

Cass City schools to vie for Federal job funds

Cass City Schools will attempt to share in a Federal program that funds special projects that provide jobs, it was decided Monday evening at the regular meeting of the school board at the high school.

The Economic Development Association provides up to $300,000 for projects in areas with unemployment of 6 per cent or more and gives preference to jobs where 75 per cent of the money is used for labor.

Supt. Donald Crouse suggested two projects which were approved by the board. The first is a road between the high school and the Campbell Elementary School. The second is a track on high school property.

The road is something that has been considered since the high school was built, but never seriously pursued because of lack of funds.

Under present plans the track would be for practice as the school and the village are considering a long-term commitment for the Cass City Park facilities.

Crouse was instructed to draw preliminary plans with the help of Lou LaPonsie, village superintendent, for submission.

The board's attitude is there is nothing to lose by trying for the money as the project is entirely Federally funded.

SALES AND BIDS

On the recommendation of Crouse, the board cancelled the agreement with its present supplier of milk and voted to buy milk from Meinhold Dairy of Bad Axe at a higher price. The reason for the switch was that the cartons of milk leaked from the former vendor.

The new agreement is for the remainder of this year and for next year. The Meinhold Dairy bid was .0921 and a bid by London's Farm Dairy which has a local delivery man was .0929. J.D. Tuckey suggested that it might be better to deal with the local vendor for more ease in handling complaints.

Crouse said that the cost to the district for the remaining weeks of school would be $72 more if the low bid were rejected.

The board moved to accept the low bid on a motion by Mrs. Geraldine Priesskorn.

Bids will be taken for the sale of used bus tires and appliances at the Intermediate home economics room.

Handling them will be Mrs. Priesskorn and Lynn Albee.

The board will also accept bids for cash rent of the undeveloped land owned by the district.

CHANGE RULING

Because of Federal law the board voted that pregnant employees can be either granted a leave of absence (without pay and with the understanding that the first job opening in the field will be theirs) or as sick leave.

If the person opts for sick leave the time lost is charged against the total amount of sick leave accrued. Teachers can build up to a maximum of 82 days sick leave and are allowed 12 a year.

If the person chooses to accept sick leave she must return four weeks after the baby is born or obtain a doctor's certificate saying that she is not well enough to work.

In other business the board transferred $48,000 to the building and site fund for the property to be purchased from Dr. and Mrs. Donahue. The purchase has been long delayed while property descriptions are clarified, Crouse said.

Karen Moylan and Alison Brown announced their resignations at the end of the school year.

Police nab pair in Hahn vandalism

Cass City Police, assisting Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies, apprehended two juveniles, age 12 and 13, in connection with widespread destruction caused when vandals entered the Edward Hahn residence at 6755 Elmwood Rd., Wednesday, March 5, and fired several rifle shots throughout the home.

The vandals, using rifles and ammunition found at the home, destroyed a refrigerator, a clothes dryer, several windows and did damage in every room of the house.

According to the police report, Hahn told officers he left the house around 8:30 a.m. and his wife left about an hour and a half later. When their daughter, Brenda, returned from school at 3:45 p.m., she discovered the destruction and summoned police.

The vandals destroyed a refrigerator when they opened it and fired a rifle shot through it, also damaging a clothes dryer in the next room. A radio and record player were reported smashed along with bullet holes in several windows of the home and a small barn near the house.

They also ripped a kitchen cabinet door from its hinges and scattered food and kitchen utensils in the room.

Police trailed the culprits to the Cass River where they crossed the ice and disappeared into a wooded area. Officers found scraps of food in the woods.

Police said three weapons, two .22 caliber rifles and a .12

Committee revives possibility of Gagetown school construction

Little progress was reported in efforts to formulate a building issue for voters in the Owendale-Gagetown School District during the Board of Education's regular monthly meeting held Monday night in Owendale.

The board learned that the district's Citizens' Study Committee has done an apparent about-face and urged the board to hold off approving any building issue until it is known whether or not any building can take place in Gagetown.

The committee also urged the board to revamp plans for construction at Owendale to cut room sizes and number of rooms in an effort to reduce the size of any bond issue placed before voters.

Supt. Glenn Sanford reported that the possibility of construction in Gagetown might exist if new rooms were tied to a separate septic system. He said no solid figures were available on how much such a move would cost.

He said any hope for Gagetown construction hinges on whether or not the Thumb District Health Department, which holds jurisdiction in Tuscola county, approves the land for a septic field.

The board approved a resolution directing Sanford to have a test hole dug for inspection by health department authorities at the Gagetown site. The results are expected to be discussed in a special board meeting scheduled March 24.

Meanwhile, at the Owendale site, the board learned final jurisdiction over using the existing sewage disposal system rests with Huron County Sanitarian Lou Kennedy and not with the Department of Natural Resources.

Representatives of the architectural firm of Wigen and Tinknell were scheduled to meet with Kennedy later this week for his ruling.

Also on the building front, it was learned that St. Agatha's parish is willing to sell its school currently used by the district at a cost of $58,000, not including whatever land would be needed to go with it.

In addition, the parish told the board it would have to provide its own heat to the building. Presently, St. Agatha's school is heated by the same system which heats the church.

Sanford urged the board to appoint a committee in the near future to study the proposal. No action was taken.

LAND OPTION

The board learned that a five-acre parcel of land which the district has an option to buy is presently available for sale. Sanford told the board representatives of the Gagetown Development Corporation, owners of the parcel located next to the elementary school, have offered to sell the parcel for $3,750.

He added they do not wish to renew the option which expires Saturday. While the district has no plans for the parcel, Sanford urged the district to buy it. No action was taken.

ATHLETIC FIELD LIGHTS

Once again, the board took no action on repairing the school's athletic field lights. It received a bid of $27,960 from Hugh Laundra Electric for re-lamping the field.

Trustee Fred Cooley expressed concern over how the repairs could be financed, in light of an already-tight school budget.

He suggested that the work could be contracted on condition that it be done only if voters approved any extra millage needed to finance the project.

Board President Ronald Good said he was not in favor of spending nearly $28,000 on the lights and suggested a cheaper alternative could be found.

"Those lights are only nine years old," he said. "Other schools have lights that last 20 or 30 years. I don't see why we have to spend so much money to get these working again."

Sanford was instructed to check with area contractors to see whether or not they would accept such a conditional job order.

BUDGET

Sanford presented the board with early figures for the district's 1975-76 budget and first indications show things will be tight.

The superintendent calculated that with a district valuation of $18 million and enrollment of 588, given inflation of 10 per cent, the district would have to look at a general fund budget of $679,000, an increase of $62,000 over this year's figure.

While emphasizing that these figures are extremely rough, he indicated this would mean a two-mill increase in operation, bringing the total to 26 mills.

In addition, he said the district may be looking at a debt levy of approximately 2.2 mills, based on changes in state aid formulas.

Categorical aids, such as driver education, Title I funding and transportation, should remain the same, he said.

County makes 'last offer' in FOP contract talks

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners approved what was called a "final offer" to members of the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) representing Sheriff's deputies, at its Tuesday meeting in Caro.

Reportedly, the board's offer involves an 18-month contract that calls for a 10 per cent pay increase for the year 1975 and a 3 1/2 per cent increase for the first six months of 1976.

The board offer also includes a $200 per person grant for purchase of pistols and hardware for deputies' uniforms, an increase of sick days, the addition of one paid holiday, Lincoln's birthday, and additional vacation time.

Under the board proposal, officers would be eligible for 15 paid days of vacation after eight years of service instead of the present 10 years.

Other extra benefits include a $50 clothing allowance, two hours pay at time-and-one-half for court duty on off-hours and additional paid time for funeral attendance.

According to Commr. Richard Dehmel, Caro, other fringe benefits would remain the same as in last year's contract.

Dehmel indicated the next move is up to the FOP. When asked what would happen if the union turned down the offer, Dehmel said the next move could be mediation.

He said the raises will actually end up costing closer to 11 per cent by the time extra unemployment compensation payments and vacation additions are considered.

At press time, there was no indication how the union would react to the offer.

COURTHOUSE EMPLOYEES

While settling on an offer for the FOP, the board did not take action regarding courthouse employee negotiations. A mediation meeting scheduled for Tuesday was cancelled.

Crisis averted: MSU takes Tuscola 'winged warriors'

At least one crisis facing Tuscola county was averted last week when Michigan State University agreed to take over custody of 33 fighting cocks seized in a raid near Millington Feb. 9.

The feathered fighters finally flew the coop Wednesday, March 5, and have taken over quarters in the Poultry Science Research department at Michigan State University.

The transfer was handled through State Police at the Flint Post who sorted through a list of potential takers. Presumably, the winged warriors will be studied by researchers at the university to find out more about why they live the rugged life they live.

Mrs. Elsie Hicks, Tuscola County Clerk, said a bill for keeping the birds was submitted to the county Board of Commissioners Thursday. While the exact amount was not specified, it should total $689.25, based on a board and room bill of $24.75 per day.

"I'm glad my chickens have a new home," Mrs. Hicks said affectionately.

Lt. Cliff Adcock, Flint State Police Post Commander, said the birds originally came to roost in Genesee county because Tuscola county lacked facilities to house the chickens.

"The law requires that in cases like this, the birds be turned over to the poundmaster of the county,"

Adcock explained. "Since Tuscola county didn't have a poundmaster, Genesee county agreed to take them."

Adcock said during their stay, the birds proved to him that they were indeed fighters.

"The day after we received them, two of them got loose in the garage over here and I guess they'd been pecking away at each other all night," he said. "They could hardly stand up the next morning, but they were still going at it."

He said the birds aren't trained to fight—it's born with them.

"They tell me they're fighting like that almost from the time they come out of the shell," he said.

He said among the list of potential takers was one especially eager individual. Further investigation, however, showed he was one of the 116 persons arrested for frequenting the Feb. 9 cock-fight.

"We didn't hardly think it was right to turn them over to him," Adcock said.

It's safe to assume the fighting careers of cantankerous cocks is over. While it's not known what their future holds, there is no truth to the rumor that Colonel Sanders has been offered the chickens.

There's also no truth that many MSU dormitories will be featuring chicken this week.

"If It Fitz . . ." Nothing funny about guns

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Melissa leaped into my lap, crushing the newspaper in which I was reading the most obscene ad ever written. And I thought how glad I was that she is only 2 years old and does not want me to explain the world to her.

The ad was not for a dirty movie or a massage parlor. It was for Bell helicopters. It was selling a good way to kill someone else before they kill you.

Good God. What can a guy do? I grabbed Melissa and squeezed her and nuzzled that great spot just below and behind her ear. She giggled and kicked and ripped my paper some more and I didn't care.

The ad headline said: "Enemy tank attack! You can stop it fast with the world's most effective anti-tank system. Bell's Armed helicopter — the Cobra."

So now the hucksters are merchandising death with the same glibness used to erase bad breath and make your teeth sparkle.

Go write a funny column. When I first glanced at the ad, I thought it was selling war toys. Just a small obscenity. But this was the real thing. Bell builds these helicopters for just one purpose — to kill people and destroy property.

The ad bragged that the helicopters will furnish "heavy fire against hard targets."

Hard targets? How hard is a young man's skull? How hard, O Lord, is that great spot just below and behind a child's ear?

But don't you worry. The helicopter ad is for foreign publications only, such as the magazine "Modern Asia." The hard targets are all "over there." There are no helicopters needed to combat a tank invasion of Orange, New Jersey.

Everything is cool in the good old USA. We aren't getting bombed and we aren't bombing anybody. Oh sure, our industries make the military hardware and our State Department arranges sales to warring nations. Our men even teach their men how to shoot straight. But what the heck . . .

A guy has to make a buck, doesn't he? The ammunition industry feeds a lot of sweet American faces. If we don't sell 'em guns, somebody else will. And you heard what Kissinger said — if Cambodia falls, there goes your neighborhood.

It is easy for me to be against all guns, wherever for whatever. I'm against fists and loud arguments. I wouldn't buy my kid brass knuckles. I don't want my tax money buying bombs for a Jew to drop on an Arab. Or vice versa.

It's that simple. Also simplistic, I know. So shoot me. You've probably got a gun handy. Not because you want to hurt anyone, but because you belong to the National Rifle Association, the world's best-regulated militia, with the most arms to bear.

I'll bet there are some Bell helicopter executives and some Pentagon brass who favor gun control to keep our streets safe. Think about it. Sob.

It is not so much that I am Percy Humanitarian. I am not nearly as interested in unloading foreign guns as I am in preserving my own skin, which pricks easily. And I feel a lot safer when there are no guns around — anywhere.

Most selfishly, I worry about the most innocent skin of all. Melissa's skin.

My Melissa, your Melissa, and their Melissa.

HIS DAUGHTER'S marriage plans prove nothing but trouble for the "Father of the Bride", in the Cass City All-School play production scheduled March 20 and 21, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Shown in rehearsal are (from the left) Ann Whittaker, Marie Hobart, Bruce Tuckey, Joel Palmateer, Tom Sherry and Randy Bacon. Producer is Ms. Nancy Wichar.

Fire damages home Monday

A fire believed to have started in an upstairs mattress did approximately $1,500 damage to the Dwaine Peters home at 4323 Woodland St., Monday night.

Elkland Township Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said damage was confined to the upstairs portion of the home and apparently was started with matches. He said smoke heavily damaged the family's clothing and carpeting.

Firemen responded to the alarm at 7:20 p.m., and were at the scene about an hour. No one was injured.

Pays fine

Rodger Pugh, Deford, was found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor. He paid a $100 fine and $50 in costs.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

A couple of years ago after returning from a plane trip I observed that there were probably plenty of persons like me who would rather pay less and do without pheasant under glass or a champagne cocktail while in flight.

Just get me there and back safely and in reasonable comfort, I wrote then, and I'll be satisfied. I still feel that way.

April 1 the cost of taking a scheduled carrier such as Pan Am, TWA or others will cost $316 economy class, one way, from New York to London.

Now a guy has come along with a plan that offers the same trip for $125. No pheasant under glass. . . you can brown bag it. No reservations. Just line up for tickets and when the plane is full, take off.

That sounds like the answer, but wait a minute. It's the answer for the casual, lots of time traveler. A businessman on a schedule or Jane Doe on the way to a funeral needs to know that a seat is available. Taking tomorrow's plane won't do.

That's why Civil Aeronautics Board requires regular flights by airlines. Regulations are strict.

It's hardly fair to expect the financially hard pressed airlines to provide regular schedules available for our convenience and then be shut out by price cutters when we can afford to fly at leisure.

The fellow who proposes the $125 flights is now in the charter business. . . and very successfully. His charters out of Windsor have drawn plenty of customers from American firms.

When you always fly with a full passenger load the cost goes down, way down.

You can see the chaos if scheduled airlines ran on the same basis. The airlines deserve more money for providing the service and should have some price protection.

While acknowledging this, it still remains a mystery to me why the big-wigs in the airlines can't see the hand writing on the wall.

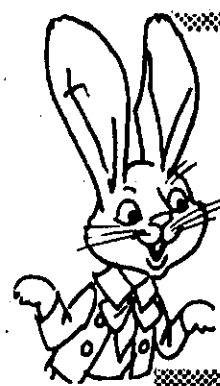

On at least some of the flights they should be able to cut the frills. Furnish just transportation and charge for just transportation.

It used to be that taking a plane was an ego trip for many Americans. Stewardesses and champagne cocktails were part of the "living it up" scene.

For most it's not that way anymore. Riding a plane is about the same as riding a train used to be.

The airlines shouldn't expect to continue to try and make it more than it is. And then charge extra for it.

(And anyone else he can

I tell myself that it's not realistic to be surprised when the weather turns lousy in March like it did last week end. I know it will happen. . . yet everytime it does I get the feeling that the snow is out of season and it should be Christmas coming, not Easter.

Things are getting worse in the city if one man's experience means anything. Laurence G. Atkinson, of Caro, who purchased the car wash on West Main recently, also owned four in the Detroit ghetto.

Atkinson said that he owned them since 1968 without trouble until about a year ago when residents started to rip them off. The vandalism increased so much that he has sold three of the units, he reports.

While he was talking I couldn't help but think that the record here in Cass City isn't all that enviable. When the wash was under absentee ownership it was ripped off enough so that it was necessary to call the police and required extensive remodeling by the new owner.

I keep getting vibes everytime it thaws from property owners along West Main Street who maintain that the new highway is higher than the sidewalks and has changed the water flow.

When the spring thaw really hits, my informant claims, the village council will have a delegation crowding the council chambers demanding action.

Anyway you describe it, progress has been slow. A month ago the hot topic on the Cass City School Board agenda was revamping the football field.

At that time a proposal was presented in secret by the council and read in secret by the board.

At Monday's meeting, nothing. I queried the board about it and was told that "recommendations" had been made to the village council and no further action taken.

Stalemate, I said. No, said board members, "in progress". Try as I might I can see no reason why the entire transaction can't be aired in public so that the people paying the bill knows what's going on . . . or isn't.

Okay, so you know that the price of oil is on the rise. But $10,000 for a gallon of oil? That's no misprint. I said $10,000.

That's what a gallon of the stuff used in watches is worth today, Keith McConkey says.

McConkey also said that over oiling a watch is worse than giving it no oil at all.

At those prices, that's a danger? He's got to be kidding.

If you processed all these crops, what would you call yourself?

CORN
BEANS

The Michigan Bean, Wheat and Corn Company?

Hardly. Because another important facet of Michigan Bean is the fertilizer, chemicals and seeds we sell to grow those crops. We sponsor F.F.A. programs and scientific research projects. We have divisions who manufacture farm buildings, machinery and equipment. We package and distribute dry beans for sale in super markets across the nation. We're totally involved in the business of agriculture and the scope of that involvement is world wide. So, by using the name of our internationally known parent company, "Wickes", and accurately defining the business we're in, "Agriculture", it's obvious we should call ourselves Wickes Agriculture—that's the new name for Michigan Bean.

Intermediate students study small engine repair

Put 20 students in grades five through eight together with small engines and a set of tools and what have you got? Budding, enthusiastic mechanics.

At least that's how Dick Roth sees it.

Roth has been teaching the fundamentals of small engine repairs to 20 Cass City Intermediate School students each Tuesday afternoon for the past six weeks. The class is strictly a voluntary, after school activity and, as Roth sees it, the response has been great.

"Anything that will keep kids after school has got to be pretty interesting," Roth said, taking a break while he watched his students tear down, repair and rebuild a series of motorcycle, lawn mower, and garden tractor engines.

Roth, who teaches industrial education at Cass City Intermediate, said he got the idea to run the voluntary class because of interest shown in it by some of his students. "I was pleasantly surprised with the turnout," he said. "We had 20 turn out the first time and they kept coming every time."

Roth has worked with two-stroke and four-stroke engines in the class, and has stressed the fundamentals of how the engines operate. Each student has worked on a project of his own, usually a discarded engine in their garages or a balky lawn mower engine that hasn't run in years.

Most of the projects turned out successfully, Roth said. And, even if they don't, the young mechanic has learned something in the process.

Roth supplies his own tools for the course and has had instructional help from Chuck Nemeth and Dave Asher, who both took time from their jobs to talk with the class on small engine theory.

"Most of these kids knew very little about small engine operation when they started," Roth said. "But they've really caught on fast during the time we've spent together."

Fundamentals such as how a two-stroke and a four-stroke engine operate, how to use tools properly and basic trouble shooting were all covered in the course.

Roth, himself, comes equipped to teach the class. He said he grew up on a farm near Owendale and learned by doing much of the time. Last year, he attended a Johnson Outboard Motor school and became qualified to repair these engines.

Student enthusiasm did not falter during the six weeks, Roth said. His young mechanics took on the challenge of a stubborn motorcycle with the same gusto the last day of class as they did the first.

Students from third grade through eighth grade participated in the course.

Roth said he would like to operate another such course in the spring and concentrate on motorcycle engines at that time.

"I think it's a practical kind of course," Roth said. "There's a lot more contact with mechanical things like engines than there is with the things you learn in woodshop."

Roth said he'd like to get another class started sometime in May. Eventually, he'd also like to see small engine repair become part of the curriculum at the Intermediate School, although he admits it's a little too soon to hope for that.

For now, he's satisfied to provide interested students with the opportunity to learn small engine repair after school—a chance many might not have if it hadn't been for Dick Roth.

For Roth's part, he's happy to help.

"I get as big a kick out of it as the kids do," he said.

So Dad, if your sixth grader manages to diagnose the problem the next time the lawn mower won't start or the car keeps stalling, you'd better pay attention.

Chances are good, he knows what he's talking about if he's been through Dick Roth's class.

INSTRUCTOR DICK ROTH shows sixth-grader Jack Edwards the finer points of motorcycle engine repair.

Board of Review sessions quiet

In spite of a 24.9 per cent average increase in farmland valuations in Elkland township, only scattered protests were reported this week by the township Board of Review held last Monday and Tuesday.

"Most of them seem to be accepting it," Supervisor Edwin Karr said. "I think out of them know what the market values are today and I think they're just accepting it."

Karr said Equalization Department figures called for Elkland township to come up with an additional $939,700 in valuation and explained the val increase as assessed mounted to around $920,000. Through mid-afternoon Monday, only three persons came in to discuss assessments, with none filing for a formal reassessment. One letter from a Detroit-area property owner was also received.

"A lot of them come in just find out where they stand," Ian Hartwick, board member, said. "And each year, we get a few who always come in anyway."

The lack of response to farmland increases at the Board of Review sessions contrasted sharply with the flood of many landowners when the increases were first announced. At that time, irate farmland owners jammed a special session of the County

Township Association held at the Courthouse in Caro to protest the new figures.

Since then, attempts have been made in the legislature to place a freeze on assessments at their 1974 level, but little hope is held that the move will be successful.

Karr indicated another approach might be made by requesting that land be taxed at 45 per cent of its market value instead of 50 per cent, but added this, too, does not have massive support.

"In a year when the state needs all the money it can get, I don't look for much coming out of it," Karr said.

In Novesta township, review board members indicated activity was light Monday with seven persons registering complaints about assessments. They indicated the most significant protest came over one assessment in Deford which the new property owner claimed was nearly 100 per cent too high.

Board members told the owner a ruling would be forthcoming soon.

"Those who do come in aren't coming to congratulate us," one Novesta board member said, "although we did have one person tell us we came within $100 of what he figured his parcel was worth."

Other area review boards reported similar light activity.

Meals on Wheels begins in Cass City

A "meals on wheels" program began in Cass City Monday, thanks to a federal grant funneled through the Human Development Commission.

According to Dick Kennedy, project consultant, the meals will be provided to five needy housebound persons 60 years of age and older, and are prepared at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Kennedy explained those who need the meals most will be served Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, with others served Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Kennedy said the program has begun on a low-key basis to see how it will work. The program is financed by a $10,000 grant designed to be spread over Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties.

He said the Cass City program is the first of its kind in the county. A second feeding effort was focused in the Mayville area, but ran into problems, Kennedy said.

The Cass City "meals on wheels" should not be confused with a senior citizens' feeding program under way in Caro, he said, which is also financed through HDC.

Kennedy said when the program gets into full operation, 15 meals will be provided per county per day.

In Cass City, the meals are prepared in the hospital kitchen and are delivered with volunteer drivers. Drivers are reimbursed at a rate of 12 cents per mile, Kennedy said.

He said persons interested in volunteering as drivers should contact the Human Development Commission in Caro at 673-4122.

Kennedy said eligible persons in Cass City were selected through names supplied through area churches.

GETTING THIS garden tractor engine purring again should be no trouble for Ray Kloc, sixth-grader.

Charge Ugly man with assault

A 34-year-old Ugly man was reported still in custody at the Huron County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond, charged with felonious assault in connection with an incident at his home Tuesday night, March 4.

Frank A. Midyett was arrested at his home on Nugent Road and charged with threatening his wife and two small children with a loaded .22-caliber rifle.

Midyett was arrested by Sgt. Thomas Peters of the Bad Axe State Police Post, accompanied by Huron County Sheriff Richard V. Stokan and trooper Mark Hazelroth.

The officers arrested Midyett after they were summoned by his wife, who reportedly faked a telephone call to relatives while he held the gun on her.

Mrs. Midyett told officers her husband had been drinking and fought with her. She said he had threatened to shoot her and their two-year-old daughter and one-year-old son.

Sgt. Peters told the Chronicle he and the two other officers approached the home and spotted Midyett seated at the kitchen table with the rifle in his hands.

He said Mrs. Midyett saw the officers approaching and distracted her husband's attention. At that point, Peters said, he dove across the table and wrestled the gun away from Midyett, who offered no resistance after he was arrested.

"It all happened so fast that I really didn't have time to think much about it," he said. Peters confirmed that the weapon was loaded at the time of Midyett's arrest.

Midyett was arraigned on the felonious assault warrant Wednesday, March 5, before District Court Judge John T. Schubel. He demanded preliminary examination on the charge and was remanded to the county jail.

Examination date was set for March 20.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

The big payoff

By Jim Ketchum

Leopards, the old saying goes, never change their spots, and apparently former presidential advisors don't either.

Witness H.R. Haldeman, wily as ever, who not only plans to get publicity mileage, but a little cash out of the aftermath of Watergate. Not content to simply listen to tape recordings of the crime of the century, now the irrepressible Haldeman is making the television network scene with (are you ready) home movies of Richard Nixon.

Armed with a trusty Super 8 movie camera, Haldeman shot the footage of Nixon at home and abroad, according to published accounts.

I suppose this alone isn't so bad. What does bother me, however, is that Haldeman plans to make a cool $25,000 for showing them and for being interviewed by Mike Wallace for CBS.

Paying for news stories is considered one of the cardinal no-nos of this business. Buying an opinion renders it about as valuable as Spiro Agnew's famous "I am not a crook" speech, made a week before he resigned a convicted felon.

It's interesting that Haldeman of all people, would be willing to go on TV with his one-man show about those good old days at the White House. Wasn't it H.R. and crew who attempted to keep the press at bay all those years?

And if memory serves me correctly, didn't H.R. recently receive a prison sentence for some kind of cover-up?

Rival network news directors have raised cries of anguish over CBS's move. "We would not pay Haldeman or anyone else for a news interview," Bill Sheehan, ABC News president, formerly of WJR radio, said.

"I dislike the idea," NBC's Richard Wald said, adding however, that he didn't rule it out.

Personally, I'm not sure my stomach is ready for an evening of H.R. Haldeman reminiscing about the good old days. By the time you sorted out what to believe from the garbage, you could put the truth in the space of an "I Smell Clean" soap commercial.

Maybe Haldeman demanded the fee after he found "The Mike Douglas Show" booked solid with other Watergate crooks. Apparently he couldn't wait until the rest of the crowd had its day on the tube.

With the talk shows taken, Haldeman could have tried to put together a one-man song and dance show featuring that new dance step "the San Clemente Shuffle" or the "John Dean Dip".

"Sorry, we can't use you," a top-brass CBS executive may have told him. "But would you settle for a spot with Mike Wallace?"

"Maybe," H.R. could have replied. "But can I throw in my home movies of Dick and the boys at work and play? That should be worth $40,000 or so."

"We'll give you $20,000," a top-brass CBS executive may have said.

"Deal. Now take off that silly straw hat and striped coat before you go to makeup. Those white pants will have to go too. The crease is gone. By the way, where did you get those clothes anyway?"

"Sorry, that's filed under executive privilege. I cannot reveal the source because I have to protect the confidentiality of tailors."

"I don't blame you," the executive replied. "I wouldn't either."

Everything comes so quickly to those who refuse to wait.

1975 Cass City graduates face tight job market

Faced with one of the bleakest economic outlooks in years, 1975 graduates of Cass City High School will find themselves in a highly competitive job market demanding skills as well as education.

That's the assessment of guidance counselors Curtis Cleland and Wayne Dillon and it's what they are telling seniors as winter melts into spring and graduation looms on the horizon.

"Basically, we're telling them to do what they want to do, but do it well and you'll find a job someplace," Dillon said. "We're also telling them not to be afraid to change their minds on a career."

Both stress that students must begin thinking about a career early in their high school careers—as early as freshmen and sophomores.

The effects of the nation's soft economy are being reflected to a degree in this year's senior class.

According to statistics compiled by Cleland and Dillon, 32 students say they want a four-year college program, while 31 said they want to study at a junior college. Fifty others expressed no definite plans other than seeking a job or getting married. These figures have remained fairly constant over the last several years.

The big change is among students interested in military service.

"This year, we had 16 students, five girls and 11 boys, indicate they wanted to go into the service," Cleland said. "This is a marked upswing from the days when we had to restrict the movement of recruiters in the school during the Vietnam War."

Cleland said military service has become popular for several reasons, aside from the fact that no American in uniform is being shot at anymore.

"For one thing, it's a hedge against unemployment," he explained. "They know a job is there."

"Another reason is that the opportunities for education are almost unlimited. And it's all free. They get paid while they learn, they travel and afterward they can go on to complete their career training with a large hand from Uncle Sam."

Cleland added that today's enlistee gets a signed guarantee of work in his area of preference. If the opening isn't available, he waits until it is.

"And to top it off, they get to see a little of the world in the process," Cleland added.

He explained the stigma of the military has largely been erased from the minds of most students as the Vietnam War fades into history. In fact, popularity of the military among girls has increased to a point that all openings for women have been filled through September of next year, Dillon said. "They aren't taking just any run-of-the-mill flunkie anymore," Dillon said. "They want a technologist with a high academic record that could be developed into a skill. A high school diploma is almost always needed to get in."

CAREER OUTLOOK

At the local level, the job picture is not promising. Dillon explained several graduates of the class of 1974 who went to work at local plants now find themselves laid off, meaning 1975 graduates will find the pickings slim.

The class of 1975 generally is going to have a difficult time finding a job," Cleland said.

"My advice would be to start looking now. Pull as many strings as you can, because it really isn't what you know, it's who you know that counts."

"Once you get a job, keep it," he continued. "Once the job is yours, be the kind of employee your boss can't afford to lose."

While this may sound like a football pep talk, both say, unfortunately, that it's true.

Where are the opportunities for graduates? Largely in the service areas, the counselors say. Cosmetology and nursing appear to be two bright spots on the gloomy economic horizon presently.

"I would say a career in the health field is probably the best area to look for opportunities at the present time," Cleland said. "It's traditionally the last area to be affected when the economy gets bad. It's affected least because when people can't afford anything else, they manage to pay their doctor."

ills."

Surprisingly, he indicated teaching may be in for a resurgence in the future, but for now at least, it's still a depressed career.

Both agree that areas for liberal arts majors in college have fallen off sharply. About the only students still interested in this path of study are those interested in law careers.

Cleland said a common myth among seniors is that jobs in the field of conservation work are plentiful when just the opposite is true.

"Out of three jobs available recently with the state of Michigan in conservation, they received 3,000 applications," he said.

Careers in agriculture are also showing a downward trend, with the exception of agricultural technology, they added.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR WOMEN

Both Cleland and Dillon agree career opportunities for women in the class of 1975 are far greater than just a few years ago and in some areas are greater today than for men.

They say management positions are opening to women, partly through adoption of anti-discrimination quotas in many industries. Engineering is another area opening to women.

"If you're a female engineer, your chances of getting a job are very good," Dillon said.

He said this is not really surprising since 75 per cent of those high school students who go on to college are women. Women also tend to carry higher grade point averages in high school.

Generally, both Cleland and Dillon see today's Cass City High School graduate as a better prepared student than his counterpart of five to 10 years ago, primarily because of a better teaching staff.

"I'm not just saying that to blow our own horns," Cleland said. "We have a relatively small turnover of teachers. And they're doing a better job."

He added that the advent of the co-op program that places high school students in actual work situations helps prepare the students for the real world after graduation.

Cancer Society holds March 4 meeting

The 1975 Crusade Kick Off for the Tuscola County Unit American Cancer Society was held Tuesday evening, March 4, at the Catholic church in Vassar.

Tom Wade spoke the invocation preceding the potluck supper.

Harvey Wilson, president of the Unit, welcomed all those present and introduced Mrs. Robert Blake, County Crusade Chairman.

It was pointed out that the crusade has a two-fold purpose: first to educate the public to the seven warning signals of cancer and secondly, to receive donations to use in the work of the society.

Don Kochalka, special events chairman, announced the Cancer Bowl Down will take place March 9-22. All alleys in the county are co-operating, according to Kochalka.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Cheek represented the Bar Association and will again be in charge of the "Bar Stickers" to help fight cancer.

Ruth Hoffman, Field Representative, announced that the Michigan Division Kick-Off meeting will be held in Lansing March 22. J.P. McCarthy and Lorne Greene are among those expected to be there.

A movie "Michael and Me" was shown.

Dr. Fred Emiling answered questions from the floor. Dr. Emiling is the Unit's new medical director.

Mrs. Blake handed out material to workers. More volunteers are needed for the April crusade.

Start with Lasso® for an effective weed control program in corn.

Tailor grass and broadleaf control to your needs with a labeled Lasso tank mix.

Lasso plus atrazine tank mix, applied preemergence, controls annual grasses and other weeds before they come up. Including giant, yellow and green foxtail, fall panicum, pigweed, common ragweed, lambsquarters and many more. It even reduces competition from buttonweed.

And you minimize carryover possibilities. Because Lasso by itself leaves no carryover, and you use less atrazine in the tank mix.

Lasso plus Bladex® tank mix leaves no carryover to limit your rotation options. It controls fall panicum, giant and many other foxtails, smartweed, pigweed, common ragweed, lambsquarters and other grasses plus broadleaves. It also reduces competition from buttonweed and other hard-to-control weeds.

Your neighbor says Assess points over 55 m.p.h.

The Michigan Legislature has begun consideration of a bill that would assess drivers penalty points on their licenses for exceeding the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit. Presently, drivers ticketed for driving over 55 but under the old speed limit are fined but not assessed points on their driving records.

Mrs. Nicky Huizar of Gage-town thinks this is wrong. "I think points should be assessed for driving over 55," she says. "They assess points for other violations. I think speeding is speeding, no matter how fast it is."

She maintains the double standard involved isn't fair. "If you get caught doing 30 in a 25 zone, you get a ticket," she says. "Well, it's the same thing here."

Mrs. Huizar was born in Roseville, but has lived in the Cass City area most of her life. Her husband is an employee of Evans Products.

Akron man pleads guilty Thursday

An Akron man entered a guilty plea to larceny in a building when he appeared in Tuscola County Circuit Court Thursday before Judge Norman Baguley.

Karl J. Humpert, 17, was arraigned on charges of breaking and entering and larceny in a tavern in Akron Jan. 22. He entered the guilty plea to larceny of a television set, which was accepted by the court.

Humpert's personal recognition bond was continued and sentencing was set for April 7. Judge Baguley took under advisement a motion to dismiss the breaking and entering count.

An attorney was appointed to serve as counsel for Clarence Davee, 20, Argyle, charged with a probation violation.

Davee is charged with attempting to aid and abet the escape of a prisoner at the Tuscola County Jail by smuggling back-saw blades inside the facility.

BETTER HEALTH

Choose nursing home wisely

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

Since we can no longer offer our oldsters a rocking chair by the kitchen stove, string beans to top and tail, a workshop in the basement, and grandchildren to read to at bedtime, we have produced institutions for the care of the elderly; and we have done so on a scale so vast that we refer to the whole, miserable undertaking as the Nursing Home Industry.

And now that government money in large amounts has been appropriated to finance much of the care in nursing homes, there has inevitably been sharp dealing to get in on the take. Scandals have erupted, congressional investigations multiply, headlines scream, anchor men inveigh. But it has been more than difficult to be sure of what is being done for the inmates of those institutions.

Such horrifying accounts have been given about the neglect and abuse of nursing home inmates that it is difficult to believe that any nursing homes are what they were intended to be. Of course, not all nursing homes are as bad as some of those exposed in news stories. There are institutions that are well run, offer excellent care and are staffed by conscientious, kind and professionally qualified men and women.

The question is how to go about looking for such institutions when you need one for yourself or someone in your family, and how to be sure that the one you find is the right one.

Facilities for the elderly range all the way from essentially unsupervised, senior-citizen apartment complexes, with limited facilities or none at all for the care of the feeble or ill, to so-called extended-care institutions which are prepared to provide skilled nursing care for the chronically ill.

In between are nursing homes which accept patients with varying degrees of disability and undertake to provide at least a tolerable level of existence for them.

Plan Soil and Water Contest

Michigan Soil Conservation Districts Inc., and the Michigan State Grange are sponsoring a Youth Soil and Water Contest again this year. Charles Wells, Youth Chairman of the Tuscola Soil Conservation District is urging all students in grades three through eight to enter the contest.

Students will be eligible as follows: Class I, 3rd and 4th graders, Class II, 5th and 6th graders and Class III, 7th and 8th graders. Scrapbooks will be judged at the District level and two scrapbooks in each class will be submitted by each District for state-wide judging.

Rules are as follows: 1. The scrapbooks must be turned into the Tuscola Soil Conservation District Office, 852 S. Hooper St. in Caro by June 1. 2. Scrapbooks may be prepared on any conservation subject. All pictures, drawings, charts and graphs must have appropriate explanations and/or captions. 3. Photos taken by participants will be encouraged. 4. Participant's name, age, full mailing address and contest class either Class I (3rd and 4th grade), Class II (5th and 6th grade) or Class III (7th and 8th grade) must appear plainly on the cover or cover page of the scrapbook.

A plaque will be awarded to the three best scrapbooks in each class at the state level. The Tuscola Soil Conservation District is sponsoring the contest at the local level, according to Youth Chairman Wells. For further information contact the TSCD office at 852 S. Hooper St., Caro.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

The life work of most people consists in making a living—and it's surprising just how few experts there are.

Mrs. Asher, 76, dies Saturday

Mrs. Elsie L. Asher, 76, a lifelong resident of the Cass City area, died Saturday at Hills and Dales General Hospital following a long illness. She was born Sept. 14, 1898, in Ellington township, daughter of the late James and Ella Shannon Britton.

She married Stanley Asher, May 29, 1919, in Caro. Following their marriage, they made their home on a farm in Elmwood township, and moved to Cass City in 1926. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary May 29, 1969.

Mrs. Asher was a teacher at the Cedar Run School for several years. She is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Howard (Glenna) Fox of Cassopolis; one brother, George Britton of Kingston; six grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. One son, Harold, one sister and one brother preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted from Little's Funeral Home Tuesday with Rev. Melvin Vender, Pastor Emeritus of the First Presbyterian church of Cass City, officiating.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Legend has it that, long ago, the dogwood came into bloom on Calvary and that, afterwards, a cross was implanted into the flower itself, to remain for all time. You can see it if you look closely, rust brown against the white of each individual blossom.

Many of us carry crosses, faint like the dogwood's emblem but with us, nevertheless. Somehow, in this Lenten season, we become particularly conscious of them and of our need for help—a certain kind of help, that can be found only through the things we learn in Church.

The Church doesn't pretend to banish our cares and woes. But, its teachings realistically consider the experiences of life itself. No matter what our personal cross may be, we seem able to bear its burden with more strength.

Lent is a wonderful time in which to begin making church-going a regular part of your life—if you haven't already.

ACTIVE HOMES CORPORATION

RECEIVES NEW STATE APPROVAL
PLANS FURTHER EXPANSION

Active Homes Corporation is a Division of Active Tool & Manufacturing Co., Inc., which is a supplier of major stampings to the Big Four automobile companies, General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. The same techniques for producing major body stampings for passenger automobiles with acceptable quality control tolerances have been applied to the Jigs, Fixtures and Automation used in the production of all major components of modular units and panels at Active Homes Corporation.

Active Homes Corporation is presently completing a second modular production line, that has the capability of building 14' wide modules and 12' wide modules scheduled consecutively on the same line. The capability to build floor plans with a 14' wide module allows the flexibility to build most of the floor plans which a Builder of conventional built homes would want to use, as the home then becomes 28' wide and from 40' to 60' long, whatever is required. Also, a combination of a 12' wide module along with a 14' wide module can be accomplished, making a 26' wide home.

Homes can also be built to a Builder's design if there are any quantities involved. In all cases, state approval of the plans would be required, which would take six to eight weeks to obtain. The requirement for state approval of all manufactured homes went into effect in the State of Michigan on November 6, 1974, and in the State of Ohio on July 1, 1975.

The full capacity of one modular production line on a one shift basis is four (4) complete homes, or eight (8) homes per shift from the two lines. These homes are ready to ship as they come off the production line on their own trailers, as they are placed on the shipping trailers at the beginning of the final assembly line, which is 1,050 feet long, allowing ample stations to produce a quality product.

To complement the modular lines, Active Homes Corporation has a panel line, which is for the purpose of building walls for family rooms and garages for attachment to the home. Detached single and double car garages are also built. The panel line is capable of producing open wall or closed wall assemblies. As to capacity, garages and family rooms can be built to the same schedule as the modular home lines. A new panel line for building complete homes will be installed in 1975 in a new building with approximately 32,000 Square Feet of production and storage area.

For the purpose of any designs where the roof pitch on a home is different than 3 1/2' - 12' or 4 1/2' - 12' which is factory applied on the module, Active can supply any truss configurations up to 60' in length and ship them loose, along with the material for the roof, i.e., plywood, shingles, etc.

The Active modular home is state approved in Michigan, Approval No. P-74-105 and in Ohio, Approval No. BB-901-40. State approval can only be obtained by having all building systems checked out by the state; electrical, plumbing, construction, along with an on-site inspection by the State authorities of the production facility, the quality of materials used, the actual operations, the quality control exercised and approval of the finished product.

The granting of State Approval Labels to the Active Home by the Michigan Department of Labor, Construction Code Commission, Department of Licensing and Regulation makes it possible to ship the approved unit into any area in Michigan and Ohio, regardless of the conventional building code being used in that community.

The Cass City Chronicle

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City School district taxpayers will be asked only to renew a five-mill levy for operating the school at the special election slated April 18, it was decided Monday evening by the Cass City Board of Education. The tax will be for three years.

Most interest in village elections Monday centered around a hotly-contested race at Gagetown where Incumbent President James England retained his seat by a narrow 80-77 margin over Elery Sontag.

Cass City went through the motions in an unopposed election. Gary D. Jones, Gary Christner, Dr. D.E. Rawson and Arthur Holmberg were elected trustees.

The members of the committee that organized the drive for funds to restore athletics and other extra curricular activities at the school reported to the Cass City School Board Monday that $1,700 is needed to complete the payment pledged to the school. Lambert Althaver told the board that the commitment would be honored.

Most area township supervisors feel that the new law requiring assessors to attend school a night a week for 18 months or two nights a week for nine months is another step in the continuing pressure to move assessing to the county level.

TEN YEARS AGO

The majority of votes cast in Monday's Cass City Village election went to the two newly elected trustees, Mrs. Gladys Albee and Glen "Scotty" McCullough.

Cass City High School announced this week its valedictorian and salutatorian for 1965. Top scholastic rank this year was earned by Robert Milligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Milligan of Cass City. Salutatorian is Ruth Ann Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Freeman of Cass City.

Sixty-one persons cast ballots in the Gagetown village election Monday with village president Roy LaFave and Clerk-Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Beachy taking 100 per cent of the ballots cast.

Competitive programs have scouting at a low ebb in Cass City. Scoutmaster Jim Jezewski charged Tuesday noon before the Cass City Rotary Club at the New Gordon Hotel.

"Put the boy together right and the world will come out all right, too," Bob Timberlake, University of Michigan All-American, admonished fathers attending a Presbyterian Church "Father and Son" banquet Monday night at the church.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The new grade school, being built by the St. Agatha Catholic Church in Gagetown, is nearing completion. The 60 by 100 foot modern school building will replace the old three-story structure which is one of the oldest parochial schools in this area.

Kenneth Brown received an excellent rating for his song "Macushla" during his performance at the vocal solo and ensemble festival held at Mt. Morris Saturday afternoon.

Beginning Monday, March 13, normal passenger train schedules will be resumed on the Grand Trunk railroad, announces Walt Miller at the Cass City depot.

Irving J. Parsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving J. Parsch, has been pledged to the Sigma Chi fraternity at Albion College.

Ernest L. Schwaderer returned home last week from his trip to Heidelberg, Germany, where he visited his daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Wood and family for a few weeks.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Rev. George D. Bugbee of Davison has been appointed pastor of the Church of the Nazarene at Cass City to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. Ralph Smith of Decker.

No excitement prevailed at the village election in Cass City Monday when Eugene B. Schwaderer was named president. Only 18 citizens voted.

The high school juniors have definitely scheduled their presentation of "You Can't Take It With You" for March 28 and 29 in the school auditorium.

Roy LaFave was nominated as supervisor and Harlan Hobart was nominated for clerk in Elmwood township during Saturday's meeting. "Young Tom Edison", starring Mickey Rooney was playing at the Cass Theatre.

Provincial

workers vote to join union

Workers at Provincial House, Cass City, voted in favor of joining the Utility Workers Union of America (UFWA) by better than a 4-1 margin in an election held Friday at the facility.

Final tabulations showed workers approved union affiliation by a 52-17 margin. Balloting was supervised by representatives of the National Labor Relations Board, with local representatives from both workers and Provincial House management acting as observers.

The move toward union representation came in the wake of a long-standing dispute involving a worker fired last fall for what Provincial House management claimed was a poor work record.

Union sources charged the firing came because of the worker's organizing activities.

In the dispute, Jim Doerr of Cass City alleges the firing was not due to poor work habits and demands reinstatement with full back pay.

Tom Wojtala, national representative for the Utility Workers union, said Monday Doerr's case is still pending before the NLRB with a decision expected any time.

Commenting on the election, Wojtala said the Cass City Provincial House is the first such facility in the corporation's chain of extended care homes to be organized.

Both sides have 10 days to contest the election and if no protest is made, the NLRB will certify the results. He said election of local union officers should be completed within two weeks and that presentation of formal contract demands to Provincial House management should take place in about a month.

A total of 71 employees will be represented by the union. Provincial House management had no comment on the vote Monday.

Unofficial results show sale of liquor approved with 89 yes votes, 36 no votes and one spoiled ballot.

Voters gave Republican incumbent Arlo Ruggles 81 votes, incumbent Democrat Jane Ann Laiko 93 votes and Democratic freshman Marlene Powell 80 votes. All ran unopposed.

Commissioners

celled by the board.

Dehmel, a member of the personnel committee which must hammer out some sort of offer to members of Council 55, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), said Tuesday's meeting was called off due to the regular commission meeting and also because of the absence of committee chairman Maynard McConkey, Cass City.

McConkey is currently in Florida.

Another attempt at holding a mediation meeting is scheduled for next Tuesday.

Union representatives expressed disappointment at the cancellation, and charged that the board was once again unprepared to negotiate.

Union representative Mitchell Gradowski said he accepted the Commissioners' reasons for cancellation, but said if action does not come soon, he may make further public statements regarding the status of the talks.

Both sides to date have refused to discuss actual dollars and cents with the press.

Gradowski expressed disappointment that board negotiator Charles Minner has not brought a concrete proposal to the bargaining table.

Dehmel called present union wage demands, "way out of line with what we can pay."

He said the board is anxious to get the talks off dead center.

Count Kef cops 7 wins in Yonkers meet

Count Kef, formerly of the Donald Koepfgen farm just west of Cass City, now sports a New York address and it appears the change of scene hasn't hurt the brilliant horse a bit.

Count Kef, originally owned by the late Donald Koepfgen, was sold late last fall and eventually became the property of David Dunckley of New York.

Since then, he's gone on to increase an already large assortment of trophies and record statistics.

In the 63-night winter meeting at Yonkers Raceway, Count Kef was the leader with seven victories, three seconds, and one third place finish in 13 starts.

So far in his career, Count Kef has won $94,850, earning $33,500 of it this year. At this early stage of the season, there have been few big money events, so his total is the highest in the country.

Count Kef's career began on the farm near Cass City and through careful handling he rose rapidly to the tops in his brand of racing, pacing.

A year ago, Lyle Koepfgen, who took over management of the horse for his late son, called Count Kef "a once in a lifetime horse". So far at least, that assessment appears to be true.

Dunckley almost bought Count Kef last summer at Northville Downs, but decided against it. Time, however, made him change his mind and he's happy with the results.

"He's a very smart horse," Dunckley told a New York Times correspondent recently. "He knows what he's doing on the track all the time. He can be rated easily."

CONTROVERSY

According to the Times account, Count Kef and Dunckley became involved in a controversy recently. The Count went off the odds-on favorite but was bumped, broke pace and finished 15 lengths behind. Yonkers officials suspended Dunckley for a "lackluster effort".

The National Association of Harness Drivers and Trainers protested and the New York State Racing and Wagering Board reversed the decision.

Commenting on the Count, Mrs. Donald Koepfgen said she regretted having to sell the prize-winning horse, but the time and effort needed to manage such an animal was just too much.

"I'm very glad to see that he's doing so well," she commented. "I'd seen him win for me and I knew he could do it for someone else."

Chances are good that if Count Kef has his way, winning will become a way of life. As far as he's concerned, it already has.

Third annual gym meet set Saturday

set Saturday

Cass City High School will host the Third Annual Cass City Gymnastic Meet beginning Saturday with opening ceremonies at 10:30 a.m. Five gymnastic events will be staged.

Fifteen Thumb area schools will participate in various events. Schools represented include Owen-Gage High School, Uby Schools, Millington High School, Bad Axe Public Schools, Frankenmuth Intermediate School, Caro Community Schools, Vassar High School, Unionville-Sebewaing High School, Mayville High School, Lagers High School, Davison High School, Sandusky High School, Kingston High School, St. Lorenz of Frankenmuth and Cass City Schools.

Contestants will be divided into three age groups, 11-13, 14-15, and 16 and older. Ribbon awards will be presented to the first 10 gymnasts who place in each event for each division.

The judging will be done by students from Central Michigan University who are presently taking a gymnastics judging course.

Basketball team votes special honors

The Cass City High School basketball team last week voted special honors to various members of the squad.

Co-captains of the team are Dave Eberline and Jerry Toner.

Ken Lowe was named the squad's most valuable player. Charlie Walsh, who moved from the bench to a spot on the starting five, was voted the most improved player.

Defensive player of the year was Eberline who nailed down a starting spot at guard with his aggressive defensive efforts and hustle.

A Fairgrove man was treated for injuries at Caro Community Hospital Saturday after the snowmobile he was riding on state-owned land in Novesta township went out of control and rolled over.

George Louis Shappel, 35, told Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies he had been driving the machine across state land when he struck some rough terrain, lost control and rolled over.

Shappel was treated and released. A passenger, Joan Shappel was not injured. The mishap took place at 8:30 p.m.

Three property-damage auto accidents were reported to area police last week, none serious.

Saturday, a car driven by William Edward Campbell, 37, of 604 Lincoln St., Caro, went out of control and landed in a ditch on M-81, one and one-half miles west of Cass City.

Sheriff's deputies reported Campbell was headed east when he lost control of the car in blowing, drifting snow, ran off the south side of the road and into a ditch. He was not injured.

The mishap took place at 8:15 a.m.

Also Saturday, a hit-and-run driver struck a car owned by Beatrice Pratt, parked in front of her home at 3555 Ross St., Kingston.

She told Sheriff's deputies she heard a crash in front of her home at 1:30 a.m. and later discovered the damage. Police said no other information was available.

A car driven by Charles Wallace Kappen, 18, of 3192 E. Cass City Rd., went out of control and struck a tree while traveling west on Garfield Street at Doerr Road, Sunday.

Cass City Police who investigated said Kappen failed to stop at the Doerr Road intersection, striking the tree. He was not injured. Police ticketed Kappen for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

The accident took place at 12:35 a.m.

Chamber plans April 19 banquet

The Cass City Chamber of Commerce continued formulating plans for this year's annual banquet during its regularly-scheduled monthly meeting held Tuesday night at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

While the program will be similar to last year's, the big difference is location of the affair and dancing scheduled afterward.

The banquet is set April 19. The program is expected to run from 7:30 p.m., followed by dancing from 10 p.m.-1:30 a.m. Citizen of the Year and Junior Citizen of the Year awards will be presented prior to the dance.

This year's banquet is scheduled for the Colony House on M-53.

Ticket sales were scheduled to begin Wednesday.

In addition, persons may bring their own alcoholic beverages to the dance portion of the evening. President Harry Little emphasized that no drinks will be served during the dinner portion of the evening.

In other business, the Chamber board nominated Bill Krutzman to serve as president for the 1975-76 year. Little had been nominated to a full term, but declined. He is completing the term of Jim Courtney, who resigned last month.

The board also approved planting petunias around trees in the downtown area. It was felt the flowers would tend to choke out weeds and help make the trees look more attractive.

It was also announced that the deadline for turning in ballots for new board members has been extended to April 1.
