

County court-appointed attorney fees skyrocket

The skyrocketing cost of court-appointed attorneys has stirred the anger of Tuscola County's Board of Commissioners but so far, nobody has come up with any answers to stem the tide.

Since 1970, total court-appointed attorney costs have soared by a whopping 686 percent. Last year's bill totaled $51,644.52, compared with only $7,528.50 just six years ago.

So far, 1976 hasn't brought any relief. For the first three months, the bill for court-appointed attorneys has hit $15,777.60. Projected over the entire year, the bill could approach $64,000, another 23 percent jump.

A frustrated County Commission Chairman Charles Woodcock said the situation has gotten entirely out of hand and that the only recourse may lie in an open challenge to the system. He suggested not paying any more bills for court-appointed attorneys.

"I think part of the problem is that these damn judges have taken us for a ride," Woodcock said. "They've been saying everybody should have their day in court and that justice is free. Well, something is wrong with the way this whole thing is set up."

Woodcock said much of the problem lies with judges who readily make use of the attorneys. He said the situation may reach a point where the county may have to quit paying the bill.

"Maybe we should not pay any more of the bills and see what happens," Woodcock said.

He agrees the action might be illegal but said the courts have brought much of the problem on themselves.

"At this point, I'm willing to take any help we can get," Woodcock said.

At the present rate, the budgeted $48,500 will be exhausted long before the year's end.

Woodcock said he sees no sense in paying for the defense as well as the prosecution of criminals.

"All we're doing is subsidizing attorneys that couldn't get a job on their own," he said. "We're being asked to pay for it all and to me there is something wrong. It's highway robbery. It's fraud."

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS

No matter how much it costs, defendants are entitled to legal counsel, whether they can afford it or not, according to Circuit Judge Norman Baguley.

Those rights are guaranteed by the Constitution, he said.

"We have no control over it," he said. "We're trying more criminal cases today than in past years. We handle very few civil matters."

"Most of the defendants who come before us are between 17 and 23 who aren't working and have no assets. But they still have the right to an attorney."

Baguley doesn't favor the public defender system used in some larger counties. He said Tuscola county taxpayers are getting a better bargain when private attorneys are used.

Besides increased caseloads, Baguley said more appeals are being filed. When a defendant appeals a conviction, he's still entitled to a court-appointed attorney.

"If you're sitting in jail, you sure can't afford to hire an attorney for an appeal if you couldn't afford one in the first place," he said.

Baguley said his court appoints few attorneys and that most are appointed in District Court. When he does appoint counsel for a defendant, Baguley said, a check is made into his assets and his income. No rigid dollar figures are used in the evaluation, he said.

Five injured in two-car crash near Cass City

Five persons were injured Wednesday afternoon, March 24, in a two-car crash on Cemetery Road, just south of Cass City.

Cass City Police and Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies, who investigated the accident, identified the injured as Linda Dee Sheldon, 16, of 4545 Downing St., Cass City, driver of one of the vehicles, and two passengers, Paula Lou Schuette, 17, Unionville, and Nancy Lynn Cole, 17, of Milligan Road, Cass City.

Tom Frankowiak, 54, of 4102 Hurds Corner Rd., Kingston, driver of the second vehicle and a passenger, Michael Delrossi, 29, of 4150 Hurds Corner Road, were also injured.

According to the accident report, the Sheldon vehicle was headed north when the driver apparently lost control of the vehicle. The car ran off the right shoulder of the road, came back on the pavement, spun around and slid into the southbound lane, striking the Frankowiak auto.

All the injured were taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital for treatment of cuts, bruises and lacerations. The accident took place at 3:10 p.m.

Elkland township firemen were called to the scene to put out a small fire that broke out underneath the Sheldon auto. They remained at the scene until the vehicles were hauled away.

A Deford area woman was shaken up Saturday when the car she was driving went out of control and landed in a ditch on Hurds Corner Road and M-46, five miles west of Kingston.

Sheriff's deputies reported Kathleen Lenora Weischat, 35, of 5894 Howard St., Wilmet, was northbound when she lost control of her vehicle.

The car crossed over to the west side of the road, landed in a ditch and rolled over.

She was treated for cuts and bruises at Caro Community Hospital. The accident took place at 6:05 p.m.

An Ublv man escaped injury Saturday when the car he was driving went out of control and landed in a ditch on Bay City-Forestville Road, five miles east of Unionville.

According to the Sheriff's report, Jerald Frederick Snow, 36, lost control of his auto around 10 p.m. The vehicle ran off the road and landed in a ditch on the north side of the road.

Snow told officers his car wheels dropped off the edge of the pavement, pulling him into the ditch.

Mary Ellen Piaskowski, 52, of 4260 S. Seeger St., Cass City, was uninjured when an unidentified hit-and-run driver allegedly struck her car at the intersection of M-81 and Deckerville Road Monday afternoon.

Ms. Piaskowski told Sheriff's deputies she was westbound on Deckerville Road, stopped behind another vehicle and prepared to make a left turn onto M-81.

She said an unidentified driver turned from M-81 at a high rate of speed and struck her auto, leaving the scene without stopping.

The accident took place at 6:40 p.m.

Two car-deer accidents were reported. A car driven by Susan Kay Englehart of Ritter Road, Cass City, struck a deer while headed south on Kingston Road, about a mile south of Deford, Thursday.

She told Sheriff's deputies the deer ran from the east in front of her auto. She was not injured.

A car driven by Arlo Owen Ruggles, 33, of 3453 Pine St., Kingston, struck a deer on M-46, about eight miles west of Kingston, Friday.

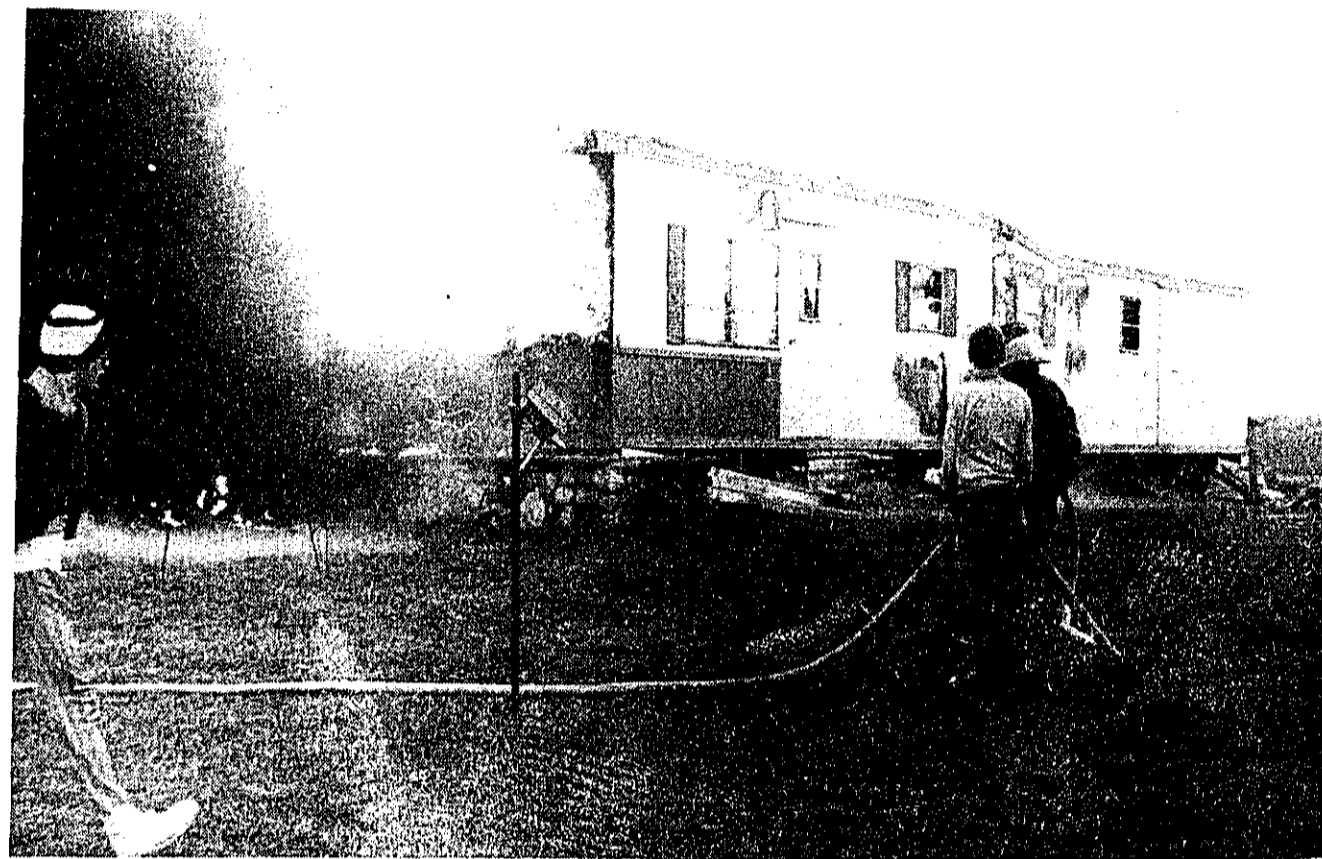

Ruggles told Sheriff's officers he was westbound when two deer ran from the south side of M-46 into his lane. He said he could not avoid the collision due to oncoming traffic.

The accident took place at 8:00 p.m.

Dale Larry Vollmar, 20, of Cedar Run Road, Cass City, was uninjured when his car struck a parked vehicle on Cemetery Road, 2 1/2 miles south of Cass City, Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies indicated the standing auto was improperly parked. Vollmar told officers he was unable to avoid the collision.

The accident took place at 11:05 p.m.

A FURNACE EXPLOSION destroyed the mobile home of Kris Zarzycki, located on Crawford Road, 10 miles southeast of Cass City, Saturday morning. No one was injured. Damage was estimated at $10,500. Firemen from Kingston, Lamotte and Elkland townships fought the flames. (Neitzel Photo).

Bicentennial committee okays celebration schedule

Cass City's bicentennial steering committee approved a tentative schedule of events for its three-day celebration, set for July 23-25, at a meeting held Monday night at Cass City High School.

The committee okayed a host of activities including a parade, pool dedication, an ox roast and community games. The schedule is still subject to change, chairman Jack Esau said.

Plans, as approved by the committee, call for the celebration to begin Friday afternoon with a kick-off ox roast and program at the village park.

Music groups and community games are planned later in the day, followed by either a film or live theatre production.

The action swings into high gear Saturday. A bicentennial slide presentation, sponsored by AAUW, will begin at 10:30 a.m. The parade follows at 1:00 p.m., with a horse show planned for the park at 2:00 p.m. and another slide presentation at 2:30 p.m.

Dedication of the village swimming pool and the Cass plaque are also scheduled for the afternoon, although details for both these events have not been finalized with village authorities.

Children's games at the park, another slide presentation, theatre and a square dance will round out the day.

Sunday's activities begin at 11:00 a.m. with a community church service at the village park, followed by a community family picnic. A fashion show, displaying clothing of the past, is set for 2:00 p.m.

Later in the afternoon, barber-shop quartet singing at the park, family games, and an ice cream social, sponsored by Zonta Club, are planned.

The week end climaxes with a musical concert featuring a heritage and patriotic theme. The concert begins at 7:00 p.m. at the park.

The three-day event will be topped off with a fireworks display at 9:30 p.m. at the park.

ALL-DAY ACTIVITIES

In addition to scheduled events, a large number of activities are planned to run the entire three days. These include store window displays, seminars at the Cultural Center, an information booth and various arts and crafts exhibits.

Self-guided tours are also planned for the week end, as well as free swimming at the pool on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The committee is still undecided on a restoration project. A decision is expected by the next meeting, April 26 at the high school.

The group also discussed the possibility of either a tractor pull or a horse pull. A decision on which event to stage is also expected at the next meeting.

Somervilles gird for new start following latest fire

By Jim Ketchum

The sound of fire engines and the smell of smoke mean something special to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Somerville of rural Decker. When fire destroyed their home last week, it wasn't the first time they'd watched their house and belongings go up in flame.

The couple have been hit with four major fires since 1969. The latest was the worst. Nearly everything, including their clothing, furnishings and personal effects, was lost.

What made the latest fire even harder to take was no fire insurance. Too many past claims made them a risk insurance companies didn't want.

"They told us the only insurance we could have gotten was through Lloyd's of London and that it would have cost us the price of a building," Somerville said as he sat at the round kitchen table at his parents' home a mile south of their burned-out house.

"We gambled that we wouldn't need it but we lost."

The Somervilles, who will celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary this year, lost before. Six years ago, a fire damaged their home near Decker.

They moved into their present house two years later. Their troubles moved with them.

In 1973, a fire extensively damaged the structure. Mrs. Somerville suffered a broken back and heel as she jumped from a second story window. She spent four weeks in the hospital and nearly six months of recuperation.

She still wears orthopedic shoes as a result of the injury. Those were lost in last week's fire as well. She's ordered a new pair, but must wait at least two weeks for them.

The 1973 fire was traced to mothball combustion, Mrs. Somerville said. She had treated clothing earlier that day and had stored it in a closet. The fumes, she said, must have exploded.

In March, 1975, faulty wiring was blamed for a blaze that did over $10,000 damage to the home. The fire started in the kitchen and worked its way into the ceiling.

This time, no one was injured.

"Before, we always had help from the insurance company," Mrs. Somerville said. "We never got back everything we lost, but we usually got most of it. This time we don't even have that."

She said she was attending a gift shower for a friend and was on her way home Monday night, March 22, when she spotted flashing red and blue lights in the vicinity of her home.

"I held my breath and prayed it wasn't our house—that it might be something else," Mrs. Somerville recalled. "When I saw it was the house, I couldn't see any lights and my first thought was that Gary and the kids might not be out."

Fortunately, they were. Somerville said he was listening to a baseball game on the radio and had begun dozing on the couch when he spotted smoke.

The first thing he did was to dash upstairs and get the children.

"The two oldest ones had their pajamas on, but the youngest was just in his skivvies," Somerville said. "I asked where his clothes were and they didn't know. The smoke was filling the house so fast that we didn't have time

"If It Fitz . . ."

Altogether now, unorganize

BY JIM FITZGERALD

These words are being typed the morning after St. Patrick's Day on the 18th day of the 3rd month of this Bicentennial year. Which seems an appropriate time to confess to my 2 most grievous sins, currently:

1. Although my lineage is 100 per cent Irish all the way back to the Olde Sod, I do nothing whatsoever to celebrate St. Pat's Day.

2. Although I think this is a fine nation and I wouldn't live anywhere else, I don't give a hoot about its 200th birthday.

Some might say this makes me a traitor twice, to my ethnic group and to my nation. I plead not guilty. I might plead guilty to being an eccentric, even a curmudgeon. But sentence me to 30 days for a misdemeanor, please. Don't hang me without a hearing.

When the mood is right, my eyes mist at the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. I bawled outright when Jose Feliciano sang it with a rock beat in Tiger Stadium in 1968, the glorious year our guys won the World Series. Which is a tip-off to my hang-up. Most people were outraged at the sacrilege. But I overflowed at the privilege of living in a nation where a blind Puerto Rican was able to do his thing in center field with no shots fired from right or left.

Likewise, there is nothing I enjoy more than drinking too much and singing McNamara's Band too loud. But another tip-off is I'd rather do it because the company is right, my sister Terrible Jean is leading the chorus with great swoops of her long arms, and some Jewish fellow is picking up the tab. Not because it's March 17.

It is true it is a fine thing to be Irish, and a grand thing to be a U.S. citizen. But it is also true an excess of nationalism often leads to barroom brawls — or wars. I like my pride lit from a spontaneous spark. I love a parade that starts because the music sets feet to marching. Not because the calendar says today is the day to put the flag out.

Today's mail brought me a handsome, 400-page book titled "Comprehensive Calendar of Bicentennial Events — East of the Mississippi." It is the 3rd such book I've received from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration in Washington. It tells me such marvelous things as the dates of the Norris Dogwood Trail Festival in Norris, Tenn. And there'll be an Arts & Crafts display April 24 in Poquoson, Virginia. I certainly hope my busy schedule will allow me to attend both events.

Such books are being delivered to most newspaper offices in the U.S. As a semi-printer, I know the publishing costs must run into the millions of dollars. As an ex-mailman, I know the delivery costs are enough to hire sufficient postal employees to deliver a 13-cent letter from New York to California in one day. They could line up and hand it across the nation.

And as an ex-editor I know those books will never be read by anyone. They are a total waste of money. I would like to celebrate the Bicentennial by spending that money to feed hungry kids, or fill chuckholes, or buy one-way tickets to the moon for the numskulls in Washington responsible for such incredible foolishness.

If the numskulls should ever escape back to Washington, they should be drowned the next March 17th in all the lousy green beer which wasn't consumed because St. Patrick's Day was cancelled. The Irish should skip the saloons and simply go to church, or kneel at home, and pray for an unorganized life.

Birthdays and holidays should not be observed in close-order drill. Everyone fall out and smoke 'em if you got 'em.

A pessimist is just an average guy who can't kid himself.

Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said a furnace explosion led to a fire that destroyed the mobile home of Kris Zarzycki around 1:40 p.m. Saturday.

Jezewski said the structure was enveloped in smoke and flame when firemen arrived on the scene. Zarzycki, his wife and two children escaped injury.

The fire did about $10,500 damage. Jezewski said. Equipment from the Kingston and Lamotte township fire departments assisted in battling the blaze. Firemen remained at the scene about two hours.

Faulty wiring was blamed for a minor fire Friday night at the Janet Curtis residence at 6570 Elizabeth St. Damage was confined to the living room of the mobile home.

Ms. Curtis said she discovered the blaze when she returned home about 10:25 p.m.

Damage was estimated at $1,000.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Time slips by. That's why I can't say just when it happened but it probably was about 10 years ago when I was at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Turner of Decker. That's when I learned from one of her daughters, who went with her husband to live in Mexico, about her home there.

When she told me about the walls outside the apartment where she lived and the elaborate security measures necessary for protection of life and property I couldn't help but feel that there was a pitifully poor way to have to live.

That was only a decade ago — not really a very long time.

I thought about what I learned at the Turner home that day as I was casually scanning one of the metro dailies.

One story analyzed the crime situation and the increase in violent crime. The story went on to point out how these crimes had spread from the inner city to the suburbs and indicated there was no place safe anymore.

Another story told about a rich man who lives a comparatively long way from Detroit who had a bad experience with neighborhood punks and had installed an elaborate security system with alarms all over the place, closed circuit television and sawed off shotguns placed at strategic spots in his luxurious home.

In the home section there were ads advertising the tight security system that home owners received as a bonus when they purchased into a new subdivision in the metro area.

If the Turner daughter moved back to the Detroit area she could close her eyes and not tell it from Mexico. . . both areas live in fear.

We haven't reached that yet in Cass City and other rural areas.

And the key word is probably yet. The changes here are probably as great as they were in the metro areas. We just had farther to go.

If you lived here in 1965 stop and think about those days and how it was.

Certainly you were closer to your neighbor, weren't you? If you were in business you hesitated before taking a step that might offend your competitor down the street. . . chances are he was your neighbor, too. You cared about what he thought. Ten years ago a breaking and entering was almost unheard of on the Main stem.

Now it happens often and the frequency is increasing. If you care to, you can discover dozens of theories from learned persons and from others not so learned about the reason for this change in our social structure.

One unlearned opinion is that some of it comes as a backlash from law technicalities that allow hoodlums to escape punishment when caught.

An even bigger reason is the cynicism that comes from the mass exposure of the crookedness in government at all levels.

Most of us have little faith in the persons running our country.

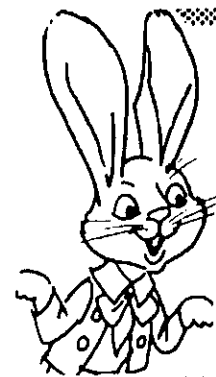

Personally, I once felt that most elected officials were honest and moral.

I now believe that the majority are legal but not morally honest.

It all starts at the top and eventually it gets down to where we live.

How long will it be before we must place bars over our windows and never walk alone at night?

Who knows? The way we are headed, it may be sooner than you think.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

I learned this week why there was always a lake in the alley in back of the Chronicle every time it rained. The drain there wasn't hooked to anything.

When the curb and gutter was installed several years ago the drain was disconnected and never hooked to the storm sewer again.

This week the village crew arrived and dug across the alley and placed a pipe from the manhole to the storm drain (about 15 feet) and presto! the water has a place to go again.

I'm still in the dark as to why the drain was made inoperative when the new street work was completed or why it took this long to make the correction.

As you consider the most recent hike in health insurance rates consider this: I know of a case (not in Cass City) where a patient was admitted into the hospital before being seen by the doctor because the doctor was too busy to see her during regular office hours.

Since it has cost $150 to admit a patient for a day to the hospital that makes for one expensive office call.

Let me say it again. There has to be an incentive for the patient to save or health insurance will continue to escalate beyond the ability of most of us to pay.

I know it must be spring. Don Tonti called me this week and said that the annual meeting of managers, coaches and others interested in Little League baseball will be held Tuesday, April 6, 7 p.m., at the Walbro conference room.

Persons wanting to help that can't attend are asked to call Tonti or Dean Hoag.

Cliff Ryan has been away from the farm machinery business for 10 years. He's working with Rabideau Motors, Farm Division, now and offers an interesting commentary on the business.

You know, he said, the tractor that I sold new 10 years ago is worth as much today as it was when I sold it.

This marked my 25th anniversary. No, it's not what you are thinking. I've been married longer than that.

It's my 25th straight year for attending the Michigan High School State basketball finals.

There's been plenty of change in the play since then. One thing, the players in 1952 couldn't carry the shoes of the players today.

This year for the first time I left with the feeling that the best teams in all classes were about equal.

The small enrollment schools, class "D" and "C", fielded teams that appeared able to play with the big Class "A" teams.

That's never happened before.

Police probe Cass City radio, cash thefts

Cass City Police probed the theft of a citizen's band radio station, a rifle and a quantity of cash from the James Lefler residence at 6718 Houghton St., Monday afternoon.

Chief Gene Wilson said the front door of the home was unlocked when the theft took place, sometime between 1:00 and 3:30 p.m. He said the theft was discovered by Lefler's wife when she returned home from work.

Wilson said an envelope containing $56.50 in cash was stolen from a bedroom. Total value of the items stolen was set at about $600. Police have no suspects.

The larceny followed the reported theft of between $35 and $40 in cash from the Quaker Maid Dairy Store on Main Street, Thursday.

Cass City Police reported a cash register and a pinball machine were vandalized. A juke box was also reported damaged.

Police said the culprits entered by breaking a window on the east side of the building. Officers noted the window was heavily taped before it was broken, apparently to muffle the noise of shattering glass.

No arrests have been made. The break-in was discovered Thursday morning.

Elsewhere in the county, Caro State Police investigated the theft of 20 gallons of gasoline from tanks owned by Gordon Ferguson of Argyle Road, Snover, and located on Phillips Road near Kingston. The theft was reported last week.

Harold MacAlpine, Snover, who was cutting wood at the site, told police he discovered the theft. He told officers the culprits broke a handle on a pump at the site and drained the fuel.

Police said a window was broken from a school bus used as a storage shed at the location. Nothing else was reported missing.

Floyd Dodge of Herron Drive, Cass City, reported four hub caps stolen from his 1976 automobile Friday.

Dodge told police he is unsure when or where the theft took place. No dollar value was placed on the hub caps.

Norman Bright of Walnut Trailer Park, Cass City, reported someone shot a hole through his mobile home sometime last week with an unknown calibre rifle.

Police said the shot was fired from south of the mobile home. No one was injured. Police have no suspects in the shooting.

Five fire extinguishers, four flare kits and two first aid kits were reported stolen from unlocked school buses parked near Owen-Gage High School, Wednesday, March 24.

Huron County Sheriff's deputies said the extinguishers were found discharged on a nearby side road. Some of the flares were also found where they had been burned. No dollar loss was available. The theft was reported by Supt. Ronald Erickson.

FULL BILL IN MARCH 25 CHRONICLE

The Want Ads Are Newsy Too!

Kritzman to head Chamber

Bill Kritzman was elected president of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce during a board meeting held Tuesday night at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Kritzman succeeds Harry Little, whose term expires next month.

BILL KRITZMAN

The board also elected Dick Albee vice-president, replacing Aime Ouyry whose three year term in the Chamber board expires this year.

Larry Davis was re-elected treasurer and Jim Ketchum was elected to a second term as secretary.

New Chamber board members for 1976-77 are Phil Keating, Dorothy Stahlbaum, Gloria Ouyry and Ken Martin. Martin was elected to a three-year term after filling in the spot vacated by Jim Courtney. The four were chosen by Chamber members through a secret ballot.

In other business, final plans were made for the annual Chamber banquet scheduled April 22 at Colony House. The format will be the same as last year's banquet and includes a separate dance following the dinner.

Live music will be provided.

Ticket sales for the event will begin this week.

The board learned that new brackets for the hanging flower baskets have been ordered. The replacements will be shorter and heavier than the original brackets which sustained wind damage last year, President Harry Little said.

The board also voted a $200 donation to the bicentennial committee. The money is to be used to cover postage. The board stipulated any unused portion of the contribution is to be returned to the Chamber.

Actually, if it weren't for the fact that we'll be visiting my wife's sister and family, who live across the river in New Jersey, we'd probably spend our vacation watching the carp run up the Red Cedar River in Lansing.

But to get to New Jersey from Cass City, you have to fly to Philadelphia. Otherwise, you can't get there from here.

Anyway, the deal sounded like such a bargain, we couldn't resist. The travel agent sounded so sincere over the phone, my wife said, that you know he must do mission work on the side just for

We've already started planning this summer's vacation and I'm beginning to wonder if it wouldn't be simpler to spend a week digging crabgrass out of the back yard.

Our trip involves a plane flight. That's probably where we went wrong. But to get where we're going by car, we'd have just enough time to get out of the car, snap three pictures and head for home.

It all began when we learned you could fly to Philadelphia for a fantastically small fare (if you're waiting for me to give the airline a free plug in this space, forget it. See your travel agent).

The first question is who wants to fly to Philadelphia? Certainly not for the night life. Most of the night life ends up getting arrested anyhow.

And wasn't it W.C. Fields who ordered the epitaph, "Better here than in Philadelphia," carved on his tombstone?

Didn't the late Fred Allen say he was in Philadelphia once but it was closed? He said his hotel room was so small that the mice were hump-backed.

The trip is still on, but now there's another problem. In order to fly to New Jersey, you have to fly to Philadelphia by way of Cleveland.

The only reason I can figure out is that the rubber band won't stay wound up all the way to Philly. Besides, we have a lot of milk to deliver.

If our luck continues to hold the way it has so far, I figure we'll have time to shoot a roll of film and eat two hot dogs before we have to catch our flight home.

I still have to check to see if it's possible to get here from there.

Caro jury

$330,000

A six-person Tuscola County Circuit Court jury has awarded a Unionville woman $330,000 in damages in connection with a 1972 accident which killed her husband.

The jury returned the verdict after three and a half hours of deliberation in the auto death of Peter Deming, 20. Deming died Nov. 17, 1972, when his car left Colling Road, north of Caro, smashed into a utility pole and overturned in a field.

Deming was alone at the time of the accident.

In her suit, Mrs. Deming charged the Tuscola County Road Commission with failure to replace a road sign on Colling Road just north of Bay City-Forestville Road, indicating a sharp curve in the road.

The suit had originally asked for $400,000. The trial began Tuesday, March 23, in Circuit Court. Due to a heavy schedule, final arguments and deliberations went into Saturday.

The case was tried before Judge Norman Baguley.

Klinkman receives

U of M honors

Michael Klinkman of 6316 Church St., Cass City, has been named a James B. Angell scholar at the University of Michigan. Klinkman was one of 567 students recognized at the University's annual honors convocation Friday.

Klinkman is a student in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts.

Students recognized as Angell scholars must have maintained an all-A record for two or more consecutive terms as undergraduates.

In addition, Klinkman also received Class Honors, recognizing an undergraduate academic record equal to at least half A's and half B's for two terms during 1975.

A grievance is one thing that can't be cured by nursing.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City residents will face an increase in the cost of government this year after a study is completed by the Cass City Village Council to determine how much water and sewer rates should be jumped to meet expenses of the service.

A false alarm bomb scare at General Cable Corp. Thursday disrupted work schedules and resulted in an intensive search of the large plant.

The first movement towards any possible settlement of the three-week-old strike at Walbro Corporation came this week when a meeting was scheduled between the company and the UAW-CIO Tuesday, April 6.

The boards of Unionville, Sebawaing and Owen-Gage agreed in principle last week to consolidation of school districts to form the largest district in the Thumb area. A panel of three circuit judges, rather than one judge, will hear the testimony in the permanent injunction question brought by the Reese Teachers Education Association and the Reese School Board.

TEN YEARS AGO

As of Tuesday afternoon, it became illegal to park vertically on the south side of Cass City's Main Street, according to Police Chief Carl Palmateer.

There has been no action on the resurfacing of the alleys north and south of Main Street in the last month as the council was in the midst of transition with two new members, George Dillman and James Baker, assuming posts as trustees.

Owen-Gage School District voters approved a three-mill levy for operating expenses in an election Monday which also saw Huron county voters okay a 15.50 constant millage proposal.

Eight members of the Cass City Gun Club are convinced that a limited amount of doe shooting is necessary to preserve Michigan's deer herd from winter starvation. They reached the conclusion following a deer survey tour near Mio Sunday. Participating in the tour were Dick Szarapski, George Lapp, Bob MacKay, Bill Parrott Sr., Don Pinkbener, Jack Hartwick, Richard Gaffney, and Jim Jezewski.

The stately elms on North Seeger will soon be gone.

Former Uby village clerk dies

Theodore W. Gracey, 79, Bad Axe, a former Uby Village Clerk and a retired tax accountant, died Saturday, March 27, after suffering an apparent heart attack at his home.

He was born Jan. 28, 1897, in Jarvis, Ont. He came with his parents to Greenleaf township in 1909. He served with the U.S. Navy during World War I.

He and Miss Mary Litt were married Nov. 2, 1919, in Detroit.

He taught at rural schools in Bach, Parisville and Cumbar and from 1925-1945 lived in Uby where he operated a service station.

He farmed in Greenleaf township until 1960, when the couple moved to Bad Axe. Mrs. Gracey died March 3, 1968.

He was a former Uby Village Clerk for many years and also served on the Uby School Board. He was well-known throughout the Thumb area as a tax accountant.

Survivors include one son, Roland, and one daughter, Mrs. Emerson Kennedy, both of Cass City; nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Campbell of Oxford.

The funeral was held Tuesday at Zinger Funeral Home in Uby, with Rev. Ross Nicholson, pastor of the Bad Axe United Methodist church, officiating.

Burial was in Valley cemetery near Uby.

Easter memories stay

For most of us, Easter holds a special meaning that blends the past with the present.

For Mrs. Peter Rienstra of Cass City, Easter was a time of fellowship and renewal with family and friends.

"I remember when I was special meaning. 'I think with the faith we have, Easter is sort of the burst of a renewal of that faith,' she says.

Mrs. Rienstra is a native of the Holbrook area. In addition to three sons, the couple have six grandchildren.

growing up that we went to the Holbrook church before dawn for breakfast on Easter Sunday and then stayed for church afterward," Mrs. Rienstra says. "It really made an impression on me."

She says that as her three sons grew, Easter meant coloring eggs and hiding them in the yard for an afternoon hunt.

"We always tried to make sure that they understood that eggs and chocolate candy was just a part of Easter and that there was a much deeper meaning to it," she says.

New use for twilight sleep

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

A provocative new approach to the treatment of senile dementia has been initiated by neurologists at the Northwestern University Medical School. They have taken their cue from the venerable use of twilight sleep, a combination of morphine and scopolamine used to produce amnesia (forgetfulness) in childbirth.

Senile dementia is the rather ominous umbrella term used to include everything we mean when we say that Grandpa is failing. It has traditionally been attributed to an irreversible destruction of brain substance.

The loss of memory, failure to recognize old friends, antisocial behavior, irritability and the general change in character make life for and with many older persons frustrating if not tragic. According to this fresh view, the condition may reside in chemical malfunction rather than deterioration of the brain structure itself.

The suggestion is made that, just as the emotional aspects of the personality can be altered by drugs, human memory and thought relays may respond to a chemical approach.

Since scopolamine blockade of certain chemical-transfer systems in the brain results in a blanking out of the memory traces of recent events, this drug was used to provoke memory loss in a group of young adults.

The subjects were then given a specific antidote of the provoking chemical, which promptly reversed the effect. It was concluded that a possible chemical model existed that appeared to play a role in memory function.

A second trial with a different chemical system seemed to support the specific role of the scopolamine experiment.

When the antidote used in the first experiment (its chemical name is "physostigmine") was given, in minute doses to avoid side effects, to a group of elderly patients with a moderate amount of mental deterioration, the results were disappointing.

When, however, small doses of "L-dopa," the same nerve transmission drug that corrects the chemical defect in parkinsonism, was administered to a group of nine elderly patients with senile dementia, the results were promising.

Three of the subjects exhibited marked improvement in their intellectual function; moderate improvement was observed in two and the remaining four were not certainly helped.

What is most encouraging about these tentative results is the clear indication that not only emotional states, but the thinking and memory functions are susceptible to chemical treatment.

It cannot be said that we know how to restore mental powers, but these studies strongly suggest that there may well be chemical means of influencing those powers, and that when the elderly brain falters, it is not necessarily irreversible structural changes that are at fault.

Rug hooking hobby hooks Cass City's Dr. K.I. MacRae

If you're hooked on rug hooking the way Dr. K. Ivan MacRae is, it doesn't take much urging to get out yarn, tools and a pattern. Especially if your TV set works.

Dr. MacRae recently donated a large hand-made bicornial rug to the Gavel Club. The club plans to raise money for its bicornial activities.

"With my time so limited, I thought this would be a way I could help out and do my part," MacRae said.

The doctor says rug hooking doesn't take much effort. It doesn't even take a lot of patience. Generally, he works on his creations while watching TV.

How long does it take to make a rug? That depends on how long the TV set is on, MacRae said with a grin.

"Generally, I like to work on a rug during a football game or some sporting event," he said. "Sometimes in the evening when the TV is on, I'll work on one a little."

How long he works at any one stretch depends on how interesting the program happens to be. On a dull TV evening, he says, he can accomplish a lot.

MacRae got into rug hooking after a friend, the late Scotty McCullough, had worked on rugs for several years. He liked what he saw and tried his hand at it.

"Then my wife got started in it," MacRae recalled. "She seems to think I have to keep busy, too, so she got me one."

That was about 10 or 15 years ago. Since then, it's been more or less a hit and miss proposition, he said. In that time, he's managed about a half-dozen rugs.

MacRae says it takes about 80 hours of work to complete a three by five-foot rug. Individual work sessions depend on how much free time he has and how long the TV stays on. "You don't have to be real smart to hook rugs," MacRae said. "It doesn't take a lot of dexterity either. In fact, the more you work at it, the better your dexterity becomes."

He says it's a good hobby for persons who want to keep their fingers limber.

Hooking rugs is easy when you follow a pattern, he says. MacRae generally buys kits with patterns on them. The hardest part in making a rug comes at the beginning when you start binding the edge at one side because you're working with two thicknesses of material.

Once that's completed, you just work your way across the pattern until you're done. The doctor uses wool yarn exclusively, even though it's a little more expensive than synthetic materials. Wool holds up better, he says.

He says he likes just about any pattern and color.

"It's really pretty simple," he said. "You just follow the directions."

He doesn't think rug hooking is that unusual a hobby, especially for men. Quite a few men enjoy rug making, he says. It's a relaxing pastime, he added.

When does he plan to start on his next rug? Probably when I get time and when the TV programming is right, he grinned.

DR. K.I. MACRAE proudly displays a hand-made rug with a bicornial flare. MacRae, who enjoys the unusual hobby, has donated one of his creations to help Gavel Club raise funds.

1300 in county lose power Saturday

About 1,300 Detroit Edison customers in Tuscola county were without electric service from three to 10 hours Saturday as wet snow played havoc with lines still sagging from the March 2 ice storm.

Edison spokesman George Anderson said customers in Cass City, Gagetown, Kingston, Caro, Mayville and Clifford as well as rural users in Elkland, Elmwood, Koylton, Kingston, Almer, Dayton and Arhela townships were left in the dark.

Anderson said the problem stemmed from a "tired system" still not fully recovered from the ice storm. He said until the entire system is repaired, more spot blackouts could occur.

Anderson said it will take Edison crews from six months to a year to get the system into top condition.

"We're finding problems that didn't show up as we repaired the system," Anderson said. He said the company accomplished about six months' worth of work in two weeks and that unforeseen problems are now starting to show up.

Much of Cass City along and north of Main Street was without service for as long as six hours Saturday.

A spokesman for Thumb Electric Cooperative reported only minor power problems including low voltage in one substation.

Court appointed attorney costs continue to soar

pared with the total caseload. According to District Court records, lawyers were appointed in 113 out of 2,000 cases in 1975. Total appointment costs for District Court stood at $10,778.

"When you figure that out, it's less than $100 a case," Kern said. "Now how many lawyers do you know who would work for that much in private practice?"

Kern said much of the reason for the dramatic rise in court-appointed attorney costs lies with increased law enforcement and a ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court that all defendants shall be represented by counsel regardless of their economic status.

He said economic conditions in the county, which began going sour about three years ago, have also contributed to the problem.

Kern takes exception to the charge that attorneys are appointed too freely.

"My standards for appointing attorneys haven't changed since I took the bench in 1969," Kern said. "And it's a slander for anyone to intimate that standards have changed."

Before the court appoints an attorney, Kern said, a study of the defendant's economic situation is made.

"I ask him what his income is," Kern said. "I ask him how much money he has. I ask him how much personal property he has and whether or not any of it is mortgaged. If it is, I try to determine what the fair market value might be. I find out what his obligations are-how many dependents he has."

Attorneys are appointed only in cases involving a charge which could involve a prison sentence if a defendant is convicted, Kern said, and almost never in first offense cases.

"I generally do not take into consideration a defendant's outstanding debt," Kern said. "If he's working at a job making at least a minimum wage and working 40 hours a week, I don't appoint a lawyer. If his debt structure is heavy, I recommend that he see three lawyers to see if he can work out an arrangement with at least one for installment payments. If that doesn't work, then I would reconsider whether or not to appoint a lawyer."

Kern said defendants on welfare are considered destitute and are entitled to appointed counsel. An unemployed person who may own three cars or three motorcycles, for instance, might be ordered to sell one in order to pay a lawyer.

Kern said District Court's caseload has doubled since 1969 caused in part by increased law enforcement. Since that time, the Caro State Police post has opened and existing law enforcement agencies have increased their staffs.

Kern said persons who criticize the cost of court-appointed attorneys don't know the facts.

"I've been before the board of commissioners twice in the past two weeks explaining the situation and asking for extra help," Kern said. "They've seen fit to increase law enforcement but not to appoint more judges or more clerks to help with the workload."

Total District Court expenses for 1975 totaled $117,700, he said, with less than 10 per cent going for court-appointed attorneys. Jury fees that same year totaled $13,400, he says. Witness fees were $8,998.

The judge maintains that court-appointed attorneys aren't really costing the taxpayer anything as long as District Court continues to take in at least as much money as it spends.

"It looks as though someone is looking for a scapegoat," Kern said.

The judge predicts the costs of court-appointed attorneys should begin leveling off as economic conditions improve.

"Anyone who's interested in these cases can come in and look through these files and see if in their good judgement an attorney should not have been appointed," Kern said. "It's all here."

Solving that special summer plant hang-up

Nature can be one of your best friends when it comes to home decorating. A "living" example is plants. Fresh, alive and green, and often with blossoms, plants add that special touch that helps make a house a home.

Take your plants outdoors and hang them, just above eye level, for an especially dramatic effect. Patios and terraces turned "hanging gardens" are not only enjoyable to see, but give plants a healthy breathing spell. Rain water incidentally is the best drink you can give them.

A few basic formulas will help keep your plants healthy, happy and beautiful. Proper watering is vital. Thoroughly drench plants until water runs out the drainage holes, then allow soil to dry out before watering again. Ferns, spider plants, purple passion, asparagus, grape ivy and piggy-back plants are exceptions. They like a fairly moist soil all the time. Moist doesn't mean wet. Yellow leaves are a good indication you're overwatering. Above all, don't let a plant container sit in water. "Wet feet" will induce root rotting.

Misting with a spray of water helps keep humidity high and dust from accumulating on leaves. An occasional water shower is not out of line either.

Groom your plants by picking off all dead or dying leaves and blossoms once they pass their prime. This will help keep disease from starting.

The container you choose is important, too. For best results, be sure it has drainage holes. Many planters have a saucer beneath to catch dripping water. Plastic planters, such as those by Rubbermaid, are especially practical for hanging due to their light weight. Plastic tends to hold the moisture in, too, which is important on hot summer days when evaporation can cause the soil temperature to overheat, damaging a plant's roots.

Flowering plants in hanging planters are not difficult to grow. Geraniums like lots of sun and offer numerous color varieties. Fuchsias take more to the shade and need high humidity. Their beautiful profuse blooms will even appear in December under the right conditions. Impatiens with its bright flowers grows well in shady areas with moderate watering.

Begonias come in thousands of varieties. Be sure and pinch back new growth occasionally to avoid long, spindly vines. You'll be rewarded with a much healthier, fuller plant. Too much fertilizer will give you more foliage, less blooms. (Always follow directions when using plant food.)

Some of the easiest foliage plants to grow, liking bright light, include wandering Jew, spider plant, and the piggy-back plant. For shady areas, try philodendron or the delicate, yet hardy, rosary vine.

Ivy grows well in bright light with plenty of humidity. Coleus and purple passion have striking colors which turn more vivid in bright light. Pinch back coleus and ivy to insure fuller growth.

You can save money by learning how to pot your own plants and begin propagating them. The spider plant, wandering Jew, begonia and coleus are especially easy to root.

A good formula for soil mixture consists of equal parts of sterilized soil peat moss and perlite or vermiculite. Always water thoroughly after potting and don't choose pots too big for your plant's roots. This delays growth.

When the air gets chilly, move plants indoors. They should keep through the winter with plenty of misting. Remember, too, heat rises to the ceiling so keep an eye on hanging plants indoors. They may dry out quickly. If problems develop, consult a good reference book before too much damage occurs.

Above all, enjoy your plants, show them your care and they'll be your friends for many years to come.

HANGING PLANTERS add a special decorative flair both indoors and out. Purple passion and Boston fern plants show off well in planters above.

'Legal pollution' clogs courts, stalls justice

"Legal pollution" -- a term used to describe the reliance on courts to resolve all social problems -- "is bad for the health of our society," says Michigan's Supreme Court chief, Justice Thomas G. Kavanagh.

In a State of the Judiciary message presented earlier this month to the Legislature, Kavanagh said all disputes need not be settled in court. In fact, he suggested, it could be quicker and cheaper to resolve some problems administratively--through mediators and arbitrators.

"So long as adequate alternative means are provided for the citizen seeking redress . . . no reason appears to require the court system to be the only forum for the settling of disputes," he said.

Crowded civil dockets can cause injustices, Kavanagh said, noting that some litigants are forced to settle claims because they face a three to four-year wait before their cases can be tried.

He pointed out that studies are being conducted on the question of removing traffic cases from the judicial system. "This and other ways to limit the input into the court system must be explored and implemented," he said.

Kavanagh also repeated an earlier recommendation that some so-called "victimless crimes" be decriminalized because he said "this overbreadth (is) another example of the legal pollution that threatens our court system."

BILLS AND MORE BILLS

How to worsen your own workload is demonstrated by Michigan legislators, and workload should not be confused with accomplishment. The main function of senators and representatives is to make new laws. There seems to be no end to the ideas people have for new laws.

By the end of this year, legislators will have dealt with, or left unadopted with thousands of resolutions and bills, some of much importance, some of virtually no importance.

Stanley Powell, R-Ionia, made a count of these on March 15. He found that the House has an even 3,000 bills and resolutions on its records; the Senate had 2,108. This made a total of 5,108, and the number is larger by now.

At the end of the year, all items under consideration automatically die, and the legislature can start with a clean slate. Chances are good that it will soon become cluttered with a number of propositions which are destined to die in some committee two years later.

This procedure has some merit in a democratic society, but the best which has been said in its favor is something to the effect: Can you think of an improvement?

AWAY . . .

Ballooning you can go. Gov. William Milliken has signed a new law that legalizes use of recreational hot-air balloons which are propelled by flame applied under them. The law still prohibits unmoored, unmanned balloons that require fire to propel them.

Hot-air balloons had been banned under a little known Penal Code provision written into law in 1931. It's believed the balloons may at one time have been used in connection with the detonation or display of prohibited fireworks or explosives.

Today, hot-air ballooning is a fast-growing sport.

HELP FOR OLDER FOLKS

By the year 2000, half Michigan's population will be over 50, and one-third over 65 if present trends continue.

"Can we afford to have all these people unemployed, and do we want all this talent to go to waste?" asks Rep. Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit. Hertel says there is a rising trend toward discriminating against older workers and he's introducing legislation that would expressly prohibit that. Hertel says age discrimination is not specifically covered by existing law.

CONSUMPTION UP

Cars, trucks, boats, tractors and other gas-propelled vehicles consumed well over one billion gallons of fuel during the third quarter of 1975--up 3.4 per cent from the same period in 1974.

Figures contained in a Department of Commerce quarterly energy review show that motor gasoline used on highways by cars and trucks accounted for nearly 1.1 billion gallons, or 88 per cent of the total state motor gasoline consumption.

Marine, agriculture and other non-highway usage came to more than 151 million gallons for the quarter.

Cancer Society

meets in

Lansing

Long's Convention Center in Lansing was the location of the meeting of the Michigan Division of the American Cancer Society held Saturday, March 27. The purpose was a meeting of volunteers for education and crusade.

Workshops were held in the morning and afternoon with a reception in the evening, followed by a banquet.

The welcome was extended by Ron Kramer, 1976 Michigan Division Crusade chairman.

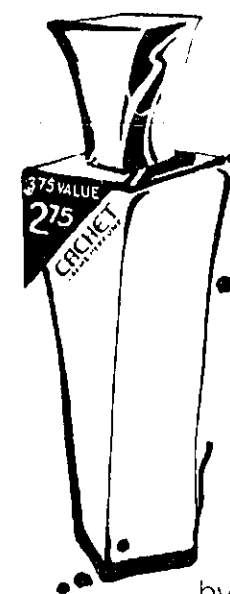

Among the speakers was Marvella Bayh, who had served as National Crusade co-chairman in 1974.

Less Drudgery... ...More Living

That's what retirement has meant to Fred and Frances. Of course, they spent close to forty years getting themselves ready.

They learned the richness of living . . . the adventures of believing and serving and sacrificing. They surrounded themselves with people who care, who are concerned, who like helping others. They based their lives on truths and ideals that do not change with every passing opportunity or disappointment. They found God.

Now they are prepared to enjoy the rest of life.

Not the REST. Who looks forward to idleness?

Rather THE REST . . . the years not yet lived . . . the unfolding culmination of our destiny as children of God.

In the lives of Fred and Frances, retirement has been one more Christian adventure. And a blessing to their church, their community and their family. They have more time now for things they ALWAYS valued most.

Cass Cityan jailed on assault charge

A Cass City man was sentenced to probation, fines and costs Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court following a jury conviction on an assault charge.

Mark D. McClorey, 20, was sentenced by Judge Martin Clements to two years' probation, fines and costs totaling $400 payable at $25 per month plus 30 days in the Tuscola county jail with credit for two days served.

McClorey was convicted by a circuit court jury earlier this year on charges of assaulting Cass City Police Officer John Rands last April 15.

Three other sentences were also handed down. Lloyd J. Blonde, Mayville, was sentenced on a larceny conviction to serve up to 48 months in Jackson Prison with credit for time served.

Blonde was sentenced in connection with a Mayville area larceny Jan. 17.

Lionel Dennis Daly, 27, Mayville, was sentenced to three years' probation on a perjury charge. In addition, Daly was also ordered to serve six months in the Tuscola county jail with credit for time served.

He was charged following testimony given in a District Court case last November.

Michael Bastian Jr., 26, Mayville, was sentenced to extended probation plus a jail sentence on a probation violation.

Bastian was ordered to serve 60 days in the county jail with credit for seven days served. His probation was also extended to 12 months.

Bastian was originally arrested in 1973.

Three arraignments were heard. Jerald A. Essex Jr., 19, Caro, was arraigned on a breaking and entering charge. He stood mute and an innocent plea was entered in his behalf.

Pre-trial examination was set for April 12, and bond was reduced to $750.

Essex was charged in connection with a Feb. 17 break-in in Wells township.

Mary E. Cutler, Caro, was arraigned on a charge of larceny at a Caro clothing store. She stood mute and an innocent plea was entered in her behalf.

Pre-trial examination was set for April 12, and a motion to reduce her bond from $1,000 was denied.

She was arrested March 4.

Delbert W. Martin, Caro, entered a guilty plea to charges of taking away an automobile without intent to steal. The plea was accepted and a sentencing date will be set by the probation department following a pre-sentence investigation.

A motion to dismiss another count against Martin was taken under advisement.

Martin was arrested Jan. 24, in Indianfields township.

A motion for a speedy trial for William Paul Schrader of Virginia, charged with larceny of a store in Caro, was granted by Judge Clements. A motion to reduce bond in the case was denied.

Schrader was arrested in December by Caro Police.

Correction

Names were transposed in an accident report involving Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson last week. Wilson was westbound on Church Street while a car driven by David Allen Langmaid, 18, Cass City, was northbound on Ale when the accident took place. Neither driver was injured and no ticket was issued. The accident took place Friday, March 19.

Denton enters GOP race

A second Republican challenger entered the Eighth Congressional District race last week when Saginaw County Prosecutor E. Brady Denton announced his candidacy. Denton joins conservative Republican Mark Nelson, Saginaw, who is also seeking the post currently held by Democrat J. Bob Traxler.

Denton said he was seeking the job "because the present Congress has done a terrible job of dealing with the problems of the people, both here and in the nation."

Denton, 31, a native of Saginaw, has served as Saginaw County Prosecutor since 1972.

Denton said crime, unemployment, inflation, high taxes and rising prices are all issues in the campaign.

The Saginaw Republican is a graduate of the University of Michigan and received his Juris Doctor from the University of Detroit in 1970. He is married and the father of a baby girl.

Batie stands mute in Lapeer assault case

A 28-year-old Gagetown man, wounded in a police shootout near Imlay City last January, stood mute on an assault charge when he appeared for arraignment Monday in Lapeer County Circuit Court before Judge Norman Baguley.

Gerald Batie is charged with assaulting undercover police officer Ronald Butcher with the truck Batie was driving when the shooting occurred.

An innocent plea was entered in Batie's behalf and pre-trial examination was set Monday, May 10, at 3:00 p.m. Bond was continued at $750.

Batie was charged following the Jan. 23 shooting in which undercover officers from Livonia, Farmington, Garden City and the Detroit State Police Intelligence units stopped the Erla meat truck in which Batie and two hitchhikers were riding.

At the time, Batie said he panicked when he saw one of the plainclothes officers approach the truck with a drawn gun, thinking it was a hijacking.

Batie said he put the truck in reverse, and then into forward, trying to escape. The officer reportedly jumped on the running board of the truck and began firing. Batie received three bullet wounds. One shot hit a finger, which is permanently gone. One of his two passengers, Larry Adams, was struck by a bullet in the back. Adams' brother, Steven, was not injured.

Police said the Adams brothers were suspects in a heavy equipment theft ring.

REGULAR MEETING OF THE
CASS CITY VILLAGE COUNCIL

Matching employees with right jobs no cinch, local firms say

While finding the right job isn't always easy, finding the right person to fit the right job is no lead pipe cinch either, according to the Industrial Relations Managers of Cass City's two largest employers, Walbro Corp. and General Cable Corp.

Above all, employers are looking for a person to fit a specific job, according to Don Tonti, Walbro Industrial Relations Manager.

"Chances are, you'll get farther with a prospective employer if you're honest with him," Tonti says. "Don't say, whatever you want, I can do it. Tell him what you're looking for. Don't make him think you can do everything."

Tonti says often, employers are adaptable and can fit an employee to a job.

"We're not locked in," he says. "We can mold a job to suit a person if he shows he has a strong area."

Tonti contends that interviewing and hiring can't be separated from training and on-the-job experience.

"We have to know what's going on in the plant when we hire someone to know whether or not they're going to fit into the job," Tonti says. You have to know what's expected of the person in each job."

Tonti says hiring should be a science since so many guidelines exist through federal law and because you must qualify everything you do. But so many variables are involved when you deal with people that you have to take each situation as it comes and judge it on its own merits.

Hiring has changed in the 20 years Tonti has been involved in industrial relations.

"People are more knowledgeable today than they were back then," he says. "Twenty years ago, the prime goal was making money and an employee would hire in with the idea of doing whatever the boss wanted. Today, you're looking to fit the right person for the right job. It's finding the round peg for the round hole."

Tonti stresses the importance of both employer and job applicant being honest with each other.

"The prospective employee should interview the employer as well as being interviewed himself," he says. "He should find out exactly what would be expected of him in the job and he should look to see if it's something he really wants."

Tonti says discrimination has to be avoided either overt or implied. He recalled during the 1960's he worked for a firm in the Detroit area where men with long hair had two strikes against them.

He said occasionally he would advise a long-haired applicant to get a trim and take the job. "Once he proved himself, he could let his hair grow as long as he wanted and nobody minded," Tonti says. "Because he'd shown he could do the job."

BE FORTHRIGHT

Robert Schlosberg, Industrial Relations Manager at General Cable Corp., said in most cases, a prospective employer is looking for honest, forthright job candidates.

"An employer wants someone who will lay it on the line and be truthful about what they expect from a job," Schlosberg said.

Schlosberg listed several factors many job interviewers look for, and while they don't represent hard and fast criteria for landing a job with General Cable, they do provide some basic guidelines.

"One thing you look for is an interest in the job after you tell an applicant what the job is," he said.

"You look at his attitude—does he really want to work? You look at his appearance in a general way. Do they show some concern about their appearance and concern with the fact that they'll be working with other people?"

Schlosberg says often an employer will ask why a job

"TODAY, YOU'RE looking to fit the right person for the right job. It's finding the round peg for the round hole."

candidate chose his particular firm.

"If they're hired, we might ask what their expectations of the job are. What are their objectives?"

He said work histories are studied to determine what other job responsibilities they've held. Do they job-hop? Will they stay or move on? Education and experience are also studied.

Schlosberg emphasized that these criteria have to be applied generally and must be adapted to each prospective job candidate.

"One of our goals is to reduce turnover by finding people to fit the job criteria without discriminating," Schlosberg says. "You must insure that you won't discriminate against women or minorities. As a government contractor, we have certain affirmative action goals in hiring that have to be met."

The Michigan Employment Security Commission has published a brochure "How to Find a Job", listing hints job applicants should know before beginning their search.

According to the brochure, many employers say applicants aren't hired because they weren't properly dressed, were flip and sarcastic ("they smoked continually and flicked ashes on the carpet"), they appeared nervous or unfriendly, or showed up with friends "who also wanted a job" or didn't show up at the scheduled time.

MESC says employers want ability, reliability, loyalty, unselfishness, dependability, good attendance, cheerfulness, perseverance, initiative, efficiency and helpfulness.

Copies of the brochure are available at MESC offices at no charge.

The New Michigan "turn-on-red" Law

Michigan's turn-on-red-light law effective March 31 permits motorists always to turn right but left only onto one-way streets, unless prohibited by signing. Before turning either direction, motorists first must make a complete stop, be sure traffic is clear and yield to pedestrians. The first two drawings demonstrate the proper procedure for right and left-hand turns at red lights. Michigan's turn-on-red-light law does not require motorists to do so unless in a designated turn lane. If stopped behind a non-turning motorist at an intersection as demonstrated in the third drawing, be courteous since horn-blowing only results in confusion. The greatest concentration of pedestrians likely to forget about the new law will be found along school routes and at bus stops. The final drawing shows that motorists must employ extra vigilance at intersections used by school children. Automobile Club of Michigan reminds that pedestrians also must be aware of the new law and remember to look in all directions before stepping from the curb.

Pre-kindergarten registration set at Cass City

Pre-kindergarten registration and visitation dates have been announced by Cass City Public Schools.

Registration will be held at Campbell Elementary School, Monday, April 12. Rural parents and the child to be enrolled are asked to register at 9:00 a.m. at the school gym.

Village parents and children should report at 1:00 p.m.

Deford parents and children should report Tuesday, April 13, from 1:00-2:30 p.m.

Evergreen parents should register from 12:30-2:00 p.m. Tuesday, April 13. Children will report on a day still to be scheduled.

Parents should bring birth certificates and immunization records for their child to these meetings, school officials said. Children must be five years old on or before Dec. 1, 1976, to enroll.

A pre-school vision test is also required. A free vision and hearing clinic for all pre-schoolers will be scheduled at each school.

Deford children will be screened May 4, and Campbell Elementary children will be screened May 3 and 5 from 8:30 a.m.-4:00 p.m. Parents unable to attend these clinics will have to make an appointment with their own doctor to fulfill state requirements, officials said.

Parents unable to attend the registration sessions should call the school for an appointment. School officials stressed the importance of registering early so fall plans can be made.

Right turn on red law begins

When Michigan's new "right turn on red" law goes into effect March 31, the law will apply to Cass City's Main and Seeger Streets at the intersection, but not to the intersection of Rose and Seeger.

Last month, Village Council okayed allowing the turns at the main intersection, but turned thumbs down on the Rose-Seeger intersection. Council reasoned the light, which operates only two hours a day, was installed to aid children crossing the street from the nearby Intermediate school and allowing turns on red lights at the intersection could endanger pedestrians.

About 25 per cent of the state's intersections have been judged unsuitable for the new law, which permits drivers to turn right on a red light after stopping, provided there is no oncoming traffic.

A motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Hampshire that Committee and Commission appointments be approved. Motion carried.

It was reported by the Public Safety committee that the Union Election Certification hearing scheduled for March 22, 1976 was postponed until mid May.

It was reported that the School Board appointed a committee for the purpose of coming to agreement with the Park Committee as to the terms of the proposed lease.

The annual report of the Rawson Memorial Library was presented to the Council. It was stated that the Planning Commission approved parking requirements for the library if they are to add an addition onto the library.

A letter from the Department of Commerce was read stating that a local legislative body has the right to file an objection to the renewal of liquor licenses for liquor by the glass and outlining the procedure.

A letter was received by the Cass City area Ministerial Association urging the council to take steps to assure that "costumeless entertainment" might not be introduced to the Village. It was recommended by Trustee Tuttle that we seek legal advice as to whether or not an ordinance would be in order. A letter will be sent to the group thanking them for their concern and to let them know that the council is considering this matter.

Ordinance No. 26 section 3 was reviewed stating "The owners and occupants of lots and premises adjacent to and abutting upon any of the sidewalks heretofore or hereafter constructed within said village shall keep the same free from ice, snow, filth and nuisances".

It was reported that there was no cost to the Village for labor and materials for the correction to the front of Ryan's Men's Store. It was indicated that a member of the council, planning commission and the building inspector review permits before issuing them and that a seven day waiting period would be required.

The flashing sign in front of Donald Stilson's Hotel on Main Street was found to be illegal in the zoning and building codes. The sign has been removed.

The Superintendent's report was reviewed.

A motion was made by Trustee Hampshire and supported by Trustee Tuttle to accept the report of the assessor and that a millage rate of 13 mills be levied on the State Equalized Valuation of the Village of Cass City in the amount of $10,265,400, for real property and for personal property. Motion carried.

A resolution was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Hampshire to adopt the following resolution to accept the William Malone property for annexation.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS a written request has been respectively made to the Village Council by William M. Malone and Barbara A. Malone, husband and wife, that property owned by them and adjoining and contiguous to the present Village limits on the North side thereof be annexed to said Village;

AND WHEREAS, it would be for the benefit of the Village to enlarge its boundaries in accordance with this request and likewise would benefit the owners of said properties to be within the jurisdiction of the Village and to enjoy the services and protection which the Village affords;

AND WHEREAS said premises are described as follows:

Commencing at the Northeast corner of Section 28, T14N-R11E; thence S 0°25'10"E along the East line of said Section 28 1,417.56 feet to the point of beginning; thence North 89°53'06" West 299.95 feet, thence North 0°25'10"W 115.50 feet; thence South 89°53'06"E 299.95 feet, thence South 0°25'10"E 115.50 feet to the point of beginning.

NOW THEREFORE, Be It Resolved that pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the President and Clerk of the Village shall and are hereby directed to forthwith petition the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners to make and approve such annexation and it is further resolved that the Clerk shall give public notice of the time and place of presentation of this petition to the Board of Commissioners in the manner required by said statute in order that this proposed annexation may be acted upon by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners accordingly.

except for a few things they salvaged, including their wedding pictures. Mrs. Somerville said the photos have survived all their fires.

Little else did. Almost immediately, friends and family began collecting clothing for the family and toys for the children. John, 8, Julie, 6, and Joey, 5.

"It's really been wonderful," Mrs. Somerville said. "They've been so good it's hard to know how to thank them. If it wasn't for them, it would be easy to give up."

She said the Cass City Church of Christ sent out bags of clothing they purchased for the family and that others have pitched in with children's clothing and toys.

"Our girl was upset because she lost her baby doll she received for Christmas," she said. "Now she has a new doll."

Mrs. Somerville said the children have taken the blaze pretty well, although they are frightened of fire.

"Their dad is on the (Lamotte township) fire department and any time he's called out, they question me about it and they ask if their house is going to burn down."

She said one of the children was afraid the "bad man" was coming back to burn their house again.

FUTURE

While much of the future is still clouded, the Somervilles say they plan to start over again. The house will be torn down, he says.

The family hopes to rent a house near Decker. Eventually, they may build.

"One thing I want if we do build is a one-story house," Mrs. Somerville said.

When the family starts over this time, they will be entirely on their own. Besides a $600 fire run bill, they face a monetary loss of about $30,000. This time, there won't be any help from an insurance company.

Somerville farms with his father, who has also known what fire can do. A barn was destroyed and the house was damaged by flames a few years back.

He says he can't understand why it keeps happening. "I can't think of any enemies we've made," he said. "I don't know what to think."

Mrs. Somerville, who is expecting the family's fourth child in September, says the latest fire hasn't destroyed her faith in God.

"When I was hurt, I think it helped my faith for not being killed," she said. "But sometimes it makes you doubt a little. You explain to the kids that God is protecting them and that the house won't burn down, but they say God didn't keep Grampa's house from burning. You run out of answers after while."

She says the two oldest children can talk about their fear of fire, but Joey can't. Even burning trash frightens them, she says.

Somerville says he's not really optimistic about the future—not now at least. But he says he and his family haven't given up.

"With the way our friends have responded, you may want to give up, but you can't," Mrs. Somerville said. "You keep trying."

AMONG A GROUP of Chevrolet service managers that enjoyed a 6-day vacation in Puerto Rico in March were Mr. and Mrs. Bud McDonald of Cass City. While vacationing they toured most of the points of interest including a complete tour of the old and new San Juan. Also attending but absent for the picture were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kilbourn of Deford.

FLYING HIGH

Just for fun . . . go fly a kite. The combined effects of the ecology craze, the nostalgia trend and the energy crisis have contributed to the growing popularity of flying kites. Standard paper and wood construction kites cost under 40 cents, while more elaborate models sell for up to two dollars. Or make one yourself.

If you will be camping in a non-woody area, or if your vacation home—like most—is not heated, you might want to bring some firewood along.

Be sure to bring along several thick, slow-burning candles in case of electricity failure. A flashlight would also help (don't forget batteries) and a bottle opener and non-electric can opener are musts.

Also, pack a transistor radio with an extra set of

Judge wants too much

Dear Sir:

Was reading in the Chronicle about Judge Baguley, where he said in a statement that $32,000.00 is not enough money.

What is wrong with these high appointed people, that they need so much money? I think it is time for the TAXPAYER to speak out about politicians wanting pay raises. They all get too much money now for the work they do. But they want the working men and women not to ask for a pay raise in the factories or other places. We have to live on $6,000.00 to $8,000.00 a year and make a go of it. But they cannot live on 32,000.00 dollars or more.

The politician had better start looking at the way they have our country in such bad shape, and get down to work and get it in the shape it was meant to be and for what our people fought for. Even the President of the United States is paid too much.

All other politicians are getting too much money and we the people of the United States are sitting back and letting them get away with it.

Every time we turn around, judges or congressmen want a big salary. But let the small man ask for a raise and the government will step in.

So I say it is time the American people speak out and tell the politicians to get our country back in the shape it should be. Forget about the other foreign countries and get ours back in shape.

Why don't the politicians forget what party they belong to and start working together and get our great country back on her feet.

Women who plan ahead find they have fewer worries on vacation

Preparing for a family vacation in the wilds can be mind-boggling. Or it may be the perfect time for you to prove that you're a real "Can-Do" woman—a woman who's ready to meet all family and household emergencies with confidence and with everything neatly under control.

Whether your vacation target is summer home, camping vehicle or pleasure boat, some careful planning ahead can free your time during precious days off and make every vacation event the hassle-free, family-together activity it should be.

What, specifically, needs to be readied? Here are a few ideas:

First-aid kit

First, check your first-aid kit. Does it include aspirin and bandages, a first-aid cream or liquid? What about suntan oil, an insect repellent and a bottle of calamine lotion in case of insect bites or poison ivy? Replace all medicines with fresh samples, and don't forget something for nausea or upset stomach.

If you will be camping in a non-woody area, or if your vacation home—like most—is not heated, you might want to bring some firewood along.

Be sure to bring along several thick, slow-burning candles in case of electricity failure. A flashlight would also help (don't forget batteries) and a bottle opener and non-electric can opener are musts.

Also, pack a transistor radio with an extra set of batteries and, in case of rainy weather, include some games and puzzles for the kids, as well as a deck of cards, several books and magazines for diversion.

What will your special kitchen needs be? Avoid glass containers if you can, and think "portable" when putting together kitchen supplies. Bring plenty of canned heat if you won't have access to a gas or electric kitchen range.

Plumbing aides

Your kitchen faucet may need a little flushing out before regular water starts to flow again, so have a couple of basic tools ready for removing the washer and clearing it out.

To eliminate drain problems that may have carried over from the winter in your summer home, use Drain Power, the new household aerosol product that unclogs drains in just one second with pressure instead of dangerous chemicals. It will swiftly flush out the clogs or sediments that have accumulated, and will not interfere with septic tank and cesspool systems.

And, at the end of the season, it can be used to finally flush out the water in the drain that could freeze during the winter and damage the pipes.

With these tips as a reminder, your own pre-vacation activities are bound to be simpler and more organized. And the more organized you are now, the more fun you and your family will have when your long-awaited vacation finally arrives!

Coach McIntosh: youngsters hold key to track year

Coach Dale McIntosh is guardedly optimistic as he assesses the chances of his Cass City Red Hawks thin-clads in the upcoming Thumb B Conference track race this spring.

It all depends on what some of the new talent coming up does for us, McIntosh said. They have to fill the gaps left by some talented seniors of 1975.

Heading the list is Ed Stoutenburg, who piled up points in the low hurdles and relays. Brent Dickson, foreign exchange student, anchored Cass City in the distance events.

Other premier performers for the Hawks were Skip Speirs and Jan Grenholm. They were members of the relay teams that set new records last spring for the Hawks.

Cass City's strength last season could be its greatest weakness this season. It all depends on the new talent coming up. If some of the underclassmen could prove themselves in these events the Hawks could be challenging for the title.

For the first time in several years, there is promising talent in the dashes. Steve Bean is a sprinter who topped everything in Junior High. If he can carry on in high school, the Hawks should have plenty to look forward to the next four years.

Another runner who has been burning up the track is John Isaacs, a newcomer to track here.

It could be that Bean's big competition will come right at home. That's because one of the Hawks' totemmen is Blaise Postuszny who garnered plenty of points for the Hawks in the sprints last year.

McIntosh is looking for strong performances from the team's co-captains, Guy Howard, Dallas Englehart and Steve Schneeberger.

Howard performs in the pole vault, Englehart in the 440 and Schneeberger in the two-mile.

Other lettermen include: Clarke Haire, high jump; Bruce Schweikart, middle distances; John Tukey, hurdles and middle distance.

Steve Ballard, distance and pole vault; Ed Kloc, shot put; Mike Lowe, hurdles and relay teams; Daryl Lapeer, sprints, Tim Muz, pole vault; Ron Kuenzli, sprints, and Phil Hartsell, middle distance.

As usual, Frankenmuth is seen as the team with the best chance to win. The Eagles are the defending champions. Sandusky is expected to field a strong team and Vassar, who finished second last year, also could present a strong challenge for the title.

Stay in the know with a multiband

Will it rain tomorrow? Where are all those police sirens going? Is there much air traffic at the airport today?

A multiband radio could provide the answers. At the touch of a button, today's multiband offers an instant weather report, a chance to eavesdrop on ship-to-shore conversations or discussions between pilots and air traffic controllers or a monitor on local police or fire department calls.

With at least 70 weather stations now broadcasting, the instant-weather feature is one of the most popular; any time of day, the listener can pick up a weather forecast from stations around the country.

And the short-wave band lets you listen to radio programs around the world and often monitor ham radio operators' conversations.

The multiband radio provides a window on the world, from the police station down the street to a broadcast station across the hemisphere.

TAPED VIA RADIO

Quite often radio stations play music with the actual purpose of having listeners make recordings on tape. Taping music via radio is very common.

It is particularly useful if the station is broadcasting a live concert which won't be made into a record album or tape for re-tailing.

CRYING NEED

What people need today is a conscience that will function before its possessor gets caught.
