Evergreen vote key to election

turnout from the Evergreen area, the second largest turnout in the history of the Cass City School District placed two new members on the Cass City Board of Education.

Elected were Gerald Hicks with 352 votes and Arthur Severance, 258 votes. Incumbent Kenneth Maharg polled 188 votes. Following the top three were: Mrs. Alice W. Guernsey, 105 votes; Dean Hoag, 84 votes; William J. Bliss Sr., 55 votes, and Ronald L. PreFontaine, five votes. PreFontaine had withdrawn from the race. Veteran Trustee William Ruhl did not run for re-election.

Qualified election observers credited the Evergreen vote as decisive in the election. Both Severance and Hicks campaigned for the position. Hicks had circulars with his qualifications drifting around Cass

While the vote for Severance and Hicks was strong in their respective areas, the remaining four candidates split what was left of the 549 ballots cast.

The election started slowly and at noon less than 100 votes has been cast. After the plants were through working for the day and in the evening hours a steady rush developed and pushed the vote upwards.

Arthur Severance

While the 549 was considerably less than last year's record 960-plus votes, it was more than the previous year when a high school bond issue was authorized. In the smaller district in 1966 the vote total

O'Harris heads retail board

The newly formed retail committee of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce organized this week when Paul O'Harris was named president and other officers elected.

Assisting O'Harris will be Mike Weaver, vice-president; Clarence "Bud" Schneeberger, secretary-treasurer, and blockmen Cliff Ryan, Lloyd Bryant, Bill Kritzman and Gerald Prieskorn. Plans are being for mulated to hold a general retail committee meeting to focus attention on upcoming special events to be sponsored by the retailers.

FROM THE Lditor's Corner

Progress sometimes sneaks

Remember when the Cass City State Bank was the only aristocrat in town with air conditioning? Well, those days are gone forever.

During the recent hot spell I started to envy all of the places in town that I know have air conditioning. And the list is surprising.

Persons at both drug stores, Detroit Edison, two barber shops, offices at the high school, two restaurants, two appliance res and undoubtedly many more that I can't think of at the spur of the moment now work in cool comfort.

Pending bill to enable new board to set salary rate

Members of the new Tuscola County District Board of Supervisors, to take office Jan. 1, 1969, will be allowed to determine their own compensation if Senate Bill 23 is signed by Governor George Romney.

The bill, which attempts to clear up procedural matters dealing with the election of the new district representatives, also sets the deadline for filing county apportionment plans as June 25 and the deadline for filing nominating petitions and filing fees as July 2.

Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties have all approved plans for reapportionment.

However, any petitions now being circulated for district representatives are void. The governor must sign the bill before valid petitions can be circulated.

It is presumed that the bill will soon be signed. The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors had been trying to agree on a salary schedule for their new seven-district board. At the meeting of Monday, June 3, the board twice voted down salary proposals.

Senate Bill 23 will take the power of determining the salary of the new district board out of the current board's hands. If the bill is signed, compensation for all boards except the initial board, to take office on Jan. 1, will be set by the preceding board. The new district representatives will take over the function of handling county business from the current board of supervisors. However, the pre-

escape injury

Smiths

Six members of the Dale Smith family escaped injury Friday evening when a tornado struck at .hei. home, southwest of Cass City.

The main blast hit a small auxiliary building about 50 feet from the Smith home and completely demolished it.

House siding and part of the roof were torn loose and windows broken at the Smith home by the force of the blast. Strangly enough, a table still set with dishes for the evening meal was undisturbed while the windows in the room were badly shattered.

Injury to any members of the family was probably avoided because they sighted the wind funnel approaching in time to

The family dashed to the basement and took shelter near a cement wall. Contrary to reports that the tornado was heading east, the Smiths reported that they sighted it traveling west.

It was a couple of miles away and the next thing we knew it was here, Mrs. Smith said. The first sighting of the funnel was made by William O'Dell of Cass City who reported it to the authorities. A half hour later, he reported, the first notice was broadcasted over the radio.

Neighbors came promptly to the assistance of the family and within a couple of hours had most of the debris cleared

Parking lot

School set to blacktop

The Cass City School Board authorized some $25,000 for improvement of the parking lot and grounds at Cass City High School in its regular session Monday night at the school and also okayed $3,460 for new electric typewriters.

Planned for completion this summer is blacktop for the parking lot and south service road and for a new auxiliary lot east of the school.

Money for the lots will come from the extra voted taxes for the construction of the new high school and does not come from operating funds.

Supt. Donald Crouse estimated that the blacktopping for the lot will cost from $10,000 to $11,000 while a touch-up of the previously constructed grade and base will cost another $600 to $800.

The board agreed with Crouse that the present lot was not large enough to handle all of the parking needed. The auxiliary lot will cost from $9,000 to $10,000, according to estimates. This lot will not be blacktopped.

Let contract for youth center at Fairgrounds

The Tuscola County Fair Board approved a new county youth center at a regular session Monday night and pledged to pay half of the cost of the new building.

The structure will cost an estimated $17,600, Al Ballweg, county agricultural agent, reported, and the fair association will bay $8,800 which will be matched by 4-HandFFA groups in the county.

Ballweg estimated that the clubs have between $1,700 and $2,500 now and are in the midst of a fund raising drive to raise the remainder.

At Monday's meeting, a contract for the new building was let to Bill O'Dell, Cass City, and the building is expected to in Caro. Plans call for it to be used at this year's fair which starts July 29,

The building will be centrally located at the fairgrounds so that it will be near other youth activities.

It will house youth exhibits and there will be a small office for use by leaders of the various organizations, Ballweg concluded.

NEW TYPEWRITERS

Twelve new IBM electric typewriters were purchased for $265 each for use in the school's commercial department. They are demonstrator models, Crouse reported, but carry a new typewriter guarantee. A machine for the office was purchased for $280.

"How about the law in this brought curious visitors, store town"? asked one. They are OKRY, HE WAS INFORMED, YOU mean if we don't bother them, they won't bother us, right?

Remember, one cautioned a buddy, we have no bail money. You get locked up and you are on your own. "Anyone like to see a picture of me in a shower?" asked a girl, as she hauled out some snapshots and passed them around the club as they parked their bikes down half of a Main street block.

This was the beginning Saturday morning. But citizen apprehension soon vanished. During the day and evening club members cruised the area, including Caro and Caseville, but caused no trouble.

Businessmen and others who came in contact with members reported they were fine to do business with and good citizens "ali the way."

Besides the cycles, the club came equipped with a van to haul necessary supplies.

There are 28 active club members and three members are in service.

There are regular officers including a president, who, one member said dryly, got stuck with driving the van.

Dear Mister Editor:

Sometimes the fellers at the country store was surprised at the ideas they come up with. Like Saturday night when Zeke Grubb started talking politics. Zeke, that says he always votes fer the man that makes the biggest promises with the straightest face, allowed as how we got to face the noise in this national election year.

None of the fellers had never took Zeke fer a filosopher, but politics was a subject the fellers enjoy, particular Ed Doolittle and Clem Webster, so Zeke was give the floor with the understanding that Ed and Clem was entitled to equal time in case Zeke's politics got too fur off

First off, Zeke said politics in this country was operated on the briar patch system. The whole idea is to git the other feller to do what you want him to do because he thought of it first. The surest way to figger a man would like to run fer office is to listen to him say he wouldn't have it as a gift. That's the old rabbit hoping the fox will throw him in the briar patch. Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Eastman will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, at an open house sponsored by their children.

The celebration will be held at the Methodist Church in Cass City from 2-5

The Eastmans were married on June 18, 1918, at the home of Mrs. Eastman, 1 1/2 miles north of Kingston.

Eastman was born in Webster, S.D., Oct. 24,1889, and moved to Michigan when he was three. He was later graduated from Michigan State University's short course in butter-making. He worked at this trade in Saginaw and Kingston before turning to dairy farming.

Mrs. Eastman, formerly Clara Wenzloff, was born near Champaign, Ill., Nov. 1, 1896. She moved with her family to Kingston when she was 13.

The Eastmans lived near Kingston until 1938, then moved to a farm one mile east and 1 1/2 miles north of Cass City. In 1943, the couple moved to their present home at 5445 Schwegler Rd.

As dairy farmers, the Eastmans raised pure bred Guernsey cattle. Eastman retired from farming in 1958.

The Eastmans are members of the Methodist church, Farm Bureau and the Ecumenical Hospitality Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Eastman have three children: Mrs. Ken (Roberta) Hubacker of Cheboygan, Jeness of Rochester and Norwood of Chicago. There are 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

All friends and relatives of the Eastmans are invited to the celebration. It is requested that gifts be omitted.

Activities conclude girl scouts' year

The following is a roundup of area girl scout activities:

Three Brownle troops concluded the scouting year by joining the Junior Girl Scouts in the Memorial Day Parade.

their last meeting, Brownie troop 644 met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Rodney Krueger, for a hot dog roast. Troop 247 had a cook-out at the Don Wernette farm, and troop 764 explored the Butler Woods.

Junior troop 170 held a combination tea-award ceremony with their mothers. Each mother was presented with an artificial flower made by her daughter. The scouts received pins and merit badges.

In Fly-Up ceremonies held June 6 in the elementary school gym, the following Brownies advanced to Juniors:

Troop 247 -- Brenda Hahn, Lowe, Maureen O'Connor, Kathleen Toner, Debbie Ware, Jerri Warju, Ann Whittaker, Vicky Zawilinski and Rene Peters.

How to be nonviolent

By Rev. R. J Searls

ready to drive a truck, siren Nonviolent aggression is becoming, again, a respectable word. Initiated by followers of Jesus, it came to flower in the modern world under the internationally world-famous Mahatma Ghandi -- who taught most of his people the methods that brought India's freedom. The Fellowship of Reconciliation, the organization of peace-loving peoples all over the world, reto me! cently published a leaflet, I wonder just how many excerpts of which we reprint nonviolent aggression: 1. Define your objective. If you try too much too soon, you just weaken your cause. 2. Be honest - part of your goal is to win your opponent's respect. 3. Love Your Enemy. This sounds like a paradox, but it works. 4. Give your opponent a way out. Five Strategic Steps for nonviolent agression: 1, Investigate -- Get the facts. 2. Negotiate working face to face with your opponent. 3. Educate civil authorities, newspaper editors, etc. 4. Demonstrate "Keep cool under fire". "Turn the other cheek." 5. Resist -- nonviolent resistance is the final step. But remember that suffering is to be endured, never inflicted.

One change in requirements in the new Methodist United Church frees ministers from church-controlled smoking. Both of the uniting churches (the EUB Church and the Methodist Church ) had long barred ministers from the use of tobacco, and beverage alcohol, regardless of whether most members indulged. Some of the ministers in larger churches ignored this restriction, and many churches found that the restrictions interfered in counseling smokers who came to their ministers for counseling related to smoking. It will be interesting to see just how valid such a reason turns out to be. Or, how soon a minister will be seen in public, smoking, Or, so "It Seems to Me."

In behalf of local churches, thank the firemen of our community for their training in saving a life, or in saying a business building. Chief Willy, with some opposition, insists that each fireman accepts adequate training as a fireman before he is trained in driving one of the firetrucks. Another Willy rule leaves some equipment in the firestation, in case another call comes before the first trucks return. His whole emphasis sounds good to this former fireman. A well-trained fireman knows all this plus some things in which he must receive training before he is persons there are who have given more to our nation than Joseph and Ruth Kennedy, I know of no family which stresses patriotism more than the Kennedys do! And look at the price they have had to pay! The assassination of John and of Bobby plus an earlier closecall on Teddy. All three of these fine men had served in the U. S. Senate with distinction. The Kennedy women are not noted for quiet living, either. Frankly, I can't recall whether I ever voted for any of them. But I will always pay tribute to the Kennedy family for the excellent manner in which they have accepted responsibilities, setting new examples in how to meet death.

The NFO (National Farmer's Organization) and CROP (The Christian Rural Overseas Program) have joined hands in a good cause, It seems to me, to donate hogs to hungry persons overseas. CROP is now set to receive hogs and to have these animals processed into canned meat products for shipment abroad. It was noted that many people feel that if the NFO members want to take their hogs off the market, there should be a way of donating this pork to needy, hungry people." So it Seems to Me.

Behind the Counter Taking temperatures

When you're told to take a person's temperature, it is often assumed that everybody knows just how this is done properly, And when it isn't done just right, the resulting misinfor-mation can be dangerous.

Hold the instrument firmly at the top (never by the bulb) and shake it with a quick flick of the wrist until it registers 95°F or less. To read it, roll it back and forth between your fingers—still holding it by the top—until you can clearly see the ribbon of mercury. The degree of temperature is recorded at the top of the ribbon.

Make sure the patient hasn't had a hot or cold drink within 15 minutes prior to taking the temperature. Place the ther-mometer under his tongue, tell him to close his mouth, and leave the thermometer in place for at least three minutes. Read the thermometer again.

carefully and quickly. An arrow usually marks the normal range between 98° and 99° Slight variations are usually not important, but should be

After using it, the thermometer should be cleaned with cotton balls saturated in cool water and soap. Rub firmly to get into the grooves and around the bulb. Never put the thermometer in hot water, since it reads only up to 110°F and will break at higher temperatures. Clean it off twice, and then "rinse" with clean cotton saturated with cool water. Always store the thermometer in its case when not in use, to keep it clean and safe.

No Ball Park progress yet

"No progress yet" is the word on the addition to Cass City Recreational Park, approved at the May 28 Village Council meeting. Dean Hoag, Little League president, and Lee Hartel, Minor League head, had apnealed to the council for more playing area. The council then exercised its option on seven acres for the new park land at a price of $5,500.

However, Hoag reported that work has not yet been started. "All we have to do is get the men together," Hoag said. "We have gotten plenty of cooperation from the village on this project. They said we could have the equipment whenever we need it." Little League and Minor League personnel --mostly managers -- will do the work on the site, on which side-byside diamonds are to be constructed.

The additional diamonds were necessitated by the rapid growth of the baseball program which has rendered the present facilities inadequate.

pleted a four-week course at the Lions Leader Dog School at Rochester where he learned how to work with his new dog.

The dog enables Alger to travel more freely...but he must know where he is going. The way he finds his way is to rain fell within approximately count the blocks as he travels 25 minutes Sunday, according to and then count them again on the way home. Cass City is easy, he said, but in towns like Rochester it is more dif-

He is trained to recognize such hazardous conditions as moving The Cubs fell by a 20-6 traffic, pedestrians, curbs, low score, and the league-leaders hanging branches, awnings, puddles and everything that may be dangerous to the student. You have to have confidence, Alger explained. One young felafraid to leave the house alone.

At the school he was afraid of getting lost, I told him if he was afraid to go here with the instructors, what would it be like at home?

I reminded him that if he got lost he could ask the way home and he finally got confidence and is doing fine now.

All of the students receive more than four hours of street training daily. An instructor accompanies the team the first few weeks and then the students find their own way over a memorized course through the heart of Rochester and Royal

STILL TRAINING

While the formal education is over for Alger and his dog, the training goes on. "Jet" still walks a little fast and is distracted by other dogs and cats. "They say," Alger explained,

"that it will take another four months or so before he is completely trained". "Jet" is friendly with people but it is bad for the dog's training to pet him while he is in harness as it distracts him from his job. Motorists can also help blind

Surprisingly enough, one of Alger's principal relaxations is television. It's good for the news, he said, and many of the programs are fine. . . . once in a while there are long periods of silence which can be annoying, but usually it helps to pass the time.

Actually, there is not much that the blind can't do these days, At Rochester, there were four students who played cards every night with special Braille cards. "It must have been an awfully slowgame," Freiburger said with a grin. While Alger doesn't plan to learn Braille, there are several ways for him to keep up to date on world affairs. There are special "record" editions of Newsweek, Readers Digest and similar magazines and he plans to start exploring these possibilities soon. Alger's sight has been steadily growing worse in recent years. He now can see just a faint streak of the sidewalk on a sunny day.

Despite his affliction, he gets around town nearly every day and appears to be in excellent spirits.

"You know," he grinned, "there are really a lot of things a blind person can do. if he wants to."

Promote B. Avery

Bruce W. Avery, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Avery of Cass City, was promoted to Army Sergeant upon completion of the Fort Knox, Ky., Armor Noncommissioned Officer Candidate course May 27.

During his 12 weeks of classroom and field instruction, the sergeant was trained in Armor team and troop leadership, combat demolitions, counter guerrilla tactics and fundamentals of attack. He also received instruction on the turret of the M48A3 and M60 tanks and a night compass exercise.

His selection for the course was the result of a specialized Army program that grants rapid promotions to outstanding individuals. He entered the Army in October 1967.

The sergeant's wife, Laura, lives in Holt, Mich. He received a bachelor of science degree in 1966 from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

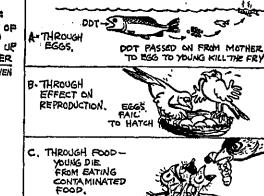

> BREATHALYZER EFFECTIVE

There are now 850 Breathalyzer operators in the state, and another 100 will be trained before the current school is completed, State Police say. Instruments have been placed in 40 sheriff offices, 39 city police departments, three township police departments and 59 State Police posts. Forty-seven more will be installed in the near future. The stogan, "If you drink, don't drive," may soon be obsolete. The replacement seems to be, "If you drink and drive, be prepared to walk!"

No Teachers

School hurting in Special Ed

Among the most critical of teacher shortages occurs in the field of special education and Cass City schools are suffering because of it.

The information was revealed in a discussion with Grade Principal Mrs. Bernard Freiburger Monday night and the Cass City Board of Education at the school.

There are enough students in Cass City Schools today to justify a room for special education, Supt. Donald Crouse reported, but it is impossible to find a qualified teacher.

Seven of the students are now taught in a joint program with Kingston High School . . . all that the program can handle.

The remainder of the students not qualified to keep up with the average course are, through necessity, placed in the regular classrooms.

Mrs. Freiburger said that some of these pupils have been held back for two years and are now physically bigger than their classmates and are becoming problems for the teacher_.

SUMMER PROGRAM

The discussion about special education stemmed from a talk with Mrs. Freiburger about the upcoming summer program. She said that at this time there were fewer students enrolled than in previous years. There are about 12 students per class at this time and are enough teachers available to handle more students.

Courses offered in the summer session are reading and math with the most emphasis placed on the reading course, Mrs. Freiburger explained.

Michigan is the hub of the rich Great Lakes industrial market area. Over 70 million consumers are within 500 miles of Michigan's capital.

Michigan, has more fresh water than any other state. Enough fresh water for every manufacturing plant in America flows by Detroit each afternoon.

Michigan was the first state to guarantee every child the right to tax-paid high school education.

TEACHER RETURNS

A former teacher of English and literature will return to the system next year. Miss Linda Isbister has indicated that she will sign a 1968-69 contract. She had left teaching to work for her MA degree. Two other new teachers, both from Minnesota, also are slated to teach here next year. Charles Rogers will be Junior High science instructor and Anthony Nicklow, fifth grade.

DRIVER EDUCATION

High School Principal Robert Stickle reported that the driver training program for the summer has been arranged. This course for 140 students starts June 17. This year four driver training cars will be used and three separate classroom sections will be used.

Teaching will be Ronald Bass, Richard Carroll and James Wynes.

FORCED PROTECTION

Whether or not motorcyclists can be forced by law to "keep" their hats on so they won't lose their heads" may be settled by the State Supreme Court.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley is appealing this question following a decision from the Appeals Court that a 1966 law requiring helmets for those riding motorcyles is unconstitutional. In the meantime, at least one county prosecutor (Ingham) has ordered policemen to arrest anyone riding a motorcycle who is not wearing protective headgear.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Patty bowls on 'blind' alleys

By Marion Hostetler

It would seem to be a sure thing that good eyesight is a necessity if you want to be a bowler. But they tell me that blind people can actually bowl by placing their hands on rails that are parallel to the alley. Some of the sightless are good enough to bowl in tournaments.

Patty Hoadley, a Cass City girl who is a graduate of the State School for the Blind in Lansing, recently had the privilege of traveling with a bowling team to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to a national convention for the handicapped. Patty is not totally blind, but her sight is impaired. She has had a fine bowling record during the past season in Lansing, where she is employed.

Robert Hoadley, Patty's father, was invited to drive one of the four new station wagons the Oldsmobile Company loaned for the trip to Pittsburgh. The trip lasted from May 30 to June 2. Housed in the Hilton Hotel were guests from as far away as Alaska.

One evening the people at the convention were given the choice of a riverboat trip or a dance. Bob Hoadley reports that impaired eyesight doesn't seem to be any handicap when it comes to dancing, rhythm being more essential for that sport than

A full-page ad in a recent edition of the Saginaw News urged voting in favor of quality education for the youth of that city. It was signed by five leaders of organized religion in Saginaw.

Recognizing that being religious leader does not enable one to speak with authority on civic and political matters, the persons who signed the message did not address it to all the citizens of Saginaw. . . they addressed it only to the religious community.

Their line of thinking was that people of Jewish and Christian faith ought to follow Judeo-Christian ethical guidelines. If you love your neighbor, you should love your neighbor's school-age child.

these religious leaders to take such a part in a civic election. Some people feel that when a citizen becomes a clergyman, he gives up some of his rights as a citizen. He ought not to express a political opinion, even if he addresses it only the members of his own religious group.

Others feel that a clergyman has a special obligation to speak out on matters that include elements of right and wrong, of human welfare, or of human

now 5 ways better

1. Better carburetor cleaning. Keeps new carburetors clean and bright, cleans even dirtiest carburetors for better mileage, improved performance.

2. Better ice-proofing properties. On cool, damp days, ice may form on the carburetor throttle plate, causing annoying stalling. The new additive forms a slippery film one molecule thick on the metal surface. Ice never gets a chance to build up.

3. Better rust protection. The same molecufar film protects metal surfaces against corrosion - in engine parts as well as the entire gasoline distribution system.

4. Better exhaust emission control. Works on exhaust emission devices, like Positive Crankcase Ventilation just as it works on the carburetor - cleans and keeps clean, reducing the need for expensive maintenance.

5. Better ignition. A special compound in Premium 500 suppresses pre-ignition and sparkplug fouling caused by combustion chamber deposits. Car performance is noticeably improved.

ORDINANCE NO. 30

Ordinance authorizing the issuance of Water System Revenue Bonds by the Village of Gagetown, Michigan, for the purpose of improving and extending a Municipal Water System; prescribing the form of bonds; providing for the collection of revenue from said system sufficient for the purpose of paying the costs of operating and maintenance thereof, providing an adequate reserve fund therefor, and providing for the payment of said bonds and further providing for the segregation and distribution of said revenues; and, providing for the rights of the holders of said bonds in enforcement

WHEREAS, the Village of Gagetown, Tuscola County, has an inadequate Michigan, Municipal Water System at the present time and the Village Council has found that it is advisable and necessary for the best interest of the Village that a system be improved and extended pursuant to Article VII of the Constitution of 1963 of Michigan and The Revenue Bond Act of 1933, as amended (Michigan Annotated Statutes, 5.2731, et seq.), (herein called Act); and thereof.

WHEREAS, the Village Council has caused suitable plans and specifications sufficient to inform the public of the nature, character and cost of such improvements to be made by competent engineers on behalf of said Village and said plans and specifications have been accepted and approved by the Village Council and are now on file in the Office of the Village Clerk open for public inspection; and

WHEREAS, the Village Council, after due investigation, has determined that it will be necessary for the said Village to furnish funds in an amount not exceeding $119,000.00 to pay the costs of construction of said Water System including all construction expenses necessary to be incurred in connection with such construction, legal and engineering services, the costs of issuance of bonds and that it is necessary and proper for the Village to authorize the issuance of $119,000,00 in revenue bonds, pursuant to the Act, for the purpose of funds to pay such costs; and

WHEREAS, the Village Council finds all conditions precedent to the authorization of such revenue bonds have been

THE VILLAGE OF GAGETOWN ORDAINS:

Section 1. The Village of Gagetown now proceed with the construction of a Water System and furnish the Village and its 71 inhabitants with an adequate system and that said construction be carried out in accordance with plans and specifications and estimates referred to above, Said system shall include replacement of all wooden water mains, construction of new storage facilities, together with pumps, hydrants and all necessary appurtenances. The Village Council hereby finds and determines 84 that total estimated cost of the system is $119,000.00 and that when said system is installed, it shall be operated as a public utility including all extensions and improvements to said system; that prior to the issuance of the Water System Revenue Bonds, rates and charges for the services of said utility will be fixed in an amount 95 sufficient to pay the costs of operation and maintaining the said system and to leave an 98 amount of revenues adequate for the principal and interest, debt services, reserve, replace-101 ments and improvement requirements and all other requirements provided herein, 103 and otherwise comply with the 105 covenants herein provided, and that it is necessary to sell the 107 Water System Revenue Bonds (herein called bonds) in the 109 principal amount of $119,000.00 110 and having the terms provided herein, the proceeds to be used for the purpose of construction of the system and purposes in-114 cidental thereto and incidental 115 to the issuance of said bonds, and for such other purposes as 116

Tuesday an open student council meeting (one that takes place in front of the student body) was held for the purpose of electing next year's student council president. Each candidate for the presidency had a campaign chairman who introduced him or her to the student body and gave a speech in his or her behalf, after which the candidate had to give a speech.

This year, the vice president for student council ran on the same ballot as the president, so actually the student body was voting for both offices. This is different because in past years the president would appoint the vice president just as he does the rest of the officers.

Wednesday morning homerooms were held. The students all voted for the student council "team" of their choice and within their own classes, the students elected their class presidents for next year.

Leading the students next year will be Gary Vollmar, student council president, and Phil Keating, the vice president. The class presidents for next vear are:

Anne Bulen Sophomores: Juniors: Fred Hicks

Seniors: Lynn Haire Swingout and the swingout assembly were held Thursday.

The assembly was just a little different than it has been in past years in that the senior class read their class prophesy and the class will to the student One thing similar to all the other swingout assemblies was the exchange of leadership between Mary Sue Burns, this year's student council president, and Gary Vollmar, next year's president. Friday was the last day that the seniors would ever walk the halls of C.C.H.S. as students. When you put it that way, you almost have to feel sorry for them, but when you consider that they're out of school and you're not - you might turn just a little bit green! Anyway, the seniors must have considered themselves lucky, because when the final bell rang one continuous cheer washeard

MARY SUE BURNS hands gavel to new student council president, Gary Vollmar, in the swingout assembly.

As it turned out, the seniors didn't have to walk too much

"If It Fitz..." Where did you get that scar?

BY JIM FITZGERALD

There was this guy on TV, with a devilishly attractive scar traced thinly across his cheek, and I wished I were him.

Ever since I saw Paul Muni in "Scarface" 30 years ago, I have wanted a scar. Nothing disfiguring, just something to let people know I haven't always been deskbound. I have a mysterious past I'd really rather not talk about, you know. A gentleman doesn't brag about his past glories - unless he is coaxed. That's where a scar comes in handy.

"Where did you get that scar?" she coaxes. Man, what an opening.

"It was in Tangiers, toward the end of the big war," I tell her, "and there was this darkeyed dancing girl. How did I know she was married to an Olympic fencing champion? He slapped me with his mitten and, of course, I had no choice but to duel. Poor fellow ... "

The first time I took my wife-to-be to the beach, she noticed the cruel little scars peppered across my back. She wanted to know what happened. "I was only 18," I muttered. "World War II, Germany."

That's all I'd tell her and she was properly impressed with my bravery under fire, and my humility under adulation. We were married a year before my mother told her the scars were the result of a severe case of acne.

"Well," I explained, "I had the while I was in pimples Germany."

But enough of that. Back to Charlie Rugged on TV. You've probably seen him. To go with the scar he has Viking-colored hair, a world-weary nose, eyes that have seen everything, and a turtleneck sweater knitted of steel cable. He is selling Command the Tahitian lime spray deodorant for men. The way Charlie says "Tahitian," sort of raspy and sssssy, makes me suspect he got the scar in Tahiti. He was probably slashed in a barroom brawl with a guy selling Five Day Deodorant Pads.

Charlie's pitch for Command is that other deodorants are for women, kids and men who dance on their toes. You know, the weakles who can run around the block 5 times in July, wearing overcoats, and still smell good. But Command is for the men who win wars, build bridges, seduce women, and make your eyes smart when they walk into

"Leave those weak deodorants for the wife and kids," says Charlie, scar quivering, You TAKE COMMAND.

All of a sudden I didn't give a darn who stole my Right Guard. By golly, I thought, maybe I'll never have a romantic scar but at least I can smell like a man who snubs elevators and climbs stairs just because they are there. I went out and Took Command, 3 cans, off the drugstore counter. That purchase gave me the same feeling I had when, at the age of 12, I wrote to Charles Atlas about the girls kicking sand in my face.

The first day I sprayed on so much Tahitian Lime I could only move my arms from the elbows down. I really didn't expect a scar to grow across my cheek. I didn't expect the FBI to revoke my passport, for fear I'd start trouble in Cuba, I didn't even expect the woman next Jour to ask me to fix her washing machine. But I did think my wife might be somewhat aroused by the electric aura now oozing from her hus-

I did notice her sniffing once. Then she went into the kitchen and turned on the blower over the stove.

I'm doing something wrong. I decided, I read the directors on the Command can and it: 1 to spray 2 seconds under ea. arm. Not 1.5 seconds, or 2.: seconds, but a flat 2 seconds. That's it I decided, my timing is off, Looking carefully at the second hand on my wrist watch, sprayed into my left armpit for 2 seconds. Then I tried to do the same thing under my right arm. But my watch was on my left hand. Try it sometime. While straining to see the watch, I lost track of the spray, I got an eyeful of Tahitian Lime.

So maybe I don't have ? devilish scar but did I ever tell you why I have to sleep with my right eye open? It was on Iwo Jima and there was this Japanese with a sharp bamboo stick. .

Here are a few of the things that have been done... formed a sheriff's posse, organized a water rescue squad, developed a meaningful water safety and marine patrol program, completely revamped the county's police records system, achieved total police communications potential, laid the groundwork for a civil disorder emergency force, developed a new records and identification bureau, established cordial relationships with state and local police agencies, adopted two-man patrols, undertaken a systematic program of police equipment procurement, installed drunk driver testing equipment, made use of every possible training program available to department personnel. I have made every effort to improve the quality of the sheriff's department and the effectiveness of the men who have the honor of carrying badge of your county. June 16-17-18 All-Action Twin-Bill in COLOR!

Last week I had several calls regarding insects both on crops and landscape materials, The first visit made was to examine lilac, forsythia, winged-bark euonymus and ornamental plumb having east and west exposures. The leaves on each showed various states of marginal splitting, shattering, drying up, dieing and wrinkled. No insect or disease damage was evident and it was analyzed as wind scorch and the plants effected generally survive.

Insect problems identified were sawfly larvae and pine are participating too. shoot moth damage on conifers. Sawfly larvae are easy to control but when we find pine shoot moth larvae damage this is another problem.

The preventative control chemical for both is called Malathion -- DDT is not recommended any more.

Spray the sawfly larvae, seen eating the needles, and they will die shortly. Pine shoot moth larvae live and eat inside the terminal shoots and kill the shoot,

We first noticed their preshoots. So we can't kill the larvae and need to affect a control on the adult moth which emerges from the dead shoot. Malathion used at this time of the year, a little earlier or when we see the moths flying gives us our only control.

Other insect requests involved mosquitoes, sap beetles, flea beetles and cereal leaf beetles. Here again DDT is not being recommended. Malathion. Sevin and Methoxychlor are usable depending on the insect and the identified problem. So just don't try any insecticide without being sure.

Since the middle of April I have received 12 pesticide notices all stressing the extreme precautions necessary in handling pesticides. And we are just beginning to see the tightening of restrictions and

Last winter there was a series of TV presentations entitled "Farm Transfer and Estate Planning" and an excellent home viewing audience attendance was received

There is a second series now in the hopper to explain the self employed individual's Retirement Act called the Keogh Retirement Plan.

This Act will be explained on Channel 5 during four weekly sence when we see the dead presentations from 6:15 a.m. to 6:45 a.m.

The first program will be on June 12, and will explain the Keogh Plan. The June 9, 26 and July 3 programs will explain the Keogh Retirement plans as effected by trust funds, custodial bank accounts, life insurance and stocks and bonds.

No registration for print outs is required for this series like for the previous series. For further information, contact your Extension Service Office.

Agent's Corner

We must adapt to longer life

By Mrs. Ann Ross

Extension Agent

Although there may not be as many silver threads among the gold as there used to be, more people are getting older and living longer than ever before. And our contemporary America has not adjusted to this change, according to Mrs. Ann Ross. Thumb Extension Economist,

Take living arrangementsolder folks used to live with younger family members but today's mobile living may. separate family members by distance and by living habits. Older persons are often reluctant to live with their relatives even when they could do so.

We have not provided enough from which our older adults may at Ubly and Mrs. Dave Sweeney choose. Federal housing projects do not begin to meet the needs - and private industry has not found senior-citizen housing to be a top investment attraction.

In rural areas like the Thumb. we find many older folks isolated because of the location of their housing. Also, many have houses or yards that are "too big to keep up", Transportation facilities are needed to allow participation in community activities. Private transportation may be too expensive or physically impractical. Yet public transportation is almost non-existent in rural areas and somewhat limited in many cities.

One of the real needs of retirees is to participate in group activities and to continue to give time and abilities for others.

Civic and social groups need to encourage continued participation by older folks (honorary memberships, etc.) New groups for senior citizens need to be formed.

It will take concerted effort by everyone to help solve the transportation and group participation problems of the older generation, concludes Mrs. Ross.

Some people prefer to be counted out when the time comes to give an accounting.

CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1964, 121 freshmen entered the old high school  $gy\pi$ to begin the four most memorable years of our lives. We started to work hard to raise money for the senior trip that we were all looking Leading our freshmen year were: President ----- Kitty Howell Vice-President ---- Dale Bullock Secretary ----- Mary Sue Burns

Treasurer ----- Larry Hartwick Sponsors ----- Mr. Carroll and Mr. Gray Among the most exciting events were building our float and sponsoring dances to raise money. We finally finished our freshman year. It seemed like we would never become a "mighty senior." Through ambition and hard work we were determined to make these years the best of our lives. As sophomores we were busy raising money through the dances and building our float. Our officers that year were:

President ----- Jack Selby Vice-President ---- John Maharg Secretary ----- Miles Profit Treasurer ---- Brenda Powell Sponsors ----- Mr. Carroll and Mr. Hirn

This was the year our long awaited class rings arrived. The busiest of all the years was our junior year. Our junior class officers were: President ----- Joan Maleck and the dances. This year the banquet and prom were held on separate nights. "Sayonara" was the theme of our banquet and the prom was titled "An Enchanting Evening In The Orient." Since our class knew we would be the first to graduate from the new high school, we looked forward with excitement to our move in December. Guiding us through our senior year were: President ----- Dan Rabideau Vice-President ----- Eric Esau Secretary ----- Liz Smentek Treasurer ----- Barb Langenburg Sponsors ----- Mr. Wynes and Mr. Bass Our activities this year included selling mums, sponsoring dances, and selling movie tickets for "Divorce American Style." Since we were unable to have a senior trip, we had dinner at Sherwood Forest. We also used our money to buy our caps and gowns, which we wore proudly throughout Baccalaureate and Graduation. These activities served as an end to a phase of our lives but marked the beginning of many fine years

Vice-President ----- Dan Rabideau

Secretary ----- Kathy Mark

Treasurers ----- Miles Profit and Brenda Powell Sponsors ----- Miss Isbister and Mrs. Starmann We worked very hard to build our float "This Terror of the Sky Must Die" which won first place. Other activities included the magazine sale

Saying good-bye to all our friends, a little regretfully, we now leave the empty halls. We will never forget our high school days at C.C.H.S. as the happiest moments in our lives.
