Agent's Corner

By Mrs. Ann Ross
Extension Agent

Furnish your child with new summertime play -- inexpensively, says Mrs. Ann Ross, Thumb Extension Home Economist. Use "junk".

"Junk" playthings are many things -- boxes, crates, cartons, collage materials -- all readily available, many free or low cost, and things children can mold for their own brand of fun.

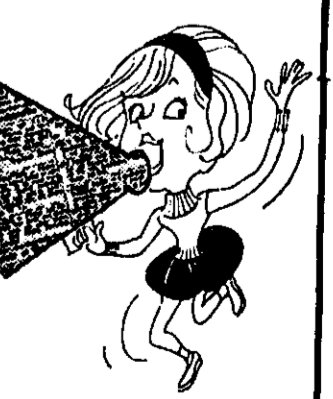

To start an outdoor playground or fill-in equipment you already have, try a large box -- the kind you can get for nothing from your appliance dealer. That box will soon become a playhouse, a general store, a cave or perhaps a puppet stage, according to your child's imagination.

Large, empty cable spools, obtainable from power companies, are just right to jump from, climb on or hide in! An empty barrel, if checked and proven safe for children to use, can become a mysterious tunnel or a rough and tumble "roll-em" game. Paint an empty pop crate, add castors, and you've got a "do-it-yourself" wagon.

Other "junk" materials create new experiences in art for both outdoor fun and rainy day inside activities. Paper and paste are the traditional starters. Children can take it from there with acorns, leaves, sand, carpet and fabric scraps, string, macaroni, buttons, rice and whatever else your imagination can conjure up. Egg cartons and pipe cleaners become wild jungle animals. With leftover milk cartons for boots and a three-gallon container from the ice cream store for a helmet, your child is all set for a ride in space.

"Junk" is fun. Use your imagination and your child will use his, too.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN - THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1968

World costumes used for theme of Homemakers night

A number of Tuscola home-makers and youth donned authentic clothing from other lands for their annual Extension Homemakers Night in Caro Thursday, April 25. Some 17 countries were represented and described as women "Around the World in Costumes." Also aboard were children and youth in costume—and one husky dog! Mrs. Stanley Henry of Caro served as narrator.

Mrs. Leonard Russell, County Chairman, served as general chairman for the event while Mrs. Walter Jackson was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Jack Densmore led the group in singing "This Land is Your Land." Miss Charlotte Hough of Mayville sang several selections during the program.

Mrs. Lilla DeBoer gave certificates to Extension study groups who had made and served cookies at the Veterans Hospital in Saginaw during the past year. Mrs. Claude Bauman of Gilford installed the Council officers for the coming year as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Leonard Russell, Akron; vice-chairman, Mrs. Walter Jackson, Caro; Mrs. Chet Stone, secretary, Fairgrove; treasurer, Mrs. Joe Young, Reese, and community chairman, Mrs. Bernard Frankoviak, Reese.

Each year the Council gives a scholarship to College Week for Women to be held at Michigan State University. This year's winning name was drawn and revealed to be Mrs. Ruth McConnell of Akron. Mrs. Richard Pickard of Millington was named first alternate and Mrs. Donald Farver, Reese, second alternate.

The evening's program concluded with giving of door prizes and the serving of a dessert smorgasbord.

HARD AT WORK - Gary Wills, Terry Brinkman, Mary Sue Burns, and Debbie Boylan practice a scene from the school play - "If a Man Answers."

AROUND THE FARM

Farmers discuss weather and crops

By Don Kebler

Farmer conversations around the county last week were mostly on weather, fertilizer buying, herbicides and crop varieties. There appears to be a greater than normal amount of fertilizer pricing and selection activity this spring. Nitrogen seems to head the list on price jockeying.

Some farm operators are in the position to make some real savings on their nitrogen buys this year. They will be planting with lower nitrogen analysis fertilizers and making up the remainder of their needs by either plowing down or side-dressing nitrogen. In following this program they may go to a higher analysis planting fertilizer and with wise buying their fertilizer bill and labor may be less also.

Many questions have been asked as to what herbicides should be used this year. And right along with this there are questions regarding the use of new trade name products. Some even want to mix up their own brand of wildcat formulations.

My only comment to these questions is: If any chemical formulation, commercial or otherwise, is not recommended in our Michigan State University 1968 chemical weed control bulletin, I won't recommend it. Trade names mean nothing to me. It is the chemical composition and concentration of a trade name product that I am concerned with. Maybe these new herbicides and individual wildcat formulations are okay and maybe not. If your MSU farm crops department doesn't recommend a product or a mixture it is because either insufficient or no research has been made, or the product is not satisfactory and may even be harmful. Far be it for me to discourage farmer experimentation but if he experiments with new non-recommended products he takes his own chances.

Here are your MSU crop herbicide control changes for 1968: (1) Corn on mineral soils, we have added a 1 plus 1 atrazine primaze pre-emergence spray and an emergency atrazine and oil early post-emergence control. (2) Field and soybeans - Di Nitro compounds have been deleted. Al-nap-3 is deleted from soybeans while Lorox has been added plus a mixture of Al-nap and C.I.P.C. (3) Sugar Beets, legumes and small grains have the same recommendations as in 1967.

The new 1968 MSU weed control bulletin is now available from your Extension Office.

This year as well as in every year the question of crop varieties and seed quality always comes up. My answer to these are always the same. Professional farm operators always use crop varieties recommended for Michigan. They also follow good fertilizer, weed control and soil management practices and they plant the best seed they can procure. Over the years they have used Michigan certified seed.

Some farm operators seem to want to take unnecessary chances. They neglect their soils and fertilizer program, use herbicides haphazardly, work their soil by the calendar and plant expensively cheap non-certified seed. Some years they have a good crop return in spite of their decisions and management. Let's take field beans as a good example of this. Field beans are susceptible to many diseases under the proper conditions. These disease organisms are found either on or in the bean seed or in the soil or both. Soil-borne disease organisms may not affect bean plants in certain years. Disease carrying bean seed can germinate and culture the disease even in a clean field and in a year not suited for bean disease development.

Home grown, uncertified or bin run seed may look good but is it as really disease-free as it appears? One disease infected bean seed, under the proper weather conditions best suited for disease occurrence, could infest an entire field during the season. Suppose this uncertified bean seed is disease-free. What will be its germination percentage and how many tailhead or split seed coats will a bushel contain? It most likely will not be treated with a fungicide either.

So can a farm operator really afford to take the big chance and plant uncertified bean or any other seed?

Honor Kingston student at CMU

Christina Schwaderer, CMU junior from Kingston, was voted one of three outstanding editors of 1967-68 by the editors of CMU's student yearbook.

Miss Schwaderer, a journalism major, won the award from the 21 member staff for her work as managing editor. She was re-appointed to that position for next year.

The award was presented at the annual spring banquet of Alpha Phi Gamma, journalism honorary fraternity.

Miss Schwaderer is a member of the Board in Control of Student Publications and Alpha Phi Gamma. She is also communications secretary for CMU's student government and a resident assistant in Herrig Hall.

A 1965 graduate of Kingston High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schwaderer of 3454 Pine St., Kingston. She was a reporter for The Chronicle the past two summers.

KRITZMANS'

CASS CITY

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:
Zeke Grubb's preacher come by the country store Saturday night to set fer a spell with the fellers. As usual, he brung along a heap of good food fer thought.

First off, he said he thought one of the great evils of the world was that everybody was looking fer excuses while they had ought to be spending this time trying to work out their problems theirselves. And he told the fellers our Government was one of the worst offenders in this business of looking fer excuses.

Per instant, he said this Government report that decided last month that them that burn down buildings and loot the stores ain't guilty of their crimes. Society was guilty on account of it ain't giving the hoodlums evething they think they want and need.

And the good Parson reported he had saw where a crime prevention agency was urging folks to lock their car doors when they parked them. He agreed this was good advice, but this agency went on to say that car owners that didn't lock their doors was contributing to the delinquency of the minor that steals the car.

Ed Doolittle was agreed 100 per cent with the Parson. Ed said the time ain't fur off when they'll arrest the feller that puts glass windows in his store instead of arresting the punks that throws bricks through the glass windows. They'll claim if the store owner had put up steel bars or hadn't built the store in the first place they wouldn't have been no temptation fer the punks to throw the rocks and bricks.

And Ed said he had saw already where the new $1.60 minimum wage was gitting blamed fer increased unemployment. Them that was unemployed at the $1.60 rate, claimed Ed, was about the same ones that wasn't employed at the $1.40 rate, and afore that, at the $1 rate.

This was about as close, Mister Editor, as the fellers ever had heard Ed come to going along with a change that was brung about by a Democrat Administration.

Bug Hookum said they was another field we could expect in this excuse theory that was sweeping the country. He said it wouldn't be long afore the Government would blame all our highway deaths on the folks that makes autos, on the grounds they was making 'em to run too fast.

I was just thinking, Mister Editor, how lucky the store-keeper was fer not gitting sued fer letting the fellers hold their sessions every Saturday night at the store. Some of our wives will sue him yet fer contributing to non-support.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Joyce Smentek to participate in cap ceremonies

Joyce A. Smentek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smentek of Cass City, will receive the traditional school cap and lamp at the annual Freshman Achievement Program of Saginaw General Hospital School of Nursing, May 5.

Joyce, a graduate of Cass City High School, entered nursing school last fall. Forty-one nursing students will receive the school caps and lamp at ceremonies to be held at St. John's Lutheran Church in Saginaw.

Also receiving her cap and lamp at the program will be Mrs. Connie Krug McNaughton, wife of David McNaughton, Cass City.

A young robin, newly hatched, will eat an average of 14 inches of worm per day.

The cottontail rabbit's first litter is born early in spring and there are four to seven young in each litter. A female cottontail may produce three or four litters in a season.

Children's Day at Methodist Church

The Methodist Church will observe Children's Day Sunday, May 5, during the 11:00 worship hour. Sunday School classes will present the program.

Presiding will be Sunday School Superintendent Richard Drews. Classes, teachers and themes are: Nursery taught by Linda Alexander, Linda Wright and Joan Butler, "God Plans For New Life"; Kindergarten taught by Betty Crandell, Vera Nicol and Ruth Bacon, "God's Wonderful World"; First and Second Grades taught by Charmaine Fahrner and Opal Schneberger, "Why We Have Churches"; Third and Fourth Grades taught by Peg Neltzel and Judy Braid, "Understanding Myself as a Child of God"; Fifth and Sixth Grades taught by Clara Eastman and Mary Rexin, "Some Events and Customs of Jesus' Time"; Seventh and Eighth grades taught by Richard Drews, "The Ten Commandments."

Accompanist will be Marilyn Alexander.

Rev. James Braid will offer the morning prayer. Ushers will be from the senior high class taught by Bill O'Dell and are Randy Kozan, Rob Alexander, Sherry Bacon and Jill Stilson. Parents are invited to visit the classrooms following church and punch and cookies will be served.

The wild turkey, like most upland game birds, has two major feeding periods—the first early in the morning just after they leave their roost, and the second during the late afternoon just before they return.

One For The Road American slang origin explained

By Dan Marlowe

Browsing through the Dictionary of American Slang to learn the origin of certain phrases:

Okay. Good; satisfactory. From presidential campaign of 1840 when term was used as abbreviation of "Old Kinderhook", Martin VanBuren's nickname.

Quail. An attractive girl or young woman. From the Celtic "caille", a girl.

Savvy. To understand. From the Spanish "sabeusted", do you understand.

Put on the spot. To murder. From the old pirate custom of drawing for the ace of spades to decide who would perform a distasteful or dangerous task.

Vamoose. To leave a town, place, or region. From the Spanish "vamos", let us go.

White mule. Cheap bootleg whiskey. From the kick of the drink, presumably like a mule's.

Yardbird. A prisoner. Because most prisons are built around yards in which prisoners exercise.

Mazuma. Money. An ancient Chaldean word "m'zumun" meant the ready necessary.

Molotov cocktail. A homemade bomb consisting of a bottle filled with gasoline and a rag wick. Originally used by Russian civilians against Nazi tanks in World War II. Molotov was the Russian foreign minister at that time.

By the numbers. According to the usual rules. From the Army expression indicating that marching, manual of arms, or other drill would be carried out accompanied by unison counting to ensure precision.

Goon. A hoodlum; a strong man employed to commit acts of violence or intimidation. From the comic strip "Popeye the Sailor" which had a large, stupid character.

Booze. Any type of liquor. Popularized in U. S. in 1840 by Philadelphia distiller, E. G. Booz.

Bread. Money. From the worker's dependency upon it to buy necessities.

Cinch. A sure thing; a certainty. From the cinch of a saddle, which secures it.

Grift. Money made dishonestly and by one's wits, especially by swindling. Originally carnival and circus use, corrupted from "graft."

Pay dirt. An area of a playing field that is the scoring objective. From the literal mining sense of "pay dirt" which has been in the language since 1873.

Torpedo juice. Any raw, inferior, homemade alcoholic beverage. From a typical recipe, based on pure grain alcohol drained from a Navy torpedo.

Zonta Club installs Mildred McConkey as board member

Mildred McConkey was installed as a new board member of the Zonta Club of Cass City at its monthly dinner meeting held April 23 at the New Gordon Hotel.

Officers for the year, taking their second term, are: Helen Agar, president; Edith Little, vice-president; Lottie Konwalski, 1st vice-president; Elaine Romain, secretary, and Agnes Milligan, treasurer.

Helen Agar will attend the Zonta International Conference which will be held in Minneapolis, Minn., July 7th to 14th.

The club has planned a card party on May 14th to be held at the Civic Center. Bridge, canasta and euchre will be played. Tickets may be purchased from any Zonta members at $1.00 per person. Prizes will be given and refreshments served.

Marie Krueger represented the Cass City Zonta club at the New Orleans, La., Intercity Zonta dinner, as a guest of the Mystic Krewe of Mythe. The dinner featured a special Mardi Gras festival. Her report will be presented at the May meeting.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Some bumps bump other bumps teach

By Marion Hostetler

Ed Anthes does a good job of leveling off the alley beside our house from time to time when low spots have developed where water has stood. We owe a lot to these men who take the bumps out of our driving.

But at Pointe Aux Barques, Ted Schubel's crew was arranging to make some bumps a little bigger last week, because they had been worn down by last summer's traffic. And they were brightening up the sign that says "Bump Ahead."

It seems experience has proven that a bump in the road is the most effective way of getting high-pressure Detroiters to slow down in the area in which children are playing at the Pointe Aux Barques resort. It serves as a reminder to drivers that you can afford to take time to live -- and let live -- when you're away from the tension of the city.

TREE SEEDLINGS for reforestation on the Waterford township farm owned by Ronald Leix, are being unloaded by Maynard McConkey, Tuscola Soil Conservation District Director, and Leix.

Our Maker has placed some bumps in the highway of life to warn us when we need to slow down. Eyelids that twitch, ulcers that burn, hearts that pound too hard -- all these are bumps that ask "What's your hurry?"

Not long ago I was talking with a minister who had improved the wedding service, he thought, by adding some modern quotations. One of the sayings he wanted to use was taken from Kahlil Gibran's book, "The Prophet." He didn't know whether people would accept the idea of quoting from Gibran in a Christian wedding ceremony, so he introduced the quotation by saying, "Hear now the words from the Prophet."

The Kew Offspring Company is pleased to announce the promotion of David Andrew Kew from Vice President in charge of Internal Affairs to Full Partner in the firm.

After the customary Nine Month Apprenticeship Program in our Parent Company, our new partner emerged on April 18, 1968 at 12:12 A.M., 7 pounds 6 oz. heavier and 20 1/2 inches taller than he was at the program's commencement.

We are delighted at our good fortune in having this fine person with us and have confidence that he will continue to grow with the job.

The company founders, Jim and Marilyn Kew, welcome David to the firm.

I was pleased to learn of the progress being made by this young firm, as it was my privilege, at the request of my niece Marilyn, to participate in the official formation of this partnership some time ago.

Here's a clipping Betty Jo Agar handed me: "If people fought sin as hard as they do middle age, earth would be a moral paradise."

I heard tell of a man who finally decided he couldn't stand his wife's domineering ways any longer.

"The next time she opens her big mouth," he vowed to himself, "I'm going to give her a sock in the jaw."

That night he came home from work, and as soon as he was in the house she started to chew him out, and he swung at her as he had promised himself he would.

He didn't see his wife for two days, and at the end of that time he could see her just a little . . . out of the corner of his right eye.

District planting increasing yearly

Tree planting in the Tuscola Soil Conservation District is continuing to increase each year, according to Leon Keinath, District director, with the District distributing nearly 170,000 trees and shrubs in 1968 for the convenience of cooperators.

Reforestation is the primary purpose of most of the plantings but another use is the greatly increasing number of district cooperators who are planting windbreaks, particularly on the flat land in the district. Rapidly moving air not only erodes soil and damages crops but carries with it needed moisture as well, thus reducing crop yields.

Another trend that is becoming more evident each year is the planting of trees and food-bearing shrubs for the improvement of habitat for wildlife on individual farms. The directors made up forty wildlife packets this year which is nearly double the number that were ordered in 1967, Keinath said.

As a general rule, birds assume new feathers in advance of the breeding season. The breeding plumage, especially in adult males, is often brighter than the plumage of the non-breeding season.

Dear Sirs;

Please find enclosed a check for $4.00 to renew our subscription for another year.

Regarding the article "Dr. King was not a great man" by Dan Marlowe, I most heartily agree with the thoughts expressed by him. We appreciate Mr. Marlowe's courageous and forthright expressions, when seemingly everyone was being swept along with the mobs and rioters, looters, civil disobedience - law-breakers and others of their ilk.

We enjoy Uncle Tim from Tyre, too. And of course it's wonderful to read the news from back home.

Yours Respectfully,
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Severance

Final rites held for Mrs. Hulburt Michigan Mirror

Funeral services were held Sunday at Little's Funeral Home for Mrs. Ethel Hulburt.

Mrs. Hulburt died at her home on Hurley Road, Thursday, April 25. She had been in ill health for a number of years.

Mrs. Hulburt was born in Bad Axe, Jan. 28, 1887, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James McCrea. She moved to Cass City in 1903. In 1909 she was united in marriage to Mr. Raymond Hulburt in Cass City, where she lived until her death. Mrs. Hulburt was a member of Echo Chapter #337 of Cass City.

She is survived by her husband, Raymond; two sons, Grover Hulburt and Henry Hulburt, both of Flint; one sister, Mrs. Maude Blades of Cass City; four brothers, Stanley McCrea of Dawson Creek, British Columbia, Kenneth McCrea of Melfort, Saskatchewan, and Malcolm J. McCrea of Sacramento, California; eleven grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren. One son preceded her in death.

Rev. James Braid, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated at the services. Interment was in the family lot in Elkland cemetery.

Pre-Natal classes scheduled May 7 at Hills and Dales

A series of four Pre-Natal classes, conducted by Mrs. James Champion, R. N., will be held at Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City. The classes will begin May 7 at 8 p.m. in the hospital meeting room.

All expectant mothers are invited to attend the series. Fathers will be invited after the first meeting.

These classes are offered as a community service and do not obligate the parent in any way.

Do-it-yourself centers show retirees more active

SENIORS ACTIVE

A do-it-yourself Senior Center in Laurium, near Calumet in the Upper Peninsula, provides proof that many retirees are years away from checkers and chess. The center, dedicated Feb. 1, 1968, was built by volunteer labor. Average age of volunteers was 74.

The building, a former warehouse donated by a local citizen expressly for senior citizen activities, was completely remodeled by retired plumbers, carpenters, electricians and other tradesmen. More than 40 men contributed about 4,000 man hours to the project. Many who could not contribute labor purchased sheets of paneling and other material. Some of the cost was financed by a government grant.

The community also has taken an active interest in the center. Townspeople brought building materials; organizations and individuals participated. A church and a service club donated dishes.

RECORDS IMPROVE

Men paroled from Michigan prisons have fewer problems adjusting to community life than those paroled five years ago.

Gus Harrison, Director of Corrections, notes that in the early 1960's, about 40 percent of those paroled ran into problems which resulted in their return to prison. By 1965 the average had dropped to 34 percent.

Harrison, encouraged by this trend, says, "There are too many variables which might explain it. But we think it is a hopeful sign when programs which we believe should do some good are followed by improved community adjustment. If further new programs are followed by continued improvement in parole success, we are going to be greatly encouraged."

Some of the new programs cited by Harrison are more intensive efforts in educating and training young offenders, a work-furlough program, group counseling and generally reduced parole caseloads. Parolees under 21 usually have fewer problems of adjustment than older offenders, Harrison said.

SALMON MORTALITY

An alarming increase in the death rate of young coho salmon, called "fry" by conservationists, is attributed to residue of DDT and other pesticides in Lake Michigan and inland lakes fed by Lake Michigan tributaries.

The Department of Conservation reports that 680,000 fry died during this year's hatching of eggs taken from Michigan sources last fall. This is a mortality rate far greater than experienced in western states. In 1964, almost 851,000 coho were successfully hatched from 1 million eggs received from Oregon.

Wayne H. Tody, chief of the fish division, noted that death occurs at a time in the life cycle when losses should be minimal. "The fry were being stricken at the 'button up' state, a time when they are undergoing a transition between dependence on food stored in their yolk sac and on hatchery diets. The fish typically went into spinning convulsions, sank to the bottom of the tank, many in a peculiar flexed position and died."

Laboratory tests by Michigan State University detected certain levels of DDT residues in the dead coho fry which exceeded levels reported in New York and Canada. Researchers there attributed heavy fry mortality to pesticide residues.

Although additional research will be conducted, the department theorizes that pesticide residue is absorbed by the parent salmon during the 18 months it spends in Lake Michigan. A portion is concentrated in the fatty material of the eggs, and these concentrations affect the fry during the brief period in the life cycle when the last of the fatty material is assimilated into its system.

Stop-gap measures are being taken in an attempt to reduce the loss, but the only way to solve the problem at its source is to reduce substantially the present pesticide level.

If this is not done, the department stresses, the future of the coho and similar species of fish surviving in Michigan waters is doubtful.

Frank K. DeWald, personnel director of Michigan's civil service system, points out that only three of the 374 were reinstated by action of the commission. This, he says, suggests that civil service does not overprotect employees. The notion that "it's impossible" to be fired from a civil service job is often expressed by the public.

DeWald notes that less than four percent of those discharged in 1966 appealed to the commission. Another 18.8 percent of employees resigned in 1966, and DeWald estimates that about half of these resigned rather than face removal proceedings.

Either employees or state administrators have the right to appeal a commission decision to the Supreme Court.

A self-made man always has unending praise for his maker.

Dwane O. Smith receives promotion

Dwane O. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith, Shabbona Road, Snover, was promoted to Army specialist five March 20, while assigned with the 9th Engineer Battalion in Germany.

Spec. Smith is a demolition specialist in the battalion's Company C near Aschaffenburg. He entered the Army in October 1961, completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was last stationed near Wildflecken, Germany. He arrived overseas in February 1967.

The 25-year-old soldier graduated in 1960 from Sandusky High School.

"If It Fitz..."

Dumb cat wouldn't stay lost

BY JIM FITZGERALD

I received a long letter from The American Feline Society, Inc. which boasts "23 years of selfless, unpaid, dedicated service to the cat."

I almost threw up.

The letter arrived on Friday the 13th, the same day I discovered that black cats are not as unlucky as yellow cats. But let's begin this sad story at the beginning which is: I hate cats. They are dumb and good for nothing. When I was a mean little kid, I dropped cats out of windows and into creeks. As an adult, I ignore cats unless they rub me the wrong way (they are always rubbing and there is no right way) and then I kick them.

It has been several years since I wrote about cats. The last time, a group of elderly women organized a protest march and burned 6 sacks of cat hairs on my front lawn. I realize that many people love cats, which is their business. I respect every man's right to pet the pet of his choice. Just as long as he doesn't give its kittens to my kids. That boils my cool.

"I am through believing those newspaper stories about cats that are dumped in Colorado and find their way back home to Vermont in three days," I said. "This clownish cat couldn't come 4 blocks in 2 weeks."

The kids were overjoyed. They quickly got into a tremendous fight over which one would phone big sister and tell her the marvelous news. After this was settled, they had another fight over whose turn it was to feed the cat. Neither one wanted to do it. In the meantime, Percy kept rubbing the wrong way against my ankles. Things were back to normal. I cried a little.

ADVERTISE IT IN THE CHRONICLE

It Seems To Me Who says missionary is out-of-date?

By Rev. R. J. Searls

Church-sponsored agricultural projects in Pakistan have tremendously increased wheat production. Average yield per acre on experimental plots has increased from 13 1/2 to 55 bushels. Who said that the missionary is completely out-of-date?

A national committee has been formed to enlist nationwide support for the Taos Indians in their 60-year-old struggle to regain their sacred Blue Lakes in Northern New Mexico. Chairman of the new committee is Mrs. Oliver LaFarge, who is the widow of the distinguished writer and champion of Indian rights. Said Mrs. LaFarge: "This is not an Indian problem but a question of national justice and honor." She said much more about our government's shabby treatment of the Indians who were residents on this land before the birth of Christopher Columbus!

I am pleased to note that increased groups are joining the fight to bring justice to the American Indian.

Pullman Passenger: "Boy! You gave me odd shoes. One is black and one is brown." Replied the porter: "That's funny. It's the second time that's happened this morning."

Do you know what the average American appears to be?

- 19 million Americans are under five
- 19 million are over 65
- 175 million are white
- 25 million are non-white
- 91 million are married
- 11 million are widows and widowers
- 120 million can vote
- 6 million are in college
- 50 million in other schools
- 33 million are white collar workers
- 27 million are blue collar workers
- 9 million are foreign born
- 125 million are city dwellers
- 33 million are home owners
- 123 million are church members.

These mathematical descriptions of our society today were statistics developed by the Institute of Life Insurance. Study them with a keen eye and see if your present occupation will last. (note we didn't say, see if your present job will last!) So "IT SEEMS TO ME" Dr. Graham B. Blaine Jr., a prominent New York Psychiatrist, in an article: "Possibly the most valuable lesson of the 'hippie' movement was that it showed that love without discipline won't work."

There are several ways to purify questionable water. The oldest method is to boil it vigorously for at least five minutes. This kills any germs, but gives the water a flat taste, which can be offset somewhat by pouring the water back and forth between two containers.

Ask your engine what makes Leonard Premium 500 such a great gasoline!

The engine and fuel system in your car are really the proper critics of the gasoline you use. Some engines, like some people, can stand almost anything. But if yours is a high-performance, discriminating engine, these are the qualities in gasoline it would demand if it could talk:

- Smooth conversion to the proper gasoline vapor-air mixture to give fast starts and warm-up in any season and weather.
- Fast unleashing of high-octane, powerful components like platformate and alkylate into pure energy, with no wasteful knocking and the minimum of engine deposits.
- Clean, dry fuel, free of dirt, moisture and gum which would clog tiny passages.
- Additives that effectively stop corrosion and carburetor icing, that keep the spark hot and strong mile after mile, and that keep carburetors and exhaust parts cleaned to tune-up conditions for long mileage.
- Uniform quality, tankful after tankful, so that the engine is always eager to give top performance.

And, these are the qualities you get in new Leonard Premium 500. Try a tankful — it's a great gasoline!

Extension urges Spring control for Broadleaf weeds
Spring is here bringing signs of the annual broadleaf weeds in small grain and alfalfa fields. Alfred Ballweg, County Extension Agricultural Agent, suggests 2,4-D amine and MCPA herbicides for weed control. "Mustard, field peppergrass and pennygrass are very susceptible to 2,4-D amine and MCPA," says Michigan State University crop scientist, MST Cooperative Extension Service warns farmers to use 2,4-D amine only in small grain fields that are not seeded to legumes. For fields seeded to legumes, crop scientists recommend MCPA. They advise making applications when grain is six to eight inches high. For further information on spring weed control, contact your county Extension office.

Pin-pointing the target is the average man's aim in life.
