Financial bomb blasts park plans

A financial bombshell tossed in the laps of the village council Tuesday night wrecked plans for development of Cass City's park complex.

Village Engineer William Schram revealed that the proposed construction of two Little League diamonds in the newly acquired land immediately adjacent to the old park site would cost some $15,000 to build. To make the area level for diamonds requires, i.e. removal of 22,000 to 25,000 feet of dirt, according to an estimate of C.R. Hunt Construction.

A second part of the original park expansion plan was tossed in the ashcan and a third is in doubt.

To gain access to the park wooded area, a road was slated to be built at the east boundary of the park.

But a survey of the area revealed that this construction would be impossible while maintaining inexpensive drainage and not interfering with the track.

The third major proposal was for a skating rink. There is some doubt if the area selected is large enough or in the right location now that the road will not be built as originally specified.

NEW PLAN

President Lambert Althaver conducted a tour of the question area before the regular meeting of the council and presented an alternate plan for the council's consideration.

In place of a road at the east, Althaver suggested a continuation of the road that runs at the east edge of Campbell Elementary School and then east into the new park area.

Instead of building two Little League diamonds exclusively in the new addition, the diamonds will utilize part of the present park and part of the new addition, leaving the highest part of the slope untouched and available for parking.

Very little mention was made of the land in southeast Cass City, but the development here is also on the minds of the council.

A closer look at this property indicates that it may require a good deal of work, also. The council intimated that it did want at least one practice

Kick out the Commies

Familiar political figures in Tuscola county are stalking the voters again this fall, pleading for support, trying to stir interest and seeking ways to get more voters to the polls.

It's the same old story. . . but it has a radical new twist. Some of these tried and true campaigners aren't stumping the bushes for the Democrats or Republicans anymore. . . they have switched to the American Independent Party and its prophet . . . George Wallace.

Wallace and his "tell them what they want to hear" speeches have reached out and snagged converts in the Thumb and Tuscola county . . . and a Wallace convert is like a repentant sinner; all out for the new life.

One of the converts is Calvin MacRae of rural Cass City. I've been for Wallace for more than a year now, said MacRae, who works for a utility company, and most everybody I talk to is for him too. And that mess in Chicago really proved that I was right . . . Wallace will stop that lawlessness.

Yes, Wallace will carry Michigan, MacRae feels, and maybe the nation. MacRae gets his Wallace pins and Wallace bumper stickers from Bob Sanders, 43, who runs a restaurant at the corner of Phillips Road and M-46, a mile west of Kingston.

While MacRae is quietly determined, Sanders is vehement and vocal. One of them is William diamond here for use by residents in south Cass City.

Since the entire plan blew up this week, there have been no definite decisions. The council at large learned of new developments Tuesday and the suggestions were turned over to the park committee, Dr. D. E. Rawson and Mrs. Gladys Albee, for more study.

A few steps ahead were taken Tuesday in spite of the boom-eranged plan.

Members of the Cass City Gavel and Rotary Club were in the wooded section of the park Tuesday night in a work session cleaning out limbs and branches in the first step towards establishing a picnic area.

Rod Krueger and Mike Weaver, members of the Cass City Rotary Club, attended the council meeting and revealed a club pledge of $3,000 to the village to be used for park expansion.

Wagner who lives in Grosse Pointe, has a manufacturing plant in Detroit and owns property in Tuscola county.

The working people are for Wallace, Wagner says. I'll bet that 70 per cent of my men are for him and would vote that way in a free election.

But the union bigwigs are for the Democrats and that's all you hear about.

"No, I don't have a Negro working in my plant," Wagner says. "It takes a highly skilled worker in my tool and die plant and the Negroes just don't work out. I'd hire them, though, if they were qualified," he added.

When the votes are counted, Wallace will have enough to force the election into the house, Wagner believes.

Another Wallace booster is a familiar figure in county politics. He is Melvin J. Stewart, former chairman of the Tuscola County Democratic party. "There are a lot more Wallace supporters here than you think," Stewart claims, "I don't know Sanders, but then there are a lot of Wallace supporters all over the county that I never heard of."

We're getting organized, Stewart says, and are going to bring these people together. While Sanders has no official connection with the Wallace forces, Stewart has. He is chairman of the party for the county and says that a meeting for all Wallace supporters is scheduled at 107 N. Main Street in Vassar, county campaign headquarters. It starts at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 27, and is open to everyone, Stewart says.

STRENGTH GROWING

While most Wallace supporters will vote for the southern states' rights segregationist regardless of whether he has a chance or not, the ones interviewed by the Chronicle are convinced that he will roll to victory or at the very least force a House vote to determine the president.

They are counting on the "silent" vote of persons who are for Wallace, but don't declare it. They point to the private polls of both major parties and a poll in Lapeer county where Wallace (24.6 per cent) was second to Nixon (60.25 per cent) and ahead of Humphrey (15.6).

But most of all they feel that Wallace has the platform most of the people want.

To his supporters, the tough-talking ex-governor is the new Messiah who will lead them to the promised land of law and order and America for Americans.

And you'll never convince them that it isn't so.

2 seek blast damages

The effects of an explosion that rocked southwest Cass City Jan. 14, 1964, are being felt today in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Two persons injured in the blast have filed damage cases against Southeastern Michigan Gas Co.

Seeking redress for injuries and loss of income are Mrs. Helen G. Little, the owner of the home at 6353 Garfield Street that was destroyed in the blast, and Donald Finkbeiner, a plumber who was called to the house when the blast occurred.

One of the first steps in what could be a lengthy case was taken Tuesday when Judge James Churchill granted rights of discovery to the defendants.

In effect the order tells Finkbeiner to release all the names of doctors or other persons who have information concerning the case.

Finkbeiner is suing for $17,500 for alleged second and third degree burns that left permanent scars and $3,500 for money lost when he was unable to work.

Total damages are $21,000, plus court costs.

Mrs. Little's case is scheduled for pretrial Oct. 22 in Circuit Court in Caro. She is seeking a total of $29,000 from Southeastern.

Clinton House is the lawyer for both plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs are alleging that the blast was caused by a leak in gas pipes across the street. They say that the gas was kept underground by frozen ground and entered the Little home where it ignited.

AND HONEY I miss you so.

How sweet it will be if Honey is found

"Honey" is causing a honey of a problem for a Canadian couple.

The 12-inch high Lhasa Apso dog wandered away near Sioux Narrows, in the Lake of the Woods area in Ontario, Aug. 21 and was picked up by an area couple Aug. 21.

The couple reported to police that they found the dog and left their name and address.

Things looked bright for the dog's return, but only for a moment. The police lost the paper.

The distraught owners, the Warren Copelands, continued their search and learned that the dog received a rabies shot before crossing the border at International Falls, Minn.

The vet said that he was "quite certain" that the couple was from Gagetown.

The Copelands continued the chase by writing the Dog License Bureau, Chief of Police and the Gagetown Post Office. A "lost" poster has been hanging at the Gagetown office for a week.

No results.

The Copelands live at 536 Second Street, South, Kenora, Ontario, Canada, and naturally, will pay all expenses if their pet is returned.

How sweet it would be if Honey found her way back home.

Costs, new rules closing hospital

After 42 years of service in the community, the directors of Cass City Hospital, Incorporated, voted Tuesday night, September 17, to discontinue operation.

For several months plans to convert to an extended care facility have been under discussion. A survey by Donald Pound and Associates of Lansing showed a need for a 46-bed facility in the area. However, the cost of construction combined with the existing debt makes the development prohibitive.

The past year the hospital started in the direction of a long term facility, but rising costs, more stringent state and federal regulations and slow and unrealistic payments for Medicare Medicaid patients hastened the closing decision, authorities of the facility said.

The hospital was founded on South Seeger Street in 1926 by the late Dr. F. L. Morris and was first known as the Morris Hospital.

It was purchased by Mrs. Bertha Hildinger in 1947 and became the Cass City Hospital. It became a non-profit corporation in 1956.

The hospital was well regarded in the community. In 1963 the 18-bed facility needed money to expand. Authorities went to the people for it and in a whirlwind campaign raised $75,000.

Bad Axe due Friday

Inexperience shows as Eagles claw Hawks in home opener

Cass City's winless streak reached 11 games Friday night and over this span there have been several games when a slight smile from lady luck would have turned defeat into victory.

While even the most ardent Hawk fan won't claim that a few more breaks would have enabled Cass City to defeat Frankenmuth Friday, a few breaks here and there could have made the score closer than the final 28-0 verdict registered last Friday at Cass City Recreational Park.

And if lady luck continues to turn her back on the Hawks, it may be a long night Friday when the Bad Axe Hatchets come to town for another Thumb B Conference imbroglio.

For Bad Axe showed power in its victory, 19-0 over Marlette, in Thumb B and will rank as favorites to extend Cass City's losing streak.

The Eagles turned loose a crushing ground game, coupled with a stout defense to register the victory.

But despite a lopsided edge in the statistics, Cass City stayed in the game until the fourth quarter, and with one of those smiles by dame fortune could have been just a touchdown behind after three periods. In the first quarter, Quarterback Chris Nuechterlein kept the ball on a bootleg play and dashed 24 yards for a score. Dale Weiss ran for the extra point.

It was the only marker in the opening quarter. In the second period, the Eagles scored again... a real heart-breaker for Cass City.

The Eagles had mounted a drive and drove to Cass City's one-yard line where the Hawks stiffened and held. But on the first play from scrimmage, Cass City fumbled and Robert Warnick recovered for Frankenmuth in the end zone.

After Dale Weiss ran for the extra point, the score was 14-0.

The visitors remained two touchdowns ahead until the final period when they scored twice more to move ahead by a comfortable margin.

Nuechterlein ran his favorite bootleg play again in a play that covered 25 yards and Gary Palmreuter ran the extra point.

Frankenmuth exercised its air arm in the next quarter as Chip Weiss passed to Rich List for the final score of the game.

The winners stayed in the airways for the extra point as Nuechterlein passed to Weiss to score.

STRONG DEFENSE

Coach Bifoss said that Cass City played a strong defensive game, stopping the Eagles on the one-yard line three times. The defense tackled hard and helped the visitors make seven fumbles.

But on offense we made mistakes that hurt, the coach said. They poked up large gains because of these mistakes that inexperienced players will make. We are going to be strong, Bifoss asserted, as these underclassmen gain more game experience.

Tom Guinther showed improvement at quarterback, over his performance in the opening game.

Bifoss picked Scott Guernsey and John Dillon as best defensive players and said Mick Miracle was the best blocker. Fumble recoveries were by Neil MacCallum, Marty LeValley, John Smentek and Tim Karr. No offensive player was singled out.

We still need a lot of work on our offensive blocking, Bifoss said as he ended his analysis of the Frankenmuth game.

CLOSE HOSPITAL

The new wing was completed in 1965, boosting the hospital's capacity to 41 beds with a new maternity section, modern laboratory facilities, X-ray department, central supply, pharmacy and an emergency room.

The hospital will close its doors as soon as all the patients can be placed in a new location, authorities concluded.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

A demand for changes in school taxes these days is almost as predictable as the defense of motherhood... when you ask, everyone's for it. Berating the property tax has become the "in" thing to do. It's the magic wand; Eureka! Wipe out property tax and you wipe out problems. Replace it with another tax (any tax) and all the trials and frustrations are waited to Washington or Lansing for immediate solution.

Certainly schools are short of money. It's almost as inevitable as school opening next year that Cass City will ask for extra operating millage.

I guess if I were a schoolman, teacher or even a member of the board of education I might well subscribe to the theory of sending the problem away where the real experts can separate the taxpayer from his dollar in the least painful method.

But if you examine the track record, you'll find you are betting on a poor horse. The way the State divides up funds to schools today defies all but the most cognizant.

It's not maligning the board to say that it is probable that none of them know the State's formula for sending funds to the district.

And if they do, don't ask: it's a hell of a lot less frustrating to be totally in the dark. Just ask how much; never how.

Some of the years when the State was in financial difficulty, administrators didn't know how much money they would receive until the year was nearly over. It's better now. The administrators learned last year how much money was to be available this year and were so overwhelmed that they issued a resolution of commendation for the legislature's action. Beautiful.

But this is but a trickle in the main stream of concern; removing from local control the operation of the schools.

Examine Federal Head Start and Title I program for schools; look at urban renewal and other Federal programs for cities and villages, and then ask persons in authority if they suit the needs of the area.

Especially ask if they could have used the money more wisely without bureaucratic strings.

Speak about Federal use of taxpayers' money and you can set it to music: "Whatever you can do, I can do better, I can do anything better than you."

Pay as you go and you'll never exceed the speed limit.

SPORTS FANS!

KNOW

By H. M. Bulen

Do you know it's theoretically possible for a team to get a 99-yard penalty in football? ... How can a team get a penalty of that many yards? ... Let's suppose a team has the ball on its own one-inch line... Its passer, who can really throw a long pass, heaves the ball the length of the field... His receiver gets all the way down field but just as he's ready to catch the ball on the other team's 1-yard line, he's pushed by a defender... The officials call pass interference which gives the passing team possession of the ball at the spot of the penalty... Thus, the other team is penalized 99 yards on one play!

Did you know a football team can be penalized five yards if the referee discovers two players on the same team have the same numbers on their uniforms? ... It says so, right in the rule book, but that's one penalty you don't see very often.

....

Here's an oddity... Although the Philadelphia Phillies have been playing big league baseball every year since 1900, they have NEVER won a World Series! ... That seems hard to believe, but you can look it up and see that it's true.

Nichols sent to Jackson 1-4 years

Robert Hollenbeck, Bay City, was sentenced to five to 14 years at Southeastern Michigan Prison at Jackson Tuesday on each of two counts of forgery and uttering and publishing. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Hollenbeck had been found guilty by a Tuscola County jury after it was determined that he forged checks on the Peoples National Bank of Bay City.

The sentencing was one of five actions on criminal cases heard in Tuscola County Circuit court before Judge James Churchill.

Also sentenced was David Lee Nichols, 27, of Cass City. Nichols was sentenced to one to four years at the Jackson Prison for felonious assault. Credit for two days spent in jail was given.

He had been found guilty for shooting through the window of a next door neighbor, Grady Taylor, 6362 Fourth Street, Cass City, following a fight over a dog.

Douglas Donald Bean of Vassar was found guilty of parole violation for failing to report to his probation office and failing to make scheduled restitution payments as required when sentenced.

His probation was continued and he was ordered to spend an additional 15 days in the Tuscola County Jail.

Two persons were arraigned Tuesday. Donald F. Stein of Gagetown, charged with selling 10 Holstein steers secured by a chafed mortgage, stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered for him.

Gary Brink of Vassar also stood mute when arraigned. He was charged with indecent liberties with a 16-year-old girl. A plea of innocent was entered for him.

Presenting Cadillac for nineteen sixty-nine

A masterpiece from the master craftsmen

Beautifully new, distinctively Cadillac

Even Cadillac has never built one like this!

The craftsmen who engineer and build Cadillacs are accustomed to creating the finest of motor cars, but they take special pride in these brilliant 1969 models.

A single glance at this automotive masterpiece reveals striking poise and beauty, dramatically new, yet unmistakably Cadillac. For 1969, Cadillac's traditional dignity is complemented by youthful styling unique in the luxury field.

New concepts in comfort and convenience.

The 1969 Cadillac is completely new inside, with major innovations in design, convenience and decor. A newly contoured "control center" instrument panel makes controls even more accessible, and virtually surrounds passengers with luxurious protection and convenience.

A smoother, more responsive engine.

Cadillac's great 472 V-8 engine—the largest V-8 ever to power a production passenger car—is smoother, quieter and more responsive. Never before has power been employed so efficiently in the operation of a car and its equipment. And for 1969 front disc brakes are provided.

Your judgment is invited.

There are eleven different models of the 1969 Cadillac, more than is offered by any other luxury car manufacturer. Each is truly a masterpiece from the master craftsmen.

Your authorized Cadillac dealer welcomes your personal inspection of this once-in-a-lifetime motor car. Stop by and drive one at your earliest opportunity. We think you'll agree that this is the greatest Cadillac ever built.

THE NEW 1969 CADILLACS ARE NOW ON DISPLAY AT YOUR AUTHORIZED CADILLAC DEALER'S

Another series of four pre-natal classes held periodically at Hills and Dales General Hospital will start Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 8 p.m., it was announced this week by hospital authorities.

The classes are held in the meeting room at the hospital and are taught by Mrs. James Champion, R.N.

Classes are offered free as a community service. All expectant mothers are invited. Fathers may attend after the first meeting.

Golding to head Cassland group

Edward Golding Sr. will again head the Cassland Farm Bureau community group, following reorganization at their meeting September 19, at the Ellwood Eastman home.

Other officers elected were Ellwood Eastman, vice-chairman; Mrs. Eastman, secretary; representative to the county women's committee, Mrs. Clare Carpenter; discussion leader, Maynard McConkey; assistant leader, Harold Perry; package reporter, Clarence Merchant, and minuteman reporter, Alfred Goodall.

Mrs. Carpenter reported briefly on the Associated Country Women of the World conference which she attended at Michigan State University recently.

Goodall led discussion on resolutions scheduled for consideration at the county annual meeting.

A cooperative lunch was served by the hostess.

Belittle your work and people will believe you're justified.

MEN WANTED In This Area To Train As LIVESTOCK BUYER

Learn to buy CATTLE and HOGS for packers at sale barns and farms. We prefer to train men 21-55 with farm or livestock experience. For local interview write age, phone and background to National Institute of Meat Packing, Dept. B-11 520 No. Seymour Ave. Mundelein, Illinois 60060.

Michigan's Department of Conservation has set its sights on a conservative kill of about 46,000 surplus antlerless deer in these 56 problem areas during this fall's statewide November 15-30 firearm season. In line with this, it is making nearly 179,000 any-deer permits available for these areas. Starting in early September and continuing through the postmark deadline of September 30, sportsmen may apply for the permits by submitting completed forms to the Department's Lansing office. To do so, they first must buy their 1968 firearm deer licenses at local dealers or through the Department's Publications Room in Lansing. The next step is to fill out special permit application forms available at these same places which will carry each license holder's pre-marked license number. Although the permits will allow successful applicants to take deer of any sex in designated areas, they are not "cartes blanches" to hunt on private property. Permits or no permits, the rule remains: "Ask the landowner first." And in applying for permits, deer hunters are advised the places to hunt are hardest to come by in southern Michigan and the north-eastern part of the Lower Peninsula. These areas have large blocks of privately owned lands.

Minor accidents in area

Several minor accidents were investigated by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department during the week, one in which the driver was injured.

Treated and released at Caro Community Hospital Monday was Frank G. Skripick, 42, of Deford. He was injured when he fell asleep while driving and ran into a ditch on M-46, about three miles west of Kingston.

Charles William Wright, 28, and Leslie Stuart Merchant, 16, of Cass City were uninjured in a mishap Friday on Cemetery Road, near Hurley Road.

A car driven by Wright was attempting to pass a bike driven by Merchant as he started to turn left into a driveway.

The front of the car was damaged.

Roger Trisch hit a deer on Elmwood Road, a mile west of M-81 Sunday.

Liner sells tractor in just one week

Just one week was all it took for James Luana of Deford to sell his tractor with a small roost Chronicle Liner. He sold the tractor Saturday. Luana's ad read: Tractor for sale-Farmall B-N narrow front, new tires on the rear and new battery, excellent running condition. Seat off set for cultivating with cultivator and bean puller attachments. Only $450.

Freiburger named to Dean's list

Pernard Freiburger of Cass City was one of 258 students at Ferris State College at Big Rapids to be named to the Dean's Honor List for the summer quarter, according to Dr. Robert L. Huxol, vice president for instruction.

Freiburger is studying technical and applied arts at the school. To be named to the list, a student must maintain at least a B average while carrying a full academic load.

Council sheds no light on Kennebec

Kennebec Drive in Cass City was a principal part of the agenda for the Cass City Village Council Tuesday night.

Trustees approved an expenditure of $1,400 for a hard-top cap on the road as discussed the previous month. President Lambert Althaver said that the price of $9.60 a ton was favorable and $2.00 a ton less than was paid last year.

Gerald Prieskorn attended the session and was left in the dark when his request for street lights on Kennebec was tabled for further study.

Trustee D. E. Rawson, who lives on the street, said that there is some doubt that the majority of the residents on the street want the lights and suggested that a survey be made. Prieskorn said that every street should have lights as a matter of course. My concern, he added, is that I have five children and the oldest is 12 and the road is pitch black when they come home from school affairs.

When the question was tabled, Prieskorn promptly said, "I'll be back next month."

OLD PROBLEMS

Three old problems also remain to be settled.

One is the sewer charge for Wesley's. The charge based on a water meter reading has not been paid.

Since it is now past due a surcharge of 10 per cent will be added and the current quarter's bill also sent.

Wesley's is disputing the bill. Two other questions are perennial. The first is moving of weeds in vacant lots and the second is removing stray dogs . . . and the solutions are also unchanged.

The property owners will be contacted about the lots and if they aren't cleaned the village will do it and charge the owners. The dog warden will be advised to step up his efforts and the property owner will be advised that he must clean up dog pens around his home.

LANDFILL PROBLEM

Because General Cable has stopped burning in the village the amount of trash the company sends to the landfill dump has greatly increased and a new trench will have to be dug before the ground freezes this fall.

Authorities report that the refuse from Cable has jumped from 14 to 37 loads weekly.

Gagetown firemen receive training

Four Gagetown firemen were at the John Bean Fire School at Tipton, Ind., this week learning operating procedures of the new fire truck which they will bring back.

Attending are Chief Charles Wright, Orlo Wood, Joe Rochelle and Jim Sontag.

They left Sunday and the school was in session through Wednesday.

"If It Fitz..."

The blue serge tourniquet

BY JIM FITZGERALD

What got me thinking about tight pants was this phone call from my son in the 5th grade. "You or Mother better come to school and get me," he said, "I split my pants playing football."

"Ok," I agreed, "where will I find you?"

"Out in front with my back to the wall," he said. It is no wonder this kid breaks through his pants all the time. They are so tight they get bumpy when he gets goose pimples. That's the way pants are made today.

Whatever happened to the neat pleat and the drape shape? When's the last time you saw a baggy seat of serge? I know a man who ate a hot dog with his right hand in his pocket. When he finished eating, he couldn't get his hand out. He had to diet to get people to stop calling him Lefty.

Tight pants present different problems for different ages.

For youngsters, it's getting into them. The pantlegs are made for legs without knees. It was bad enough when a boy couldn't pull them on over his shoes, and then his socks. But now a kid doesn't dare wear polka-dot underwear without first sandpapering the polka-dots.

We old crocks don't have it that tight in the legs. But let's get to the seat of the problem. Most men carry their wallets in their left hip pocket. And most men must carry 142 credit cards to feel secure (if you leave them home, your wife might find them). Unless a man is built with nothing to sit on, the wallet produces a bulge bordering on deformity. If another cheek were involved, an apt description would be that he has bitten off more tobacco than he can chew. The average tight-panted, fat-walleted man needn't worry about getting hit by a car while walking down a dark road. He can hang a lantern from his rear pocket.

Whenever anyone points out the obvious insanities common to women's fashions, some gal always says, "Yeah, but who do you think designs most female clothes - men?" She means Mr. Mildred or Beau Bruce, darling, but whatever doubt might be cast upon gender still doesn't subtract from the satisfaction it gives a matron to blame her Shirley Temple dress and full-back shoes on some stupid man.

So if anyone has evidence that some females, even baritones, are responsible for taking the sag out of my slacks, I'd like to hear about it. The news won't increase my comfort but it will help me to understand. If women designers are choking men with fabric to get revenge for what men designers do to women, I don't blame them. For instance, the man who invented stretch slacks that stretch beyond size 10 should be stretched to death and I'd help pull.

But if it's not women, and I'm afraid it's not, how could men do this to men? It's not just the tight pants. Lately there's been a big hurrah about turtleneck shirts because they allow a guy to forget his necktie. Big deal. I'm all for junking ties but what's so great about a collar that scratches my chins and makes me look like a YMCA attendant?

And then there are these Nehru jackets which also clutch at a guy's chins while buttoning to his knees. Around his neck he hangs a cross made of scrap iron sent back from Japan. And on his feet are stretch socks reaching to his thighs. The whole idea is to bind a man completely, for fear a small part of him might jiggle. Which, in cases such as mine, is similar to wrapping a mound of jello for mailing.

I call it tourniquet styling. Hart, Schaffner and Marx are afraid men may bleed to death in this cruel world so they've fixed it so we no longer get dressed in the morning. We get landaged.

PERSONALITY
It sometimes happens in this life that the man with the most magnetism is the one who gets things coming his way.

Annual Round-up for teens Saturday

Saturday, Sept. 28, from 4:00 to 10:00 p.m. Campus Life will sponsor its annual fall Teen Round-up. Contests, continuous hayrides, double-pancake piano smash, 3 foot medicine ball football bounce, horse show, push and pull contest with the donkeys and others, all in school competition, are scheduled.

There will be a barbecue chicken dinner and the day will be topped off with the world's largest sundae, all in a big bathtub.

The Campus Life Folk Singers from Kalamazoo will perform with teen favorites. Australian national football star, Milt Richards, will be one of the featured guests at the haymow stampede amphitheater.

The round-up is to be held four miles south and three west of Marlette at "Maplehurst Farm."

E. J. Phetteplace succumbs Monday

Edward J. Phetteplace, 45, lifelong Sanilac county resident, died Monday, Sept. 23, in Hills and Dales Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in Evergreen township May 25, 1923, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phetteplace. He married Violet Loutzenhiser April 20, 1946, in Brown City and the couple made their home in Evergreen township.

He was a member of Decker Lodge F&AM#479 and of the Order of the Eastern Star #438.

Besides his widow, survivors are: a daughter Mary Jane and two sons, Charles and Edward, and four sisters, Mrs. Merrill Kreger of Snover, Mrs. William Huggard of Oscoda, Mrs. Adam Geres and Mrs. John Parry, both of Detroit.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at two o'clock at Little's Funeral Home. The Rev. Stephen Chapko, pastor of the Shalabona United Methodist Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in Elkland cemetery with committal services conducted by Decker Lodge.

KEN KENNEDY starts work at the Rehabilitation Center in Detroit after a relapse held up progress for several weeks.

Letter to Editor

Progress report: right thumb starts to work

Dear All,

Well I finally made it. I'm really at the rehabilitation center. Mom and Dad brought me to Detroit August 20th, but as usual so many things went wrong and I had to go over to Harper Hospital. Keep your fingers crossed as I think I'm on my way.

I sure enjoy all your cards and letters, especially those that tell little things about Cass City. When you are away from home you sure enjoy the Cass

City Chronicle, but if its ok because I can't write yet but find someone else to furnish can Government book that you are. Don't study too hard so I won't get too far behind.

What are we going to do top that dizzy silo?

Most of your cards and letters gave me all sorts of advice about chasing the candy strippers. According to the enclosed picture life isn't so bad.

Well fellow seniors Tuesday the 24th I start my senior year. I'll have classes twice a week and no written exams,

My right thumb is starting to work and with all I've been eating I'll soon be able to go a couple rounds with a 1st grader.

Keep writing, Ken Kennedy Rehabilitation Center Room 406

Where the Fish Are

Granddad loves to fish. Secretly, I think he likes to talk about it equally as well. He spends hours with his friends arguing the pros and cons of "angling." The other day I overheard a lengthy controversy about the best place to fish. Granddad ended the whole matter with these words of wit and wisdom, "If you ask me, the best spot to fish is out there where the fish are—so let's get going!"

This special brand of humor greatly appealed to all of his friends and it remained in my mind long after they had left. It seemed to answer those nature lovers who claim that they can worship God out of doors as well as in church. For certainly, the best spot to worship God is where God is.

Worship means not only moments of adoration and praise but also thoughts channeled toward God. The Church has the living presence of the Lord and inspires spiritual thoughts through hymn, prayer and litany.

Yes, the best place to lift up the heart is in the house of God.

AROUND THE FARMFarmers need united action

By Alfred P. Ballweg

As I meet farmers on and off the farm, many different kinds of problems come up for discussion. However, one problem that all farmers have in common is how or why can't we get a better price for what we produce and have to sell?

Agriculture is a unique industry because by producing or growing crops new wealth comes from the good soil. This new wealth in the form of food and fiber feeds and clothes our nation and provides jobs for many of our people. There are countless economic forces at work over which farmers have no control that influence or determine the price that a commodity will sell for on the market.

I do believe the time has come when farmers are taking a good hard look at what they can do for themselves collectively or by commodity groups.

Bean growers in Tuscola County are now about half way through with harvesting what appears to be about two-thirds of what we would call a good crop. Weather and bean diseases were more severe on some growers' fields than others. Therefore the reduced yields. Farmers are always ready to do their best to produce a crop but I believe they should put just as much thought and effort forth to market their crop to the very best advantage. They should use every tool at their command to market the crop at the best price even if it may mean that they will have to join hands with their neighbors to do so.

For several years now bean growers along with organizations representing them have worked to bring growers together and provide them with another avenue of marketing beans through the organization of a "bean pool".

The market price of beans since before the start of bean harvest has dropped from $10.00 hundredweight to below $7.00. What will be the best time and price to sell at is anyone's guess. A bean grower this year can explore three options for marketing: (1) Store them on the farm or in the elevator and sell them anytime he thinks best, (2) Put them under government loan either in the elevator or on the farm and hope he can profit by selling at a later date, (3) A third choice or bean pool. Under the pool program the bean grower will share equally in any gains which can be achieved by a controlled orderly marketing program. Under the pool program you will be guaranteed support price plus your prorated share of all earnings over and above the support price.

All Tuscola County elevators are participating so that bean growers can go to the elevator of his choice and they will assist him in putting his beans under the pool program. They should also be able to answer any questions growers may have.

How well this third option, the pool, will work is up to growers. Here is an opportunity for farmers to do collectively what they cannot do by themselves -- try to secure the best possible price for their 1968 crop of beans.

Plan a place for school work

By Mrs. Ann Ross

Extension Agent

School days are here again -- and it's home with books and assignments. But will your child have an adequate place to study once he arrives home?

If you can't afford an expensive desk and haven't adequate space for a study area -- what do you do?

Improvise. Consider card tables, kitchen and dinette sets, slab doors, lab boards and dressers. (A piece of plywood laid over two separated dressers of like size makes a good study area.)

Choose a chair that fits your child. Desk height should be about as high as his elbows when he is seated straight in his chair with feet on the floor. If the desk is too high, add a chair cushion. If the feet dangle above the floor, add his circulation with a footstool.

Whatever study surface used, it should be dimly lit in color. A dark-colored desk can easily be lightened by placing a large, light-colored blotter in the center of the work area.

Study materials should be in easy reach. Adjoining bookshelves help keep things organized. Where these are impossible, a portable picnic basket with handles may serve as a handy container for pens, pencils, erasers, paper clips, papers, rulers and other study materials.

Keep color harmony in mind, too. A bright-colored area is more pleasing to the room and more conducive to home study than a dark, drab corner.

Proper lighting is also important. A study area should never be directly under a window. The wall above the area should be dull, never glossy. Light should come from the left for a right-handed person and from the right for a left-handed person. A good study lamp is also a worthwhile investment.

If parents will provide a place for it, perhaps that homework will get done!

Mrs. Gray's room has 18 sixth graders and seven fifth graders. . . two of which are new students. Their names are Larry Roberts and Pamela Brown.

Miss Stauffer has 25 students in her fourth and fifth grades and she also has two new students -- Judy Kulinski and Terry Brown. In their room the students have simple machines for science and a terrarium, which has in it insects and reptiles. (Among other things !!)

Miss Stauffer's and Mrs. Gray's room have music together every Thursday. The sixth graders in these two rooms have also given up their last recess on Fridays for a gym period.

Mrs. Bailey's room has an enrollment of 21 first graders and seven second graders. Several of her students are new, also. Her class is learning about the word energy and the students have been finding pictures to show the meaning of the word. They have also decorated their bulletin board with squirrels they made and cut out.

Mrs. Stickle's fourth grade room did an experiment last week. The object was to try to grow mold. The class was divided into five groups and each group was given some bread, a jar, and a hammer and nail. Group one put a few drops of water on their bread, put it in the jar and covered it with the lid in which they punched holes. The jar was placed on the window sill. Group two didn't add water to their bread; group three did exactly the same as group one, but put their jar in a freezer; group four put their jar on the window sill, but didn't punch holes in the top; and group five didn't use any bread. (?)

Group one succeeded in growing the mold. The students learned what conditions were necessary for mold to grow and then looked at the mold through a microscope.

Plans are being made to begin a junior high newspaper! The Chronicle's reporters have enjoyed gathering news so much that many of the students have decided to start a school newspaper.

The library at the Intermediate School was opened to all classes last week and about 350 books were checked out. This year the library is open from 8:00 to 10:00 a.m. and from 12:30 to 3:45 p.m.

Over the summer about 50 new books were added to the library's collection as well as a set of World Book Encyclopedias and a set of Britannica Encyclopedias. The library also has a paper back book store.

The student librarians this year are: Sally Kolb, Jeanne Alexander, Mollie Butler, Susan Corl, Joanne Eskilsen, Lynn Rayl, Jane White, Joanne Miller, Diane Fisher and Cynthia Doerr.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. Bifoss started physical fitness tests. The gym students started out by running the 100-yard dash and the 50-yard dash. Other requirements of the test include: pull-ups, sit-ups, long jumps, and the shuttle run. After completing the tests, some boys will receive the physical fitness award.

There are 42 seventh grade boys in Mr. Bifoss's class and 54 in his 8th grade class. Soon they will be playing touch football, soccer, and other popular sports.

Mrs. Milligan, the junior-hi home-ec teacher, has received six new Singer sewing machines for her class. (Now the seventh graders can sew the gym bags they have started!) Her room was also painted and improved upon during the summer months.

In Industrial Arts, Mr. Dillon's students have begun metal tooling; however, before the students are allowed to work, they have to take notes on how to conduct themselves while working in the shop.

Towards the end of the year, some of the students' best metal tooling will be taken to the fair.

FIFTH GRADE NEWS

Mrs. Milligan's fifth grade class has been studying Columbus and a few students have made spice charts. The students have also made a magnetometer - an instrument used for measuring the intensity and direction of magnetic forces.

Since Mrs. Milligan's students haven't had an art class in such a long time, they are really glad that they are able to have one this year.

I was really sorry to hear, as I am sure so many others were, that Mrs. McKlow, the fifth grade teacher at the Intermediate School, who was born in Greece, was called home to Minnesota last week due to the death of his father.

His class has had Mrs. Hall for a substitute.

Family Dog," a band from Vassar, was featured.

Mr. Cleland, our guidance counselor, has got the world by a string! In between helping students and working with the student council and many other things, he gets to sit in his office and eat green grapes !! (Seedless ones at that!)

If you have ever been in room 204, you should have noticed the debate banners on Mr. Crouch's bulletin boards. These banners were presented to C.C.H.S. different years for outstanding work in the field of debate.

This year, Mr. Crouch, the new debate coach, would like to have C.C.H.S. receive more such awards.

The topic for debate this year is "The Draft." Face it, debate provides the opportunity to "dig deeper" and learn more about certain topics; it provides an opportunity for you to voice your honest opinion, and it helps you to learn how to express yourself more clearly! So even if you've never taken speech or anything of the sort, but are interested, why don't you join debate and win C.C.H.S. a few more banners. . . at least enough for Mr. Crouch to wallpaper his entire room! I

I want "you all" to meet Mr. Crouch, our teacher with the southern drawl. Crouch was born in Covington, Kentucky. He went to college at a small Liberal Arts School -- Georgetown. He majored in speech, with a minor in Social Science and Economics. He graduated in the summer of 1967, and was married in June of the same year.

Last year he attended C.M.U. where he completed his grad work and also taught speech.

He now teaches speech, sociology, economics, and geography at C.C.H.S.

HYPOCRITE
Sometimes the man who is supposed to be a pillar in his church isn't very well posted.

Drug Abuse

Druggists in a Midwestern city were recently alerted to a wave of "forged" prescriptions, written on blanks that had been stolen from a hospital clinic. The warning was not circulated by the police, but by the pharmacists.

Since a prescription is an order for drugs written by a physician, and since the druggists had no way of knowing forgeries were in circulation, it would not have been illegal for them to have filled the prescription and kept quiet about it. In most businesses, a sale is a sale.

But the pharmacists knew the dangers that the young thrill-seekers would encounter if they took heavy doses of the drug ordered on the fake prescriptions.

Used under a doctor's supervision, the drug is helpful and harmless. An overdose could cause permanent brain damage or death. That is the core of the drug abuse problem: products that can help, may also injure, if the necessary warnings are ignored. This is one reason pharmacists are so careful about filling prescriptions, and even more cautious about refilling them.

The story of the forged prescriptions had a "happy" ending. The druggists not only refused to fill them, but they also called the police, and the youngsters were placed in custody for their own protection. When they learned of the danger, most of the young people were appalled and, to some extent, grateful to the pharmacists who had "blown the whistle" on their thrill-seeking.

Chevrolet introduces 1969.

Caprice. Match this, you other 69's!

There is no joy in the land of our competitors today. But let us ask you this.

Should we have made Caprice shorter instead of the longest Chevrolet ever built? Or adorned it with flashy nicknacks to make it look less expensive?

Just because competition doesn't, should we not have offered you washers to clean your headlights, new variable-ratio power steering, liquid tire chain you can apply to your rear wheels at the touch of a button?

Should we have given you less power, instead of the largest standard V8 in its field?

Some people think so.

It's the Tigers in 6...or is It?

By Dan Marlowe

It's time to pick the winner of the World Series. At the moment of writing, neither the Tigers nor the Cardinals have clinched their pennants, but there is no doubt now they will.

So in the Series, it's the Tigers in 6 games. Or the Cardinals in 7 games. Ambiguous? Not really. I think the Tigers will win the Series in 6 games. If they make the mistake of letting it go to 7 games, though, there is no one in baseball today who can get himself up for a single game like Bob Gibson of the Cardinals. The Tigers certainly don't want to face him in St. Louis in the 7th game.

It may be more of a hitters' series than recent ones. After Gibson and McLain, none of the pitchers figure to be overpowering. Wilson and Lolich will be the other starters for the Tigers, Nelson Briles and either the left-hander, Steve Carlton, or Ray Washburn for the Redbirds.

The two most important pitchers for the Tigers could turn out to be Pat Dobson and John Hiller. In the event of a quick knockout for any of the Detroit starters, both have proven repeatedly their ability to come in and pitch 4 or 5 scoreless relief innings while the Tigers claw their way back into the game. St. Louis doesn't figure to be that strong in secondary pitching.

The key to the Series for the Tigers may lie in keeping Lou Brock off the baselines. For this speedster, a walk is as good as a 2-base hit. If he has the same kind of Series he had against the Red Sox last year, the Tigers will be in trouble.

The Cardinals are supposed to have bench strength, but look at the Tigers: Al Kaline has a hard time breaking into the starting lineup these days. That's how good the Tigers are. Only shortstop is a soft spot. Since Tom Matchik isn't hitting, Manager Mayo Smith might be tempted to go with the proven fielder, Ray Oyler.

In a 6-game Series, McLain and Gibson figure to trade wins. If Wilson does the same with Briles, it would be up to Lolich to win 2 games to prevent Gibson from facing McLain a third time in the decisive game. Lolich will be the key starter in the Series. A cool weather pitcher, always strong in the late season, he should do well.

The Red Sox proved last year that the Cardinal lineup could be pitched to. The Tiger pitching staff should do no worse. The Tiger hitters will follow their season-long pattern of getting fewer singles but more extra-base hits. The first 7 men in the Tiger batting order are capable of popping the ball out of the park. It's not an easy lineup to work around.

So it's the Tigers in 6 games. But don't let it go to a 7th.

Letter to Editor

Dear Mr. Haire:

We have a personal interest in the fact that Marie Bezemek, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bezemek, of Minden City had a cadaver kidney transplant at the Cleveland Clinic on Aug. 31st.

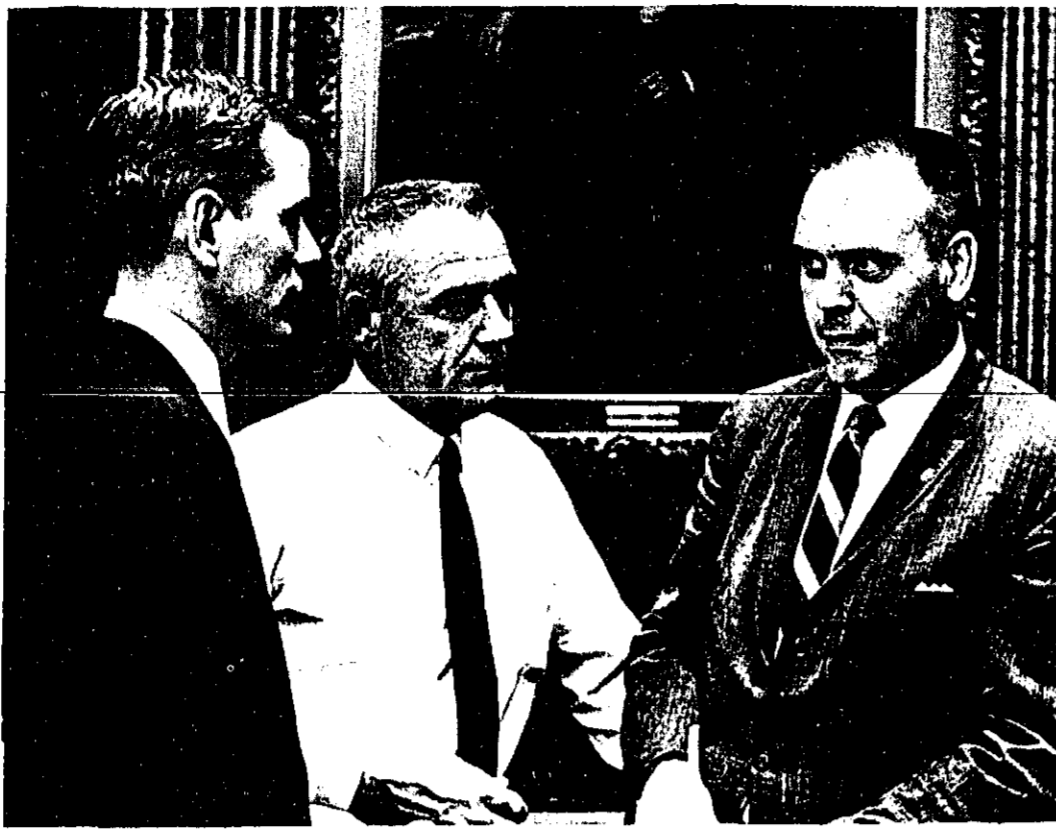

As far as we know, she is progressing as well as normally is expected. A visit with her father, a week ago, helps one to understand the difficulties, sufferings, etc. all transplant patients and their families must go through.

Maybe this case is not of local interest, but to the faithful buyers of the Kidney Foundation candy, it is patients such as Marie that you are helping!

So everyone, be prepared to buy your Halloween and holiday candies soon from the Kidney Foundation volunteers! Sincere thanks to all in advance.

Mrs. Lloyd Frederick Decker, Mich. 48426

Auxiliary dissolves at Monday meeting

The Cass City Hospital Auxiliary held its final meeting at the hospital Monday evening. President Mrs. Don Finkbeiner presided at a short business meeting when the club's assets were dissolved. The auxiliary's bank account was closed, with one-half designated for the Seeing Eye program at Rochester. The remainder will be donated to the Cancer Society as a memorial to the late Helen Hower, who was a member of the auxiliary.

Gifts presented to the hospital by the group were reviewed, including the hospital kitchen, nurses' lounge and over 1,000 stuffed toys for children who were patients in the hospital.

Mrs. Finkbeiner and two past presidents, Mrs. Don Toner and Mrs. William Donnelly, served refreshments. Mrs. Pearl Connolly received the door prize.

Alexander wins harness race

A seven-year-old gelding, owned by Cass City's Frank Alexander, won the seventh race at Hazel Park Harness Raceway. Alexander drove his own horse, bare hours after he was interviewed on a popular racing program in Detroit and explained his views on harness racing as a sport and a business.

The win was the first for the gelding in four starts this season.

It Seems To Me

Stop burglaries while on vacation

By Rev. R. J. Searls

Maybe Cass City has no record of thefts while homeowners are away, but you wouldn't like to be the first. A new trend among vacationers is for vacationing the year 'round. Here are some steps that may help prevent your vacation from being spoiled by a burglary.

1. Tell a neighbor you are leaving and ask him to keep a key to the house in case of emergency. Your neighbor may also be willing to gather your mail and hold other deliveries.

2. Never leave a note on your door advising the milkman or the newsboy that you will be out of town.

3. Notify police that your house will be unoccupied.

4. Suspend all deliveries -- mail, newspapers, etc.

5. Avoid informing your local newspaper that you will be making a trip.

6. Never leave your house key under the doormat, mailbox, or other places where it can easily be found.

7. Leave lights on in several parts of the house. The cost for this electricity is amazingly low, frequently costing only pennies.

8. Make sure that all doors and windows are tightly locked. Leave your shades up, and your Venetian blinds open.

9. Arrange for the upkeep of your lawn and shrubbery if you plan to be away for a long period of time.

The Consumer Credit Protection Act is of importance; now passed, it comes into effect next year. It will mean that, for the first time, borrowers and installment buyers will be told -- in dollars and cents the full cost of the credit they receive.

Saleswoman to voluptuous customer trying on a micro-mini.

2 experts to talk about food habits

Your food habits may be causing you to dig your own grave daily with your knife and fork.

To understand the meaning of this statement, you are invited to attend a class on Wednesday, October 2, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Civil Defense Center in Caro.

Mrs. Ann Ross will teach regarding food habits while Mrs. Sheila Morley, Michigan State University Marketing Agent, will discuss and display substitute and imitation foods.

The meeting is offered by the Cooperative Extension Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Michigan State University and local boards of supervisors cooperating as a means of helping to improve nutrition by education. There is no charge.

Festival slated for foreign students

The annual festival of the Ecumenical Hospitality Council - Foreign Students will be held Sunday, Sept. 29, at the Caro fairgrounds.

There will be a potluck dinner at 2:30 p.m. and a program will be presented by foreign students attending the University of Michigan. Many of the students will be spending the week end as guests in Thumb area homes.

The festival is open to the public.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Bug Hookum opened the session at the country store Saturday night by announcing America was getting took over by the humbugs. What brought it to mind, said Bug, was this piece he had saw in the papers where 31 brands of licker was tested for taste and when they got through the testers said they wasn't much difference in any of the brands except the price. Bug went on to say he knowed this feller that bought one bottle of high price licker onct, and ever since he just buys the cheapest brand and keeps the high price bottle poured full.

Clem Webster was agreed with Bug, said a heap of what we call progress in this country today wasn't nothing but folks trying to keep up with the Joneses. Fer instant, he said, if they was to list hot dogs in a foreign language in some of them fancy eating places folks would pay $4 apiece fer 'em.

Ed Doolittle, that refused to cross the New Frontier and was agin the Great Society, claimed it all got started with the New Deal. Ed said it was along about that time when they put putting watch pockets and suspender buttons on pants and we had gone downhill ever since.

Zeke Grubb allowed as how we got to look at these matters with a little charity in our heart, that different people has different tastes. That's the reason, said Zeke, they make chocolate and vanilla. They was tastes fer eating and tastes fer clothes and cars and everything else, was the way Zeke put it.

Yeh, said Ed sarkastic, he special liked the taste of them judges that give first prize in a sculpture show in New York and found out later some college students had welded pieces of a wrecked car together and made it fer a joke.

Josh Clodhopper, that usual don't say much at the meetings, butted in to say we wasn't getting nothing done at the session and he was in favor of changing the subject. Josh said he could recollect a Englishman said onct that America was an insane asylum run by the inmates and he reckoned we was just some of the inmates.

Personal, Mister Editor, I ain't interested in nothing but the taste you eat with and the other tastes folks has got can work theirselves out. I don't care if some folks pay $4 fer a hot dog with a new name, but that don't mean I got to like maynaze on them store bought bread slices you can hold up to the light and read the newspaper through. Ireckon the worst taste I've heard lately was that woman driver passing out from the heat on account of keeping her car windows rolled up tight during the August hot spell so her neighbors would think she had air conditioning.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Class of '23 holds 45-year reunion

In the 45th year after graduation, the class of '23 of Cass City High School had a reunion Saturday, Sept. 21, beginning with an open house from 4-6 p.m. at the home of Miss Irene Hall. About 30 attended.

A 7 o'clock chicken and ham dinner was enjoyed at the Crossroads where the tables were decorated with low arrangements of gladioli.

Thirty-four attended the dinner and the invocation was given by Rev. Wallace Zinnecker. Mr. and Mrs. Willis Campbell were guests.

Following the dinner, Ken McKenzie gave the welcome and was emcee for the program.

Mr. Campbell led the singing with "School Days" and Mrs. Paul Murray led in a "Do You Remember When?"

Each class member responded to roll call with a brief life resume.

Those unable to attend who sent letters were Grant Pinney of Mundelein, Ind., Velma Warner Walsh of Curtis, Mich., Helen Corkins Grey of Sun City Center, Fla., Betty Wager Hoyle of Orlando, Fla., and Mary Newberry Sikema of Farwell, Mich.

In closing, the poem, "Give Us Men," was read by Mr. McKenzie.

Three of the 43 members of the graduating class have died, John C. Randall, Reba Balkwell Allard and Raymond McCullough.

Members came from Bay City, Dearborn, Goodrich, Detroit, Rochester, Saginaw, Lewiston, Michigan Center, Carsonville, Port Huron and the local area.

Committee for arrangements included Mrs. Paul Murray, Mrs. Eldon Bruce, Mrs. Frank Merchant, Irene Hall and Mrs. Bruce Kitzman.

Another reunion is planned in five years.

SO TRUE
It has always been easier to find room for improvement than to find satisfactory building material for the job.

AAUW hears of group's origin

Marye Lou Goldner, Michigan Division State President of the American Association of University Women, spoke on the purposes and goals of AAUW to the 31 members and guests present Tuesday, Sept. 17. She told the story of the AAUW "dream" which began in November, 1881, in Boston with 17 women. The second was held in January of 1882 with 65 women present from eight colleges, including the University of Michigan.

"The AAUW builds on the past to make today's world more understandable, and tomorrow's world better educated, happier, more healthful, and more progressive," Mrs. Goldner said. "We do this through our biennial study topics, our legislative program and action, and the individual members' efforts to improve relationships on local, state, national and international levels."

Also mentioned at the meeting was the art exhibit, "30 Contemporary Drawings", sponsored by the Michigan Council for the Arts, to be held at the Cultural Center Oct. 4-13.

The Coretta Scott King Educational Fund was explained and it was decided that contributions would be on a voluntary, individual basis.

Programs for this year include a speaker from Delta College on "Black Humor and the Novel", a reading of the play, "Sandwich", a book review on "Poverty: Views from the Left" given by Julia Murray, a composer in residence from Delta, and a tape by Barbara Ward.

Capt. Louis Horner outstanding pilot

Capt. Louis E. Horner was honored Wednesday, Sept. 11, in the office of Co. Max J. King, wing commander, as one of two outstanding instructor pilots for the month of August.

Capt. Horner is a member of the 3575th Pilot Training Squadron.

Lt. Col. Cecil P. Duryea Jr., squadron commander, cites Capt. Horner as "a highly professional instructor with an exceptional understanding of the primary flying training mission. He has flown more than 1100 hours of incident-free instructor pilot time in the T-37 at Vance AFB."

"He continually receives exceptionally high standardization evaluation scores in all phases of his personal evaluations and serves as a model for other squadron instructors."

"In view of his knowledge of the T-37, he has been selected as the flight standardization officer and has made monumental contributions to student and instructor pilot standardization. In addition, his performance of duties as senior runway supervisory unit controller is among the finest in the wing."

Captain Horner is a former resident of Cass City, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Audley Horner of Highland. His wife is the former Janice Pelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pelton of Deford.

Teachers and administrators have to adjust to the new

Michigan Mirror

New teaching approach brings top results

CONCEPTS CHANGING

When the teacher believes the student can't learn, chances are good he won't. Educators have found this to be true, and are doing something about it, according to Robert Sternberg, educational consultant, Michigan Department of Education.

Sternberg associates the effects of such "self-prophecy" with past methods of teaching. "Under the traditional methods of educating youngsters," he says, "the teacher sometimes became convinced some of her students could not learn. It didn't take too long to convince these students that she was right. And when they fell behind in class and lost interest in school, the teacher said, 'See, my prophecy was correct.'"

Within the past few years, professional educators became concerned with the dropout of students. They found that about 30 percent left school at age 16, the minimum age allowed by law, and another 20 percent had lost interest in school although they remained enrolled. Intensive investigation uncovered the need for a new approach to education.

Emphasis is increasingly placed on "output" rather than "input" factors. Degrees held by teachers, accreditation, student-teacher ratio, taxpayer child, formerly were used to gauge effectiveness of a school district.

"Output" considerations include: what a student believes, how he behaves, contributions he makes to society, how he relates to his environment. Sternberg notes that this calls for a "higher discrimination" of teaching skills with less "drowning of the student in information," and more emphasis on the "whole person." The student must be motivated, taught to think for himself, shown that the information has a direct bearing on his life and his present and future well-being, Sternberg points out.

This brings the educator into a whole new concept of learning. He must develop in the student a personal meaning for knowledge. This may involve first establishing confidence in the student that he is able to learn. It may involve satisfying physical depravities: a hungry child has little appetite for learning arithmetic. It has led to the "Community School" idea and has had an effect on every phase of education: curricula, methods of teaching, flexible scheduling, co-op programs, cultural camp-outs, etc.

emphasis on total learning. Many encounter difficulty in making the adjustment. The older teacher who used the traditional method of asking students to repeat what she has previously told them may be unable to alter her approach. Administrators must motivate their staffs by setting examples rather than dictate new methods, Sternberg believes.

retain the dignity of professionals, yet assure their freedom to bargain for economic gains. Unless both school systems and teachers maintain this level of operation, students will suffer.

Timing critical in silage harvest

Premature or late corn silage harvesting can rob livestock of potential weight gains.

Corn grown for silage continues to add grain to the ear until the plant reaches about 35 per cent dry matter. If it is harvested for silage when the kernels are in the milk stage (25 per cent dry matter), the plant has accumulated only about half of its potential grain yield and only about two-thirds of the potential crop is realized.

When the kernels are allowed to reach a hard dough stage (late dent), the plant is essentially mature. It has accumulated nearly all the dry matter it can,
and you can get the maximum yield per acre. The dry matter content of the silage is then about 33 to 35 per cent -- ideal for storage.

Donald Hillman, Michigan
State University dairy specialist, notes that the digestibility of the corn plant changes very little as it matures. However, if the corn is allowed to stand too long (beyond 40 per cent dry matter), the stalks begin to lose their leaves; lodging may occur and field losses become too great.

Field losses range from 18 to 27 per cent of the dry matter for cornage or high dry matter corn silage harvested late, compared to about five per cent loss when harvested in the optimum range of 28 to 35 per cent dry matter.

According to a recent MSU study, delaying harvesting from Sept. 13 (28 per cent dry matter) to Oct. 17 (48 per cent dry matter) reduced storage capacity for dry matter by our 10 per cent.

Fine chopping is also necessary to exclude air and is particularly important with more mature corn that is high in dry matter and does not contain enough moisture to pack
well, Hillman discloses.

Studies at MSU revealed that chopping at 1/4 to 3/8 inch increased dry matter stored per cubic foot 6 to 17 per cent compared to a 5/8 to 3/4 inch cut.
Fine chopping is also absolutely essential to prevent severe storage losses if late harvested, high dry matter silage (50 per cent dry matter) is to be stored in conventional silos, Hillman says.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Mika

St. Michael's Catholic church at Wilmet was the scene of the four o'clock wedding ceremony of Linda Sue Brown and John
Francis Mika, Saturday, Sept.
14. Baskets of pink mums and white gladioli decorated the church when the Rev. Eugene J.
Susalla performed the marriage
rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Brown of Cass City are the bride's parents, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mika
Sr. of Decker.

The bride wore a gown featuring tiers of Chantilly lace, a scoop neckline and a long chapel train. Her fingertip illusion veil was secured to a headpiece of white satin and pearl and crystal teardrops.

Mrs. Lorraine Kurtansky of Saginaw was matron of honor.
Bridesmaids were Wanda Benitez and Linda Mika, both of Saginaw, Sandy Brown of Detroit and Carole Decker of Cass City.

The matron of honor wore a gown of pink chiffon with a cranberry red velvet top. It was highlighted by a cranberry red velvet bow and trail in the back. The bridesmaids' dresses were similar to the matron of honor's but featured rouge red velvet.

Attending the groom were Tino Benitez of Saginaw, John Brown of Detroit, George Mika of Decker and John Wright of Cass City.

A wedding dinner was served after the ceremony at Dom

Local library board in routine meeting

A routine meeting of the board of Cass City and Elkland Township Public Library was held Tuesday forenoon at the library with all board members and the librarian present.

Librarian Mrs. Arthur Little has been informed that due to rise in costs for magazines from the grant to be used for libraries of this size, only 25 magazines will be provided for the 1969 year. Other magazines provided for the library's 50-magazine size rack will be paid for with local library funds. The librarian and board members have selected the 25 magazines.

In other business, the board authorized the purchase of a seven-volume set on American history to add to the reference collection.

Polski Hall, Caro, to around 275 persons. About 375 attended a reception in the evening at the hall.

The groom is a tool and die maker. After a week's trip to Niagara Falls, the Mikas are living in Detroit.
