Concerned over maintenance

Council gets first look at proposed park lease terms

Cass City Village Council began wrestling with lease requirements for the football field and track at the village park during its regularly scheduled Tuesday meeting, that could set the stage for large-scale, costly improvements on facilities by the Board of Education.

Once a new lease is ironed out, renovations could begin that could cost upwards of $100,000, according to estimates made last fall when the board discussed the issue at length.

Basically, council is agreeable to a lease with some modifications to be negotiated. But consensus of trustees boiled down to making sure the grounds and surrounding buildings are maintained.

Without going on record specifically, council seemed to favor keeping control over maintenance such as mowing grass and picking up litter, while making the school district responsible for such improvements as painting and repair of areas around the stadium, including bleachers, and for other improvements such as lights. Presently there is no formal lease. The district pays a yearly $800 rental fee.

Under terms of a proposed lease read by Village President Lambert Althaver at the meeting, the lease would run 25 years with a yearly fee of one dollar and other considerations. The school would be responsible for all utilities including water and electricity to the stadium and for maintenance of the leased area.

The school would have the alternative of buying maintenance service from the village or providing it themselves. Costs charged by the village would probably be based on Michigan Highway Department standards, Althaver explained.

The school could make improvements in lights and moveable seating, the village president explained, with the right to remove such improvements if the lease were to expire.

He said the leased property would still be available to other users not conflicting with school athletic activities.

Althaver brought up several questions from school officials regarding the proposed conditions. They questioned whether or not the Ale Street right of way would still be maintained by the village, which, he said, it would since it has been designated a major street and Cass City receives state highway maintenance funding for it.

School officials also want council to spell out what satisfactory maintenance means. Trustees expressed concern over grounds maintenance especially litter. Trustee Dr. D.E. Rawson was critical of grounds keeping at the high school and said council should be careful to make sure the park is maintained.

Scheduling was also questioned by school authorities. They also wanted information about an option to renew any 25-year lease.

The whole point, Althaver said, is that the school wants some security that it can maintain control over the athletic field areas of the park for a long period of time before beginning major improvements such as new lights, expanded seating capacity and a new track surface.

He said a longer, 99-year lease would amount to selling the school district the property and council has no authority to make such a sale.

Responding to a question by Trustee James Ware, Althaver said school officials have given no definite assurance that improvements would be made, even if the lease is approved, but said the lease would put pressure on the school district to do something.

He called the lights "the worst in the league", and said a survey showed two poles have been deemed dangerous, while the others are in varying degrees of decay.

The inference, he said, is that once the lease is approved, something will be done in the way of improvements.

Ware said a full clarification of maintenance would be needed before any lease could be signed.

"The school's been pretty lax over some things over there," he said. "There were sponges scattered all over after the high jump at the last meet. I think we should try to keep the park in as good a condition as possible."

Trustee William Bliss agreed that the village would get a better job if it kept control over grounds maintenance.

Althaver indicated that he wants to see the issue settled as soon as possible, definitely before fall sports begin.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, it was learned that a protest action regarding the handling of the Stevens estate, which will eventually finance the lion's share of a municipal swimming pool, has been filed against the Internal Revenue Service by administrators of the estate. No details were available.

Council accepted a bid of $335.78 on a 1957 John Deere tractor submitted by Chuck O'Dell of Cass City and a bid of $7,218.71 as annual premium for the village insurance program. Low bidder was Farm Bureau Insurance Group. Effective date of the insurance bid is July 1, pending final approval by council's finance committee.

Council learned that curb and gutter work on several village streets should begin later this week.

Council acknowledged a $500 contribution from the Elkland-Novesta Community Chest for the village park program.

Police recover stolen car

Caro State Police recovered a stolen auto Sunday near the intersection of Hurds Corner Road and M-81 that had reportedly been stolen from a Port Huron parking lot the night before.

Police said the car was spotted by Ms. Sherry Spaulding of 3551 E. Caro Rd., early Sunday afternoon parked near the intersection. Officers said the car had been hot-wired and stolen from a parking lot near Port Huron General Hospital.

Ms. Spaulding told officers she did not see anyone leaving the vehicle and could not say exactly when it arrived. Police said they have no suspects.

VANDALISM

Ms. Viola Rochleau of 4929 State St., Gagetown, reported vandals entered her garage Friday evening and scattered a large amount of empty cigarette packs that were being stored in plastic bags.

Tuscola County Sheriff's officers said the vandals also poured gasoline on the litter. They said nothing else was touched. The incident took place between 8:00 and 9:30 p.m.

Cass City Police investigated a broken window at a building site at Salem United Methodist church Friday. Police said a large stone was thrown through a window, doing about $30 damage. Police have no suspects.

OTHER INCIDENTS

Diane Kay Leitch of Elkton reported her purse stolen from the Autopulse plant Friday. She told Cass City Police she left the purse on a lunch table outside the plant and when she returned, it was gone.

About $35 was lost, police said. No suspects have been arrested.

Daniel Lee Cooper, Cass City, reported a billfold was stolen from his car Saturday as it was parked on Main Street between Sherman and Maple. No money was reported missing, police said.

Erla announces Big D sale

Dick Erla announced that the new Big D restaurant that he recently completed has been sold to a veteran restaurant man from Bad Axe.

The new owner is Dale Dwight Deering. Although a young man, Deering already has six years' experience working at the A&W restaurant at Bad Axe. Deering is single and lives in Elkton.

ONE OF THE youngest marchers in Monday's Memorial Day parade was Ronda Thompson, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson of Cass City. Here, she attempts to get her pet lamb, Bambi, ready for the festivities.

Police report flood of speeding tickets

Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson reported a flood of traffic tickets were issued by his department over the Memorial Day week end, with the most serious involving speeds in excess of 50 miles an hour in posted 25 mph zones.

Wilson said 15 traffic tickets were written by Cass City officers from Friday through Sunday. The police chief said one violation involved a motorist allegedly speeding 56 mph in a posted 25 mph zone on Seeger Street.

Other violations involved speeds in excess of 40 miles an hour along both Seeger and Main Streets.

Wilson said Sunday was especially bad because few cars were on the streets. He added three other tickets were written involving open beer in a car.

In spite of the problems with speeders, the week end was relatively safe, with the only serious accident occurring Friday, sending two persons to Hills and Dales General Hospital with injuries.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies identified the victims as Bernard J. Dillon, 23, of 6737 Houghton St., Cass City, and Carol A. Dillon, 12, of 4118 Seeger St.

Officers said the pair were riding a motorcycle on private property southeast of the village when the machine went out of control and threw them both.

The mishap took place at 8:40 p.m. Also Friday, a car driven by Willie Wilfred Randall, 20, of Sheridan Road, Caro, went out of control and landed on the east side of Hurds Corner Road, five and a half miles southwest of Cass City.

Randall told Sheriff's deputies he hit a patch of fog around 1:30 a.m., causing him to lose control. He was not injured.

Saturday, a car driven by Franklin Blake Holcomb, 21, of 2284 McArthur Rd., Deford, struck and killed a deer on Cemetery Road, a mile south of Cass City.

Cass City Police said the deer ran from the west side of the road into the path of the car. Holcomb was not injured in the 4:00 a.m. mishap.

3-VEHICLE MISHAP

A Cass City man was treated for injuries after his car collided with a motorcycle in a three-vehicle accident on M-53 north of Bad Axe Friday.

Huron county Sheriff's deputies said Johnnie C. Loftis, 20, of Madison Heights, suffered a compound fracture of his right leg after his motorcycle collided with a car being driven by Louis G. Papp, 18, of Cass City.

Officers said Papp attempted a left turn in front of the oncoming motorcycle. After striking the southbound car, the northbound cycle struck a southbound car driven by Mary A. Ruggles, 66, of Sandusky.

Loftis was taken to Huron Memorial Hospital for treatment and then transferred to Detroit Providence Hospital due to the extent of his injury.

Papp was ticketed for careless driving, officers said. A passenger in the Papp auto, Robert Mitchell of Cumber Rd., Uby, was not injured. The accident took place at 3:50 p.m.

Special children: Concern of Mrs. Herron

MRS. SHIRLEY HERRON, special education teacher at Kingston Elementary School, will retire this year after nearly 23 years of teaching. She has worked in the special education program at Kingston the past 10 years.

By Jim Ketchum

A concern for children and a desire to help kids with learning difficulties has been the hallmark of Mrs. Shirley Herron's career as a special education teacher at Kingston Elementary School.

Mrs. Herron will retire at the end of this school year after nearly 23 years as a teacher. She's had 19 years of classroom teaching, with a lot of substituting along the way that's built up the years.

Mrs. Herron looked back on her years in teaching, especially the last 10 years as special education instructor at Kingston, one warm May afternoon following another day of helping youngsters with learning difficulties expand their worlds.

Mrs. Herron smiled warmly, her eyes glinting behind steel-rim glasses as she reflected on her career.

"I've always liked working with slow children," she said. "I enjoy the idea of individual instruction and being able to practice it in an integrated classroom."

She explained the word "integrated" in this sense means her students don't spend all day in the special education room. Some come for only one subject. Others may come for two or three. In all, Mrs. Herron works with 18 students at Kingston.

She teaches her special students the fundamentals of reading, spelling and arithmetic. She also teaches the children how to perceive and how eventually to retain concepts.

"Many of these students have high IQ's," Mrs. Herron explained. "The difference between them and other students is that their brains don't perceive the same way ours do. They can't retain as well and can't put concepts together as well. But they are bright."

Her students, ranging from first through sixth grade, often stay in special education throughout their elementary educations.

"It's interesting that these children know they need special help and they look forward to coming to my room," she said. "We get to know each other pretty well."

She also stresses verbalization, especially for students who have speech difficulties. "How else will you ever learn to communicate if you don't verbalize," she said.

BACKGROUND

Mrs. Herron was born in Detroit, but grew up in Mitchell, South Dakota. Following a stint at college in California, she graduated from Eastern Michigan University and began teaching.

She says in her years as a teacher, much of the stigma associated with special education has disappeared, although much still remains.

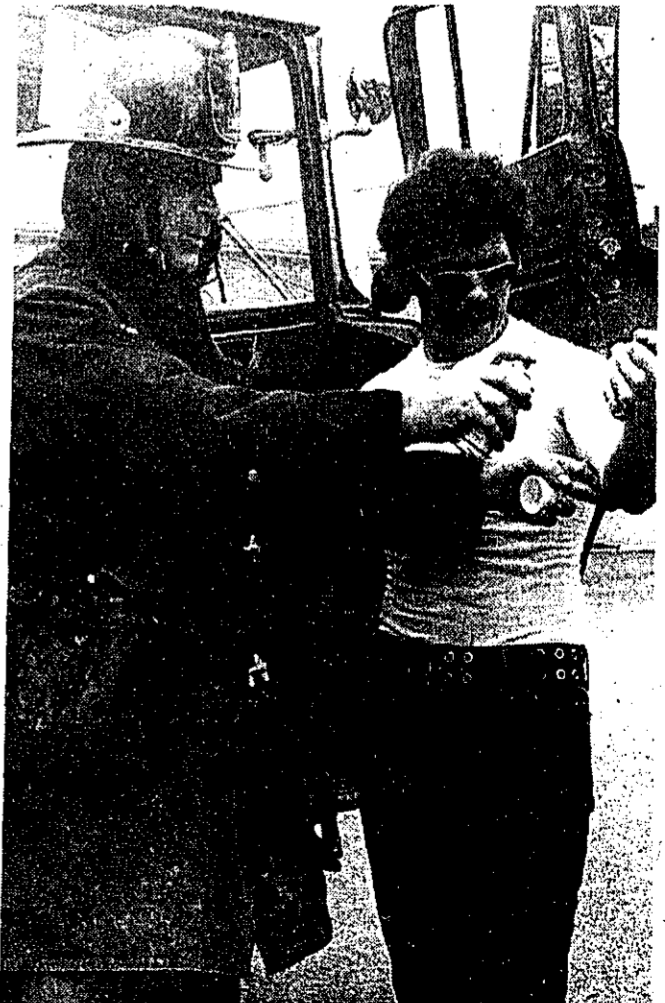

"Often our biggest problem is getting the parents involved," she said. "It's interesting to note that families with poorer incomes generally accept the fact that their child needs special education much more readily than parents with greater incomes."

"Sometimes we can't even get parents to sign the consent form for their children to be tested to see whether or not they should be considered for special ed."

Mrs. Herron sees her function as one taking great patience. Her satisfaction comes from seeing a student who couldn't read, write or even speak begin to open up and begin catching up to his fellow students.

"In my years, I've learned that kids don't want to be different from each other," Mrs. Herron commented. "They want to stay as much the same as possible. With our system here, a student doesn't spend all his time in the special ed room. He gets to be with his friends playing ball and having fun. This, I

Nothing personal, please

BY JIM FITZGERALD

The day after one of our ships was missing, U.S. Senator James Buckley was on TV urging a "clinical bombing" of Cambodia.

Clinical? Most viewers probably let the adjective slide by without question. After all, Sen. Buckley is the brother of William Buckley, the erudite columnist and TV personality who is always saying things no one understands. But he looks fearfully intelligent while he says them and Johnny Carson genuflects at every apostrophe. If William Buckley's brother says a bomb can be clinical, most people are going to figure he knows what he is talking about, even if he is a senator. But I have a sticky ear, probably the result of an early boxing by my parents who hoped I would grow up to invent the electric light. (If you don't understand this paragraph, you never saw Mickey Rooney sell sandwiches in a railroad car. William Buckley isn't the only erudite columnist.)

Anyway, "clinical" created a clog in my ear. Just what in hell is a clinical bomb?

My immediate reaction was that it is a contradiction in terms. Bombs destroy; clinics repair.

An anti-tank missile is aimed at a tank. A clinical bomb might be aimed at a clinic, further maiming the wounded, killing the sick, and creating hopeless havoc in bookkeeping where the extent of Blue Cross-Blue Shield coverage would have to be determined in triplicate while the clinical bombs fell. All is fair in war. (All used to be fair in love, too, but that was before the toupee and the padded bra.)

But certainly Sen. Buckley was not recommending the Red Cross be used as a bullseye. I made an apt turn to my American Heritage dictionary. After wading through all the medical definitions of clinical, I discovered this possibility: to be clinical also means to be "highly objective." And, a few pages over, it said to be objective is to be "uninfluenced by emotion or personal prejudice."

That must be what Sen. Buckley means. The U.S. should be cool when it drops the bombs on Cambodia. Not angry; not happy. No emotion at all. Nothing personal. Think of strategic targets, not soft people.

If that's his idea, Sen. Buckley has not suggested anything new. That's how we bombed in Vietnam. And that's how we bombed in Cambodia the first time, remember?

In fact, the Pentagon and the White House were so unemotional about the earlier bombing of Cambodia, they were comatose. Nixon and the generals thought the bombing was such an unexciting non-event it really wasn't worth talking about. Those clinical bombs dropped for a year and the people paying for them didn't know about it. Neither did most of Congress. Not even the Secretary of the Air Force knew what his planes were doing. That's clinical cool, man.

Sen. Buckley is not asking too much. It is easy to be clinical from behind a cloud, or from behind a desk. Just push the button and fly away to cocktail hour. No emotional involvement. Clinical bombing is something like kissing your ugly cousin: peck and run and forget it.

Down on the ground with the cousins, of course, it's a little more difficult—not to become emotionally involved. A clinical bomb might destroy your home, kill your child, or blow off your leg. Nothing personal, of course, but it's hard not to cry. It's hard not to cry.

Farm Bureau group meets

The Up and Atom Farm Bureau group met Monday evening, May 19, at the Farm Bureau building in Caro with the Harmony Farm Bureau group as guests. Hosts for the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Millard Smith.

Following the regular business meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hobart were guests of honor at a party which was concluded with the serving of ice cream and wedding cake. Mr. Hobart and Mrs. Hazel Patterson were married April 5. They were presented with a gift.

GREG DECKER and Marie Hobart, Cass City High School seniors, received $25 savings bonds and dictionaries from Zonta Club president Dorothy Ballard Thursday. The awards are presented annually by Zonta.

Completes course

Army Private Richard N. Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nester J. Rodriguez, Unionville, completed a mechanic course at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

He was trained to repair engines and automotive chassis components.

CHERYL O'HARRIS, Cass City High School senior, was awarded the Harold Ferguson award as outstanding senior band member last week. Making the presentation is band director George Bushong. The award is voted by other band members. Miss O'Harris has been a band member since she was an elementary student, and plays piano, flute and is mallet percussionist.

Lightning bolt hits power pole

Fire, started by a bolt of lightning, struck a power pole near the intersection of Lamton and Shabbona Roads Wednesday night, May 21, bringing Elkland Township Firemen to the scene shortly after 9:00 p.m.

Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said firemen remained at the scene until Detroit Edison crews arrived at the scene to repair the damage, estimated at around $500. No one was injured.

A fire run shortly before 6 p.m. the same day proved to be a false alarm, Jezewski said.

Correction

Mrs. Esther McCullough was incorrectly identified as president of the library board last week. She is secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Charles Tuckey is president of the board. We regret the error.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Every year about now the topic around the homestead is our vacation.

It is the topic now and it will be the topic a month or so from now, too.

It's not that we have any big hang ups where half the family wants to live it up at a swank hotel and the remainder wants to rough it in a log cabin somewhere.

It's not that at all. We're agreed that the best vacations include all the comforts of home and maybe a few more that don't come our way at the old homestead.

What it is, is that as far as I can see now, there will never be a time again this summer when a vacation fits into everyone's busy schedule.

That's the way it is and that's the way it has always been.

Vacations around here are planned ahead, sometimes two or three days before we leave, but more often a day is all the time that we can devote to it.

The routine is to suddenly discover that the work load is not as far behind as usual, the kids haven't anything planned for next week and the bank balance is as healthy as it ever gets.

When this happens it's time to take off. We've had some wonderful times that way. One fine vacation we traipsed off to Metropolitan Airport in Detroit and inquired about trips to the west coast and to the east coast. When we found that a plane was leaving in 15 minutes for New York we all jumped on and our vacation that year was in the New England states.

While this has obvious drawbacks, it has its advantages, too.

I'm always astonished with those folks who can plan a vacation six months ahead and then take off at the precise time scheduled and like clockwork arrive at designated spots at designated times.

Astonished, but not envious. I want to be free on a vacation. Why go on to Wilnot if you are finding what you want in Deford just because you figured that you should be in Wilnot at 8:04 on Tuesday and not a second later?

Last year I broke precedent and planned a once in a lifetime jaunt to northern Quebec with the family touring and the men fishing.

That had as much chance to succeed as our dog has of shaking his fleas. Next to none at all.

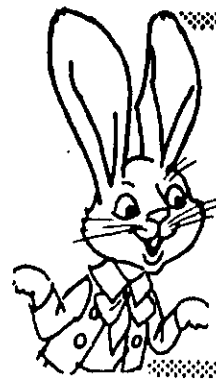

What happened was what always happens. We went nowhere, nowhere at all... except when we pulled stakes on Thursday for a four-day spur of the moment vacation to Wisconsin.

Yet these 80-plus degree days have us thinking again... not planning, heaven forbid... just thinking about where it would be nice to go.

For a decade now it's been in the back of my head that maybe the family vacation could be to the Black Hills and then on to Montana for a fishing, sight-seeing vacation.

I've already solved one of the problems. My son is ready, even eager to go. I promised to let him drive.

The women in the family are another problem. Aren't they always?

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Be careful, you might be standing on black gold. It's here, waiting to be found, predicts Syd Dyer, Roscommon, regional geologist for the Department of Natural Resources. He says that it's down deeper than the mile or so that wells are now being drilled. In the next five years this area might be like the Mt. Pleasant area was 25 years ago, he says.

This is small business week (yawn). It's small business week because President Ford decreed it. He did it in proclamation number 4376.

Ain't that great?

The open house Friday at Walbro was surprisingly large. Upwards of 500 persons took the plant tour and five guides proved to be not enough to handle the crowds. Proving again that interest in Walbro and in home town industry in Cass City is as great as always. In addition, Walbro occupies a unique niche in the Cass City business scene as a locally sponsored industry with local money invested in company stock.

If you stumble across a Primula mistassinica this summer be extra careful. It's a candidate for the endangered species list.

The flower occurs in very small numbers in highly isolated areas, according to the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

Oh yes, the Primula mistassinica is also known as the Birds-eye Primrose.

Maybe that helps you? When I read that I didn't know anymore about what it was than I did when the department experts told me it was a Primula mistassinica.

The annual awards night for Cass City High School athletes last week was highlighted by presentation of awards for outstanding members of all teams. There were many of them. Another that could be added is one for the persons, not playing, just helping. For instance, a work award would be very appropriate for persons like Ann Whittaker. She was there and keeping statistics during football, wrestling and track season. I don't think she missed a game.

Speaking of the banquet, I say again that it should be changed. There are just too many faces, too many sports, too many coaches for more than a passing glance at any. The kids get lost in a sea of faces.

The Republicans are really in a losing streak. Dick Erla, a Democrat's Democrat if there ever was one, invaded the GOP ranks last week at a fund raising program in Bad Axe. A car raffle was held and one of the three finalists was Erla who then sold out at a profit. Democrat Dick also won a side bet with his GOP pals and still was chortling about it all as we went to press.

Leader Dogs for The Blind®

The Dog

A Leader Dog looks ahead, always ready to lead and serve his human partner. A Leader Dog is something very special for it has earned its badge of excellence by completing four months of concentrated training.

The School

LEADER DOGS FOR THE BLIND is a school of utmost importance to blind people who want desperately to remain active in the community. Well over 200 blind men and women visit the school each year to get Leader Dogs. Great effort is made to guarantee every eligible person will be trained with a Leader Dog if he makes application.

The school in Rochester, Michigan, is dependent entirely upon voluntary contributions. It takes money — a lot of money — to operate the training program. It takes a lot of dogs, dog food and equipment, training staff, dormitory staff and organization to maintain classes the year around.

Although the applicant pays no fee, the cost of training the dog, housing the applicant during the four weeks of team training, and working with the Leader and Person 'team' (to bring them to the point of complete trust in each other) is approximately $3,000.00.

Leader Dogs for the Blind provides the means of mobility so the blind man can resume his responsibility, so he can seek the same opportunities as any other citizen. The Leader Dog School wants the blind man to be able to look, to search for his position the same as anyone else. The School wants to put the man back on his feet with a Leader Dog.

The Person

The blind man wants to produce and enjoy the fruits of his labor the same as those who can see. He doesn't want sympathy. He wants to become a customer for the goods which all the world wants to sell.

People with less than usual vision, over 16 years of age, in good health, emotionally stable and of good moral character may be eligible for Leader Dog training.

Students live under constant supervision of competent instructors during a four week training period. Training is conceived as a re-education emotionally and physically to a new way of effective living.

After a period of "getting acquainted" with his Leader Dog, the student is taken to the small, quiet town of Rochester where actual pedestrian training is begun. In progressive stages adjustment to more hazardous traffic conditions is accomplished through training on the busy streets, in the heavy traffic and hurrying crowds of Birmingham and Royal Oak, Michigan.

At the end of four weeks training with a Leader Dog, the hesitant blind student is changed to an erect confident person who has challenged and conquered one of life's severest handicaps.

--LEADER DOG CANDIDATES--

- Breed — German Shepherd, Labrador Retriever or Golden Retriever
Age — One year to two years.
Height — 24" minimum at shoulder.
Personality — Friendly, without fear of traffic, elevators or any other obstacle encountered by human beings in their living habits.

There is a constant shortage of dogs with the right temperament. Many do not qualify for graduation, therefore, it is necessary to "try" many more dogs than are actually turned out as leaders. No dogs are purchased. All are contributed by families who have no further need for a big dog but are careful about selecting the future home for their pet.

If you feel you have a candidate for Leader Dog training contact any Lions Club member anywhere.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Unstapling the navel

By Jim Ketchum

Thanks to Newsweek Magazine, the younger generation now knows the truth—Hugh Hefner did not invent nudity. Now someone must explain to an anxious world that Newsweek didn't either.

The latest installment in the poor man's "Playboy" is a nude photo of Jean Harlow taken back in 1928 by a studio cameraman who apparently wanted a few kicks. The picture remained buried until 1940 when a young man got it by trading five Clark Gable photos for it on a Hollywood set.

Now I realize I have to explain who Jean Harlow was, surprising as it may seem for you readers past the age 50. She was a dramatic actress of the early 1930's who died at the age of 26 in 1937. She was a sultry sort of character-kind of an early Raquel Welch.

Anyway, Newsweek, in its infinite wisdom, decided publishing the photo of Miss Harlow in the buff was newsworthy, had some socially-redeeming qualities about it and would sell more magazines. So there sits Jean, wearing nothing but a look of complete aloofness, staring at its readers.

This isn't the first time the wise editors of Newsweek have chosen to give us our 50 cents worth. Nearly every week, someone turns up in the "together on their "News-makers" pages. The likes of her in a see-through dress, or instance, have graced these pages.

So have numerous other uxom beauties whose talent it resided below their necks. Apparently the people at Newsweek enjoy seeing just how far they can go before their publication is officially declared pornographic and banned in Boston. Probably they are hoping for trouble in the Massachusetts capital of prudity, civil rights and freedom of education.

If you're banned in Boston, chances are good you'll make a fortune elsewhere.

But now that the secret is out that nude photos were made long before Hugh Hefner began putting staples in all those navels, something must be done to keep the king of the bunny hutch off welfare. With the myth that Hef invented sex shattered as well his empire is beginning to crumble around him.

His latest country singer-girlfriend-companion Barbi Benton, who sings like a cat scratching on a screen door isn't bringing Hefner's empire any excess profits. Neither are the hotels, the movie company or the recording studios.

If Newsweek were really concerned about the future of the nation and with reducing the welfare rolls, it would have stayed out of Hefner's nude photo publishing business and stuck to reporting wars, famine, pestilence and all those other savory things we accept in our living rooms and on our TV sets.

Newsweek should stick to blood and gore and leave sex to Hefner. It's our duty to keep him in business, just to prevent all those unemployed bunnies from going on welfare.

Most probably don't realize you can actually make money standing up.

Anyway, Newsweek, watch it from now on. Your country is depending on you.

Memorial parade held Monday

Despite threatening weather Monday morning, Cass City's annual Memorial Day parade came off without a hitch as crowds lined Main Street to watch horses, brightly-decorated bicycles, clowns, fire engines and antique cars wend their way through the center of town to Elkland cemetery.

Even though the calendar didn't read May 30, it was still Memorial Day, complete with all the usual trimmings.

Among the groups featured were the American Legion, Cass City High School Band, Cass City Pre-School Nursery, the Elkland Township Fire Department and several area 4-H groups.

At Elkland cemetery, Rev. Eldred Kelley, pastor of Salem United Methodist church, told the assembled crowd that there is still much right about America and that we should take pride in ourselves and our nation.

"I still get a lump in my throat when I see the flag raised," Kelley said. "I'm proud of this country."

Other cemetery ceremonies included the placing of a wreath in memory of area war dead, the firing of a 21-gun salute and the playing of taps.

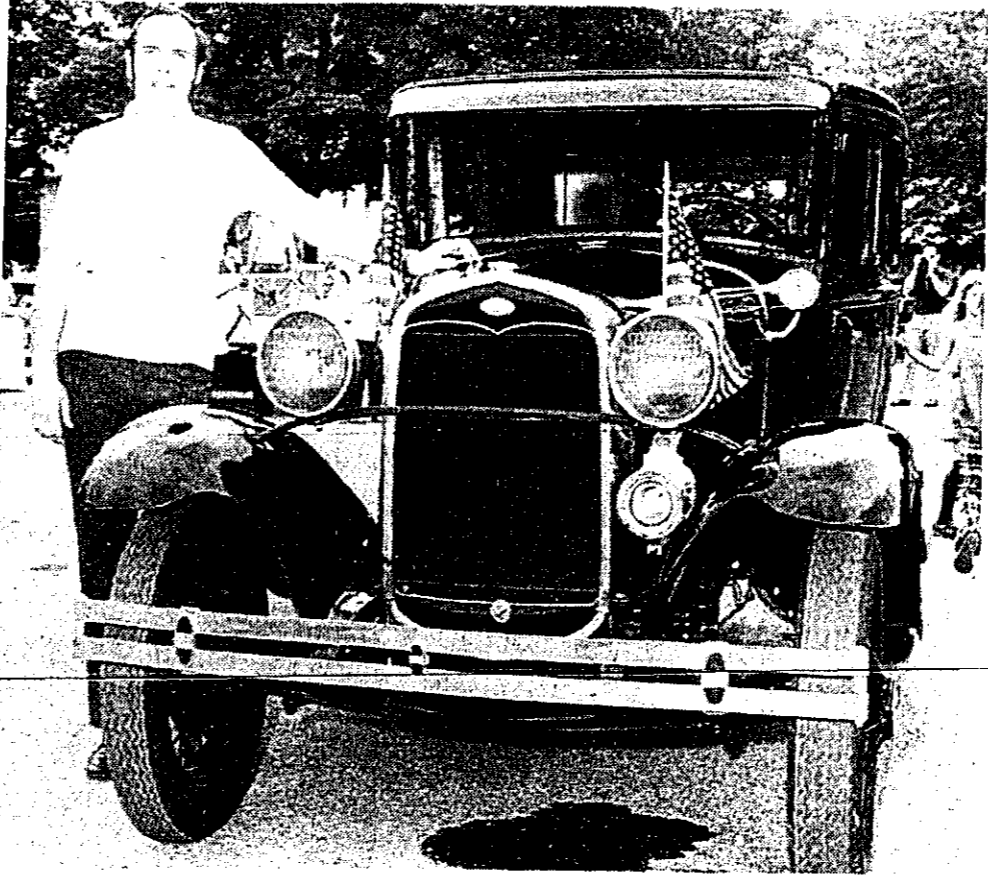

As usual, large crowds were on hand for both parade and cemetery ceremonies.

Ezra Mosher dies Saturday

Ezra Mosher, 85, Owendale, died Saturday at Provincial House, Cass City, following a long illness.

He was born Sept. 17, 1889, in Gageton. He married Anna G. Hutchinson in 1919. She died in September, 1956.

He was a retired farmer and member of the Owendale Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

He is survived by one son, James of Owendale; one stepson, Claude Hutchinson of St. Helen; one daughter, Mrs. Herbert (Irene) Wilson of Sterling Heights; one step-daughter, Mrs. Joseph (Neva) Madonia of Metamora; eight grandchildren, 12 step-grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and 21 step-great-grandchildren.

One brother and two sisters preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Schultz Funeral Home in Sebawaing with Rev. J. Abbe, pastor of the Owendale Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, officiating.

Interment was in Grant cemetery, Owendale.

Cass City highway receipts up

Cass City's share of state Motor Vehicle Highway Fund revenues for the first quarter of 1975 inched their way just over revenues for the first quarter of 1974, according to figures released this week by the Department of Highways and Transportation.

Cass City's share of the fund totaled $12,940, compared with $12,805 for 1974's first quarter. The increase went against a statewide trend that saw revenues for all 83 counties and 531 incorporated municipalities fall by $128,429 from the first quarter last year, registering the third consecutive quarterly drop.

Gageton's share of the fund dropped slightly from last year, totaling $4,358, compared with $4,375 last year. Kingston receipts also showed a decline to $3,131 for 1975's first quarter, compared with $3,140 for the first quarter of 1974.

Uby's share of the fund rose over 1974 first-quarter totals, standing at $5,547, compared with $5,532 last year.

All three Thumb counties showed increases in highway revenues over last year's first quarter totals. Tuscola county received $557,619, compared with $556,929 a year ago.

Huron county received $492,925, compared with $491,274 last year. Sanilac county's revenues for the first quarter totaled $534,023, compared with $531,671 a year ago.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the resolution of the Village Council dated April 29, 1975, notice is hereby given that a petition from the Village Council for the enlargement of the Village of Cass City village limits will be presented to the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners at their regular meeting on Tuesday, June 10, 1975, at 10:30 o'clock a.m. at the Commissioners Room of the Tuscola County Building in Caro, Michigan. ## 4-H ACTIVITIES Conservation tour detailed

By Bernard Jardot

Most fifth grade students throughout Tuscola county have been expanding their knowledge on basic conservation this past year through the 4-H sponsored classroom project. Each school developed special projects with the students in their own community.

Students from Caro and Cass City schools each spent one-half day touring four different conservation-related stops in the Deford Game Area, located along Deckerville Road. This year, we expanded from three to four project area stops.

This program was developed by Bernard Jardot of the Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H Youth Office and in cooperation with the Tuscola County Soil Conservation District and State Department of Natural Resources. Also, the teachers and administration in each school helped organize the tour.

The first stop on the tour was the Warner Lane pond, where students were informed on various water conservation methods used. Cyril Jacot, Bill Siems, and Bruce Walls of the Soil Conservation office were responsible for this stop.

The second stop was designed to inform the students about different types of soil and how they came to reside in these specific areas. Don Kebler, Extension Agriculture Agent, was the host at this stop and among the topics discussed were the formation of different soils in the area, different soil particle sizes, and various uses of soils.

At the third stop, students were impressed with the different types of Wildlife in the Deford Game Area. Tom Bower, wildlife specialist, conducted this part of the tour by showing examples of wildlife found in the area.

The final stop was developed around the wildlife habitat needs of game animals. Bud Jarvis, wildlife biologist, was responsible for this stop. He discussed timber cutting, wildlife feeding, protective areas and the planting of several kinds of wildlife shrubs. Each group had the opportunity to plant a few red pine trees.

All involved in this project felt that the young people and their adult teachers were both entertained and informed on the need for Conservation programs in our area.

Draft registrations suspended

Draft registrations for men reaching their 18th birthday have been suspended by presidential proclamation, the Saginaw Selective Service office announced last week.

This means men can no longer register on their 18th birthday. Officials said a future presidential order will set one date on which all unregistered men born in 1957 or earlier will register.

All men who completed and mailed in a registration card after April 1, are considered unregistered, officials said.

Officials could give no reason for the suspension. It is thought a registration date may be set sometime before the next lottery date early next year.

Shabbona Area News

Marie Meredith
Phone 672-9489

Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Gray were Thursday supper guests at the Donald Schneider home in Uby. The 15th birthday of their granddaughters, Danna and Donna Schneider, was celebrated.

EXTENSION

The Shabbona Extension Group met Monday evening, May 19, with Mrs. Lloyd Bader.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Laurence Hyatt, president. The women's creed was repeated in unison, followed by a moment of silent prayer. Roll call was answered by 16 members and two guests. Secretary and treasurer's reports were given by Marie Meredith. The council report was given by Mrs. Arlie Gray. There were nine members who had perfect attendance for the year. They are Mrs. Hyatt, Mrs. Fred Emigh, Miss Meredith, Mrs. Leroy Sefton, Mrs. Robert Burns, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Virgil Faust, Mrs. Lloyd Bader and Mrs. Arthur Caister.

At the craft night, members brought things they had been making. A lunch was served by the hostesses.

The first fall meeting will be Sept. 22, with Mrs. Gordon Ferguson.

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

The RLDS Women's Department meeting was held

Tuesday, May 20, with a day out. The group visited the Sanilac County Jail in the morning, followed by lunch. The group shopped before going to the Sanilac County Medical Center where they received a conducted tour of the center.

The June meeting will be with Mrs. Curtis Cleland.

afford to go first class. But troubles beset many of these miserable men and women that are far worse than the minor social inconveniences of moving about in a world of skinnies and finding clothes to cover their bulk. Sooner or later, massive overweight can become a matter of life and death. Diabetes, high blood pressure, shortness of breath, heart attacks, gall bladder disease - are all made worse by massive overweight. And massive overweight can become life threatening, not only in its impact on the disease process itself, but in making some forms of treatment (surgery, for example) at times virtually impossible. Fasting has been tried for the short term reduction of massive overweight, but it has rarely been feasible outside of a hospital. In most patients, a lack of hunger pangs and a total and surprising loss of appetite when all food is withdrawn makes starvation a bearable undertaking. In a recent report of a new approach to starvation for the greatly overweight, it was observed that the chemical derangements ensuing from total starvation in the obese could be corrected with a mixture of dried milk protein and sugar taken each day as a chemical supplement. Such supplements supply only a few hundred calories and can be conveniently stirred into coffee or other noncaloric liquids to provide the protein, sugar, salts and acids necessary to proper balance in the body. Doctors in the Saltzman Institute for Clinical Investigation in Cleveland, Ohio, report that 47 out of 65 massively obese patients treated by such semi-starvation have adhered to the regimen for eight to 50 weeks and have achieved substantial losses of weight while going about their usual daily lives. The body weight of their subjects ranged from 176 to 540 pounds, averaging nearly 200 per cent of what should have been their ideal weight. The women who succeeded in the program lost an average of 72 pounds, the men an average of 91 pounds, taking off from about three to nearly five pounds each week. Among the 47 successes in the program, a few were compelled to stop the regimen prematurely because of pressing life circumstances. It was, however, clearly demonstrated that when it becomes mandatory to reduce, when the fat must come off, this regimen can do it in 60 per cent of those who find it possible to try. It must be understood that the underlying causes of massive overweight remain unknown. Moreover, the maintenance of the new dimension may require continued modification of eating habits. But the results of the Saltzman group seem to have established that it is easier, and quite safe, to eat nothing (except the chemical supplement) than it is to eat any amount of food that is less than ordinarily desired.

For economy, most fruits and vegetables should be frozen this year rather than canned. Since your freezer runs constantly anyway, the more products in and out of your freezer, the lower the cost per pound to operate the freezer.

In the selection of a freezer the upright model will take less floor space but will have more warm air exposure when opened than the chest model. Fuel operating cost for both models is about the same while a frost-free costs about one dollar more per month. You as the consumer will have to make a decision about the model that best meets your need.

Before purchasing equipment, plan to use it a lot and for many years in order to make the purchase worthwhile.

Military service way of life for Guinther family

Military service is nothing new for the sons, grandsons and granddaughter of Mrs. John Guinther of 6396 Seventh St. Doing a hitch in one of the service branches has become a tradition over the last 30 years and continues today.

Seven of Mrs. Guinther's nine sons have served in the military since two days before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941. In addition, two of her grandsons served, with one still in the inactive reserve.

And, to keep the tradition going, granddaughter Susann Guinther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Guinther, has completed one year of a hitch in the National Guard.

Mrs. Guinther is proud of her service-minded family. Five of her sons served in the Army, one in the Air Force and one in the Marines. One of her grandsons is an Air Force veteran, while one served a hitch in the U.S. Army.

"I prayed every night for all of them while they were away," Mrs. Guinther recalled. One warm afternoon, as six of her sons, and three grandchildren gathered in her small, well-kept living room.

"And I'm mighty thankful they all came back. My sister wasn't so lucky. She sent three away and only two came back."

The beginnings of the military tradition in the Guinther family began with eldest son, Hazen, although it nearly began over 20 years before with Mrs. Guinther's husband, John.

"Dad had received his draft notice for World War I," Stan Guinther explained, "and just two days before he was to leave to report for duty, the Armistice was signed. So they called him and told him he didn't have to report."

As America drifted toward involvement in World War II, Hazen Guinther joined the Marines and landed at Paris Island, South Carolina, to begin basic training two days before the Pearl Harbor attack.

From there, he spent a year and a half stateside before shipping out to Hawaii in August, 1943. He spent the remainder of the war in the South Pacific. His fifth division was involved in the attack on Iwo Jima, one of the decisive American victories in the South Pacific campaign.

Since then six of the remaining eight sons served time, most voluntarily. Harold Guinther served three years, Roger, two years; Lawrence, three years; Stan, four years; Richard, two years, and Jim, two years.

Grandsons—Gerald and Dave Guinther each served three years.

Now granddaughter Susann is in and says she likes it. "I don't know, I just felt funny about seeing the others do their part and me just standing by," the attractive National Guardsperson said. "I'm glad I went in. It just seemed like the right thing to do."

BELIEF IN COUNTRY

Why did so many members of the Guinther family join the service, aside from the three who were drafted? Mostly because they felt an obligation, they say.

"We were raised to believe in our country and that we ought to support it," Hazen Guinther said. "It was just one of those things."

That belief in America continues to prevail among the family members who served in the military, although some are confused and disillusioned over recent military setbacks, especially in Indochina.

"Back when we were fighting in World War II, we asked no quarter and we gave none," Harold Guinther said. "With Vietnam, we seemed to be fighting with our hands tied. Police action, they call it. If we weren't going to fight a war, we should have stayed out of it."

He said in spite of what has happened, if America faced a real crisis, Americans would respond.

"If we had a real crisis on our hands, you'd be surprised how big an army you could raise in a real big hurry," he said. "I don't think the kids of today are sour on the country. If you give them a good reason to stand up for it, they'd do it."

"I know if we faced another crisis, we'd do it all over again."

REACTION

While there is still patriotism among the young, sometimes it's difficult to find, according to Susann.

"Sometimes when I'm in a store with my uniform on, people look at me like I'm some kind of weirdo or something," she said. "It bothers me that there isn't more patriotism anymore."

Harold Guinther contends much of this comes as a result of division over Vietnam.

"A lot of it is due to a loss of faith in government," he said. "We never questioned what we had to do because it had to be done. A lot of these kids couldn't see it. After all, why fight a Boy Scout action in war?"

CHANGES

All say they have no regrets over the time they spent in the service and while none made a career, all say they would urge their children to give military service consideration when they reach the age to serve.

"I think it's a good experience," Stan Guinther said. "It's a good way to mature, see the world and to find out more about yourself."

Grandson Dave Guinther says the military has changed since the days of World War II.

"Much of the harassment is gone," he said. "It's treated as more of a professional job now. The young officers are more relaxed and tend to understand people a little better."

According to Stan Guinther, that's because public opinion forced a change in laws that made the military more responsive to the public.

STILL STRONG

All agree that America's military establishment is still strong despite the end of the draft and the debacle in Indochina. Hazen Guinther believes a draft in peacetime isn't necessary.

"Right now they have more men than they need," he said. "That's because the army offers a man more now. He can get an education for a good job while he's in. No, I don't see a need for a draft in peacetime."

They believe the Mayaguez incident proved that America can act quickly and with strength. It generated a lot of support, all agree.

Meanwhile, as Memorial Day passed, Mrs. John Guinther said she likes to take a moment and recall what her sons have done and to remember those who also served but did not return.

She's a proud mother this Memorial Day and every day. And so are her sons, grandsons and granddaughter. They're carrying on a family tradition.

MRS. JOHN GUINThER is proud of her service-oriented family, which gathered for this photo. Shown are (first row, from the left) Stan, Susann, Gerald and David Guinther.

Lenard hired as consortium director

An economic planner and manpower coordinator of the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region has been chosen the new director of the Thumb Area Manpower Consortium, chairman Maynard McConkey, Cass City, announced this week.

Frank E. Lenard, 27, will assume the directorship sometime in the near future, McConkey said, succeeding Roy Allen, who is resigning due to health reasons.

Lenard, a resident of Essexville, was selected Thursday by the Consortium board at a meeting held near Cass City.

The director-designate holds a master's degree in public administration from Kent State University.

McConkey said an effort to pick a replacement for Allen from the three-county area proved unsuccessful and Lenard was picked from five applicants at Thursday's meeting.

Allen has indicated he would still be willing to work for the consortium in a limited capacity, but said reasons of health forced him to resign as director.

Huron group seeks to help handicapped

A new organization, Huron Inter-Agency Services to the Handicapped, has been established to plan, in a coordinated fashion, for future development of services to the handicapped. Numerous agencies are associated with the group and through a cooperative venture will attempt to upgrade services where needed. These cooperative service avenues can possibly be legally mandated for future service and can be provided in conjunction with other county agencies. The Huron Inter-Agency Services to the Handicapped is also attempting to determine where gaps in services are and whether or not there might be unnecessary agency duplication.

Those persons connected with the newly formed group represent the Huron County Board of Commissioners, Huron County Superintendent's Association, Huron County Special Education Learning Materials Service, Vocational Rehabilitation Services, Huron County Community Mental Health Services, Huron County Sheltered Work-Shop, Huron County Department of Social Services, Huron County Intermediate School District, Huron County Public Health, Human Development Commission, Michigan Employment Security Commission, Huron County Medical Society, Catholic Family Service and Caro Regional Center. Huron Inter-Agency Services to the Handicapped wants in-put from county citizens regarding needed services to handicapped persons. Persons with suggestions on what can be done by county agencies to upgrade programs can address recommendations in care of Tore Nilsen, Huron County Intermediate School District, 711 E. Soper Road, Bad Axe 48413; Marian Merkel, Huron County Department of Social Services, Room 102 County Building, Bad Axe, or Dick Jefferies, Huron County Community Mental Health Services, Room 304 County Building, Bad Axe. To be popular just cultivate a spirit of fairness to others. There are some mistakes it would be a mistake not to make.

The Master's Touch

God must love beauty, to use it so lavishly. The Master Artist dapples the soft green leaves with golden sunshine, turns the brook to flowing crystal, and puts a song into Spring itself.

There is beauty in us, too... because He put it there. In His sight, none of us are ugly, none of us are forsaken, none of us are "lost."

But sometimes, in the busy process of day-to-day living, we turn blind eyes upon the world's loveliness, and take for granted the gifts which should brighten the hours and years. We need a faith that gives us vision to find again the inner beauty He gave us in the beginning... a gift which He never takes away. Let us go, then, to His Church. Let us "enter into His gates with thanksgiving... for the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His Truth endureth forever."

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

The Cass City Village Council voted Tuesday night to hire Vilcan and Lehman, planning consultants, to update the master plan for the village at a cost of $4,500. Dr. Lowell Eklund, dean of continuing education at Oakland University, will be the principal speaker at graduation exercises Thursday, June 4, at 8 p.m., in the Cass City High School gym. The first step in a long campaign for money for the Cass City Recreational Park from the Recreation Bond Fund Program has been successful. Councilman Dr. D.E. Rawson, who ramrodded the fund request through channels for the village, recently received a letter announcing that the Department of Natural Resources has approved his request and recommended that $22,566 be available for park expansion. Cindy Strickland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Strickland, was named president of the "B" Student Council at the spring meeting in Frankemuth. Tim Anthes, formerly of Cass City, has been appointed new head football coach at Port Huron Catholic High School.

will be presented Friday, May 28, at 8:00 p.m., in the gym, according to Ronald Walker, band director. Cass City School district voters got their first look at the physical layout of the proposed new $1.6 million high school building during a public meeting Tuesday night at the high school. The proposed dump site in the section southeast of Cass City has just about sunk into a water table that is only four to five feet below the surface. Cass City's summer recreation program is having difficulty getting off the ground because of the lack of qualified persons to direct the program.

Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Schwadner have presented the athletic department at the high school with an electric vibrator, a device used to loosen up stiff muscles. The gift was presented in memory of the late Andrew B. Champion, who was active in the ranks of Cass City High School athletes when he was a student there.

TEN YEARS AGO

Village President Lambert Althaver appointed Mrs. Evelyn MacRae to the planning commission Tuesday night to end two months of wrangling over the position. "Moods in Music," Cass City High School senior band's annual spring concert,

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Thirty-eight students of Cass City High School, accompanied by Principal Willis Campbell and Mrs. Mary Holcomb, junior high teacher, returned home Tuesday evening from the senior class two-day cruise from Detroit to Buffalo on the S.S. South American. Nelson A. Lanfear, president of the Port Huron Business College, will deliver the address to the graduates of the eighth grade of Tuscola county at commencement exercises set for Friday, June 7. Members of Tyler Lodge F&AM, and Echo Chapter, OES, attended a memorial service at the Methodist church Sunday morning and listened to an address by Rev. Henry G. Bushong, pastor of the church. The 13th annual Upper Thumb Track and Field meet will be held in Caro Friday, May 31. Rev. R.N. Holsapple was one of the speakers Friday afternoon at the Sanilac County Women's Christian Temperance Union convention held in the Mennoite church, north of Marlette. Behind every real success in this life lies good management and superior judgment. This life is full of checks and balances, and a great many of the checks are forgeries.

District 4-H awards told

Several outstanding Tuscola county 4-H'ers were selected as district 4-H winners in the State 4-H Awards Program. These 4-H members will have an opportunity to complete State Award records and to be considered for State Awards, says Bernard Jarot, Tuscola county 4-H Youth agent. The 4-H youth program is made possible by the many 4-H volunteer leaders working with the youth on their projects and other involved activities. The selected district winners were Theodore Schunn, electrical; Lee Hergenreder, petroleum power-small engines; Valori Middleton, forestry; Sue Reich, bread; Mary Kay Ortnier, food preservation, and Mary Wildner, health. # Sentence Caro man on LSD charge

A Caro man was sentenced to serve 10 months in the Tuscola County Jail on charges of possession of LSD Tuesday in Tuscola County Circuit Court by Judge Martin Clements.

Gary Emery, 20, was arrested in Caro Aug. 27. He will be given credit for 39 days already served.

In other court action, Courtney Bedell, 29, Vassar, was sentenced to a year's probation and fines and costs totaling $300 on charges of larceny in a building. In addition, he was also sentenced to serve 15 days in the county jail with credit for two days served. His sentence will begin Friday at 6:00 p.m.

Bedell was arrested in Vassar March 6.

John Roy Jankowski, 20, Wisner, was arraigned on charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny and larceny. He entered a plea of innocent to the charge and pre-trial examination was set for July 21. Bond of $3,000 was continued.

In pre-trial action, the case against William Charles Eberline, 50, Cass City, will be continued until July 21. Eberline is charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit assault and assault with a dangerous weapon.

The alleged offense occurred Feb. 16.

Charges against Larry Trinklein, Cass City, of possession of cocaine, were dropped. In dismissing the case, Judge Clements said the cocaine confiscated could not be shown to be legally seized as evidence.

An Aug. 19 jury trial was scheduled for Larry Dale Morgan, 19, Caro, charged with breaking and entering and larceny from an automobile, and a one-day jury trial for Raymond Eugene Staten, 35, Mayville, charged with fraudulently disposing of a motorcycle, was also set, with a date yet to be determined.

Mrs. Herron retires at Kingston

think is a great step forward in special education."

FUTURE

Mrs. Herron said she decided to retire this year because she felt the time was right.

Her husband, Stanley, retired several years ago as operator of a filling station in Marlette and from a mobile home factory there. The couple live between Marlette and Kingston, and Mrs. Herron says she wants to take some time to relax.

"When people hear me say I'm retiring, the first thing they think about is, oh, are you going to travel?" Mrs. Herron said. "Well, we've travelled quite a bit when we were younger and now I want to enjoy my home."

"You know, teachers are great collectors," she continued. "Well, I've got a room that is just about full of things I've collected and I want to take time to sort things out."

She said she also wants to spend more time with her six grandchildren. The couple have two grown sons.

She says she's enjoyed her years of teaching, but is looking forward to retirement and relaxation.

Mrs. Herron's name is probably familiar to a few former students at Cass City. For three years, she recalled, elementary students from Cass City travelled to Kingston back in the late 1960's, and she got to know a number of them.

She's happy with her career. Happy to have helped special students cope with a world that held its secrets from them. That's her greatest satisfaction.

KAREN MOYLAN (on table) looks none the worse for wear as she donates a pint of blood in a student blood drive Wednesday, May 21, at the high school. Looking on is Marie Hobart. A total of 64 students donated blood, according to Wayne Dillon, high school counselor. Janet Aivil, student council president, organized the drive, first ever held at the high school.

Mrs. Walker

dies Monday

Mrs. Harvey T. (Caroline E.) Walker, 61, Sandusky, died at her home Monday after a long illness.

She was born July 13, 1913, in Gagetown, daughter of the late John and Lottie Field. She had lived in Sanilac county following her marriage.

She married Harvey T. Walker, June 13, 1934, in Pontiac.

She is survived by her husband; three sons, John and Dwight, both of Caro, and Gary of Sandusky; a daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Stauffer of Sandusky; eight grandchildren; three brothers, Eldon and Everett Field, both of Deford, and Howard Field of Rochester; three sisters, Mrs. Lucille Kendall of Atlas, Mich., Mrs. Clara Peterhans of Caro and Mrs. Mary Ellen Connelly of Detroit, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday from Srock Funeral Home in Deckerville, with Henry Eicher and Bruce Walter officiating.

Interment was in Downing cemetery, Deckerville.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Please return grave marker

May 20, 1975

I'm writing this letter in regard to whoever stole the plaster deer that sat on my brother's grave.

How could any person do such a thing?

The deer was placed there for a reason, because we knew of his love for animals. I can't see how you can live with your conscience knowing that you have taken something from someone's grave.

It hurt my family to find it missing and to know that some people have no consideration for others.

If you know how I feel, please put it back. It will be appreciated.

Parade of athletes feted at annual awards ceremony

The annual all-sports fete at Cass City High School Thursday night attracted a near capacity house to the Cass City School gymnasium. The crowd of parents, friends and 200-plus athletes listened to a new type of program.

The traditional banquet was missing and in its place were light refreshments. The traditional speaker was also missing as the crowded program was streamlined into a steady procession of names and brief looks at faces.

The program started at 7:30 p.m. and an hour and a half later Scott Hartel and Chester Sieradzki had concluded the program with the presentation of the Paul Smarks trophy to Jerry Toner as the finest boy Senior athlete-citizen at the school.

The presentation was made by Hartel and Sieradzki because they were co-winners last season.

The presentation was the highlight for the boys. The big moment for the girls was the presentation of the trophy to the outstanding girl athlete-scholar by Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn. The winner was Cathy Kerbyson.

Both winners have a long illustrious career in sports at Cass City.

Toner was a four-year letterman in baseball, three-year letterman in basketball, two-year letterman in football and won two letters in golf.

Miss Kerbyson won three letters each in basketball, volleyball and track in the three years the programs have been running.

There were plenty of other awards announced. In varsity basketball, Dave Eberline was given the Red Hawk award for attitude and performance during the season. Charlie Walsh was named most improved.

In baseball, Mike Gruber was named the most improved and Jerry Toner the most valuable player.

In girls' basketball, Marcy Miller was named the best senior on the basis of leadership, ability and attitude.

Kelly Gee received the same award for her work in volleyball.

Walt Laming was named the most valuable on the wrestling team.

In varsity football, Guy Howard was the most valuable and Ed Stoutenburg was recognized again for being named to the All-Conference team.

The presentations were made by the various coaches.

They included: Chris Josza, cheer leaders; Ron Nurnberger; varsity baseball and basketball; Brenda Breidinger, gymnastics; Kally Maharg, girls' basketball and softball; Pam Beardslee, track and junior varsity basketball.

Russ Biefer, wrestling; Roland Pakonen, football; Don Schelke, junior varsity football and baseball; Jim Mastie, freshman basketball, and Dale McIntosh, track and junior varsity basketball.

Master of ceremonies was Principal Russell Richards who introduced the coaches and bombarded the crowd with a series of groan-producing puns.

He was introduced by Athletic Director Robert Stickle.

RECEIVING THE award as the outstanding girl athlete-scholar is Cathy Kerbyson, right. The award was presented by Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn, school board member.

Girls reach end of tourney trail

The end of the tournament trail came early for Cass City High School's girls' softball team as the Hawks fell to Goodrich 7-4 in a contest played Saturday at Cass City.

Cass City pounded out 11 hits but lost the game on 14 errors, Coach Kally Maharg said. Goodrich could manage only six safeties, but committed only four miscues in the contest.

The loss automatically eliminates the Hawks from further district competition. Elaine Stoutenburg, Lisa Zimba and Liz Vargo led the hitting attack with two hits each.

In a Friday game, the Hawks defeated Akron-Fairgrove 14-8 in a non-league contest at Cass City. In spite of committing nine errors, the Hawks managed a victory, thanks to 10 walks given up by Akron-Fairgrove pitching.

Mary Fleming picked up the win on the mound.

Local keglers cop Bad Axe awards

Cass City bowlers did better than all right in a recently concluded women's bowling tournament at Bad Axe.

Irene Schweikart won the all events trophy with a 1696 total. She was the top handicap bowler, too, and won $25 and a trophy for a 1993 count. Lois Selby was second in the event with 1927 and won $20.

Karen Peter won the singles event and $45 with a total of 671. Ms. Schweikart was second. In the doubles Phyllis Little and Judy Ware combined for a 1229 to win trophies and $60.00. Esther Reagh and Lois Selby were second with 1218, winning $45.

Donna Wischmeyer and Norma Wallace were fourth with 1201, winning $32.50.

In the team event Minden Recreation was the winner with a score of 3155. Gambles was fourth and Clare's Sunoco finished 11th.

Special Olympics group to visit Cass City

The Vermont delegation to this summer's Special Olympics at Central Michigan University will be guests of Cass City Zonta and Gavel Clubs Sunday, Aug. 10, it was announced this week.

Ms. Bencoter said the visit will cost around $600, most of it transportation. She said the clubs and her committee are soliciting contributions from other interested organizations and individuals.

Bencoter said Frankenth is the only other Thumb area community to date committed to sponsoring a delegation.

The 25-member delegation, including participants and chaperones, will tour the Cass City area following the final day of the games.

The statewide Exploration Day is being sponsored by the Michigan State Jaycees. Ms.

Members of the organizing committee include Carolyn Bencoter, president; Joy Anthony, Wayne Dillon, Paul Clabuesch, Dan Erla, Dave Hoard and Merrill Harvitt.

According to Carolyn Bencoter, chairman of the committee organizing the visit, the group will visit in conjunction with "Exploration Day". She said following the last Special Olympics held in Los Angeles four years ago, delegations made a tour of Disneyland.

"This year, we thought we'd like to arrange a people-to-people visit in towns throughout the state," Ms. Bencoter said. "The Cass City visit will be co-sponsored by Zonta and the Gavel Club."

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners was scheduled to discuss the possibility of purchasing cancer insurance along with hearing reports from County Road Commission engineer Robert Wellington and Martha Thurston regarding township libraries when it met Wednesday.

The board shifted its meeting date from Tuesday due to the Monday Memorial Day holiday, Commissioner Maynard McConkey said.

The board is also expected to discuss the status of negotiations with District Court employees. To date, little progress has been reported.

John Laszlo of Deford in Kingston township was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured clear distance. He paid fines and costs of $25.

3 from area in Dambro's CF classic

Three area girls were named last week to the all-star teams for the second annual Dambro's Basketball Classic, scheduled for May 28 at the Saginaw Civic Center.

The three include Cathy Kerbyson and Marcy Miller of Cass City High School, and Joanne Jaroch of Ubyly High School. They are on the Bay-Midland Area All-Stars, who will compete against a Saginaw Area All-Star team at 7 p.m., in the first game of the doubleheader, to be followed by the boys' game.

Proceeds of the contest will go to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the Carrollton Athletic Association.

Twenty-three different schools are represented on the two teams, both boys and girls.
