers, Marvin, Donald and Harold, all of Owendale, and Ervin, Grass Lake.

He married Miss Barbara M. Letterman Nov. 1, 1945, in the Canboro church.

Mrs. Parker was born Nov.

18, 1924. Surviving are: her father, Adam Letterman, Sebewaing, and five sisters: Mrs. Joan Miklovich, Gagetown; Mrs. Christine Wissner, Killmanagh; Mrs. Marie Menzsch, Sebewaing; Mrs. Dorothy Richards, New York, New York, and Mrs. Dollie Ondrajka, Marlette, and three brothers, Mark, Bay City, and James and Robert, Sebewaing.

The Parker children were born in Huron county: Mary Lee, Mar. 1, 1949; Peggy Ann, Sept. 23, 1951; John E., May 6, 1956; Susan K., June 16, 1958, and Kelly M., Sept. 30, 1965.

Mary was an employee at Walbro Corporation.

SINGER RITES

Final rites for Mrs. Sieger were held Tuesday morning at St. Joseph Catholic Church. Burial was in the church cemetery.

She was born Mar. 22, 1932, and was a life long resident of Unionville.

Surviving are: her husband, Fred; four daughters, Laurie, Janice, Kerrie and Amy Jo, all at home; a son, Brad, at home; two sisters, and three brothers.

Gary Jackson wed in Rochester

The Church of Christ, Rochester, was the scene of the double-ring wedding ceremony Feb. 24, when Yvonne Marie Dietlin and Gary John Jackson exchanged nuptial vows. The Reverend Clyde Balderson officiated at the morning rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dietlin and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Jackson of Cass City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose white lace for her street-length gown with long sleeves, trimmed in satin. Veiling with feathers, was her headpiece and she carried an arrangement of white carnations and baby roses.

The bride's attendant was her sister, Lorraine. She wore a green metallic sleeveless sheath with matching slippers and whimsy trimmed with rosettes. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Best man for the bridegroom was Earl Powell, of Lapeer. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dietlin chose a metallic flowered long sleeved sheath. Mrs. Jackson was dressed in navy and white. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was served to the immediate family at the Elks club in Rochester, after which the newlyweds flew to Miami for their honeymoon.

An open house reception was held at the Dietlin home when they returned from Florida.

The couple is making their home in Rochester where Mr. Jackson is sales manager of Macomb Chrysler.

The keener the critic the more cutting his criticism.

There are lots of good ideas in the world, but very few people to push them along.

Thought For Lent

He is not among the dead

Fred H. Johnson

"As He Said:"

Jesus the carpenter's son at the age of twelve was found in the Temple at Jerusalem sitting with the Jewish teachers, listening to them and asking questions. All that heard him were amazed at his intelligent answers.

Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favour with God and man. Tracing his life through the Bible we hear him continuing to speak words of wisdom and truth: On the banks of the Jordan River we see him grown to manhood and seeking to be baptized by John the Baptist. He is saying: "Let it be so now for so it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness? Being tempted of Satan in the wilderness we hear him say "Man shall not live by bread alone." "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." And finally, "Get thee hence Satan."

The life and ministry of Jesus was packed so full of wisdom and truth that John in his Gospel declares that the world itself could not contain the books that could be written concerning Him.

Before the dark hours of the cross drew near, Jesus informed his disciples concerning his suffering and death at the hands of the Jews, but that He would rise again from the dead. This suffering began in the Garden of Gethsemane where in agony of soul he faced the cross sweating as it were great drops of blood he prayed- "Father if this cup may not pass from me except I drink it, thy will be done."

We follow him to the cross and hear him pray for his enemies "Father forgive them for they know not what they do." To the dying thief he gives eternal life saying "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise." For his mother he provides a home. All this in the midst of greatest agony until he cried "My God My God why hast Thou forsaken me" and finally the words "It is finished and Father into thy hands I commend my spirit."

On the resurrection morning we hear him speak again. It is a very personal word the calling of a name of one who sought the living among the dead. Friend, have you sought Jesus as Mary sought him and heard him speak your name? "Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here (among the dead) for he is risen as he said."

Mrs. H. Dulemba dies in Detroit

Mrs. Helen Dulemba, 72, died Tuesday afternoon in a Detroit hospital. The Cass City resident had been spending the winter in Detroit.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

The man who works only to please himself is seldom praised for what he accomplishes.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. McNaughton

The first wedding in the new building of the Good Shepherd Lutheran church was performed

Saturday, Feb. 24, when Connie Elise Krug and David Wynn McNaughton were united in marriage. Pastor Rev. Richard Eyer performed the ceremony at 4 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Krug of Cass City and the groom, now serving with the Army in Vietnam, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn McNaughton of Saginaw, formerly of Snover.

Pat Rogers of Mt. Pleasant was maid of honor and John J. Krug of Cass City, brother of the bride, was best man.

A wedding dinner was held at the Heidelberg Inn in Sebewaing and a reception, at the home of the bride's parents, was held in the evening.

Mrs. McNaughton is a student nurse at Saginaw General Hospital School of Nursing.

Upgrade protection at M-81 rail crossing at Caro

The Michigan Public Service Commission has ordered the Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Company to upgrade protective devices at its crossing with Highway M-81 (North State Street) in the village of Caro in Tuscola county.

The Commission ordered the installation of automatic flashing-light signals equipped with back-to-back lights and gongs and supplemented by additional signals on 14-foot cantilever arms. The railroad company also was ordered to install a set of light signals in the southwest quadrant to protect traffic using a driveway in the northwest quadrant of the crossing.

"Investigation reveals a daily volume of vehicular traffic in excess of 4,200 per day," Peter B. Spivak, Commission Chairman, said.

The hushabye heat.

Soft and low. Gentle and quiet. That's electric heat.

It's the quietest heat you can get. If it's radiant, there's no sound at all. If it's a warm-air furnace, the fan runs at a lower speed. Gives only a gentle hum, soft as a lullaby.

What else? Electric heat is clean. No fumes. No soot. No draft. No chill one moment nor a burst of hot air the next. The humidity stays in the comfort range.

It's better for you. Your nose and throat. Better for your home.

Call Edison for the name of your nearest Edison-approved Electric Heat Contractor. He'll give you a no-obligation survey. And we'll see that you get a $100 trade-in allowance on your old heating plant.

Electric heat . . . the hushabye heat. Comforting to have while your little one, your pretty one, sleeps.

Evergreen

by Darlene Wentworth
Barbara Dorland

Last week the students in Mrs. Smith's room had a birthday party for their teacher. Mrs. Smith received gifts, cards, flowers, and a decorated cake, which Todd Vatters brought for the party.

Mrs. Gray's sixth grade boys played a basketball game with some boys from the Laing School. Evergreen defeated Laing 59 to 28.

The 23rd of March was the 4-H achievement day, which was held at Deckerville. 4-H members enter their projects in this event to be judged, hoping they will receive high honors and be able to go on to the State Achievement day.

This year, due to all the snow we had on the 23rd, the style revue had to be cancelled.

Cass City Intermediate

Last Saturday was the Junior High Solo and Ensemble Festival, which was held at the Laker High School.

Cass City entered a total of fifteen events, returning with four firsts, nine seconds, and two thirds.

Receiving ratings were Debbie Spencer, Susan Koepfgen and Becky Loomis, for their piano solos, and Jean Turner and Sheryl Thane, who played a piano duet.

Those who received a rating were: Sheryl Thane, piano solo; Pam Kilbourn and Lori Spear, flute duet; Mardi Auten, piano solo; Betty Haire and Mary Beth Esau, flute-oboe duet; Wanda Hacker and Dale Volmar, clarinet duet; Mary Eselman and Randy Wright, bass clarinet duet; Beth Parrott, piano solo; Becky Parrott, piano solo; and Jeanne Alexander and Cheryl Kozan for their flute duet.

Mardi Auten and Sharon Hartel received a III for their piano duet, and Sharon received a III for her piano solo.

C. C. H. S.

Commission's report of civil riots

By Rev. R. J. Searls

Shortly after last summer's race riots, the President of the nation appointed, on July 27, a committee made up of people from all walks in life. From rural areas and heavily populated cities, from labor and management, from the Congress and from radical voices, a wide stream of America was represented directly or indirectly on this "blue ribbon" committee, whose chairman was the governor of Illinois, the honorable Otto Kerner.

The Commission filed its report only a few days ago and has attracted much attention because of the White House's complete and unexpected silence on its contents. The President has not received it with joy, on the one hand, or with disappointment on the other. Just silence! No previously appointed investigative committee has had its report publicly and pointedly ignored. The report, itself, does not go as far as many had hoped, nor yet did it just stick to the standards that find race violence ignored. The Commission held open hearings in Washington and visited cities that felt the brunt of the riots.

The Commission reached no consensus of how to avoid further race riots, but this report does lay down certain factors that appeared in the riots of 1967.

The Bantam edition emptied the bookshelves in a matter of hours after it was put out for sale, evidencing a much wider interest in it than is customary. First section of the book is the special introduction by Tom Wicker of "The New York Times" whose capabilities at putting in perspective complex materials is exceeded by no other journalist today. Then comes a "Summary of the Report" which outlines much of the heart of the report. Beginning with the President's charge to the Commission, he directed it to work and come up with the answer to three basic questions: 1) What happened? 2) Why did it happen? 3) What can be done to prevent it from happening again?

It was in this context that the Commission worked. In a nation that had never before witnessed anything like occurred during the "hot, dry summer" of 1967, witnesses and events happened in great surplus. This report reached, in print, in excess of 550 pages in small type!

In "Profiles of Disorder" the Commission examined eight communities which had racially oriented civil disturbances, ranging from small communities to major upheavals such as in Newark and Detroit. Using the information available to them, they discovered that there had (in almost all of the riots) been practically no police agency trained to handle the angry mobs. National Guards admitted, in Commission hearings, that they had not known specifically what they were supposed to be doing. The Commission noted this fact along with other data which seems to point the finger of blame at immature Guards firing rounds of ammunition at shadows.

By way of contrast, an Army officer flown into Detroit, immediately ordered that troops under his (temporary) command to unload all the weapons issued to them. It was discovered in practice that the men investigating (for example) sounds of gunfire in their vicinity, were much more cautious without sidearms. I have not yet given you the "meat" of this report, but such things as housing and employment enter the picture. I was interested in the chapter dealing with the administration of justice during civil disturbances.

It is not enough to just remember that you can recall that a race riot came uncomfortably close to Cass City in 1967. Nor is it enough just to brag about how you would take care of them if they tried to enter your village! One of the greatest dangers is that there is no plan that would automatically go into action.

"Report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders" Bantam Books, 1968, N. Y. $1.25.

DIVISION I Junior High Solo and Ensemble awards were won by these students: Top row: Debbie Spencer, Susan Koepfgen and Becky Loomis. Bottom row: Sheryl Thane and Jean Turner.

Those who placed for Cass City were: Carolyn Jones, who placed first in declamation, and Sandi Holcomb, who placed third in girl's oratory. Since Carolyn received a first, she will now go to the regional contest. If it should happen that one of the two girls in girl's oratory should not be able to make it to the regional, Sandi, as alternate, would take her place.

Also on Tuesday, the seniors spent a day at the Courthouse in Caro listening to various cases in the court.

Wednesday and Thursday night the senior's show "Divorce American Style" was on at the theater. (Happiness is going to the show on a school night!)

Friday was the "Thumb B" talent show. The top three acts from our school performed at Caro and Frankenmuth. Vassar's and Sandusky's acts performed at C.C.H.S. in the afternoon and displayed quite a bit of talent.

If the acts were to be placed in order a band from Vassar called the "Corruptions" would probably have received first place. I say that because the group got two standing ovations and three encores from the student body!

Also on Friday, a practice track-meet was held at Caro. (It doesn't seem possible that track season could be here already!)

CLUB NEWS

The GAA played two games of basketball against Caro's GAA Tuesday night. Would you believe that the highest final score of the varsity game was 10 points?! Caro defeated Cass City 10-7. Cass City was ahead 7-5 until the middle of the fourth quarter.

Cass City's Junior Varsity team was defeated 22-5.

The Spanish club had a bake sale March 30.

Last Saturday night the Harlem Clowns played a game against some of Cass City's alumni. The Harlem players only won by 2 points! The game was sponsored by Cass City's Varsity Club.

TID BITS

Three C.C.H.S. students have been awarded Certificates of Merit by the Detroit Free Press for having distinguished themselves as outstanding debaters. The three are: Richard Ross, Karen Holm, and Bill Spencer.

All three participated during the 1967-68 season in the Michigan High School Forensic Association debate series, sponsored by the Free Press and the University of Michigan.

Thursday afternoon four students - Eric Esau, Eugene Steinhebel, Sandy Schuette, and Tom Kolb - went to the Intermediate school and demonstrated to the sixth grade how to dissect a frog!

Quite a few students have already begun to count how many days there are left of school. Would you believe we're already in the 40's?

Sign-up time for kindergarteners

Mrs. Jacqueline Freiburger, principal, reminded parents that the parents' clinic and registration for children entering kindergarten will be held April 4 and 5.

Campbell Elementary will enroll students Thursday. Rural students and parents are slated at 9:30 a. m. and village children and parents at 1:30 p. m. Friday Evergreen registration is from 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m. and Deford registration, 9 a. m. to 11 a. m.

TUCKEY TRAVELS

Concluded from page one, are under construction.

WORLD TRAVELER

His European jaunt has placed Tuckey truly into the world traveler category. In his 10 years at Walbro Tuckey has travelled over most of the world except the Far East and he was there during his service career. The 36-year-old engineer is married and has four children.

Report two minor mishaps

Two minor mishaps were reported this week to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department involving area drivers. Mrs. Verneta Rayl of Gagetown was shaken up in a crash Saturday with a car driven by Leonard P. Lalone of Essexville.

Earl Rayl Jr., Gagetown, had slowed for traffic ahead and his car was hit in the rear by one driven by Lalone. Two sons, Randy and Jim Rayl, other passengers in the car, were not injured. Earl Rayl and Lalone were also uninjured.

The Rayl car received extensive damage to the trunk and rear.

Friday, three persons escaped injury when cars driven by Joseph Melville Graham, 18, of Caro and Stephen Paul Rhein collided on Cass City Road, about a quarter of a mile east of Hurds Corner Road. Graham was traveling east and was unable to avoid hitting the Rhein car which was stalled in gear on the highway. Graham said that he was unable to see headlights as the car was stalled diagonally across the road.

"Australia" Rotary series feature Thursday

The next to the final presentation of the Cass City Rotary Club's travel and adventure series will feature Col. Nicol Smith with "Australia".

The show is slated Thursday, April 11, at Cass City High School and curtain time as usual is 8:04 p. m.

Smith is the author of several books and magazine articles. He has been a noted film lecturer since 1936 and has produced 15 travelogues.

Possibly his best recommendation is his record for repeat engagements all over the country.

Four of his films have been featured on the TV show, "Bold Journey".

Take the family to the airport

By Dan Marlowe

Huron County Memorial Airport is situated just outside the Bad Axe city limits.

The county-operated facility serves the pilots of the Thumb area, and serves them well. Runways include a NE to SW 3500 foot hard surface strip, a SE to NW 2700 foot turf strip, and another E to W turf runway of 2000 feet. The airport has one of the finest beacons in the state, highly visible at night from the air. The field is lighted all during the night hours.

Manager Vic Ingram reports that he pumps nearly 10,000 gallons of aviation fuel a year. This includes both the 80-87 octane (colored red to prevent mistakes) and 100-130 octane gas (colored blue). Hangar facilities are available for 11 aircraft. Many more can be tied down. Repair facilities are available to handle anything up to and including major engine repair.

At the present time 21 planes are berthed at the field. In the summer this number will almost double. Numerous weekend fly-in visitors also contribute materially to the area's income. The Huron Aviation Club is based in the administration building. Earl Longuski of Uby is the current president, and the club has 21 members. Club members have put in many hours of their own time in upgrading airport accommodations.

The airport gives barometric pressure readings and wind direction and velocity readings to Radio Station WLEW in Bad Axe twice a day. Unicom radio operating at 122.8 megahertz permits planes in the air to contact the airport manager for on-the-spot weather information before making a final approach.

levels. If the meeting could point out roads in the county not properly marked for no passing on hills and curves it could be a help.

But the major problem is still the driver. Most of the accidents were at well marked corners or areas where road conditions were not a factor. Driver error caused the accident.

The only way that the police can stop a motorist from running a stop sign is to be there before it happens.

What is needed is a new awareness that driving right around home is more apt to kill than a trip across the country and drive accordingly.

Accidents don't always happen to the other guy.

Accept teachers for science program

Two members of Kingston Community School, one a former resident of Cass City, have been accepted for study under the National Science Foundation program.

The men are David Binder and Mr. VanParis. Binder will attend Western Michigan University June 10-Aug. 2. He will receive $600, plus $120 for each dependent; free tuition, and four cents per mile for one round trip from Kingston to the University.

A similar offer was received by VanParis to attend Capital University from July 8 through Aug. 16.

Local delegates at seminar

A delegation from the Cass City Methodist Church attended a legislative seminar sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches Wednesday, Mar. 27. Dr. Nathan Wright Jr., executive director, department of Urban Work, Episcopal Diocese of Newark, N. J., discussed the race and riot problem.

He said that Negro leaders must be elected or appointed in predominantly Negro neighborhoods and the white man must consider the Negro as an equal if riots and the Black Power movement are to be stopped.

Attending from Cass City were: James Braid, Keith McConkey, Mr. and Mrs. Dodge, Mrs. Hurd, Mrs. Alton Mark and Mrs. Margaret Haire.

Betting is an argument that's convincing only when you win.

Every man has a future before him, but too often his past acts as a handicap.

Lose control of rubbish fire, damage barn

A rubbish fire that went out of control caused extensive damage to a barn and other buildings eight miles north and two miles east of Cass City Tuesday.

The home on the property is owned by Roland Hoppe and the barn was being used by a farm neighbor.

Elkland Township Chief Nelson Willy said that the fire went from a rubbish pile to a chicken coop, through a small garage to the barn.

The roof of the barn was damaged and some hay burned. Willy reported that a tanker from the Gagetown Fire Department was called in to assist local firemen.

The fellow who hated classes in school now has a wife who lectures him daily.

VOLUME 61, NUMBER 51

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN - THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1968

Weather helps Hawks gird for track, baseball season

Spring sports zoomed into the limelight in the Cass City High School athletic picture this week as squads in both track and baseball eyed ambitious, demanding schedules.

The track team will swing into action early. The thinclads move to East Lansing for the Michigan State relays with action starting at noon Saturday.

Prospects for a Thumb B Conference winner appear remote. Although there is a nucleus of lettermen returning, the best has left. He's Phil Nichols, last year's leading point maker and premier high jumper. Also missed will be Karl Welpert and Dave Asher.

New Coach Robert Watson says that the team will be the strongest in the middle distances and the weakest in the dashes.

Although there are no exceptional performers back from last year's squad, the team has 10 lettermen back to anchor the race for the Thumb B crown.

None of them list field events as their specialty.

In contrast to recent years when all of the meets with the exception of a couple of relays were held at Cass City, most of the big meets are slated at Caro where a new track was recently completed.

GAVEL INVITATIONAL

One big meet, the Gavel Club Invitational, is still in Cass City.

It's the meet that draws teams from all over central Michigan and annually draws raves from the schools attending.

Co-captains of the team this year are Junior Gary Vollmar and Senior Dennis Stine. Vollmar runs the 440 and Stine's specialty is the hurdles.

Sophomores John Bifoss and Jim Selby will win points in the distances and Junior Randy Aleksink is a dash man. Junior Tom Guinther will anchor the hurdlers and Junior Dick McRae's best events are the low hurdles and 100-yard dash.

Senior Don Hostetler and Larry Hartwick are distance men and Senior Jim Selby will run the 880.

The schedule:

- April 5 MSU relays
- 10 N. Branch - Decker-ville, home
- 17 Marlette, home
- 20 Gavel Invitational, home
- 24 Sandusky - Franken-muth, home
- May 1 Bad Axe, home
- 3 Central relays, Mt. Pleasant
- 8 Caro, Vassar, Lakers, at Caro
- 11 Oscoda relays, away
- 15 Thumb B, at Caro
- 18 Regionals, at Caro
- 22 Underclassmen, at Vassar
- 25 State meet, MSU

The unseasonably mild weather has been a break for the Cass City Red Hawks diamond nine and Coach Jim Wynes who is busy sorting out the talent available for upcoming Thumb B Conference baseball season.

Being able to play outside is especially valuable to Cass City this year as Wynes is getting his first look at the players.

Actually, Wynes has a double job. Not only are the players new to him; most of the players who take the field in the opening game against Unionville will be without enough game experience last year to qualify for a letter.

The team will be built around John Maharg. Maharg is normally a catcher, but plans now call for him to shift to the infield and do some pitching. Bill Klinkman will be returning at first and Terry Hile and Gary Sefton will anchor the outfield. Mike Murphy returns to the infield and the pitcher's mound.

That's the extent of the lettermen. Gone are Phil Gray, Tom Frankowski, Daryl Randall, Jim Tuckey and Al Zawilinski. Zawilinski was last year's captain and top pitcher.

Last year Cass City ended in about the middle of the pack and prospects of a higher finish this year appear slim.

The schedule calls for single games with every member of the Thumb B Conference and five non-league games. The Hawks will play two games with Unionville and Sebewaing and a single game with Millington.

This year there will be a Junior Varsity series. The seven-game schedule starts April 18 at Frankenmuth.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Are you a shopper like me?

By Marion Hostetler

Mike: How's your wife? Ike: Compared to what? It makes a big difference what you're comparing something with. Minimum speed on interstate highways is supposed to be 45, but in the spring blizzard of a couple of weeks ago, the maximum wasn't much over 35.

****

Gerry Blumenfeld tells about Teyva and his family who lived on the Russian-Polish border. At times he and his family had Polish citizenship, but if the international border changed, they would become Russians again. After the last World War, again there was a shift in nationality. Once more, Teyva and his family were Poles. Breathing a sigh of relief, he said to his wife, "Thank God! Now we won't have to go through those miserable Russian winters any more!"

****

It's all a matter of comparison, like keeping up with the Joneses.

Employer: "Why do you ask for a raise?"

Employee: "Sir, I wouldn't ask it for myself, but somehow my kids found out that other families eat THREE times a day."

****

A taxi driver was comparing his school taxes, which amounted to $104 in 1967 with the mere $49 he had had to pay in 1957. He wasn't thinking about the fact that he now had two TV sets and four children, compared with only one of each, ten years ago.

****

When a minister objected to the high cost of modern funerals, a funeral director pointed out that the church now had a baptismal font that cost $100, compared with a $2 bowl they had used for baptisms only a few years before.

****

Now that there's a law about health warnings on cigarette packages, it would seem comparatively reasonable to me to require a label on whiskey bottles: "This product may be injurious to your health."

****

Security is valuable, but how much you value it depends upon what you're comparing it with. How would you like to live in a place where you didn't have to shovel snow, or cook your own food, or punch a time clock, or worry about the rent? Try prison; you'd have perfect security there! Sounds like a perfect setup for people who value security more than opportunity.

****

How far it is to a man's work is a matter of comparison, too. I should have said that when Gaylor and Lynwood LaPeer drive to Detroit to work every day, they are a long way from home.

But the man who installed the folding wooden doors down the center of the new high school gym came from Detroit, and he thought he was working close to home. In nine years of installing doors, this was the nearest to Detroit that he had ever worked.

****

Today's children are more knowledgeable in many ways than those of a few years ago. A local woman took her five-year-old grandson with her on a shopping trip. When she asked him to hand her a box of Tide, he inquired, "Is it intensified Tide?"

****

Last week a checkout girl said to me, "We were just talking about people like you." "I didn't think there was anybody else like me," I replied. "You stack your boxes and cans on the counter with the prices up," she answered, "and that makes it easier for the checker."

****

I guessed wrong about the Rotarian newspaper from which I quoted so freely in my last two columns. Instead of being a publicity piece to lure people in to the minstrel show, it was a souvenir that was sold during intermission to raise additional

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses issued or applied for in Tuscola county during the week were:

Richard Eugene Higgins, 27, of Millington and Suzette Marie Silvrals, 19, of Millington. Harry Herman Kreitsch, 59, of Taylor and Clara Martha Kukhahn, 52, of Mayville. Richard Arthur LaLonde, 32, of Caro and Patricia Evelyn Fischer, 26, of Vassar.

Richard Allen Lagos, 19, of Cass City and Linda Sue Swaffer, 19, of Vassar.

James Frederick Serven, 30, of Vassar and Ruth Ann Reh, 27, of Mayville.

To get the best out of the years, every individual must learn to live every minute well.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Most of the fellows at the country store Saturday night reported they were getting a little disturbed over what the newspapers were calling this "consumerism" wave that was sweeping the country, special the way the Government was trying to tell the manufacturers what the "consumer" needed.

What brought this item up was Ed Doolittle reporting he had saw where the Food and Drug Administration had made a new recommendation over the amount of peanuts that had to be put in peanut butter. Ed claimed this piece said they had been holding hearings now for 8 years on the peanut butter matter and he figured it had give jobs to 500 people and cost the taxpayers a million dollars, and if the jobs and money held out, we might have this peanut butter crisis going on until the turn of the next century.

The manufacturers was claiming, Ed reported, that they was putting some vegetable oil and such things in peanut butter so's it would keep longer and spread better and that was what the people wanted. But the Government says it ain't what the people wants but what is good for 'em that was their interest in the matter.

Zeke Grubb was of the opinion the Government claimed they was protecting the people when they wasn't doing nothing but protecting and prolonging their jobs.

Clem Webster of the Great Society was disagreed, said it showed our Government cared about us and was looking after the consumer. He said it had took the U. S. Department of Agriculture 7 years to come to a agreement with the manufacturers on how much chicken had ought to be put in canned chicken soup, and peanut butter was a little more complicated and natural was taking more time.

Furthermore, allowed Clem, the Government's protection of the consumer was moving into many fields that was bad in need of it. For instance, he said he had saw where they was now 169 different perfumes on the market, all claiming to smell different. Clem said they ain't that many different kinds of smells in the world and the consumers was getting smell-washed.

Ed butted in to say, first off, folks didn't "consume" perfume and the Government didn't need to hold no 8-year hearings on the matter. Furthermore, he allowed, a heap of them new smells was being manufactured for the men folks and if a man wanted to smell like a mustard plaster soaked in honey, it wasn't none of the Government's business. Personal, Mister Editor, all I got out of the session was that pritty soon people ain't going to smell like people.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

The value of self-praise can be put in the same class as anything you get for nothing.

Musical family at Baptist church

The internationally famous James Van Koeve Family, Swiss bell ringers and musical novelty artists of St. Petersburg, Florida, will be featured in a musical concert Sunday, April 7, at First Baptist Church. The Van Koeve Family will be in all of the regular services, both morning and evening. They also will present a concert Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m.

The Van Koeves have toured throughout this country and countries abroad to produce sounds of music on instruments of yesterday. In their vast collection of many thousands of bells and hundreds of sound-producing devices are many rare instruments never seen or heard by many. The concert will include numbers on several types of bells; such as: Swiss Hand Bells, Sleigh Bells, Cow bells, and 4 in Hand Bells. Also heard will be antique instruments like the Lyre Harp.

Pastor Richard Canfield extends a cordial and hearty invitation to the public to attend and enjoy this unusual musical presentation.

Altar Society in regular meet

R. Vader presented slides of his trip to the Holy Land at the Monday night, April 1, meeting of St. Pancratius Altar Society.

The group will hold a mother-daughter brunch May 5 in the church social hall for Mother's Day.

Next month's program will be a film on cancer detection.

"Australia"
"AUSTRALIA" - the "Land of the Southern Cross" - will be brought to our screen for the first time by Colonel Nicol Smith. Australia is a continent and is filled with unusual wonders. Quaint koalas and kangaroos; sheep and boomorangs. But Australia is much more. Australia is a new old land of shimmering sunlight, friendly people and endless broad beaches. We will visit all four corners of this fascinating land - Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, Adelaide, Canberra, Perth, the Great Barrier Reef; mountain ranges, and the warm coral sea.

40 attend cancer drive kick-off

Too many people ruin their chances for happiness by trying to take the joy out of life.

Over 40 persons attended the kick-off meeting of the Tuscola County Cancer crusade Tuesday, Mar. 26, in Caro.

Bill Jakeway, division representative, explained the threefold program of the Society: research, service and education.

The needs of the drive ahead were outlined and it was disclosed that volunteers are needed in Tuscola, Arabela, Millington, Vassar, Kingston and Columbia townships.

Lions donate to Little League and to institutions for blind

Jack Laurie of Gagetown was the guest speaker at the Lions Club meet Monday evening, April 1. He showed slides taken on his recent tour of nine foreign countries in Asia and Europe and also told the habits, living conditions, economic and agricultural conditions of the countries visited.

The Cass City Lions Club has contributed $300.00 to the Leader Dog School in Rochester, Mich., $50.00 to the Cass City Little League and $20.00 to "Welcome Home to the Blind" fund.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Well, look who's dead today

By JIM FITZGERALD

The toughest part of being a nutty columnist is keeping ahead of the nuts. It's like this: Reaching for chuckles, I sometimes exaggerate. I say my wife is so emotional she cries when the flag goes up at railroad crossings. She doesn't really. But the other night I caught her crying at a TV commercial. She was worried about a girl who couldn't get married because her father had dandruff. I explained to her that it wasn't that big a deal; all brides are not pregnant, and she said she had not even thought about that. So she thought about it and cried harder.

See what I mean? Those kind of nuts don't need more salt. It is difficult to write facetiously about a world which continually produces and accepts the incredible. I thought I was kidding, a few years ago, when I suggested tweater funerals. But now I'm not so sure.

At the time, I was bugged by 2 things: 1) Undertakers were getting too much of the blame for the extravagance and general foolishness of many funerals and 2) goofy couples, in search of private passion in public, were wearing tweaters. A tweater is just like an ordinary sweater except 2 people get into it and it isn't so much fun if your name is Ralph and your partner's name is Gordon.

My point was that some people spend more than they can afford on funerals just to impress the neighbors. These phonies will give dead Uncle Harry a send-off worthy of a king. When he was alive, they wouldn't wave goodbye to him. But if that is what the nuts want to buy, why blame the undertaker for selling it? He's in business, the same as the guy who sells you a color TV when what you really need is a hernia operation.

I concluded, tongue in cheek, by suggesting some day the couple that dies together will be buried together -- in a tweater. Now Hirschel Thornton has knocked the bulge from my cheek and left my tongue hanging out, aghast. He probably used tweater shrouds 20 years ago.

Thornton is the Georgia undertaker with the drive-in windows. At his place, you can pay your last respects without leaving your car, the same as buying a root beer at the A & W. And I wouldn't be surprised if Thornton employs carhops. Girls in black mini-skirts who ask you to roll down your window a little further so they can get your order for flowers and Mass cards. They might also sell handkerchiefs and smelling salts to make certain your bereavement doesn't interfere with your driving.

Thornton has 5 windows facing a busy street. The coffins are tilted and lighted so you hardly have to slow down to see who's dead today. Instead of telling the survivors you are sorry, you just honk sympathetically.

Or a motorized mourner could stick his head out and holler: "He looks so natural." And maybe Thornton would holler back: "He should, he's my window washer."

Thornton says the main advantages of drive-in condolences are 1) You save time; 2) You don't have to dress up and 3) You can come after midnight. In other words, you can grieve on your way home from bowling, with a buzz on your brain and "Jake's Bar and Grill" on your shirt.

But Thornton didn't answer the most important question: unless the survivors are sitting on the curb, how do they know you were there? You always sign the register when you visit a funeral parlor. You want to be certain the relatives know you cared about poor Uncle Harry.

Besides, you wear the same size shoes he did.

But how can a drive-in mourner be sure of getting credit for the visit? The window isn't going to say, "Look, John Dimmit was here, I recognized his tire tracks."

It is a problem, to be sure. I could suggest some solutions nutty enough to fit the situation -- such as a little boy in the window to jot down license plate numbers. But I am not going to do it. No matter how ridiculous and impossible my idea is, someone like Thornton will top it. And do it.

I can't keep ahead of the nuts. That's what you call Onward and Upward.

NEWS FROM CASS CITY

Justice Court

Frank Wendell, 18, of Ritter Rd., Cass City, who had failed to answer two traffic summonses and for whom warrants had been issued, was brought to court by Police Chief Palmer March 26 after he had been arrested in Midland on another offense. He was ticketed Feb. 2 by Patrolman McKinley for speeding 25 mph over the limit in Cass City. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $35.00 and costs of $20.50 or to serve five days in jail.

Feb. 14 he was ticketed by State Police for violation of license restrictions. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $25.00 and costs of $6.00 or to serve three days in jail. Unable to pay, he was committed to jail.

Philip Jay Mathewson, 23, of Cass City, ticketed by Patrolman Jezewski, pleaded guilty to driving with defective mufflers and paid a fine of $15.00 and costs of $6.00.

Humus needed in your soil

By DON KEBLER

In my last article I tried to remove some of the confusion of soil testing, crop nutrient needs and fertilizer recommendations. I also mentioned that proper fertilization practices based on soil test results do not necessarily guarantee bountiful crop yields. Soil tilth, texture, organic matter supply, insects, disease, weeds, water and temperature all play an important part in all crops grown.

Let's re-examine the role of soil tilth, texture and organic matter in aiding a crop to make maximum use of the nutrients available.

To perhaps radically emphasize the importance of these three factors, let me use these two examples for comparison. We can raise excellent crops with no soil at all. Hydroponically, when only the plant roots are allowed to be emerged in a water solution containing nutrients. On the other extreme we cannot raise crops on a cement slab unless they find soil and moisture in the cracks and then with extreme difficulty.

Now back to reality! Our farm operators don't farm hydroponically and neither do they try to farm on concrete. They farm on soil which has a structure of various ranges of granulation. Detrimental forms of soil granulation for our usual type of agricultural income are massive blocky clay and coarse granular sands and gravel. Commercial agricultural farms are not found on these extremes. They are established on soils having structures between these two. What is an ideal soil structure? Many soils specialists indicate a soil having a cinder-like structural appearance is of ideal condition.

Unfortunately a cinder-like soil structure is rare today except in a few rare cases in virgin soil areas. Soil under tillage requires practices which will enhance structural building conditions. And there is only one natural soil conditioner capable of doing the job. That soil conditioner is called Humus and it is produced when plant organic materials decompose.

Humus is basically a plastic-like material of low solubility composed of lignin and protein and has a magnetic type attraction for positive charged ions such as calcium, potassium, hydrogen, ammonia, manganese, magnesium, zinc plus many more.

This plastic humus coats loose soil materials as sands and brings them together into granules. It separates fine microscopic clay plates, coats them and, brings them into granular forms again.

The amount of soil granulation, size of granules and durability are determined by the soil humus content. These granules therefore determine a soil's texture, structure and structural durability. But this is not all granules do, there is more yet. Good granular soils hold much needed moisture during dry conditions. The humus material contains both nutrients in its lignin-protein complex and soluble soil nutrients attached to its system by magnetic attraction. Beside these advantages, soil granulation enhances more rapid excess moisture drainage and reduces soil compaction.

The method needed to maintain or increase soil granulation and structure is simple the practices more complex. Any time a farm operator incorporates as much or more organic matter than is depleted from a soil he is maintaining or increasing granulation or structure.

Till, structure and granulation reduction rotations of this area are found where beans, small grains, sugar beets, pickles and potatoes are grown. Maintaining and/or improving rotation crops are legumes and sod. Corn stalks from a 100 bushel shelled basis per acre also increased soil organic matter levels.

Supplemental organic matter not supplied by crop refuse can be supplied by green manure crops as rye on bean ground, small grain stubble and airplane seeding in corn; ryegrass in corn; and legumes in small grains. Green manure crops adaptable on idle tillable acres are rye, ryegrass, buckwheat, legumes, and grain crops which are plowed under before heading out.

So there is really no reason why a soil's organic matter level can't be increased under natural weather conditions. Some say it costs too much but this is not so when one considers the long range effects on crop yield increases possible. Our top return cash crop operations are on soils having a soil organic matter building program in their rotations. Most of these are operations growing corn in their rotations. So I ask a question, "What are your soil structure desires, concrete, sand or cinders." Only you as a farm operator has the final say and action on this one.

Consumers seem to be exercising more freedom of choice, says Bernetta Kahabka, Michigan State University Extension specialist. Purchases can be influenced by promotion, advertising and display, but consumers tend to counteract these influences and decide for themselves whether to buy or not to buy.

Tests show vitamin A fails to help milk production

A study showing "no benefit to dairymen" from feeding high levels of vitamin A has been reported by a Michigan State University dairy scientist.

J. W. Thomas says "in no instance was there a noticeable increase in milk or butterfat production by cows receiving vitamin A. And this concluded a comparison of nearly 60 pairs of animals over a period of three years."

Milk production from cows given vitamin A from one lactation was 13,490 pounds compared to 13,583 pounds for 398 cows not given the treatment.

During the second lactation of vitamin A treatment, 198 cows produced 13,817 pounds of milk while their no-treatment mates produced 13,837 pounds.

The test was run to find out whether supplemental vitamin A would be a benefit to dairymen in Michigan. And, as the results indicate, no such benefit was evident, says Thomas.

"Dairymen first became concerned about the vitamin A problem when it began cropping up in fattening cattle in several states," notes the MSU dairy scientist. "This situation has been so prevalent that many dairymen have added vitamin A to the rations and others have asked questions concerning the advisability of doing so."

Vitamin A deficiency has been known for many years to cause abortions in late gestation, dead calves and some that die shortly after birth, blind calves, retained placentas, cows with swollen hocks or briskets (edema), cows with watery and infected eyes, rough appearance and failure to see in the dark.

"Laboratory equipment is needed to detect other abnormalities such as increased spinal fluid pressure and low amount of vitamin A in the blood and liver," explains Thomas. "Decreased amount of milk production has not been identified as a result of vitamin A deficiency except as the cow's ability to eat has been affected."

Honesty is one rule of business that should never change while keeping up with the times.

Families that make their homes a heaven will be pretty sure to make heaven their home.

Social problems plague families

By Mrs. Ann Ross Extension Agent

When one stops to consider the magnitude of the social problems which trouble families, it would seem that such family stability as we do have is a miracle.

Indeed, most of our Michigan families are doing a remarkably fine job, says Mrs. Ann Ross, Thumb Extension home economist.

Economic pressures have forced many parents to work long hours in order to make ends meet. Today's jobs are centered away from the home. Absentee parents face tremendous challenges to maintain family togetherness.

Alcoholism is a social problem which touches many families in Michigan where we have 200,000 known alcoholics. An increasing number of these are women and many are mothers. These are found at all economic levels.

The disease of alcoholism often begins relatively early in life and is difficult to cure. It has serious effects upon all family members involved.

Misuse or abuse of drugs is another social problem which is affecting families adversely. No longer a phenomenon of the cities, the drug problem has mushroomed and spread to all areas of the state. Here again we find the problem at all income levels.

Delinquency - in law, the acts of a juvenile delinquent - is on the increase. Misdeeds often involve destruction of property as well as theft. Again, this is a problem in some families of all economic levels.

Cheating and dishonesty - white collar crime, is a leading topic for many news columns, books, movies. It can be as simple as cheating on a bridge score or as complicated as fancy figures on an income tax return. These problems and temptations occur in many families.

What can parents do about these social problems? First, they can develop an honorable code of behavior for themselves and communicate this value system to their children. In other words - set a good example. Secondly, they can help their children to learn the rules of fair play in games and stories during the formative years - and continue to teach and discuss moral questions during adolescence.

There are many chances to teach the why of "right" and "wrong" even while watching a TV program.

Families who get involved in community improvement and in helping others are more apt to find themselves the victors over social problems, concludes Mrs. Ross.

Slate Confirmation at Lutheran Church on Palm Sunday

Palm Sunday, April 7, seven young people of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church of Cass City will be confirmed in the regular service of worship at 9:30 a. m. They are: Betty Haire, Wanda Hacker, Susan Hoppe, Bonnie Kappen, David Deering, Thomas McComb and Kenneth Schutte.

Confirmation in the Lutheran Church is when a public confession of faith is made concerning what God has done in baptism. These young people became members of the church through baptism and are now being invited to participate in the celebration of the Lord's Supper.

The newly-confirmed class will constitute the nucleus of a young people's group to begin meeting shortly after confirmation. After Easter, the class will visit and tour Concordia Lutheran Junior College in Ann Arbor. Those attending the Ann Arbor school are preparing for full or part-time professional church work.

Adults having been recently received into membership are Miss Joyce Seeley and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fee. Adult membership class meets periodically with the Rev. Richard Eyer as instructor.

Form 10-year expansion plan

Unless commercial crop farmers make up a ten-year plan for expansion, they may be forced to accept a lower return for their time, according to Leonard R. Kyle, a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Kyle explained that costs of labor and machinery are forcing commercial farmers to expand their acreage.

"Although it is difficult to prove exactly how many acres are needed on any particular farm to make it a profitable business," he said, "the amount needed is greater than currently operated by 80 percent of Michigan producers."

He noted that TelFarm, MSU's computerized farm record keeping system, has arrived at some current standards of adequate "acres per man employed." A recommended standard acreage for producers of sugar beets, beans, wheat and corn in the Saginaw Valley, for instance, would be about 300 acres.

But for cash grain farmers with wheat, soybeans, navy beans and corn, the standard would be about 400 acres per man. Only about 20 percent farm more than this standard, Kyle said.

Class of '58 to hold reunion

A meeting at the home of Mrs. Daniel Toner Friday evening was held to finalize plans for a reunion of the Cass City High School Class of 1958.

The reunion will be held July 13, at the Sherwood Forest Country Club at Gagetown. There will be a social hour from 6 to 7 p.m. with dinner following.

Members of the planning committee are: Class President Jack Laurie, Mrs. Aurey Frederick (Joyce Keller), Mrs. John Laszlo (Janet Peters), Mrs. Melvin Bergman (Joyce Starr), Mrs. Keith Mitchell (Jane Mark), Sherry Seeley and Mrs. Dan Toner (Ellen Gurdin).

The committee has been unable to locate two class members. They are Mrs. Carol Darling and Gloria Smith. Anyone knowing their whereabouts is to contact Mrs. Dan Toner at 872-2506.

SPECIAL SPRING FARM SECTION

Political short-run programs can't solve farm problems

Long-run farm problems cannot be solved with "politically expedient short-run programs," contends Dr. Arthur Mauch, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Said Mauch: "We have spent billions of dollars ($3.3 billion in 1966 alone) on crop controls, consumption programs, land retirement, direct payments, export subsidies, import controls, subsidized credit and what-have-you since the Hoover Farm Board of the late '20s, the New Deal of the '30s and the 'orderly' of the '60s. And we have solved nothing!"

Mauch said those who wish to solve long-run problems in agriculture "must face the fact that we have too many resources in farming."

"To really solve the problem, we must take out of farm production, not just one input, but enough of the people, land and capital at the same time."

Future farm programs should minimize distortions in the market place, should encourage economic adjustments within agriculture, and encourage migration to nonfarm jobs for those who can be more productive outside of farming."

Mauch pointed to a recent survey of some Michigan farmers which showed a changing attitude toward farming and the methods that should be used to attain fair farm incomes. In the survey, he noted, about 7 out of 10 agreed with the statement, "It is more important that farm people earn satisfactory incomes than it is to maintain the family farm system."

Over half of those surveyed agreed that farmers who can't make a satisfactory income should plan to leave the farm.

An overwhelming 90 percent agreed "farmers must get together in bargaining associations to deal with processors and retailers."

Mauch said these changes in values will influence the direction of farm programs.

"The new political alliance of all those engaged in 'agribusiness' must find programs which recognize the well-being of the input industries and the marketing industries, as well as commercial farmers," he said.

"These new political forces, along with the changing beliefs of farmers about farming, may well push us toward an industry which emphasizes high production and efficiency and low margins." Under this system, he said, only the well-managed, high volume farms will have incomes on a par with non-farm businesses.

"In the long-run, all programs to improve per capita income by raising farm prices above competitive levels tend to be self-defeating," said Mauch. They either (1) induce farmers to add more capital inputs (especially fertilizer); (2) reduce consumption because of higher prices; (3) are capitalized into the value of land so that only the original owner benefits; or (4) hold too many human resources on farms.

"... We must recognize that farm programs must make it possible to reduce the resources used in producing food and fiber to more nearly fit the demands of our economy. And we must find a way to attain our goals of 'parity' for farm people within our basic framework of freedom, democracy, and the dignity so highly valued by all members of our society."

Mauch said American farmers will not likely adopt voluntary production control programs to control their individual and total farm output. But some other programs might be developed to control production.

One program, he said, could be an expansion of the Food Stamp plan which was inaugurated on a trial basis in the early 1960s. In this plan, surplus farm commodities would be given to needy families.

Another program would include expansion of foreign demand and economic development programs, placing less emphasis on surplus disposal and more on the needs of the countries who receive aid.

Mauch suggested that some direct support programs would continue and would be supported, to a large extent, by agribusiness firms which profit by keeping the farm plant running at full capacity. Among those crops likely to receive this support would be wheat, feed grains, cotton, soybeans, rice, peanuts, tobacco, wool and sugar.

Still another program could include future land retirement from agricultural production, said Mauch. This could allow a marginal farmer to receive government payments in lieu of social security for permanently (or until more food is needed) retiring his farm. Ideally, this farmer would be allowed to retain his residence, produce food for himself, and earn a minimum income from non-farm sources.

Mauch added that progress will be made toward enabling legislation to give the farmers more "muscle in the market place." This will be done, he said, through broadening and strengthening the market order program, by curbing the power of big buyers and also allowing farmers to act like labor unions when bargaining collectively with buyers of farm products.

"If this is pushed too far," warned Mauch, "it must be recognized that the political support of one of the agribusiness allies, the marketing industries, will be lost if it appears that higher farm prices will come out of their margins. If it comes out of consumers, the support of urban congressmen will be lost."

Many ask voters for funds to clean state's lakes, streams

BONDING FOR MARS

A $435 million state bonding proposal may be included on the November ballot. The proposal is a first step in cleaning up the state's polluted lakes, rivers and streams and would provide additional funds for recreation purposes.

Bills have been introduced in both houses of the Legislature to put the proposal before voters. The issue is promoted by a committee called, "Michigan - A America's Recreation State." MARS points out that the proposed $435 million is not enough to complete the job of water cleanup and recreational needs. It is estimated that more than $1.2 billion would be needed to eliminate the pollution problems in the state with an additional $437 million for expanded recreation facilities.

The committee has worked closely with the Governor's office, The Conservation Department and various legislators. It realizes that the bonding request, while not sufficient to solve the problems, is both realistic and a step in the direction of pollution control.

No new taxes would be required to float the 10-year bonding, MARS is quick to point out. Two state bond issues, the Korean Veterans' Bonus and the Hospital Bond Redemption Fund, would be paid off in 1970 and 1971, so annual payments of these two issues could be diverted to the proposed Clean Water and Recreation bonds. This would leave about $11 million per year to be paid from other sources. MARS suggests this balance be paid from state income tax revenue or other general fund receipts. It notes, however, that the matter of paying off bonds rests entirely with the Legislature. Lieutenant Governor William G. Milliken said that the bonds could be sold at an interest rate of 4-4 1/2 %.

With construction costs and land costs rising at an annual rate of 7-10%, Milliken said that action is needed as soon as possible.

Only $70 million of the entire $435 million would be at the disposal of the state. The remaining $365 million would be used for match-money programs with local and federal programs.

Under the proposed plan the federal government would contribute $181 million and local government $157 million. Thus, total funds available for water cleanup and recreation would amount to some $723 million. Of this total, $155 million would be spent for recreation purposes, and $568 million for clean water.

Funds tabbed for water pollution control would be used to help local communities build 210 new water treatment plants and install additional sewers and storm water control systems. Completion of the program is estimated at 1980. Recreation funds, with the exception of $70 million, would go towards shared-cost grants so local governments could build playgrounds, parks, recreation centers and other facilities. The money under state control would qualify Michigan for federal match-money programs in wildlife, fisheries and state forestry.

****

There should be much publicity on the proposed bonding between now and November if the Legislature puts the issue on the fall ballot. MARS is organized into various committees and has the support of many state agencies, most notably the Conservation Department. Committee members have been told that "selling" the proposal to voters will not be an easy task.

However, Milliken stated, "If people have an opportunity to

County OES has new constitution

About 30 were present Saturday evening when the Tuscola County OES Club met in the Masonic hall in Cass City. The meeting started with a potluck supper.

In the business meeting members voted to adopt a new constitution. Some of the changes which have been put into practice are that officers will now hold office for one year. Only president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer will be elected. Other officers will be appointed.

Appointed as a nominating committee to present a slate of officers for the next election were Mrs. Sadie VanPetten of Fairgrove, Mrs. G. William Cook of Cass City and George Foster of Mayville. Presently serving as president is Mrs. Vonnice Fennell of Vassar. Mrs. Leo Tracy of Cass City is the treasurer.

The next meeting of the organization will be in Caro.

Planning is a way of putting off until tomorrow work you have no intention of doing today.

Lutherans plan Holy Week services

Several services will be held at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in preparation for the Easter celebration. Maundy Thursday at 8 p. m. a service of Holy Communion will be celebrated. At 1:30 p. m. Good Friday, the congregation will use the order of Tenebrae as its form for worship. Tenebrae is an ancient order of worship involving the lighting and extinguishing of candles as symbolic of the life and death of Christ.

Two services will be held Easter Sunday. The first Sunrise service in the congregation's history will be held this year at 6 a. m. Holy Communion will be offered in celebration of the Lord's resurrection. At 9:30 a. m. the regular Easter service will be held.

Sunday School will begin at the regular time, 10:30 a. m. The children will see a film-strip on the Easter story.

The people who know it all usually know it all wrong.

Letters to Editor

March 30, 1968

Dear Editor:
I do want to thank you and the merchants who made the contest of the Pick Hotels available to be won.

I was a winner and took my sister, Mrs. Hannah Pierson, and visited the Pick Congress at Chicago and was very happy with the lovely room and good food service.

Thanks again.
Mrs. Ella Mae Cumper

March 30, 1968

Dear Mr. Haire:
Your article on school buses in your last paper - you and those three drivers made it sound like the kids that ride the Cass City school buses are nothing but a bunch of hoodlums.

Perhaps, if those drivers didn't act so much like a Dictator, they would get better cooperation from the students. You know, when you act that way with kids, it brings out the rebellion in the best of them.

I certainly don't condone misbehavior or vandalism on the bus, but I also believe that the drivers' attitude toward the students has a lot to do with their behavior. Also if the drivers have a legal beef, the parents are going to listen.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Vera Nicol
P.S. What has some of the veteran drivers to say about their students?

Saturday services for James Bryant

Services were held Saturday morning for James Bryant of Cass City who was fatally injured Tuesday, March 26, in an automobile accident near Kingston.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bryant of Deford, he was born March 13, 1942, at Portageville, Mo. He came two years ago to this area and was employed at Caro.

He and Miss Carol Telin were married July 5, 1962, at Joliet, Ill.

Survivors are: his widow; a daughter, Carol Denise, and three sons, Loren, James and Reino, all at home, and his parents. Others are: six sisters, Mrs. Homer Sexton and Mrs. Bethel Grider, both of Royal Oak, Mrs. Arthur Ellis of Mt. Clemens, Mrs. Paul Ross of Bay City, Miss Sue Bryant of Livonia and Miss Nancy Bryant, at home; four brothers, Charles of Ypsilanti, Harvey of Mt. Clemens and Ricky and Mike, at home, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Branchaw of Denton, Texas.

Rev. Charles Colegrove of Bay City officiated at the services held in Little's Funeral Home. Burial was in Elkland Cemetery.
