

Council okays water, sewer hookups outside village

Cass City Village Council broke with established policy Tuesday night and approved extending water and sewer hookups to C&H Lanes, Inc., located outside the village limits. The action came at council's regular meeting held at the municipal building.

Council agreed to the hookups on several conditions. Those include:

- A 25-foot wide utility easement for the village along the south and west sides of the 14-acre parcel which abuts M-81 and Doerr Road.
- Costs of the extensions will be absorbed by developers Clare Comment and Tom Herron.
- The development must comply with village ordinances.

• C&H will pay the going rate (about 1½ times the normal rate) for water and sewer outside the village limits.

• The property will be annexed to the village after the 15,000 square-foot bowling alley is completed and a license by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission is approved.

The developers told council they could not annex now because Cass City has its quota of liquor licenses. However, the township does not. Once the license is approved, annexation could come, Herron explained.

One reason council chose to make the exception is that there's a possibility it may need the easements if projected sewer expansion ever happens.

The village is currently working under step one of a three step program that will eventually expand the sewage treatment plant.

Another reason is that the alleys will be built whether or not the utilities are extended. Elkland township authorities have already given their blessing to the project.

Trustee James Ware cast the lone no vote in council's 5-1 decision to grant the extensions.

Ware said it's too early to tell what other businesses might expand at the development site and what services they might need.

He also voiced concern for the existing bowling alley owned by Raymond Schweikart, fearing that C&H might drive Schweikart out of business.

"We couldn't grant him (a liquor permit)," Ware said. "By doing this, we are giving preference to this (C&H) new business."

He was also concerned over establishing another business selling liquor in the village.

"It's a sad commentary when a business can't survive without selling liquor," Ware said.

Trustee William Bliss said the alley would be built with or without annexation and that it was better to have it a part of the village.

"I think the property will be an asset to the community," Bliss said.

Herron said the alleys should be completed by September. Council agreed that annexation should take place to put the property on the summer, 1977, tax roll.

Village President Lambert Althaver said basically it would be less complicated to annex the property in this fashion than to wait until roads and utilities were in that don't meet village specifications.

"If development comes before our ordinances apply, then we may have to involve tax dollars to make the improvements necessary to have it comply," he said.

The complex will include a game room, a dance floor, lockers and a bar as well as alleys, the developers explained.

In a related move, council passed a resolution that areas seeking water and sewer hookups outside the village limits must annex from Elkland township.

The ordinance was passed in order to qualify for step two and three funding for sewer treatment plant expansion. The township has already passed a similar resolution.

Land involved in annexation must be contiguous to the village, according to the resolution.

OTHER BUSINESS

Other business was routine. Council okayed a change in the zoning ordinance that will allow drive-in restaurants in B-2 zones. The move came following a request by Dale Deering, owner of Big D, who wants to construct a drive-in addition to his restaurant.

Deering still must apply for a building permit for the work.

Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie reported that the village received $1,056 in federal disaster assistance following last month's ice storm. The funds will be applied to the cleanup.

Council approved spending $1,800 on a new tractor-mower for the village park.

Bids on the tractor will be taken at the next meeting.

LaPonsie also reported that paving on streets curbed and guttered last year is expected to start in May. Cost for asphalt is $16.87 per ton.

The pool is expected to open by June 1, Trustee Dr. D.E. Rawson said. It was also reported that High School Football Coach Roland Pakonen has been hired to supervise the summer park program.

A check for $200 for the pool was received from a Gagetown women's group, trustees learned.

Trustees Ware and Richard Hampshire were appointed to help coordinate the annual Memorial Day parade.

Warren Erickson, 41, Cass City, died at 8:07 a.m. at St. Luke's Hospital from multiple injuries sustained in a traffic accident Wednesday morning.

Erickson died in the emergency room after being transferred from Hills and Dales General Hospital.

WARREN ERICKSON, 41, Cass City, is pulled from the wreckage of his car following a grinding crash early Wednesday morning on Cemetery Road, five miles south of Cass City. Elkland township firemen worked over an hour to free Erickson, who is reported in critical condition with multiple injuries at Saginaw St. Luke's Hospital.

Cass City man 'critical' after grinding Cemetery Road crash

A 41-year-old Cass City man was listed in "critical" condition Wednesday morning at Saginaw St. Luke's Hospital with leg fractures and multiple internal injuries suffered when his car struck a bridge abutment on Cemetery Road, five miles south of Cass City around 3:00 a.m. Wednesday.

According to Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies, a car driven by Warren Erickson of 3764 Cemetery Rd., Cass City, was northbound when the vehicle crossed the centerline of the road and struck the bridge over White Creek.

A nearby resident, Raymond Schweikart of 2133 Cemetery Rd., reportedly heard the crash and summoned police.

Erickson was pinned in the wreckage for over an hour as Sheriff's officers and Elkland township firemen used cutting torches to free him.

Erickson was finally freed around 4:15 a.m. and taken to Hills and Dales General Hospital before being transferred to St. Luke's.

The accident was one of four with injuries investigated in the past week.

An 18-year-old Saginaw man was injured early Sunday morning when he was struck by a car near the intersection of Main and Weaver Streets in Cass City.

Cass City Police identified the victim as Paul David Parrish.

Police said Parrish was walking east in the travelled portion of Main Street when he was struck from behind by a car driven by James Henry Heiborn of Milford.

Two passengers in the car, Tami Krizman, 17, of 6350 Koch Rd., Cass City, and Dennis Hendrick, 17, of Caro, were uninjured.

According to the police report, Heiborn could not see Parrish prior to the accident. Parrish reportedly suffered a broken leg and a possible fractured wrist. He was treated at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The accident took place at 1:30 a.m.

A Gagetown woman was reported in "satisfactory" condition Tuesday at Caro Community Hospital with injuries she received in a two-car crash Friday night at the intersection of M-81 and Dutcher Road, eight miles southwest of Cass City.

Mrs. Genevieve M. Kehoe, 55, was being treated for multiple lacerations she sustained when a car driven by her husband, Harry, 46, was struck by a car driven by Bruce Allen Harris, 22, of Bay City.

Tuscola County Sheriff's officers reported the Kehoe vehicle was headed northeast on M-81 when the Harris auto, eastbound on Dutcher Road, failed to yield at the intersection, striking Kehoe's car.

Kehoe received cuts and bruises in the accident, but refused hospital treatment. Harris and two passengers in his car, Donald Michael Gersky, 32, and John Schultz, 18, both of Warren, were treated and released from Caro Community Hospital, authorities said.

The accident took place at 8:54 p.m.

At 6th grade level

School board hears plea for girls' basketball

A request for a sixth grade girls' basketball program and a lengthy discussion of federal anti-discrimination laws highlighted an otherwise routine meeting of the Cass City School Board held Monday night at the high school.

The request for the new program came from Mrs. Elaine Proctor who said 44 girls signed a petition following the last board meeting requesting the program.

She said a sixth grade girls program operated last spring through voluntary help and that the petition requesting the new program had been presented to athletic director Robert Stickle.

Supt. Donald Crouse suggested if the program is added, it should be run in the fall and not the spring so it would coincide with other girls' basketball programs.

Mrs. Proctor said the girls needed the program now and not next fall. The board agreed to study the possibility of adding the sport, but made no promises.

Trustee Lynn Albee suggested that a summer program might work out better than adding another sport. He said it might be wise to evaluate the whole elementary athletic program.

"I don't feel I'm cheating anyone by not offering it (girls' basketball)," Albee said.

Crouse said many district residents think the school has gone overboard on athletics now and would question adding another sport. He said students didn't need to have programs going all the time.

Mrs. Proctor wanted to know why the petition had not been brought to the meeting. Crouse replied he and Stickle had discussed the question with an eye to running it in the fall if it became a reality.

The request led to a discussion of Title IX of the Federal Education Act prohibiting discrimination in academic programs and activities.

Crouse said athletic programs at the school probably wouldn't meet the requirements presently. Compliance in athletics is due by July, 1978.

He said changes may come by leaving boys' sports status quo and adding girls' programs as interest develops. Presently, there are 20 coaching slots for boys' sports and 13 for girls sports. A total of 425 boys participate, compared with 310 girls.

Mrs. G. Prieskorn urged the entire Intermediate athletic program be put on paper for evaluation.

TITLE IX

The board okayed a request from counselor Curtis Cleland Jr. to publish a notice of intent to comply with the anti-discrimination features of Title IX.

Cleland explained the act requires schools to offer classes without regard to sex. He said when over 80 per cent of one sex is in one classroom, the school must explain why to federal authorities. If discrimination is found, funding could be in jeopardy.

This would include physical education classes, Cleland said.

ASSISTANT BAND DIRECTOR

The board turned thumbs down on a request by Band Director George Bushong for an assistant director.

Consensus was that a summer program would probably have more value. Supt. Crouse said if another band instructor were added, the voters should have a say on whether or not the program should be expanded.

The board instructed Crouse to talk with Bushong about starting a summer program.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the board okayed a salary schedule for recently added athletic programs. The cross country coach will earn $330 for the 1976-77 year, while the girls' junior high track coach will earn $250 and the girls' JV softball coach will earn $330.

Stan Gunther, Cass City, told the board he was dissatisfied with the new floor at the Intermediate building. He said the floor has "dead spots" in it and that basketballs don't bounce evenly on it.

The board agreed to have the floor checked.

Trustees accepted the resignation of Mary Eileen King, second grade teacher at Evergreen school. She will relocate in Phoenix, Ariz., she said.

The board agreed to participate in a shared time program with Mayville, Caro and USA schools next year. Counselor Wayne Dillon said the schools need to know by June 30 whether or not Cass City would participate.

Cosmetology, auto mechanics and carpentry classes are offered on a shared time basis by the other schools, Dillon explained. He said 41 Cass City students participated this school year.

The board tabled a discussion on involving students in the Zonta drive to raise funds for the pool.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

General Telephone owes me a dime in cash and $10 in frustration.

I tried to use one of its pay phones in St. Louis, Mi., Saturday. I blithely put in my dime and... nothing. The phone was dead, stone dead and my coin gone.

I located another three blocks away. This one announced in bold letters not to deposit money until ringing the operator. This one worked. The one that was out of order had no instructions at all.

Why is it that losing a dime in a phone booth gives you that feeling of being ripped off no end?

It's human nature, I guess. The other side of that coin is the glow of finding one as you walk down the street.

What's a dime nowadays? Either finding or losing a dime shouldn't amount to much.

But it always does.

This unseasonably, utterly wonderful April weather had me digging into my closet for short-sleeved shirts again. The only trouble is that I found they had shrunk over the winter.

Ron Geiger has set a new record for the morning coffee club in the village. From 10 to 18 guys drink coffee together each morning.

To settle the bill a numbers game is played. Players select numbers from 1 to 1,000 and quickly narrow the gap until someone selects the number previously written. If 500 is selected, for instance, the next player must select from 1 to 500 and so on.

Usually there will be three or four numbers left when the unlucky number is selected. Last week with all those players participating, Geiger lost four times in a row... twice picking out the unlucky number when there were 200 or more numbers left to pick from.

That makes him the champ loser in one week. The all-time champ one game loser is Editor Jim Ketchum. He had his guess of numbers from 1-1,000 and picked the loser in his first guess.

He hasn't played since.

Harold Deering of Deford gets involved. After reading about the trip to San Francisco by five school board members and the superintendent he called to find out what the trip cost.

So we checked. All the formal bills have yet to be processed, but Supt. Donald Crouse says the total cost will be about $3,000. That breaks down like this: $175 each round trip plane fare; $64 each for meals, and $160 each for lodging. Registration fees cost about $500 for the group, bringing the total to the $3,000.

Ms. Geraldine Prieskorn was so impressed with the meeting she dropped the Chronicle a card telling that she was learning a lot and the taxpayers were really getting their money's worth.

It's the thought here that the convention may not be all that big a bargain for taxpayers in the district but that the board members deserve it if they want to go.

Trustees are paid $40 a year for serving on the board regardless of the number of meetings attended.

That probably works out to about 25 cents an hour and should earn them convention expenses if they want it.

Time change set Sunday

Get ready to crank those clocks ahead one hour this coming week end. That's when Daylight Saving Time begins to the delight of golfers and the disgust of dairy farmers with cows who can't read clocks.

The switch is scheduled for 2:00 a.m. Sunday, when all clocks should be set to read 3:00 a.m.

This year, Michigan will be in step with the rest of the country. In 1975, the state lagged behind the other 49 states that switched their clocks in late winter.

Maybe by next week, somebody will figure out what time it is.

FROM THE

Editor's Corner

College graduates these days are finding it tough. The reason is simple. There are more graduates than there are jobs.

That's been the picture for the last three or four years and it's not getting any better. There are jobs... they go to the cagy, the aware, the person with a little edge.

Not just the best grades, although they are important, of course.

In 1947 when I joined the job market after graduation my grades over-all weren't that great. Not nearly as good as many other graduates that year.

In journalism I was above average but in French and math... ough!

There were a half dozen or so persons interviewed for the job I landed at the Wyandotte Tribune... the pay was above average and the suburban metro weekly was as close to a daily as most grads were able to get.

Back then, the daily paper was the dream of all the budding Pulitzer prize winners.

The favorite story of that day was that all the big shots on the dailies wanted to quit and run a weekly while all the workers on the weeklies wanted to head for the city.

But back to the business at hand. Getting a job.

After I went to work at Wyandotte and was there six months or so the boss told me once that the reason I was hired was my immaculate white shirt.

That's not much of an edge is it? But it was better than no edge at all.

I'd been at Wyandotte for a couple of years before I told the boss that the reason for my extra clean shirt was that I had changed it just before going in to talk about the job.

Maybe if I hadn't been driving for 250 miles on a warm day I wouldn't have changed.

So a little bit of luck doesn't hurt much either. But if I hadn't been dead serious about that job I wouldn't have had a clean shirt along, would I?

My immediate supervisor on the Tribune got his job fresh out of college with a little extra in his letter of application.

He made a cardboard sailboat in a cardboard house and enclosed it while explaining he was like the guy who built the sailboat in his basement and then couldn't get it out. He had an education and couldn't get a job.

Only he did. He had that something extra going for him.

I can hear you asking, why go to college at all, if it's that hard to find a job? Better to take a trade course, or truck driving. There's more money in it and you start earning it at once.

If money is all there is most of us should quit after high school.

But money isn't all (or shouldn't be).

If there's a chance to go, even for a semester, better grab it.

You'll learn plenty that you can't measure by the size of your bank balance.

It's a little like taking time out to smell the roses on a spring day.

Only the aroma will last a lifetime.

"If It Fitz..."

Save the fruit fly

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Too many people were not sanguine about Sanguine, so the name was changed to Seafarer. And if that doesn't work, the Pentagon can always threaten to dismantle the Mackinac Bridge and use the steel to build ricochet rockets that can be aimed at Angola but will explode in Havana.

Seafarer, formerly Sanguine, is the submarine communications system which the Navy wants to bury somewhere, maybe under 2,700 square miles of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Seafarer is needed to prevent any rotten Russian from enjoying the ashes of New Jersey.

The problem is simple. If the Russians push the big button first, they might wipe out the entire U.S. before we could push back. Our only survivors would be our submarines but they'd be so far underwater they wouldn't know what the dirty Russians had done. The question is how to notify the subs so they can push their nuclear buttons and destroy Russia. Thus 2 nations would be razed for urban renewal. Planned Parenthood chapters could cancel all meetings, and the world would be safe for Democracy.

The Seafarer system could alert our subs in time to assure what every peaceful nation wants — total revenge. But the Pentagon is having trouble with citizens who don't want the Seafarer antenna grid buried in their neighborhood. Tests have shown that Seafarer waves cause mutations in fruit flies. No humane person wants hunchbacked fruit flies buzzing around his bananas.

Wisconsin refused the honor several years ago. When the underground network was then suggested for the Upper Peninsula, there was great protest from citizens who didn't want to scar their ecology and endanger their fruit flies. That was back in 1974 when the system was called "Sanguine" which is a tricky word.

One dictionary definition is that sanguine means to be "eagerly optimistic; cheerful." But it also means "the color of blood."

Obviously, some Pentagon admiral stumbled across a dictionary somewhere, probably while on leave. He decided people weren't being optimistic and cheerful about Operation Sanguine because of its bloody connotation. It sounded like a movie starring Vincent Price. When the chicken civilians heard the word "Sanguine" they didn't become cheerful about their nation's nuclear capability, they became doleful about their fruit flies' capability to stand up straight.

So the admiral ordered the name changed to Seafarer which, according to the same dictionary, simply means "a sailor or mariner." After all, the push-the-button message would be beamed to submarines, so why shouldn't it be carried by a sailor? And what decent American could be disturbed by anything named Seafarer? The word has a great swashbuckle to it. Errol Flynn instead of Vincent Price.

Also, Seafarer starts with S, the same as Sanguine, so it wasn't necessary to change the gold initial engraved on the adding machines of the Pentagon body counters who will have important work to do once Seafarer sends the signal. These counters have been unhappily idle since the U.S. pulled out of Vietnam, and it would be a shame to delay their return to action further simply to change the engraving on their equipment. These past few years have been tough on the body counters whose only relief from tedium is on holiday week ends when the Pentagon loans them to the Auto Club.

But even with the name change, there are still some ecology nuts and fruit-fly bleeding hearts who don't want Seafarer buried in the Upper Peninsula. So, in a totally unrelated action, of course, the Pentagon has announced that one Air Force base in the U.P. may be closed because of budget cuts. This would cost the area thousands of jobs.

But the Pentagon further revealed that the U.P.'s 2nd Air Force base would likely serve as the nerve center for Seafarer, should it be buried there. Of course, if Seafarer is banned...

You don't have to be a submarine to get the message. If I were a fruit fly living in the Upper Peninsula, I'd start packing.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Fly catching made easy

By Jim Ketchum

As my first step toward becoming a certified recluse, I'm going to hire someone to catch flies for me. Now all I need is $2 billion and a staff who won't ask questions.

I've never had occasion to hire a certified flycatcher before, so I don't know what the going rate is. The last one I knew about was the one Howard Hughes hired several years ago.

Now that the world's second richest man is resting in his grave, smiling at the stories that are finally surfacing about the life he led, it's time for someone else to take his place and give a job to all those unemployed flycatchers.

Flycatching isn't something you go to school to major in. It's one of those apprenticeship jobs that takes years of practice, along with a strong stomach.

According to recent published accounts, Hughes employed a full-time flycatcher who had to show him the results each time he bagged a specimen. The bigger they were, the better.

Somewhere there must be a Hughes trophy room with stuffed flies mounted over the fireplace. Maybe he gave trophies for the best ones. Top prize could have been a can of Raid.

Not just anybody can become a flycatcher. You have to have good hands, quick eyes and carry your own Blue Cross. It takes the stealth of a cat, the cunning of a fox and the pay of a millionaire to keep a flycatcher's body and soul together.

Former major league baseball players might make good flycatchers if they still had the quick hands. Think how many flies they could store in their gloves. Actually, Hughes was pretty dumb hiring a man to catch flies for him. He could have done it for less by hiring a dozen frogs strategically located in his room.

I suppose it could have led to problems. An ill-timed "ribbit" could have been misconstrued as an executive order at Operations and could have meant disaster for the company.

On the other hand, it could have worked out. Based on the theory that an infinite number of monkeys and an infinite number of typewriters could turn out all the great books ever written, the frogs could have done the same thing.

Given an infinite number of flies and an infinite number of frogs, all of the great decisions Howard Hughes ever made could have been duplicated.

Then Hughes could have spent all his time being a recluse, sitting naked at his desk munching peanuts and drinking milk.

He wouldn't have to worry about the less fortunate of the world (if indeed he ever did). He wouldn't have had to care that one-fifth of this nation is ill-housed, ill-clad and ill-nourished.

Hughes would have been spared the worry of how to eliminate pollution, crime, inflation and the increasing federal and state gouge into your billfold and mine.

Maybe I'll settle for a squadron of frogs to catch flies for me. Besides, if they don't work out, at least I'll have something exotic for dinner.

Health is better than wealth — no one tries to borrow it.

Farmers get head start on spring planting

Tuscola county farmers are at least two weeks ahead of normal planting schedules, thanks to one of the warmest Aprils in recent history, Extension Agent William Bortel said this week.

Bortel said Monday nearly all the county sugar beet crop has been planted and that between one-half and two-thirds of the oat crop is in the ground. As temperatures continued to push their way well into the 70's in the early part of the week, it appeared as though county farmers were off to a flying start.

Blessed with warm, dry soil, the corn crop was "well under motion" as the week progressed.

"We're having as warm and as early a spring as we've had in many, many years," Bortel said Monday. "The majority of the sugar beets, barley and oats are in the ground."

He said some farmers planting corn are watching the situation closely, prepared to start planting any day.

"I'd say to plant at least half of the corn crop now," Bortel said. "Even if it turns cold and wet for a week, they're still all right. If it stayed wet and cold for three weeks, then there'd be problems."

He said the next two to three weeks will be important in determining whether or not the early spring is for real and if it will help farmers. The key is avoiding extended wet, cold weather.

As the week began, some farmers were looking for a warm shower to wet down fields already planted. Warm sun and steady winds have dried fields which normally are still too wet to work.

In spite of the early start, Bortel said it's far too early to make any predictions on whether or not this could be a banner year for farmers.

"Between now and harvest, you've got too many variables that get in the way," he said. "You've got water, hail, temperature and a lot more unknowns."

So far, farmers seem to be content with planting the same number of acres as in previous years using normal crop rotation. Part of the reason seems to be a soft commodity market, Bortel said. Right now, prices seem to be holding at depressed levels.

"The basic reason is that we're not getting enough total exports," he explained. "Nobody is outbidding anybody else right now. If the Russians or the Chinese said we're buying five boatloads of grain today, you'd see a lot of stirring in the market."

DAIRY

On the dairy scene, Bortel said the situation looks somewhat brighter. Lower grain feed prices, coupled with a stronger milk market, are making dairymen a little more contented these days.

Cattlemen are recovering from last month's ice storm that experts predict could cut into production by as much as 10 per cent.

"Overall, I'd have to say that conditions look as favorable as they have in a number of years," Bortel said.

Fertilizer, which had been a problem for some farmers two years ago is plentiful this year. Bob Wischmeyer, manager of Wickes Agriculture Elevator in Cass City, said Monday.

He said the only problem might be in transportation, especially for producers getting rail cars enough to ship orders out.

He confirmed that commodity prices were holding steady during the early part of the week.

Monday afternoon, wheat was $3.06, corn was $2.31, oats were $1.40, soy beans were $4.40 and no quote was available on navy beans.

ROY WAGG prepares a field for planting southwest of Cass City. Area farmers are getting a head start on field work this year during one of the warmest springs on record, according to County Extension Director Bill Bortel.

Set 4 grand openings this week

A new store, a store with a new owner and a store with a new location all will celebrate grand openings this week end.

The store with the new location is Richard's TV and Furniture, which moved a block west on Main Street to larger quarters formerly occupied by Western Auto.

Now under construction at the store for the Richard Joneses is a new shake shingle type front.

The new owner is at Chapel's Men's Shop, formerly Ryan's Men's Wear. The new owners are Ron and Susan Chapel.

The third company to hold a grand opening is Buds and Blossoms, owned by Gordon Bensingler. His new flower shop is located on Main Street in the store previously owned by Richard's.

The fourth grand opening of the week will be the Chatterbox Restaurant formerly Chandler's. The restaurant is operated by Don and Gail Stilson. A free prize drawing is being held at the restaurant this week.

The grand opening runs through Saturday, April 24.

Snyder trial set May 11

The trial of Frank Jefferson Snyder, 23, Caro, charged with murder in the Sept. 22 slaying of Ronald Shorts, 33, is scheduled to begin Tuesday, May 11, in Tuscola County Circuit Court before Judge Norman A. Baguley.

He was arrested by Caro State Police shortly after the shooting which allegedly took place south of Caro on Wells Road.

The trial is expected to last three weeks, a court source said.

Tigers won't finish last

With the baseball season under way, pundits are generally predicting that the Detroit Tigers will make another dismal showing in the American League's Eastern Division. Many are predicting the basement for the hapless Bengals.

Phil Gray, of 6773 Third St., is more optimistic.

"I think the Tigers will finish somewhere in the middle this year," he says. "I think they've got better hitting this year, but they lack pitching."

He says besides Joe Coleman, proven winning pitchers are hard to find on the Tiger staff. He thinks Vern Ruhle and Ray Bare will carry a lot of the team's hopes for a better finish this year.

"They'll still rely on John Hiller a lot," Gray says.

In the hitting department, he sees the acquisition of Rusty Staub as a plus. "They needed hitting help from the left side," he says.

He didn't predict exactly where the team would finish other than to say they wouldn't finish last.

Gray is a native of Cass City. He serves as head baseball coach, assistant football coach and JV basketball coach at Owen-Gage High School.

He and his wife have one son.

Mrs. Nelin Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Richardson and daughter Brenda spent Sunday evening visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bob I. Richardson at Port Austin Heights.

YOU DECIDE WHERE TO LIVE
 First, select the area where you'd like to live, then buy a nice piece of property. If you already own a lot, you're all set.

CUSTOM DESIGN YOUR FLOOR PLANS
 Select from ramblers, split levels, split entries and two stories. You can customize any of our plans or, we'll build from your plans - to fit your family size, your way of living and your budget.

ONE-STOP SHOPPING
 Capp provides you with the standard materials you need to complete a Finish-it-Yourself house. And not only do you choose plans, you also select roofing, siding, and all the interior features such as kitchen and bathroom accessories, doors, windows, flooring, lighting fixtures and so forth. You plan your new home exactly the way you want it to be.

WHAT WE DO
 Capp custom-erects your home on your foundation, according to the plans and Capp Homes specifications. We install sub-flooring, interior partitions and exterior doors and windows. In short, your new home is enclosed and ready for the finishing you'll do.

WHAT YOU DO
 After Capp does its part, you handle the finishing work yourself, or have someone to help. And you'll get the standard materials you need to complete your Finish-it-Yourself house from us. What's it like to finish a house yourself? Plumbing and wiring aren't all that tough. We give you instruction manuals to guide you, and you'll be surprised how fast you learn. But even if you hire people to help you, you'll still save by eliminating some of the general contractor's profits. However remember: the more you do, the more you can save. And when you're finished, not only will you have a home that's worth a lot more than you paid for it, you'll have a real feeling of accomplishment.

CAPP QUALITY - NO COMPROMISE
 Capp doesn't compromise on quality. With our materials and building specifications, we maintain an old-fashioned dedication to quality. The fact is, we've been building homes for 30 years. And over 50,000 families are living comfortably in Capp homes today.

 Every aspect of the Finish-it-Yourself house is geared to make it possible for you to own a custom-built home. You make it affordable because you do the finishing. Michigan Mirror

'Only' can cost taxpayers millions in government

"Don't get excited about only $10,000. It's just x per cent of the whole state budget—a drop in the bucket." Comment you may have heard from a legislator.

But why "only"? Why do some lawmakers and other state officials talk in terms of "small" amounts of money that "can't make a difference" in the overall financial picture for Michigan? Why don't they think that every one of the taxpayers' dollars counts?

prohibited by a sign at the intersection.

Must a driver turn right on red if the turn isn't prohibited?

No, says the department. "If you do not intend to turn right, it is legal to stop in the right-hand lane if you want to drive through the intersection when the light turns green. It is not considered considerate, however."

"When the driver behind you leans on his horn because he wants to turn right, he may be legally wrong, but understandably irritated."

COME 300...

Come 2076, the year of the nation's Tricentennial, history seekers dredging through Michigan's Archives will discover records of 100-year-old maple seedlings planted throughout the state.

That's the goal of bicentennial planners, who report that a batch of sugar maple seedlings, started from seeds of century-old trees near Niles, will be ready for planting in early June.

Gov. William Milliken is expected to plant the cream of the sugar maple crop on the Capitol lawn June 11.

Michigan's Department of Natural Resources took orders for the seedlings last fall—including several hundred requests for some 1,000 of the tiny trees. Recipients will be asked to fill out forms describing the location of those trees for the benefit of historians 100 years hence.

MORE BIRTHDAY NEWS

Michigan's first, along with Tennessee and South Carolina, to be chronicled in special bicentennial history books.

Pulitzer Prize-winning historian Bruce Catton, a Petoskey native, put Michigan on paper in the last year as part of a National Endowment for the Humanities project that will eventually include documents about all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

"Looking around and savoring the flavor of my own state was a most gratifying experience," Catton said. His book, "Michigan: A Bicentennial History," is published by W.W. Norton & Co.

DON KNOTTS & DAVID NIVEN

Think about your personal finances. If you spend "only" 1 per cent of a $10,000 annual take-home pay on beer, or cigarettes or travel, for instance, it would total $100. Buy a lot of hamburger or car fixing or some such, wouldn't it?

Similarly, if the state spends "only" 1 per cent of its approximate $3 billion annual budget for something—that's $30 million. And $30 million is nothing to sneeze at.

A re-think is called for on the part of some folks in state government, especially considering the dire consequences predicted for some government funded programs because of money problems.

From "only x per cent of the budget" to "at least x per cent of the budget" is the change that's needed.

Perhaps constituent pressure is needed to make that change in some mind.

RIGHT AND WRONG

Turn right at the red light, after coming to a complete stop, unless a sign says don't do it.

Most motorists realize that effect of Michigan's new red-light turn law.

But there are other questions. Some wonder, for instance, if they also can turn left. Yes, says the Department of State Highways and Transportation, but only if turning onto a one-way street and if such turns are not

Sentence Fairgrove man in Circuit Court

A Fairgrove man was sentenced to pay court costs Monday after pleading guilty to simple assault in Tuscola County Circuit Court before presiding Judge Norman A. Baguley.

John A. Sowatsky of Fairgrove was ordered to pay $100 costs within two weeks or face a 30-day jail sentence.

Sowatsky was arrested March 10, 1975, after an alleged fight which broke out near the Hotel Montague in Caro.

Chamber banquet set Thursday

Final plans are set for Thursday night's Cass City Chamber of Commerce annual banquet set to begin with dinner at 7:00 p.m. at Colony House on M-53.

Citizen of the Year and Junior Citizen of the Year awards will be presented. Entertainment and dancing will also be provided. Tickets may still be purchased from any Chamber board member.

Michael E. Wilcox, 24, no address given, entered a guilty plea to joy riding. The plea was accepted and sentencing was set for May 3. Bond of $3,000 was continued.

Wilcox was arrested following the incident which took place Nov. 27 in Indianfields township.

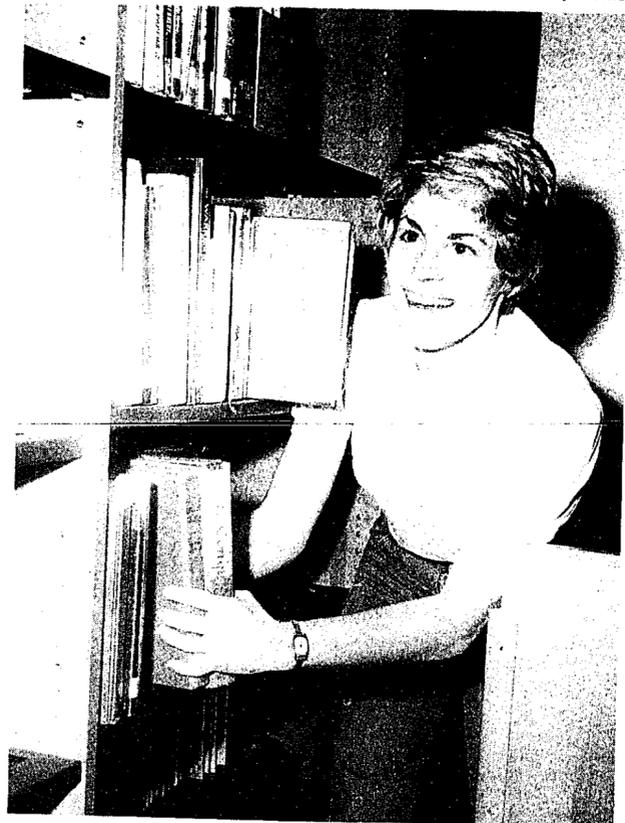

William A. Brown, 40, no address given, was arraigned on a charge of incest. He stood mute and an innocent plea was entered in his behalf.

A petition to commit Brown to the state Forensic Center to determine whether or not he is competent to stand trial was approved by Judge Baguley.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

A comparatively light vote has been forecast Monday when Cass City School District taxpayers will go to the polls to decide whether to renew a special 2.5 mill operating levy for one year.

Monsignor Hugh M. Beahan of St. Mary's Rectory in Grand Rapids will be the guest speaker at Thursday night's annual Cass City Chamber of Commerce banquet, scheduled at Cass City High School.

Most of the start-up problems in the new Cole Carbide building, three miles east of Cass City on M-81, have been ironed out and the plant is busy turning out carbide tools for the industry. Manager Scott Kelley reports the new building more than doubles the company's previous floor space.

The Zoning Board of Appeals will hear a request Wednesday, May 5, to allow a variance in the village's zoning code in the proposed construction of the First Baptist church.

TEN YEARS AGO

In a surprise move Wednesday night, April 13, the Cass City Village Council authorized parking meters for the village as soon as bids can be taken and the meters installed. Voting in favor of the meters were Bernard Freiburger, George Dillman, Dr. D.E. Rawson, Mrs. Gladys Albee and James Baker. Against the installation was Glen McCullough.

C.R. Hunt of Cass City was honored for nearly a half century of work in scouting Tuesday night, April 12, when he was presented with the Silver Beaver award for distinguished service to boyhood. The presentation was made by H.M. Bulen, a member of the district committee, at the annual Thumb District Recognition dinner held at Harbor Beach.

This week, friends of M.B. Auten wished him a happy birthday by using one of the S. Champion Advertising Company's billboards for the greetings. It read: Your Friends Wish You a Happy Birthday Meredith Auten.

A former Cass City resident, Manley L. Fay, has been named superintendent at Caseville School. Earnest Cook of Cass City was named chairman of the Tuscola County Dairy Committee at the meeting of the NFO Thursday in Caro.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Clifford Croft, village president, and a group of councilmen to be chosen next Tuesday night, will represent Cass City in a four-county conclave at the regional meeting of the Michigan Municipal League at Bad Axe May 3.

With Curt Hunt acting as toastmaster for the evening, the Gavel Club entertained guests on Ladies' Night with a comedy skit "Television Show." Acting out the broadcast were Les Ross, Buzz Wallace, Jack Esau and Warren Wood.

Led by George Dillman's 265 single game and 620 series, Dillman's team took the opening series in the roll-off for the championship recently.

William A. Parrott of rural Cass City is putting the finishing touches on a $15,000 ship he constructed for $4500 on his farm.

Rev. Melvin R. Vender, Presbyterian minister at Cass City, was elected a commissioner from this area to attend the 163rd general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Cincinnati May 22-30, at a Presbyterian meeting Tuesday at Kinde.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Ernest L. Schwaderer was elected president of the Cass City Rotary Club at Tuesday's noon luncheon meeting held at the Hotel Gordon. Other officers include Louis I. Wood, vice-president; Otis Heath, secretary; Arthur C. Atwell, treasurer; M.C. McLellan, sergeant-at-arms; board of directors, Keith McConkey, Horace Bulen, Audley Rawson and Andrew T. Barnes.

Cass City Village Council has issued an order ceasing double parking. The council made members of the street cleaning department happy by raising their wages five cents an hour. C.U. Brown, street commissioner, will get $10 more a month.

As a reward for winning in a contest, nine Boy Scouts and their leaders spent last week end at the Auten cottage on Lake Huron, a few miles from Port Austin. The boys who made the trip are Fred and Charles Auten, James McCoy, Kenneth Price, Jack Tyo, Harry Wright, Robert Smith, John Sommers and Eugene Osborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith have moved from a farm northwest of Cass City to Mrs. Charles D. Striffler's residence at the corner of Third and Grant Streets.

Food preservation classes set

Do you have concerns about the variety of canning lids being marketed, selection and proper use of canning and freezing equipment, recommended methods to use in preserving the different foods and safe handling of foods? If so, attend the "Home Food Preservation" series that will be taught at Millington High School and Caro High School. Each session will begin at 7:30 p.m. The schedule for the Millington High School is April 26 - Handling Food Safely; May 3 - Canning Fruits and Vegetables; May 10 - Canning Jams, Pickles, Meat, etc. and May 17 - Freezing of foods. This series will be taught by Aileen Mills, Extension Home Economist.

Family Living Program Assistant Nancy Turschak will teach the series at the Caro High School. The topics are the same as listed above and the dates are April 28, May 5, May 12 and May 19, with starting time at 7:30 p.m.

Reservations are requested for each of the "Home Food Preservation" series and these can be made at the respective high school. Cooperative Extension Service, Caro Continuing Education and Millington High School are cooperating to make this educational opportunity possible. Extension Home Economist Aileen Mills invites all interested families to participate.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Tape player stolen, fountain vandalized

Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson reported a relatively quiet week in the village, with only three incidents to mar the period.

A tape player valued at $80 was reported stolen from an auto owned by David Dykes of Caro, Saturday.

Dykes told police the tape player was stolen sometime after an accident early Saturday morning when his car ran into a ditch on Cedar Run Road south of M-81. Dykes also reported he was assaulted by two unidentified persons shortly after the accident which took place shortly before 5:00 a.m.

No suspects have been apprehended.

Adrian Hutchinson of South Cemetery Road reported vandals damaged his mailbox sometime last week. Wilson said the box was one of several damaged between the south village limits and Kelly Road.

Vandals also did about $40 damage to the lion-drinking fountain at the park last week. The water spout was reportedly twisted off.

No suspects were apprehended.

Bulletin

Warren Erickson, 41, Cass City, died at 8:07 a.m. at St. Luke's Hospital from multiple injuries sustained in a traffic accident Wednesday morning.

Erickson died in the emergency room after being transferred from Hills and Dales General Hospital.

No decision on Owen-Gage bonds

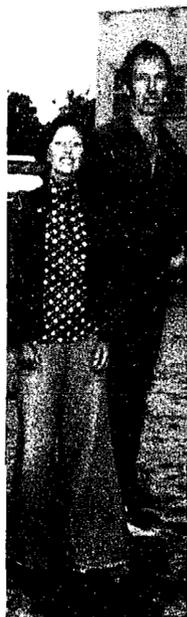

For the second week in a row, the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has failed to act on whether or not to approve the sale of bonds to finance a new Owen-Gage High School building.

Spokesman Richard Allen said Tuesday the commission still lacks a certificate from the Michigan Environmental Review Board which is needed before a decision is made.

Allen said it is unknown when the document will be presented or when a decision will be handed down.

Two opponents of the bond issue, Dr. Dalton Coe, Owendale, and James Belk, Cass City, appeared at Tuesday's commission hearing to present their side. Last week, Supt. Ronald Erickson presented the school board's position urging approval of the bonds.

The $1.675 million issue was okayed by voters in a December referendum.

RESERVE A STATE PARK CAMPSITE

AVOID THIS

ENJOY THIS

These versions of two common occurrences at Michigan State Parks offer the camping family a couple of important things to think about as warmer weather approaches. Last year, the scene at the top happened to 71,000 families. They were turned away from the state's 80 state parks because all the campsites were taken. But about six million lucky ones, like the fellow relaxing in the other scene, were able to spend enjoyable vacations because they beat the rush to the campground door. Included were 31,726 families who "reserved" their sites through the DNR's successful Campsite Reservation System. The program works at 65 of Michigan's most popular state parks (the list is available at all DNR offices) and is in effect from May 1 through September 30. Fifty percent of the campsites in these parks are available by reservation (the other 50 percent are available on a first come-first served basis) through requests made directly to the park. Application forms are available from all parks and most DNR offices statewide, but requests must be for minimum four-day periods and must be made at least 15 days in advance of the desired camping period. Full payment for overnight camping, plus a $2 reservation fee, must also be made in advance. Avoid the "Sorry, full..." sign; enjoy the pleasures of state park camping. Write the DNR's Parks Division office in Lansing (48926) for more information.

Elkland's oldest firefighter (whistle) set for retirement

Elkland township's oldest piece of fire equipment is scheduled to be retired soon after more than 50 years of service. Yet it's never been to a fire in a half-century.

The township fire whistle will be replaced with a new, electronic siren that arrived in Cass City recently from Rock Island, Ill.

When the old siren comes down from the tower on the township fire hall, it will mark the end of a half-century of summoning firemen and sounding the noon hour.

Just what will happen to it isn't certain, according to Fire Chief Jim Jezewski, other than the fact that its days in Cass City will be over.

No one can remember exactly when the whistle went into service, but according to Edward Baker of Cass City, it was purchased by the village sometime before 1926.

Baker says the first location of the whistle was atop the Elkland Roller Mills on Main Street near Sherman. In those days, the siren was operated from a switch at the telephone office, he said.

At that time, the fire department's apparatus, which was housed near the village jail, consisted of a four-wheel trailer, hose and ladder and little else.

"I remember we were after the village council to get us some new fire equipment and they didn't want to do anything for us," Baker recalled. "Then we had a house fire and an infant was killed. Well, we huddled back at the fire hall and said 'no more'. Things had to change."

Baker said the child's mother had lighted a three-burner oil stove and had gone to visit a neighbor when the fire broke out. He said the department lacked the equipment it needed to rescue the child.

"We told the council that if we didn't get some new equipment we weren't going to stay on any longer," he said.

New equipment was purchased.

Several years later, the village purchased the back portion of Wood Drug and moved the fire department over there. The whistle came down from its original perch and was transferred into the cupola of the fire hall, Baker said.

It remained there until the present township fire hall was completed in 1972. At that time, the whistle was taken down and rebuilt before being hoisted into its third location.

Last winter, Baker said, signs of age began to tell on the old whistle. It was decided to blow the whistle three times a day instead of just once in order to keep the bearings from "freezing up".

"The whistle had always blown at noon, but noon had nothing to do with it," Baker said. "It was blown at noon to make sure it would work."

To keep it working until the new siren arrived, it was decided to sound it at 7:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. as well as noon.

The new whistle will be financed with local and state funds procured through the Department of Natural Resources, Jezewski explained. Last summer, the DNR contacted the department regarding excess funds it would distribute to fire departments on an application basis.

Elkland township was awarded $900 toward the purchase of its new siren.

Originally, the old whistle should have been replaced by now. But problems arose when the company shipped the wrong siren early this year.

The siren the township ordered sat at the factory for over a month due to a foul-up in the order, Jezewski said. It finally arrived at the fire hall April 9.

He said the new siren should require little or no maintenance. It will produce a different sound that Cass Cityans will have to get used to, he said, but the tone shouldn't cause any problems.

There's no way of telling just how many times the old siren has gone off in a half century. Counting noon-time soundings, it's blown a minimum of 18,250 times since 1926.

"If it could talk, it could really tell some stories," Baker said.

FIREMEN WERE kept busy Thursday afternoon fighting grass fires. The first, at 2:15 p.m., burned a fence row at the Bernard Freiburger residence at 4728 N. Seeger St. Little damage was reported. The second run, about an hour later, was an assist to the Gagetown Fire Department which battled a fire at the village dump. Cooler weather and the threat of rain helped ease things this week.

AMBITION and ENERGY

Ambition is strong in some people. They have the unique ability to define their goals in life and they are able to channel their skills and energy in order to realize these ambitions.

Of course, each of us has our own individual goals — all different in proportion and nature. And, each requires a different amount of energy to be realized. If we fail, we should expect more energy! For this ability to keep trying — in the face of great odds — can lead eventually to success.

To one degree or another then, all of us are constantly using up our individual energy supplies. To tackle the fresh challenges and problems of each tomorrow, we need a dependable source of unending power. Such continuous power is always available to you within the supporting bonds of the Church.

BETTER HEALTH

Milk for everybody?

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

Cow's milk has long been dubbed the perfect food, not only for calves, but also for human infants when the latter have no access to mother's milk.

But there is a question as to its suitability for all grown-ups.

Intolerance to milk is attested to by the flatulence, bloating, cramps and diarrhea complained of by adults who insist that they cannot take milk — and don't.

Unlike the "all or none" effect of some food allergens, such as certain sea food in which the tiniest, unsuspected trace of the offender will set off a reaction, the untoward effects of milk are apt to require sizeable doses, and the reactions are usually not dramatic.

It is generally believed that intolerance to milk in adults is related to a diminished supply, after the early years of life, of the enzyme required for the digestion of the milk sugar lactose.

"Lactose tolerance" is determined by measuring the amount of sugar in the blood after drinking a calculated amount of lactose and water.

A small increase in the blood-sugar level is associated with low levels of the enzyme in the subject's intestinal tract. This finding is present in over two-thirds of randomly selected American blacks, Mexican-Americans, American Indians, Ashkenazic Jews and Orientals, groups which are not culturally associated with the cultivation of dairy animals.

Lactose intolerance is less common among Americans of Scandinavian and Northwestern European extraction.

The relative rarity of patients with digestive difficulties traceable to milk in spite of the high prevalence of lactate deficiency — up to 90 per cent of the non-white population — is probably attributable to a requirement of the conventional lactose tolerance test. It calls for the ingestion of lactose equivalent to one or two quarts of milk at one sitting, without other food. This is markedly in excess of ordinary meal times.

Recent studies have shown that only about half of the lactose-intolerant will be upset by a single glass of milk. The digestive disturbance would probably be less if the milk were taken with other food, used in cooking or consumed in the form of cheese or yogurt.

Although there appears to be a close relationship of symptoms to the amount of milk consumed at one sitting by the susceptible, many lactose-intolerant subjects drink their milk and accept the flatulent consequences with hardly more distress than is put up with by belching pizza eaters, hot dog lovers and devotees of red cabbage.

As for the absorption of calcium and protein by the lactose-intolerant population, it tests out as adequate and not interfered with appreciably by their enzyme deficiency.

But powdered milk as a source of protein in emergency food relief is apt to run into cultural barriers that are hard to overcome.

In parts of South America, powdered milk is considered a moderately successful ingredient for use in whitewashing their houses. In West Africa, it is suspected of harboring evil spirits.

It's a great life for 'Squirt', thanks to loving family

JULIE HILL, 10, Sandusky, poses with "Squirt", a two-year-old pony her father, John Hill, received following its confiscation by Humane Society authorities earlier this year. The mistreated pony is happy as can be in its new home where it has lots of food and lots of love.

"Squirt", a two-year-old chestnut mare toy pony is a lot happier and a lot healthier these days thanks to a rural Sandusky family who cared.

The pony was one of 10 animals taken from a Highland area woman charged with cruelty to animals. The horse was given away two weeks ago. She's now living on the John Hill farm located at 178 Custer Rd. and is rapidly recovering from the scourge of starvation.

She was nothing but skin and bones when we got her," Hill said as his daughter, Julie, 10, gently stroked the animal's mane. "She was in terrible condition."

That was April 6. In the past two weeks, Hill estimates the animal has put on about 30 pounds.

Hill said he heard about the plight of the horses while listening to a late-night newscast. The animals had been removed from the farm and given to Duke Dennison of Milford, who cared for them until this month.

"They said on the news that the horses had been starved and that they were trying to find new homes for them," Hill recalled. "They gave a phone number to call and so we did."

Hill said a total of 450 persons called after the story broke, asking for one of the horses. Ten were chosen, nine of them in the greater Detroit area. Hill was the only person in the Thumb to receive one of the animals.

"I told the kids not to get their hopes too high but that we had a chance," Hill said. "Then we got a call Tuesday afternoon around two o'clock to come down and get our pony."

Hill was shocked at what he saw.

"The horses were all in terrible condition," he said. "Some were in foal and I'm not sure if they could survive."

He says there's a chance Squirt may be in foal, but chances are good she'll survive because she was rescued in time.

Since she arrived at the farm, Squirt has been the star attraction. Placed on a special diet to keep her from overfeeding, the pony has thrived, adding badly-needed weight.

She's being fed a diet including hay, a little corn, apples and carrots. The scars of abuse are beginning to fade, although the pony's ribs still protrude slightly from her sides.

Hair is beginning to cover wounds made by dogs which attacked the pony before she was removed to Dennison's farm near Milford.

"I sure don't think much of people who would abuse animals like that," Hill said. "I think somebody like that should get the same kind of treatment."

Raising animals is nothing new for the Hill family. Their farm includes 2,000 rabbits, pigs, sheep dogs and collies. But Squirt is by far the favorite.

"My daughter hasn't been this happy in years," Hill said. "She loves the horse. It gives her something to look forward to each day."

Hill says he would willingly take in another animal. In fact, he's trying to buy another one of the bigger horses taken from the farm, although he's unsure whether or not he'll be able to make the purchase.

The family plans to keep Squirt as a pet, but won't ride her at least for a year. Hill says he would never sell the horse.

"We all love her," he said, referring to his wife, the former Loraine Meredith, and their son John, 11.

"Come back next year and you'll be able to see how she's changed," Hill said with a smile. "Maybe I'll have a foal to show you by then."

JOHN HILL shows scars where "Squirt" was bitten by dogs prior to its confiscation by authorities earlier this year. The horse was one of 10 given away to new homes this month.

Commissioner, treasurer

Wernettes run for Sanilac posts

A rural Cass City couple have announced they will seek two Sanilac county government positions as Democrats.

Donald Wernette, 61, announced his candidacy for the job of county commissioner in District One. The seat is currently held by Republican Lloyd Severance, Decker.

His wife, Donna, 58, has filed for the job of county treasurer.

Wernette, long active in the Sanilac County Democratic Party, said he is getting involved in county politics because he is dissatisfied with the condition of county roads and wants to do something about it.

He said he is also concerned about how the present county board planned the ill-fated County Courthouse annex which went down to defeat at the polls last December.

Wernette is a semi-retired civil engineer who has worked in the automotive, aircraft and space industries. He also served once as district engineer over seven counties for the Michigan Highway Department.

Mrs. Wernette has been active in Cass City civic affairs and currently serves as president of the Woman's Study Club. She is also on the board of Directors of the Zonta Club, a member of the AARP board of directors and serves on the Sanilac County Board of Canvassers.

She is a member of the Democratic Eighth Congressional District Steering Committee.

The Wernettes live in Evergreen township.

Gagetown repasses topless ban

Gagetown Village Council went back to square one at a special meeting Monday night and repassed its controversial ordinance banning topless dancing. The vote was 4-2 with no abstentions.

Village President Lawrence Cummings said the vote means the new ordinance will take effect May 10.

Controversy arose over the validity of the original vote on the ordinance when two members who were present abstained from voting. The abstentions were ultimately considered "yes" votes.

Cummings said council's latest action clarifies any problems which could have arisen in a court test of the ordinance. The ordinance as passed appears elsewhere in this week's Chronicle.

Council went on record against the dancing in March after shows staged at Bennett's Bar had operated about a month.

Grass blaze brings firemen

Elkland township firemen responded to a grass fire that wasn't Wednesday night, April 14.

Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said the blaze was located at the Paul Becker residence on Hadley Road, east of Cass City, and consumed about 40 acres. The only problem, Jezewski said, was that Becker had already gotten a permit for the burning.

The fire was reported by a passerby, Jezewski said, around 8:45 p.m.

The 40-year medical career of Dr. Clare A. Scheurer, 69, will be recognized Sunday afternoon, May 2, with an area-wide greeting for the founder of Scheurer Hospital. The event will be held in Laker High School, Pigeon, starting at 3 p.m., and will include a public reception, brief program and refreshments. The program will begin at 4 p.m.

Karl Leppien of Pigeon is general chairman of the event.

A fund is being established in honor of Dr. Scheurer, to be designated for whatever charitable purpose he may choose. All donations to the fund will be tax-deductible, Leppien said.

Dr. Scheurer, a native of Sebawaing, came into the medical scene in Pigeon in 1935. What started as a one-doctor, one-nurse office at that time has grown to a 47-bed hospital and a clinic with five doctors. Doctor Scheurer was instrumental, not only in founding the hospital, but in formation of the Laker School District, where he was a board member for many years, in development of Sand Point into a resort area and development of two subdivisions in Pigeon.

Ordinances still govern horses, telephone pole colors

If you drive a horse faster than eight miles an hour, breed an animal in broad daylight or put up unpainted telephone poles, you're liable for arrest in Cass City.

Those are just a few of the archaic laws still on the village books—laws backed up by fines and imprisonment for violators. Most of the outdated statutes went into effect around the turn of the century and some have never been repealed.

It was definitely a slower age, as ordinance number 30, testifies. "No animal shall be driven faster than eight miles an hour," the ordinance reads. "No person shall propel or cause to be propelled along, upon or across any avenue, street, highway or alley in Cass City, any vehicle moved by other than animal power without sufficient lights to warn of their approach."

The ordinance did not apply to fire engines answering an alarm. An earlier ordinance, passed in 1897, specified that bicycles were not to be driven faster than 10 miles an hour and that riding on the sidewalks was unlawful. Violators were subject to a $1 fine or 15 days in jail.

Horse breeding must be closed during servicing," the statute reads. The ordinance forbids persons under the age of 14 to be allowed inside such a building during the operation. Fines ranged from $5 to $25 with jail terms of from five to 25 days.

The same ordinance forbids any surgical operation on any "horse, ass or mule in any of the public streets of Cass City."

Horses were still a necessity in those days, and so were small livestock herds. An ordinance still on the books governs the keeping of hogs. "No person shall keep any hog or hogs in pens or otherwise so as to be offensive to his or her neighbor or neighbors," the statute reads.

The same ordinance directs that "livery stable keepers shall keep their stable yards clean and shall not permit any manure to accumulate". Animal control ordinances extended to other livestock as well. One law still on the books mandates that no "horse, ass, mule or swine, sheep, goats, cattle or fowls shall run at large in the village of Cass City".

The planks are to be held with 20 penny spikes, it says. Between West and Sherman Streets along Main Street, sidewalk width is mandated at two feet, while along Seeger Street, six-foot sidewalks are to be built. A later amendment passed in 1895, allowed for stone sidewalks if they met the approval of the street commissioner.

Turn-of-the-century Cass Cityans were true Victorians and guarded the sex lives of their animals as closely as their own.

In 1898, an ordinance went on the books governing the practice. It stated in part that no breeding of animals was to be allowed in any street, alley "or any place in Cass City except in a closely boarded and covered building with a ground floor only."

The ordinance spells out that such a building must be constructed so that when the doors and windows are closed, a person from the outside cannot see inside. "All doors and windows

Sheriff's deputies said the Pionk vehicle was northbound on Colwood Rd. when it struck a number of cows that had strayed from the Joe Muz farm at 2289 E. Dutcher Rd., onto the roadway.

Officers reported the Ricker vehicle, also northbound, collided with the Pionk auto after it had stopped from the first impact.

Ricker told officers he saw no lights on the Pionk auto. Officers noted Ricker's car skidded 89 feet before impact and that Pionk's auto skidded 131 feet before colliding with the cows.

FATALITY

Tuscola county recorded its fourth traffic fatality of 1976 Saturday morning when a Millington girl was killed while riding her bicycle on M-15, about a mile and a half south of Millington.

Sheriff's deputies identified the victim as Lee Ann Lugg, 17.

Officers said she was riding north on the highway when she was struck from behind by a car driven by Darrell Gene McRae, 23, of Flint. He was not injured.

Deputies reported that the girl was thrown from the bike and rolled 107 feet along the gravel shoulder of the road following the impact.

Miss Lugg was pronounced dead on arrival at Caro Community Hospital. The accident took place at 8:05 a.m.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Two drivers were uninjured early Wednesday morning, April 14, when their cars collided at the intersection of Main and Seeger Streets in Cass City.

Cass City Police said a northbound vehicle driven by Wilmer Adolph Gettel, 54, of 5556 Severance Rd., Deford, stopped for the flashing red traffic signal at the same time a car driven by Paul Morris Rockwell, 28, of 5585 Germania Rd., Snover, was westbound on Main Street.

The accident took place at 5:30 a.m.

Letter to the Editor

Please return track shoes

Dear Editor, This is an open letter to the parents of someone in Junior High.

Your child may be an athlete but is definitely not a sportsman. Last Tuesday afternoon, April 13, someone stole a gym bag containing new $18.00 red suede track shoes from our son's school locker. They were his birthday gift and had been worn once. His name is in ink on the outside of each shoe.

If your child comes home with new red track shoes he "found" or someone "gave" him, you'd better get it straight before he or she goes on to bigger things.

We would appreciate getting them back; either through the track coach or lost and found at the Intermediate School. (signed) Parents of a disappointed boy education and re-training programs.

Under his direction, communications and investigative facilities have been expanded, including the addition of state-linked teletype lines, a network of direct-line emergency phone systems and a modern communications center which links police with other emergency services.

The sheriff has completed educational programs on a broad range of subjects personally and has also demanded a continuing program of training for his men. Departmental officers have all completed basic police school and are schooled in a broad range of special activities such as auto theft, evidence collection, accident investigation, traffic safety, juvenile matters, drug enforcement, fingerprinting, video tape operations, records, jail and weapons administration.

Marr has remained active in community affairs including the Republican Party, as well as a member of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau for 26 years and a member of the Caro Lions Club for 11 years.

He said he has established a campaign committee which will direct his re-election campaign according to the standards of the new election law.

Open dates frustrating Sun shines as Hawks wait out schedule

It's been beautiful baseball weather all over the Thumb for a solid week. The only frustrating part of it for the Cass City Red Hawk nine is that most of the days have been wasted for the ball players.

The Hawks played a double header scrimmage with Owen-Gage last Tuesday and held a practice Wednesday, but that was it.

The schedule was arranged for open dates last week in the Thumb B Conference as many league schools were off for the week for Easter vacation.

The combination of school vacations preceded by cold weather has restricted the team to just four games this spring . . . none in the Conference.

The Hawks were to have headed into Conference competition Tuesday with a double header against Vassar.

In the pre-season games, the Hawks won a pair from Owen-Gage and lost two to Millington.

The Hawks followed form. They received lusty hitting from Ken Lowe who has banged two homers already this season. The defense has been adequate and the pitching has shown some signs of coming around.

Probably even the most rabid fan is not predicting a championship for the team this season, but as forecast in the pre-season, the Hawks look capable of winning most any game on any given day this year.

Softball meetings set Friday

Boys interested in playing in the Cass City summer softball leagues will have their last chance to sign up Friday, April 23, from 7:00-8:00 p.m. at the Intermediate School Gym.

Boys ages 7-12 are eligible. A meeting of all managers will be held at 7:30 the same evening at the gym.

A meeting of all concerned parents regarding the future of the summer softball program in Cass City will also be held along with the managers meeting.

Funds for the program have reportedly been cut from previous years, it was learned.

Kitts seeks Traxler's seat

Gary R. Kitts has announced that he is seeking the Republican nomination for the 8th Congressional District. He is the third Republican to do so.

GARY R. KITTS

Kitts, a resident of Auburn, recently resigned his position as an engineer for the Michigan Department of Commerce in order to seek the nomination.

Kitts graduated from Bay City St. Joseph High School and served in the U.S. Air Force for three years. He attended Delta College and received an Engineering degree from the University of Michigan and a degree in Finance from Wayne State University.

In making his announcement, Kitts stressed the need to simplify and re-direct government policies. "The time has come for each person to ask if he is receiving a dollar's worth of government services for each dollar he pays in taxes," Kitts said.

Kitts also pointed out the need for comprehensive energy planning by the federal government. "In my work at the Department of Commerce, I was appalled at the inconsistent federal regulation in the energy area. For example, the Environmental Protection Agency ordered power plants burning coal to convert their units to oil at a substantial cost. When this was done, the Federal Energy Administration ordered those same plants to re-convert to coal. All of this cost millions of dollars which is paid for by the average consumer in his utility bills," Kitts charged.

THOUGHTLESSNESS

The unvarnished truth causes much more trouble in the world than a bare-fisted lie.

STEERING COMMITTEE members for the Oct. 5-6 Corn-Sugarbeet Expo include Richard Donahue (left), owner of the farm where the Expo will be held; Jon Garner, Expo Chairman, and William Bortel, Tuscola County Extension Director and event coordinator. Donahue's farm is located 10 miles west of Cass City.

Expect nearly 6,000 Corn-Sugarbeet Expo dates set

Nearly 6,000 Michigan farmers are expected at the first annual Michigan Corn-Sugarbeet Expo, slated for Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 5 and 6, on the Richard Donahue farm, seven miles northeast of Caro. Fifty industrial and farm machinery companies have already signed up for commercial exhibit spaces, where live demonstrations of sugarbeet harvesting and corn shelling and drying can be viewed.

One-hundred and sixty acres of corn and sugarbeet harvesting and tillage demonstrations will be offered at the large show. Also included will be a corn and sugarbeet herbicide show, a corn variety show, an agriculture clinic tent, special women's programs, and several special crop cultural demonstration trials.

The 80-acre sugarbeet harvest demonstration area will feature demonstrations of plowing and disking tillage equipment. Corn farmers will examine 40 acres of corn variety and culture plots, as well as an 80-acre harvest demonstration area for picking and shelling corn.

Because most exhibit space has already been contracted, other potential exhibitors should contact the Corn-Sugarbeet Expo, County Extension Office, Civil Defense Center, Caro 48723 as soon as possible.

Tuscola County Extension Director William Bortel is coordinator of the event, and Expo Chairman is Jon Garner of Vassar. The Donahue farm is located at the corner of Cass City and Remington Roads, and an air strip will be available on the farm, for flying farmers. Camp sites and other housing facilities can be reserved nearby.
