

IRS red tape ties up village swimming pool plans

Cass City faces another long, dry summer without a municipal swimming pool, thanks in large part to objections by the Internal Revenue Service that the estate which will fund a large part of new pool construction is taxable.

An appeal has been filed by Robert H. Keating, executor of the Helen Stevens estate, with IRS officials in Detroit, stating that the estate is non-taxable since it is going to the village.

If Keating loses his appeal, the estate could face an extra tax bill of $58,000, including interest and penalties.

The problem arose earlier this year with IRS officials over use of the word "civic" in Mrs. Stevens' will. According to terms of the will, Keating is to distribute estate funds to a "civic" organization, namely the Village of Cass City, to construct the pool. Should that be impossible, the funds could conceivably be distributed to churches, community betterment groups, etc.

But, Keating says, there is no mistaking Mrs. Stevens' intent. She wanted an outdoor municipal swimming pool constructed in the park and that's where Keating says he intends to put the funds, once they become available.

Keating appeared at a hearing May 22 in Detroit with IRS officials to plead his case, that the estate be declared non-taxable. At press time, he was waiting for a ruling.

Keating estimates that if the $58,000 must be paid, the village would have in the neighborhood of $120,000 to apply toward pool construction.

This does not include a sizeable chunk of Walbro Corp. stock, which dropped from $30,000 face value to around $15,000 since the estate was filed. Keating says he intends to hang onto the stock until it recovers most, if not all, its original value before turning it over to the village.

"It's a good, sound investment and it's going to come back," Keating said. "I'm not upset over that temporary loss as much as I am over this $58,000."

He said when the estate was originally filed, it was worth approximately $223,000. Excluding the Walbro stock, the $58,000 for taxes, and claims to family members, that leaves around $120,000.

Of that total, approximately $80,000 is tied up in land contracts, with the remainder in cash. Keating says he intends to turn over both cash and contracts to the village once the estate is settled.

If the tax can be appealed successfully, this would give village officials an additional $58,000 to work with, requiring less from voters in the form of a bond issue.

The last cost update for the pool, made in November, 1973, placed the cost at $204,300. With $178,000, if the estate is declared non-taxable, it would require a considerably smaller bond issue than if it is assessed.

No new cost updates are available on the pool, but it is estimated construction fees have risen considerably in the last 18 months.

WHAT HAPPENED

The estate was originally filed July 19, 1974, nine months after Mrs. Stevens died. Keating said he was notified in October that the return had made its way to Detroit from Cincinnati and that more information was needed.

The information was furnished, Keating said. At that time, he learned IRS officials wanted to tax the estate.

IRS bases its claim that the bequest does not meet non-taxable requirements of the law since civic organizations are taxable. Should Keating decide not to donate the money to the village, IRS reasons, he could donate it to a taxable organization which would make the estate taxable. Keating added, however, he intends to donate it for a village pool.

IRS reasons Keating's powers as executor are too broad.

At the May hearing, Keating stated under oath that the money is earmarked for a pool and therefore is non-taxable. He says he offered to bring IRS officials to Cass City to view the situation for themselves and to talk with village officials as well as persons in the Stevens family who knew the intent of Mrs. Stevens.

IRS refused the invitation.

Keating is anxious for an early resolution of the case for a number of reasons. For one, the interest rate on the estate's unpaid tax jumps from six to nine per cent July 1. If the tax must be paid, reasons Keating, better to pay it before the higher rate takes effect.

For another, village officials are anxious to get construction started. They cannot move until they know how much money they have.

A request to borrow funds against the estate has received no ruling from Attorney General Frank Kelley. The request was submitted early last year.

The old municipal pool, opened in the late 1930's, was closed by order of the state health department in 1971.

"I just cannot understand how they can view this as a taxable estate," Keating lamented. "I've got the best accounting firm, the best lawyer (Maurice Ransford of Caro) for something like this, and the knowledge of what the situation is."

At press time, Keating said he was waiting for a ruling on the appeal.

In the meantime, lots of Cass City residents were waiting for construction to begin on a new municipal swimming pool.

Owen-Gage supt. resigns; board acts to halt transfer

Supt. Glenn Sanford submitted his resignation to the Owen-Gage Board of Education in a special meeting held Wednesday night, May 28, at Gagetown. Sanford declined to detail his future plans, but said his resignation is effective June 30.

The move comes as no surprise to district observers and sets the stage for several changes on the Owen-Gage scene prior to the start of school next fall.

The district should have a new superintendent along with two new members of the board of education, both of whom are known to be stronger supporters of the district, Jack Laurie of rural Cass City and Joseph Warack of rural Sebawaing. Neither candidate faces opposition in the June 9 annual school election.

In submitting his resignation, Sanford said he felt majority opinions within the district did not deserve absolute power over opposing views, saying the minority has rights as well.

The resignation was accepted unanimously by the board, which must begin a search to fill the post.

Sanford came under considerable fire in the past year for his support of an ill-fated vote that would have split the Owen-Gage district between Cass City and Laker school districts.

He was also heavily criticized for the failure of a high school building proposal in December, 1973, and the defeat of a proposed merger vote with the Unionville-Sebawaing school district.

The superintendent has been closely identified by many district residents with those seeking to split up the district.

Sanford took over as superintendent at Owen-Gage in mid-1972 following the resignation of Allen Fennell.

He said final contract arrangements are pending. Details were expected to be made available prior to June 30.

BUILDING STATUS

The board learned that a second letter from the State Fire Marshall's office has been received regarding bringing the 1913 high school building up to current standards.

The board discussed the possibility of sealing off the third floor and making those renovations necessary to satisfy state officials until a building program could get off the ground.

Until then, the district will attempt to negotiate an agreement with state officials that could keep the building operating until a new building could be constructed.

Little progress was reported on the building proposal. Determinations on wastewater samples from the Owendale building are still being made, Sanford reported.

TRANSFERS

The board adopted a resolution instructing school attorney John Thomas to use "all legal means available to protect the school district from the detachment and transfer of property to neighboring school districts."

The vote was four-to-three, with trustees Mrs. Mary Downing, Eldon Dietzel and Fred Cooley casting dissenting votes.

The action came in the wake of one successful property transfer to the Laker School district and the present petition of another parcel to the Cass City district.

Rumors persist that other transfer actions are waiting to be filed once the pending transfer to the Cass City district is settled.

In other business, Sanford announced that absentee ballots for the annual school election will be available through Friday at his office in Owendale.

Helwig cops second ace in 3 weeks

Maynard Helwig has been playing golf for 14 years and never really came close to scoring a hole in one.

Never, that is, until last

May 10 when he let loose and aced the par three number five hole at Rolling Hills when his ball hit the cup on the fly and stayed in.

That gave Helwig a big dose of self-satisfaction. Enough to last the rest of the year for most golfers. For Maynard it took less than a month.

Monday, playing in a foursome with his brother, Elwyn, Bill Ewald and Aime Ouvry, Helwig did it again. . . aced number five.

This time the ball hit the green, took two bounces and nestled firmly in the hole.

This time Helwig gets more than satisfaction. His ace was scored in league competition and Helwig will be laughing all the way to the bank.

According to the rules, each player in the league pays Helwig $1 for his perfect shot.

That's about $70 and it should buy a lot of golf balls.

Deadlock over Petroglyph park construction broken

The deadlock over development of the long-stalled Sani-lac Petroglyph project may finally have been broken, following a meeting between Secretary of State Richard Austin and the head of Michigan's Department of Natural Resources.

According to John Roethel, environmental specialist with the DNR, an agreement was hammered out between Austin and DNR head Howard Tanner Tuesday, May 27, that should assure a shelter at the park by early 1976.

The dispute, which has simmered over two years, surrounded whether or not the DNR or the Michigan Historical Commission, a branch of the Secretary of State's office, would administer development of the Petroglyph site and other parks throughout the state.

The disagreement effectively stymied any further development of a shelter that would prevent further erosion of the ancient rock carvings at the Greenleaf township site located some 10 miles east of Cass City.

According to the agreement, the Historical Commission, through the secretary of state's office, will work to develop exhibits at the Petroglyph site and actually display them, while the DNR will finance development, including construction of the shelter, through the State Park Bond Revenue program.

The agreement amounts to a victory for the DNR, which claimed a lion's share of control from the beginning since it effectively controlled the purse strings.

Still, the secretary of state's office held a stranglehold on the project. As a member of the state administrative board, which must approve all such projects, it held a veto over the project until the dispute was solved.

CONTRACT LET

Roethel said a contract was let last week to a Detroit firm that will begin design work on the shelter. He said plans should be completed within 90 days, after which construction contracts could be let.

Roethel added, however, that he isn't sure a shelter can be put up in time to save the delicate rock carvings from another year of the weathering effects of rain, snow, ice and the continual freezing

Mr. and Mrs. Vito A. Palazzola

LuAnn Kennedy and Vito Albert Palazzola were joined in marriage May 31 at St. Joseph church in Argyle.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Palazzola.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown designed by herself. It featured an Empire bodice, high scalloped neckline and full rosepoint lace sleeves with scalloped cuffs. The A-line skirt featured a rosepoint lace center panel and scalloped hem. Centered in each scallop was a mother of pearl flower.

Appliques of rosepoint lace enhanced the gown and chapel train. The gown was made by the bride's mother.

The bride chose an open Camelot rosepoint cap with a silk organza veil. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and bachelor buttons.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Ken (Bonnie) Petee, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Val and Toni Palazzola, sisters of the groom, and Mrs. Ken Wilson, cousin of the bride.

All wore creme colored A-line gowns, accented with tiny dots and applied roses around a sweetheart neckline. They carried umbrella baskets filled with red and white bachelor buttons.

Jennifer Wilson, cousin of the bride, and Nicholas Palazzola, brother of the groom, were miniature bride and groom. Both were dressed identically to the bride and groom.

Best man was Al Palazzola, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Sam Palazzola, uncle of the groom, John Sherman, uncle of the bride, and Bruce McLeish, friend of the bride.

Ushers were Ken Petee and Walter John Kroetsch. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kennedy designed her own floor-length gown of doubleknit, which she made herself. She styled her dress with an Empire waist and long full-bloused sleeves with five-inch chapel cuffs.

The wedding dinner was served to about 250 guests at the Argyle hall. A reception and dancing followed. The bride and groom will reside in Reseda, Calif., where the groom is employed in a landscaping business.

Mrs. Kevin C. Snow

Lippincott United Methodist church of Flint was the scene of the Friday wedding ceremony of Vickie Beutler of Grand Blanc and Kevin C. Snow of Flint.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Beutler of Grand Blanc. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Snow of Flint. Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hyatt of Snover and Mrs. Ella Beutler.

The bride wore a gown featuring sheer delight over bridal satin with rounded neckline, full attached train, Empire waistline edged with lace and peppered with daisy appliques.

Maid of honor was Yvonne Beutler. Bridesmaids were Dawn Snow and Denise Beutler. Junior bridesmaids were Shelli, Wanda, Wendy and Kathy Beutler.

They wore gowns featuring sheer delight over taffeta in a rainbow of colors including orchid, yellow, blue, green and pink, with Empire waistlines, rounded necklines and full-flowing skirts.

The bridegroom has attended Mott Community College in Flint, and is transferring to Central Michigan University for the summer session and graduation.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

If you arrived within the last few years the chances are that you don't know the Rev. Robert Searls. If you were here before that chances are you do.

Before illness forced his premature retirement Searls was the pastor of the Trinity United Methodist church.

That's background material just in case you didn't know. What I want to talk about is that Searls, a resident here, was honored recently by the Franklin church for his work while pastor there (1954-60).

The Franklin church held a mortgage burning ceremony and dedicated the educational wing and fellowship hall at the church.

At the ceremony the fellowship hall became the Robert J. Searls Fellowship Hall and a picture and plaque were installed in the building.

Folks who know Bob in Cass City agree. It couldn't have happened to a nicer guy.

Here's a mark worth shooting for, says news editor Jim Ketchum when he handed this to me.

Mr. and Mrs. Vince Sattelberg were visiting their son-in-law, Rob Alexander, who's pitching at Bedford Mines, Quebec, a Milwaukee Brewers farm club.

Two hub caps were pinched from the Sattelberg car in early May. Last week a letter from the Quebec police informed the couple that the hub caps had been recovered and would be returned when identified.

Ketchum agrees with Mrs. Sattelberg who says, "That's really police work."

Is it coincidence?

Wayne "Buck" Rabideau says that suddenly without warning all the machinery that used to come to his farm division by way of the railroad now comes by truck. . . at a higher freight rate.

Whatever the reason, it looks suspicious given the current battle with the Grand Trunk to keep the service open.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsored beautification project got as far as our front door and stopped.

Really, it started in our block. . . started and stopped. What was left were three squares cut in the sidewalk.

That doesn't bug me and I'm still not complaining. I mention this as background only. Monday Russ and Bud Schneeberger decided that the two cuts in their walk should receive the beauty treatment, too.

So sledge in hand they walloped away at those squares until the concrete was gone.

There aren't any shade trees there like the other blocks boast, but there are flowers growing.

That's dedication, folks.

Kingston to sell landfill

Kingston Village Council authorized sale of the former village dump during its meeting Monday night.

Sealed bids will be opened on the 10-acre site Monday, July 7, at 7:00 p.m., prior to the regularly scheduled council meeting.

The land is located one-and-a-quarter miles northeast of Kingston.

In other business, council discussed sidewalk improvements it plans to make later this year. A committee of council was scheduled to make a survey of village sidewalks Tuesday and report back to trustees on the extent of work needed.

WORK BEGAN this week on a new basketball court at the site of the old municipal swimming pool. Workmen are shown positioning one of the backstop posts. The project is expected to cost around $2,300, Supt. Lou LaPonsie said.

deputies said nothing else was touched at the bank building. The damage was discovered Saturday morning. Officers have no suspects.

Caro State Police reported a car owned by Curtis Perry, 22, of 4576 Hill St., was damaged by vandals while it was parked in the Kingston High School parking lot Thursday.

Police said vandals cut a large scratch in the left side with a sharp metal object.

Perry is a teacher at the school. Police have no suspects.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Nothing really changes much.

The Pinconning High School class of 1940 will celebrate a reunion this month and I gave fleeting thought to going dressed in the styles of that day.

Just to prove a point.

I have a pair of blue and white shoes that are very similar to the saddle shoes of the '40's. Some of today's clothing styles aren't so markedly different from what we wore at graduation time way back then.

Not on the surface anyway.

Except that my saddle shoes today are made of a synthetic . . . when I graduated they were genuine leather.

Nothing changes much.

Back in school days one of the guys wore clothing that was always okay. . . but you never noticed them or him too much. He was there. He was okay. He was forgotten.

He celebrated with us 10 years ago and he will celebrate with us again now. I couldn't tell you how he dressed then and unless I take special notice the same will be true this month.

I can remember how the best looking guy in the class was dressed 10 years ago. He was in fashion, but the summer threads didn't have the sparkle of newness or the just from the cleaner look. Maybe that's because he's married and the father of about 10, maybe he's always been that casual. I really don't remember.

Ten years ago the class president presided and his reunion garb was on the somber side but it appeared to me that he gravely enjoyed himself throughout the night. I won't compare his garb this month because he died shortly after the last bash.

A couple of really sharp dressers (twins) in our class never made the first reunion 10 years ago. World War II claimed them.

It's strange but I can't remember any far out clothing that any of the women wore. Seems to me that they were all in style, but not unusual.

I've told you about the others, now I'll confess about me. Last time I wore a new silk grey summer suit. This time I'll wear a new blue summer suit. I'll also wear blue patent leather shoes and no tie.

I wonder what that tells you about me? Never mind, I really don't want to know.

But it does prove my point doesn't it?

Nothing really changes much.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Mickey's fans strike back

BY JIM FITZGERALD

From a reader named Camille Smith came a letter saying: "Fitzgerald, you are in the same class with Scrooge, Dillinger and Baby Face Nelson . . . why don't you go jump into an alligator swamp?"

This was one of the sweeter responses to my column on Disney World which, incidentally, probably has an alligator swamp. $3 a jump, with a waiting list so long it includes the unborn.

After the beating I've taken from Mickey Mouse freaks, I'm convinced you could put the Disney label on leprosy and 90 per cent of the world would sail, paddle or swim to Molokai Island. And they would all buy Louie Leper T-shirts for the 10 per cent who had sense enough to stay home.

So be it. There is no denying the human animal's unlimited capacity for enduring torture when it is called entertainment or fun.

How else can you explain why people actually watch such unbelievable TV shows as "Let's Make a Deal"? How else can you explain 500,000 spectators sweltering at the Indianapolis 500 race?

It is mob psychology. Emotions are contagious. That's why the TV shows use laugh tracks (and somewhere, I'm sure, there is a funeral home with a sob track). If a clown laughs and tells you it's fun to fall off a mountain, you'll go skiing. And you'll find the only way to get to the top of the mountain is to buy a $10 ticket from that same clown, who is really laughing now.

And how about golf? For over 20 years I've been trying to put a little ball into a hole by whacking or nudging it with a series of stupid clubs, none of them properly designed for the task. If it is so important to get that lousy ball into a hole, why don't I just use my hand, which is properly designed? Because some clown convinced me it is fun to swing and swear and sweat and take 5 hours to accomplish a 5-minute task. The clown's name was McGregor Spaulding Wilson.

A lot of stupid activities, such as golf, are justified with the explanation that they get you outdoors. So do lawn chairs and slow walks in the woods. So nuts.

The popularity of silly games is also often explained by something called "the joy of competing." The only joy I ever see on the golf course comes from the muscle-heads who win all my money. Which isn't joy, it's greed. And the most spirited competition comes when it must be decided who will buy the first round. Which really isn't competition when I play because there's no one in my class. People I've defeated say I'm so cheap I have my pockets lined with oilcloth so I can steal soup.

So let each man enjoy his own folly. Even Disney World. My Mickey Mouse critics drew blood only when they speared me with another common justification for nonsense. They said Disney World provides great opportunities for families to do things together. And everyone knows the family that roller coasters together, throws up together. I was accused of being a nonfamily type guy who doesn't like children.

Not like children? Outside of opposing President Ford's bloody retrieval of the Mayaguez, there is no more unpopular sin. I deny the charge. I love children. Just ask my 3 kids, or my 3 grandkids.

That is, I love kids until they get old enough to beg to go to Disney World. Then comes several years during which the laundry chute is a marvelous thing. It is the wisest means of communication between the parent upstairs and the child locked in the basement.

Who is Dillinger?

Cassette player

at library

A cassette tape player, designed to help persons unable to read normal print, is now available at Rawson Memorial Library, librarian Mrs. Barbara Hutchinson announced last week.

Mrs. Hutchinson explained the machine is designed for senior citizens who cannot read printed matter, and may be loaned out. She said it could also be loaned out for organizations planning programs.

Cassettes are also available on a loan basis for the machine from the library, she said. Many are condensations of larger works, including many classics of literature.

BETTER HEALTH

The venom of the Bees

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

Hornets, yellow jackets, bees and wasps can literally sting a victim to death. It does not require an attack by a swarm of insects because, in the highly susceptible, a single sting can be fatal.

Not everyone, of course, is so susceptible. Most of us have only bearable distress, even with multiple stings. But those whose response is severe have an exaggerated allergic response (anaphylaxis), in addition to the local redness and swelling, at the site of the sting.

The anaphylactic reaction may start off with sneezing and a flood of watery discharge from the nose. When there is swelling of the windpipe, breathing may become wheezing and labored. There may be a sense of constriction in the chest, with generalized swelling (edema) of the body and agonizing, generalized itching of the skin.

When the reaction is very severe, it is a serious medical emergency, which when untreated, could be fatal.

These symptoms usually subside when treated rapidly with an injection of epinephrine (adrenalin), and sometimes with the appropriate administration of antihistamines. If the air passage is severely compromised, a tube must be passed into the windpipe to allow air to reach the lungs, or an opening must be cut into the windpipe at the base of the neck, what is called a "tracheotomy".

Emergency kits containing a syringe already loaded with medication for quick injection are mandatory for campers and gardeners who are aware of their susceptibility and run the risk of being stung.

It is possible to immunize and thus greatly reduce the reaction of insect stings with extracts made from the ground-up bodies of stinging insects. Highly diluted solutions of the extract are injected into the skin of the arm of a sensitive person daily or weekly over a period of weeks or months.

The strength of the injection is gradually increased and the body builds up an immune response, capable ultimately of handling a sting with a greatly reduced systemic reaction or even none at all.

In 1965, the American Academy of Allergy reported that 95 per cent of sensitive patients treated with whole-body extract therapy had less intense reactions when stung. However, not all treated patients, according to specialists in the field, were protected when they were re-stung.

The active principle of the insect that causes the allergic response is found in the venom that is injected into the victim by the insect at the time of the sting. This has led specialists recently to re-examine the use of whole-body extracts, which of necessity contain less venom than do extracts made only from the venom itself.

In subjects in whom desensitization has been unsuccessful with whole-body extracts, the use of materials extracted from venom alone have prevented anaphylactic reactions.

The successful immunization, with a venom extract, of a beekeeper who was unresponsive to whole-body extract was described recently in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

This carefully documented study provides substantial promise of the effectiveness of venom-extract immunization for that small but highly vulnerable segment of the population in whom whole-body extracts are ineffective.

Tuscola exceeds

1973 Christmas

seal giving

Tuscola county was the only one of three Thumb counties to surpass 1973 contributions in the 1974 Christmas Seal drive recently completed.

Figures released this week by the Michigan Lung Association showed a total of $9,539 in 1974 Christmas Seal contributions, compared with $9,406 in 1973.

Huron county residents gave a total of $7,726 in the 1974 drive, compared with $8,349 in 1973, while Sanilac county residents gave $7,273 in 1974, against $8,084 the previous year.

Beverly Reif, president of the Saginaw Valley Region for the Lung Association, said statewide contributions are down 1.6 per cent, due primarily to mass layoffs, unemployment, inflation and the recession.

A total of $142,918 was contributed by residents of the 16-county Saginaw Valley Region in contrast to $150,371 raised in 1973.

MAKES IT PAY

No job has a future—the future is for the one who takes hold and does the job well.

Your neighbor says

I'm not superstitious

Are you superstitious? Do you shy away from walking under ladders or do black cats make you nervous when they cross your path?

None of this bothers Mrs. Kathy Milligan of Cass City. "I'm definitely not superstitious," Mrs. Milligan says. "Ladders and black cats and things like that don't bother me a bit. Really, I think people who have accidents after they walk under ladders are probably accident prone anyway."

Going one step further, however, Mrs. Milligan thinks there is such a thing as luck when applied to games of chance. "I know some people who win at cards all the time. That's really luck. It has to be."

Mrs. Milligan is originally from the Uby area, and moved to Cass City last year when she and her husband, Alan, were married. They have no children.

Manly Fay, 78, dies Friday

Manly Fay Sr., 78, a lifelong area resident, died Friday at Hills and Dales General Hospital following a long illness. He was born Aug. 4, 1896, in Grant township, son of the late John C. and Harriet Ann Yoe Fay.

He married Alta Turner, Oct. 24, 1917, in Reese. Following their marriage, they settled on a farm in Grant township, where they lived until the time of his death. The couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1967.

He is survived by his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Marjorie) Pearce of Cass City and Mrs. Gaylord (Charlotte) Lapeer of Uby; two sons, Stanley of Pontiac and Manly Fay Jr. of Bad Axe; 10 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. One son, four brothers and one sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services were conducted Monday from Little's Funeral Home with Rev. Eldred Kelley, pastor of Salem United Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Grant cemetery.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Truth in advertising

By Jim Ketchum

Now the truth can be told. Joe Dimagio sleeps with a Mr. Coffee machine brewing beside his bed. Andy Griffith smothered everything from corn flakes to ice cream in A-1 steak sauce and Telly Savalas really does shave his own head.

found one that dumped Log Cabin syrup on pancakes and looked like the beautiful people they aren't.

Or think of how many cold sufferers you'd have to wade through before finding one who used your product.

Or think of those poor oil companies who are only making a 400 per cent profit this year instead of 800 per cent last year. Those ads they run, telling us all the favors they're doing for us, would have to be accompanied by a complete audit of the books.

They'd also make them show how many wells are sitting capped, waiting for the price to go higher before they're opened. They might even be forced to show how many oil slicks they've caused in the last five years.

It might even go so far as to make oil companies reveal how certain dealers are squeezed out of business if they don't cooperate with pricing policies.

But that's probably too much to imagine. I guess we'll have to settle for the admission that Joe Namath really does wear panty hose and that Joe Dimagio really drinks all that Mr. Coffee.

It's a step in the right direction.

$356,011 slated for county

NEW FFA OFFICERS for 1975-76 were installed at the annual Parent and Member banquet held Thursday night at Cass City High School. New officers are (from the left) Bill Wills, president; Jeff Moore, vice-president; Tim Dorland, sentinel; Rich Sattelberg, treasurer; Tom Dorland, reporter, and Don Koepfgen, secretary.

TWO TOP FFA awards were presented at Thursday night's banquet by advisor Lyle Clarke. Star Green Hand award went to Debbie Broecker (left) while Star Chapter Farmer award was presented to Ray Koch.

Sentence Caro man to fine, jail Monday

A rural Caro man was sentenced to fines and a jail term Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court after pleading guilty to negligent homicide in the death of a Kingston man Oct. 30.

Clifford Lee York, 28, was sentenced to pay a $2,000 fine, along with costs of $500.

In addition, he was ordered not to drive during his two-year probationary period. Judge Norman Baguley also ordered York to serve 90 days in jail with credit for one day already served.

York was involved in a traffic accident that killed Delbert Eskelson, 33, of Kingston.

Two other sentences were also handed down by Judge Baguley Monday.

Edmond H. Rudy, 20, Attica, was sentenced for a plea of guilty to attempted forgery to five years' probation, a $200 fine and costs of $325 plus restitution of $150.

In addition, Rudy was sentenced to serve 90 days in jail with credit for 10 days served. Rudy was ordered to begin serving his sentence Wednesday.

Rudy was arrested Dec. 12, in Mayville.

Winston Walker, 20, Saginaw, was sentenced on a plea of guilty to larceny in a building to five years' probation, a $200 fine and $400 costs, along with a 36-day suspended jail sentence.

Walker was also ordered to pay restitution of $640.

Walker was sentenced in connection with a theft from an auto dealership near Vassar Jan. 7. A count of breaking and entering was dismissed against Walker.

Thomas Lawrence Kwiatkowski, 18, Clio, was arraigned on charges of assault with intent to commit sodomy. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Pre-trial examination was set for June 30, and bond of $1,500 was continued.

Kwiatkowski was arrested March 5, in Arbutus township.

Three pre-trial examinations were held Monday. Randy Mis, 25, Caro, entered a plea of guilty to breaking and entering of an unoccupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny. The plea was accepted by the court and sentencing was set for June 30.

Rodney Gene Brown, 26, Caro, entered a plea of guilty to larceny in a building, which was accepted by the court. No sentencing date was set. Brown is charged with larceny at a filling station located in Fremont township, April 6.

Larry Putnam, 18, Mayville, entered a plea of guilty to breaking and entering of an unoccupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny, which was accepted by the court.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

After 14 years as treasurer of Evergreen township, Lloyd Severance of Decker has announced that he will retire at the end of his current term. Tuscola County Juvenile Officer Milton Gelatt said Tuesday that serious crime by youth is showing steady increase in Tuscola county.

The Cass City Lions Club dedicated a 40 by 46-foot shelter at the Cass City Recreational Park Monday night. John Smentek and Tony Davis received the Paul Smarks trophy Thursday night at the annual all-sports banquet held at Cass City High School.

this week. Cass City's population stands at 1,359, up by 98 over the 1930 figure. The contractors who will pave the nine miles of M-53 this summer have started work on their projects. Dr. R.N. Holsapple gave an address at the meeting of the Battle Creek ministers in their monthly meeting Monday.

TEN YEARS AGO

A community college for Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties was given an enthusiastic green light this week by Max S. Smith, director of the office of community college cooperation at Michigan State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan DeLong were surprised Friday evening when about 60 relatives and friends met at their home to help them celebrate the 25th anniversary of their wedding day. Frank Morris, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. Morris of Cass City will graduate Monday from Wheaton College.

Harper

ROTC leader

Cadet Captain James C. Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Harper of Kingston, has been selected as the new Group Commander of Air Force ROTC Detachment 380, Michigan State University, for the 1975-76 academic school year. This is the highest position attainable by a cadet during his ROTC training.

JAMES C. HARPER

As Group Commander, Harper will be responsible for the operation of the cadet group which trains college students at MSU to become future officers in the United States Air Force.

His selection was announced by Colonel Leroy A. Wenstrom, USAF, Professor of Aerospace Studies at MSU at an Awards banquet held recently.

At the banquet, Harper also received the American Legion Medal for Military Excellence which is awarded to one junior or senior cadet who has demonstrated outstanding leadership ability and officer potential.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Cadet Gerald A. Prieskorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Prieskorn of Cass City was graduated from Castle Heights Military Academy at Lebanon, Tenn., Monday, May 29.

The class of 1950 has selected Dr. John Arthur Visser, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church in Detroit as speaker at its commencement exercises Tuesday, June 6.

The Gladwin Beef Sale committee has selected Jim Milligan of Cass City to judge the Shorthorn cattle in the show preceding the sale Friday, June 9.

John Muntz, who has been a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers since 1904, had the privilege of purchasing the first "Casey Jones" postage stamp at the Cass City post office last week.

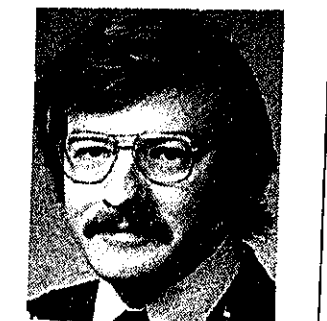

A replica of the original Liberty Bell will be in Cass City next Thursday morning in conjunction with a national savings bond drive.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City is among 17 villages and cities of Tuscola and Huron counties to show an increase in population, according to figures released

College week

There will be at least six scholarship winners attending College Week for Women at Michigan State University June 16-19.

Newest scholarship awards are two Woman's National Farm & Garden Association scholarships. Mrs. Judy Haviland, Harbor Beach, will receive her scholarship from the Bloomfield Hills Branch of Farm & Garden, while Mrs. Janice Roestel, Pigeon, will receive a scholarship from the Grand Blanc Farm & Garden Club.

Other scholarships will go to Mrs. Eunice Armstrong, Bad Axe, who is Huron County Extension Homemakers Council chairman; Mrs. Hillary Pawlowski, Port Hope scholarship winner whose name was drawn at Extension Homemakers Night; Mrs. Arthur Dhyse, Kinde, and Mrs. James McEachin, Uby, who are officers on the Extension Homemakers Council.

College Week is a four-day educational experience based at Hubbard Hall on the campus at Michigan State University. It is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service Family Living Program. Many women's organizations in Michigan participate in the planning and development of the class offerings and program.

College Week is open to all interested persons and attracted over 1,000 persons last year. The cost is $50.00. Other information and pre-registration forms are available from the Extension Office, 104 County Building, Bad Axe, by calling 769-9949.

Miss Patricia Kelley, a student at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant, came home for the summer Thursday, May 23.

Mr. and Mrs. James Barr held an open house Sunday afternoon, May 25, in honor of their son Terrance, who graduated from Owen-Gage High School May 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ziehm attended the open house for Terrance Barr of Gagetown Sunday afternoon, May 25.

FARM BUREAU

The North Elmwood Farm Bureau met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodell Monday, May 19, with nine members present. Topic for discussion was "waste and pollution". Lunch was served by the hostess.

OWEN-GAGE SENIOR CITIZENS

A potluck dinner was held Thursday, May 22, by 31 Owen-Gage senior citizens and friends at the Owendale Community Center.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Don Wilson. Several items were discussed and an exchange of jigsaw puzzles at the next meeting among members will be made.

Guests included Mrs. Lloyd Stafford and Mrs. Belle Kloefer from Pigeon. There are now 54 names on the membership list. The next meeting will be June 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hnycko and family were in Royal Oak to attend the funeral of his father, John Hnycko.

AGENT'S CORNER

Paint your house yourself

Ann Ross - Extension Agent

Painting is the quickest and least expensive way to improve a room's appearance.

"Today's paints are so easy to use that even a nonprofessional can do a very good job," says Margaret Boschetti, Michigan State University Extension interior design specialist.

Since labor costs represent 80 to 90 per cent of the total painting job, you can save a lot of money by doing it yourself.

"When selecting a color, remember the paint will look darker and brighter on your wall than it does on the sample chart," says Miss Boschetti. "So select a color that is at least one shade lighter than you want."

If you want the window and door framings and baseboards to blend in with the background, paint them the same color as the wall. If you draw attention to these areas, paint them a contrasting color.

Specialists have many other tips on how to select paint, color, brushes, etc. To learn all about painting the interior of your home, watch "You Can Do It - Interior Painting," sponsored by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service. The program can be seen on Channel 19 (Delta College), June 9 at 7:00 p.m. and June 10 at 2:30 p.m. A bulletin to give further details about painting your house is available from Ann Ross, County Building, Bad Axe.

Provincial House reports revenue gain

Provincial House, Inc., last week reported that a near maximum occupancy rate in its health care centers had contributed to a 60 per cent gain in health care revenues for the first nine months ended April 30.

The company said its nursing home and hospital revenues rose to $10,632,389 from $6,648,311 in the similar period a year ago. Meanwhile, the diversified health care organization also showed operating revenue increases in day care centers and computer services, while sharply reducing the volume of its construction subsidiary, as planned in the wake of 1974 construction losses.

Overall revenues totalled $15,947,108 versus $17,951,769 in the year ago period. The company reported net income of $246,314 or 26 cents a share including eight cents of extraordinary income from investment tax credits. There was a loss of $773,117 or 82 cents a share at this point a year ago.

Provincial House President Patrick J. Callahan said, "Fiscal 1975, continues as a year of recovery, and we expect to further improve our rate of return. Conditions that affected our construction subsidiary a year ago are now behind us. We have also absorbed the startup costs of our newest health care centers. While more centers are on the drawing boards, we won't get into that expansion until well into the new year."

Mrs. Sattelberg is delegate to ALCW meet

Mrs. Vincent Sattelberg of 2777 E. Dickerson Rd., Unionville, a member of St. Peter Lutheran Church of Columbia Corners, is a delegate representing the Michigan District of the American Lutheran church at the triennial national convention of the American Lutheran Church Women, July 7-10.

Other members who will attend include Mrs. Gary Groth, Mrs. Elmer Prime and Miss Dianne Huemoeder, all of the St. Peter congregation.

The convention sessions will be held at the Civic Auditorium, San Francisco, Calif.

The convention is expected to attract about 5,000 persons.

up and yelled, "What's going on here? All I did was trip over the guru!"

Wow! Things are getting rowdy now. There goes Melinda Kim and Lena Woodruff up to the band. The band is taking a break so Melinda and Lena start getting down to the tune, "Jesus is Just Alright"; with Carol Little on the piano. There goes Peg Asher and Joyce Locke up to the band; who are getting refreshments. I imagine Peg and Joyce are trying to set up the bands next gig. Out on the dance floor Sheryl Guc Shaw and Dave Rogers are in a fight. Sheryl, wife of a big-time wrestler from Marietta is putting a Jap Whizzer on Dave. Dave, a wrestler from way back, counters with a reverse, worth two points. The match ends in a draw when we break it up.

Time for more refreshments. At the bar we see, nah it can't be, it is! It's Scott Ackerman! Let's ask him what he's doing with his life. His stoic reply: "I'm studying the abstract psychological aspects of unnatural super ovulation at Harvard." Wow! We'll ponder that one awhile.

Hey! Here comes Valerie Mills and Valerie Best. They really look sharp. They're wearing original creations from their own "Best of the Mills" Boutique.

There's a lot of strange conversations going on around this bar. Of course, it is almost 2:30 a.m. and people do get strange about that time of the night. Tom Marker is talking to his long-time drinking associate Jim Warju about his 1966 Signet's Market value. Who cares? Nancy Koepfgen, Sherry Jones, Susan Bond and Diane Sefton are talking over the relative merits to cross breeding Arabian, Appaloosas and Quarter horses. Who's that downing what must be at least their eighth drink? It's Randy LaPeer and Sharon Hanby. They're talking over the fine points of the game cricket.

Now, what's happening?!!?! We're being raided. It's Don "Dudley Do Right" Karr and Kris "Kojak" Ridenour. State Police storm troopers. They're after Linda Karr. She's wanted for burning down Twink's Palace. Her last remark as they dragged her out by her heels: "I only did it for peanuts!" Nobody can believe that somebody would do that to a fellow classmate. (a sister no less.)

It's now after 3:00 a.m. so let's take another cruise around the dance floor. Hey! There's Cathy Kerbyson dancing. She looks pretty good in gold adidas and sweat socks. Russ "Cattfish" Schweikart and Carol Hewitt are dancing, cheek to cheek. Maybe they're trying to rekindle an old romance. Wow, there's Arlene Bittner and Alex Kessler dancing. That's really nice.

We guess they've got their heads together better than most in our class.

Time for another refreshment break. Who's that sitting at the bar? It's Joe "Cinnamon Fried" Zawilinski and Mark "Ovenfresh" Gohsman. They're telling everybody how they just bought out Pillsbury Corp. Listening attentively are Dorothy Schwartz and Kim Coleman. We think they're planning on buying out the 7-11 stores.

Here comes Doug Bennett for a drink. The quiet and content topless barowner shuffles smoothly over as his long, below the waist hair rides with him. He greets us by saying: "How's it going, Redneck?!"

Wait a minute, kids! Here comes Kathleen Smith with what looks like a bowling bag? Let's ask her. Nope. It holds her shot puts. She's a shotputter for the U.S. Women's Olympic team.

Wow! It's 3:30 a.m. and we have another hassle. Kathy Zink and Lou Ann Stover are fighting with the bar maid over her technique. Kathy and Lou Ann should know, since they're waitresses at the Posh '21 Club in New York. The bar maid they're fighting with is Becky Freeman. Ben Hennessey and Becky Peters are getting along pretty good considering that they have just reached a settlement for their third separation.

Bill Rabideau made it we see. We asked Bill what he was up to. He informed us that he was on parole for his 14th open container violation; "Good Job, Bill!!!" Mari Butler looked pretty lonely as she slowly told us that she was looking for her loose High School Sweetheart, but she hasn't given up yet!!!

What's this?!! Linda Battel and Cindy Tuckey with a knitting basket at a reunion? Of course! They just finished a 20' x 20' embroidered mural of John Ballard in his gym shorts. (The rebelling, crusading janitor who started working at Coach Light Pharmacy after going to U. of M. to get his B.S.A.)

Here comes the head of Walbro's drafting dept. It's Jerry Frederick. That must be his assistant, Dan Derfing trailing after. It's only 4:30 a.m. and we still have five people standing. Nancy Hawkins, Ann Wilson and Karen Hinkelman, who are well known members of NASA's space program. They are on their way to becoming space monkeys.

Cathy Deering is still here. She's decided to stay up all night because she has to be at work at 7:00 to slice a few necks and pack a few rumps.

Greg Decker seems liveliest of all. It must be because he usually is up all night anyways thinking of his nice sister, Laurie. But wait. Here comes Frank Stapleton and Pat Dillon. What are they saying?.....

"COME ON EVERYBODY, LET'S PARTY!!!!!!"

The Want Ads are newsy too!

If she has kept up with the course all term, she'll not flunk because of this nap. BUT—if she is counting on the midnight oil to pull her through the exam... Too bad!

You've heard of people being converted to Christianity on their deathbed. True! As Christ promised salvation to a penitent thief on the cross, so God's love reaches out even in the final hour to those who call on Him in faith.

But don't live your life on the dangerous principle that last-minute cramming will satisfy all your religious needs.

There will be millions of adults and children in church next Sunday. They are seeking spiritual truth, gaining Christian convictions... not because they need some religion to die with—because they need Faith to live by.

AROUND THE FARM Farming and the law
By William Bortel

Farm folks should be mindful, especially this time of the year as seasonal employment rises, of federal agricultural labor laws. A synopsis of law highlights has been put together by R.T. Hartwig, agricultural economist, Michigan State University U.P. Extension Center.

HAZARDOUS OCCUPATIONS LAW

This applies to any agricultural employer hiring children below 16 years old. Young persons should not be allowed to perform "hazardous" tasks (they may not operate a tractor over 20 horsepower, harvest equipment, etc.), unless 14 or older and have a certificate of completion from a course through Extension or a Vo-Ag training course.

The employer may not hire anyone under 16 while schools are in session. Pick-your-own fruit or vegetable persons are not employees and therefore are exempt. Check with your local U.S. Department of Labor offices for details.

MINIMUM WAGE LAW

This law affects the farmer employing workers who have 500 man-days of hired work on his farm during any quarter of the preceding year (one working hour equals a day toward the 500 man-day qualification).

Workers included in the 500 man-day group but who are

Which comes first... the chicken or the egg?

HERE WE SIT, LIKE A "CHICKEN SITTING ON A NEST," WITH A SEVERE SHORTAGE OF NATURAL GAS AND "WAITING FOR THE EGG TO COME" OR, IN OTHER WORDS, WAITING TO EXPLORE THE POTENTIAL SUPPLIES OF NATURAL GAS IN THE LOWER 48 STATES, ALASKA AND THE OFFSHORE AREAS AND STILL THE GOVERNMENT DECISION-MAKERS CAN'T COME TO THE REALIZATION THAT DEREGULATION OF NATURAL GAS PRICING AT THE WELLHEAD IS REQUIRED NOW TO DEVELOP THESE POTENTIAL RESOURCES.

THE STATE OF MICHIGAN IS AN IMPORTER OF NATURAL GAS AND NOT A PRODUCER. IN 1973, FOR INSTANCE, MICHIGAN IMPORTED APPROXIMATELY 95% OF ITS NATURAL GAS REQUIREMENTS.

BECAUSE MICHIGAN IS SO DEPENDENT ON INTERSTATE SUPPLIES OF NATURAL GAS AND PRESENT REGULATIONS MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR INTERSTATE SUPPLIERS TO COMPETE FOR THE PURCHASE OF NEW SUPPLIES, MICHIGAN IS BEING HURT.

INDUSTRIES REQUIRING NATURAL GAS LOADS ARE NOW LOOKING TO LOCATE WITHIN STATES OF PRODUCTION, WHICH, OF COURSE, IS AWAY FROM MICHIGAN.

DEREGULATION IS MOST IMPORTANT AND WILL REQUIRE A GREAT AMOUNT OF UNDERSTANDING AND EFFORT BETWEEN THE GAS INDUSTRY AND GOVERNMENT. WE BELIEVE THE SINGLE MOST SIGNIFICANT STEP THAT CONGRESS CAN TAKE TOWARD DOMESTIC ENERGY SELF-SUFFICIENCY—AS WELL AS THE MOST SOCIALLY AND ENVIRONMENTALLY DESIRABLE AND ECONOMICALLY ACCEPTABLE—IS TO REMOVE PROMPTLY THE FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION REGULATION OF NEW NATURAL GAS.

FIELD PRICES. INDEPENDENT PRODUCERS SIMPLY WILL NOT EXPEND VAST AMOUNTS OF MONIES TO DEVELOP NEW GAS FIELDS IF THEY DO NOT REALIZE A REASONABLE PROFIT. GAS WILL NOT COME TO MICHIGAN UNLESS INTER-STATE PIPELINE COMPANIES CAN PAY A FAIR PRICE TO BUY THESE NEW GAS SUPPLIES.

THE IMPACT ON THE CONSUMER OF DEREGULATION WILL BE THE LEAST INFLATIONARY AND LEAST EXPENSIVE OF ALL POSSIBLE ALTERNATIVES TO ENERGY SELF-SUFFICIENCY. THE PRICE OF DEREGULATED GAS WOULD RISE GRADUALLY AS NEW GAS IS MIXED WITH THE OLD.

THE ABOVE IS THE FIRST OF A SERIES OF COMMUNICATIONS TO BE PRESENTED TO OUR CUSTOMERS TO HELP ENLIGHTEN THEM ON SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN GAS COMPANY'S POSITION REGARDING THE NEED FOR DEREGULATION OF THE PRICE OF NEW NATURAL GAS AT THE WELLHEAD.

WHICH COMES FIRST... THE CHICKEN OR THE EGG? ONLY CONGRESS CAN ANSWER THAT WITH THE SUPPORT OF THE CITIZENS WHO PUT THEM THERE. WRITE YOUR SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES IN CONGRESS, TODAY. TELL THEM YOU WANT MORE GAS FOR MICHIGAN AND TO VOTE FOR DEREGULATION OF NATURAL GAS.

Cass City man injured as car strikes tree Friday

A Cass City man was treated for multiple bruises and abrasions early Friday morning at Hills and Dales General Hospital after the car he was driving went out of control and struck a tree on Cemetery Road, a half-mile south of the village limits.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies who investigated the mishap said a southbound car driven by Willis Donald Childs, 16, of 4391 Seeger St., ran off the west side of the road, striking a tree head-on.

He was treated at Hills and Dales General Hospital, and was alone when the mishap took place at 5:55 a.m.

Several other property damage accidents were reported.

Thursday, a car driven by Randall Gene Bardwell, 20, of 3566 Hurds Corner Rd., Caro, went out of control and struck a mailbox and tree on M-81 near Dutcher Road in Ellington township.

Sheriff's deputies said Bardwell apparently suffered a dizzy spell related to a diabetic condition as he was traveling east, lost control of the car and ran off the north side of the road.

Bardwell sought his own medical treatment. The accident took place at 1:25 p.m.

Two persons escaped injury when their vehicles collided at the intersection of M-46 and M-24 Friday night. Cars driven by Paul Daniel Cherniawski, 20, of Bevens Road, Deford, and Roger James Rose, 44, of Grand Rapids, collided after Cherniawski reportedly lost control of his car on wet pavement and struck the driver's side of Rose's auto.

Neither driver was injured. Cherniawski was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions. The accident took place at 10:40 p.m.

Also Friday, two drivers escaped injury when their cars collided at the intersection of M-46 and Ross Streets in Kingston.

Cars driven by Peggy Ann Scott, 25, of Snover and Gordon Peter Walker, 64, of 6491 E. Sanilac Rd., Kingston, collided. The Scott vehicle allegedly pulled out in front of the westbound Walker auto. Ms. Scott told Caro State Police she did not see the approaching vehicle.

She was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way. The accident took place at 9:40 a.m.

Two car-deer mishaps were also reported. Saturday, a car driven by Hazen Beecher Reavy Jr., 40, of 5878 Main St., Deford, struck and killed a deer while traveling east on Deckerville Road, a mile east of Caro.

Sheriff's deputies reported the deer ran from the north side of the road into the path of Reavy's auto. Reavy was not injured in the 2:10 a.m. accident.

Monday, a car driven by Delores Ann Buschlen, 35, of Elkton, struck and killed a deer while traveling north on Colwood Road, five miles northeast of Caro in Ellington township.

Sheriff's officers said the deer ran from the east side of the road into the path of the auto. Ms. Buschlen was not injured. The mishap took place at 10:10 p.m.

Board, employees ink new contract

Contract signing ceremonies Tuesday marked the official end of negotiations between the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners and courthouse employees as each side inked the new two-year agreement.

Under terms of the pact, employees will receive a $500 wage increase the first year and $450 the second year, along with an additional holiday (Lincoln's birthday), additional accumulated sick leave up to 100 days, and 15 working days' vacation after eight years of service instead of 10 years.

Additional funeral leave was also granted in the new contract.

The pact was signed at the courthouse Tuesday around 5:30 p.m. Commissioner Maynard McConkey, chairman of the personnel committee, said the agreement was a good one.

He said he expects a settlement along similar lines to be reached with District Court employees, who are still without a contract.

POINT OF VIEW

This is the year that proves Columbus was wrong in 1492 — the world really is flat.

Area girl is Deckerville Valedictorian

Marilyn Kritzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Kritzman, formerly of Cass City, has been named valedictorian of the 1975 class of Deckerville High School.

She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Kritzman of Decker. She plans to attend Northern Michigan University, working toward a BS in nursing, and possibly going on to become a nursing specialist or an M.D.

MARILYN KRITZMAN

During her high school years, she has been active in school, church and community activities. She has been a member of the National Honor Society for three years and served as its president this year. She was a member of the Future Nurses Association and was active in 4-H activities all through her high school years.

In addition to her school activities, she is an active member of the Deckerville United Methodist church where she sings in the choir, is Youth President, and Youth Representative on the church Board, and is a substitute Sunday School teacher.

She will deliver her valedictory address at the Commencement Exercises, June 8 at 2:00 p.m.

LETTER TO EDITOR

June 1, 1975

Dear Mr. Ketchum:
Thank you for the recognition given me in the Chronicle of May 29th.

Except for one minor biographical error, (I was not born in Detroit, but about 50 miles from it.), your reporting was most accurate.

You have taken a jumble of facts gleaned from our conversation and woven them into a comprehensive and flattering article. I appreciate the time and effort it took you to do this.

Also, may I thank you on behalf of our special students. Your keen perception of the program we are trying to carry out and your explanation of it, has I am sure, improved the cause of special education for all who read the article.

As a sidelight, one thing I forgot to mention was that the name we have given our room is the Improvement Room.

I thought the picture was very good too.

It was nice to meet you, and thank you again,

Sincerely,

Shirley Herron

Craft Club to meet Monday

The Deford Craft Club will meet Monday, June 9, at 8 o'clock at the Deford Town Hall. The project for the evening is cloth flowers and paper clip jewelry.

Members are to bring scraps of material or paper clips.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Betty McConkey and Mrs. Thelma Venema.

Lansing man alive thanks to help from Cass Cityans

Larry E. Robinson, 28, Lansing, is alive today, thanks in part to the rescue efforts of two Cass City residents who helped revive him after he disappeared while swimming in a lake near Caro, Saturday, May 24.

Mr. and Mrs. James LaRoche of 4259 Ale St., administered closed-chest cardiac massage after Robinson was pulled from Littlefield Lake, 10 1/2 miles southwest of Caro. Robinson was discovered by Gary Friel, Lansing, who dove into the water and found the man drifting downward in 35 feet of water.

Friel grabbed Robinson and pulled him toward shore, but became exhausted. Friel's wife, Linda, and Bernard McNeerney, captain of the Caro Auxiliary Police, rescued both Friel and Robinson.

McNeerney began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, while Mr. and Mrs. LaRoche began cardiac compressions. Robinson was taken to Caro Osteopathic Hospital.

"He's lucky to be alive," Mrs. LaRoche said, commenting on the incident this week. "He had no vital signs when we pulled him from the water."

She said she took a lifesaving course about 15 years ago, and credits her training as the key that helped save Robinson. She and her husband took turns administering cardiac compressions, she said.

Robinson is reported recovering.

The LaRoches were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland DeLong, at the lake when the mishap took place.

Sanilac to set up assessors school

Sanilac county's Equalization Department is setting up a training school for assessors or anyone interested in appraisal methods, officials announced this week.

The school will be held in Sandusky in the evening and will start the last week of August. State grant money will be available to help defray expenses. Officials said cost per student should not exceed $35, which would include a training manual.

Persons interested in attending or needing more information should contact the Sanilac County Equalization Department at the courthouse in Sandusky or call (313) 648-2955 before June 15.

PWP plans Father's Day dinner

A Father's Day dinner, sponsored by the women of Thumb Parents Without Partners, will be held Saturday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m. at the residence of Opal Birchfield in Port Austin.

Persons wishing to attend are asked to contact a member for directions.

Congratulations to the graduates

'Semi-retirement' won't end Neitzel's love for camera

By Jim Ketchum

Just because Fred J. "Fritz" Neitzel is calling it quits at his photo studio on Maple Street in Cass City it doesn't mean his love affair with the camera is over. Far from it. It's still going strong and chances are it always will.

Neitzel announced this week that sometime around July 1 he will officially close Neitzel Studio, marking the end of one of Cass City's oldest established businesses. But don't look for Fritz to slow down very much. At age 60, he's still as ready and eager as ever to do his stuff when the fire whistle blows or when there's a good news picture to be taken. He says he'll also still take wedding pictures as well.

That doesn't sound like retirement to most people, but for Neitzel, it is. "Really it's semi-retirement," he said, settling back in a chair at his studio, clad in his customary jacket bearing the insignia "Elkland Township Fire Department", his reading glasses dangling from a string around his neck. "No, I'm not going to fold up and die," he continued. "I'll still be giving you a run for your money taking news pictures and I'll still chase fire engines until I die. I'm just not going to be tied down here anymore."

Neitzel said he and his wife, Peg, would like to be a little freer to enjoy life and to travel when they want without the responsibilities of the studio to tie them down.

LONG HISTORY

The studio has a long history. Established in 1880, the Maier Studio, as it was known then, is one of the oldest established businesses in the village. Jacob Maier, its original owner, started in the small building taking tin-types. A tintype was a picture that was put on thin sheets of tin instead of paper.

Methods were primitive. If it rained or was cloudy, sittings were cancelled since only natural light was available. Sittings took a long time, Neitzel said. "Old Jake's watchwords were

"Don't vink und don't vigele."

Ed Maier, his son, who ran the business after Jake retired, was born in the building which also housed the living quarters for the family.

Fred Neitzel is only the third owner of the studio. Neitzel recalled he bought the studio on a handshake. Born in Detroit, Fritz graduated from Cass Tech's art department in 1930 and worked for a number of years as a window dresser for Sears Roebuck and Co.

As a sideline, he took pictures of what he had done and sent them home. "Just to show the family I wasn't fooling around."

From there, the fascination with the camera grew until he teamed up with Gene Morkut of Color Graphic Studio.

One day, the Neitzels were visiting Peg's mother in Gagetown when one of the family members casually mentioned that Maier's studio was for sale.

"I talked it over with Gene and he said, Fritz, the way you hate Detroit, this is your one and only chance to get out," Neitzel recalled. "So we went ahead and bought it." Neitzel explained the deal was sealed on a handshake between himself and Ed Maier. The transfer took place June 1, 1946.

HAND COLORED PICTURES

Those early years were busy ones for the Neitzels. Since he did not shoot direct color portraits, the black and white pictures had to be hand-colored, much of it done by Mrs. Neitzel.

"She slaved in here for years doing that," Fritz recalled. "Finally when I started shooting direct color, I told her to get on out of here and enjoy herself a little."

The Neitzels lived in the studio building for their first nine years in Cass City before buying their present home on Houghton Street.

"Peg is the one who made me a success," he says. "If it hadn't been for her, I never would have made it. She helped keep me, this old 'Wreck of the Hesperus', on course."

Fritz has been shooting news pictures nearly as long as he's been at the studio. He shoots photos for the Bay City Times, Saginaw News and the Tuscola County Advertiser.

His photos have also been used by the Associated Press and United Press International.

LOVED CASS CITY

"I've loved it here in Cass City," Neitzel said, looking out the window at the passing scene on Main Street. "My only regret is that I didn't come up here a lot sooner. We've had lots of fun here."

While there have been loads of memories involving news events he's covered, the biggest, he says, was President Richard Nixon's visit to Cass City last year.

"I mean, how often does somebody like me get to photograph the President," he said. "The big thing I remember is the crowds and how hard it was to get up close enough to take a picture. I ended up using a telephoto lens and praying I'd get something."

Another significant memory was the fire at the Frutchey Bean elevator a number of years back.

"I remember I was on a hose, spraying water on one of the towers that wasn't on fire, trying to keep it cool,"

Fritz recalled. "All the time I'm doing this, here these people are looking at me saying, hey, the fire is over there, not here. It probably did look a little silly."

A member of the Elkland Township Fire Department since 1947, he plans to stay an active member as long as possible. It's one of the great civic labors of love he's undertaken during 29 years in Cass City.

During those years, Neitzel also helped found the Cass City Chamber of Commerce and was one of the original seven members of the board. He's also served as Rotary Club president and sang for several years in a barber shop quartet along with Art Atwell, Don Borg and Bob Stockwell.

The Chamber, he recalled, began with an idea to help put up Christmas displays in the village. Along with Cliff Croft and Dr. D.E. Rawson, the three began a move to hang lights that eventually grew into the Chamber.

FUTURE

Without the studio, the Neitzels will be freer to travel and spend more time with their foster daughter, Mrs. Jean Hillaker and four-year-old grandson, Erin, in North Carolina.

Mrs. Neitzel says she plans to accompany her husband on some of his free-lancing assignments as well as maybe getting in a vacation trip or two, now that the studio is closed.

"There are a lot of memories for me here in this studio," she said with a smile. "I worked in here coloring photos for over 20 years. We had some awfully good times here over the years. I suppose I have a few mixed feelings about it."

She said she'll also get to see her husband a little more than she has. Night assignments often keep Fritz away from the home fires.

Still, their motto will be "Have Camera-Will Travel." Chances are good it will be one of the busiest retirements on record.

Name U-M Regents-Alumni scholars

Two Cass City High School seniors have been named University of Michigan Regents-Alumni Scholars, school officials announced last week.

The two are Marie Hobart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hobart of Gagetown, and Bruce Tuckey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Tuckey of 4533

Downing St., Cass City.

The students were selected for their "superior academic achievement and their potential contribution to the scholarly community of the University of Michigan," officials said.

A certificate for each Regents-Alumni scholar has been sent to Cass City High School. All scholars will receive a $50 honorarium when they enroll in the U of M in September.

Optimists always exaggerate the visible supply of hope.

Council okays lot clean-up at Gagetown

Owners of cluttered vacant lots in Gagetown will have 30 days to clean them up, following action by Gagetown Village Council at its Monday night meeting held at the village hall.

Council approved a resolution giving lot owners 30 days to clean up their property. After that, village crews will clean up the lots and the cost will be added to the owner's tax bill.

Council responded to a number of citizen complaints about the situation, Clerk Mrs. Elery Sontag said.

In other business, council voted to construct a facilities building in the park housing men's and women's restrooms. No final cost estimates of the project were available.

Trustees also voted to construct a new water line to a new home being constructed in the northeast part of the village.

Village Patrolman Jack McCampbell reported he has completed a police training course held in Royal Oak.

The Gagetown bloop ball team has requested a special liquor permit for their annual tournament scheduled for July. Final action is pending. Bills of $2,300.54 were approved for payment.

Kelley ordained in Adrian

Final ordination rites for Rev. Eldred Kelley, pastor of Salem United Methodist church of Cass City, were scheduled to be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m., at Adrian College, with Bishop Dwight Loder officiating.

Final ordination means Rev. Kelley will become a voting member of the annual conference. Normally, he would have received full membership three years ago, but could not because of a serious illness at that time.

Final ordination also means a minister has completed seven years of formal training beyond high school and has a master of divinity degree.

Kelley's two sponsors for the event are Rev. Richard Lobb, senior pastor of the Ames United Methodist church in Saginaw, and Rev. Horace Murray, pastor in Owosso.

Rev. Kelley became pastor at Salem UM church in June, 1974.

REV. ELDRED KELLEY was scheduled to be ordained in ceremonies slated Wednesday night in Adrian. Kelley has been pastor at Salem United Methodist church the past year. Shown with Kelley are his wife, Luanne, and sons, Mike (left) and Douglas.

Petroglyph deadlock ends

land in the area are expected to be purchased by the DNR prior to completion of the project.

Roethel said the shelter will include special lighting that will highlight the rocks and make the carvings easier to view. Experts believe the carvings are over 500 years old. They were protected from the elements for centuries by virgin cork pine forests that thrived in the area. The great fire of 1881, however, completely destroyed that cover, exposing the rocks directly to the elements for the first time.

Since then, weather and vandals have worn away at the carvings. A cyclone fence under lock and key is the only protection the rocks presently have. They are located a quarter-mile west of Germania Road.

The carvings are believed to have held religious significance for early Indian tribes, who, it is theorized, journeyed over the Cass River to the site periodically to conduct ceremonies.

It is not certain whether or not a permanent Indian settlement existed at the site, although experts say the possibility is unlikely.

In addition to the shelter, a rebuilt Indian village, picnic areas, parking and campgrounds are on the drawing boards.

Roethel said both departments are working on a five-year development plan for the site.

In June, 1972, the Michigan legislature voted a $50,000 appropriation for a building at the site, with construction to begin in 1973. However, after the approval, the dispute developed between the DNR and the secretary of state's office, stalling further progress.

Excavations have been made by the DNR at the site. It is not known if more are planned this year.

the Uby School board, following the retirements of trustees Marshall Grifka and Charles O'Shea.

The candidates include John D. Kennedy, 50, Agnes Ruth Olshovee, 47, Clarence Rutkowski, 42, and Kenneth Rutkowski, 40. The senior Rutkowski is an uncle of Kenneth Rutkowski.

Uby voters will also be asked to renew three mills for three years. The millage is designed for operation.

At Owen-Gage, voters will be asked to renew 8 1/4 mills for operation and approve an additional one mill.

School board members Mrs. Mary Downing and Pat Goslin are not seeking reelection to the board. John G. (Jack) Laurie, Cass City, is running unopposed for Mrs. Downing's four-year term, while Joseph Warack, Sebewaing, is running for the two year term being vacated by Goslin.

Goslin was appointed last year following the resignation of George Wilson.

17 attend Missionary Society meet

Seventeen women attended the monthly meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Hartwick.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Richard Shaw and prayer time for missionaries was led by Mrs. Stanley McArthur.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Rosella Kretschmer, members voted to buy cooking utensils for the church kitchen.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. Frank McVety.

Six records set at Thumb Meet of Champions in Caro

Six new records were set last Wednesday evening in the Third Annual Thumb Track & Field Meet of Champions held at Caro's Stamats Field. An estimated 4,000 persons were on hand for the Olympic-style meet.

Two of the new marks were established by Frankmunth sprinter Barry Baranowski who captured gold medals in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and won a gold medal for his participation in the winning 880 relay team. For his outstanding performance, Baranowski was the unanimous choice of the coaches for the prestigious "Athlete of the Meet" trophy.

Baranowski ran a torrid 10 seconds flat to win the 100 yard dash and to break the 10.15 mark set by John DeChane of Bad Axe in 1973. His 22 seconds flat in the 220 dash bettered the previous 22.5 set by USA's Dave Bitzer a year ago.

Other new records were established in the 880 yard run by Rod Luther of USA in 1:57.6; USA's Tim Androl set a new mark in the mile run with a time of 4:30.9; Mike Mischung of USA shattered the old record of :20.4 in the low hurdles with a new time of :20.1; and the final new record was set by USA's mile relay team which ran a sizzling 3:28.4.

Another high point of this year's meet was the awarding of the First Annual Thumb Sports Leader award to USA athletic director Robert Cartwright.

Medal winners of the 3rd annual Meet of Champions are as follows:

Merchants team drops two contests

The Cass City Merchants, playing for the first time in the Thumb Traveling League, has found the competition much rougher than it was when most of the players were playing in Huron county last season.

The team was the defending champion in Huron county, but have dropped two of its first three games after a week of play in the new loop.

The Merchants opened against powerful Akron Thursday, May 22, and the Akron nine had little trouble rolling to a 7-0 decision.

W. Lassiter pitched two-hit shut-out ball while his mates racked Craig Helwig for six hits and three walks. Ron Ouvry and Jack Hillaker picked up harmless singles to ruin an otherwise perfect game for Lassiter.

Actually the game was decided in the first inning when John Volk reached first on an error and worked his way around without the benefit of a hit.

Things were brighter for Cass City when they played Center Road Bar at Bay City.

Helwig tossed a five hitter and his mates backed him with an eight-hit, 10-run attack for the easy win, 10-3.

Al Romig slashed out two hits and Don Galbraith also picked up a pair to show the way at the plate.

The toughest loss of the week for Cass City was recorded Thursday, May 29. Reese topped the Merchants, 3-2.

A last inning rally fell a run short as Reese made runs scored in the second, fifth and sixth innings stand up for the victory.

Ackerman held Cass City without a hit for the first four innings.

In the fifth, Cass City had a chance to win. Scott Hartel opened with a walk and Don Galbraith and John Smentek followed with singles to load the bases. But Murphy flied to short center and the next two men whiffed to end the threat.

In the seventh Cass City put two men on with one out and eventually scored them both but all that did was make the final score closer.

BPW awards three scholarships

Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club announced scholarship awards last week to three senior girls. Awards were presented to Sheryl Guc, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Guc, Cass City; Cheryl O'Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul O'Harris, Cass City; and Jill Field, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Field of Deford.

Each senior selected received a $150 scholarship.

Miss Guc plans to study nursing at St. Clair Community College, while Miss O'Harris has enrolled at Olivet College, Olivet, and plans to study medical technology or pre-med.

Miss Field plans to attend Mott Community College, Flint, and has enrolled in the nursing school.

The awards were presented by Mrs. William O'Dell, Scholarship committee chairman.

Girls end softball season with win

Cass City High School's Girls' Softball team ended its season on a winning note, taking a 6-2 victory over Reese at Reese Wednesday, May 28.

The Hawks pounded out 12 hits, including three each by Elaine Stoutenburg and Cheri Martin. The Hawks also picked up eight walks off Reese pitching on their way to the win.

The only sour note came in the error column, where Cass City committed eight miscues, compared to Reese's three.

Winning pitcher was Kim Downing.

The Hawks ended their season with a 7-2 record.

Little League race wide open

The race for the championship of the Cass City Little League this summer promises to be close and wide open with any of three teams capable of hauling down the title toga.

After three games three teams are tied for the top. The Tigers, Yanks and Cubs all have 2-1 records.

YANKES-ORIOLES

The Yankees were briefly on top after they disposed of their first two opponents, but that all came to a halt Thursday, May 29, when the improving Orioles knocked them off, 4-3, in a well played game.

Doug Hyatt was on the mound for the Orioles and was credited with the win, striking out 11. Brad Hartel was the losing pitcher. He also hurled a strong game allowing no Bird slugger more than one hit. Brian Haag went three for three at the plate in a losing effort.

CUBS-TIGERS

Friday, May 30, the Cubs rolled over the defending champion Tigers, 7-3. Randy Stine tossed a three-hitter and struck out 17 for the Cubs. Kevin Nicholas went 2 for 4 to help the Cubs capture the win. Larry Harrison was handed the loss. Harrison did his best in a losing cause when he scored 2 of the Tigers' 3 runs.

The standings:

Team	W	L
Tigers	2	1
Yankees	2	1
Cubs	2	1
Orioles	1	1
Giants	0	2
Pirates	0	3

3 teams post Minor League wins

It's too early to tell which team is the powerhouse in the Minors this year as the six-team league had played just one game each through last Friday.

But the Giants, Yanks and Tigers are grinning while the Pirates, Cubs and Orioles were preparing to get on the victory band wagon.

Thursday, May 29, the Giants hammered the Orioles, 39-12, for a one sided victory. Terry Holcomb was the winner. He struck out 11 and walked 19.

Rob Sherry pitched for the Orioles.

The Yanks won their first game by posting a 17-16 decision over the Cubs.

Kirk Wischmeyer hurled for the Yankees, going five innings and receiving credit for the win. Jeff Willis got the save as he shut the Cubs out in the sixth.

Jim Windy and Wischmeyer had two hits each for the winners.

The standings:

Team	W	L
Giants	1	0
Yankees	1	0
Tigers	1	0
Pirates	0	1
Cubs	0	1
Orioles	0	1

THREE CASS CITY High School seniors received $150 scholarships from Cass City Business and Professional Women's club Thursday. Walbro reports sales jump 16 per cent

Reporting to stockholders at the company's recent Annual Meeting, Walter E. Walpole, President, Walbro Corporation, stated that consolidated net sales for the year ended Dec. 31, 1974, were $15,442,233—an increase of more than 16 per cent over the preceding year. Net earnings were $872,201, an increase of 5 per cent over 1973.

He also stated that first quarter sales in 1975 from consolidated operations, including those of Auburn Diecast Corporation with which Walbro merged in January, were $3,828,529, compared with $3,386,233 for the same period last year.

He acknowledged the fact that net earnings for the first quarter in 1975 were down considerably from the same period last year, but he confidently expects 1975 to be a good year for Walbro nevertheless.

To validate these expectations, various members of the Executive Committee reported:

1—that over $400,000 has been invested in new machinery and equipment for four new carburetor models: one for professional chain saws, three for outboard engines;

2—that Walbro has added three major chain saw manufacturers to its customer list; 3—that, working with its Auburn Diecast and Arjay subsidiaries, Walbro now has the greatly expanded capability of offering the small engine industry major modular fuel sections incorporating carburetion with integrated die cast and plastics components; 4—that Keihin-Walbro Corporation, the company's joint venture subsidiary in Japan, is now in large quantity production;

5—that Walbro GmbH, the company's West German subsidiary, has a new Managing Director, John W. Underwood; and plans to move its Hamburg sales and service center to Stuttgart, West Germany, by October 1; 6—that the Automotive Products Division's R&D group has developed a new metering pump and a new impulse-type pump.

7—that, with its recently expanded field force and its well-established distributor network, this new Automotive Products Division gives growth-oriented Walbro the organizational structure and the incentive to add other automotive products to its lines of electric fuel pumps, catalytic engine heaters, diagnostic testing equipment (Vibration Analyzer);

13 travel to Bob Lo

Thirteen members of the Owendale-Gagetown Senior High Band enjoyed a day's outing Friday when they travelled to Bob Lo Island. Chaperones for the trip were Mrs. Mike McClaren, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Couey and their director, Jeri Blough.

St. Pancratius gets new pastor

Rev. Fr. Joseph Morales, 56, has been appointed pastor of St. Pancratius Catholic church, Cass City. The appointment was made by Bishop Francis Reh after consultation with the Diocesan Clergy Personnel Board, and became effective Wednesday.

Fr. Morales has been serving as administrator of Immaculate Conception church in St. Charles since March 12. Previous to his assignment as administrator, Fr. Morales served as Episcopal Vicar for Spanish speaking persons, and resided at Our Lady of Guadalupe Chapel, Bay City.

He was born June 27, 1918, in Penjamo, Mexico. He was ordained Nov. 10, 1946, in Mexico City, and was educated at Josephite Seminary in Mexico City.

He served as a professor at the seminary before being named pastor of Holy Family church in Mexico City in 1951.

He was named assistant pastor of Saginaw St. Joseph church in 1953, and became administrator of the parish in September, 1965.

In June, 1966, he was appointed pastor of Unionville St. Joseph Parish, and named as Episcopal Vicar for Spanish speaking persons Nov. 28, 1974.

Democracy is a way of life that has stood the test of time.
