prosecutor

Patrick Joslyn, 34, St. Johns, has been appointed Tuscola County Prosecuting Attorney. He succeeds George Holmes who announced his resignation earlier this year. Joslyn's appointment was announced Monday by Circuit Judge Martin Clements, who will swear in the new prosecutor Dec. 31.

Joslyn currently serves as assistant prosecutor in Clinton county, a post he has held since February of 1972, He is a 1971 graduate of the Detroit College of Law and had begun a private practice shortly before his appointment.

According to Clinton County Prosecutor John Neuman, Joslyn's duties have concentrated in enforcement of support obligations involving child support cases and welfare fraud,

The choice of Joslyn for the $21,000 a year post comes as a surprise to many observers who felt former Prosecutor Leo Maki had the inside track for the job. Ironically, Maki is originally from Clinton county.

Kritzman's Inc., of Cass City, said business this holiday season has been between seven and eight per cent better than a year ago.

"Big items are moving this year that really didn't sell that well last year," he said. "Luggage and snowmobile suits have sold well. In fact, I've sold more snowmobile suits so far this season than I did all last year."

Kritzman said increased sales have been spread fairly evenly among other items, with many $100 orders being processed. At the same time, the customer count has remained about the same, Kritzman said.

"They seem to be spending a little more freely this year than they did last year," he said. "It's hard to believe there's supposed to be a recession on."

You like the smell of bread baking because it reminds you of those wonderful days before Sara Lee replaced grandmothers, So a guy will tumble for Charlie if the fragrance reminds him of a previous relationship in which his partner said yes, yes, oh lord, yes... But what if today's Charlie smells like Mabel who, back in the 11th grade, screamed and made you take her home and later told your mother you were a sex fiend? Good~ bye, Charlie.

Obviously, there is no way the Charlie and Chanel people can successfully predict which fragrances will trigger pleasant memories in which men. They are simply guessing and hoping, just as the women who buy the smells are guessing and hoping. Life is a gamble, especially love. And that's what those perfume commercials really mean. Wouldn't that flick your Bic?

Last year right about now the energy crunch had us all up-tight about the supply of antifreeze and gasoline.

This year the energy crunch is being felt, too. Only in reverse. Way last summer when most stores were ordering for Christmas, buyers were afraid that the crunch would cut Christmas tree bulb sales . . . so they cut their orders. Now you can't find one for love or money in Cass City and the Thumb. (I'll bet they are scarce in the city, too.)

If the type in this week's paper looks a little different to you it's only because it is.

Mechanical troubles forced us to use a discarded back-up machine this week. The result isn't as pleasing but it beats nothing but blank pages and pictures.

What does a policeman do when he's off duty? A little moonlighting, that's what. Last week when Buena Vista played Lakers at Lakers, I spotted Police Chief Gene Wilson giving our neighbors to the north a helping hand with security.

No problems were reported at the game,

It's been about four years (I'm guessing) since H.M. Bulen became paralyzed from the neck down in a bicycle accident. Nevertheless he learned to drive using his arms and special controls.

Last year he suffered another very serious accident and friends feared for him during his hospital convalescence. But his myriad friends will be pleased to learn that Horace has been out of the hospital for four months and is going on as before. I should add, for the benefit of all of you who are fairly recent arrivals in the village, that Bulen ran the Chev.-Olds dealership in Cass City and was a civic leader here for over a quarter century.

Fritz Neitzel says that one of these days he's going to have someone shoot a picture of Neitzel and Haire shaking hands under a basket at Cass City High School.

Not much is written about the wise men. We know they came from the east to Jerusalem, following a star. They came bearing gifts, and when the star stopped at Bethlehem, they went in and kneft before a tiny child and offered him their treasure.

Why? Certainly not because it was "the thing to do." Rather, because there burned in them an ancient thirst to find the Christ and worship Him.

Today, as all over the world men foment turbulence and strife, let us seek the Prince of Peace. If each of us, as we celebrate the season, would radiate His presence, His star could light the world with peace!

Your church is the cornerstone of faith. Worship there, and satisfy the longing all menhave — to know their God.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK Camelot revisited By Jim Ketchum

going on in the Camelot days some were saying back in of the John F. Kennedy administration than blockading Cuba and getting everybody to do pushups. It seems Judith Campbell Exner dropped a bombshell last week when she revealed that she and Kennedy had "a relationship . . . of a close personal nature".

And while it may not have involved any shenanigans with the CIA, which was trying to make Fidel Castro's beard fall off with an exploding cigar, indications are that she and JFK were doing more than discussing foreign policy or the state of the Union.

Now Mrs. Exner, a selfdescribed housewife, says she will tell all at the proper time. The fact that she wouldn't say whether or not she was Kennedy's mistress made her more popular than Fanne Fox was after she incorporated Wilbur Mills into her striptease act.

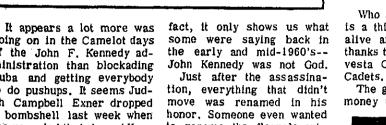

Mrs. Exner has reportedly talked with CBS news about an interview with 60 Minutes, but CBS brass say they won't pay for the interview, They're still smarting over the H.R. Haldeman flap.

The interesting part, of course, is the fact that she calisthenics to keep us dewas also reportedly a girl- coyed while the microphones friend of reputed gangster Sam Giancanna, Mrs. Exner says she never told her two male friends about each other. Yet now she's ready to tell everybody, singing more sweetly than a parrot with a lifetime supply of crackers.

The purported revelations by Mrs. Exner are apparently designed to "set the record straight" as well as make a few bucks. These days it doesn't take much to propel you into the writer's club. Put it between two covers and you've got the world on a string, to rename the flagpole outside our school after the late president Admittedly, it's hard to resist the temptation. In the flood of grief and indignation that followed Kennedy's killing, the country tried to show it really did care. Unfortunately, it was too late. In the intervening years, however, John Kennedy's status as a diety has slipped dramatically. Students of the presidency rate Kennedy's performance generally as no better than average. Only in the wake of his death did massive civil rights acts go on the books. Massive spending he advocated to end poverty never saw the light of day until Lyndon Johnson became president.

Recent investigations of the CIA and FBI have pointed to illegal acts of domestic intelligence gathering during the Kennedy administration. Maybe he had us doing all those were being planted. I'm not sure Mrs. Exner's revelations will do anybody any good. We have a habit of deifying our presidents just after they die and crucifying them after they're long dead. John Kennedy is no exception. Life would have continued without Mrs. Exner bursting on the scene. In the final analysis, however, it's her conscience she has to live with. Personally, it's really not that important.

It appears now that we will not be assisting the private pesticide applicators until the winter of 1977. Several developments resulted in the delay of Pesticide Applicator Certification,

There was a considerable amount of resistance to the certification of pesticide applicators through an examination process by a number of the states. Heavy pressures were also being exerted to postpone the date of registered certification. The consequences are that federal legislation has been enacted which changes the date of certification from Oct. 21, 1976 to Oct. 21, 1977. Further, the legislation permits a system of "self-certification" whereby the purchaser of a restricted pesticide signs a form stating that he or she is qualified to apply that pesticide and that he or she has received training to cause he

Accidents frequent, injuries rare for area's motorists

Area police investigated a rash of property damage traffic accidents this past week in which drivers escaped with only minor injuries.

The most potentially sertous accident occurred late Thursday morning when a truck driven by Bruce LeValley, 25, of 6188 Cedar Dr., Cass City, rolled onto its side at the intersection of -Church-and-West-Streets.

According to the Cass City Police accident report, Le-Valley was eastbound on Church Street when a car driven by Henry James Rock, 57, of 5831 Reed St., Deford, northbound on West Street, entered the intersection.

Police said the truck struck the Rock vehicle in the left front fender and the driver's door, then rolled on its right side.

Neither driver was reported seriously injured. No ticket was issued. The accident took place at 11:22 a.m.

Two drivers escaped injury Wednesday, Dec. 17, in atwovehicle collision at the intersection of Main and Maple Streets in Cass City.

Cass City Police said cars driven by Daniel J. Erla, 16, of Cass City and Janice Lynn Heckroth, 18, of Mushroom Rd., Deford, were both eastbound on Main when Ms. Heckroth apparently tried to make a left turn onto Maple in front of the Erla vehicle, striking it in the right front fender. Neither driver was injured in the 3:50 p.m. accident.

No ticket was issued. A Bad Axe woman sought her own medical treatment

Severance said he favors the present design, although he acknowledged there have been no revisions in the basic draft since the architecture firm of Tarpata, MacMahon and Paulsen Corp., submitted

"The whole thing has been in limbo since the vote came up," Severance said.

The petition drive started in the summer following commission approval of the courthouse addition last July. The election date was decided based on state law which says the vote must come between 120 and 130 days after the petitions are filed.

Criticism over the design of the addition has surfaced, with some calling it an ugly building, Severance disagrees.

"I think it's a beautiful building just the way it is," he said.

He said offering consolidated county services under one roof will contribute to a more efficient county operation, adding that present rented offices are generally overcrowded.

Severance says the need for more space is self-apparent.

If the proposal fails, it's unclear what the next step would be. "I honestly don't know what we would do," Severance said.

Voters will cast ballots at regularly designated polling places. Polls will be open 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

hope to continue the village's in tax receipts from the state street resurfacing program at and inflation continues, the to post program will suffer. In light of a recent study "Take asphalt for instance,"

When Joslyn, father of five, takes over the post at the end of the year, he will inherit an office surrounded with controversy. The County Board of Commissioners and the prosecutor's office have been at loggerheads over funding for the post for over three years. Holmes announced his resignation Nov. 6.

Commenting on the choice of Joslyn, Circuit Judge Norman Baguley said the prosecutor-designate had the experience, attitude, and skills necessary for the job. Under Michigan law, Bag-uley and Judge Clements were responsible for filling the prosecutor's post.

"There were others who were qualified, but we felt he (Joslyn) had more of everything we felt was needed for the job," Baguley said. "He's prosecutor oriented and he has the experience for the job." Baguley said at no time was there any "front-runner". "Nobody had any inside track," he said. "We had to do what we felt was best for the people of Tuscola county." Baguley agreed Joslyn's experience in support cases will be helpful. Presently, Tuscola county has only one person operating in the Friend of the Court's office, with no additional funding on the horizon. "That office (Friend of the Court) is so shorthanded," Baguley commented, "They're really ill-equipped to handle the amount of work they have."

remain tied for league lead

It's not bah! humbug!, but nevertheless Coach Ron Nurnberger just wishes that the Christmas holidays didn't come at this particular moment in the current basketball season.

He would just as soon have had a couple of games scheduled this week so that his basketball team could continue its present sharp basketball.

And why not? In the last two games the Hawks have started to show signs of putting it all together. Friday night in the last game before the Christmas break Cass City devastated Lakers, 71-44, at Cass City High School, to remain on top in the Thumb B league with Sandusky.

And the game was every bit as lopsided as the final score indicated.

Intermediate district

Teachers sign

new pay pact

School District and the Intermediate Education Association have ratified a new oneyear contract calling for pay raises ranging from 0.9 per cent to 4.55 per cent.

According to terms of the new contract, the Intermediate Board of Education will also pay the teacher's five per cent contribution to the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement Fund. Overall, the average increase in salary and retirement benefits totals about 7 3/4 per cent.

The new salary scale calls for the salary of teachers with a Bachelors Degree to begin at $9,535 per year and range up to $13,072 with eight years experience. For teachers with a Masters Degree, salaries start at $10,298 and go up to $16,648 with twelve years

The Tuscola Intermediate experience. The highest salary possible on the salary scale is $17,411, which would be for a person with a Masters Degree plus 30 credit hours and 12 years experience.

> The other major issue in contract bargaining was the method for computing mileage for teachers who travel on the job. Under the new agreement they will be paid between stops only, with no mileage between their home or office and their first school in the morning and last school, in the evening. This change, represents a savings of some $13,000 per year to the school district over the former meth od of paying mileage.

Other changes in the contract were minor wording revisions on non-economic items, The contract is retroactive to Sept. 1, and comes after eight months of negotiations. The office had been a start of the

POPCORN BALLS tree branches. 1½ cups of popeorn 4 tablespoons of butter or oleomargarine 1/3 cup of water 1 cup of sugar 1/2 cup of corn syrup 1 teaspoon of salt 1 teaspoon of vanilla

First, of course, make the popcorn. The amount of unpopped popcorn indicated will make about seven cups of popped corn, anywhere from 12 to 15 popcorn balls. Set the popcorn aside for a second in a large bowl.

In a saucepan, mix the butter (or oleomargarine), water, sugar, corn syrup and salt with the popped corn. Cook this over a medium heat until (via your own testing method) a few drops form a hard ball when dropped into cold water. Remove from heat.

Then stir in the vanilla, pouring it in a thin stream over the popped corn and to January 6th. Then, in the stirring constantly to mix year 1752 Christmas was well. Shape the popcorn finally moved to its present into balls with buttered date, December 25th. hands and set the balls one different and special in just what is it that makes its own way. But how much it glow? glow is there in Christmas There is a lot of glitter, for our children today and but glitter is dependent on a switch. Turn on the switch - it goes, but shine is lasting like the radiance of a star.

Don't misunderstand, it. is not being suggested here that we go back to the "good old days." But our children should know the joy and shine of Christmas for their memory banks. It's not that our children should change. They're great, Of course they're different from the children of generations past. They know more. They can explain the rain and what's electricity, and where babies come from. But their needs are the same as the children of all times. They need assurance of love, they need to be praised, they need the chance to do - to make. They need to have "secrets" and Christmas is wonderful "secret" time!

What can we do to make the holiday a way of answering these needs? Certainly not by turning back the clock, nor substituting the radio for the T.V. or un-freezing the freezer, not to take away, but to endow what we have with the exburning. tra special quality that we've somehow lost. We've swamped children with Christmas instead of helping them find it for themselves.

Would it be possible for the family together to make some rules (children love rules — especially making them) for the celebration of the holiday? And then to print and decorate them to hang on a wall? Could the children make scads of cookies and candies to be shared with friends, neighbors, lonely people anywhere?

Would it be possible to add to the tree some handmade decorations signed and dated by each member of the family worthy enough to be kept carefully from year to year? ("Little Ed made this when he was

6 and this, when he was 8"). Would it be possible that along with store-bought gifts would come a declaration of love or admiration. Perhaps it could be a rhyme -carefully written and read aloud, and the gift itself wrapped in a way to suggest the gift inside? And instead of ripping packages open, it would be ritual to take turns, so each gift could be seen, heard and enjoyed by all. And after the gifts, a Christmas story, followed by caroling. And all the time the $T\bar{V}$. would be dark and candles Somehow we've taken Christmas away from children. Perhaps it would be a good idea to make it a wonderful secret again and let them find it out for themselves.

Some Folks Have a Year-Round Christmas

There are five towns or villages in the United States that are named "Christmas." They are in Arizona, Florida, Kentucky, Mississippi and Tennessee.

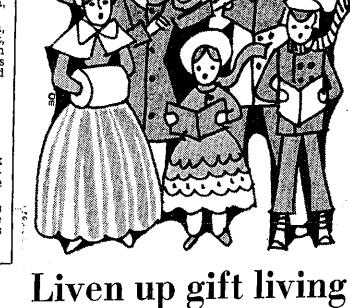

There is a Christmas Island in the Indian Ocean, south of Java, attached to the Singapore settlement, under Australian administration, and the British have two Christmas Islands: one of the Line Islands in the center of the Pacific Ocean near Hawaii and another in Nova Scotia on the Atlantic Ocean.

U.S. "CHRISTMAS" TOWNS SWAMPED WITH CHRISTMAS MAIL

Because many people want a Christmas postmark on their cards, letters and packages, each year mil-lions of pieces of mail are sent to post offices in those places named "Christmas."

Christmas, Florida, population about 300, handles an average half-million pieces of mail during the Christmas season. Located near Orlando, it began as a fort that was completed on Christmas 1835.

The area around the Christmas tree is always the center of attention, but keeping it litter-free can be a full-time job. Use a carpet sweeper around the tree to pick up fallen needles, tinsel and scraps and avoid lugging out the vacuum, moving furniture and unplugging the tree lights.

The carpet sweeper is also handy for grooming busy entranceways, halls and stairs before guests arrive.

Bonnie Clark, director of Bissell's Consumer Service Institute, advises that accidental spills on carpets need not spoil the holiday mood if they are treated immediately before stains have a chance to set.

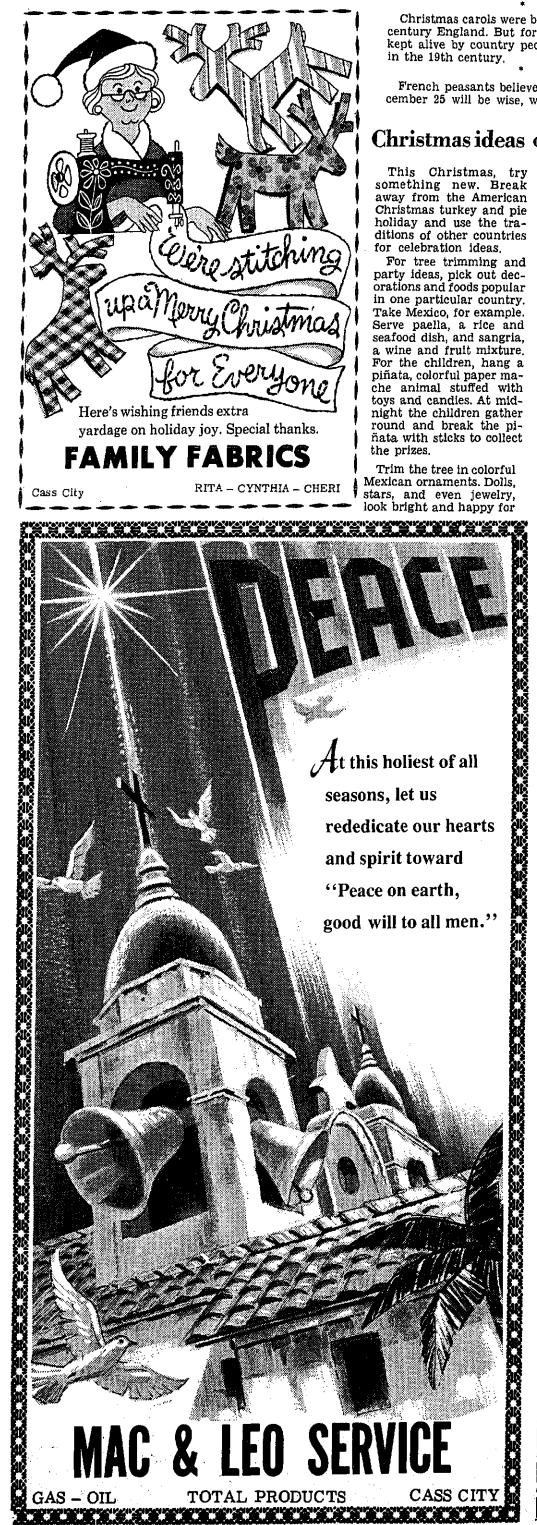

Spilled wine, for example, should be blotted and covered with salt to stop the stain from spreading. 49501.

Mistletoe was once considered a healing herb; and wearing it hung around the neck was believed to ward off disease.

December — the winter solstice — has always been a festive time. In ancient Rome, December 17 marked the start of the week-long Saturnalia, a time of festivities in which people gave presents, lighted candles, and adorned their houses with greens.

The Twelve Days of Christmas are a carry-over from Roman times: the festivities of the Saturnalia were followed by Twelve Holy Days, which ended on January 1, called the Calends of January. * * *

In Spain, tradition has it that children's gifts are left by the Wise Men, passing through on their way to Bethlehem. Youngsters leave their shoes on the window sills, filled with straw for the Magi's horses; next morning, the straw has been replaced with toys and sweets.

In Ireland, the church candles lighted at Christmas may be snuffed only by someone whose name is Mary. * *

Children in Holland and Belgium get their Christmas gifts on December 6, which is St. Nicholas Day.

Decorations of greenery at Christmas were forbidden by the early church fathers, because of its association with Roman customs. It wasn't until the 16th century that greenery began to be used.

The Christmas tree came to England when Queen Victoria married Prince Albert. The Prince brought the custom with him from his native Germany.

Christmas carols were banned by the Puritans in 17th century England. But for 200 years, many carols were kept alive by country people, and finally rediscovered

"Christmas" got its origin from "X," an abbreviation of Christ deriving from the Greek letter X (ch) beginning His Name.

In the Philippines, Christmas is known as Santo Nino and children sing carols and parade through the streets behind a band.

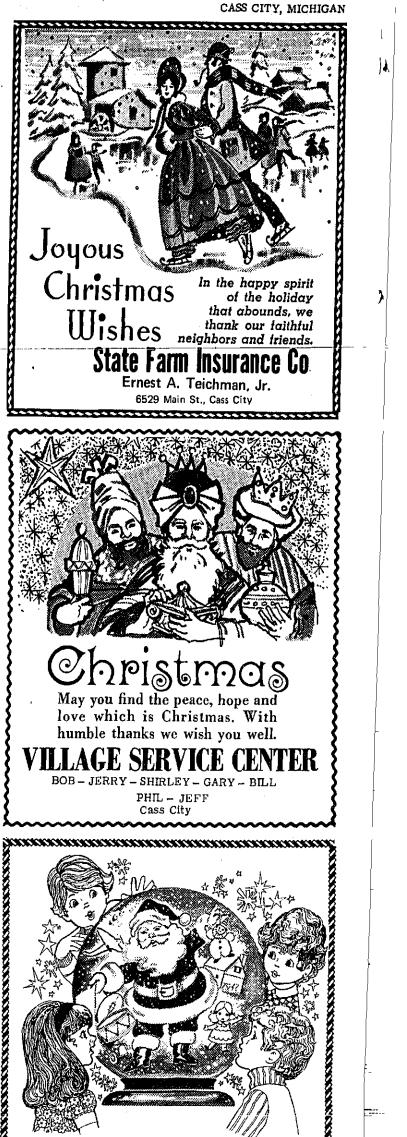

Christmas Seals originated in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1904. It was the idea of a postal clerk named Holboell, who dreamed them up as a benefit for a children's hospital.

In Czechoslovakia, fortunes are told after the evening meal on Christmas by pouring melted lead or wax into water and studying the shapes formed.

In Puerto Rico, children at Christmas put boxes on the roof - instead of hanging stockings.

An age-old Christmas custom: Cut an onion in half, peel off 12 layers (1 for each month to come) and fill each with salt. On the next morning, the peelings containing damp salt indicate rainy months.

Deck your tree with balls of a glimmering yarn of Creslan acrylic fiber and nylon which has the right look for a tree — particu-larly one without lights. And there's nothing for toddlers or pets to break. TO MAKE THE BALLS: Cut two cardboard circles to desired size of pompon and cut a hole about $\frac{1}{4}$ " in center of each. For balls 1 to 11/2 inches in diameter - cut 4 lengths of Glimmer yarn, each 3 yards long. Place circles together and wind yarn through center and over edges. Continue until circles are completely covered and opening is filled in.

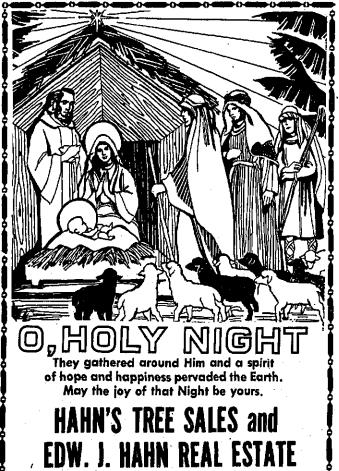

Cut yarn between two circles and slip length of yarn between the cardboards winding it very tightly around several times; knot leaving ends long enough to tie to tree. Remove circles. Fluff pompon and trim. (You can work with two colors at a time or you can make designs by sectioning off your circle with different colors. A plastic yarn needle makes the going easier once the hole in center begins to fill up.)

your Christmas tree a glimmering look and yet have it safe. Make a lot of pompons in all sizes. Make them with yarn of Creslan acrylic fiber and nylon that has a lightly frosted look so right for the holidays. Make them one-tone, twotone, three-tone or more. In golds, reds and greens. If it's for a small tree in the nursery use pale pinks, blues and greens. It will give a tree a fairy-like appearance.

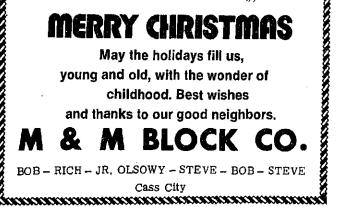

The psychology of 'season's greetings'

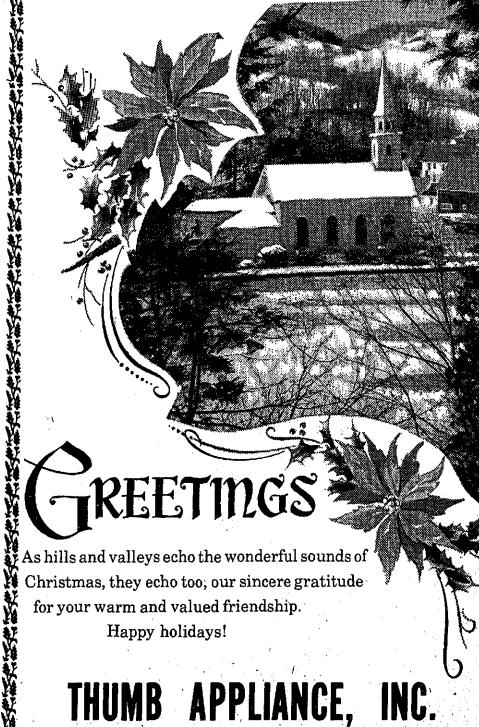

Your Christmas card may tell more about you than you realize. A card reflects the sender's taste, it may indicate a degree of religious belief, and the cost of the card may also be a clue to personality. Psychologists say that an executive whose success is recent may feel that an expensive card is more appropriate to his new station while a person of estab-lished standing prefers not to be ostentatious and therefore selects a very simple card.
