

Teachers' contract talks snarled; call mediator

The Cass City MEA teachers' union and the Cass City School district have been unable to agree on terms for the '68-69 school year and a Federal mediator has been called to sit in on the negotiations.

Al Luce, negotiator for the school, reported that the district and the Union are far apart after four months of meetings.

The last offer made by the school was:

For BA degree $6,000 to $8,300 in 10 steps (11 years)

For MA degree, $6,800 to $9,000 in 10 steps.

The offer boosts beginning teachers' salaries $500 yearly and moves the increment up $300 at the end of the 11 years over the previous top salary. The teachers contend that the offer is not enough and are asking for a unit system that would set the scale at these figures:

BA - $6,600 to $10,249.61

MA - $7,000 to $10,740.38

School negotiators said that they felt that the salary issue was the big stumbling block in the dispute over a new master contract.

Dave Ackerman, a member of the teachers bargaining team, said that there were several other key issues in sharp dispute.

"If we could settle these," Ackerman said, "we would be able to get the salary question settled." Ackerman refused to identify the other problem areas.

Schoolmen said that they felt that the only major issue was salary.

Ackerman said that the teachers feel that the starting salaries are adequate but that the increment for service is not. The increase at the top is less than at the beginning level and we feel it should be as large or larger.

The teams have been bargaining hard in weekly meetings for the last two months after more leisurely sessions in early negotiations that started Mar. 26.

OTHER AREAS

Many of the schools around Cass City have already ratified contracts.

The pay scale of area schools with contracts signed include: Unionville-Sebewaing - BA degree, $6,500 to $8,600 and MA degree, $6,900 to $9,000. Bad Axe - $6,500 to $8,800 and MA degree, $6,900 to $9,200.

Owensboro - $6,500 to $8,500 and MA degree $6,800 to $8,800. Caro - $6,400 to $9,102 and MA degree, $6,800 to $9,671. Frankenmuth - $6,550 to $9,674 and $6,950 to $10,470. Sandusky - $6,600 to $8,700.

Four area ministers assume new positions

This is the year of changes for area churches, as four new pastors assume duties.

Rev. Donald C. Turbin is the new pastor at Cass City United Methodist and Rev. James E. Kidney is pastor of Cass City United Missionary. Rev. Richard D. Culp has taken over at Mizpah United Missionary, and John F. Nipper is pastor of Fraser and Uby Presbyterian Churches.

Rev. Turbin was born in Fargo, a grandson of a Methodist minister. He served in the U. S. Army and while stationed in England he met his wife, the former Irene Norris. He began his theological training after the war years, graduating from Alma College in 1950, then attending the seminary at Northwestern University. He was ordained in 1954.

Stationed at East Tawas before coming to Cass City, Rev. Turbin has a daughter, Mrs. James Lacy of Flint.

Rev. Kidney is a graduate of Spring Arbor College and also studied at God's Bible School and College, Cincinnati. He was ordained in 1967.

Before moving to the Cass City parsonage, at 4312 Oak St., he was pastor in Grand Rapids. Rev. and Mrs. Kidney have three children, Lorna, 16, Larry, 14, and Joy, 12.

Ordained into the ministry in 1965, Rev. Culp had served a total of six years as pastor of United Missionary Churches. He was pastor at Watertown for a year and at Wheatland for five years.

Rev. Culp is a 1962 graduate from Bethel College. He and his wife, June, have two children, Duane Alan, 4, and Gail Marie, born on New Year's Day, 1968.

Rev. Nipper will have a double duty as pastor of the Uby and Fraser churches. He was ordained June 30 in Santa Barbara, Calif., and will fill a vacancy as pastor of the two churches, which have been without a pastor since January of 1967.

Rev. Nipper is single.

Mink trapper now a rancher

According to the story, TV's Beverly Hillsbillies were hunting along the local creek when they discovered the bubbling black gold which brought them instant wealth.

Bob Anderson of Owendale didn't find oil, and his success was not instant. But he did discover another valuable commodity while trapping along the Pigeon River: mink.

And today, because of his discovery, Anderson is the owner of 1800 mink.

"I was trapping the river in 1955," he said. "And I caught a few wild mink. I sold them for $20-$28 apiece and got to thinking that this would make a pretty good business."

Anderson was working in a factory at the time and gradually increased his new business until he reached a peak of 2000 animals, which he thought were enough for one man to handle.

"In the spring of '56 I bought three bred females for $75 apiece," Anderson said. "From those three I had 15 'kits' the first year and started from there."

After five years of dividing his time between factory work and the mink business, Anderson quit his job in the factory and became one of the few mink ranchers in the area. Mink ranching has been declining in recent years. In 1962 there were 157 ranches in the lower peninsula. In 1968 there are only 106.

The reason for the decline, according to Anderson, is the expense of feed. The mink is a carnivorous animal and requires fresh meat. Anderson does his own butchering, which is considerably less expensive than buying prepared meat.

Another reason mink ranches have decreased in number is loss due to disease.

"Distemper used to be the biggest killer of mink," Anderson said. "But now they have vaccine for almost everything, and I've never lost a mink to distemper."

Anderson also pointed to a decline in the price of pelts. "The price had gone down," he said. "But now it is back to around $20 a pelt."

The animals eat approximately $6 worth of food apiece during their life span averaging a little less than a year. The 1800 mink on Anderson's ranch consume 1000 pounds of food per day.

Most of Anderson's feed consists of beef and horse meat. "They'll eat about any kind of meat, as long as it's fresh," he said.

When the mink are ready to be "pelted," Anderson sends the School contract wins approval

The Owendale-Gagetown Board of Education and the Education Association ratified a master contract at the monthly meeting of the school board, Monday night.

Starting salary for teachers with a bachelor's degree is $6500, with a ceiling of $8500. Teachers holding a master's will start at $6800, and the top will be $8800.

Also accomplished at Monday's organizational meeting was the election of officers. Outgoing board president Burton Roth decided not to run and was succeeded by new proxy Eldon Dietzel. Vice-president of the board is Leo Seurynek; secretary is Fred Cooley; treasurer is Tom Laurie, and Ronald Good is the legislative representative.

In other business:

It was decided that temporary rooms will be set up in the Gagetown gymnasium until the proposed new buildings are completed.

---The 1968-69 budget was adopted. It was estimated that revenue will total $353,360, expenditures $352,587.

---Robert Newland was accepted by the board as a junior high school science and math teacher for the Gagetown school.

No action was taken on the proposed merger of the Owendale-Gagetown district with surrounding districts.

"After the meeting, a group of five or six people stayed to discuss the proposed merger," said Allen Fennell, superintendent of schools. "But no action was taken by the board."

A petition calling for consideration of the possibility of leaving the Owendale-Gagetown district intact was to have been presented to the board by Jack Laurie, but the petition was delayed. Laurie plans to present the petition at the board's next meeting in August.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

I talked with two area farmers this week and heard conflicting opinions about what to do when rain has raised havoc with crops.

One of these farmers lives east of town and the other near Deford. The farmer near Deford has a large percentage of his fields with no crops. . . . and doesn't intend to risk beans at this late date.

The farmer east of town decided to risk beans, as did several others in the area as late as Monday.

The farmer who plants figures that he has at least a chance of a crop if the plants . . . the Defordite is saving the cost of seed and labor.

Another difference between the two is that the operation near Deford had good crops last year while farmers east of the community are following a bad year with a bad year. Economic pressures of two bad years in a row may force one farmer to gamble while the other can afford to sit back and wait for next year.

In Ohio

Walbro buys plant

Effective July 1, 1968 Walbro Corporation of Cass City, Michigan, acquires the semi-pneumatic line of wheels only from Allied Wheel Products, Inc., of Whitehouse, Ohio, according to a joint announcement by A. L. Anderson, President of Allied and W. E. Walpole, President of Walbro. A new corporation has been formed to manufacture and sell the semi-pneumatic line. It is known as Allied-Walbro Corporation, and is located at Whitehouse temporarily, in space leased from Allied.

Allied Wheel Products, Inc., continues operations with their other product lines.

A new 20,000 sq. ft. plant and office building is being built on some five acres of land on Industrial Parkway, with occupancy by Allied-Walbro scheduled for October of this year.

C. Clark Boylan, a marketing executive with Walbro for 10 years, and formerly affiliated with Allied Wheel, is Vice-President and General Manager of the new corporation.

C. CLARK BOYLAN

"The Whitehouse location was chosen primarily because the Ohio town is just a few minutes away from major transcontinental air, rail, and truck lines; and geographically closer to more of the semi-pneumatic wheel using manufacturers," President Walpole said. "It is also closer to the types of vendors with which Allied-Walbro will expect to do business," he added.

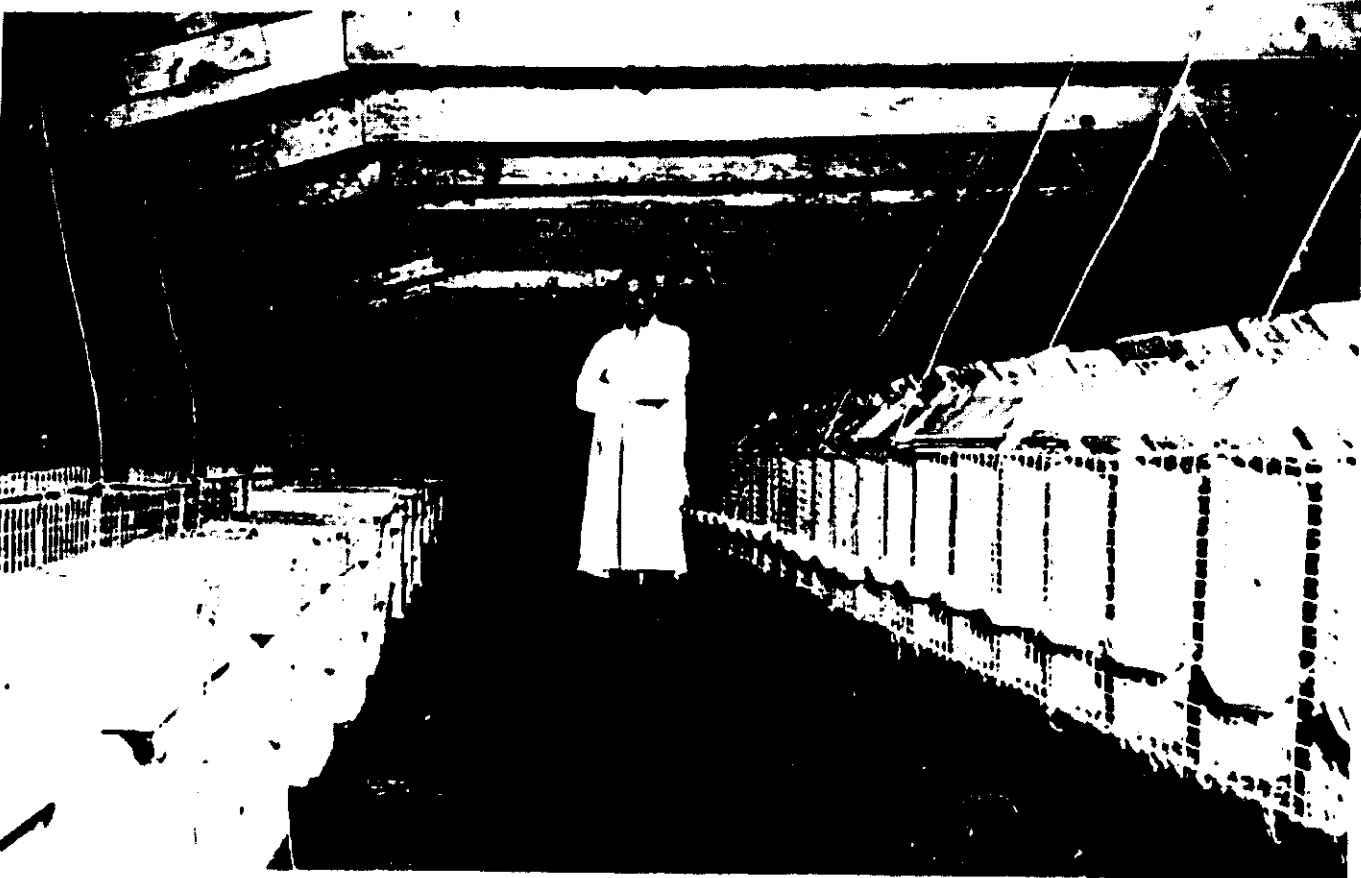

Mr. Walpole stated that this acquisition is one step in a long range growth program initiated five years ago by Walbro Corporation, which is being actively advanced and is on schedule.

Gagetown field day: fun for all

It is usually quiet in Gagetown at 10 a.m. on a Saturday. A barking dog or the occasional roar of an auto, whose driver has ignored the "Reduce Speed" warnings as he passes through, may crack the sleepy silence of this peaceful little village. Otherwise, all is quiet.

But this Saturday is going to be different from the usual quiet Saturday mornings in Gagetown. For at 10 a.m. the brassy call of a marching band and the bizarre wail of an old-fashioned callopie will shake the soundest sleepers from their summer slumber.

And everyone loves a parade. The giant parade, winding its noisy way through the village to the park, will kick off the Firemen's Field Day, a full day of festivities sponsored by the volunteer fire fighters.

The field day is being held to raise money which will be used to equip a new fire-fighting unit being purchased by the village firemen. The unit will be on display at the park, scene of the day's activity.

The apparatus was purchased by the department, with the help of a $500 contribution from Evans Products Co. But the unit is not completely equipped, and the firemen are hoping that Saturday's field day and future field days will result in better protection for the community.

"A successful field day will mean better service from the firemen," said Duane Deering, assistant fire chief. "There are certain limitations on the truck we are getting. We want to equip it ourselves and provide a better protected community."

Deering said that he has been receiving cooperation from the villagers in the project.

"We have been getting complete cooperation," Deering said. "Evans Co. has been very generous with the contribution."

Following the parade, activities of interest to the entire family begin.

The Tuscola County 4-H Clubs will join forces for a display and the Sheriff's posse will participate in a senior horse show.

James Wilson will sponsor pony rides for the youngsters, and the Cass City Gun Club will be on hand for a shooting exhibition.

There will be no reason to leave the village park. When hungry stomachs say it's supper time, money on over to the chicken barbecue sponsored by the Owendale Lions Club.

The sports fan will enjoy a ball game between a pair of local Little League teams and a bloopster ball contest between a Flint club and the Gagetown crew. The games are at 5 and 7 p.m.

A drawing will be held for $200 in cash prizes. First prize is $100, second prize is $50, third prize $25 and five prizes of $5 each. Tickets for the drawing can be purchased from village merchants or firemen.

Grand finale for the big day is a dance from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. The "Initial Four" will provide the music. There will be no admission charge.

"Everyone is welcome," Deering said.

The day's festivities will be covered by WKYO's mobile radio unit of Caro.

Any Gagetown residents who were planning on sleeping in Saturday morning may as well forget it.

Former Deputy Sheriff Jim Barriger - candidate for Sheriff - Republican primary election.

WHAT COLOR TV IS ALL ABOUT

Color TV can be a dream come true. Color TV can also be muddy, blurry colors you'll find hard to live with. Because color is much tougher to get than black-and-white, most old black-and-white antennas just don't have what it takes. Today's color sets work best with an antenna made for color... like Channel Master's Color Crossfire-82. It's the compact antenna that cleans up color on all your channels... VHF and UHF, present and future. Also excellent for FM/Stereo. Give your color set a break. Get it a Color Crossfire-82.

Letter to Editor

Dear wonderful people at home,

If you have never been in a hospital you don't know how important mail time is, but any of you who have been in will know what I'm talking about.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By H. M. Bolen

Here's one that's hard to believe. . . Did you know that no one has ever hit a home run out of Yankee Stadium. . . That's right -- in all the stadium's long history, no one has ever hit a fair ball out of Yankee Stadium during a game. . . Several players have come within a foot or two of doing it, but nobody's done it yet. . . That's rather amazing when you consider all the great sluggers who have played many games there.

This is my 25th day and your cards and letters are still coming. It's so nice of all of you.

Not much new news except my arms are stronger and the fingers do move a little. As the feeling returns the sense of touch is so sharp. I cannot stand to touch metal with my fingers and a drop of water on my arms is like ice. So I have a small stuffed toy I play with for exercise. Believe me it's hard work to pick it up and set it down but it's good exercise.

I think I'm ahead of the folks and, Mr. Holmberg, Dr. Field says to forget about summer school in Saginaw because as soon as a bed is available at Harper Woods Rehabilitation School I'm to be moved. But at Harper Woods they have school 12 months a year. I really can't win.

Sunday I was moved to room 650 on the children's side of the hospital. All the little kids come in to see me. In this section they have lots of Candy Strippers and teen Red Cross volunteers. So things aren't so bad.

After being moved my stomach decided to act up so I'm back on liquids and IV's for a few days.

Your visits help make the time go faster and the TV you are providing is sure appreciated. Thanks again, Ken Kennedy, Room 650, St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw, Michigan.

MR. AND MRS. GARY SILVERNAIL

Betty Mae Wernette and Gary Bruce Silvernail of Lansing were united in marriage early Saturday afternoon in Cass City United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Donald Turbin officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Wernette of Cass City and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce D. Silvernail of Kingston.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of imported silk organza, fashioned with a Venetian lace bodice with brief sleeves and a modified cage silhouette over a sheath skirt highlighted by a lace banded train falling to a chapel sweep. Her cathedral veil of imported English illusion was secured by a matching lace bonnet with pearl accents and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and feverfew.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Martin Wernette of Mecosta and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Bliss of Cass City and Miss Eugenia Dayton of Mt. Pleasant. The attendants were attired in Nile green linen dresses fashioned with A-line skirts, fitted bodices, high necklines and accented with avocado green Venetian lace. They wore matching bow headpieces and they carried basket arrangements of white daisies, feverfew and green foliage.

Ronald Textor of Flint was best man for the bridegroom and groomsmen were Richard Berry of Lansing and Ronald Bass of Cass City.

After the rites, a buffet dinner and reception were held at the home of the bride's parents.

The newlyweds will reside in Lansing.

Passing Through

Mild-mannered McCarthy and his radical reversal

BY LARRY WERNER

I've seen Sen. Eugene McCarthy twice.

Once he was driven from a speaker's stand by a group of "Yippies" waving the New Left "V" for victory sign. The second time he was waving this sign himself before hundreds of screaming supporters the day before he drove the Michigan Democratic delegation to rejection of his candidacy.

The first time I saw him he was the victim of radicalism. The second time he was about to become the victim of his own radicalism.

The first time he was an unsure, recently-declared candidate for the Presidency.

The second time he was a candidate seasoned by rigorous campaigning, either too cocksure for his own good or completely embittered against the system he has been trying to save.

It was early February, 1968. The United States Student Press Association was meeting in Washington, D.C., Sheraton Park Hotel. The convention had been taken over by a group of Leftists who were determined to turn the annual meeting of the only all-student press association in the country into a "happening."

The only sane, non-psychedelic session on the program was a press conference with McCarthy, the lone declared candidate for the Presidency at that time.

This was the first time I saw the senator.

On Saturday, June 29, the rain which some were sure would last 40 days and 40 nights seemed to have subsided. The evening skies were clearing over Lansing's Capital City Airport. Eugene McCarthy was standing before a crowd of 2500.

The crowd, as usual, was predominantly student and, as usual, was making considerable noise -- singing "When The Saints Come Marching In" and thinking indeed that one just had -- and McCarthy was holding up two fingers on each hand in victory fashion.

He was to meet with Michigan's Democratic delegates the next day. He was to commit political suicide by implying, if not explicitly saying, what many felt McCarthy believed all along: that New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller's views on the war could prompt McCarthy to support Rockefeller, rather than fellow Democrat Hubert Humphrey.

At the student press association in Washington, a number of Youth International Party members (Yippies) mounted the podium, waved their New Left "V" in McCarthy's face, then carried a casket filled with McCarthy buttons and an American flag in front of the speaker and dumped the coffin onto the floor.

McCarthy, appalled by the demonstration, courteously excused himself and fled the auditorium.

The demonstration was to symbolize the fact that McCarthy was dead, politically. The far left group, which is decrying the American society with every tactic from love-ins to be-ins, shocked the professor-senator by their rude greeting.

Yippie leader Jerry Rubin told me that McCarthy doesn't stand a chance. "America is in crisis," he said. And the implication seemed to be that a gentleman like McCarthy would not get to first base in the political battles. Revolution was Rubin's answer to the war and the system. And a cruel demonstration was Rubin's answer to a senator who was trying to rescue the system by working within it.

As McCarthy stood on a raised platform in an airplane hangar in Lansing, he spoke of how he had proven his critics wrong.

"We've proven that we can work within the American political system," he said. "And we can continue to prove it at the convention and in November."

A rousing cheer rung out. McCarthy again held up the victory sign he has adopted and used as his conservative, polite campaign has gravitated to more emotional radical appeals.

The senator almost convinced me -- during this mass fit of exuberance -- that he had proven the Yippies wrong, that the American political system could indeed work in this confused country.

But reality returned with Sunday's headlines telling of the state delegates' reaction to McCarthy's endorsement of Governor Nelson Rockefeller, if Hubert Humphrey is the Democratic candidate.

The Minnesota senator may have, as his aides charge, only suggested that he would support Rockefeller under extreme conditions. Even this, however, is a suicidal move in the vicious game of political chess.

Convention delegates must be pampered and wooed by candidates; not told, as they were by McCarthy, that a man must follow his conscience at all costs.

McCarthy is an avowed "dove." Rockefeller has also been critical of the U.S. role in Viet Nam. Humphrey has continually voiced approval of the present policies. It would be unethical, at least, for McCarthy to support Humphrey.

But the American political game is not played according to individual ethics. Party loyalty comes first. McCarthy should have known this. If he did, perhaps he was so naive as to believe that he could tell the Michigan delegation that his conscience comes before his party, and still win.

Or perhaps the Michigan delegation, long believed to be pro-Humphrey, personified the futility which has driven many Americans to radicalism and drove McCarthy to a courageous, but radical, endorsement of a man who does not happen to be listed on the Democratic side of the ballot.

The political death prophesied by the cruel group of Yippies in February was realized in June. The senator who tried so hard by conventional means to make the system work found that he lacked the most necessary convention -- a political mind.

And it was so ironic that the gentleman so appalled by radicalism at the beginning of his campaign trail should fall victim to his own radical statement after five months of campaigning.

Perry's farm 100 years old

A farm owned by Harold R. Perry of 4331 South Seeger Street has been designated as a Centennial Farm by the Michigan Historical Commission. The award is given for farms in continuous possession of the same family for 100 years or more.

The farm, located in Ellington Township, was purchased by Hiram R. Perry, Harold's grandfather, March 23, 1868, and has been in the Perry family since that time.

"We're very happy about the award," Perry said. "It's only the fourth such award this side of Caro and the first one in Ellington."

Original owner of the farm, according to Perry, was Joseph Hartman who sold the 124 acres to Fredrick Rayner in 1865. Hiram Perry purchased the land in 1868 and operated the farm until his son Dorr W. Perry took over in 1902.

Harold assumed ownership in 1953.

"Dorr Perry was born on the farm in 1872," Perry said. "And I was born in the same house in 1904."

According to Perry, the farm had been used for general farming, livestock and certified seed production. Today, only oats and hay are grown on the Centennial Farm.

The farm is one of the highest assessed farms of its size in the township, Perry said. It also represents the third highest elevation point in Tuscola County.

Perry's grandmother was responsible for bringing the Perrys to the area. She homesteaded in Elkland Township in 1856. After moving to New York, where she was married to Hiram Perry, she returned with her husband in 1868. It was at that time that the farm in Ellington Township was purchased.

"She was a sister to Travis Leach, the government surveyor who is responsible for the wide Cass City streets," Perry said.

The Centennial Farm recognition is given by the Department of State in Lansing. Farmers who qualify must apply for the award. Perry applied in March and received a certificate and a plaque late in May.

"There may be others who are eligible," Perry said. "But many don't apply."

The farm should remain in the Perry family for several more years, Perry said. He has two sons, John R. of Caro and Jerrold L. of Cincinnati, who are heirs to the property.

EDITOR'S CORNER

County Fair, Bad Axe the Huron County Fair, Sandusky the Sanilac 4-H Fair, Sebewaing the Sugar Festival and Gagetown the Firemen's Field Day.

Our last celebration was the Centennial. Prior to this all-out effort in 1965 the community sponsored the Home-coming for better than 10 years.

At one time the Tri-County fair was held here and was a summer highlight.

The Home-coming died here through lack of interest... not by persons attending, but by the sponsors. Staging a fair is a min-sized job and takes bundles of time and effort.

It is always a moot point whether the work is balanced by the results.

When the Home-coming went on the rocks following the Centennial there were mumbles about staging a real worthwhile celebration every five years. That would make the next big observance in 1970.

It's something to think about now.

Jackson-Walds hold 22nd reunion

The 22nd annual Jackson-Walds Reunion was held July 7 at the Marlette Park with 80 members present. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jackson were hosts.

A potluck dinner was served followed by a meeting with president Lloyd Finkbeiner in charge. Minutes were read by Thelma Bogart.

Officers for the following year are: President, Thomas Jackson; Vice President, Arthur Jackson; Secretary-Treasurer, Laura Datto.

The oldest member was Mary Brock and the youngest member was James Patrick Merz, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Merz. Those who traveled the farthest distance were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Melendorf from Fort Campbell, Ky.

The 1969 reunion will be held on the second Sunday of July at the Caro Fairgrounds with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson as hosts.

Grant-Fraser tops loop

With three victories in as many starts, the Grant-Fraser nine stamped themselves as the team to beat in the Cass City Church League.

The first game of the year pitted the pre-season favorites, Grant-Fraser behind Gary Melendorf topped the Cass City Catholics, 10-4, June 24. Al Zawilinski was charged with the loss.

The Catholics bounced back in the winning circle with an easy win for Cass City Methodists, 4-1. Zawilinski got the win.

Grant-Fraser notched its second win by rolling over

Decker Methodists, 13-0, with Melendorf on the mound, July 1, the league leaders made it three in a row with a 10-7 decision over a battling Cass City Methodist team.

Cass City United Missionary opened their season in the nightcap by coping a slugfest, 15-7, over Decker Methodists. Jim Tuckey hit two home runs and Les Nichols connected for a solo blast. Jerry Knoblet was credited with a grand slam home run.

Tuesday, July 2, Deford Methodists opened the year with a 10-6 decision over Cass City United Missionary in extra innings. Louie Tibbets hit a home run and Bernie Babich slammed six for seven for the winners. Pacing the Missionaries was Jerry Knoblet with two home runs.

Gary Kelley picked up the win and Mark Tuckey was charged with the loss.

A two-run homer in the last inning broke up a tight game between the Catholics and Shabbona Methodists in the second game. Rick Turner's blast broke a 3-3 tie and provided his team with a 5-3 decision.

Zawilinski was the winner and McIntosh the loser.

Former Gagetown pastor injured in accident

The Rev. Fr. William Cronkite, 54, pastor of St. Francis Borgia Catholic Church, Pigeon, and formerly of Gagetown, suffered cuts and bruises Friday in a collision with a parked car in Pigeon.

Fr. Cronkite told police that the mishap occurred while he was attempting to open a window of his car.

Sharon L. Treder, 19, of Sebewaing was examined at Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon Sunday after cars driven by her husband, Gregory A. Treder, 20, and David F. Seuryneck, 16, Gagetown, collided at the intersection of the Sebewaing and Bay Port Roads, four miles east of Sebewaing.

Mrs. Treder told police that she was four-and-a-half months pregnant.

Neither of the drivers were injured. Five persons suffered cuts and bruises Thursday following the collision of two station wagons at Bach and Pobanz Roads, four miles southwest of Owendale.

According to Bad Axe State Police, cars driven by Marlene A. Retelle, 25, Owendale, and Frances Willy, 38, Bay City, collided at the intersection. Impact caused three of the Willy youngsters to be thrown through an open rear window into a nearby field.

Mrs. Retelle told officers she saw the Willy vehicle stop at the intersection as she was proceeding south on Pobanz Road but was unable to stop in time. The Willy vehicle had been travelling west on Bach Road.

Riding in the Willy car were Elmer Willy, 46, and the five youngsters, Randy, 1, Joann, 17, Karen, 13, Barbara, 5, and Nancy, 20.

Both drivers and three of the Willy children sustained cuts and bruises.

Melva Wald, 30, of 4810 Center St., Gagetown, was taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital Wednesday, July 3, after the car in which she was riding left McGregory Road and was totally demolished.

According to the police report, John Wald, 25, swerved to avoid a limb on the road and lost control of the vehicle. The car was travelling north on McGregory, a half-mile north of Dickerson Road.

A car driven by Alice Kolter, 56, was slightly damaged Monday when it collided with a car driven by Mrs. Kolter's son, Richard Hines, 19, of Caro.

Mrs. Kolter and Hines told police that the stalled Hines auto was being pushed by the car driven by Mrs. Kolter, when the Hines car started, then stopped, causing the collision. No one was injured.

Erla's bow to Bad Axe nine

Erla's, the perennial champions of the Ubyl Recreation League, is in danger of relinquishing its crown following a 2-1 defeat Monday by Carlings of Bad Axe.

Each team collected just three hits, but Carlings bunched theirs after two walks to score a pair of tallies in the third. Erla's came charging back in the fifth with two hits and a walk for one run but left three mates stranded in the rally to end their hopes for victory.

Ray Fox, just out of service, pitched for Erla's and B. Mazure notched the win for Carlings.

Fox struck out four and Mazure whiffed a pair in the nip and tuck game.

In two earlier games, the Foodmen were easy victors. They topped the Air Base Tuesday, July 2, 11-2, and were credited with a victory over Ubyl Motors by forfeit.

Elwyn Helwig pitched for Erla's and allowed just four hits while striking out four. Dean Hoag and Dave Wilson led the Erla attack with two hits each. Every man in the line-up except Jim Wynes collected a safety.

This Friday Erla's is slated to meet Carlings' again in a do or die game. A victory by the Foodmen will snarl the race...a defeat practically assure a league crown for the Bad Axe nine.

A deer caused damage to a car driven by Alan Frederick Bell, 22, of Unionville Friday, when it ran onto the road and forced the Bell auto into a ditch on Dodge Road, one-tenth of a mile north of Deckerville Road.

No injuries were reported.

Board delays liquor vote

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors referred the Sunday sale of liquor bill to legislative committee at their monthly meeting Monday, in Caro.

Governor Romney allowed the bill to become law without his signature, but the bill contains a local option which allows the county boards of supervisors to adopt or reject Sunday liquor sales.

Plans call for a vote on the measure at the next meeting of the board, Aug. 5.

Pirates champs in Little League

The Pirates completed the regular season in the Cass City Little League undefeated with 10 wins and no losses.

Their most recent victory was a 20-4 decision over the Cubs.

Chuck Bliss pitched the win, allowing three hits and striking out 13. Mike Phillips hit a home run and Kip Hopper, Jeff Warner and Mike Phillips collected three hits each for the Pirates. Richard Lowe went the distance for the Cubs. David Brooks, Wayne Brooks and Ronald Sieradzki collected the Cubs' hits.

The Pirates almost tasted their first defeat in a game against the Glants. The game was tied in the last inning with two out when Donald Karr lashed a hit to right center to drive in the winning run in the 10-3 decision.

Paul Bliss and Kip Hopper hit home runs for the Pirates and Kyle Hopper hit three for three. Jerry Toner collected

New post for Dr. Hostetler

Dr. Marion Hostetler, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church for the past five years, has presented his resignation in order to accept a pastorate in his native state of Ohio.

According to the custom of the Presbyterian Church, termination of a pastorate is voted on by the local congregation as well as the presbytery. There will be a congregational meeting in the church at the close of the morning service on Sunday to accept the resignation and to elect a pastoral nominating committee to seek a new pastor for the church.

The Presbytery of Lake Huron will meet at 6:15 p.m. in the Grace Presbyterian Church of Saginaw on Sunday to dissolve the pastoral relationship.

The 22nd annual Jackson-Walds Reunion was held July 7 at the Marlette Park with 80 members present. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jackson were hosts.

A potluck dinner was served followed by a meeting with president Lloyd Finkbeiner in charge. Minutes were read by Thelma Bogart.

Officers for the following year are: President, Thomas Jackson; Vice President, Arthur Jackson; Secretary-Treasurer, Laura Datto.

The oldest member was Mary Brock and the youngest member was James Patrick Merz, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Merz. Those who traveled the farthest distance were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Melendorf from Fort Campbell, Ky.

The 1969 reunion will be held on the second Sunday of July at the Caro Fairgrounds with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson as hosts.

Tell district 4-H winners

Seven young people have been selected as district awards winners from Tuscola County and will compete for state honors at the annual State 4-H Show in August. They are: Patsy in Agriculture. They were selected for their excellent project work in the areas listed and also their related 4-H activities.

Louis, Bread; Kathy Jickling, Swine; Judy Campbell, Safety; Deborah Orner, Food Preservation; Vicky Rohlf, Dairy Foods; Allan Herman, Conservation, and George Russell

Twelve delegates from the Tri-County area are traveling to Washington, D. C., on July 20 for the Annual 4-H Citizenship Shortcourse. While they are in Washington the members will have the opportunity to visit with Senators Hart and Griffin and with Representative Harvey. The members from Tuscola County are: Andrea Stoll, Vicky Rohlf, Margaret Battel and Grant Gettel, with Margie Clarke as an alternate.

Two Tuscola County 4-H dairy members were selected as top scorers on the recent evaluation test during the State Milk Marketing Tour. They were Dennis Opperman and Bruce McLeish. They will participate in the 4-H Awards Banquet at State Show on August 21. At this time the State winners will be selected by personal interview and the state winners will attend the 4-H National Dairy Conference at Chicago in late November.

There is still room for young campers at our area 4-H camp in the July 14-17 and 17-20 sessions. Any youth between the ages of 9 and 12 who would like to go to camp on the above dates, may contact the county 4-H office for more information.

The 4-H Youth Program in Tuscola County needs more adult leaders in all project areas. Anyone interested is asked to contact his local 4-H club or the County 4-H Office in the Civil Defense Center, Caro. Any boy or girl between the ages of 9 and 18 who is still in school may enroll in a 4-H club project.

Every day men run up against the kind of truth that hurts.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

The high price of milking

By Marion Hostetler

Once I suggested in this column that somebody might revive the brick-making industry, which thrived south of Cass City at the turn of the century. As usual when I get out of my field of competence, I underestimated the investment involved.

Last week I had a letter from my Uncle Lewis Maurer of Sugar Creek, Ohio, in which he mentioned that a nearby brick plant was building an automated addition at a cost of $7,000,000.

He also said a local co-op was building a $1,000,000 factory for producing filled milk and pharmaceuticals. Uncle Lew was a leading dairy farmer for many years before his retirement, and I'm sure he was correct when he said the farmers weren't very happy at the prospect of imitation milk.

Scientists do say that a cow is a pretty expensive milk factory to maintain, so I suppose farmers need to be planning which direction they'll jump if bossy is outmoded by a synthetic.

Meanwhile, more and more people are using 2% milk instead of the whole milk which contains 3 1/2% butterfat.

As a consumer I wasn't happy to note that 2% milk cost just about the same as whole milk. I'm almost afraid to mention the little dodge that I devised, for fear somebody will change the price structure. But since nothing is too good for our readers, I'll take a chance on it.

Skim milk does sell for less than whole milk, so I mix whole milk and skim milk, thus producing 2% milk at a price below the cost of whole.

The familiar black and white signs sponsored by Detroit Edison to designate Michigan Centennial Farms (owned by the same family over 100 years) have been replaced by an attractive green and gold job. Harold Perry is the first in this township, I believe, to receive one of the colorful signs.

Now Harold has a problem. Before he'd dare to nail that new sign to the side of the barn, he'd have to paint the barn. And since there isn't anyone living on the farm, he's hesitant to fasten the sign to a post, lest some vandal come along and destroy it. The decay of our society has spread even to Tuscola County.

Wayne Barth drives to work over the Gold Star Bridge in New London, Connecticut, which is locally known as the Suicide Bridge. So many people took their own lives by jumping over the rail that it was decided to erect a high wire fence along both sides of the bridge to forestall such activities.

But even while the fence was being constructed, people who decided that life in modern America wasn't worth living kept jumping over the edge just in front of the fencing crews.

After the fence was completed at a cost of $2,000,000 one man stopped his car, jumped on top of the car, and vaulted over the fence to a watery grave. Another man attempted to climb

4 area graduates at orientation

Four area high school graduates are participating in the second preregistration and orientation period at Central Michigan University.

Becoming acquainted with college living and registering for fall classes from Cass City are Joan Cole, Richard Lorentzen, Jack Selby and Elizabeth Smetek. Taking part in the program from Gagetown is Daniel Rabideau.

This second of eight orientation periods is scheduled for July 11 and 12.

What can you do if it starts raining in the middle of the family's cookout? Don't move in the garage and close the doors. You're inviting real danger if you do.

Smoldering charcoal gives off carbon monoxide, the same deadly fumes that come from a car exhaust. Most people do their barbecuing safely outside where there is plenty of fresh air for ventilation. The danger comes when people try to escape bad weather by moving grills inside closed garages, porches, cabins, tents and even station wagons.

Charcoal grills were never meant for cooking inside, or for heating closed spaces. And just because charcoal flames very little, don't think there's not any danger. Carbon monoxide cannot be seen or smelled. It's an invisible, odorless, tasteless gas that can overcome a person with no warning!

The small hibachi grills can be as dangerous as a full-sized patio grill. It takes only 17 briquets in a small room to cause death in about 45 minutes. Only indoor barbecue grills built in today's home specifically for indoor use have enough ventilation to eliminate the danger.

So don't take chances with charcoal, wait until the rain stops, or get out the frypan. Taking the risk of barbecuing indoors with outdoor equipment could ruin your day -- or your life.

Great Lakes may offer unique fishing experience

GREAT LAKES WEALTH

Natural resources in the Great Lakes provides one of the rare opportunities of our time, according to Dr. Wayne H. Tody, chief of the Fish Division of the Michigan Department of Conservation. Dr. Tody notes that some 50 million acres of water in lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior offer a unique fisheries habitat found nowhere else in the world.

Effective management can bring rehabilitation to the almost-depleted species of gamefish, he said. Such management will bring both economical and sociological rewards to Michigan. A state image of blue lakes filled with sport fish, coupled with ample parks and recreational facilities, will build the tourist trade. The introduction of coho salmon to Lake Michigan has already increased lakefront property values some 10 percent, he stated.

"In the future we can expect the catch of large sport fish such as coho and chinook salmon, lake trout and steelhead to reach a few million fish," he predicted. "Many millions of days annually will be spent by people in the pleasant pursuit of these trophy fish. When we sprinkle the effect of this new recreation on our urban population, it predictably will have a measurable influence on the problems that we now face of social unrest and disorder. I think that this effect will be immeasurably valuable to our society," he concluded.

The decline of valuable predatory species began with extensive commercial fishing operations in the post-Civil War era. Lake trout, whitefish, blue pike and walleye were sought, and in those days brought a fine market price. Exploitation of natural resources for profit was not confined to the Great Lakes. Destruction of forests, strip mines and other misuses of resources by private enterprise was consistent with the times.

Exploitive commercial fishing leveled off and remained fairly constant until 1940. Sea lamprey then invaded the Great Lakes, almost completely eliminating the few remaining gamefish. Lake Huron today is full of low-value fish. The lake is dominated by the alewife. There are few whitefish, essentially no lake trout and only a remnant of walleyes.

Whenever any fish of high value appears, Dr. Tody stated, commercial net fishermen immediately concentrate on them. The fish harvest is high for a year or two, and then declines to the previous low level.

Limits on the catch and supplementing natural spawning with fish raised from hatcheries can restore the former balance of fish life. Once rehabilitation is complete, the production and yield can equal or excel that of former years.

The 1968 Legislature gave the conservation department various authorities to control and regulate both sport and commercial fishing in the Great Lakes.

Sea Lamprey control has been accomplished, but a continuing program is needed. New hatcheries are needed to artificially produce salmon smolts and other species of predatory fish.

Fish passage around dams and other barriers in rivers and streams must be provided, says Dr. Tody. Cost of this development is estimated at $2.5 million over the next 10 years. Because of the growing number of enthusiasts, public access sites, boat launching facilities, marinas, harbors and other developments will be needed. Estimated cost: $10 million for land, $80 million for construction.

Financing of such projects is a major stumbling block, especially in face of current federal cuts in spending. One solution has been proposed: a $435 million bonding proposal will be on the November ballot with $100 million earmarked for recreational facilities and $335 million for water pollution controls.

VACATION FUN

Vacationers who wish to spend leisure time in Michigan might be surprised to know they can choose from many special events and attractions already planned for summer or early fall.

Between June and October, more than 200 celebrations of one sort or another are planned, some for every portion of the state.

Attractions range from the Michigan State Fair in Detroit, through the Ionia County Free Fair (largest of its kind in the world), to the Saginaw Fair and many others.

There are art shows, antique auto shows, coin shows, rodeos, carnivals, showboats, fishing contests, canoe races, sailboat races.

There was even a mid-summer "Sno Show and Showmobile Drag Races" scheduled for July 4-5 in East Jordan.

"The Michigan Calendar of Events," which lists more than 200 special events, is available without charge by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason, Building, Lansing 48933.

One For The Road

There's no place like home

By Dan Marlowe

The old cliches are the best cliches.

Like "It's a small world" and "Truth is stranger than fiction."

For example: A businessman from Bombay, India, recently spent three weeks in Harbor Beach. He was part of an Experiment in International Living exchange sponsored by Judy and Al DeGrow of Pigeon. His name was Manukumar ("Manu") Chandan, and in addition to a number of private families, he was hosted by the Harbor Beach Lions, Jaycees, Rotary, and Chamber of Commerce.

More than 100 people contributed some aspect of hospitality during Manu's stay in the community. Afternoons and evenings he spent in various homes. Mornings he came up-town to visit with the industrialists and businessmen he met through the service clubs.

A regular part-of-call for Manu each morning was the clothing store of Mayor George Scott. George is a Lion, and extended the original invitation to Manu to meet with that club. One of Manu's last acts upon the conclusion of his visit was to once again visit George and thank him for the courtesies extended during Manu's stay.

Which should be the end of the story, except that it's a small world and truth is stranger than fiction.

A few days later George received a letter from a man he hadn't seen for nearly 20 years, James Rae of Birmingham, Michigan. When George worked in the office for Monitor Sugar Co. in Bay City, Jim Rae was one of a team of accountants from Miller, Bailey & Co. of Detroit which used to audit the books.

Jim Rae said in his letter to George Scott: "So why does someone write you after so long a time out of a distant past? Well, last week my wife and I had as our guest a young man named Manu Chandan from Bombay, India. When Manu told me he had been in Harbor Beach recently, I mentioned that I once knew a man who had moved there from Bay City and now owned a clothing store. Manu asked 'Do you mean Mr. George Scott?' He is the mayor of Harbor Beach and was extremely kind to me. We live at such a

"If It Fitz..."

It's tough to become a hero

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Mickey Lolich visited my hometown and all I could think of was Charlie Gehringer and how this was my chance to be a hero to my son, just like my dad was to me 32 years ago.

Lolich is a Detroit Tiger pitcher. I give this information for the benefit of you few non-front runners who have not hopped on the Tiger bandwagon this year for the first time since World War II.

It is astounding the number of fair weather fans who have rediscovered the pennant-bound Tigers. I am their leader. Many of us were rather startled to see that Charlie Gehringer no longer plays second base for Detroit.

Gehringer starred during the Tigers' greatest hours, in the 1930's when they won 2 pennants and were always near the top, scrapping hard. He hit nothing but line drives and he was the sweetest fielding 2nd sacker who ever lived.

Not only that, but in 1936 Charlie Gehringer came to Port Huron to play badminton, of all things, and I met him. I got his autograph, written personally, "best wishes to Jimmie Fitzgerald."

Gehringer played badminton in the winter to keep in shape. Someone got him to play an exhibition for charity in the local Elks Temple. My dad was an Elk. He took me right up to Gehringer, after the match, and said, "I'd like you to meet my son. He is your greatest fan."

And Charlie Gehringer smiled and shook my hand and said a few things I was too excited to understand.

To make it even better, not one other kid in our gang had an Elk for a father. I was the only one to meet Charlie Gehringer and I had his autograph to prove it, see.

Boy, I haven't felt so good since.

Besides being thrilled at really touching an old hero, I gained a new hero - my dad. Anyone who could walk up to Charlie Gehringer like that, and get him to speak to a little kid, boy, that was some kind of dad. I was so grateful to him I swore off shoplifting for life, which lasted 3 weeks.

So when I heard Mickey Lolich was coming to town last week, I knew this was my chance to impress my son with what an important man his dad is. Eddie is 10, the same age I was when Charlie Gehringer and I were buddies. I knew he'd jump at the chance to meet a real live Tiger. I discovered where Lolich would be - right outside my office! - and at what time. I told Eddie to meet me there, smack on time, and he'd meet Lolich. The kid seemed real excited when he said sure, he'd be there.

But Eddie didn't show up. I met Lolich and he probably wondered why I kept standing there, looking up and down the street, instead of getting back to work where I belonged. I even sent friends searching for the redhead, but no luck. I phoned home but Eddie wasn't there.

Gee. Lolich wasn't going to stand there all day. Was Eddie going to blow my chance to be a big shot? Yes. The rotten little kid strolled in my office 2 hours after Lolich left.

Eddie said he'd gotten busy playing baseball and forgot about meeting Lolich.

I'm sure there's a moral there. Something about it being better to participate, rather than speculate, which is not spit. That way, some day a guy might give autographs, not collect them. But I was in no mood for morals.

"Get in the car," I told Eddie. "I know where Lolich is eating and you are going to meet him. I am going to be your hero whether you like it or not."

So Eddie finally got a handshake and a personal autograph from a very gracious Lolich. And then we went home and I got the devil from my almost-daughter who, I kept telling her, is a real little lady. She was angry because she would just DIE if she could meet Mickey Lolich. How come I'm such a mean father and wouldn't take her along?

The hero said nuts and went back to work. Onward and Upward.

TIP TO MOTORISTS

All the safety laws in the world are no substitute for the motorist who is safety-minded.

Behind the Counter
Night Driving

Each year, the National Safety Council reports thousands of cases in which an accident resulted from the driver falling asleep behind the wheel—even if only for an instant. They have a few suggestions that may help you:

- 1) Don't drive at night, unless you must, particularly in bad weather.
 - 2) Don't start a long trip at night, or when you feel tired, or after you've had a heavy meal.
 - 3) Don't have "one for the road," in the hope that it will pep you up; alcohol is a sedative, not a stimulant.
 - 4) Don't use drugs that will pep you up or calm you down; they can also affect your vision, your judgment and your reflexes. When their effect wears off, you'll feel more tired than before.
 - 5) Don't drive more than three hours after your normal bedtime.
 - 6) If you must drive, keep a window open—even if it's only a crack.
 - 7) Keep switching radio stations, to avoid drowsy middle-of-the-night music; rock-and-roll may irritate you to the point where it will help you stay awake.
 - 8) Stop every so often (at least once an hour) to get out, and walk around your car a couple of times.
 - 9) As soon as you feel sleepy—when you blink to keep your eyes in focus, or yawn—get off the road. If you can't find a motel, pull into a service station or parking lot, and nap in the back seat of the car.
- Traffic accidents have become a national epidemic—but this is one cause of death and injury for which there is no medical panacea.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Ed Doolittle come to the session at the country store Saturday night snorting and waving a hand full of them clippings he collects. He was loaded for bear and was shooting at ever Democrat and Republican that ever voted to give his taxes away.

What had got Ed so riled, Mister Editor, was this ad he had cut out of a magazine. A company had run the ad and called it "No Wonder We're Broke." It had got from the Agency on International Development a listing of all the money we had give other countries from 1945 through 1966. The total was $122 billion, 358 million, 520 thousand.

Ed allowed we was pouring money down holes he ain't never heard of, and them countries would rather shoot us than thank us. He read off to the fellers some of them, like Upper Volta, Babon, Lesotho, Burundi and Surinam. The list showed the smallest donation we've made since 1945 was $300,000 to Tonga Island, and it went on from there to $9 billion we have give France. Ed said he ain't never heard of Tonga Island but all France has give us fer keeping her up was a hard time. Farther more, said Ed, fer all the taxpayers knowed, that $300,000 might have give everybody on Tonga a income fer life.

And this piece Ed had showed we was spending $425 million a year fer news releases from Government agencies, or more than it costs all the wire services, three television networks and the 10 largest newspapers in the country. Ed was of the opinion most of it went in the waste basket and instead of sending all that stuff postage free we had ought to give that $425 million to pay on what the post office loses ever year.

Zeke Grubb final got in a word and said, after hearing Ed's report, he was agin cutting the space program by $200 million like some of them Congressmen was wanting. He said the way things was going, pretty soon we can live cheaper on Mars or Venus. About the only thing that ain't taxed on earth is the air we breath, Zeke allowed, and it's getting so polluted the Government was cleaning it up and was going to charge us so's we could breath it.

I told the fellers, Mister Editor, that we was supposed to have Government of, fer and by the people, but somewhere along the line the people and the Government had got disconnected and we got the hot line in Washington and a dead circuit over the rest of our land.

This give Ed time to bring out another clipping and he was just gitting started to snort when the storekeeper said we would have to adjourn or he was going to lock up the doors, go out the window and get hisself some sleep.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Root rot, maggots kill navy beans
By Don Kebler

This past week my farm visits could be chalked up to trouble shooting and I expect more to come. Most of these calls were on navy bean problems and first impressions were not always the correct solutions.

One farmer was so confused by conversations with neighbors he didn't know what to think was affecting his beans. But when he called he was strongly convinced there was herbicide damage. We visited his fields and the symptoms and causes were the same. No identifiable herbicide damage was evident. Some of the bean plants were dying from the effects of root rot. Other dead and wilted plants had seed corn maggot inside the stem below ground level.

The wet, cold, crusted soil was just ideal for root rot and maggot conditions. Seed corn maggot injury is most severe in wet cold seasons and on land rich in organic matter which includes plowed-under vegetation and manure. The adult fly is attracted to these soil areas where they lay eggs in the soil, on the plant or seedling. The eggs hatch at temperatures as low as 50 degrees F. and the maggot burrows into the plant stem. The life cycle of this seed-corn maggot is about three weeks so we could have at least three or four cycles a season. Once there are maggots in the beans it is too late to spray. Seed treatment with Dieldrin plus, Thiram or Captan, will help. Through plowing of organic matter will also help.

Sevin is the recommended insecticide. Apply according to the label and best results are obtained with Sevin if the material can be sprayed directly on the slugs. This is night work.

All in all these three bean problems are the result of cold, wet weather and inadequate drainage. We need some warm growing weather and less rain for a while. Be alert to more root rot evidence especially if it gets hot quick.

what makes Leonard Premium 500 such a great gasoline!

The engine and fuel system in your car are really the proper critics of the gasoline you use. Some engines, like some people, can stand almost anything. But if yours is a high-performance, discriminating engine, these are the qualities in gasoline it would demand if it could talk:

- Smooth conversion to the proper gasoline vapor-air mixture to give fast starts and warm-up in any season and weather.
- Fast unleashing of high-octane, powerful components like platformate and alkylate into pure energy, with no wasteful knocking and the minimum of engine deposits.
- Clean, dry fuel, free of dirt, moisture and gum which would clog tiny passages.
- Additives that effectively stop corrosion and carburetor icing, that keep the spark hot and strong mile after mile, and that keep carburetors and exhaust parts cleaned to tune-up conditions for long mileage.
- Uniform quality, tankful after tankful, so that the engine is always eager to give top performance.

And, these are the qualities you get in new Leonard Premium 500. Try a tankful—it's a great gasoline!
