

Annual meetings Saturday

Elkland township okays Koepfgen Road rebuilding

A new general fund budget, rebuilding one mile of Koepfgen Road and the future of the Demming vault at the township cemetery comprised the bulk of this year's Elkland township annual meeting held Saturday at the township hall.

Eight electors present approved a general fund budget totaling $78,065. This represents a 19 per cent increase over last year's actual revenues of $65,707, and a 34 per cent increase in expenditures over last year's actual $58,033.

Much of the additional expenditures will come in the form of new road construction on South Koepfgen Road in the first mile south of M-81. Supervisor Edwin Karr explained township road maintenance and construction alone will take up $48,205 of the township's budget.

Karr said the road project will take three years to complete. In 1975, the road will be brought up to grade and graveled, with final surfacing expected over the following two years.

He said $23,000 will be spent on this year's construction on Koepfgen Road, with the remaining $25,205 going for repair on the remaining township roads.

Karr said over three years, the township will spend close to $40,000 on the project. He said in addition, Detroit Edison and General Telephone will have to move transmission lines, bringing the total project cost, including the township's share, to $100,000.

He said so far, 16 property owners living along the road have contributed $700 toward the project.

Karr said some of the Koepfgen Road construction costs may be cut if the township is able to buy a gravel pit nearby. The supervisor said it would reduce the cost of gravel from 50 cents a yard to 10 cents a yard.

Karr said the township's pattern of growth is toward Koepfgen Road, citing the difficulty in getting septic tank permits for new homes north of Cass City, due to hard clay soil.

Karr acknowledged that the project has caused some controversy among residents of Koepfgen Road, since some trees will have to be removed. He said this is because the present road does not follow the true section line, which all new roads must follow today.

Work is expected to begin on the project this summer. Other funds are expected to run about the same as last year, with the exception of a nearly $2,000 increase in the cemetery fund, estimated at $17,500, compared with $15,777 last year.

Karr said total township valuation this year is $19,851,350, compared with $17,099,350 last year.

In other business, the board indicated it would check into having the Demming vault at the township cemetery removed. The vault has been a bone of contention among some township residents for a number of years who claim it is an eyesore.

The board said it would check with a member of the Deming family regarding removal of the bodies to the basement and perhaps pushing the structure in.

John Zinnecker urged the board to act on the situation as soon as possible.

In other business, Karr said forms should arrive soon for persons wishing to sign up for the Farmland and Open Space Act, which would provide farmers a tax break if they agree not to change land use for 10 years.

Karr said a survey has shown that the act could save farmland owners as much as 47 per cent on their real estate taxes, although it isn't guaranteed that every owner would save as much.

Other township meetings were held throughout the area Saturday. Here is a rundown of activities:

NOVESTA TOWNSHIP

Novesta township electors approved a $37,193 budget for the 1975-76 year.

Voters also approved reconstructing one mile of Phillips Road, north of Deckerville Road. The entire project is expected to cost $20,000, of which the county will pay half, according to Supervisor Gail Parrott. He said construction and grade are expected to be completed this year.

The township also voted to return a strip of land at the north end of McArthur Road north of Severance Road to current landowners Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Doyen. Parrott explained the strip had been purchased before the turn of the century for a road right-of-way, but was never used.

Four persons attended the meeting.

ELLINGTON TOWNSHIP

Ellington township voters approved a new general fund budget totaling $43,492.67 for the coming year, with $1,903 in the cemetery fund.

The board allocated $21,910 for road work in the coming year, including gravel for 4½ miles of roads, according to Clerk Mrs. Hazel Wilson.

Proposed zoning was discussed for the township. A public meeting was set for April 22, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the town hall.

Ten persons attended the meeting.

Voters approved a new budget calling for income of $43,490 and expenditures of $35,590, leaving a cash balance of $7,900.

The board will hold regular meetings the first Monday of every other month, at the township hall.

ELMWOOD TOWNSHIP

Roads and improvements on the fire hall took up much of the Elmwood township meeting, according to Supervisor Roy Messer.

Township voters will be asked to approve a one-mill levy for road improvement. The date for the election and which roads are to be improved have not yet been decided, Messer said.

Improvements to the township fire hall came under lengthy discussion, Messer said. No final action was taken.

Nine persons attended the meeting.

GRANT TOWNSHIP

Grant township voters will decide the fate of a special millage request for road maintenance. The vote will be held the same date as the annual school election June 9.

Voters will be asked to approve three mills for three years, with funds designated specifically for road maintenance, according to Clerk Donald Reid.

Twelve persons attended the meeting.

Grant township electors approved a general fund budget of $15,900.

MEETINGS POSTPONED

Two township meetings, both in Sanilac county, were postponed due to snow-clogged roads from last week's blizzard.

Greenleaf and Evergreen township meetings were rescheduled for this coming Saturday. Both will begin at 1:00 p.m. at the respective town halls.

The snow may have brought misery for grown-ups, but for the kids, it was nothing but pleasure. These happy youngsters are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thane of 4387 Koepfgen Rd.

Gagetown man injured in snowmobile mishap

Area police investigated several property damage accidents last week in which drivers and passengers escaped serious injury.

In the most serious, Mark John Yost, 17, of Bay City-

Forestville Road, Gagetown, was taken to Caro Community Hospital with injuries sustained when the snowmobile he was riding east on Hobart Road a half-mile west of Hurds Corner Road went out of control, striking the roadway.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies who investigated said the machine apparently dropped after sailing over a snowdrift.

The mishap took place at 2:00 p.m. Friday.

A Kingston woman sought her own medical treatment for injuries she sustained when the car she was driving collided with a pickup driven by a Caro man Friday just north of Kingston on Kingston Road.

Caro State Police who investigated said a car driven by Elizabeth Ann Taylor, 25, of North Kingston Road, was headed south when she went into a skid and struck the northbound truck driven by Harley LeRoy Brock, 27, of Caro.

Ms. Taylor was ticketed for traveling too fast for conditions. Brock was uninjured.

The mishap took place at 11:45 a.m. A car driven by Sally Lee Larkin of Deckerville Road, Cass City, went out of control and landed in a ditch on Deckerville Road a half-mile west of Deford, Wednesday, April 2.

Caro State Police who investigated said the Larkin auto was eastbound when it went out of control on snow and ice-covered pavement and slid into a ditch on the north side of the road.

She sought her own medical treatment. The mishap took place at 11:45 a.m. Concluded on page 14.

Report progress in FOP talks

"Good progress" was reported Tuesday in contract talks between the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners and members of the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) representing County Sheriff's deputies.

The reported break in the month-long stalemate came following a day-long meeting Monday between negotiators on both sides that included state mediator Charles Sanders.

The board discussed the new FOP offer following their regular session Tuesday. Commissioner Maynard McConkey, chairman of the board's personnel committee, did not release details, but indicated "the ball is back in their (FOP's) court."

The board was scheduled to give a formal reply to the FOP Wednesday. McConkey said he remained hopeful that the dispute could be settled soon, but said there is "still a moderate difference in our two positions". Those differences reportedly still surround economic issues.

While progress was reported in talks with the deputies, no progress was reported in negotiations with the county courthouse employees.

According to Marilyn Griffiths, local representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, (AFSCME), a meeting has tentatively been set for Thursday at 5:00 p.m., to determine whether or not to accept the latest offer, submitted by the board.

Mrs. Griffiths said the meeting is one re-scheduled from last Thursday, due to the snow storm.

This is spring? Area reels under wintery 17-inch snowfall

Heavy snow, piled into mountainous drifts by high winds, brought activity in Cass City and the tri-county area to a standstill Thursday, forcing wholesale cancellation of activities and leaving motorists stranded across the state.

The storm forced Tuscola County Sheriff's patrol cars off the roads in the early hours of Thursday morning, along with County Road Commission crews who gave up the battle to keep state trunk lines open, until the winds died down.

Officially 17 inches of snow fell in the county, bringing about scenes reminiscent of the St. Patrick's Day blizzard of 1973.

Officials at Hills and Dales General Hospital put out a plea for area snowmobile operators to assist them in transporting doctors and staff to and from work. Snowmobiles were the only vehicles operating.

Drifts as high as four feet blocked both major and side streets in Cass City, making even walking a torture, in the face of winds clocked as high as 40 miles an hour.

At 8:00 a.m., the only track on South Seeger Street was one snowmobile trail. All other streets were plugged. M-81 was reported blocked between Cass City and Caro, as well as M-53 south of Bad Axe and in Sanilac county.

Snow began falling in Cass City Wednesday morning, April 2, but stopped in the early afternoon hours, only to return around 4:00 p.m. By midnight, traffic had slowed to a crawl and stopped shortly afterward.

The storm brought operations at Walbro Corporation and General Cable Corporation to a standstill Thursday, along with many businesses in and around Cass City.

While no power loss was reported in Cass City, Detroit Edison was plagued by reports of power failures in the Millington area. At one point, about 5,000 Thumb area customers were without electricity.

Most area schools were not in session last week, and so were not affected by the storm. Students returned to their classes Monday following their extended Easter vacation.

By Thursday afternoon, traffic began to move slowly on some Cass City streets, but persons living on side streets had to depend on either footpower or snowmobiles to get them around town.

Village work crews began the gigantic task of clearing streets soon after the snow stopped Thursday afternoon, but battled high winds that continued to cause considerable drifting. It was Friday afternoon before crews had removed the worst of the snow from Main Street.

VOLUNTEERS

Randy Howard, Hills and Dales General Hospital administrator, reported volunteers, both with snowmobiles and in the hospital itself, helped supplement the skeleton staff on duty at the facility.

Howard said persons living near the hospital volunteered for kitchen duties to insure patients would be fed on time. Others used their snow machines to transport staff and doctors to the facility.

"We just can't thank these people enough," Howard Concluded on page 16.

Erlas win race with stork, weather

The late-winter snowstorm that blasted its way through Cass City last week won't soon be forgotten by Mr. and Mrs. Clark Erla of 6781 Third St. They'll remember it every time they see their daughter, Jennifer Lynn, who decided to make her debut Thursday.

The nine pound, two-and-a-half ounce baby was born at 5:33 p.m. Thursday, well after the snow had stopped, but before work crews finished the monstrous job of opening village streets.

Things started happening late Wednesday night, just as the storm reached its full fury.

"I really didn't think it was the real thing, though," Mrs. Erla recalled Friday morning. "As it turned out, I spent the entire night walking the floor and watching it snow. I kept thinking, how in the world am I ever going to get to the hospital?"

Mrs. Erla had originally been scheduled to give birth at Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe, but nature intervened.

By 7:00 a.m. Thursday, she decided the time had indeed come. Then the hard part began. With the Erla's car buried under mounds of snow and their street blocked, the call went out for help.

"We got Norm Gray and J.D. Tuckey out," Mrs. Erla said. "Norm came with his snow plow and plowed ahead of us and we rode with J.D. in the back of his four-wheel drive vehicle. For awhile, I wasn't sure whether the baby would be born in the hospital or in the back seat."

The biggest problem came negotiating the grade on Hill Street approaching the hospital. According to Mrs. Erla, it took a half hour for the caravan to wend its way from Third Street to the hospital, with several attempts needed at the hill before they finally made it.

As it turned out, Jennifer arrived later than expected. Mrs. Erla spent from around 8:00 a.m. until 5:33 p.m. in labor.

This is the first child for the Erlas, who are more than grateful Jennifer waited for the comforts of the hospital.

"Next time, I think we're going to plan on having one around the fourth of July some year," Mrs. Erla laughed.

Mother, father and child were all reported doing fine by hospital authorities.

Jennifer Lynn and her mother weren't the only members of the family in the hospital the same week. Tuesday, April 1, the baby's great-grandmother, Laura Bauer, was hospitalized. Fortunately, she arrived before the snow did.

MRS. CLARK ERLA of Cass City poses with new arrival Jennifer Lynn, born Thursday after a slow, hard trip through deep snows to Hills and Dales General Hospital. It took a snow plow and a four-wheel drive vehicle to get Mrs. Erla to the hospital ahead of the stork.

Phooey on Mickey Mouse

BY JIM FITZGERALD

I never feel more un-American than when in the presence of Mickey Mouse.

The family that reveres Walt Disney together is the family that stays together, prays together, and flees together from an "R" rated world. Everyone knows that.

But I never saw a Walt Disney film I didn't hate. I wouldn't insult my family by asking them to laugh at talking cars and Fred MacMurray bouncing over buildings.

Fact is, I like to take my teenagers to "adult" movies that would soil their minds if they weren't accompanied by a parent with a damp sponge. This is a satisfying way to thumb my nose at censorship, just as the censor thumbs his nose at freedom. Also, the kids might learn something worthwhile from these forbidden movies. One sex scene in technicolor is worth 1,000 words from a dumb father who learned it all from the rack boy at Curley Peloso's poolroom. By the time he is 18, I want my son to know the streets of Los Angeles are not paved with flubber.

So you get the picture. The CIA has probably been reading my mail for years. Any man who sneers at Donald Duck must have subversive connections. I tell you all this only because I recently spent some time in Orlando, Florida, and my wife said it would be a sin to leave without visiting Disney World. We'd been on the road several days, and I'd already used up all the sins allotted me for March, so . . .

The Disney people grab you while you are still on the highway. They come on your car radio and suck you through the gate. The 12,000-car parking lot is divided into sections named after dwarfs and the attendants warn you to remember the name of your section or spend the rest of your life on foot.

"We're in Dopey," my wife said.

"Certainly," I said. After putting down $13, we entered the world's largest combination gift shop and hot dog stand. Everywhere I looked, someone wanted to sell me something to eat or something to take home to prove to my neighbors I'd been gyped.

The $13 bought us admission to 8 of the "special attractions," all of which were easy to find. Each one was at the Florida end of a line of people stretching to Utah. I wouldn't stand in a line that long if it led to Sophia Loren playing Snow White as a nymphomaniac attacking everyone parked in Dopey's section.

We did sneak into the theatre where life-size replicas of Cinderella, Mickey and the gang sang songs and told jokes. It's amazing how those inanimate dolls talk and move and appear just as human as the people in the audience (especially the zonked-out father with 3 little kids who has been looking for his car for 3 weeks).

It must cost a million dollars to make a 6-foot doll that can tap dance and sing "Some Day My Prince Will Come." Only a jerk would point out that a real live girl would be a lot cheaper and more entertaining. "You're a jerk," my wife said.

I came away from magic land with tremendous respect for the precision and efficiency of the Disney people. They handle gigantic crowds without wasting a movement or a minute. Endless railings keep you in line (Please don't sit on the rails; they are for herding, not comfort). Recorded voices continually tell you to face right, turn right, and leave by the exits on the right. I wouldn't turn left for fear a giant neon sign would flash "TILT!" and I would be banished from the kingdom forever for plugging Mickey Mouse's digestive tract.

As we drove out of Dopey's section, the same sonorous voice was on the radio, still urging us to come to Disney World and telling us how to park.

Disney won't be programed to say goodbye until Mickey Mouse figures a way to freeze farewells on a stick and sell them for 50 cents a lick.

IT'S A SPORTING good time for one and all in the Owen-Gage Junior Class play "They Run in Our Family", set for Friday and Saturday nights at the Gagetown Gym. Shown in this "singing telegram" scene are (from the left) Peg Radabaugh, John Thybault, Cory LaFave and Gerry Prich. The play, which includes 19 cast members, is directed by Mrs. Margaret Bethel and Ms. Sue Neal.

Five Craft Show set for Cultural Center

A Five Craft Show featuring the work of Michigan artists will be on display in Cass City at the Cultural Center for two weeks beginning Monday, April 14.

Quality examples of spinning, weaving, sculpting, glass blowing and silversmithing are featured in the show, which is currently on a one-year tour of the state under the auspices of the Michigan Council for the Arts. The exhibition is sponsored in Cass City by the Cass City Arts Council.

The Five Craft exhibition will be open to the public without charge on the following dates:

April 15-17, 2-4:30 p.m.
April 18, 7-8:30 p.m.
April 19, 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.
April 20, noon - 4 p.m.
April 21-24, 2-4:30 p.m.
April 25, 7-8:30 p.m.

School classes in both Cass City and surrounding areas have been invited to view the exhibition.

The purpose of the crafts display is not only to highlight the calibre of Michigan craftsmen, but to introduce crafts to a broad audience throughout the state.

Member guilds of the Craftsmen's Council who participated in the exhibition preparation are the Michigan Handweavers Guild, Ann Arbor Handweavers Guild, Michigan Glass Guild, Michigan Silversmiths Guild and the Birmingham Sculptors Guild.

The annual meeting of the Cass City Arts Council will be held in conjunction with the Five Crafts Show. Members will view the exhibit and elect a board of directors at the annual meeting slated for 8:00 p.m. Monday, April 14, at the Cass City Cultural Center.

Board to rule on transfer

A decision was expected Wednesday on a request by 42 property owners at the northern fringe of the Owen-Gage School District to transfer their property to the Laker District.

The Michigan State Board of Education was scheduled to hand down its ruling on the request involving 8.4 per cent of the district's valuation, $1,343,950.

Results of the state board's action will be watched closely by another block of residents at the southern fringe of the district who have renewed their efforts to transfer their property to the Cass City School District.

No date for an intermediate board hearing on the transfer has yet been set.

Owen-Gage Supt. Glenn Sanford announced this week that petitions for prospective school board candidates are now available. They must be returned to the school by May 12.

The four-year term of trustee Mrs. Mary Downing of Gagetown expires in June. Voters will also elect a board member for two years to fill the seat left vacant by the resignation of George Wilson last summer. Presently, the seat is occupied by Pat Goslin, who was appointed by the board.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Take me for what I meant, not what I said. In an ad last week calling attention to the Chronicle's giant upcoming progress edition May 22 I said that 25 years ago Cass City had no high school.

What I meant was that it did not have the present modern high school building.

Honest, I've been in Cass City long enough to know that the Intermediate School was once the high school . . . and the grade school, too, for that matter.

Thank you. My offer of 10 free Rotary Club Bingo tickets was accepted by various persons before the big event Saturday. Readers will recall that the offer was first made three weeks ago and not one was claimed. I repeated the offer the following week and area bingoites finally felt that it was for real and picked them up.

There's a moral here about continuous advertising but I won't be so crass as to mention it.

Saturday was my first bingo and it was an eye opener. I found myself missing numbers as they were called . . . before I found out if the number called was on the single card that I played the announcer called another number.

There's no doubt that the regulars on the bingo circuit would have trouble understanding this. I saw several handling a dozen cards at once while complaining that the announcer was too slow.

I mentioned this to Keith Pobanz, one of the wheels at the weekly St. Pancratius Church bingo, and he just laughed.

We have regulars who come and play 20 cards, he said. With people like that who needs computers?

The Jon Fahrners were not among the many to get snowed in at home when the storm hit Wednesday.

They were snowed out. The family went to Detroit for the night on an outing. That's what it turned out to be . . . an outing. The family made it back as far as the Birch Run freeway exit where they stayed for two days.

The kids slept in the back of a trailer home and had a ball. It really wasn't that bad, Jon says, but at the end of the two days I was ready to wash my underwear with me in it.

Tie a yellow ribbon in a value spree, say members of the Retail Division of the Chamber of Commerce. The ribbons will be placed around special values in next week's town-wide sale.

It must be spring, they are here again. Ready for free distribution, one to a customer, as long as they last, are the 1975 official Michigan State Highway maps.

If you see Jim Ketchum, Chronicle news editor, walking down the main stem at the tilt position, don't blame Jim. Blame the Robert Clark family. They presented our editor with a dozen bottles of homemade wine, made by her father. Included were lilac, dandelion, grape and several other flavors.

Who says that writers are never appreciated?

Enter guilty plea

A Caro man entered a plea of guilty to negligent homicide when he appeared before Judge Norman Baguley Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Clifford Lee York, 28, will be sentenced by Judge Baguley June 2, and bond was continued.

York entered the plea in connection with a traffic accident Oct. 30 of last year that took the life of Delbert Eskelson of Kingston.

The issue here is not that the Deford Country Store was granted a SDM liquor license.

If I were asked to vote I'd say yes, the store should be granted the license. Why not? Beer and wine are legal and are for sale nearly everywhere.

There's no chance that giving the Deford store the license will increase drinking by Deford residents.

So what's the beef? Easy. It seems to me that the State has taken another stride towards usurping local control of government.

Regardless of what you believe to be the correct decision, the local board said no and, unless discrimination could be proved, that decision should stand.

Which immediately poses the question, what about the right of the owner of the store?

It's a fair question, too. The answer is a referendum. That's the only way to tell if granting a license was in the best interest of the residents of the township as these residents view it.

If the board remained adamant in the face of a favorable vote by residents, then it would be appropriate, I feel, for the State to override the decision of the board.

In actual practice there is no way that could happen.

It couldn't happen because the Novesta board just wouldn't go against a mandate from the voters.

What happened in this relatively minor issue is merely a reflection of the big picture. Big daddy is taking over.

It's the trend. We are not as close to our county government under the district system as we once were when township supervisors wielded the power.

We have virtually no control over our property taxes. Our State income tax is headed in the direction of the Federal income tax.

We have lost a measure of local control of our schools under the present law that requires the raising of a certain amount of millage to be eligible for State Aid . . . regardless of whether we actually really need to levy the millage or not.

Proposals concerning binding arbitration and new school tax methods tend to remove even more of that control.

It may not be too late to check the tide in our schools. It may not, but it probably is.

The farther away from the taxpayer and voter the governing process moves, the greater the waste and inefficiency, and the greater the indifference to the needs of the people becomes.

It's a lot easier to get the attention of the average politician when he knows that he may very well have to answer to persons for his action as he walks down the village street than it is if he's tucked away in Lansing or Washington safely closeted behind two secretaries and a big desk.

Wickes Agriculture

Twenty years ago the family farm was run by the head of the household. He made all the decisions. Today with the advent of new technology, more sophisticated marketing procedures and greater educational opportunities, the family farm operates like a corporation. All members are involved in the important decisions. The sons have probably received technical degrees in agronomy, thus expanding the base of knowledge on which decisions are made. Since all members participate in sharing the profits, likewise they share in deciding when, how much, and where to sell their commodities. Should they hedge, store or contract, and in what ratio? They may not sit in a fancy conference room, but today's kitchen corporation manages a half-million dollar investment that keeps food on your table.

Earl Day's job: helping alcoholics through understanding, compassion

Earl Day is a man who knows his job as well as anybody. He knows it because he's been through the same problem he's trying to help others overcome each day--alcoholism.

Day is a counselor at the Alcohol Information Center in Caro. Each week, he sits across his desk from men and women whose alcohol problem has "gotten out of hand and who need help. Presently, he's involved with about 75 of the staff's 140 active clients who come looking for a way out of the alcohol addiction. Day understands because he's been there.

"I'm a graduate of Hard Knocks College," Day joked as he leaned back in his chair at his office located on Lincoln Street in Caro. "I've got a 25-year apprenticeship as an alcoholic."

Day quit drinking in 1960 and stayed dry for five years. Then he decided he could handle alcohol again.

"I didn't really consider alcoholism a disease of the body as much as I thought it was a moral kind of thing," Day recalled. "I thought I could drink a beer. Well I drank it and stayed drunk off and on for the next year and a half. My wife left me 14 times in that year and a half but somehow she kept coming back."

Finally Day realized he was fooling no one but himself and climbed back on the wagon to stay.

"I finally had to turn my life over to a higher power which I choose to call God," Day said. "I don't hesitate to talk about God--I'm not afraid of Him."

Day uses his personal story to help the clients he deals with know that he really understands. Some parts of it aren't too pleasant.

"I totaled out nine cars in my lifetime," Day says. "I nearly killed my daughter when I put her head through a windshield. In 1964, I nearly wound up in Jackson Prison because of what my drinking was doing."

Day has suffered all the classic symptoms, including blackouts.

"I remember one time I woke up one morning back when I was running my wooden pallet business," Day said. "We lived on a dead-end street and I remember I looked out the window and saw this guy standing in front of my house with a lunch pail. I told my wife that he'd have to wait a awful long time for a ride."

"She said she thought I was doing when I was drunk. I'd hired him the night before to come work for me and I didn't remember it."

CHANGE

But that's all changed now. Earl Day says a new life opened up to him when he stopped drinking for the final time.

"My life's a complete reverse now of what it used to be," Day said. "I never realized it could be this good. And I love what I'm doing here."

What Day is "doing here" is helping alcoholics from all over Tuscola county realize that they can kick the alcoholic habit.

"There's no greater satisfaction than seeing an alcoholic recover," Day said. "To see a smile come back over his face again is the greatest sight there is."

There are times, though, when it doesn't work and a client will fall by the wayside. When that happens, Day says, you can't blame yourself as a counselor. You have to realize that you can't be responsible for someone else's sobriety. They must do it with all the help you can give them. But essentially, it has to be done on an individual basis, Day believes. Along with that, he stresses faith in God.

ALL AGES

Day says the alcoholics he treats come in all ages from all walks of life. He says while alcoholics are starting at an earlier age, he is encouraged that young people are also recognizing the symptoms sooner.

Hopefully this means that the symptoms will be arrested sooner, too.

"I enjoy talking with high school classes about it," he said. "You can tell they're sharp by the questions they ask. And you can tell if you're hitting close to home when you watch some of them squirm a little in the chair when you tell about something you did when you were drunk."

Day says that while more is being done to educate people on alcoholism, much more waits to be done. He said he is available anytime for high school assemblies or small groups.

One step in the direction of further alcoholism education is adult education classes being sponsored by the Alcohol Information Staff to be held every Tuesday at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the offices located at 147 Lincoln St. There is no charge for the class.

Day said the center hopes to reach more persons with the message, but too often transportation is a problem, especially for someone who's lost their driver's license in court.

"When this happens, we try to arrange with anyone we can to help get our clients in here," he says.

Often, it is Day himself, along with Spike Johnson, alcoholism information coordinator for the county, who end up providing the rides.

But this doesn't bother Day. "The only reason I'm here is because I want to be," Day said. "I can talk with these people and I think I can help. I understand what they're going through and I can feel remorse when they do or anything else. I've been there. There's a common bond there."

Life's become a meaningful adventure for Earl Day and he wants to share it with others. His ultimate goal with each client is to place them with an Alcoholics Anonymous chapter near his home. Once this is accomplished, he said, he tends to take a back seat.

"Once they're in AA, it's a sign they're on their way," he said. "We try to help them reach that point."

Day said he is willing to help anyone with a drinking problem any time of the day or night. He can be reached at his home near Vassar at 823-8476 or at the Alcohol Information Center in Caro at 673-7330.

Pre-kindergarten registrations set April 21-22 at Cass City

Pre-kindergarten registration and visitation for Cass City elementary school students will be held Monday, April 21, school authorities announced this week.

Rural parents and children will register at 9:00 a.m. in the Campbell Elementary school gym, while village parents and children will register at 1:00 p.m. the same day. Children will be visiting kindergarten rooms at that time.

Deford parents and children will register and visit their school Tuesday, April 22, from 1:00-2:30 p.m. Evergreen parents will register from 12:30-2:00 p.m. the same day. Evergreen children will visit their classes at a later date.

Parents should bring birth certificates and immunization records for their children, school officials said. Children who are eligible for enrollment must be five years old on or before Dec. 1, 1975.

A pre-school vision test is also required. A free vision and hearing clinic day for all pre-schoolers is scheduled.

Campbell Elementary children will be screened April 28 and May 2, from 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Deford children will be screened April 25. Parents who cannot come these dates should call the school for an appointment.

UM Women meet Monday

The regular meeting of Trinity United Methodist Women was held Monday evening in the fellowship hall with Mary Rexin presiding.

Mrs. Mable Marshall had charge of devotions. Mrs. Donald Lorentzen introduced Janice Rands, township crusade chairman of the American Cancer Society. She presented a film on cancer's warning signals.

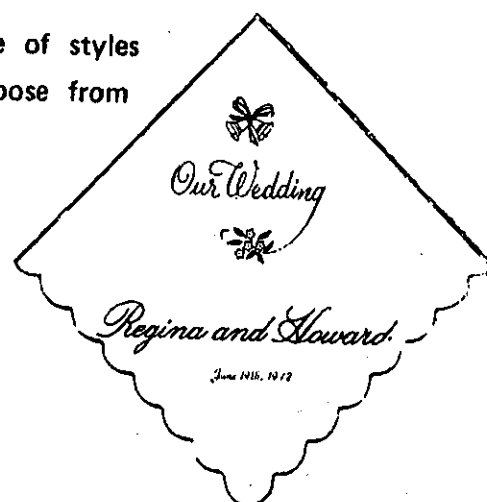

Group IV headed by Mrs. Mary Ryan and Mrs. Lou Kozan, served a 6:30 p.m. dinner to about 35 members.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Up and Atom in Vietnam

By Jim Ketchum

You can build a nuclear reactor in South Vietnam, but not in Quangassee. Seems it's too dangerous to construct one of these marvels of science where it might do some good, but you can always build one in the middle of the Vietnamese jungle.

The word got out last week that a reactor, constructed in Vietnam in the mid 1960's, had been blown up to keep it from falling into the hands of the North Vietnamese. Before the explosion, the nuclear fuel was removed and sent back to the United States. This move was designed to make the world safer for democracy and the retreating South Vietnamese army.

The plant was built originally to provide electricity for the mountainous regions of the country and to carry out "experimental work" connected with medical research.

The whole idea of placing a nuclear reactor in the middle of South Vietnam makes about as much sense as going to Vietnam in the first place. Why build something as volatile as a reactor in the middle of a nation at war?

Meanwhile, at Quangassee, where the only shots fired are probably at passing ducks, we're told it isn't safe enough for a similar installation. Maybe they figure the geese and carp might spy on the site's construction and feed information to some foreign power.

You have to be careful of wildlife--especially carrier pigeons. Some have been known to take notes with their beaks. Think of the implications for the CIA if they learned they'd been outfoxed by a bird.

That's probably why Tuscola county will never see a nuclear reactor. That's probably also why other reactors in the state are being scrutinized with magnifying glasses and being dusted for fingerprints.

Big Rock Point at Charlevoix and the Palisades installation both have been hamstrung in their operations in recent years because of alleged dangers to the surrounding area.

Still you can build one in the middle of Vietnam or in Egypt or Israel without so much as an eyebrow being raised. Never mind the fact that these are some of the militarily hottest pieces of real estate in the world today. We need all the friends we can get and if a nuclear power plant will buy a few, so be it.

Besides, with the CIA protecting them, if it gets too dangerous, a few sticks of dynamite will take care of everything. And, if an unfriendly government attempts to come to power, the super-sleuths can always threaten to blow up the plant without taking the nuclear fuel out first.

You get built-in protection both ways.

No such options exist in Quangassee, however. If an unfriendly board of commissioners comes to power, it wouldn't go over too well for the CIA to blow up the installation.

Besides, those pesky ducks and pigeons will be watching everything anyway and Lord only knows who they'll squeal to, in a manner of speaking.

And there's no immediate threat of hostilities in the county, unless we declare war on Sanilac or Lapeer county. Huron county doesn't count because the CIA would probably give them a reactor to even out the Thumb's balance of power.

So, unless guerilla warfare breaks out in the Thumb, we'll be without a reactor of our very own, and we'll have to read about South Vietnam's by candlelight.

Here's looking at you--I think.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Prompt work by the Elkland Township Fire Department saved a barn on the Mark Tuckey farm Tuesday night in a fire reported shortly before midnight.

Art Randall, Cass City, was appointed Elkland Township Treasurer at a special meeting of the township board Monday. He will fill the unexpired term of Mac O'Dell who resigned to accept a position as county equalization director.

The Tuscola County Board of Canvassers completed its recount of the recently-held village election in Gagetown and found a two-vote difference in the final tally, not enough to change the results of the election. The two votes narrowed the margin of victory for incumbent President James England to one vote, 79-78, over challenger Elery Sontag.

Elkland township voters authorized a vote at the primary election this year to raise one mill for five years for township roads and granted Supervisor Maynard McConkey $500 yearly for car expense money.

One of the two census enumerators covering the village of Cass City is Mrs. Richard Thybault of Gagetown who reports that the cooperation has been excellent and the people friendly and pleasant.

TEN YEARS AGO

Sixteen voters upped the salary of Supervisor Ed Golding from $1,400 to $2,000 yearly at the annual Elkland township meeting held Saturday at the Cultural Center.

A Tuesday morning fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the home of George Vincent, 10 and one-half miles northeast of Cass City, causing an estimated $10,000 damage.

In a surprisingly heavy vote Monday, James P. Churchill of Vassar overwhelmed Robert L. Taylor of Lapeer to win election as Circuit Judge for the 40th judicial district of Tuscola and Lapeer counties.

Lloyd Bryant, village merchant, was named to lead Cass City's Lions for 1965-66 in an election held during the group's regular meeting at Martin's Restaurant Monday night.

Frank Walsh, Saginaw, former Cass City High School librarian, was among the marchers participating in the final day of the much publicized "Selma March" last month.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Voters will decide the fate of a $125,000 bond issue for the purposes of erecting a new elementary school building to house kindergarten, two first, two second and two third grades, when they go to the polls Saturday.

Robert M. Hunter, who is serving the Rotary Club as vice-president, was advanced to the presidency of that society.

Twenty-three attended the first session of the Retail Round Table, a new plan for retailers, at Cass City Tuesday and the meeting was pronounced a successful one.

Cass City students won first and second places in the dramatic and oratorical declamations and first in extempore speaking at the recent speech contest at Sandusky. Top students from Cass City included Ilene Ludlow, Jessie Fry and Richard Wallace. Melva McConnell was first in extempore speaking.

Two thousand high school pupils of Michigan participated in the instrumental solo and ensemble state festival held in East Lansing April 1. Marvin Pratt, of Cass City High School, "received" an excellent rating on his baritone horn. Other impressive students included Joan Holmberg, Bonnie Benkelman, Mary Wood and Delphine Iseler.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Walter W. Kelley has been appointed to head the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors. Six miles of non-skid road are to be constructed east of Gagetown. Bids on the project will be taken by the Michigan State Highway department.

"Instruction and entertainment will be combined in the April program of the Community Club," says President Audley Rawson.

Mrs. Frederick Pinney and Mrs. C.M. Wallace will conduct the Guild program in the Presbyterian church parlors Monday evening.

Many availed themselves of the opportunity to observe the workings of a CCC camp Sunday at Kingston. There were 180 young men enrolled at the camp Sunday and 22 more were expected the first of the week.

Pap tests set in Sanilac

The Sanilac County Unit of the American Cancer Society plans to conduct a "Pap" Screening Program again this year. The program will be conducted by the Sanilac County Health Department and pathology funds provided by the Michigan Division of the American Cancer Society.

Plans are to start the program by April 15 and continue until 1,100 women have been tested. Any Sanilac county resident 20 years of age or over is eligible to participate. The cost per person is your time and the price of your physician's office visit.

Project funds will be used to cover the cost of the pathology fees. If your physician is located outside of Sanilac county, please call the Health Department before making your appointment.

Sanilac

clinics set

The regular immunization clinics sponsored by the Sanilac County Health Department will be held at 115 N. Elk St., Sandusky, Thursday, April 17, and Wednesday, April 23.

Hours for both days are 9:30-11:30 a.m., and 1:30-4:00 p.m.

If possible, parents whose last name begins with A-M should attend the first day, and parents whose last name begins with N-Z should attend the second day.

Protection against measles, rubella, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and polio will be offered. Tuberculin tests will also be offered.

Mumps vaccine is available for children ages one through pre-school.

Children three months of age and over are eligible to attend.

A parent or guardian must accompany the child. Parents are urged to bring a record of previous immunization.

Mrs. Bekes

dies Thursday

Mrs. Anna Bekes, 85, of Grant township, Huron county, died at her home on McAlpine Road, Thursday, April 3, following a long illness.

She was born April 15, 1889, in Czechoslovakia, daughter of the late George and Oschabela Jacobson. She came to the United States as a young girl.

She married Simon Bekes, Nov. 10, 1925, in Detroit. Following their marriage, they made their home in Detroit, moving to a farm near Gagetown in 1943. In 1957, they moved to their home in Grant township, where she lived until her death.

Mrs. Bekes is survived by her husband; two sons, Joseph of Detroit and John of Cass City; one daughter, Mrs. Walter (Mary Ann) Czerniawski of Detroit, and five grandchildren. Three brothers and one sister preceded her in death.

She was a member of St. Columbkille Catholic church of Uby and a member of the Christian Mothers and the Altar Society.

A rosary was recited Sunday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home.

A funeral mass was conducted Monday at St. Columbkille Catholic church, with Rev. Fr. George Klimas officiating.

Interment was in St. Columbkille cemetery.

Wallpapering class set

The Cooperative Extension Service will be sponsoring a class on learning how to select, coordinate, and apply wallpaper.

The class will be held Tuesday, April 15, at 7:00 p.m. in room 604 of Caro High School. Jerome Lewis will teach the session, "Pattern Power with Wallpapering."

Most people would agree that the last startling would be more welcome than the first robin.

Kill weeds in corn this year. Rotate to beans next.

Outfox® controls a broad spectrum of broadleaf weeds and grasses. Yet, there are no carryover problems. Use Outfox as directed on corn land this year, and it won't cause carryover problems on other crops in rotation, such as beans. (Don't rotate to sugar beets.)

Outfox requires no pre-mixing with oil, because it is a one-container, one-herbicide product.

Get the weeds before the weeds "get" some of your corn yield. See your farm chemical dealer about Outfox.

*Dependent on adequate rainfall and thorough tillage prior to seeding the following spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ziehm were in Owosso Sunday visiting relatives.

Miss Patricia Kelly, a student at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant, was home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Koch and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Koch and Roy attended the wedding reception of Cheryl Ondrajka and Daryl Elenbaum at Pigeon Saturday evening.

Those who called on the Harold Kochs Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sheelhas from Tuscola and Tom Sheppard from Birch Run.

Dinner guests at the Keith Rabideau home were his brother, H. Rabideau and family of Pontiac.

Salem UM

Women meet

Two United Methodist Women's groups of Salem church met during the past week.

April 2, 25 persons enjoyed a cooperative dinner in the church preceding the afternoon program. A birthday cake, made by Mrs. Gary Wichert, was served with the meal in honor of Mrs. Irma Hicks, Mrs. Elsie Anthes, Mrs. Marie Anthes, Mrs. Fern Silvernail, Mrs. Esther Hunter and Walter Jezewski, who have April birthdays.

Work for the day was making white shirts into hospital gowns.

Following the opening of the meeting with the Bible reading for the day, Mrs. Charles Tuckey gave the lesson on "Retirement, a Time of Enjoyment".

Seventeen women attended a group meeting held Monday evening at the parsonage with Mrs. Eldred Kelley as hostess.

Mrs. Richard Gaffney presided over the meeting and the lesson on "Marriage and Family Life in Today's World" was presented by Mrs. Charles Tuckey.

A fund-raising project was a "silent auction" of home canned goods.

Dessert refreshments were served by Mrs. Kelley.

IS IT A BARGAIN?

These days it's hard to tell when a bargain is for real. That's true in insurance, too. Come in and let us separate fact from fantasy. We'll outline what we think is the best program for you.

Quite A Girl!

Aunt Sara looks about as stern as they come, doesn't she? As they used to say, "butter wouldn't melt in her mouth." I don't remember the occasion of this picture, since I was the baby. But I do remember Great Aunt Sara very vividly and she was quite a girl!

She was what they call a "pillar of the church." She must have baked an astronomical number of chicken pies for church suppers and served on almost every committee at one time or another. You might say she was pious, a word we don't usually care for. What I mean is that she revered her God and loved Him.

She also had a tremendous sense of humor. I remember she used to tell the funniest stories.

The point is this. So often people mistake religious fervor for a certain "holier than thou" attitude. They don't believe that humor and religion go together. But Aunt Sara proved them wrong. The Church encompasses all of life—humor and wit—as well as love and compassion . . . and so much more! You can easily find out for yourself.

Tuscola cancer group meets

Board members of the Tuscola County Unit, American Cancer Society met at the Union Hall in Vassar Tuesday evening, March 25.

The 1975 annual crusade is underway. The "Cancer Bowl Down" was termed a success, according to Don Kochalka, special events chairman. A report was given on the State Kick Off meeting which was March 22.

Mrs. Robert Blake handed out additional material for the crusade. Mrs. C. Haines gave the treasurer's report. The money from the Bowl Down and from memorials are added to the crusade money.

Volunteers will be calling on all residents of Tuscola county during April to bring material and ask for contributions.

A film showing will be held in the Gulliver Room of Reese Elementary school April 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

She was born March 16, 1890, in St. Clair county, daughter of the late Douglas and Frances Van Currier Mac-Tavish. She came to this area as a young girl.

She married Arthur Craig in Evergreen township, Jan. 19, 1916. He died May 11, 1971.

She graduated from Cass City High School in 1908, and then attended Tuscola County Normal.

She attended Fraser Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Craig is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Rev. Robert von Oeyen, pastor of Fraser Presbyterian church, officiated at funeral services, held at Little's Funeral Home.

Interment was in Elkland cemetery.

AGENT'S CORNER Pre-school seminar set at Sebewaing

Ann Ross - Extension Agent

Plans are now complete for an April 16 preschool seminar at Sebewaing for parents and educators of small children.

Joanne Brown, Michigan State University Child Development Specialist, will tell about new educational materials available for parents and interested groups through a special appropriation to the extension service.

She will also describe concerns across the state in the area of preschoolers' needs, as well as new precepts in early childhood education. One new feature of this year's seminar will be a proposed directory of preschool programs in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties. If interest is shown, a directory may be completed by fall.

Representatives from the cooperative nurseries, day care centers, Head Start Programs, and private nurseries will briefly describe their programs and accomplishments during this year. Slides of these will be shown.

The seminar will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a get-acquainted time, followed by a Southern fried chicken dinner. Advance reservations and $2.50 per person are requested by April 11 to Frank Francomb, 628 E.

Main, Sebewaing 48759. Parents and educators are especially invited.

Sebewaing schools and the Cooperative Extension Service are the seminar sponsors.

Seven named to Ferris

Your neighbor says

I enjoyed my snow day

What did you do while you were snowed in during last week's blizzard? Did you worry about when you would finally get out? Did the four walls drive you crazy? Or did you take it all in stride the way Ms. Betty Agar did.

"I spent the day catching up on odd jobs around the house," Ms. Agar said.

"I did some laundry and caught up on some sewing and I watched all those game shows I never get to see when I'm at work," she said.

She said the fact that she was snowbound didn't bother her in the least.

"I knew I couldn't go anywhere and I was contented to stay at home," she said. "And I enjoyed it."

Ms. Agar is a lifelong resident of Cass City and has been employed at the Federated Store as a clerk a number of years.

"I don't think I want to say how many," she laughed.

She is single.

Girl Scouts to pick up trash

Cass City Girl Scouts will spend Saturday, April 26, picking up trash in Cass City as part of their annual Ecology Day. The group will concentrate on the dirtiest streets, alleys and parking lots in the village.

A victory picnic is planned at the park following completion of the pick-up, according to neighborhood chairman Mrs. Karen Fischer.

Mrs. Fischer said donations are being solicited from businesses in the village for the project. Funds raised will go toward purchasing picnic supplies and transportation of the litter.

Contributions may be sent to the Girl Scouts in care of Mrs. Fischer, Cass City.

Letter to the Editor

Let's stop the panic talk

Mr. John Haire
Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan 48726

Dear John:

Enclosed is a copy of a recent editorial from the Nation's Business which was passed on to us by one of our board members. We are making this information available to all of our employees and feel it is of sufficient public interest that I am suggesting you include it in the Chronicle.

Regards,
W. E. Walpole
President

LET'S BE HONEST

We are all concerned about our country's economic problems, but we should also try to keep them in perspective.

Sure, 8 per cent unemployment is bad. But that means 92 per cent of those wanting to work have jobs. And unemployment of "family bread-winners" is much smaller than the overall rate.

Autos and other goods are beginning to move again. The stock market is up.

So, let's cut out the panic talk and be honest about the facts. We don't have a depression, and we don't need the remedies of the 1930s to cure the problems of 1975.

School board petitions ready

The terms of two members of the Cass City Schools Board of Education are expiring this year, Supt. Donald Crouse announced this week.

Petitions for candidates for the board must be filed with the secretary of the board before 4 p.m. Monday, May 12. Correctly filled petitions can be brought to the superintendent's office. Petitions are available at the same office.

The law requires not less than 20 or more than 75 valid signatures for each petition. Authorities recommend some 35 signatures to allow for invalid signatures.

Expiring this year are the terms of Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn and Dr. Ed Scollon. Scollon is completing his first term on the board. Mrs. Prieskorn has completed 12 years on the board.

Retired school personnel to meet April 16

Tuscola County Retired School Personnel will meet Wednesday, April 16, at the Intermediate School building, 207 E. Grant St., in Caro. All retired personnel are urged to attend.

A program will be presented by Morley Travel Agency of Saginaw and refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Pvt. Anger completes training course

Army Private Don L. Anger Jr., 18, whose parents live on Phillips Road, Kingston, completed with honors an engineer equipment maintenance course at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

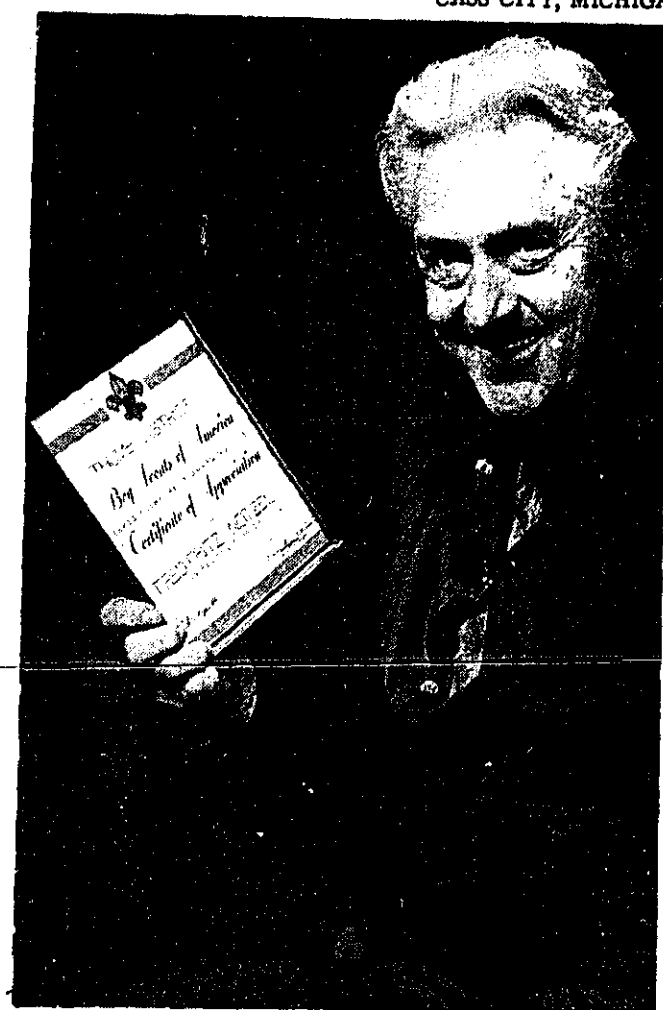

The course prepares students to perform maintenance on engineer construction and support type equipment.

He is a 1974 graduate of Kingston High School.

Depend on advice from others and you can't be independent.

ROUGH GOING

The fellow with the pinched expression today is just trying to live within his income.

FRITZ NEITZEL, Cass City, proudly displays a certificate of appreciation he received at the Boy Scout Thumb District Recognition Dinner held Saturday night in Caro. Neitzel was cited for "outstanding photo coverage" of scouting events.

Kingston council discusses water, sewer hook ups

Discussion of unpaid water bills, sewer hookups and committee appointments took up the bulk of Kingston Village Council's Monday night session.

According to Clerk Mrs. Mildred Parrott, council discussed procedures for handling late bills and also discussed the continuing problem of some property owners in the village not hooked into the sewer system.

Mrs. Parrott said a date will probably be set at the next meeting for shutting off water to those residences which are not hooked into the system.

Also at the next meeting, discussion is expected on a new plumbing code.

Committee appointments were also made. Jane Ann Laiko will serve as council President Pro-Tem.

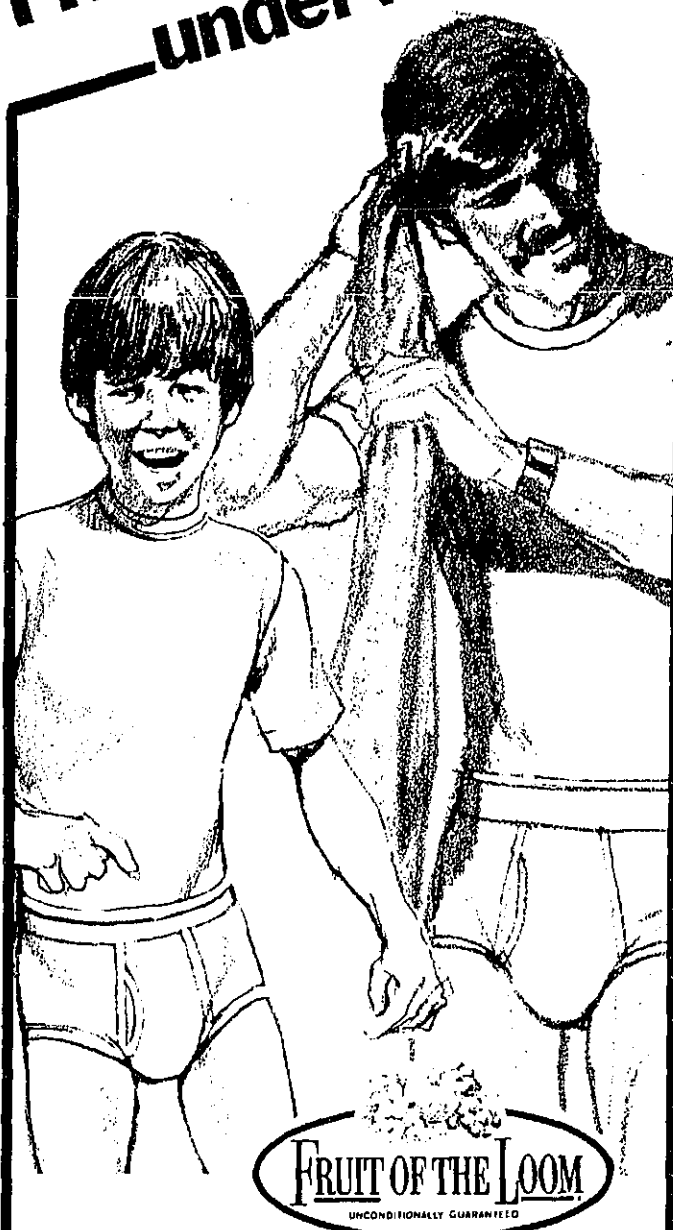

Report bicycle theft

Mrs. Tom Sutter of 6479 Main St., reported a bicycle stolen from a garage at her home Tuesday, April 1. Cass City Police said the bike was probably stolen the night before. No value was placed on the stolen bicycle.

Tom Walenta of Petoskey, president of the Michigan Pharmaceutical Association, says the new law could mean "possible consumer savings initially of about $8 million annually."

"Under the new generic drug law, the role of the pharmacist is shifted from that of a middleman for the pharmaceutical manufacturers to a patient or consumer advocate," Walenta says. "He now is able to use his experience and knowledge on behalf of the customer-patient."

Not all prescription bearers will benefit from the new law, because there are no substitutes available for a good portion of the pharmaceutical products used in all prescriptions.

Walenta says there is more than one manufacturer for products used in about 15-25 per cent of the approximately 31.5 million prescriptions dispensed in Michigan each year.

In other cases, the products are produced by one manufacturer or protected by patent laws and therefore, "price competition is practically non-existent," he says. Walenta predicts, however, that the new law will stimulate competition at the manufacturing level—and that could mean more savings for the consumers.

SAVING OPEN SPACE

experts say. But there may be hope for what's left.

Michigan is gearing up for a new program allowing tax relief to farmers who will pledge to maintain their land—not sell for commercial development—for at least 10 years.

Applications will soon be available for participation in the new open space plan authorized by the Legislature last year. And it's reported that some 1,600 Michigan farmers are waiting to sign up.

Under the plan, a participating farmer would receive a credit for state property tax, and could be exempt from special assessment for sanitary sewers, water, lights and non-farm drainage.

BRACED AT THE BRIDGE

That "shot heard 'round the world" has the good folks of Concord and Lexington, MA, up in arms, braced for an influx of tourists who want to help celebrate the 200th anniversary this month of Paul Revere's ride and the beginning of the American Revolution.

Seems there aren't enough parking spaces, eating places, etc., in those tiny New England towns to handle the expected hordes.

Those problems—and the tight economy—have Michigan officials thinking of promoting tourism at home. "Come and see the American Revolution at Mackinac Island" is one of the slogan's in mind.

PUT UP PRICES

Ever drive by a gas station, see a good-looking price and drive in, only to find that the posted price is for some type of gasoline other than the one you wanted?

A pair of bills introduced in the House recently by Rep. Sal Rocca, D-Sterling Heights, is aimed at reducing such motorist frustration.

One of Rocca's proposals would require all stations to post the price of their gasoline—and the grade of gas offered at that price—in a conspicuous place that can be seen easily by passing motorists.

The second proposal, an alternative answer to the problem, would not require posting of prices. But it would call for those stations posting prices to also show the grade of gas offered at that price, in letters at least half the size of the price.

Rocca says adoption of either one of his bills "would at least let people know what they are getting for their money before they pull into the stations."

Everyone at Coach Light Pharmacy

THANKS YOU

For your patience and understanding

We are very pleased that so many of you have been patient with us during our current remodeling and expansion.

We are doing our level best to keep the dust, the noise, and the confusion to an absolute minimum.

All of us at Coach Light will be pleased to help you find any item you desire that may be temporarily misplaced or hard to find while the carpenters are working.

You can be sure, of course, that all our prescriptions will be filled with the same careful attention that we have always given them.

Once again our sincere thanks for putting up with this unavoidable inconvenience while we go ahead with plans to make Coach Light an even better place for all your drug needs.

Dan Toner-Cass City's one-man ecology movement

By Jim Ketchum

You could call Dan Toner a one-man ecology movement. He's been waging his own "Keep America Beautiful" campaign much of his life and he doesn't have any plans to slow down in the future.

Toner lives at 4117 Doerr Rd., southwest of Cass City and it's a sure bet his stretch of the road is one of the cleanest in the county. Toner makes regular trips along the roadside, picking up discarded beer bottles and cans, pop bottles, hub caps and just about anything else that can be tossed from a moving car. "My mother used to pick up along this roadway when she lived out here," Toner explained one Saturday morning recently as he sat in the comfortable country home he's lived in the past 14 years.

"It's just something I like to do," he said. "I'm proud of where I live and I like to keep it looking nice."

Toner regularly keeps about a half-mile of the roadway picked up and once a year, generally in the spring, he picks up trash for the entire mile. Sometimes, he finds strange and valuable things along the way.

"Last year we found a wallet with money in it," he said. "Once we found a purse that belonged to a lady in the trailer court and we ended up going from door to door until we found the owner."

"Another time we found a good pair of slacks along the road. I've even found a bra," Toner said.

Hard goods aren't the only things Toner has found. Once, he found three pounds of hamburger, still in its wrapper, resting along the roadside. He suspects it must have fallen from a passing car.

"Once we were standing out in front of the house when some guy dumped his entire collection out of his car," Toner recalled. "We chased him down the road until we eventually caught him. We persuaded him to come back and pick it up. I guess he figured he'd rather do it than having the sheriff's department make him do it."

Toner has been picking up trash along the entire mile since 1970. In that time, he's found everything from a 20-foot piece of reinforcement rod to bank statements, checkbooks and threatening letters.

He's even managed to turn up someone's last will and testament.

CANS MOST PREVALENT

Still, he agrees beer cans are most prevalent. "Pabst seems to be the favorite," Toner joked. "And it's funny, quite a number of them are still full."

In fact, last week, someone tossed out a full bottle of pop that landed in Toner's front yard.

In the summer, Toner takes a bicycle with a basket to make his pickup runs along Doerr Road. At other times of the year, he uses a 20-gallon garbage can and a pickup truck.

"It's funny the reaction you get some of the time," he said. "I remember one time I was working along the road and some lady opened her door and said it was about time the village came along and picked up the trash. When I told her I wasn't working for the village, she just turned around and went inside."

In all his years of cleaning, however, Toner said no one has ever volunteered to come out and help. He said he did have one family that offered to donate their junk, however.

Toner has worked at Pontiac Motors the past 11 1/2 years and the route he travels daily to and from work also gets his eagle-eye scrutiny—primarily for hubcaps.

"At one time, I had over 300 hubcaps that I'd found," he said. His garage is still lined with a huge assortment of hubcaps that have flown off the wheels of nearly every make of car on the road.

FIRE

Mrs. Toner has also taken up the challenge to help keep the roadside neat. It paid off one day when a passing motorist pitched a lighted cigarette from his window into dry grass.

"Luckily I saw it and so did a neighbor," she said. "We grabbed shovels and beat it out before it had a chance to spread."

Had they not seen it, a large area could have burned and flames could have threatened their home.

Does Toner think he's fighting a losing battle? At times, yes.

"Sometimes I'd swear somebody was looking out and saying, hey, he's out picking up again. Let's get scattering," Toner said.

Althaver named MML regional head

Commissioners take gas bids

Aside from informal discussion of labor negotiations Tuesday, the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners met in a routine session that included the awarding of gasoline bids for the Sheriff's Department.

The board accepted a bid of 35.2 cents a gallon for unleaded gasoline from the Neeb Corporation of Bad Axe. Other bidders included Standard Oil and Gagetown Oil and Gas Co.

The board also heard a report from Roland Price, District Court Probation officer, who explained his department's $23,139 budget. He explained that in 1975, the board will pick up half this tab, with the remainder to be covered by the state.

Next year, however, under state law, the county must assume the entire budget. When the program was established, the state picked up the lion's share of expenses, but the burden has gradually shifted to county hands.

Civil Defense Director

Frank Kroswek appeared before the board with a request to update the Civil Defense network in the county at a cost of $1,124. The request was referred to committee.

The board also received federal revenue sharing funds of $81,373, it was learned.

Deford Craft Club to meet Monday

The Deford Craft Club will meet Monday night, April 14, at the Deford town hall. The meeting begins at 8:00 o'clock.

Members are asked to bring scissors and scraps of material for potholders and cloth flowers.

Mrs. Sally Wood and Mrs. Josephine Ziemba are hostesses.

Cass City Lions attend conference

Lions Clubs of District 11-D held their spring conference Sunday at Chesaning, with 403 Lions members present.

Attending from Cass City were Past District Governor and Mrs. Al Witherspoon, Treasurer and Mrs. Jim Guinther, and Secretary and Mrs. Ronald Keegan. The women represented the local Lions auxiliary.

Cass City Lions contributed $460 to state projects, with the local auxiliary contributing $200 to the Leader Dog school and $50 to Welcome Home for the Blind.

From all clubs of District 11-D, the Leader Dog school received $15,965.25, Welcome Home for the Blind received $2,570.75, the Eye Bank received $3,387.50, and CARE received $1,992.75.

During the day-long program, slide presentations of a trip to China and the Chesaning Showboat were given, along with musical selections by a group from Chesaning High School.

Speaker for the dinner was Past International Director William Chandler of Montgomery, Ala.

permits throw-away containers, especially bottles. "In Oregon they've got a law against disposable bottles," he said. "I'd like to see it here. I think when you give people something valuable that they can return for money, they'll do it. And you wouldn't see nearly as much trash along the highways."

"When I was a kid, we'd jump at the chance to find a pop bottle along the road," he said. "Heck, they were worth two cents apiece. If you found a couple of those, you could turn them in for a candy bar or something like that."

Toner also favors making all beverage cans aluminum and recycling them.

While much of the problem involves present legislation, another part of it boils down to affluence, he said.

"We've always had too much in this country," he said. "We've been able to afford to throw things away. In poorer countries, you don't find junk along the roads the way you find it here."

But until people change their ingrained habits or until laws are changed, Toner plans to continue his one-man beautification program.

Still, he'd appreciate it if other persons in other parts of the area could do the same thing.

"If everybody did his own, there wouldn't be the problem," he said. "It's just a matter of pride."

BETTER HEALTH

Another look at mercy killing

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

When the aging, retired leader of a theological seminary and his crippled wife coolly took fatal doses of sleeping pills in a joint suicide pact, their clear heads, their acknowledged religious authority and the absence of painful terminal illness made their action the most unclouded example of active euthanasia or "mercy killing" of recent public record.

There are of course many advocates these days of "passive" as opposed to "active" euthanasia, those who favor the right to die without being kept alive by heroic artificial means. Most doctors have in their files letters from patients explicitly requesting that if they become irrevocably ill, or are no longer able to decide for themselves, that nothing be done to prolong their lives.

But most of us shrink from the prospects of taking positive action to end another's life, even in extremes, much less of ending our own.

If allowing someone to die by withholding treatment which might defer that death is a sin, as many feel, it is sin of omission rather than one of commission, as is the case with taking a deliberate overdose of sleeping pills.

The theologian and his wife were not in a depression, which is the common state of most suicides, nor were they suffering insupportable pain. She was arthritic, had had surgery of her hips, but had been able to travel abroad a month before her death. He walked with a cane because of a stroke, and for five years had been unable to speak intelligibly.

In the letter they left behind, they described their act as a responsible one, which "will become more usual and acceptable as the years pass." The letter went on to say, "we are both increasingly weak and unwell and who would want to die in a nursing home?"

Their friends with whom they had discussed their plans were divided in their views, some approving the decision as a rational solution in the face of their dwindling strength and progressive invalidism. Others were strongly opposed for religious reasons, or on the equally understandable ground that the mystery of life and the mystery of death are so profound, and in the final analysis so inscrutable, that the best of man's rational inquiry seems puny and out of scale when we presume to comprehend them.

There is no doubt that the decision they reached was no less than urgently serious, and yet there is something curiously enclosed, highly personal and self-sufficient in assuming the active responsibility for terminating a life, the meaning of which one cannot pretend to understand.

Theirs, as one views it from the outside, appears to have been for many years an especially fortunate life physically, materially and spiritually. By their testimony, it was turning physically sour.

Does life have meaning only when we are in proper trim? Is there nothing to learn or understand from adversity? Is adversity harder to bear if it comes only as a contrast to years of comfort and vigor and accomplishment?

What about those whose lives are as the ailing Alexander Pope described his, "This long disease, my life?" It seems to me that I have seen human behavior under insupportable physical handicap and hopelessness reach heights that can only be called sublime, making one proud to number oneself as a member of the human race.

Is the end of the line so different that one must insist on having it only one way?

These are questions I cannot presume to answer. Nor do I know how to weigh one man's limit against another's. But so long as a man's head is clear, there must be a better proposition to put to life than the requirement that I should bear no hardship in seeing it through to its appointed end.

Gagetown man injured Friday

place at 3:45 p.m. A Sebewaing man escaped injury Saturday when the car he was driving went out of control and struck a County Road Commission truck on Bay City-Forestville Road, five miles west of Gagetown.

Caro State Police reported the car driven by Kenneth William Haley, 17, of Sebewaing, was headed west when he attempted to pass the parked truck, operated by Lewis Tibbitts of 6317 Houghton St., Cass City.

Police said Haley lost control, struck a snowbank, and eventually hit the truck.

Haley told officers the sun and glare hindered his vision. He was not injured and no ticket was issued. The accident took place at 3:50 p.m.

Wednesday, April 2, cars driven by Lawrence James Smith, 60, of 6359 Houghton St., and Glenda Ann Hallock, 19, of 6374 Fourth St., collided at the intersection of M-81 and Koepfgen Road.

Sheriff's deputies who investigated reported Smith who was headed west on M-81, apparently signaled to make a right turn but started to make a left turn instead, striking the oncoming Hallock vehicle.

No ticket was issued and neither driver was injured. The accident took place at 1:20 p.m.

Tuesday, April 1, cars driven by Kurt Edward Zemke, 16, of 5878 Bruce St., Deford, and David Lee Krause, 19, of Snover, collided at the intersection of Main and Leach Streets.

Cass City Police who investigated said the Zemke vehicle was headed west and could not see the Krause vehicle eastbound because the sun was shining in his eyes.

Krause was ticketed for transporting an open container of alcoholic beverages in the car. Neither driver was injured in the 3:30 p.m. accident.

Cass City Village Council Meeting

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on March 25, 1975, at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present.

The minutes of the regular February meeting were read and approved.

The financial report for January and February was reviewed.

The recommendation of the Budget and Finance Committee to advertise locally for bids for a three year insurance program effective July 1, 1975, to be received at the regular May meeting was accepted.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Jones that the recommendation of the Streets and Parking Committee to receive bids at the regular April meeting on the 1975 curb and gutter project. Motion carried.

Discussion followed on the lack of action concerning the Stevens Estate, proceeds of which are to be used for a public pool. Council decided to wait one more month before taking any action.

In view of the parking problem in the alleys it was noted by the Public Safety Committee that parking will be restricted to 15 minutes for loading purposes only in the alleys.

A motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Bliss that the committees and board appointments recommended by the Village President be approved. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Hampshire that the millage rate of 13 mills be levied on the state equalized valuation of the Village of Cass City in the amount of $12,245,050.00. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Rawson that the bills as examined be approved for payment. Motion carried.

There being no further business a motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Jones that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.

Cass City digs out from under 17-inch snowfall

said. "They've pitched in and just done one hell of a job for us. Without them, we'd be lost." Some hospital staff were working two and three shifts, sleeping in hallways a few hours at a time. Others worked straight through, some putting in upwards of 20 continuous hours.

Two expectant mothers were reportedly brought in by volunteers, one by the Elkland Township Fire Department.

Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said about 10 persons from the Elkton area became stranded in Cass City Wednesday night and were housed at the fire hall until roads were opened.

He said firemen with four-wheel drive vehicles made numerous runs to bring in staff personnel for the hospital and Provincial House. Many of the employees live out of town on snow-choked side roads, Jezewski said.

General Telephone Co. customer service manager James Thompson said a minimal amount of trouble calls were received by the company, most involving downed telephone lines in villages and cities.

He said the major problem was getting repair crews to the trouble scene. "We kept all our equipment off the road Thursday and Friday until the road commissions got their work completed," Thompson said.

Thompson indicated the fact that most of Gen-Tel's cables are buried underground saved the company from long hours of repair work and service interruptions.

FIRE

Elkland Township Firemen braved slippery roads Thursday afternoon to extinguish a fire in the furnace room of a house trailer occupied by the Robert Neiman family on M-81, two and one-half miles west of Cass City.

Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said the blaze started from an overheated oil furnace, and burned a hole in the floor of the structure. The fire was confined to the furnace area, Jezewski said.

Damage was estimated at $600. Firemen answered the alarm at 5:30 p.m., and remained at the scene about 45 minutes. No one was injured.

THE SNOW was pretty to look at but oh, so heavy and wet.

IT WAS A snowy scene in Cass City Thursday morning before plows could begin their work on Main Street. In all, 17 inches of the white stuff blanketed the area.

THIS IS SPRING? That's what the calendar says, but this scene along Main Street Friday morning looks like the dead of winter.

Volunteers fill the breach at hospital during storm

Over a dozen volunteers lent their time and energy to Hills and Dales General Hospital Thursday and Friday to help keep the institution going after the late winter snow storm stranded many hospital staff members in their homes.

The call went out around 6:00 a.m. Thursday and among the first to respond were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Little, who live just across the street from the hospital. For Little, the time was as much fun as it was work.

"We got there around seven or so," he recalled. "We got a few other people together and just pitched in and did what we could to help."

Little spent much of his day in the kitchen and delivering meal trays to patients in their rooms. He said things went a little slow because it was more fun to stop and chat with people, most of whom Little has come to know in his nearly 30 years in Cass City. "I think they (the patients) got kind of a bang out of it seeing me delivering those trays," he said.

His wife, Edith, spent most of her 14-hour day in the obstetrics ward, helping feed and tend to new babies.

Another volunteer, attorney Clinton House, spent much of the day in the kitchen washing dishes and helping prepare meals.

Other volunteers did whatever they could to help, from working in the stockroom to helping the skeleton staff of nurses care for patients.

"I don't know how we could have ever managed without them," Administrator Randy D. Howard said. "They came in and did a tremendous job."

As for Little, he enjoyed himself the whole day. He said the day reminded him of a similar storm back in 1947.

"I can remember here north of town that the snowbanks were piled so high that they had to dig down under the snow to repair the telephone wires," Little said.

He said back then, the town got together and struggled through the emergency with volunteer help, just as it did last week.

"Heck," Little said, "it was fun. I didn't have anything better to do anyhow. I got a big kick out of it."

Volunteers were active elsewhere, too. According to Constance Langmaid, director of nurses at Provincial House, a snowmobile loaned by Frank Mosher of Cass City and help from the Elkland Township Fire Department helped keep the facility staffed.

"We're very grateful to Mr. Mosher for the use of his snowmobile and for the volunteer help from the firemen," Mrs. Langmaid said.

She said there were no medical emergencies at the facility during the storm.

THIS SCENE was repeated over and over in Cass City last week as residents continued to dig out from under 17 inches of snow. Here, Mike Papp makes a dent in a giant drift on Seeger Street.

Little League to meet

It must be spring. Authorities announced this week that an organizational meeting for the Cass City Little League and Minor League will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the conference room at Walbro Corporation. All managers and anyone else interested are urged to attend the April 15 meeting.

held this year at Central Michigan University.

The three schools are Bad Axe, Cass City and Caro. Plans call for each school's representatives to run a third of the distance. Cass City's thincads will meet Bad Axe runners east of the village and run to where Caro thincads will be waiting at a point to be selected west of the village.

Coach Dale McIntosh said that plans are not yet firm but that he is hoping that a club or clubs will sponsor the runners and thus help the program at CMU.

Proceed cautiously at all times—too many people mistake spectacular effort for success.

THIS GROUP of hospital employees were among many who worked in excess of two shifts at the facility during last week's blizzard. Shown smiling through tired eyes are (from the left, standing) Esther Buehry, Marion Turner, Beverly Rockefeller, and Phyllis Linderman. Seated is Elizabeth Knowlton.

Band to perform in Kalamazoo Saturday

The Cass City High School band will perform in the State Band Festival to be held in Kalamazoo Saturday, May 3. As part of the trip, the band will perform in an assembly at Thornapple-Kellogg High School in Middleville Friday, May 2.

Band members will stay overnight in private homes in Middleville, journeying to Kalamazoo the following day, according to band director George Bushong.

The arrangements were made to allow band members to return in time for the Senior prom and Gavel Club track meet, also scheduled the same day. As part of the plan, members of the Thornapple-Kellogg High School Band will perform in an assembly at Cass City April 24.

Bushong said chaperones will accompany the 64 band members on the overnight trip.

Riding Club to meet

Due to last week's spring blizzard, the April meeting of the Indian Trails Riding Club has been rescheduled for Thursday at the clubhouse. The meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m.
