

New field lights will glow at village park, board rules

The Cass City School Board Monday night authorized the expenditure of $62,900 for new lights at the football field at Cass City Recreational Park as soon as a lease with the village is signed.

The amount was the low bid from among four received Monday and was submitted by LeMier Company of Clio.

The bid was for lights on steel poles. After accepting the bid, the school board reviewed the pending lease agreement, suggested a couple of minor changes and is expected to come to formal agreement with the village in the near future.

The lease is for 25 years with an option to renew it for an additional 25 years. It calls for all maintenance to be the responsibility of the school. It is expected that the poles can be ready for installation in four weeks and be available for the fall football season.

The vote was 5-1 in favor, with Dr. Edward Scollon voting against and J.D. Tuckey absent.

The football field lights was just one of several actions concerning athletics at the school. Athletic Director announced changes in the coaching staff for 1976-77.

Ron Nurnberger has resigned as head baseball coach and will be replaced by Don Schelke. Dale McIntosh has given up junior varsity basketball and Jim Mastie will take the job. Handling freshmen basketball in Mastie's place will be Eric Wilmore.

Mike Ahrens will handle the 7th and 8th grade basketball squads.

Nurnberger will be the cross country coach, a new sport that starts this fall. Wilmore will replace Roland Pakonen, who resigned as assistant track coach.

Other changes in the teaching staff were approved Monday. There will be three new teachers at Evergreen. Linda Jean Baer will teach grades four and five. Karen Hurt will handle the first grade and Doug Hall was hired for the fifth and sixth grades.

In another action affecting Evergreen school, the board okayed the purchase of a 12-horsepower tractor and mower from Rabideau Motors for $1,446.00. The bid was the lower of two received.

TUITION POLICY

The board reviewed the school's position on land transfers into the district and the acceptance of tuition students.

The policy was and still is to accept property into the district if it is approved by appropriate State agencies. Tuition students have also been accepted at the lowest possible fee rate until such time as school crowding becomes a factor. The exception to the rule, Crouse said, is problem students which have been denied admittance.

The board or the authorities have not solicited either land or students for the district, under the present policy, Crouse said.

OTHER PROBLEMS

Because there is not enough interest in the summer study program it is likely it will be abandoned next year and a remedial reading program instigated.

Both programs use Federal funds and the school is having trouble justifying the $88,000 that is Cass City's allocation for the program, Mrs. Bernard Freiburger told the board.

At the request of the superintendent, an addition to the custodial staff was okayed. He will be called a maintenance supervisor and will enable a division of work by schools.

Crouse revealed that the school is eligible for a worker under the CETA program where the trainee as a custodian will be paid from Federal funds.

The board instructed Crouse to hire the man providing he has more than about six months left to work under the program.

Fire destroyed barn

Springport Bindery
Springport, MI 49284

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a 24 by 24-foot barn at the Norman Hurd residence on Shabbona Road, seven and a half miles southwest of Cass City, Tuesday afternoon.

Elkland Township Fire Chief Jim Jezewski said a cow, a horse and two calves were lost in the blaze which was reported around 1:15 p.m.

Jezewski said Hurd discovered the fire and summoned help, but by the time firemen arrived at the scene, the structure was a total loss. A total of $10,000 damage was done, he said.

High winds hampered fire-fighting efforts, he stated. Firemen stood by to keep flames from spreading over tinder-dry ground nearby.

The department was at the scene until about 3:00 p.m.

The fire marked the third time in a week that Elkland firemen had been called out. Thursday, June 10, and again Sunday morning, fire of unknown origin broke out at the Cass City landfill, located a half-mile south of Cass City.

The Thursday fire broke out around 6:00 p.m., while the Sunday blaze was reported at 9:00 a.m.

Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie said this week burning at the landfill, with the exception of brush and tree limbs, is prohibited. He said an investigation was underway to determine who set the fires.

Violators could be subject to fines under village statutes, he said.

A Department of Natural Resources officer was at the scene of Thursday's fire. The DNR is the licensing agency for the landfill.

Caro youth drowns in gravel pit

A six-year-old Caro youth became Tuscola county's first drowning victim of 1976 last Wednesday, June 9, following a swimming accident at a gravel pit four miles east of Caro on State Dayton Road.

Caro State Police identified the victim as Christopher Lee Campbell.

According to the report, the youth dove off a rock in the gravel pit and swam around a bend, out of the sight of his grandmother who was watching him.

When her calls were not answered, she walked around the bend and saw him being pulled from the water by Sharon Percy of Elmwood Road, Cass City.

Officers said a faint pulse was detected and the boy was rushed to Caro Community Hospital where he was later pronounced dead.

Police said the boy was found face-down in the water. It was not known how long his face had been below the surface.

Officers were called to the scene around 6:25 p.m.

ELKLAND TOWNSHIP firemen work to contain a fire that destroyed a 24 by 24-foot barn at the Norman Hurd residence on Shabbona Road, seven and a half miles southwest of Cass City, Tuesday. A cow, two calves and a horse were destroyed. About $10,000 damage was done, firemen said. (Neitzel Photo).

Hospital faces cash crunch, trustees told

Board members of Hills and Dales General Hospital got a look at the tightening financial picture of the facility during their annual meeting held Tuesday, June 8, at the hospital.

According to figures presented at the meeting, the hospital lost $34,000, compared to a cash surplus of $126,000 reported last year.

Jim Bauer, board president, said the problem involves restrictions on hospital income, higher operating costs and pressures for expansion.

Bauer explained that the average cost per patient day at Hills and Dales has jumped from $116 last year to $153 this year. Combined with Blue Cross-Blue Shield's policy of paying the hospital its costs based on last year's figures plus 10 per cent, no matter how much is spent, this increases the problem, he said.

"This is really putting us in a financial squeeze," Bauer said.

Bauer said the hospital had to lay aside $80,000 to pay back to Blue Cross, Medicare and Medicaid when payments exceeded charges for services.

This year's financial report shows $61,495 in uncollectable debts and in free service as well, Bauer said. Under its operating rules, the facility must offer a certain amount of free care to persons who could not otherwise afford it, he explained.

The report also showed that the average length of stay at the hospital dropped from 6.96 days in 1974-75 to 6.10 days in 1975-76.

Total patient days dropped from 16,096 to 14,559 this year. Average number of patients per day at the facility dropped from 44.10 in 1974-75 to 39.78 this year.

FUND RAISING

Bauer said the hospital is facing two expensive building priorities that may include the need to start a local fund-raising campaign for the facility.

"We are facing remodeling of the existing hospital that will probably run about $210,000," he said. "Our next priority is to expand our outpatient services with a new clinic that will cost between $310,000 and $360,000."

"Personally I feel there should be a fund established to finance this project," he said.

Bauer said a local fund-raising campaign would help avoid high costs of borrowing. Bauer said the hospital presently owes $261,000 from the wing constructed in 1972. He said if another half-million dollars were borrowed, chances are good the entire indebtedness would have to be refinanced at a higher rate than the hospital is currently paying.

Officers for the 1976-77 year were chosen at a meeting held Tuesday. Re-elected were James Bauer, president; Mrs. E.C. Fritz, vice-president; B.A. Calka, treasurer, and secretary, Carolyn Martin.

George Jacoby and Lee Rabideau were elected as trustees.

Field millage loses at polls

Voters in the Cass City School District turned down a proposal to construct a new athletic field behind the high school Monday, as they defeated a 1.2 mill levy to finance the project by a 493-308 margin.

Elected also re-elected trustee Arthur Severance and named Dr. E. Paul Lockwood to the board.

Unofficial returns show Severance as top vote-getter with 435 votes. Lockwood with 379, incumbent trustee Robert Hirn with 371 and challenger Mrs. Alice Guernsey with 332.

The vote set the machinery in motion toward major renovations of the football field and track at the village park, following the signing of a lease with village authorities.

A tentative agreement has already been reached on a lease. Village President Lambert Althaver said Tuesday he sees a final agreement "reasonably soon".

OWEN-GAGE

There was no opposition in Owen-Gage balloting Monday, as board president Ronald Good and trustee Lee LaFave ran unopposed. Good received 391 votes and Mrs. LaFave garnered 343 votes.

Donald Cummings, Gagetown, was elected to the board with 334 votes.

Voters also approved renewal of 6.50 mills for two years with 378 yes votes to 165 no.

A total of 554 ballots were cast.

KINGSTON

At Kingston, Albert Rugles and John Borek were elected to the school board. Concluded on page 18.

Harrassment, abuse charged

Angry parents air gripes at school board session

Long smoldering resentments harbored by several parents with children in the Cass City School system burst into flames Monday night at the regular meeting of the Cass City School Board.

Charges ranging from harassment to physical abuse were levied against the administration and several bus drivers following disciplinary actions by authorities.

Mrs. Lila Arroyo claimed that her boy, Louie, was physically abused on a bus. Mrs. Joyce Lane charged harassment of her son, John Fortson.

Mrs. Beverly Frank charged bus brutality.

Mrs. Keith Bye, who has had two previous clashes with the board over treatment of her children, said that she had never received a satisfactory answer or action to letters she had written.

Threats of lawsuits filled the air as several parents threatened to take the issue to court.

Supt. Don Crouse and the board asked for written complaints about the issue and promised an investigation. Crouse also said that the investigation did not imply that there would be action taken that would satisfy the demands of the parents present.

He also asserted firmly that the board, the administration and the teachers would not be intimidated by threats of a suit.

After we have decided the case here and a parent still feels an injustice the courts are the place to settle the issue, he said. Naturally, he added, we don't want a court case, but we stand ready to justify our actions if necessary.

The complaints of Mrs. Arroyo, Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Bye concerned actions taken by bus drivers. Mrs. Arroyo said that the driver of a bus hit her son so hard he required medical attention. That charge was investigated and school authorities say that the boy was involved in a fight when the incident occurred.

As could be expected, nothing was solved at the Monday meeting. However, if the parents complain in writing a full scale hearing will follow.

While most of the complaints centered around bus problems, Mrs. Lane's problem stemmed from the expulsion of her son for five days for smoking.

Another boy, Mark Meeker, who admitted smoking and was suspended for five days says that John Fortson was not smoking.

He was charged by teacher Dave Hoard who said that he saw the boy hand Meeker the cigarette in the school bathroom. Fortson was suspended for five days, his second offense.

This week Fortson was awarded a summer Federal job under the Human Development Commission auspices and assigned to the school. The administration called the Commission and asked that Fortson be transferred to another location. He was.

The Lanes claim this is a violation of his civil rights. They also claim that the suspension was without benefit of due process. They threaten court action.

Mrs. Lane asked for a change in the system of discipline at the school, saying that the present system isn't working.

Robert Gengler made a statement to the board deploring the diminishing discipline at the school. He said that if parents didn't support the teachers, teachers would look the other way when problems arose. Parents interested in better education should back the teachers, not encourage them to look the other way because of hassles that result in trying to bring better education to all the children, he concluded.

McLennans keep rollin' around the world

By Jim Ketchum

Looking for a different way to spend a year? Ever consider driving around the world?

That's what the Ian McLennan family of Rockhampton, Australia, decided to do.

McLennan, his wife, Shirley and five children left the security and comfort of their apartment, stored their furniture and embarked last January. Last Thursday they prepared to leave again after spending a week with a cousin, Mrs. Lela Hall of Gagetown.

Mrs. Hall, a sister of Drs. June and K. Ivan McRae, played hostess to the McLennans and her cousins.

"The obvious question, I suppose, is why," McLennan said as he and his family took a break from making preparations for the following day's journey. In a crisp, clear Australian accent, he explained.

"When my father died, he had been writing to a sister back in Scotland. I'd kept up correspondence with her and so a few years ago we decided to visit her. I'd saved up five months' leave from my teaching job and so we went.

"Well, we managed to save up enough leave time and this year we wanted to see her. Only this time, we decided we should drive because that's the only way to see anything."

But the trip is still on. Besides, they're too far from home to turn around and go back.

The 45-year-old elementary principal, his 43-year-old wife, and their five children ranging in age from eight to 18, are still determined to make it around the world, hopefully arriving home by the end of next January.

So far, they've racked up 15,000 miles with at least another 15,000 to go.

"We landed in Acapulco Feb. 27," McLennan recalled. "We spent about six weeks there before crossing into the United States. We arrived in Los Angeles around the end of March where we bought our car and trailer."

Driving in the U.S. was a wholly new experience for McLennan, since Australians drive on the left side of the road with right-hand drive cars.

"I'd never driven an automatic shift car before," he said. "I'd never driven a left-hand drive, I'd never driven on a freeway and I'd never driven in Los Angeles. It was like dodging bullets to be out there at rush hour."

From California, the family wended its way north along the Pacific coast into Canada and then east to Michigan. Along the way, they camped either along the roadside or in trailer parks.

McLennan said they averaged about 150 miles a day. Every two weeks or so, they laid over long enough to catch up on laundry and shopping. "Generally, everything has Visitors came a callin' in droves at the Haire house over the week end. Saturday night a busload of charged up elated girls idled up to the front door.

With chants and cheers they announced to me (and to the neighborhood) that they had won the regional softball championship.

Sunday, a pickup loaded with softball players made an appearance.

The boys were buzzin' after a tournament title won in Vassar.

The winners brightened a droll week end.

To clear the air a bit let me tell you that the ad about the new athletic facility was not paid for by the school but rather by a group of residents interested in promoting the school site.

Ray Fleenor read our plea for memorabilia for the bicentennial edition and came in to inquire if old papers would be useful. He found some recently.

Since we have them all from issue one we didn't need those that Ray found but we appreciate the thought anyway.

The Cass City Schools lost one of its finest board members when Bob Hinn was narrowly defeated for re-election.

In a quarter century of covering the board meetings he ranked with the best that have served. We'll be watching his replacement, Dr. E.P. Lockwood, with interest. Lockwood, of course, is a capable person.

We were disheartened a little when he declined to take a stand on the proposed athletic field issue. Hopefully, this won't be a harbinger of things to come.

Board members should stand up and be counted on controversial issues rather than do all of their talking in closed sessions.

As taxpayers we have the right to know where our elected officials stand and what they are doing with our money.

Coach Kally Maharg is Catholic so don't think what follows is sour grapes. But she is bugged that parochial schools are competing in State tournaments with public schools like Cass City.

Kally's Hawks are in the tournament along with Byron, Lake Fenton and Kalamazoo Christian.

The coach's beef is that the teams are selected by school enrollment allowing non-public institutions to grab up key players from huge population centers to compete with schools like ours.

That's what allowed Flint Holy Rosary girls to win the State title in basketball, volleyball and be in the final four in the present softball State finals, she feels.

Rosary plays in class "D", Cass City in class "C", so the Hawks will not have to face the Flint school. But the Hawks do face Kazoo Christian, long a sports power in Michigan for the same reasons that other parochial schools in lower enrollment classifications have succeeded.

Following the hassle Monday night at the regular meeting of the Cass City School Board, one thing is sure. The board must act and act quickly with a full scale hearing.

These parents' accusations are serious. Serious for the school and serious for those who have been publicly accused. From the sketchy information now available, I don't think things are as the parents are painting them.

But there were enough complaints to make it mandatory that things aren't allowed to hang in limbo, making all parents wonder what's going on at their school.

$1,275 property loss

High school theft probed by police

Cass City Police are continuing their investigation of a breaking and entering at Cass City High School last week that netted thieves over $1,200 in property.

The break-in was discovered around 7:30 a.m. Wednesday morning, June 9, by custodian Veron Gingrich who found the door to the band room off its hinges.

Police said thieves entered the building through a north door after failing to open a steel door at an entrance near the band room. According to Chief Gene Wilson's report, the culprits pulled steel pins from the door but found it would still not open.

Once inside the building, the thieves smashed a window pane on the band room door, reached inside and unlocked it.

Police said a stereo system, a pocket calculator belonging to band director George Bushong and a bassoon valued at $900 were taken. Total property loss was set at $1,275.

Wilson said late last week someone with a good knowledge of the building is suspected.

He reported the door to a classroom had also been pried but that the attempt failed.

No progress was reported in the case Tuesday.

The break-in was one of two reported last week. Thursday, June 10, police investigated the theft of three guns and a quantity of clothing from the Larry Keyser residence at 4368 Woodland St.

Cass City Police said entry was first gained by cutting a hole in a screen door. An inside door prevented further entry, the report noted.

A second attempt to enter the home through a bathroom window proved successful.

No value was placed on the stolen items and no suspects have been arrested.

Two other village thefts were reported. A battery, valued at between $65 and $70 was taken from a truck on a Rabideau Motors sales lot sometime early last week.

About a ton of scrap steel was reported missing from the rear of the L&S Standard service station Monday.

Police reported the theft occurred sometime over the week end.

ARREST

A 28-year-old Saginaw man was arrested Tuesday in connection with the May 25 attempted armed robbery of the Kingston Party Store.

Richard Nicholas Bond was charged with armed robbery and with using a .12 gauge sawed-off shotgun. He was placed on $25,000 bond by Magistrate John Bowles and was ordered to appear next Monday in Tuscola County District Court before Judge Richard Kern.

Bond is the fourth person arrested in connection with the attempted robbery which took place shortly after 11:00 p.m. The arrest was made by Sheriff's detectives Larry Walker and Ronald Phillips.

Pool opening lags

Work ground ahead slowly this week on Cass City's new municipal swimming pool, with village authorities now looking toward a tentative opening next Monday.

Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie said Monday afternoon plastering crews were scheduled to complete their work sometime Tuesday and that the estimated 200,000 gallons of water needed to fill the pool would be pumped in Wednesday.

"Right now, everything is tentative," LaPonsie said. "We're hoping that everything can be done this week."

The pool is being constructed by Perma-Bilt of Detroit and has been under construction since last fall. Originally scheduled for opening June 1, numerous delays have forced the opening back nearly three weeks.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Don't expect any answers from this. Just a lot of questions.

It started Saturday morning when I was at Walbro for a business discussion. That took about a half hour. But I was there for the better part of two hours talking with Vic Guernsey.

These gab fests with Vic are nothing new, but they always are interesting.

Naturally, the topic this time was Monday's school vote. Keep in mind that then we knew nothing about what was going to happen in the balloting.

What bugs Vic is that he feels that the school could have a much better arts, music, and drama program than it has.

He says that schools no larger than Cass City have programs that would put Cass City's to shame.

He regards as poppycock the administration's view that there isn't enough free time in the day for an expanded program and the excellent co-op work program now underway.

Vic expounded these views recently in a letter to the editor and he said he had numerous persons say that they have had similar views for years.

You have to concur with much of what Vic says and writes.

Where we part company is equating an enrichment program during the regular school day with a sports program held after the regular school hours.

How many students would appear at 3:45 p.m. every day to become a part of a choral group, an art class or a drama class?

Vic says plenty. I say few.

There is a way to prove it, too. Try it for a semester.

What's the going rate for a high school teacher in sports? Perhaps an average of $750.

In a $2 million budget it's a drop in the bucket.

As I said when this all started, don't expect a conclusion from all this.

We didn't reach any Saturday. Really didn't expect to.

Discussing school affairs is nothing new for Guernsey and me. He's one of the few that I will debate with. The reason for this is that even if we don't agree we do respect each other's views.

I know that if the voters authorized the construction of the athletic field at the school, Vic will support it, and if it went to the park he knows I will support it.

And that goes for a course in arts appreciation, too.

"If It Fitz . . ." Leave sports to experts

By JIM FITZGERALD

The voice on the phone asked me to please hold the line for J.P. McCarthy.

J.P. McCarthy? Detroit's most famous disc jockey on WJR, the world's greatest radio station? The sometimes TV substitute for the immortal Bill Kennedy? J.P. wanted to talk to me, on the air? Wow. This is bigtime stuff, I thought. He usually phones Sonny Grandelius.

McCarthy was calling to welcome me to town, while his millions of listeners wondered why he didn't play some good music instead. The call came almost two months ago and I wanted to write about it sooner, but J.P. has been sick. I didn't want to say anything to make him feel worse.

Not that I don't agree he is a great disc jockey and raconteur. I am temporarily a commuter, on the freeway an hour every morning, and J.P. makes the driving fun.

When he was ill and off the air for several weeks, much of Michigan ached and mourned. Every Big Name except the Pope substituted for him and came up short. Not even Shirley Eder could stop McCarthy's listeners from yearning for his return. Me too.

But now that he's back to work, maybe I can explain something about that phone call without getting lynched by his fans.

When McCarthy got me on the air, he asked: "Didn't you once write something about me being too sweet?" I had to admit it, although I'd been hoping he wouldn't remember.

It happened several years ago when J. P. first began doing color commentary for Detroit Lions football games. This means he was one of Bill Ford's hired cheerleaders. I wrote something about him cheering too, too sweetly. And he answered with a note saying one "too" would have been sufficient.

McCarthy was simply the latest victim of my long-standing gripe against sports announcers who phony it up to help the club owners sell tickets, rather than tell the truth so listeners will know enough to stay home.

When I say long-standing, I mean I go all the way back to Harry Wismer. He started on the road to wealth by broadcasting Lions games back in the 1930s. He never told the truth until 1966 when he wrote a book called "The Public Calls It Sport." That's when he admitted his job had been to make the Lions sound great to the radio audience, even when they stunk out the joint. The Lions were then owned by George Richards. Wismer wrote: "I could hardly have been an objective reporter. My first responsibility was to Richards, not the fans of Detroit."

Nothing much has changed since then. Club owners still have control over who is hired to broadcast their games. Some of them do their best to be objective, but they remain suspect, always short of 100 percent credibility.

Would you trust this newspaper's labor writer if he couldn't have been hired without General Motors' approval?

In the case of the Lions, such suspect reporting today could be tougher on Joe Slob than in Wismer's day. Michigan taxpayers, without their consent, are paying $800,000 a year to finance the Lions' domed stadium in Pontiac.

It's one of the most outrageous rip-offs ever. Bill Ford should buy his own toys.

But you don't hear many taxpayers gripe about it. They know the Lions are worth every cent because their broadcasters tell them so.

All of which is pretty heavy stuff for a column about J.P. McCarthy who always sounds light enough to walk on cotton batting. So here's a more frivolous reason for disc jockeys leaving sports to unbiased experts like me. . .

One of McCarthy's on-the-air phone callers last Monday was a woman who wanted to know what years the modern Tigers had won pennants. He told her 1934, 1935, 1945, and 1968.

Bobo Newsom would never forgive J.P. Bobo pitched the Tigers to a pennant in 1940. They lost the World Series to Cincinnati.

That woman was making a Tiger hat to enter in a Downtown Detroit Days contest. She wrote the pennant-winning years all over the hat. But, because she received bum information, there was no 1940. And she didn't win the contest. I know, because I was one of the judges.

I asked if the loss made her angry at McCarthy. "I could never get mad at him," she said. "He is too sweet."

But not too, too," I said.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Dogs, kids and mean old Dads

By Jim Ketchum

Dogs are not man's best friend. Eighteen-month-old daughters are.

Dogs don't really do much besides bark. At least in our end of town anyway.

Try sleeping with all your windows open some hot summer night and you'll get the picture. I'm convinced every dog born in the past century is programmed to sleep all day and start barking as soon as the lights go out in the next house.

Before the 'Dog Lovers of America' descend on me and leave my legs with more holes than your favorite mailman, I'll admit not every dog's sole purpose in life is barking.

Some dogs hunt, and if hunting is your big thrill, then by all means do it with a dog. Besides, if you get lost and you haven't bagged anything, you always have something to eat.

Other breeds serve as watch dogs. They watch the burglars carry out the TV, stereo and couch without making a noise that might wake up his owners, who hate barking anyhow.

Outside of the leader dogs who serve as their blind master's eyes, there really aren't many other useful things a dog can do. Oh, sure, you can train him to fetch the paper, but who needs to read dripping-wet news?

Dogs exist in part to keep the folks at Purina off the unemployment lines. But if food stamp cuts are approved by Congress, more poor people will start eating Dog Chow twice a day instead of only once.

In a contest with little girls, there's no way a dog can come out first as man's best friend. Case in point:

Sunday, our church held its annual picnic at the Sebewaing park. Before the food started flowing, we had a worship service. Number one daughter couldn't understand why she couldn't play on the swings, slides and funny rocking horses.

She refused to sit down and be quiet, so she and Dad had to take a walk. She cried her heart out until I put her down. Immediately she ran for the car, wanting to play inside.

Mean old Dad yanked her back from the car about three times, each yanking met with blood-curdling shrieks of injured pride. Mean old Dad kept getting madder as the cries got louder.

Finally, the service was over and all was at peace again, except for mean old Dad, who was feeling pretty mad about the whole thing. I mean, think of what everybody must have thought. Dumb little kids sure are noisy, I'll bet they said.

Anyhow, after the picnic, we drove home. By then it was nap time for everybody. Including mean old Dad.

But before Katie would lie down for her nap, there was one thing she had to do.

She toddled over, threw her stubby little arms around mean old Dad and gave him a hug and a kiss. Mean old Dad hugged her back and felt about knee-high to a midge rattlesnake.

Sure, maybe a dog will come and lick your hand after you kick it, but I haven't seen one who can hug you and in the best 18-month-old jibberish ever spoken, let you know you're still loved.

Even if you are a mean old Dad sometimes.

150 attend Gagetown meeting

Citizens launch local school control effort

A grassroots effort designed to keep control of schools in the hands of district residents began in earnest Thursday night as an estimated 150 persons filed into a hot Gagetown gym to discuss their problems.

While the organization of a statewide citizens' group did not emerge from the meeting, backers say they expect to see the volunteer group take shape by the end of this week.

The meeting came in the wake of decisions by state education authorities that transferred a large section of the Owen-Gage district to Cass City and held up approval to sell bonds for construction of a new high school.

Geri Kretzschmer, Owen-Gage, organizer of the meeting, explained the gathering's main purpose was not merely to plead Owen-Gage's cause. "The problems we face are very similar to those faced by other districts in the state," she said.

She told persons attending from Midland, Saginaw, Port Austin, Caseville, Bay City, Bangor, Meridian and Zilwaukee schools a citizen-supported organization would probably have a better chance at working for local school control than one affiliated with a political group.

Mrs. Kretzschmer spoke out against Senate Bill 4354 which would reorganize all local school laws. She said the bill would remove much of the decision-making power now held by local school boards.

Owen-Gage Supt. Ronald Erickson drove home the history of his district's fight with state authorities to block land transfers and to build a new high school.

Erickson said the State Board of Education is trying to close down his district. He urged citizens to fight against state control.

"They have predetermined a destiny for our school district," he said. "Without a united effort, I don't think any of us can stand up to the State Board of Education and win. But we're going to give it a hell of a try."

Erickson said the entire issue boils down to the right of the people to govern.

"The bottom line is this -- we want the right to say yes or no on the educational practices in our schools," he said. "A vote of the people is the most sacred thing there is in our country and it needs to be protected."

Erickson reviewed four proposals before the state legislature which he urged the group to fight. One would eliminate all non K-12 districts.

A second would reorganize small school districts into large geographic areas, while a third would eliminate all "small" school districts (below 2,500 students), he said.

The fourth, which he described as "dangerous", would allow state authorities to reorganize a district when five per cent of the residents petitioned the state to do so.

"Presently, this proposal applies to counties of one million or above," he said. "But if this clause is eliminated, the state could mandate and dictate at will."

Other speakers included Barbara Johnson of the Meridian district, Robert Davis of Bay City and Jerry Hanley of Zilwaukee.

Mrs. Johnson reviewed regional schools in Chicago and urged citizens to stay involved with their school boards.

"Attend meetings," she said. "Vote every time a ballot is put in front of you. Above all, my advice to you is do it with all your heart. If you let them take it (local control) away, you've lost a great battle."

Davis said losing local control results in poor textbooks, teaching and attitudes. He called one geography textbook "garbage" and said revisions of the Bible were evidence of government "brainwashing."

"Personally, I favor private schools anyway," he said. "because I don't trust anybody with the education of my kids but me."

Mrs. Haley related the efforts of Zilwaukee citizens to keep local control of schools after a merger with Saginaw School District. She said merging resulted in bussing and in less of a voice in school decisions.

Several state representatives contacted prior to the meeting were not present. Mrs. Kretzschmer said later State Sen. John Welborn (R-Kalamazoo) has promised to send a letter of support for the group.

Mrs. Kretzschmer said ideally, the citizens' group would spread statewide and not represent school boards or districts. Its goal would be to work against measures they felt took away control from districts in favor of the state.

She said local organizers do not favor affiliating with a group called "Friends of Michigan Schools", which has lobbied for school legislation for 20 years.

"They represent something else," she said. "They represent school boards and administrators. We are a citizen's group. We feel we can operate best as an independent group."

THIS CARTOON set the theme of Thursday's meeting of citizens in Gagetown-local control. About 150 persons gathered to hear speakers urge the formation of a statewide citizens' group to battle what they see as encroaching state control of school districts.

Cass City

Cass Cityan pleads guilty

A Cass City man will be sentenced July 26 after pleading guilty to a drug possession charge Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court before presiding Judge Norman Baguley.

James Lee Doerr, 22, entered the plea to a charge of PCP possession. Doerr's $1,000 bond was continued. He was arrested following an incident March 29 near Deford.

In other court action Monday, Franklin Blake Holcomb, 23, Deford, was sentenced for a probation violation to a year's probation and fines and costs totaling $400.

Holcomb was also ordered to serve 30 days in the Tuscola County Jail, with credit for eight days already served.

Ernest J. Terbush, 47, Mayville, was placed on five years' probation and sentenced to pay fines and costs totaling $400 after pleading guilty to a child abuse charge.

Terbush was ordered to serve 30 days in the county jail with credit for one day served.

In his sentence order, Judge Baguley recommended Terbush receive counseling. The arrest took place April 3 in Fremont township.

Russell David Monroe, Caro, was sentenced to serve one year in the county jail following his guilty plea to a charge of attempted fraud.

Monroe was arrested March 3, in Wells township. He was charged with attempting to forge a check for $138.00.

Clifford Lee York, 29, Caro, was sentenced on a probation violation charge to restricted driving privileges to and from work.

York, who failed to appear for an earlier hearing, was originally charged in connection with a traffic accident that took the life of Delbert Esckelson near Kingston in October of 1974.

Two arraignments were heard. Carl Frederick Yens, 22, Silverwood, was arraigned on a charge of conspiring to conceal stolen property. He stood mute and an innocent plea was entered in his behalf.

Pre-trial examination was set for July 12, and $1,000 personal recognizance bond was continued.

Yens was arrested following an incident in Dayton township last October.

Ronald Brad Luther, 17, Sebewaing, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in a building during his arraignment.

Luther entered the plea in connection with the theft of food, beer and whiskey from Prime's Super Market in Unionville, May 31.

The plea was accepted and sentencing was set for Aug. 9. Bond was continued at $2,500.

TDHD sets prenatal classes
The Thumb District Health Department has scheduled another session in its series of prenatal education classes, to begin Monday night, June 21, at 7:30 p.m.
According to Carol Hrycko, RN, coordinator of the class, "The major goal of the class is to help lessen the fears of parents by making them more knowledgeable about important aspects of pregnancy, labor and delivery."
Basically the classes center around four main subject areas: caring for yourself and your baby before it is born, proper diet and exercise, labor and delivery, and child care.
Mrs. Hrycko also stated that "These four main topic areas allow for many questions to be answered over topics which frequently seem to trouble young parents. Most questions are over areas concerning emergency childbirth, family planning, symptoms of illness and complications which should be reported to the doctor, when to go to the hospital, and child care."
The discussion oriented classes are free to everyone and it is recommended, though not required, that couples attend together. The classes will be held at the Thumb District Health Department office in Caro, located at 2266 W. Caro Road. For further information or to register, call 673-4178.

Provincial House profits decline
Provincial House, Inc., diversified health care corporation, this week reported that its third quarter ended April 30, 1976, continued to reflect the problem of rising costs and inadequate reimbursement for state patients.
The company reported net income of $3,072 or one cent per share, compared with net income of six cents per share in the period a year ago. That brought earnings for the first nine months to $119,407 or 13 cents per share, compared with 26 cents of which eight cents represented investment tax credits.
While Provincial House has turned from a loss in its previous quarter to a modest profit, the company said its principal problem continued to be increased costs in providing health care without offsetting increases in reimbursement. In addition, it has had development expenses for a proposed Health Maintenance Organization. An additional financial burden has been Michigan's new Single Business Tax. This tax, appearing in the operating statement for the first time, amounted to $25,000 for the quarter.
Increased occupancy of its newer facilities and near maximum occupancy in those nursing care centers opened several years ago has increased nursing home revenues, by 17 per cent in the first nine months. The company's construction subsidiary has been largely withdrawn from outside work and is currently working to complete a new 117-bed nursing care center in Battle Creek.

Newman gets
Gen-Tel post
at Cass City
Albert L. Newman, of Walled Lake, a switchman for General Telephone at Milford, has been promoted and transferred to Cass City as a Central Office Supervisor, according to C. R. Kowalski, Division Manager for the company.
Newman will be responsible for the direct supervision and maintenance of telephone switching offices in the exchanges of Brown City, Cass City, Caseville, Clifford, Deckerville, Elkton, Harbor Beach, Jeddo, Kingston, Minden City, North Branch, and Yale.
Newman was hired as a switchperson in January, 1976, and was promoted to C. O. Supervisor June 1.
Cass City is a part of General Telephone's Northeastern Division, part of the company's eastern area with its headquarters in Owosso.

WANT A BETTER BEAN CROP?
If your answer is yes then you should consider using Klein's Super or Super Q bean fertilizer. Super and Super Q not only contain N, P & K, but also contain generous amounts of sulfur, magnesium, manganese and zinc essential for good crop production.
It's as good as gold to use Klein's Super or Super Q for beans.

Your neighbor says

My dad's great

Father's Day is next Sunday. Traditionally, it's the time to give Dad a new pair of socks, a necktie and take the garbage out for him.

What does your father mean to you?

For Faith LaPonsie of Cass City, her father is someone very, very special.

"He's always there," she says. "He's the one I can talk to. He's a friend and I can really communicate with him."

Miss LaPonsie said the earliest memory of her father goes back to the time when their home burned.

"I was only two or three at the time and I can remember him going back into the house to rescue our cat," she says.

With Father's Day coming, Miss LaPonsie says it's hard to find something that really says what she feels about her dad. She summed it up best when she said "He's the only one".

Miss LaPonsie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lou LaPonsie of Cass City. She is a senior at Cass City High School and works part-time at Rawson Memorial Library.

THE FINISH-IT-YOURSELF HOUSE™ FROM CAPP HOMES.

THE HOUSE YOU WANT-AT A PRICE YOU CAN AFFORD.

Finish-it-Yourself means just that. By doing some of the finishing work on your new dream home, you can save money. And those savings make your dream home possible — now. And you're buying more than savings... you're buying quality. Capp homes are custom-built by craftsmen who take pride in their work. And the result is something you'll take pride in for many years to come. Here's how it works.

YOU DECIDE WHERE TO LIVE
First, select the area where you'd like to live, then buy a nice piece of property. If you already own a lot, you're all set.

CUSTOM DESIGN YOUR FLOOR PLANS
Select from ramblers, split levels, split entries and two stories. You can customize any of our plans or we'll build from your plans — to fit your family size, your way of living and your budget.

ONE-STOP SHOPPING
Capp provides you with the standard materials you need to complete a Finish-it-Yourself house. And not only do you choose plans, you also select roofing, siding, and all the interior features such as kitchen and bathroom accessories, doors, windows, flooring, lighting fixtures and so forth. You plan your new home exactly the way you want it to be.

WHAT WE DO
Capp custom-erects your home on your foundation, according to the plans. We install sub-flooring, interior partitions and exterior doors and windows. In short, your new home is enclosed and ready for the finishing you'll do.

WHAT YOU DO
After Capp does its part, you handle the finishing work yourself, or have someone to help. And you'll get the standard materials you need to complete your Finish-it-Yourself house from us. What's it like to finish a house yourself? Things like plumbing and wiring aren't all that tough. We give you instruction manuals to guide you, and you'll be surprised how fast you learn. But even if you hire people to help you, you'll still save by eliminating some of the general contractor's profits. However remember, the more you do, the more you can save. And when you're finished, not only will you have a home that's worth a lot more than you paid for it, you'll have a real feeling of accomplishment.

CAPP QUALITY — NO COMPROMISE
Capp doesn't compromise on quality. With our materials and building specifications, we maintain an old-fashioned dedication to quality. The fact is, we've been building homes for 30 years. And over 50,000 families are living comfortably in Capp homes today.

THE MORNING STAR
Featuring 3 bedrooms, 2 baths. Large living room and dining room form a gracious "L" with easy access to kitchen. You'll be proud to call it home.
Ramblers from $17,370 to $54,000* and up.

THE VIRGINIAN
This beautiful 4-bedroom, 2 1/2 bath Colonial has room on the first floor for a den. Full-width living room with suggested fireplace covers one end of the first floor.
Two stories, splits from $17,340 to $63,000* and up.

FINANCING — WE CAN HELP

Capp Homes has financing sources... or you may use your own lender. Either way, your Capp Representative can make sure your new home fits your family's needs as well as your family's pocketbook.

THE AFFORDABLE HOME — NOW

Every aspect of the Finish-it-Yourself house is geared to make it possible for you to own a custom-built home. You make it affordable because you do the finishing. There's no compromise in quality either. You can save thousands by finishing your Capp home yourself, compared to the cost of having a general contractor custom-build the same house on your lot. Want to learn more?

THE NEW HOME IDEA BOOK FREE FOR THE ASKING

If the finish-it-yourself idea makes sense, call your Capp Representative today. His number is listed below. He'll give you our 96-page full color New Home Idea Book. Free. Or send us the coupon below and we'll mail it to you. It gives you all the details about the Finish-it-Yourself house and includes many exciting new models for 1976 which you can customize. Why wait any longer? Finish-it-Yourself makes your dream home affordable now.

*Prices shown are for the house, semi-constructed on the owner's lot and foundation and include materials to finish the interior. State and local taxes, landscaping, septic tanks, sidewalks, driveways, masonry work, brick, appliances and paint are not included.

Canning tablets no cure-all

Aliene Mills — Extension Agent

Grocery store shelves of canning supplies will have a new resident this summer: tomato canning tablets.

According to the manufacturer, the tablets are 20 percent citric acid and 80 percent salt.

"Neither Michigan State University nor the U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends adding citric acid to tomato products to increase their acidity," says Anita Dean, MSU Extension specialist in foods and nutrition. "However, homemakers who want to add acid may choose to add it in the form of the canning tablets."

The citric acid in each tablet is equal to that in 1 1/2 teaspoons of lemon juice or 1/8 teaspoon straight citric acid. Each one also contains about 1/4 teaspoon salt. This is about half of the amount of salt usually recommended per pint of tomatoes and recipes should be adjusted to take it into account.

Homemakers who decide to use the tablets should use one per pint and two per quart plus the additional 1/4 or 1/2 teaspoon salt to bring the total salt up to the quantity called for in most recipes. Tablets should be added to each jar before filling and processing.

These tablets will not prevent spoilage in improperly processed or overripe tomatoes. They will not protect against flat, sour or other common types of tomato spoilage. Tomatoes canned with the canning tablets must still be processed properly in a boiling water bath. For complete canning information write Aliene Mills, Extension Home Economist; Cooperative Extension Service; Civil Defense Center, Caro, 48723 or telephone 517-673-3161.

40 attend Echo chapter meeting

Forty attended the June 9 meeting of Echo Chapter OES. Worthy matron, Mrs. Theda Seeger opened the chapter in short form. Fifteen officers answered roll call.

During the business meeting, the date of the visit to the Masonic Home at Alma was announced as June 26. Members voted to dispense with the July and August meetings.

The altar was draped in memory of past worthy grand patron, Carroll Curtis of Ypsilanti.

Officers of Echo Chapter exemplified the degrees of the Order for two new members.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Virginia Hartwick and her committee.

Library

summer

program begins

The summer reading programs are underway at Rawson Memorial Library. Story hour is being held Tuesdays at 1:00 p.m. About 40 children are attending.

Many new books have arrived in time for the summer reading club. This year's theme is "paddle to the sea", based on the book by Holling C. Holling. Children may register at the library. Each child must read ten books throughout the summer to finish the program and receive a certificate.

Kenward in Marine exercise

Marine Private First Class David J. Kenward Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Kenward Sr., of Deford, recently participated in Operation "Solid Shield '76", as a member of 2d Marine Division, Fleet Marine Force, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

The two-week joint exercise on the North Carolina and Georgia coastline involved more than 50,000 men and women from all branches of the Armed Forces.

The exercise included air, surface and submarine operations and an amphibious assault. It was designed to test command and control plans and to provide training in the procedures for emergency evacuation of noncombatants from a simulated battle zone.

A former student of Cass City High School, he joined the Marine Corps in August 1975.

Rev. Isaacs

The congregation of Trinity United Methodist church honored Rev. E.D.K. Isaacs and her family at a farewell party held at the church Thursday evening, June 10, at eight o'clock. The committee on arrangements was headed by Helen Baker, who was assisted by Mickey Marshall in charge of the program and Margo Isard in charge of the guest book. As the guest of honor arrived she was presented with an orchid.

For the program, eight committee chairmen, including the youth group, spoke words of appreciation of Rev. Isaacs' dedicated efforts during her six years as pastor of the church. Vocal musical numbers of the program included a quartet number by Angela and Andrea Nieboer, Ruth Ann Baker and Jeanne Marshall, and a duet by Mrs. Beverly Nieboer and Sharada Hurd.

The youth of the church presented John Isaacs with a billfold. Rev. Isaacs and her husband were presented with a table lamp and a gift of money by Helen Baker in behalf of church families. Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Neitzel presented them with a colored photograph.

From the sanctuary, the congregation went to the social rooms of the church where flowers and candles decorated the tables. A luncheon of sandwiches, cake, punch and coffee was served.

Rev. Isaacs assumes her duties as pastor of Trinity UM church at Sebawaing June 20.

Make good use of your time and you'll have more to spare.

BETTER HEALTH

Bee Stings

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

The season for bee stings is back with us and those who are seriously susceptible to systemic reactions should have long since undertaken a course of immunization. They should also be equipped with an emergency treatment kit if they will be in a situation in which they run the risk of a sting.

Fortunately for most of us, reactions to the sting of a hornet, a wasp or a yellow jacket is little more than local discomfort. For the unfortunate few who are especially sensitive, the reaction can be severe and even life-threatening.

Usually initiated by sneezing, itching eyes and a rush of watery discharge from the nose, a truly serious reaction may progress to constriction of the windpipe, wheezing, pressure in the chest and swelling of the body (edema). The situation is often made worse by generalized hives and an overwhelming itching of the skin.

When the reaction is severe, it requires emergency medical treatment. A hypodermic injection of adrenalin (epinephrine) is usually dramatically effective in causing the symptoms to subside.

If the breathing is not promptly relieved, a tube must be passed through the nose and down into the windpipe allowing air to pass across the swollen vocal cords (larynx) and into the lungs. If this is not possible, an emergency opening can be made into the windpipe at the base of the neck (tracheotomy).

Professional beekeepers, who are often amazingly immune to the effects of bee stings, have been found to have high levels of antibodies to the various components of bee venom, which are responsible for the bodily reaction to stings.

It has also been determined that beekeepers who do experience allergic reactions to stings are low in venom-resistant antibodies.

It is possible to immunize people who are sensitive to bee stings by serial injections of highly diluted extracts made of ground-up bodies of bees, or preferably of extracts made from the bee venom itself.

It has recently been demonstrated that using bee-venom extracts rather than extracts made from the ground-up bodies of bees is more precise in its immunizing effect. It also avoids undesirable side effects, which may result from sensitizing effects

plans continue

Participation and help by persons in and around Cass City is needed by several of the individual activities to get the Cass City bicentennial celebration going, according to Jack Esau, general chairman.

Mrs. Don DeLong is looking for garments to be modeled in the Bicentennial Style Show. If you have any adults' or children's garments which you would be willing to have modeled or wedding gowns dated any year up to and including 1976, please call 872-3679, she said.

Jack McDaniel has asked persons to contact him (at Anrod, 872-2101) if they have anything they would like to enter in the parade.

"We are looking for anything that moves", McDaniel said, "cars, carts, and farm equipment. Anything, but it should be pre-1950 unless it is people or horses."

Slides are needed for the nightly "Slide Show" according to Rev. Harry Capps.

"We would like people to loan us their 35mm slides of Cass City's Centennial celebration in 1965, the Christmas Pageant, landmarks, buildings that are gone now and street scenes. If these slides can be turned in to me as soon as possible, we can edit and arrange them for show", Capps said.

"We want good voices of all ages from teenagers on up for the Bicentennial Choir," according to Colleen Stafford, director of the choir. "But we also need people to help stage the concert, move risers, get us a P.A. system and that kind of thing."

Anyone interested in singing or staging the concert, should call 872-3793 or be at rehearsal at the Presbyterian church, Monday nights at 8:30.

Mrs. Lintner

dies June 11

Mrs. Anna Mae Lintner, 69, Cass City, widow of Albert Lintner, died Friday, June 11, at Hills and Dales General Hospital after a long illness. She was born May 17, 1907, in Austin township, Sanilac county. She and Mr. Lintner were married May 6, 1925, at Cass City.

They farmed in Argyle township after their marriage. He died Feb. 3, 1966. Mrs. Lintner has lived in Cass City since 1972.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Beatrice Howard of Cass City and Mrs. Velma Shagena of Bad Axe; one son, Francis Lintner of Millington; 32 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Louis Terwilliger of Bad Axe. A son, Albert Lintner Jr., died in 1970.

Funeral services were held Monday at the Zinger Funeral Home in Uby. Rev. Lloyd Streeter, pastor of First Baptist church of Cass City, officiated. Burial was in Argyle township cemetery.

Hampshire cow sets records

A cow owned by a Deford dairy farm has qualified for listing among the Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association's exclusive "Butterfat Top Twenty" high producers for the month of May.

The Holstein cow, with the barn name Ranae, at 48 months of age has completed her 305 M.E. lactation record with 19,652 pounds of milk, 967 pounds of butterfat and a 5.0 test. This is an outstanding record as compared to the state-wide Holstein Breed average of 14,286 pounds of milk and 526 pounds of butterfat.

The cow is owned by the Hampshire Hyview Farm. Hampshire Hyview Farms have their herd enrolled in the DHIA testing program and are supervised by Sylvester Abraham of Pigeon. They work in cooperation with William Bortel, Tuscola County Extension Agent, and Michigan DHIA, Inc.

DHIA, Inc., a state-wide dairy production testing organization, provides production management records for 2,000 Michigan dairymen milking 128,000 cows.

Reader deplores booze at reunion

June 8, 1976

Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan 48726

Dear Mr. Haire,

I attended the first meeting last fall which initiated plans for a grand high school reunion to be held this summer. Not that I would meet many of my classmates for of those who graduated 65 or more years ago, very few are left.

However, having taught 35 years in surrounding rural schools, I've had many pupils who graduated there. I have a history of CCHS put out by the Class of 1935 which lists the graduates up to that time. There I found 49 of them. How many between 1936 and 1954 I have no way of knowing. I had hoped to meet many of them.

Having spent the winter in Florida, I was unable to attend any further planning sessions.

Imagine my surprise and disappointment when I received invitations to be sent out which announced "cash bar available". Everyone knows my stand on the liquor question from letters I've had printed in the Chronicle, Advertiser, and Times Herald, so I refused to sign my name to such invitations.

I still remember the murder committed within a half-mile of the Colony House as a result of drinking nothing stronger than beer, which left a widow and some of my pupils fatherless. I've not forgotten the 11 traffic deaths within three-fourths mile of my driveway, nine of which were a result of drink.

I may be a "square" but my attitude on the drink question has not changed and while I could attend and not take part, I still would not feel comfortable.

I deplore the fact that we could not have a successful reunion without the help of alcohol.

Yours truly,
Jason A. Kitchen

Dear Mr. Haire,

I agree with your stand on unsigned letters.

However, I believe that advertisements pertaining to local issues should also be signed by an individual or sponsoring group.

Dear Editor,

Congratulations to the Cass City Varsity Softball team on their great games Saturday at Clare, that enabled them to win the Regional Championship.

We are all so very proud of you and wish you the very best of luck this Saturday at the State finals in Kalamazoo.

Cass City set

for revenue

sharing

Cass City will receive $33,344 in federal revenue sharing funds during calendar year 1977, according to U.S. Treasury Department estimates if the recently-passed federal revenue sharing program is signed into law.

The figures were released this week by Eighth District Congressman J. Bob Traxler, and show that, as a whole, the eighth district would receive $10.2 million.

The bill was approved by a large margin last week in the House of Representatives. It still faces Senate action and then must be signed into law by the President.

The breakdown shows the following dollar amounts for area villages and townships: Kingston township, $5,895; Argyle township, $3,166; Owendale, $4,320, and Uby township, $25,252.

Tuscola county would receive $373,109, while Sanilac county would receive $325,417 and Huron county would receive $400,806.

Traxler said the bill is basically an extension of the present revenue sharing law enacted five years ago.

More exercise, better

food could help save lives

A marked drop in heart disease, cancer, stroke, hypertension, accidents, cirrhosis, arteriosclerosis, emphysema, suicide and maybe even diabetes.

What would it take to accomplish such a feat?

Just four things, according to Dr. Maurice Reizen, director of Michigan's Public Health Department.

Writing in a recent issue of Michigan Medicine, a publication of the Michigan State Medical Society, Reizen says:

"...a drastic reduction in every one of these conditions (with the possible exception of diabetes) is remarkably easy to accomplish. In fact, only four fairly simple goals need to be achieved:

1. All of our people eat optimum levels of the proper foods.
2. All of our people engage in regular physical activities appropriate to their condition.
3. All cigarette smokers quit smoking.
4. All alcohol drinkers stop drinking."

Easier said than done, of course.

And, Reizen points out, it is much easier to treat disease than to alter behavior.

But, he continues, the major, or at least co-equal role of government—in addition to its role in medical care—should be to initiate more effective programs to prevent illness and maintain health by means that focus on how people live and behave.

"In the final analysis," Reizen says, "our behavior has more effect on our physical and mental well-being than all the superb medical and surgical procedures available to us."

Watch It!

Right-turn-on-red seems to be working out pretty well in our state, according to a formal survey conducted just one month after the new law went into effect.

"The general feeling we get is that the vast majority of drivers are doing very well with the new law," said a spokesman for the Automobile Club of Michigan, which conducted the survey.

A few drivers, though, have expressed concern over the intersections where a turn on red is not permitted. Signs prohibiting such turns sometimes seem to blend into the landscape so that a driver might not notice them.

"It was right in front of me and I didn't even see it," said one driver, who was lucky to have another motorist toot his horn and point out the sign before she went illegally through the light.

Study Going On

Is Michigan's new single business tax fair?

That's what a 10-member House-Senate committee is trying to determine these days.

The committee is expected to recommend both short-range and long-term revisions, where necessary, to make the new tax system more equitable.

Crowding Curb

Overcrowded parks aren't fun for anyone.

In order to avoid such a situation at popular Lower Peninsula campgrounds, there are visitor restrictions in effect.

The Department of Natural Resources issues the reminder that the visitor ban is in effect through June 15 at Mears State Park near Pentwater and at Bay City State Park; and through June 25 at Pontiac Lake, Oakland county.

The rule will be enforced through Labor Day at other areas, including recreation areas at Brighton (Appleton Lake and Murray Lake camps), Livingston County; Pinckney (Crooked Lake and Glenbrook campgrounds), and Waterloo (Portage Lake and Green Lake campgrounds) near Jackson.

State parks affected through Labor Day include: Hayes, near Onsted; Holland (Lake Macatawa campground), Ottawa county; Island Lake (Russell Woods campground), near Brighton; Lakeport, at Port Huron; Ludington (Pines, Cedar and Beechwood campgrounds), Mason County; Metamora-Hadley, Lapeer County; Muskegon (Lake Michigan campground), Muskegon County; Port Crescent, Huron County; Proud Lake, near Milford; Silver Lake, near Mears; Sleeper, near Caseville; and South Higgins Lake, near Roscommon.

Jr. Wranglers set fifth annual horse show

Plans are underway for the fifth annual Cass City Horse Show, sponsored by the Cass City Jr. Wranglers 4-H Club and set for Saturday, June 26, beginning at 9:00 a.m. at the village park.

Registration gets underway at 8:00 a.m. for the show that promises to be one of the largest ever held.

A total of 26 classes are being sponsored by area merchants, including 13 classes in horsemanship (horse or pony), five in western pleasure, three in showmanship, three in halter grade and two in halter registered-all breeds.

Trophies will be awarded to all first place finishers, with ribbons for the top six places in each class. A high point trophy will be awarded for horse and rider, along with a trophy for the runner-up.

A new feature this year is a horse blanket which will be awarded to the grand champion in halter registered and grand champion in the halter grade class.

Judging the show will be Mike Elliott of Adrian, considered one of the top judges in the state.

An entry fee of $1.50 per class will be charged to help defray costs of the event, organizers said.

All qualified breeds are eligible for entry.

Dreyco, Inc., named as Walbro export agency

Robert H. Walpole, vice-president, International Operations, Walbro Corporation, announced the appointment of Dreyco, Inc., as the export agency for Walbro electric fuel pumps in all parts of the world except North America.

Barth new manager at Kleins

Gary Barth of Snover is the new manager of the Klein Fertilizers Service Center in Cass City.

GARY BARTH

Barth has been with the Klein Company for the past four years. He started as a plant worker, went into sales and more recently was assistant manager of Klein's Agro-Nutrients Division and manager of sales of Custom Farm Seeds in Michigan.

Barth grew up on a farm in Ingham county and farmed for six years with his father near Webberville. During this time he also attended Lansing Community College.

He and his wife, Linda, now reside near Snover on Argyle Road.

Dreyco's U.S. headquarters office is at 1775 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10019. Its European office is at Rue Vandenboogaerde 19-21, 1020 Brussels, Belgium.

Walpole said that Walbro, now one of the world's fastest-growing producers of electric fuel pumps, manufactures three name brands that are widely used in the automotive aftermarket and the industrial original equipment market: Autopulse and Dupree electric fuel pumps; Conelec electronic fuel pumps. All three are used to move not only gasoline, but also diesel fuels, fuel oil, kerosene, water, and gaseous vapors.

He also said that new

Autopulse and Dupree import car electric fuel pumps have recently been added to the Walbro line.

These fuel pumps are produced by the company's automotive products division, Walpole stated. They replace most mechanical and electric fuel pumps. They can be quickly adapted to in-line installations on Volkswagen, Toyota, Capri, almost all European or Japanese cars. And they can be back-fitted to most models of these 14 imports: Austin; Austin Healey; Austin America; Datsun; Fiat; Honda; Jaguar; Jensen Healey; Mazda; MG/MG Midget; Porsche; Rover; Subaru.

FARM DIVISION Cass City

Showers bring relief for parched Tuscola farmland

Cass City received .85 inches of rain in thundershowers that swept through the area Tuesday night, breaking a mild drought that had lasted over two weeks.

The moisture came in time to help revive crops that had begun to suffer under hot, dry weather. The following report was compiled Tuesday before the rains came.

With at least 50 per cent of the bean crop still waiting to be planted, Tuscola county farmers were looking for badly-needed rain this week to get planting back on the track.

According to Don Kebler, County Extension Agent, bean planting has virtually ground to a halt until the county receives some rainfall. While the situation has not yet reached a crisis stage, crops planted on lighter soils are starting to suffer.

"Generally, the crops planted on heavier ground are holding their own pretty well," he said. "The crops on the light ground with lots of drainage are starting to show some effects."

Kebler said beans planted two weeks ago are growing fairly well, but those planted last week are struggling.

Weather forecasts Tuesday listed chances of showers at less than 50 per cent.

"What we really could use right now is about an inch of rain coming as an all-night drizzle," Kebler said. "If we could get that, we'd really be in business."

Another two weeks without rain and we'd be looking at real problems," he said.

Kebler said the lack of rain looks worse on lawns than it is on field crops at this point.

"Grass can regenerate as soon as we get some water," he said. "But corn and sugar beets don't react the same way. Once they're hurt, it's hard to bring them back."

Farmers have not faced such dry conditions this early in the planting season since 1971, Kebler said, when nearly a week of 100-degree temperatures did considerable damage to field crops.

This season has been one of extremes. After getting off to an early start, farmers were held up much of May by cold, rainy weather that saw numerous frosts.

Area CMU honor students listed

Fifteen students from the Cass City area have been named to the academic honors list at Central Michigan University for the winter semester of 1976. In addition, two students have been honored by CMU for achieving straight "A" averages for the semester.

Named to the honors list were Mary Beth Esau, senior; David D. Hillaker, sophomore; Kristine Ridenour, sophomore, and Curtis F. Strickland, senior, all of Cass City.

Others named were Kathy Jo Burrows, sophomore, Gagetown; Joseph C. Gottler II, sophomore, and Susan Wolak, junior, both of Kingston; Betty L. McIntosh, senior, Snover; Ellen K. Hagen, junior, Uby, and Nancy M. Geboski, Dougald B. Leitch, and Marilyn J. Sweeney, all seniors from Uby.

Owendale honor students are Randall L. Howard, Kathy Joan LaFave and Cynthia Weatherhead, all seniors.

Named to the straight "A" honors list were Linda Jean Baer and Betty L. McIntosh, both seniors from Snover.

Kebler said bean producers aren't against any time deadlines for planting yet. "I've seen years when they've planted as late as July 1 and still gotten good crops," he said.

Actually, we needed a rain a week ago, Kebler said. We definitely need it this week to give our crops a shot in the arm, he added.

Area Ferris grads named

Five area students were among 2,870 graduates of Ferris State College who received diplomas recently.

Frederick J. Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ryan of 4282 West St., Cass City, graduated with a bachelor of science degree in marketing-sales.

He is a 1970 graduate of Cass City High School and is currently employed in sales for Cadillac Plastics of Flint.

Ronald L. Turner

Ronald L. Turner, son of Mrs. Marian Turner and the late Garfield Turner, 5449 Cass City Rd., received an associate in applied science degree in auto service.

He is a 1973 graduate of Cass City High School and plans to work for an auto dealership.

Patricia M. Kelly

Patricia M. Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Kelly of 4270 Hobart Rd., Gagetown, received an associate in applied science degree in medical laboratory technology.

She is a 1974 graduate of Owen-Gage High School, and graduated from Ferris with honors. She plans to work as a laboratory technician.

Gary P. Skaggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Skaggs of 7211 Deckerville Rd., Deford, received a bachelor of science degree in environmental health.

He is a 1968 graduate of Clarkston High School, Clarkston, and plans to seek employment in the public health field.

Also graduating was Patricia L. Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Hartman of 4379 Hoppe Rd., Gagetown, who received an associate in applied science degree in nursing.

Bill would end needless licensing

Myomassologists don't need to be licensed by the state. Local ordinances are enough to allow policing of massage parlors.

And while we're talking about unnecessary state licensing, think about community planners, sanitarians, foresters, landscape architects and watchmakers.

That's the word from Democratic Sen. William Faust of Westland, who's introduced legislation to end state licensing of those occupations.

Advertise it in The Chronicle.

An empty spider web hangs suspended in a dry bush, a mere pattern of gray trembling in the breeze.

On a Sunday morning, people from many walks of life, carrying a myriad of joys and burdens, enter churches to worship.

Dew falls and the sun rises. God moves in the lives of His people. Clothed now in dew, the once drab spider web becomes a chandelier of crystal rainbows - royal purples, velvet violets, fiery reds, some flecked with brightest gold.

People emerge from our churches, apparently unchanged, yet - different. What is the new meaning in their lives? What the deeper understanding? How has peace and confidence been renewed? A mystery? Perhaps! But not beyond experience.

Won't you join us in church this Sunday? Together, we will learn from the God who changes things.

Wilmot girl injured in car-bike accident

A nine-year-old Wilmot girl was shaken up Monday afternoon after the bicycle she was riding was struck by a car on Howard Street in Wilmot.

Sheriff's deputies identified the girl as Margaret Bash of 5856 Howard St.

She was struck by a car driven by William Miller, 18, of 6029 Walnut St., Kingston. Sheriff's deputies said Miller was eastbound on Howard Street when the girl attempted to cross the street on her bicycle in front of his car. Officers noted Miller's vehicle left 43 feet of skid marks as he attempted to avoid the collision.

The girl was treated at Hills and Dales General Hospital. Miller and two passengers, Denise Lockyer, 17, of Deford and Rochelle Lockyer, 1, also of Deford, were uninjured.

No ticket was issued. The accident took place at 1:20 p.m.

A Bay City woman was shaken up Sunday in a two-car accident at the intersection of Cemetery and Decker-ville Roads, six miles south of Cass City.

According to the Tuscola County Sheriff's report, cars driven by Larry Floyd Parker, 16, of 2875 Lamton Rd., Decker, and Timothy Mark Roth, 19, Bay City, were northbound on Cemetery Road when the Parker vehicle attempted a left turn just as the Roth vehicle was attempting to pass.

Sherry Frederick, 18, a passenger in the Roth auto, was treated for cuts and bruises at Hills and Dales General Hospital. The drivers were uninjured.

No ticket was issued. The accident took place at 9:50 p.m.

Two drivers were uninjured Thursday night when their cars collided at the intersection of Kingston and Bevins Road, three miles north of Kingston.

Caro State Police reported a car driven by Renae Joann Taylor, 26, of Rossman Rd.,

Kingston, was southbound on Kingston Road, when a car driven west on Bevins Road by Frank Angelo Boni, 17, of Warren, apparently failed to stop for the intersection and struck the Taylor auto.

Boni told police he did not see the stop sign until it was too late. He was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

The accident took place at 9:05 p.m.

A car driven by Duane Arthur Englehart, 23, of 6361 Pine St., Cass City, struck a deer at the intersection of Decker-ville and Dodge Roads, early Sunday morning.

Sheriff's deputies reported the Englehart vehicle was westbound on Decker-ville Road when a deer ran from the north side of the road.

Englehart was not injured. The accident took place at 5:20 a.m.

Salary not as important as service—Judge Clements

A judge's salary should not be the overriding consideration when it comes to choosing an occupant for a Circuit Court seat.

That's the view of Circuit Judge Martin E. Clements, 38, seeking election to fill the remainder of Judge James P. Churchill's term in the 40th judicial district which includes Tuscola and Lapeer counties.

Clements was in Cass City last week seeking support for his bid to continue in the post he has held since replacing Judge Churchill in January, 1975. Churchill vacated the post to become a Federal District Judge.

Commenting on the controversy raised earlier this year over salaries circuit judges receive, Clements says pay is not a legitimate issue.

"Judges can't set their own salary," he said. "The legislature and the local county governments must make that decision."

He pointed out that he and Judge Norman Baguley rank 46 in pay in the state's 47 judicial circuits. Each earns $32,000 annually.

"But salary isn't that important," he said. "I think the voters should look at the candidates and their experience. Voting for a judge isn't the same thing as voting for millage. It really has nothing to do with taxes."

Clements said anyone seeking a judgeship shouldn't be in it for the money. "A judge probably has more responsibility than any other local official because he deals with their civil liberties."

While he sees no pressing need for another circuit judge for the region, he does see the possibility of a third judge a few years down the road.

What he views as more pressing is help handling mounting paperwork.

"I see the possibility of expanding to a court administrator who would help schedule cases," he said. "Right now, though, the situation in Tuscola county is still under control. In Lapeer county, our docket is a little more crowded and scheduling is a little harder."

In the wake of two murder trials in Tuscola county within the past six months, Clements is still convinced that gag orders on the press are not in the best interests of justice. "For one thing, it's virtually impossible to find a person totally unexposed to press coverage of a case," he said. "I personally am not happy with gag orders, and I think there are other alternatives short of muzzling the press."

I'm not convinced that people will be affected by what they read in the press anyway."

Clements served from 1971-75 as Lapeer County Prosecutor and as an assistant prior to that time.

He is married and the father of three children.

McKay seeks drain post

Robert W. McKay formally announced his candidacy this week for the office of Tuscola County Drain Commissioner on the Republican ballot in the August 3 Primary.

McKay, a 20-year resident of Tuscola county, was graduated from Vassar High School in 1968. He attended Michigan State University, earning BS and MA degrees in geography.

McKay, a specialist in Remote Sensing-Cartography, was involved as a graduate student in producing a land-use map for the Tri-County Planning Commission of Eaton, Ingham, and Clinton counties.

In June, 1975, McKay was appointed by Michigan State University to direct the "Atlas of Michigan" Project. He supervised a staff of 20 in basic research, design, and production cartography of over 500 maps, graphs, and diagrams planned for the publication. Through his involvement in this project, the first major Michigan Atlas to be produced since 1873, he has worked closely with many agencies of the state government, including the Department of Natural Resources.

Presently, McKay, a five-year member of the American Society of Photogrammetric Engineers, is serving as a consultant to the Wayne County Planning Commission in the production of six land-use maps, focusing on the Detroit Riverfront.

McKay says he is seeking the position of Drain Commissioner because he feels he can utilize the office in its obligation of actively monitoring the general condition and adequacy of the entire drainage network of Tuscola county. His training in many aspects of geology, physical geography, soils, and particularly his experience in the interpretation of aerial and satellite imagery will be extremely useful in assuring the operation of the present drainage system and planning for future needs.

McKay, a Republican, believes that Tuscola County's Drain Commissioner must be responsive to the drainage problems of the entire county. In addition to maintaining adequate drainage for agricultural lands, attention must be focused on the rapidly growing zones just beyond our established towns, which are in desperate need of immediate relief, he says.

McKay says his administrative and cartographic skills could be applied to a comprehensive drainage network plan, involving the mapping of soils and drainage systems. Such planning would not only ensure local areas of the county of adequate drainage, but would also provide the needed compatibility with the drainage systems of the neighboring counties of the East-Central Region of Michigan.

Welding broken metal a family tradition for blacksmith Chuck Gage

Chuck Gage of rural Deford likes to fix things.

"I like taking things that people say can't be fixed and fixing them," Gage says. "That's what I enjoy doing best."

He and his family have been welding broken metal together for over a century. Gage, 53, operates a welding shop on Deckerville Road, two miles east of Deford, and is a fourth generation blacksmith.

"Not many people can make that statement," Gage said with obvious satisfaction as he leaned against a workbench in his shop. "There aren't too many families around here who have been into anything for four generations."

Gage recently revived the old family blacksmith business after living in Wisconsin for 25 years. He worked as a welder for a large company but never called Wisconsin his home.

"When somebody asked me where my home was, I always told them Deford," he recalled. "I remember one guy at work told me home was Wisconsin because I'd lived there 25 years. But it wasn't. This was home—right here."

Gage returned with his wife in 1975, purchased a farm east of Deford and opened for business. His current shop is a converted barn stable. It contains relics of his family's past beside some of the most up-to-date welding equipment you can buy.

"My great-grandfather, Lorenzo 'Wren' Gage, started the business in Wilmot," Gage recalled. "That must have been about a century ago. I still have the anvil and a pair of pliers he made and used."

Meantime, his grandfather, Ben Gage, opened a blacksmith business in Deford. He constructed two cement buildings in the village where he operated his own business.

"When my great-grandfather died, my father, Bill Gage, bought out the business in Wilmot and rebuilt the shop," Gage said.

When his grandfather died in Deford, Gage's father bought out the business from family heirs. One of Gage's brothers took over the Wilmot shop when his father moved in the mid-1930's.

The business died out in recent years following Chuck's move to Wisconsin.

"But I always had it in my mind that I'd come back here and reopen the business," he said. "I'd done it all my life and I enjoyed it."

"The first time I remember being in a shop was when I was five years old. I stood on a wooden box and turned the crank for my dad's forge. The first welding I did was when I was about 10."

Gage recalled in those days, welding was done with gas that the blacksmith mixed himself. You'd mix three carbide "balls" with water in a closed tank and when the pressure built up, you were in business.

"You could weld until the gas went," he said. "Then you'd take the tank outside, dump it, recharge it and take off again."

In early 1975, Gage re-established the family business, combining the old and the new. His latest piece of equipment is an arc welder that welds almost anything from aluminum to white metal and retails for around $2,000.

The shop also has a forge which he uses to straighten bent metal and to sharpen bean knives, along with other jobs requiring lots of heat.

"My father would never use an arc welder," Gage recalled. "He always forge-welded everything. When I got older and he went on vacation, I'd arc weld. After a time, when those jobs came back and he saw the arc welds were holding up as well as his forge-welds, he decided maybe it wasn't so bad after all."

Gage says he wants to do more work in remodeling his shop and possibly expanding it. He isn't sure whether or not that means a new building.

One thing he is sure about—blacksmithing is a dying art. "You don't see younger men taking it up," he said. "As the old guys are dying off, there's no one coming on to take over. I'm about the last blacksmith left around this area."

Some of his work comes from as far away as North Branch, Marlette and Bay City. But that doesn't bother him.

"I like what I'm doing," he said with a smile. "My job is my hobby. I wouldn't want to be doing anything else."

Ironically, the only type of blacksmith work Gage doesn't do is horseshoeing. His great-grandfather hammered hundreds of horse-shoes from scratch, as did his grandfather and father.

"Oh, I could do it if I wanted to," he said. "But it just isn't my bag. No way."

AROUND THE FARM

Use herbicides properly

By Don Kebler

Herbicides, insecticides, fungicides and bactericides accomplish wonders if properly applied for the desired control. This is a big "if," and most of the problems I see are caused because this big "if" is not followed.

Anyone can easily run astray on improper use of these chemicals with two results possible. One is no control and the other is severe damage.

Improper use of these chemicals can mean that they will not control the problem, cause injury to the plants, leave a residue to injure or kill the next succeeding plant or affect pets, wild life or people.

Every one of these chemicals is labeled as to what they control, rate to mix, precautions of use and tolerances. Just because the label may not say you cannot use the product for what your needs are does not mean go ahead and use the product. If it does not specifically recommend it for your problem, then do not use it or experiment.

I am finding the major problems from the use of these chemicals is the result of not reading or understanding the label. Also it is not unusual for the person not to have even read, let alone looked at the label.

Generally I find the homeowner to be the least aware of what should or should not be used; perhaps next, and to a lesser degree, the part-time farmer and next the commercial livestock and crop producer. The commercial fruit and vegetable producer is the most knowledgeable user. He has been using chemicals professionally for many years longer than most anyone else.

In general, our recommendations are to identify the problem cause, find out the proper chemical, know the proper time to use the chemical, read and understand the label, do not read into the label what isn't there, then follow all directions to the letter.

I made an urban house call recently regarding questions on shrubbery and trees. During that time, the person remarked they never knew there was a civil agency that worked with people in these questions. They called my office on recommendation from a friend.

I guess my comment to this is that the county Cooperative Extension Service office is the educational off-campus arm of Michigan State University and as such its services are available to all persons free. In other words, we handle any questions from soup to nuts if there are answers available, whether the questions come from farm or non-farm people.

Firecracker injures tot Thursday

A four-year-old rural Unionville youth sustained puncture wounds and multiple lacerations Thursday when a firecracker exploded in his hands as he sat in the front seat of the family car.

Kirt Michael Bedore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlon Bedore of Bay City-Forestville Rd., was treated at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

According to the Caro State Police report of the incident, the elder Bedore told officers he had a few M-80 firecrackers in the trunk of his car.

As his wife unloaded groceries from the trunk, the youth apparently found one, climbed into the front seat of the vehicle and lit it, using the car's cigarette lighter.

The device exploded as the youth held it. He received multiple puncture wounds and contusions of the right leg and chest.

The incident occurred around 3:15 p.m.

gone well," he said. "We've had no major mechanical problems. And when anything has come up, people have been so friendly trying to help us."

He says prices for food, clothing and gasoline are about the same in Australia. Automobiles are cheaper, he said.

SCENERY

The McLennans have been impressed most with the scenery. This is their first visit to the United States and they agree it's been worth the effort.

"We've been impressed with the marvelous roads you have here," he said. "The scenery has been magnificent. We'd never seen snow before until we got into the Rocky Mountains."

"You have so many aids for the tourists. So many rest areas. We couldn't ask for more."

McLennan said there are several reasons for the trip.

"For one thing, it's a geography lesson for our children," he said. "When anyone mentions a place, they'll know it first-hand. We also wanted to see the world and the best way to do it for us was by car."

The United States has been fun, he said, but the trip is only about half-completed. They left Friday for Niagara Falls and points east, eventually arriving in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

From there, they'll sell their car, take a plane to London, a boat across the channel to France, buy another car and trailer and head overland to Singapore.

"It's only 15,000 miles," he said with a grin.

The McLennans agree they haven't really been homesick, although they do miss some of the news of home. The children admit they miss seeing some of their friends.

But what they've seen and experienced has offset those regrets, they say.

"I don't suppose I'll ever be able to do this again," he said. "If I wait another 14 years, I may be dead. The way I look at it we should enjoy it while we have the chance."

The only thing that worries him is his job. He's taken a year's leave from his school position. But he has to return by the end of January or face losing it.

Right now, he hasn't made up his mind whether or not to seek a teaching job in Scotland. If he does, their stay away from Australia could be considerably longer.

If he does decide to return to Australia, he plans to use color slides he's taken as teaching aids in geography classes. But they will be some of the most expensive slides ever used.

"I figure by the time we're done, this trip will have cost me $20,000 Australian," he said. The current exchange rate is $12 Australian for $15 American.

"I may even have to borrow $5,000 against my life insurance to make it. But it will be worth it."

Field millage loses at polls

from a field of six candidates seeking two four-year terms.

Unofficial results show Ruggles, a newcomer to the board, with 144 votes, and Borek, an incumbent with 91 votes.

Others in the race included Sharon Powell with 82 votes, Maria Megge with 79, Ruth Ahern with 45 and Richard Peter with 41.

Voters approved renewal of 13 mills for operation for one year by a 202-52 margin, with one spoiled ballot.

A total of 255 votes were cast.

UBLY

Voters in the Ubly School District turned down a request for .25 mills for three years to construct an athletic track by a 237-83 margin, according to unofficial results.

Incumbent board member Bernard Puvalowski and Mrs. Evelyn Romzek were unopposed for reelection. Puvalowski polled 273 votes while Mrs. Romzek received 246. One ballot was spoiled.

A total of 321 voters cast ballots in what was described as a "light" turnout.

Ladies'

Aid meets

The Ladies' Aid of Good Shepherd Lutheran church held its last regular meeting until fall Monday evening, June 7, at the home of Mrs. June Perlaki. Thirteen members and two guests were present.

A short business meeting was held, followed by a clothing party. The fund raising project was to support the Ladies' Aid.

Dessert was served by Mrs. Perlaki.

The next regular meeting will be held Sept. 13.

Novesta VBS held

A successful Vacation Bible School was held last week at the Novesta Church of Christ, according to director of the effort, Mrs. Harold Prong. Classes and activities were held from 9-11:30 a.m. daily. Top attendance was 75 children and youth and daily attendance averaged 66.

Assisting with the school for three days was Mrs. David Brunck whose home is in Tennessee. She also does mission work in Mexico, working with a children's home near Mexico City.

Teachers for the school included Wanda McConnell, Donna Nye, Donella Peasley, Janey Luana, Joan Little and Rev. Harold Prong.

In charge of recreation was Charles McConnell, with Suzanne Little as pianist. Singing was directed by Peggy McConnell and crafts were under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. Howard Woodard.

Prizes were awarded to Karen Little, Kathy Nye and Christopher McConnell for points earned in attendance, memorizing of Bible verses and various other activities.

Wow! Girls just 2 games away from State title

IT WAS A GIDDY jubilant group of girls that arrived home Saturday night from Clare with the State Regional softball trophy held high. The girls are practicing hard this week in an attempt to bring home Cass City's first state championship.

The Cass City Red Hawks softball team is within two games of doing what no other team in the 90-plus years of the Cass City High School has accomplished... winning a State championship.

Never mind that the Hawk girls will be underdog to Kalamazoo Christian and its fireballing pitcher when the two teams meet at Kalamazoo Saturday morning at 10 a.m.

The girls were underdogs when they travelled to Clare Saturday to play Lincoln-Alcona. Everybody expected them to get beat except the players themselves and Coach Kally Maharg's charges won a tight well played game, 2-1.

That victory enabled them to qualify for the regional finals in the afternoon when Freeland fell, 8-5.

Cass City scored in the very first inning against Lincoln but the players from the north countered that run with a marker of their own.

Elaine Stoutenburg started it with a single after two were away in the first. She stole second. Cheri Martin hit the ball to the pitcher and she threw wild to first and Stoutenburg came flying home with the marker that tied the score. The losers scored in the first on walks and a triple. A rally was cut short for Lincoln by shoddy base running that resulted in an out at second base under girls' rules.

That ended the offensive action for Lincoln.

In the fourth Cass City pushed across the run that won it. Lisa Zimba singled and stole second and came home on an infield out. Mary Fleming pitched the win, striking out nine and issuing four walks.

The victory for the Regional title wasn't as nerve racking as the opening decision. Cass City rolled to an early lead and won going away over Freeland, 8-5.

The losers made it easy for Cass City by committing 11 errors. The Hawks moved in front by a 7-2 count after four innings and after that it was simply a case of mopping up.

Fleming pitched both ends of the doubleheader and helped her own cause with two hits in three tries. Judy Luana also picked up a pair of hits.

GETTING READY

If practice will do it the girls will be ready for Saturday's showdown. All week they have been practicing a couple of hours in the morning.

They will leave at noon Friday for Saturday's games. The contests are slated at Dickerson field. After the Cass City game, Byron will face Lake Fenton at noon.

The State title game will be at 2:30 p.m.

If Cass City should win prepare for an explosion whenever it is that the bus arrives back home in town.

It could be late but who would mind waking up for that?

The line scores:

CC	1001	00x	2-3-3
L-A	1000	000	1-2-7
CC	1303	10x	8-7-2
F	0200	300	5-9-11

3 undefeated in church loop

At least one undefeated team will fall by the wayside this week as the picture of the race for the Church League championship starts to clear.

The Catholics face the Lutherans Thursday night and one of the teams will be defeated for the first time. The Lutherans, Catholics and Deford were the only remaining undefeated clubs after Monday night's games.

The Lutherans kept their slate clean with their second straight overtime victory. They topped Shabbona 6-5 in the nightcap game Tuesday, June 8.

Al Romig pitched the win over Dale Auslander. Each pitcher allowed seven hits. Romig helped his own cause with a home run while Roy Sefton kept Shabbona in the game with a triple and a single.

In the early game the Methodists topped Church of Christ, 9-5. Ed Stoutenburg bested Kurt Little for the win. Luis Arroyo slapped two hits for the losers while Bob Kozan blasted a home run as one of his two safeties.

The Baptists had too much firepower for winless Colwood Thursday as Dean Hoag rapped three hits, including a home run, to lead his team to an 8-4 decision.

Lowell Smith led Colwood with two hits as Gary Mellendorf picked up the win. In the late game Lamotte won a slugfest over Missionary, 10-9. Errors hurt Missionary as Marv Fishell bested Joe Mellendorf. Jim Brown homered for the losers. Jim Tuckey had two hits.

MONDAY GAMES

Deford continued to roll undefeated Monday night as they made Missionary their third victims of the season, 8-5. Heavy hitting by his teammates made it easy for Alvin McKee to chalk up the win. Louis Tibbits slammed a round tripper and Bernie Babich and Greg Reynolds picked up two hits each. Joe Mellendorf and Phil Martin, with two hits, led the losers.

In the final game of the week, the Baptists bowed to Church of Christ. Gary Mellendorf struck out 15 in a losing cause. Mellendorf and Dave Brooks led the attack for the Baptists while Bryon Warju, with two hits, was the big stickler for the winners.

THE HOT DRY weather hasn't hurt the fishing in the Cass River. Anglers have been cleaning up on big pike in the last two weeks. This beauty was nailed on a Mepps spinner near Argyle. It is 34 inches long. The lucky angler is Clem Koepf of Cass City.

Reds undefeated in Little League

The red-hot Reds set the pace this week in Cass City Girls' Little League competition, boosting their record to a perfect 3-0 after powering their way to a pair of wins last week.

In their first contest of the week, Tuesday, June 8, the Reds outscored the Cubs 12-6 behind the pitching of Tammy Root who struck out six.

The Reds pushed across five runs in the second inning and three more in the sixth to put the game out of reach. The Cubs managed a pair of runs in the opening inning and three more in the fifth.

Shelly LaPeer and Tammy Tibbits connected for a combined total of seven hits for the Reds, while Tina LaRoche connected for a home run for the losing Cubs.

It was no contest as the Reds smashed the Hawks 20-1 Thursday. The Reds poured on the runs, with six in the first two innings, seven more in the third and five in the fourth.

Tammy Root struck out 11 Hawks on her way to her second pitching win of the week. Gail Gutierrez took the loss.

LIONS-TIGERS

In the battle of the cats, the Lions defeated the Tigers, 17-7, Wednesday, June 9.

The Lions scored four runs in the second and third innings and five more in the fourth to preserve the win. Denise Okerstrom bested Terri Agar on the mound.

Tammy Rabideau and Andrea Barnes paced the Lion hitting with three hits each.

HAWKS-BRAVES

The Hawks won their first game of the season and their first in two years when they downed the Braves 14-11, June 7.

The Braves opened the scoring with four runs in the first inning and seven in the third, but the Hawks rebounded with five runs in the third inning, three in the fourth and five more in the fifth to put the game on ice.

Gail Gutierrez took the win against losing hurler Libby Hartel, who connected for three hits.

Merchants roll to tourney title

It was a double elimination tournament but the Cass City Merchants didn't need a second chance as the team roared undefeated through five games to win the fast pitch tournament at Vassar.

The Merchants played a game Friday, two Saturday and two Sunday on the way to the championship.

All of the Friday and Saturday games were laughers for the Merchants.

Friday Griffith and Howard fell before the fireballs of Craig Helwig, 8-0. Helwig tossed a four-hitter and struck out 15. Jerry Toner and Ken Lowe hit for the circuit and Wally Hempton went 3 for 4.

Saturday, Rick Reynolds duplicated Helwig's opening effort hurling the Merchants to their second straight shut-out, 5-0. Reynolds allowed just two hits and helped his own cause with two hits in two tries. Mike Murphy also banged a pair of safeties.

Saturday evening Cass City overwhelmed All Sports of Saginaw, 22-2. Craig Helwig coasted to the win. The Merchants scored 14 runs in the top of the seventh for a one-inning club record. Elwyn Helwig spanked out 5 hits in 5 tries. Hempton hit a double, triple and home run and Ken Lowe counted a round tripper among his three hits.

It wasn't quite as easy on Sunday for the Merchants, but they had enough to win when it counted. In the first game Merrill jumped on Helwig for four runs in the first and three runs in the second and it looked like curtains for Cass City. But the Merchants got back three in the third, two more in the fifth and then won it with a five run outburst in the sixth. Toner and Scott Hartel rapped two hits each. Hempton and Lowe also picked up two hits each and all four blows were home runs.

Probably the best played game of the tournament was the championship tilt Sunday evening when Cass City topped Thumb Area Septic, 4-3.

The long ball proved decisive.

The Merchants broke a scoreless tie in the third with two runs. Ron Ouvry led off with a home run in the third and Lowe also hit for the circuit in the inning.

The Merchants stretched their lead to three runs in the fifth as Lowe tripled and scored on Hempton's single. The run that proved decisive was notched in the sixth. Mike Murphy singled and Jack Hillaker doubled him home.

Hempton was named the tournament's most valuable hitter.

LEAGUE GAMES

While in the tournament Cass City was perfect, in the Thumb League Cass City finds the competition stiffer. In a slugfest, Mayville beat Cass City, 11-10, Monday, June 7, at Mayville. Rick Reynolds took the loss. Henry Cooklin slapped a double and home run, Jerry Toner had two home runs and Hempton and Reynolds also blasted circuit clouts.

The Merchants' hitting fell off a mite against Sebewaing Wednesday, June 9, at Reese but the defense was much better so Cass City walked off with a 7-2 win. Helwig tossed the victory.

Lowe went three for three, Don Galbraith picked up two hits and Hempton rapped a double and home run.

THE CASS CITY MERCHANTS celebrated a clean sweep of an invitational softball tournament last week end at Vassar. The club was undefeated in five games spread over 3 days.
