

OWEN-GAGE School District supporters took their message to Lansing Tuesday in hopes of persuading the State Board of Education to deny a pending property transfer and to push for permission to sell bonds to build a new high school building. About 120 persons made the trip.

Owen-Gagers carry plea for district future to Lansing

The State Board of Education was scheduled to take action on a large property transfer request from the Owen-Gage School District at a special meeting beginning at 9:00 a.m. Wednesday in Lansing.

About 120 district residents travelled to Lansing Tuesday to press for denying the transfers and for permission to sell voter-approved bonds for construction of a new high school in Owendale.

The district supporters left Owendale at 7:00 a.m. Tuesday in two chartered busses carrying placards demanding action.

The demonstration was scheduled to take place on the lawn of the State Capitol in Lansing, across the street from State Board of Education offices.

A board source said members were to meet as a committee of the whole Tuesday night and to reconvene in public session Wednesday morning.

A decision has been long-sought by residents of the property in question. An earlier attempt by the group was denied by the state board in 1974.

Valuation of the property is set at about $1,414,000. Approximately 42 property owners and 18 students will be affected by the decision, whichever way the board rules.

One resident of the transfer area who declined to be quoted directly said most of the petitioning land owners feel more confident that they will succeed this time than in 1974.

The optimism is based on the Ellenbaum transfer which took place in May, 1975 and moved about 10 per cent of the Owen-Gage district into the Laker district.

Petitioners are also encouraged by the lack of action by the Municipal Finance Commission in approving the bonds which district residents okayed last December.

Earlier this year, the state board instructed State School Supt. Dr. John Porter to vote against the sale. Porter is a member of the MFC.

Without a unanimous vote of the three commission members, the bond sale request would die.

Some observers see approving the request as opening the gates for more transfers and eventually forcing the district to shut down.

School officials have been equally as confident that they can persuade both the state board and the MFC to refuse the transfers and okay the bond sale.

Supt. Ronald Erickson has described the situation as a "Catch 22". He says the state won't allow the district to build because it isn't accredited and that the school can't become accredited because it hasn't built a new building.

Erickson maintains Owen-Gage is not fighting just for itself but for other small school districts which could find themselves in a similar position.

That was part of Tuesday's message district supporters took to Lansing. It was unknown at press time what the board's decision would be.

Deford man 'serious' after tractor-trailer mishap

A Deford man was listed in serious condition Tuesday in the intensive care unit of St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw after a mobile home rolled over him Friday night on Crawford Road, about three miles south of Cass City.

Floyd Gage, 57, of Decker-ville Rd., Deford, suffered a fractured pelvis along with multiple contusions and abrasions in the freak accident which occurred around 9:00 p.m.

According to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department report, Gage was riding on a farm tractor driven south on Crawford Road by Alfred Raymond Furness, 56, of Mushroom Rd., Deford.

Deputies said Gage was riding on a tow bar at the rear of the tractor when he lost his footing, slipped and was run over by the right wheel of the mobile home.

A witness at the scene said Furness placed Gage inside the trailer and drove to a cleared area where he could pull off and summon help.

Gage was treated initially at Hills and Dales General Hospital before being transferred to St. Luke's.

Cass City Police assisted in the investigation.

Police said Ms. Beach apparently ran a stop sign at the intersection.

Forsyth died en route to Bay City Mercy Hospital. Ms. Beach was treated for cuts and bruises.

Forsyth's death marked the third Huron county fatality of 1976.

A Caro man became Tuscola county's eighth traffic victim of the year around 1:30 a.m. Saturday in a two-car crash on Luder Road, near Caro.

Sheriff's deputies identified the victim as Michael Francis Dixon, 16, driver of one of the autos. Four passengers in the same vehicle were seriously injured. They were identified as Denise Laurimore, 16, Vassar, Gregory Benn, 15, Caro, Timothy John Fortier, 17, Caro, and Wayne Turner, 16, Caro.

They were treated at Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital.

Officers said the Dixon auto was northbound on Luder Road when it collided with a southbound pickup driven by Daniel Mark LaPratt, 16, Caro.

Deputies said the left front ends of both vehicles collided. They noted both were traveling at a high rate of speed and were across the centerline when the crash took place.

bottom, lost control and was thrown.

He was treated at Caro Community Hospital.

Two car-deer accidents were reported. A car driven by Paul Eugene LeValley, 26, Cass City, struck and killed a deer on Doerr Road near Caro.

Concluded on page 9.

POLICE AND AMBULANCE attendants prepare to transfer Floyd Gage, 57, Deford, to Hills and Dales General Hospital after he was run over by the mobile home in the background Friday night. Gage was reported in serious condition in St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw, Tuesday.

Carter beats Udall

Ford breezes to easy Tuscola primary win

The much-heralded Democratic crossover predicted by political experts failed to materialize in Tuscola county and most of Michigan in Tuesday's Presidential Primary, as President Gerald Ford breezed to an easy victory over challenger Ronald Reagan by a 2-1 margin.

Unofficial county totals gave Ford 4,357 votes, compared to Reagan's 2,310. Just over 9,000 of the county's 23,500 eligible voters, or about 30 per cent, cast ballots in Tuesday's election. In 1972, a little over 8,000 voters went to the polls.

On the Democratic side, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter easily outdistanced challenger Morris Udall by a 1,762 to 629 margin. Alabama Gov. George Wallace, the big winner in Tuscola county's Democratic primary four years ago, mustered only 234 votes.

Ford took every precinct. His closest race was in Wells township, where he defeated Reagan by a 48-47 margin.

Elsewhere, it was all Ford. In Elkland township, the President bested Reagan by a 385-152 margin.

Other area townships were staunchly in the Ford camp. Novesta township voters chose Ford 83-63 over Reagan, while in Elmwood township, Ford defeated the GOP challenger 117-58. Ellington township voters chose Ford 104-40 and Kingston township belonged to the President by a 128-59 margin.

The only hint of crossovers came in traditionally Democratic Vassar, where Ford and Reagan received almost three times as many votes as all seven Democrats in the race.

Ford scored heavily in all other townships, outdistancing Reagan by 2-1 in many instances. The President's largest single precinct victory came in Indianfields township, where he garnered 235 votes, compared with Reagan's 86.

township, where the former Georgia governor picked up 149 votes against Udall's 45. Millington township gave Carter 145 votes over Udall's 89.

The Wallace Republican vote of 1972 apparently remained in the GOP column this year with little evidence of a shift to Reagan in Tuscola county.

Wallace, who garnered 2,061 votes in Tuscola county in 1972, managed only 234 this time around. Paralyzed from the waist down since an assassination attempt in Laurel, Md., in 1972, Wallace did little campaigning in Michigan this year.

Other Democratic results showed Henry Jackson with 37 votes, anti-abortionist candidate Ellen McCormack with 27, Fred Harris with 22 and Sargent Shriver with 14.

A total of 46 uncommitted Democrats cast ballots, while 58 uncommitted Republican votes were tallied county-wide.

In Elkland township, other Democratic totals showed Wallace with 19, Shriver with two, McCormack with one and Jackson and Shriver, no votes each.

Wallace picked up only three votes in Ellington township, six in Novesta, seven in Kingston township and four in Elmwood township.

What little strength Wallace had was in Millington township where the Alabama governor received 35 votes.

Smith case decision 6 weeks away

The future of fired Village Patrolman Robert Smith is still hanging in limbo this week following an unfair labor practices hearing held Wednesday, May 12, before Administrative Law Judge Shlomo Sperka in Caro.

In a statement released following the day-long hearing, Village President Lambert Althaver said a decision is not expected for at least six weeks.

Smith has charged he was suspended from the Cass City police force last February after he allegedly told Supt. Lou LaPonsie he intended to organize officers into Teamsters Local 214 of Detroit.

The union assisted in representing Smith at last week's hearing. Both Smith and co-defendants LaPonsie and Police Chief Gene Wilson presented witnesses to support allegations made by each side.

Details of the hearing were not discussed by village officials this week.

"There have been statements made which could be false," Althaver said, commenting on the hearing. "Our main concern is that innocent people don't get hurt."

Attorneys for both sides in the case reportedly must submit written summaries to Sperka before a decision is reached.

Smith has been on indefinite suspension since late February when council voted to relieve the patrolman of his duties in a session closed to the public and the press.

Since that time, village officials have said little of substance regarding the case.

LINDY VANVLIET, 11-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard VanVliet of Cass City, can't seem to make up her mind which candidate to vote for in Tuesday's Presidential Primary election. Unfortunately, her dad had to spoil it all by telling her she's too young to vote. But she'll be ready by the 1996 election.

A few of you can boast that you shook the president's hand after Richard Nixon's visit to Cass City, but Paul Kerbyson was the topper.

He was in Saginaw to see President Ford Sunday and he not only shook the president's hand, he pressed the flesh with the president's daughter and his wife, too.

Tom Proctor, who hosted a group to see the chief executive, failed to be greeted by Mr. Ford but did get to shake hands with Mrs. Ford.

The best that can be said for the Awards Banquet at the school Monday was that it was quick. Two hundred athletes were "feted" in 1 1/2 hours.

Bob Stickle did make a comment that was revealing. He recalled that when he came to the community in 1955 there were four sports offered with 2 coaches. Now there are 26 teams at the school with 23 coaches.

The school is open to suggestions on how to make the awards night better. Everyone has an idea and I just know that you can't wait for mine.

So here it is. At the end of each season, spring, fall and winter hold a banquet for each sport, inviting only the participants and parents. Give out letters and recall the highlight of the season then. Do it individually for each sport with the coach in charge.

At these affairs don't reveal the most valuable player or special awards to individuals. Save it until the "awards night" where extra special recognition can be given to athletes deserving it in every sport and making the night the highlight of the season and one looked forward to by the players.

If Gary Christner comes up and asks to borrow a golf club, beware! Think twice. He borrowed one the other day, swung at the ball off the tee and as far as I can learn the head of the golf club (not the ball, the club) is still in orbit.

Some guys just don't know their own strength.

I will vote Tuesday for Gerald Ford. I'll vote for him not because I feel that he's the greatest . . . but that I feel that Ronald Reagan is a disaster.

His stock with me wasn't much to begin with but when he started saber rattling it hit an all-time low. Like the old gag goes, rank Reagan on a scale of 1 to 10 and he comes up a negative 5.

Ten years ago this week was marked with a special dinner and festivities in Cass City, Gageton and most of the other towns.

In case you've forgotten this is Michigan Week. The observance has dwindled to the point where it seems pointless to continue.

That's when you compare it to what it was. When you compare it to some of the other special events like "Better Breakfast Month" it comes out a little better.

Still, I think beautiful Michigan could survive as well without it.

Board races take shape

Area school board races began shaping up this week for the annual school election

Dorland seeks re-election

Evergreen Township Clerk Otis Dorland said this week he will be a candidate for re-election in the August primary election. Dorland is a Republican.

Other members of the board have yet to formally announce their candidacies.

Deadline for filing petitions for township offices is Tuesday, June 1, at 4:00 p.m., said Dorland.

in June, following the filing of nominating petitions by prospective candidates Monday.

At Cass City, Board President Robert Hirn and trustee Arthur Severance will face challenges from Mrs. Victor Guernsey and Dr. E. Paul Lockwood. The four are seeking two four-year terms on the board.

Hirn is completing his first term on the board, while Severance is finishing his second.

At Owen-Gage, two four-year terms and a one-year term are up for grabs. Seeking re-election is Board President Ronald Good, Owendale, while Donald Cummins, Gageton, is seeking the other four-year slot.

Cummins would replace Fred Cooley, Owendale, who did not seek re-election after 16 years on the board.

Mrs. Leona LaFave, Gageton, who was appointed to the post left vacant by the resignation of long-time trustee Eldon Dietzel, is seeking election to the remaining one year of the term.

FROM THE

Editor's Corner

Most of the time I shun petitions like a bat does light. Petitions supporting causes that is. Naturally, I'll sign a petition for a candidate running for office if I want the person elected. But I won't sign petitions like those that ask for a reduction in taxes now. I won't sign recall petitions. I won't sign school grievance petitions. The same goes for village petitions. They just never seemed to really make sense to me.

But there is one petition that I would be happy to sign. If you see one floating around making throw-away containers against the law in Michigan, hustle it right in, will you?

There's a batch of those petitions going around the State to get enough support for a referendum on the subject. Right now I'll admit that I don't know all there is to know about the question.

I know that as soon as the flask started the bottlers and the can makers started spreading the word about jobs lost due to the change.

I know that returnable bottles can be a huge headache to the stores that handle pop and beer. But I also know that without a law banning the throw-aways there is no chance of keeping Michigan from being inundated with rusty tin cans and cracked and smashed bottles.

Saturday the damage to the environment was driven home again as I toured some of the most beautiful and unspoiled areas of the northern Lower Peninsula. The Pigeon River forest area was alive with morel hunters, fishermen and just plain campers. The Mio-AuSable area was, too. Near Luzerne a campaign was underway to pick up roadside litter.

Volunteers ran up and down the ditches for a few miles picking up what thoughtless slob left behind. I don't know how much they finally collected but as I drove by there were 2 trailers bulging at the seams with debris.

The Boy Scouts perform the same service each year near Grayling as they scour the AuSable and come up with more waste from the river and its banks than the uninitiated would have dreamed possible.

Okay, I'll agree that a law forcing the use of returnable bottles won't stop the unthinking minority from scarring up our most precious heritage. But it will help.

Bottles and cans just don't disintegrate. Most other refuse will finally decompose. It's unfortunate that we can't put the blame where it belongs . . . on the litter hogs. And make them pay.

But policing this is impossible. So we have to try the next best thing. Control the source. So if you see one of those petitions, I say again, grab it and bring it in.

And on the way, why not sign it yourself?

"If It Fitz . . ."

Does anyone else care?

BY JIM FITZGERALD

The newspaper article said Dr. Joseph Denniston had resigned as superintendent of Oakdale Center, Michigan's largest mental institution, because of poor health.

"That's a lot of bull," I said to myself.

So I asked the doctor. He admitted it was 50 per cent bull.

His health could be better. But half of the reason he quit is because he's fed up and frustrated with the leadership and philosophy of a Mental Health Dept. which does not have "a sincere concern for citizens confronted with problems of mental illness or mental retardation."

Dr. Denniston said the state's mental patients are "belittled, humiliated and degraded" by crummy facilities and lousy administration from the department's top executives in Lansing. He was slow to name names, but there is no question that most of his criticism was aimed at Dr. Don Smith, a pediatrician who has headed the Mental Health Dept. since June of 1974.

Recent horror stories in the headlines described the neglect of patients in private nursing homes. Allegedly untended patients have drowned in bathtubs, or fallen from windows, or been beaten to death. One of the reasons the nursing home business is booming these days is because so many mental patients are being discharged from state mental institutions and "released into the community." They still need constant care and some of them are not getting it in nursing homes where the bookkeeping gets more attention than the patients. Usually, taxpayers pick up the tab.

It was a year ago that Dr. Denniston told me too many retarded persons were being forced out of public hospitals before they were ready, and before the community was ready to give them proper care. "I'm afraid an injustice is being done the patient in some cases," he said.

Last week the doctor was specific about who is to blame for these injustices. "The decisions as to which patients should be released are made by the central office. They should be made by the institution which is caring for the patient," he said.

The premature release of mental patients is only one of Dr. Denniston's complaints against the hierarchy of the Mental Health Dept. But all of his gripes run along the same theme: Dr. Smith and other top level management ignore the opinions of their employees "on the battle lines" who deal directly with the mental patients. So the most important decisions are made by the most ignorant executives.

Dr. Denniston admits he has "a reputation for being quite outspoken." His big problem is that he really gives a damn about mentally ill and retarded persons. If you give a damn, you should listen to what he is outspoken about.

His credentials are impressive. Before coming to Michigan, he was superintendent of state mental hospitals in Tennessee, Delaware and Indiana. He was asst. director of the Mich. Dept. of Mental Health and chief of state hospitals in Caro and Kalamazoo. He has been running Oakdale, formerly the Lapeer State Home, for the past year. But now, after a long career in the mental health field, the 61-year-old doctor is chucking it to take a paper job with the State Dept. of Education.

The source of Dr. Denniston's discontent is underlined by what he says about the man Dr. Smith replaced as chief of the Mental Health Dept. E. Gordon Yudashkin used to have the job. "Yudashkin was in constant touch with the superintendents. You could talk to him. He gave you an answer," Dr. Denniston said.

Obviously, he feels the opposite is true of Dr. Smith who is aware of Dr. Denniston's charges. So far he has not publicly responded.

"People handicapped by mental disabilities are not mere social security numbers, nor are they inanimate objects to be dealt with through a variety of electronic computers, data banks or calculators." Dr. Denniston said. "Leadership or philosophy within any mental health system which demands that its clients meet the criteria of the system rather than the system meeting the criteria or needs of the client is universally ineffective. Unless a mental health system is dedicated completely to serving the needs of its clients, it should not be allowed to continue in existence."

Dr. Denniston added that "disorganization, confusion and bewilderment at the top level" causes poor morale among lower level employees.

Last week the Clinton Valley mental health center at Pontiac lost its accreditation. It was cited by a hospital commission for various violations, such as unsanitary conditions and understaffing. State Sen. Joseph Snyder (D-St. Clair Shores) immediately said conditions are worse at Oakdale. I asked Dr. Denniston if he agreed.

"Certainly I agree," he said. But Oakdale doesn't have to worry about losing accreditation. It never had any. "Oakdale doesn't qualify . . . it doesn't meet any standards. No one would ever accredit it."

Which is just dandy for the 1,500 patients at Oakdale. Dr. Denniston, who gives a damn, has quit in frustration. Does anyone else give a damn?

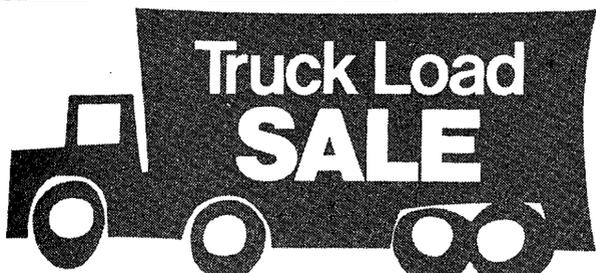

The hope of the future lies with our own boys and girls.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Fishing tackled me

By Jim Ketchum

After my last fishing trip, it's doubtful anybody will ask me along again. Especially when they see my scars.

I hadn't been fishing in three years when Rev. Harry Capps invited me along on a trip to Grindstone City. He obviously had never been out in a boat with me before and was unaware what it could be like. When it was over, I'm sure he re-evaluated everything he learned in seminary.

Anyway, I said sure, why not. The first thing I had to do was remember which end of the rod has that funny little crank on it—the one that holds the line.

Buried among the garden filler, lawn mower, power saw and tool boxes in my garage, I scrounged up a fly rod and a tackle box that Columbus brought over on the Santa Maria.

The next thing was a license, which cost $5.25. Nothing to this, I thought, it'll all come back to me once we hit the water.

It came back, all right. The reasons why I never went fishing came back. Who can remember what all those funny hooks, lures, flies, sinkers and leaders are supposed to catch besides beer cans and rocks?

No fish with half an ounce of brains would have bitten anything I had with me. I was set up either for minnows or muskellunge—nothing in between. The longer I stared at the box, the longer I kept waiting for it all to come back to me. It never did.

After 20 minutes, I still hadn't figured out how to attach the sinker. That's when the good pastor told me you didn't use sinkers when you fly fish.

Of course, I shot back. I was just testing you.

Finally, he handed me a funny-looking spoon-shaped object with a hook in the end. This was supposed to catch fish? Sure, he said. Guaranteed. So who's going to argue with a man of the cloth?

We managed to get the boat in the water and headed about a half-mile off shore. It was a cold, windy day with at least 20-foot waves. I found out later they were 1-2 feet, but you could have fooled me.

My hands hadn't gotten that cold in four years and within 20 minutes, I'd gotten that stupid lure caught on a rock and broke the line—inside the reel.

All this happened just after I got the hook caught in my left thigh.

We headed in and that's when the fun really began. Ever try pulling a boat and trailer up a sand dune toward a car parked 50 yards away? After about 10 minutes of this nonsense, we both fell into hysterical laughter. I could see the police finding two skeletons six months from now, pulling at the trailer.

We inched our way out of the water until the pastor decided to back the car onto the beach sand. Wrong. I never saw anything sink so fast since I watched a movie about the Titanic.

Just as the radio antenna was going out of sight, two men with a pickup and a rope drove up. They only shook their heads, took a rope from their truck and proceeded to pull us out.

When I got home, the first thing my wife asked me was how many fish we caught. I threw my tackle box at her and went into the bathroom where I drowned my wounds in iodine.

Then I flushed my funny-looking lures down the toilet.

Sanilac plea for more CETA funding fails

The Thumb Area Consortium gave its okay to a $83,000 extension of the current Title I work experience program operated through the Human Development Commission during a meeting held at Cass City Thursday morning.

The approval came following a discussion and plea by Leonard Hool, grant researcher and Sanilac County CETA advisor, not to commit the entire amount to HDC.

Hool and Sanilac county members of the Consortium were interested in gaining additional funding for CETA public service programs that could run short of funds before the new fiscal year begins next October.

The additional funding still leaves $100,000 in uncommitted Title I CETA funds labeled as "transition quarter" monies.

The federal government is changing its fiscal year to end in September instead of June and the additional monies are designed to carry the CETA programs until the new year begins.

Hool said police officers, for instance, employed through CETA in several Sanilac county villages could be laid off if more public service employment money wasn't made available. He urged the board not to automatically award the $83,000 to HDC.

"Work experience may be important but I'm more concerned about breadwinners in Croswell, Carsonville and Port Sanilac than I am with work experience people getting $2.30 an hour," Hool told the board.

Consortium Director Frank Lenard explained that work experience is valuable because it takes persons without a marketable skill and gives them the feel for a job and helps develop work habits.

The board okayed the additional grant to HDC, with Sanilac county Cmmr. Lloyd Severance, Decker, casting the lone no vote. Sanilac Cmmr. Sam Work, Croswell, a member of the HDC board of directors, voted for the grant.

Currently, 144 persons in the tri-county area are employed in work experience jobs which pay minimum wage. The jobs are designed to be temporary and help prepare a worker to either enter the labor force with a job skill or prepare them for classroom training.

Lenard said the remaining $100,000 will probably not be allocated for another month.

In other business, the board accepted the resignation of file clerk Elaine J. Kozan and approved hiring a replacement. Salary for the job is expected to be $6,000 after a six-month probationary period.

It was reported that so far in fiscal year 1976, a total of $750,483.57 has been spent by the consortium in various Title I programs, with $582,592.91 remaining. A total of 232 persons were participating in the program at the end of April.

Under Title II, a total of $550,022.22 has been spent during the fiscal year, with $139,509.84 remaining. Seventy-five persons were employed in Title II public service jobs in three-county area at the end of April.

Under Title VI, $1,316,668.25 has been spent in public service jobs during the present fiscal year, with $559,384.37 remaining. At the end of April, 263 persons were employed in Title VI jobs in the tri-counties.

Under Title X, a Port Hope park project, $3,000.00 has been spent, with $26,696.37 remaining. Six persons are employed on the project.

Since the 1976 fiscal year began, total consortium spending has hit $3,120,177.67, with $1,687,925.49 remaining. A total of 576 persons are currently employed in all Thumb Area Consortium CETA programs.

Health

Beginning June 1, senior citizens of Tuscola county will be offered a new service which can help insure their health. The Thumb District Health Department, in cooperation with the Commission on Aging, will begin a Health Screening Program, which will be set up on an appointment basis only.

The nurses of the health screening team will provide routine health tests which will determine if a person needs to see a physician. All participating senior citizens will be tested for diabetes, high blood pressure, vision and hearing, height and weight, and anemia. Counseling will be available and any serious health problems uncovered in the course of the screening will be referred to a physician.

According to Joyce Parker, R.N., the program coordinator, "The clinic is designed to provide early detection of some potentially dangerous, but treatable diseases." Mrs. Parker also stated, "The key to curing, treating, or even avoiding some diseases is early detection." It is a well-known fact that the earlier some chronic diseases, such as diabetes and hypertension, are found, the better chance the person has of leading a long and healthy life.

The service is free. If health problems are discovered, the Commission on Aging may provide transportation to the physician's office, if necessary.

Any senior citizen who feels that he or she might have a physical problem, or desires health screening, is urged to contact Ronald Cassie, of the Commission on Aging, (673-4175) for an appointment with the screening clinic. The Senior Citizens' Screening Clinic is located at 147 W. Lincoln St., Caro.

BETTER HEALTH

Poison on the air

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

It is difficult to complain seriously of or raise important objections to a television commercial recommending a glue that will both tighten the gum grip of dentures and sweeten the breath of the user.

If the glue does what is promised, it may be a blessing indeed. If it fails to perform, no major harm is done. The potential buyers are probably well enough accustomed to minor disappointments.

But commercial messages which promise to loosen sluggish bowels, treat the flu, put you to sleep or wake you up are quite another matter.

In the same category are those which equate marriages made in heaven with the daily popping of potentially dangerous mixtures of iron and vitamins.

Equally disturbing are the low-keyed, often bespectacled father figures who intone reassuring accounts of occupational and social anxiety quelled by an oh-so-scientifically compounded pill. The pill's very name conveys an image of tranquillity and contentment.

It is a matter of serious medical concern that indiscriminate advice to gobble iron pills could precipitate an iron overload in a significant segment of the population subject to poisoning by too much iron.

On the other hand, if by chance you really lack iron, it is little short of criminal not to advise investigation of the cause of the blood loss responsible for the lack of iron.

It is an equally well-documented fact that overloading with vitamins A and D carries specific threats to the well-being of both young and old.

It is no service to the public health when such nostrums are identified on the air with madonna-like overtones of mother love. Nor is it quite decent to suggest that honeymoon giddiness never dwindles in middle-aged marriages blessed by such pill popping.

The same holds for the slick use of adjectives such as "gentle," or "lady-like," or "he-man," or "toddlers," or otherwise suggestively described laxatives that are almost never advisable for human consumption. Or, if they are, they should certainly not be taken on the recommendation of an actor or actress, no matter how clearly made-up and costumed to convey an air of authority.

It should be a matter of public concern when the effectiveness of assorted pain killers and sinus flushers is made vivid by animated curves which leap before your eyes to the therapeutic upper reaches of calibrated charts.

It's all done with the bogus authority of an illustrated shell game.

A recent survey held that one out of every eight commercial messages on television is devoted to extolling the uses of over-the-counter, do-it-yourself remedies for real and imagined ailments.

All in all, there is said to be a $300-million business in drugs to banish pain or calm your nerves, thereby surrounding you with crowds of loving admirers.

The dollars involved make it abundantly clear that there will be vigorous opposition to any effort to stop this profitable con game. But at this moment in the history of the public health, when it is possible as never before to diagnose precisely and treat specifically, we can no longer put up with this vast, vicious and expensive abuse of the public trust.

Your neighbor says

I'd serve willingly

A notice for jury duty in the mail can send shivers through most of us and often makes us look for any excuse we can find to get out of serving. Would you willingly serve on a jury?

Ms. Donna Fassett of Cass City says she would serve.

"I think it's an obligation to serve on a jury," she says. "Too many of us don't want to participate and it puts a greater burden on others to get involved."

Ms. Fassett said she has never been called to serve, but added that if she were called, she would serve willingly. In a serious case, such as murder, Ms. Fassett said jury duty would not be as easy.

"It would make you feel a little uneasy," she agreed. "I think I would have to build my resolve to give the defendant as fair and impartial a hearing as possible. I know if I were on the other side of the table, I'd want as impartial a jury as I could get."

Ms. Fassett has lived in Cass City about a year. She is employed by the Tuscola County Department of Mental Health.

She is single.

Unionville man sentenced

A Unionville man was sentenced to fines and jail Monday when he appeared before Judge Norman Baguley in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Randy Lee Baker, 19, was sentenced to three years' probation, fines and costs totaling $400 and three months in the Tuscola County Jail after entering a guilty plea to a larceny charge.

In addition, Baker was ordered to pay court-appointed attorney fees along with $320 in restitution.

Baker was charged with taking a rifle and a shotgun from the Cornerstone Bar in Unionville last Oct. 6. He will receive credit for one day already served in jail.

Sentencing for Paul Lamb, Portland, on a charge of fraudulent conversion of funds, was delayed. Judge Baguley did sentence Lamb to pay $200 in court costs spread over a year's time.

He was convicted by a jury following his arrest last October in Almer township. He was charged with converting $450 to his own use.

John Merritt Springer, 22,

Otisville, was arraigned on a charge of cruel punishment of a child. He stood mute and an innocent plea was entered in his behalf.

Pre-trial examination was set for June 14, and a $2,000 bond was continued.

Springer was arrested following an incident last Feb. 25 involving a 3 1/2-month-old child.

Ernest J. Terbush, 47, Mayville, was arraigned on a similar charge. He entered a guilty plea which was accepted by the court. Sentencing was set for June 14, and a $2,000 bond was continued.

Terbush was arrested following an April 3 incident involving a six-year-old youth.

A bench warrant was scheduled to be issued for Clifford York, 29, Caro, after he failed to appear in court on a probation violation charge.

York, who was involved in a traffic accident that took the life of Delbert D. Esekelson in October of 1974, was charged with failure to make full payments of court-ordered obligations.

Hoffman seeks seventh term

State Representative Quincy Hoffman (R-Applegate) announced this week that he will seek re-election to the Michigan Legislature.

Hoffman will be seeking his seventh term in the Legislature, and was first elected in 1964. Previously, Hoffman served five terms as Sheriff of Sanilac county.

He represents the 77th District, which comprises counties of Sanilac, Huron and parts of St. Clair and Lapeer.

In seeking re-election, Hoffman said if re-elected he would continue to serve the people of his district to the best of his ability and stated that he appreciates the support and confidence of the people of his district shown him in the past.

Hoffman serves as vice-chairman of the Agriculture Committee and is a member of the Taxation, Public Safety, Labor and Joint Administrative Rules Committees. He also serves as chairman of the House Republican Agriculture Task Force.

He is considered the leading agricultural spokesman of the House Republicans and has worked extensively in the past three years on the PBB problem and has succeeded in obtaining passage of legislation assisting the affected farmers.

Because of Hoffman's past experience in law enforcement, he is considered one of the more influential members of the House in the field of law enforcement and traffic safety and has sponsored and secured passage of several laws strengthening the enforcement area.

Rep. Hoffman and his wife, Marian, reside in Applegate. They are the parents of two married children.

Shortcuts

are out

Scooting through someone's driveway or parking lot may be a shortcut around a traffic light or stop sign. But it could also land you in trouble.

Gov. William Milliken recently signed legislation making it illegal for a driver to avoid a light or stop sign by driving through private property at an intersection.

Previously, it had been illegal for a person to avoid a stop light by driving through a gas station driveway or shopping center.

Students in conservation tour

Many fifth grade students in most Tuscola county schools had the opportunity to study and expand their knowledge of conservation in the 4-H School Conservation project. There were two county schools who went beyond their class room to participate in a special field trip to check out and add to what they had learned in the classroom. The schools involved were Cass City on the morning of May 11, and Caro in the afternoon of May 11. The field stops were in Almer township in sections 28 and 20.

This program was sponsored by Bernard Jardt of the Cooperative Extension Service 4-H office in cooperation with the Tuscola County Soil Conservation District and the State Department of Natural Resources. The tour included a soil stop conducted by Don Kehler, Extension Agriculture Agent; a waterway control stop conducted by Bill Siems, Soil Conservation office; a wildlife habitat stop conducted by Bud Jarvis, D.N.R., and a woodland stop conducted by the D.N.R.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Laud Deford

teachers

Dear John,

Last night I attended an original bicentennial program at the Deford School.

It was a delightful production. The teachers and Mr. Lovejoy, their principal, are to be commended for their efforts. But, the best of all were the students who played their parts with great enthusiasm.

The Deford School is to be congratulated on their fine bicentennial program and school spirit.

Geraldine Prieskorn

POSING WITH just a few of the many displays at the Deford School bicentennial program held Tuesday night are (from the left) Connie Marotz, Jeff Spry, Lori Sawdon and Tammy Roach. Students also completed art and writing projects. An original play was also performed.

Deny Owen-Gage accreditation

See related story, Page one

The Owen-Gage School district has been denied accreditation by the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services because of its existing high school building.

In announcing the denial Thursday morning, Supt. Ronald Erickson said the school has been placed in a "vicious circle" and called the situation a "no-win proposition".

"We're being denied accreditation because we don't have an adequate high school building and we're also being denied the right to build a new building," Erickson said. "It puts us in a hell of a state."

Erickson said the district is being thwarted in spite of the fact that voters okayed a $1.675 million bond issue to construct a new high school building last December. Since then, the State Board of Education has gone on record as advising State School Supt. Dr. John Porter to vote against allowing the bonds to be sold.

Porter is a member of the Municipal Finance Commission which must okay the bond sale.

To date the MFC has stalled on making a decision while it waits for a Michigan Environmental Review Board certificate. No certificates are presently being issued.

Erickson said the accreditation report indicated that the committee was favorably impressed with the work the district has done toward accreditation and that if a building is completed, accreditation is almost assured.

Depressing sight, isn't it? And what is it we say when something old, familiar, once-cherished, once-useful has succumbed to the ravages of time? It served its purpose!

Could all the churches in our town someday look like this?
 They could!
 Maybe they will . . .
 if they have served their purpose . . .
 if we don't need them anymore!

Even if you haven't been to church recently, I think you'll protest that we DO need our churches. We need the truth they teach — the faith they instill — the hope they inspire — the God-given strength with which they undergird our life.

This is the very point: We ALL need our churches.
 And to bring ALL of us to realize and fulfill our need . . .
 That is their purpose!

Cass City BPW attends convention

More than 900 career women gathered in Southfield May 14-16 when the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held its 58th annual convention.

The Cass City chapter of the organization was represented at the convention by the president, Martha Putnam and members Helen Bartle, Grace Nemeth, Clara Gaffney, and Irene Schwaderer.

The Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club is affiliated with the Michigan Federation, founded in 1919, and with the National Federation of approximately 170,000 members in more than 3,800 clubs which are located in every Congressional District, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The three-day convention calendar included a Sunday morning worship service during which the deceased members of the federation were remembered in a memorial ceremony; Miss Laura Bigelow was honored by the Cass City chapter.

Bean research grant gets okay

The bean industry of Michigan received some very good news from Washington this week, as the House subcommittee on Agriculture included $792,500 for bean research in its allocation to the USDA-Agricultural Research Service. Congressman Bob Traxler of Michigan's 8th District notified Maynard D. Brownlee, secretary-manager of the Michigan Bean Commission, that Rep. Jamie L. Whitten of Mississippi, chairman of the subcommittee, had included the bean money in the list of priorities. Congressman Traxler is a member of the subcommittee.

The Michigan Bean Commission, together with the California Dry Bean Advisory Board and the Idaho Bean Commission, have cooperated during the past two years to get a research funding program approved. The three bodies have functioned as the National Dry Bean Research Institute.

Traxler told Brownlee that the full Ag Committee is expected to approve the allocation within the next two weeks, and that it will probably reach the House floor by mid-June. Then it will go to the Senate and should be on President Ford's desk by early September.

The $792,500 is more than $150,000 above the budget requested by US DA-ARS, and will make possible an expanded program to improve productivity of beans, Brownlee explained. Since considerable work in that area has been done at Michigan State University through sponsorship of bean producers, through the Commission, Brownlee said he is hopeful that yield improvement work will be conducted at MSU. "The wide fluctuations in bean yield have long been one of the growers' greatest problems," he said, "and now, with federal assistance, perhaps these can be minimized."

Name 3 to state Special Olympics meet

Cass City Special Olympic students came away with a bevy of first and second place ribbons at Saturday's regional games held at Stamatias Field in Caro.

Gina Goldspink led the way with five first place ribbons in her age bracket while Sue Keyser racked up four first place awards. They will be joined by Dean Keyser at the State Special Olympics scheduled June 3-5 at Mt. Pleasant.

According to Jan Finkbeiner, special education teacher at Cass City, the school is allowed to send three students to the Mt. Pleasant competition. Whether or not a student advances is not based on the number of events won but on a percentage based on the number of students attending.

A total of 382 participated from schools in Region X (Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties). Mrs. Finkbeiner said. Five students from the elementary and intermediate schools and eight from the high school represented Cass City.

RESULTS

220-yd. dash--Lois Hazelton, first; Sue Keyser, Mike Corl, Garry Nanney and Dan Keyser, second.

50-yd. dash--Dan Keyser, Gina Goldspink and Sue Keyser, first; Lois Hazelton, Mike Corl and Garry Nanney, second.

440-yd. dash--Gina Goldspink, first; Dan Keyser, second.

Bowling--Sue Keyser, first; Beth Perlacki, third.

Gymnastics--Gina Goldspink, first; Sue Keyser, second and Lois Hazelton, third.

Ball throw--Lois Hazelton, Sue Keyser, Gina Goldspink and Garry Nanney, first; Mike Corl, second.

Long jump--Sue Keyser, Dan Keyser, Garry Nanney and Gina Goldspink, first; Lois Hazelton, second and Mike Corl, third.

Participation ribbons went to Dan Scott and Craig Kamrad.

CO-WINNERS of the award for outstanding senior woman athlete-scholar at the school were Colleen Leslie and Kim Downing. Colleen played two years of varsity softball and volleyball while Kim played two years of varsity basketball and softball and was a member of the cheerleading squad. Presenting the award is Ms. Brenda Breidinger, left, to Colleen and Kim.

THERE WASN'T any surprise Monday evening when Ken Lowe, left, was selected for the Paul Smarks award for outstanding senior athlete-student at Cass City High School. Lowe was All-Conference for two years in basketball, a year in football and All-Conference in baseball. He's almost a certain choice to repeat in baseball again this spring. Presenting the award is Jerry Toner, last year's winner.

Hawks split Hatchet, Laker twin bills

Cass City split two double-headers in Thumb B Conference baseball action last week in games against the Lakers and Bad Axe.

If the Hawks could have just erased the first inning in the games at Bad Axe it would have been a real fine afternoon last Tuesday, May 11.

It was the fatal first that cost them one of the games and made them rally to win the other.

In the opener the Hatchets jumped on Ken Lowe for a hit and a couple of walks sandwiched around a boot to score four runs.

But Cass City came charging back with two runs in the second, four more in the third and then salted the game away with a six-run rally in the fifth. The final score was 13-7.

History almost repeated itself in the nightcap. This time the Hatchets jumped off to a five-run lead in the first off Mike Gruber.

Cass City kept chipping away at the lead with single runs in the first and third, a pair in the fifth and a single run in the final frame... but that was one run short as the Hatchets scored again in the fourth for the counter that gave them the victory, 6-5.

The Hawks outhit the Hatchets nine to six, but Gruber's six walks proved to be too many. Gruber struck out 9.

LAKER GAMES

The Lakers made the most of four hits in the opener Thursday to register a 6-3 decision over the Hawks.

Cass City had jumped out to an early lead in the first on a hit, walk and error and things looked rosy until the fourth. That's when the Lakers exploded for five runs on just two hits to hand Lowe the defeat. The Hawks threatened in the final inning but three hits netted just one run and the rally fell short.

The Hawks won the nightcap. When Mike Gruber is good, he is very, very good. When he's bad... well, that's another story.

Against the Lakers he was good. And as a result Cass City won a beautiful ballgame, 1-0.

Gruber held the Lakers hitless for the first three innings. He allowed harmless hits in the fourth and fifth.

In the sixth the first batter doubled and the potential tying run was on second with nobody out.

Coach Ron Nurnberger sent Lowe in relief as Gruber's arm tightened and he shut the door to preserve the victory.

Hawks split conference meet tune-ups

Cass City tuned up for the Thumb B Conference and regional track meets with a pair of conference clashes last Wednesday and Friday, losing 72-60 Wednesday to Frankenmuth and topping Marlette Friday, 68 1/2-63 1/2.

Cass City split first place finishes with Frankenmuth right down the middle, each school winning eight events. But the Eagle's depth proved decisive in the meet.

Top point producer was Frankenmuth's B. Frank. He took the 120-yard high hurdles and the 100 and 220-yard dashes for the Eagles.

The Eagles also swept two events, taking all the points in the shot put and the high hurdles.

The winners were:

Discus - Calkins, F. 108'6".
Shot put - Frohm, F. 45'7 1/2".

Mile relay - Frankenmuth, Pavlicek, Duolos, Walz, Veitengruber. 3:37.4.

440 relay - Cass City. 46.5.

MARLETTE MEET

Cass City needed a win in the final two relay events to defeat Marlette and the Red Hawks did it.

While lack of depth cost the Hawks a chance for a win against the Eagles, the second and third place finishes the Hawks compiled were enough to turn the tables on the Red Raiders.

Cass City won first in just six events while the visitors were able to win 10. The Hawks swept the shot put, the only sweep of the meet.

The winners were:
Discus - Mills, M. 109'7 1/2".
Shot put - Michalski, CC. 41'1".

Long jump - Chapin, M. 20'8 1/2".

High jump - Haire, CC. 6'0".

Put it all together Hawk girls zip by Frankenmuth

Cass City's Girls' Softball team finally put a solid defense and timely hitting together for the first time all season and breezed to an easy 13-2 win over Frankenmuth Tuesday at Frankenmuth.

The Hawks connected for 10 hits, nine of them singles, and committed only two errors, while the Frankenmuth squad came up with 18 miscues.

Hawk starter Mary Fleming went all the way for her fifth win against one loss. She struck out six and walked three.

Frankenmuth hurler Penny Cleary walked seven and struck out seven in taking the loss.

The Hawks put the game out of reach with five runs in the third inning and three more in the sixth, while the Eagles tallied their two runs in the first and fourth innings.

The win brought the Hawks record to 6-2 overall and 4-2 in the conference.

Coach Kally Maharg said the squad played its best defense all year and showed they could win on the field as well as at the plate.

She also announced that the Hawks will take on Marlette in district tournament play June 4 at Deckerville. They then play the winner of the Lakers-Bad Axe game. Marlette defeated the Hawks earlier this year, 13-10.

The squad's next regular season game is May 25 at Caseville.
