

Owen-Gage landowners seek tax transfer

Another lawsuit, this one involving property tax payments, has been filed in connection with the embattled Owen-Gage School system.

A group of property owners in the so-called "Goslin" territory has filed suit in Tuscola County Circuit Court seeking to have their tax payments go to the Cass City School District.

Robert Kleeb, Howell attorney representing Keith Goslin in the action, said the group is seeking a writ of mandamus which would allow them to pay their property taxes to Cass City.

The land involved carries a State Equalized Valuation of about $1.7 million and lies in Elmwood and Columbia townships in Tuscola county. About 80 students are involved.

Presently, the property is in the Owen-Gage system, pending legal action in state courts. The land had been transferred to Cass City in June by the State Board of Education, but was ordered to remain in Owen-Gage in a ruling by Ingham County

Circuit Judge James T. Kallman.

Kleeb said the problems began Aug. 16 when the Tuscola Intermediate district filed its tax spread placing the Goslin parcel on the Cass City district's millage.

Less than three weeks later, Sept. 1, the Huron Intermediate District filed its tax spread which did not include the Goslin parcel on Owen-Gage's tax rolls.

But on Sept. 16, Kleeb said, the Huron Intermediate District filed an amended tax spread including the Goslin territory in Owen-Gage. Consequently, the attorney said, the property owners were being taxed twice.

The Goslin suit was filed Wednesday, Oct. 20. The same day, the Tuscola Intermediate superintendent filed a revised tax spread which excluded the parcel from Cass City's tax roll and placed it back in Owen-Gage.

Kleeb said he has seen no valid restraining order to keep the parcel out of Cass City. He said Judge Kallman's order did not include the petitioners but was brought in a suit filed by Owen-Gage against the State Board of Education.

"Owen-Gage has been very cute in trying to keep the petitioners out of their actions," he said. "They've filed actions against the State Board. Our position is that they have to include us."

Kleeb said as long as the Goslin parcel should be in the Cass City district, residents should have Cass City school busses transport their children to and from school.

Presently Owen-Gage busses serve the territory even though most of the students attend school in Cass City.

Kleeb said the basic battle is still over the quality of education in the district.

"It is indeed unfortunate that they (Owen-Gage supporters) think they can make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," Kleeb said. "They can pump millions of dollars into that system and it still won't fly."

Kleeb noted that the Owen-

Gage district is not a party to this suit, which is scheduled to be heard before Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Norman Baguley. The suit is against the combined Huron-Tuscola Intermediate Boards of Education.

The writ asks that the tax spread include the property in the Cass City district.

Huron Intermediate Supt. F. James McBride told the Chronicle Tuesday attorneys are preparing a response to the Goslin suit.

"We've gone with all the laws as the judge in Ingham county has instructed us," McBride said. "Obviously we don't feel we've done anything wrong."

Owen-Gage Supt. Ronald Erickson was not available for comment Tuesday. In an earlier published account, he indicated he would contact school attorneys to see if the district could become involved.

Tuscola Intermediate Supt. Dr. Bruce Dunn could not be reached Tuesday by the Chronicle.

Police probe teen knifing

A 14-year-old Cass City area youth reportedly sustained hand wounds when he was stabbed at Friday night's Cass City-Caro football game held at the village park.

Cass City Police said the knifing took place after another juvenile apparently tried to grab a bag of potato chips he was eating.

According to a report filed in connection with the incident, the first youth refused to hand over the food and apparently tried to fend off the attack.

At this point, the report said, the second youth pulled a knife.

The youth was treated for his injuries at Hills and Dales General Hospital. The knifing took place around 9:00 p.m., the report said. No arrests have been made.

Area police investigated a series of thefts and an auto vandalism incident during the past week. A citizens band radio and antenna, collectively valued at over $200, was reported stolen from a vehicle parked at 5984 State St., Kingston, Saturday.

Eric Wischman, who operates a business at the location, told Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies he discovered the theft Saturday morning. The culprits apparently broke out the passenger door window with a cinder block to gain access.

No arrests have been made. Irene Volz of 6598 Third St., Gagetown, told Caro State Police someone stole a small coin collection from her home early last week.

She told officers the house was not locked when the theft took place. A quantity of meat was also reported taken from a freezer in the home. Police have no suspects.

Dale R. Mills of 3846 Cemetery Rd., Cass City, told Cass City Police two eight-track stereo tapes valued at $10 were stolen from the front seat of his auto Friday.

The car was parked in the main Walbro Corp. plant parking lot when the theft took place. Police have no suspects.

Diane Lynne Brown, Cass City, reported extensive vandalism to her auto Saturday.

Ms. Brown told Cass City Police she had washed her car at the Atkinson Power-Wash on Main Street and could not start the vehicle afterward.

She said she left the disabled auto and when she returned, found the damage. Police said the distributor cap had been smashed, numerous wires were either broken or pulled away, the battery holder was broken and a foreign substance had been poured into the engine's crankcase.

No dollar figure was placed on the damage. The incident reportedly took place in the late evening hours. No suspects have been arrested.

Clare Comment, owner of Charmont, told Cass City Police thieves had attempted a break-in at his business late last week. A door to the building was reported damaged.

The culprits did not gain entry, police said.

GOV. WILLIAM MILLIKEN snips the ribbon officially opening Michigan Artrain's visit to Caro last Thursday. A host of local and state dignitaries were on hand for the ceremonies. Artrain concluded its visit Monday.

Chest drive begins

Organizers for the Elkland-Novesta Community Chest drive held their annual kickoff dinner Monday night at Wildwood Farms.

This year's announced goal is $13,200, up $1,200 from last year.

The community chest received requests for $16,000 last year. A total of $11,700 was available for distribution.

Some 60 persons attended Monday night's dinner and heard speakers Bill Herbst and Tom Collins from the Lansing United Way office explain some of the services United Way helps support. A film was also shown.

A total of 70 per cent of all collections remains in the Elkland-Novesta township area. Less than one per cent goes for administrative costs.

PRETTY TO look at but oh, so cold. This was a common scene in Cass City Wednesday morning as a blanket of snow covered the region.

Council hashes Dial-A-Ride

Don't look for a Dial-A-Ride program in Cass City in the near future.

That was the message from village trustees during an abbreviated village council session Tuesday night at the Municipal Building.

In fact, the idea probably wouldn't have been discussed if District Two Commissioner Maynard McConkey hadn't shown up for the meeting.

McConkey told council he'd come to hear their ideas on the feasibility of Dial-A-Ride in Cass City. Instead, trustees turned the discussion around and quizzed McConkey on the county's position.

The commissioner told council the county board has no plans to jump into any mass transportation scheme. He said the board had turned down earlier requests for such a system since the local funds aren't available to operate it.

"I don't see how it would be practical due to the fact that there are so many miles to cover out here," McConkey said.

(An account of the county board's latest action regarding public transportation may be found elsewhere in this issue of the Chronicle.)

Village officials aren't anxious to get involved either. Village President Lambert Althaver said Dial-A-Ride is "impractical" in Cass City and said funding could be put to better use improving streets or plowing snow.

Council spent much of its time taking care of house-keeping chores. It okayed final payment of just over $1,000 to Perma-Bilt Construction Co. for the municipal swimming pool.

Trustees acted on recommendation of architect Dan Toshak who said final work met with his approval. The retainer had been held pending completion of all work.

Supt. Lou LaPonsie reported the village will file a $294,000 grant request under a recently-approved public works bill passed by Congress.

The funds would be used for street repair and reconstruction. Village authorities have sent a letter of intent and should receive forms soon, LaPonsie said.

He admitted Cass City's chances at a share of the federal pie are slim at best. Still, if the village got even 10 per cent of the request, it could do part of the work, he said.

Trustees took no action regarding the transfer of a SDM liquor license from Charles Guinther to Munir Isa, new owner of Quaker Maid.

Council had the option of opposing the transfer before the state Liquor Control Commission. The action is considered routine.

LaPonsie reported 12 men will be patrolling Cass City in five vehicles to prevent wholesale Halloween vandalism. Halloween trick or treating has been officially set Saturday night from 6:00-9:00 p.m.

It was reported that $151,394.10 in village taxes have been collected this year, or 98.3 per cent of the total due.

Commissioners cool to public transit plan

A request by two State Highway Department officials for Tuscola county's blessing of a three-county public transportation study got a cool reception from the Board of Commissioners Tuesday in Caro.

Edward Fontanive, of the bus development section, and Steven J. Vertalka, transportation planner, asked the board for a resolution of support to study the feasibility of a three-county transportation set-up.

They explained while part of their program could include the Dial-A-Ride concept, other types of transportation could also be included. They said there would be no charge for the study.

They admitted if a plan went into effect, the county would eventually have to finance at least a third of the costs.

This didn't set well with at least two commissioners—Maynard McConkey of Cass City and Paul Nagy of Fairgrove.

McConkey said it appeared as though this would be just another program where the state would start it and within three years the county would have to bear the entire cost.

"Why doesn't the state just assess (each county) $1,000 a year each year and go from there?" McConkey asked.

He said it is nearly impossible to budget for added program costs.

Nagy questioned the two officials on the failure of Dial-A-Ride in Houghton-Hancock and Roscommon county.

He said Dial-A-Ride cost Roscommon county $72,000 a year and it carried 12,000 passengers. "That's six bucks a ride no matter how you look at it and that's not cheap," Nagy said.

Dial-A-Ride ended in Houghton-Hancock when voters in Hancock failed to pass an operating millage.

Commission Chairman Charles Woodcock said Tuscola county residents needed inter-city and inter-county transportation more than they needed something on the order of Dial-A-Ride which might operate in only one village or city.

He said the main transportation needs involve service to and from Saginaw or Bay City or between towns within the county.

The highway officials agreed and said that's why a study is needed.

"We want your input," Fontanive told the board. "We need to have input from you, from other county agencies and from the public in general before we can do anything."

Fontanive said a three-county system would avoid duplication of services and operated under one public transit authority with a general manager, could work.

He predicted gasoline would rise to as much as $2.00 per gallon by 1980 and said the demand for public transportation would continue to grow.

He said a transportation study could be made for Tuscola county alone but said a three-county plan would be advantageous for businesses who service residents of all three counties.

While the board failed to pass a resolution supporting the study, it did agree to submit the request to the Public Affairs Committee chaired by Cmmr. Margaret Wenta. Nagy and McConkey also serve on the committee.

BUDGET

In other business, the board put its seal of approval on the county's 1977 budget of $2,772,459, a 26 per cent increase over the figure approved last year.

It's the highest budget ever for Tuscola county. Experts believe next year's total could easily top $3 million. Total requests for 1977 reached $3,035,461.

The board also gave Sheriff Hugh Marr its approval of a mobile crime investigation unit. A grant request for the $56,000 unit has been okayed by the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region and forwarded onto state authorities who still must okay the unit.

NEGOTIATIONS

An agreement is reported near in negotiations between commissioners and the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) representing Sheriff's deputies.

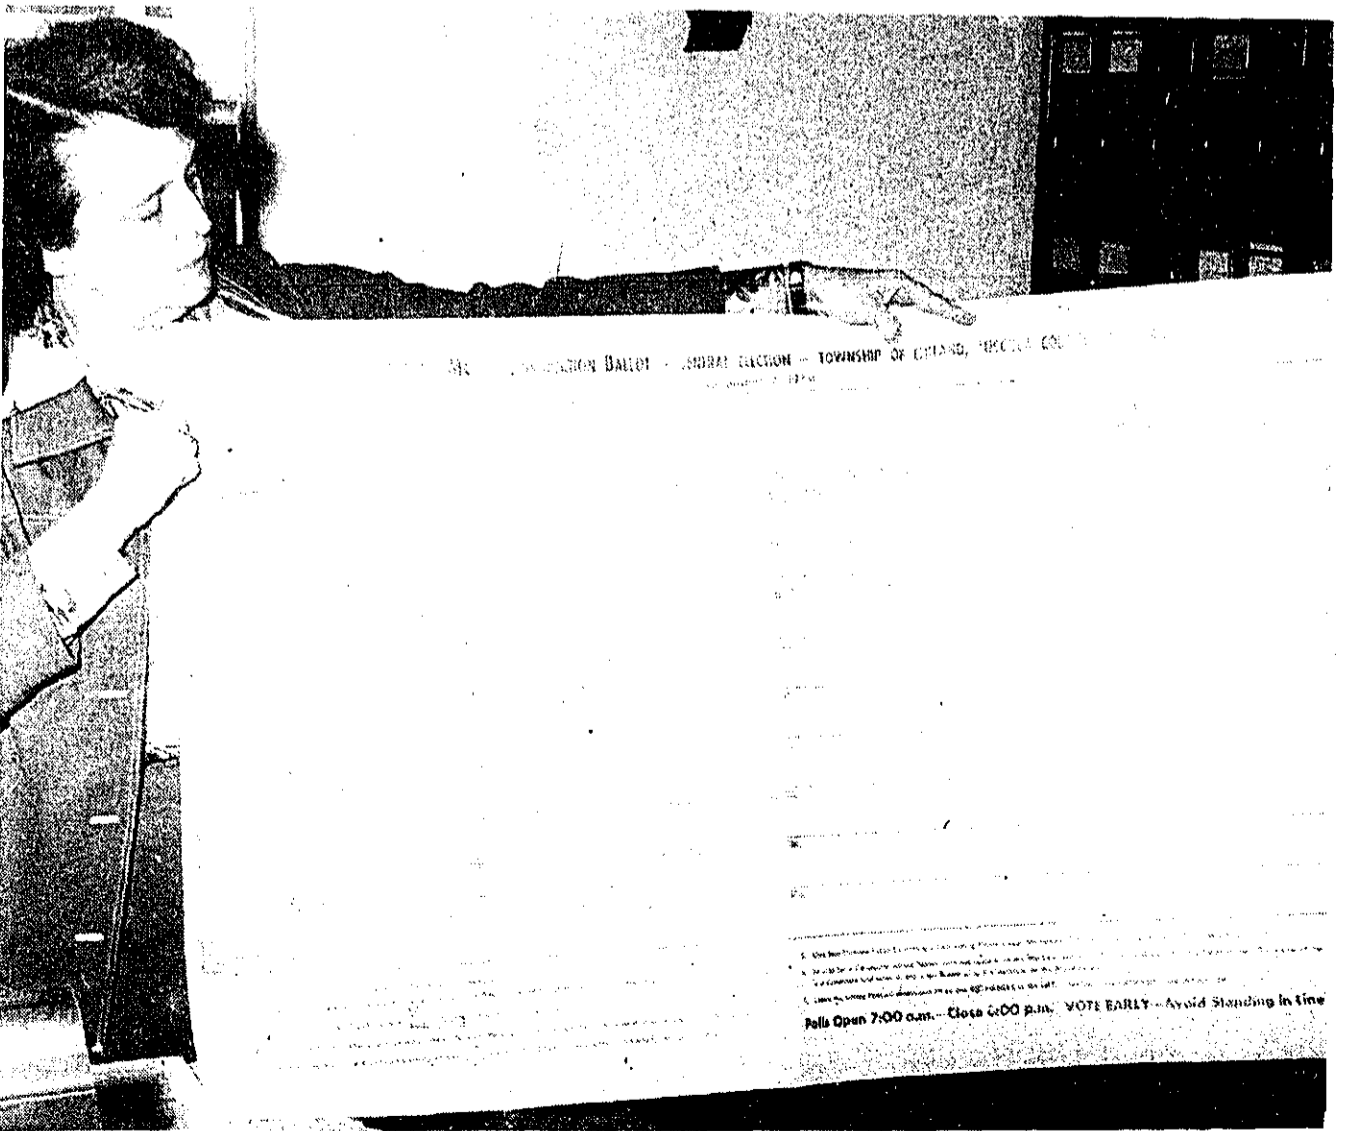

SCHOOL BOARD EYES FEDERAL WORK FUNDS

At a special meeting held Monday the Cass City School Board voted to try for Federal Work Project funds for an addition to the Campbell Elementary School.

To handle the application procedure the board hired Leonard Hool of Port Huron. Hool charges $25 per hour and the agreement is that he will survey Cass City's situation for two or three hours and if he feels there is a chance for the funds complete the applications.

The estimated cost for the complete job is $1,000.

Approval of a transfer of property by Carl Volmer to the Caro district was refused by the board. The board said it had no objection if the students attended Caro if transportation is furnished by the Caro district.

"If It Fitz . . ." Assorted strange stuff

BY JIM FITZGERALD

... As an ex-country editor now working in the middle of one of the largest cities, I am often asked by old friends if I'm having any trouble adjusting to my new environment.

Folks back on the farm automatically assume things are much more sophisticated on a huge daily newspaper. They are properly impressed when I tell them I park my car each day on the ninth floor of a garage. Where I come from, there are no ninth floors, not even for parking people.

I sometimes brag that Louis Cook parks his car in the same garage, and sometimes we end up on the same elevator. Everyone knows Cook is the longtime erudite columnist on the Free Press. The other morning Cook boarded the elevator carrying something silver. With great sophistication, he lifted tinfoil to reveal a plate of brownies.

"Have one," he said with great erudition.

So I munched to the office with great class, and sat down to the typewriter with a chintful of sophisticated crumbs.

If they could see me now . . . Speaking of sophistication, recently I gave you an anguished report on the embarrassing trouble I had summoning an elevator in the new Hyatt-Regency Hotel in Dearborn. The "up" and "down" buttons are not beside the doors as in the normal scheme of architecture. So I ended up squeezing the light fixtures over the elevator doors, to no avail. A passing stranger had to point out that all the elevators are summoned by pushing a giant button on a short pedestal which stands in plain view just a few feet from the doors.

My humiliation was considerable, but it has been matched — even surpassed. After reading of my problem, Free Press reporter Tom Box confessed what had happened to him in the same situation.

When he couldn't locate the elevator buttons, he decided they must be summoned by an electric eye. So he approached the doors while waving his arms in wide circles, seeking to break the invisible beam.

Passers-by probably thought Tom was trying to fly to the 10th floor.

I have a new hero. His name is Merlin Featheringill and he is a football coach.

If you are like me, you are weary of the anguish of Forzano, the excesses of Schembechler, and the histrionics of Cozell. You are bugged by Little League coaches who think they are the reincarnation of Vince Lombardi. So you should meet Featheringill, a rare coach who knows what sports are supposed to be all about.

Featheringill coaches flag football at Mayfield Elementary School in Lapeer county. He admits he doesn't know much about football and got into coaching only because his son volunteered him. But he says he has some good assistant coaches. He lets them get excited about the games.

"Sometimes I couldn't even say who is winning," Featheringill admits. "Whether we win or lose, I want the boys to have a good time. I want them all to get a chance to play."

On the Mayfield field, the yard markers are two broomsticks with 10 yards of clothesline stretched between them. And I would rather go there than to Pontiac Stadium.

Recently I confessed I've never bought a Michigan lottery ticket and never will, "even at the risk of being deported to Ohio."

This brought me a note from Gerald Patronite of Cleveland. "I'll challenge your deportation here," he said. Patronite is director of the Ohio lottery, a Gus Harrison with Buckeyes.

I have been thrown out of worse places than Cleveland, but they were all torn down long ago.

When the evening is winding down, and all the ice cubes are melted, my favorite record album is something called "Music for Tired Lovers." Woody Herman sings, sort of, never touching his horn, with Erroll Garner's piano providing all the accompaniment.

The songs are familiar, such as "Moonglow" and "As Time Goes By," and they all sound like there's no one in the place except you and me. Any middle-aged man who can't wax sentimentally sappy to this music should have his battery checked.

The only trouble is I have been playing this record for 15 years and it is now full of scratches and rasps. Which is why I'm writing about it. I need a new edition of "Music for Tired Lovers" but it seems no one ever heard of it except me.

Help! This question occurred in a traffic jam. Why is it that when I study the face of the guy behind me in my rear-view mirror, I always have the feeling he knows that I'm looking at him?

I never have any idea whether the guy in front is looking at me.

GOV. WILLIAM MILLIKEN opened Michigan Artrain's five-day visit to Caro last Thursday. Among those participating in the ceremonies were the Lambert Althavers, who were instrumental in bringing Artrain to Cass City four years ago.

Governor opens Artrain at Caro Thursday

About 125 persons turned out Thursday morning as Gov. William G. Milliken officially opened Michigan Artrain's five-day run in Caro.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

History has a way of repeating itself.

Just four years ago I wrote that voting for president boiled down to a choice of lesser of evils and that I wasn't really excited about either of the candidates.

That's the way I feel today on the eve of the election.

My picture of President Ford is of a tried and true political horse running with the herd (Republican party all the way). Jimmy Carter I see as an opportunist who will do most anything to grab the brass ring.

Economically I like Ford's conservative views. You can't spend your way to prosperity. A lady researcher recently said that her group's study revealed that the jobs created by government were illusory.

The theory is that when jobs are created by public dole more jobs are lost in the private sector than are gained by additions to the public payroll.

The explanation for the evident paradox is that when the tax money goes to Washington it's not available to fix the house, buy a car, a refrigerator or carpet the living room. It's unproductive in comparison to what the private sector produces.

I buy that. On the other hand I feel that Ford has little regard for the environment. His veto of the strip mining bill, his relaxation of the auto pollution standards, for instance, leave me cold. I feel that it's worth extra cost to protect this country for our grandchildren. Carter's record and positions are more in accord with mine in the conservational field.

I don't buy for a minute that all these bucks for defense spending are desirable or necessary. We've enough A-bombs now to kill everything there is. Some scientists have said that the fallout would not only kill the enemy but kill us, too. So why do we keep increasing defense spending? Or to put it another way, how much longer do we pay fat Pentagon salaries that is bureaucracy at its worst?

There's a lot of money involved for manufacturers and others and maybe that's one reason that so many military bigwigs end up on boards of directors with cushy jobs with firms dealing with the military.

For me, Ford kowtows too much to big business. And Carter loses me when I see him pictured time and again with Leonard Woodcock or George Meany at his elbow.

I suppose it's too much to ask to have a viable candidate representing the average guy who digs deeper every year to keep this country afloat.

So as I said it boils down again to selecting the lesser of two poor choices just like it has for all recent presidential elections.

Since I'm in accord with millions of other middle class Americans in feeling that inflation is the worst enemy this country faces today, I'm going to vote for Ford.

But as you can guess now, I'm not particularly happy about it.

Rabbit tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help)

It's nice to report that the Cass City School Athletic Department has finally changed its method of recognition for athletes.

Parents will recall that with the advent of girls' sports the nights became so long that true recognition was impossible . . . even the athletes failed to show in many instances.

Now the awards night has been split into three sections. The first is Nov. 17 in the cafeterium. Athletes in football, girls' basketball, cross country, golf and cheerleading will be feted.

Later there will be similar gatherings for winter sports participants and for spring sports athletes. School-wide awards will be presented at the spring banquet.

It's on a trial basis, says Ms. Brenda Breidinger. One man's opinion: it has to be better than what we had before.

I haven't made up my mind if they were kidding or not. Last Thursday, you'll recall, was a sunny, cold day. Make that C-O-L-D D-A-Y.

Anyway Bill Kritzman and Ken Eisinger came charging up that evening and said they had just completed nine holes of golf. I still have my doubts.

I probably shouldn't. After all doesn't Clyde Wells play all winter?

There are undoubtedly more pheasants in the area this year than in any recent years. Not like the glory days, but enough to keep the true hunter happy.

My information comes from Nelson Willy who is as nuts about pheasant hunting as most anyone you want to meet.

In a couple of hours this season I'll flush four or five birds and perhaps get a shot or two, he said Sunday.

That's enough to keep it interesting, keep the dog working and I'm satisfied, he confides.

D. Doerr dies Oct. 23

Funeral services were held Monday for Donald Doerr, 50, prominent Cass City area farmer, who died suddenly Saturday, Oct. 23, at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

He was born July 20, 1926, in Elkland township, son of the late John and Hazel Wright Doerr. He married Mrs. Shirley Anderson Mason, Aug. 23, 1956, in Gaylord. Following their marriage, they made their home on a farm in Elkland township where he lived until his death.

He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II, serving in Germany.

He was a member of Trinity United Methodist church of Cass City and was also a charter member of the Cass City Lions Club. He was Past Master of Acme Lodge F&AM

No. 445 of Gagetown and Gifford Chapter OES No. 369, Gagetown. He was also active in the Hub Investment Club.

Survivors include his widow; one daughter, Cynthia of Cass City; four sons, Richard, John, Donald and Joseph, all of Cass City; two brothers, Maynard of Royal Oak and Leslie of Ypsilanti; and three sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Butler of Cass City, Mrs. George Lemke of Grandville and Mrs. John Gwizdala of Bay City.

A Masonic memorial service was held Sunday evening at Little's Funeral Home.

Rev. Byron Hatch, pastor of Trinity United Methodist church, officiated at the funeral, held at the church.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

you a deposit on cans as well as bottles...

CANS...

can you believe it?

VOTE NO ON PROPOSAL "A"

OPEN STATEMENT TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

Proposal "A" (The Container Issue) Will Be Voted On Tuesday, November 2, 1976. We Feel You Should Know What It WILL Do And What It WILL NOT Do.

Returnables Foster Contaminates. If Passed, Proposal "A" Will Create Many Sanitation Problems When Dirty Cans And Bottles Come Back To Our Market For Refund. We Are Concerned About Maintaining The Highest Sanitary Conditions In Our Store. Used Returnables Create Health Problems. We Intend To Continue To Preserve A Clean And Wholesome Environment Throughout Our Food Store.

This Proposal Is A Government Forced Deposit. It Will Force A Deposit Of At Least 10 Cents On ALL Beverage Cans And Bottles. A 10 Cent Deposit On Cans Is Ridiculous Because Cans Cannot Be Refilled.

LITTER IS NOT THE ISSUE HERE. GOVERNMENT CONTROLS ARE THE REAL ISSUE. Forced Deposits Will Not Eliminate Roadside Litter. The State Highway Department Will Still Want More And More Money For Debris Pick-Up, Such As: Newspapers, Pieces Of Tires, Mufflers, Fast Food Containers And Plastic Milk Bottles. Thus, Another Growing Branch Of Government. The Proponents Of This Issue Have Stated That They Would Like To Change Our Lifestyle. This Is Only The Beginning. What Next? Milk Cartons? ALL Food Containers And Cans? Then What About Disposable Baby Diapers?

Last Year Over Two And A Quarter Billion Non-Returnable Containers Were Sold In Michigan Without A Deposit. Proposal "A", If Enacted, Will Force You To Lug Dirty Cans And Bottles Back To Our Market To Stand In Line To Get Your Refund.

If Passed, Proposal "A" Would Mean The Discontinuance Of Many Of Your Favorite Low-Cost Brands (Faygo, Sun-Glo, Shasta And Private Labels, Such As: Shurfine Fame and Others). This Will Include Many Famous Brands Of Beer And All Imported Beer. When Competition Is Eliminated, The Result Is Higher Prices.

Before You Vote November 2nd, PLEASE Study The Facts Involved In Proposal "A". Don't Be Taken In. Look At The End Result Of Such Restrictive Legislation; More Government Controls, Higher Prices, And Higher Taxes. You Be The Judge. Don't Give Up Your Freedom Of Choice. Be Sure YOU Vote On Proposal "A".

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

My campaign system

By Jim Ketchum

I've made a half-dozen false starts at this column. I've been trying to say something about this sordid election campaign that hasn't already been said, alleged, misquoted, attacked or refuted. It's impossible. It's all been said. The problem is nobody realizes it.

I think it was all said around April or May. That's when Congress should have passed a law stopping the campaign in its tracks until election day.

That way, I'd have been able to spend my two weeks' vacation in peace, not subconsciously fumbling for the nearest TV knob to watch a convention, debate or attack.

I decided long ago American campaigns should be limited to three weeks as they are in Great Britain. Anybody accused and found guilty of campaigning ahead of time would be sentenced to hearing six months' worth of Harold Stassen speeches.

I'd make them shred every early bumper sticker, position paper and poster by hand with razor blades. When the blades got dull, I'd make them use their fingernails.

Once the campaign did get under way, I'd limit the number of speeches each one could make to two a day. I'd only allow one speech each Saturday and none on Sunday.

There'd be a quota on the number of hands each candidate could shake, the number of babies kissed and the number of promises made.

Each time a promise was delivered, an FBI agent would write it down. If elected, each promise would have to be carried out under pain of deportation or being forced to watch a Lion football game.

Under my system, there'd be just one debate where only issues could be discussed. That would take about 15 minutes. Any attempt to go beyond would be stopped via electrocution.

There'd also be a limit on press releases under my system. Daily I've thrown away a dozen hot flashes from somebody's campaign headquarters because they haven't said anything.

Newspapers should print news and not drivel cranked out by hack writers who've sold themselves body and soul to a candidate because they couldn't make it on the outside.

Therefore, each candidate would be allowed one news release a week under my system. If each release didn't say something about the issues, he'd lose his rights to any more releases during the three weeks.

If I had in cash what every candidate has spent on postage since Jan. 1, I could retire to my hideaway in central Florida and contemplate coconuts.

Mudslinging would be punishable by hanging under my system. Attacking someone's character, morals or intelligence would also qualify.

My campaign system would apply to everybody from the President down to township constable.

Finally, under my system, voting would be held on Sundays. Voters could pray before they vote and it would give weekly newspaper reporters two extra days to count the results.

Now it's all been said.

Accident round-up

Minor injuries in area crashes

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in a rash of area traffic accidents during the past week.

The most serious took place Thursday, Oct. 21, when a car driven by Diana Lynn Spencer, 22, of 5966 River Rd., Cass City, ran out of control and struck a tree on River Road, about a mile southwest of Cass City.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said Ms. Spencer was eastbound when a deer jumped from the north side of the road into the path of her car. She told officers she swerved to miss the deer, lost control of her car and struck a tree on the south side of the road.

A passenger, Larry Dale Stevens, 18, Cass City, was treated for cuts and bruises at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

The accident took place at 6:15 p.m.

Two persons were shaken up early Saturday morning in a single-car accident on Graf Road, less than a mile northwest of Unionville.

Sheriff's deputies said Deborah A. Kroetsch, 18, of Deckerville Rd., Snover, and Robert Allen Englehart, 18, Filion, both sought their own treatment. The driver, Daniel Robert Yaroch, 19, Bad Axe, was uninjured.

Deputies said the Yaroch auto was southbound, failed to make a curve, struck a utility pole and a fence. The car then flew some 13 feet before coming to rest in a field.

Yaroch was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead. The accident took place at 1:40 a.m.

David Craig Eberline, 19, Cass City, was shaken up in a single-car accident Thursday, Oct. 21, on Hurds Corner Road, five miles east of Caro.

Sheriff's deputies said a car driven by John Frederick Ballard, 19, of 4698 Huron, Cass City, went out of control and landed in a ditch on the east side of the road. Ballard told officers he was putting out a cigarette when the accident took place.

Ballard was uninjured as was David Michael Zawilinski, 19, Cass City, a third passenger in the auto.

The accident took place at 2:20 a.m.

Two car-deer accidents were reported. Raymond George Vandembosche, 35, of 2321 Dodge Rd., Cass City, struck a deer while westbound on Deckerville Road, three miles northeast of Caro. She was not injured. The accident took place at 6:40 a.m.

Pamela Sue Smith, 21, Caro, struck a deer while westbound on M-81, a mile east of Cass City, Monday morning. She said the deer ran from the north side of the road into the path of her car. She was not injured. The accident took place at 7:50 a.m.

OPEN STATEMENT TO OUR CUSTOMERS-

Proposal "A" (the container issue) will be voted on Tuesday, November 2, 1976. We feel you should know what it will do and what it will not do.

It will force a deposit of at least 10 cents on all beverage cans and bottles. A 10 cent deposit on cans is ridiculous because cans cannot be refilled.

Proposal "A", if enacted, will force you to lug dirty cans and bottles back to our market to stand in line to get your refund.

If passed, proposal "A" will create sanitation problems when dirty cans and bottles come back to our market for refund. We are concerned about maintaining the highest sanitary conditions in our store. Used returnables create health problems.

It would mean many of your favorite low-cost brands (Faygo, Sun-Glo, Shasta, Shurfine, Fame and many others would be discontinued. This will include many famous brands of beer and all imported beer. When competition is eliminated, the result is higher prices.

Litter is not the issue here. Government controls are the real issue. Forced deposits will not eliminate roadside litter. The State Highway Department will still want more and more money for debris pick-up, such as: newspapers, pieces of tires, mufflers, fast food containers and plastic milk bottles. Forced deposits on bottles and cans are only the beginning. What next? Milk cartons? All disposable food containers? And what about disposable baby diapers?

Before you vote November 2nd, please study the facts involved in proposal "A". Don't be taken in. Look at the end result of such legislation; more government controls, higher prices, higher taxes. You be the judge...don't lose your freedom of choice.

PLEASE VOTE NO ON PROPOSAL "A" NOVEMBER 2nd.

State regulations, outpatient demand spur hospital drive

Why does Hills and Dales General Hospital need a half-million dollar building project? After all, doesn't the hospital do a good job as it is? Can't it handle the patient load and do what it's designed to do—help sick people get well? It's true the hospital has enough rooms to house patients. Care is considered good and surroundings pleasant.

The building program is needed, organizers say, to meet new, tougher state standards for fire safety and emergency-outpatient services. Part of the needed $500,000 will go into upgrading the portion of the hospital built in 1960. Included are a new sprinkling system, air exchange unit and enlarged doctors' and nurses' change rooms in obstetrics. Sprinklers weren't required when the hospital was built. Now they are mandatory. Other technical changes in state fire regulations will have to be made. A more pressing need is an outpatient clinic. One room presently serves both emergency and outpatient cases. During a busy day, the overflow of patients have to be treated in corridors and hallways. Corridors must serve as a waiting room as well as exits to the outside and other parts of the hospital. Statistics show emergency and outpatient treatment has grown to 35-50 persons a day and totaled over 14,000 during the last fiscal year. Plans call for a free-standing emergency-outpatient clinic to be constructed near the north entrance to the hospital.

AGENCIES INVOLVED
 Three agencies have a stake in the hospital's building program. They include the Joint Commission on Accreditation (JCAH), the State Fire Marshall's Office and the Michigan Department of Public Health. JCAH, a voluntary agency, conducts continuing surveys and an accreditation program based on changing standards. Participation is voluntary. Accreditation by the commission is generally recognized as an indicator of high standards by the hospital. The State Fire Marshall's Office inspects a hospital for compliance with detailed regulations. It points out shortcomings and makes follow-up inspections to see standards have been met. The health department licenses the hospital and determines if the facility will operate. Licenses are usually granted for one year contingent upon qualifying through inspection. The department may either revoke or refuse a license. Hospital administrator Bruce Krider says improvements are being made now to comply with these agency findings. "Having temporarily postponed major action, we now can do all these things at one time and get them over with," Krider says. Doing a few at a time would place too great a strain on normal routine, both in the facility itself and in the budget. Krider says no one has said what will happen if the improvements aren't made. But authorities at the hospital have decided to act now instead of waiting for conditions to get worse. "Financially, this is the most difficult year in our history," Hospital Board President James Bauer says. "However, this Hills and Dales Hospital is the most solid facility in Cass City and I intend to do all I can to keep it that way."

Sanilac land values jump

Argyle township valuations for 1976 took a whopping 19 per cent jump, according to figures released last week by the Sanilac County Equalization Department. The jump was the highest in the five Cass City area townships in Sanilac county. Figures place the 1976 township State Equalized Valuation at $5,320,000 up from last year's $4,462,700. While the figures don't mean every parcel of land increased by 19 per cent, they do reflect a continuing upward spiral in area land values. A hefty 12 per cent jump was recorded in Greenleaf township. New figures place the township's valuation at $4,596,020, compared with $4,049,595 in 1975. Valuations in Lamotte township jumped 10 per cent to $6,513,944. Last year, the township's SEV stood at $5,898,044. Evergreen township's SEV rose eight per cent to $5,335,903, up from last year's $4,901,332. Austin township recorded a seven per cent jump, rising to $4,244,767, up from last year's $3,949,347.

RON KEEGAN, long-time employee of General Cable Corp., receives a matched set of luggage during a retirement party held in his honor Friday. Keegan is the last of the original group of Cable employees who came to Cass City when the plant was opened in 1960.

FFA land judging held

The Tuscola Soil Conservation District sponsored a land judging contest on the Dave Bush farm near Caro recently with Millington, Cass City, Reese and Caro Schools participating, according to Don Loomis District Chairman.

Millington High School FFA placed first with Greg Mohr, Dennis Schmidt and Michael Platt placing first, second and third respectively in their school.

Second place went to Caro High School FFA with Greg Fessler, Kent Kowalski and Jerry Hepfer scoring first, second and third respectively in their school.

Reese High School FFA was third with Wayne Squanda, Wayne Reif and Bob French placing first, second and third respectively in their school.

Greg Mohr was the high individual scorer for the county with Dennis Schmidt placing second and Michael Platt placing third, all of Millington.

The land judging contest is sponsored each year to aid students in determining the physical features of the soil, recognizing problems which affect the use of the area and determining the suitability of the soil for agricultural and other uses.

Check for bean blight

Bean blight—an internal bean disease that hurts the quality and yield—can't be controlled by dusting or spraying. But it can be discovered.

To find out if their field bean seed has such blight, Michigan farmers can contact the state Department of Agriculture through Dec. 15 and have five-pound samples tested for $5 each.

If germination tests are requested also, the charge is an additional $2.50 per sample.

The fee is a special seasonal one. It goes up to $15 each sample between Dec. 16 and March 15, and tests are not available from March 16 through Oct. 1 of next year.

Forms to accompany samples can be obtained from the Michigan Department of Agriculture, Laboratory Division, 1615 South Harrison Road, East Lansing, MI 48823.

Judge awards damages

Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Martin Clements has awarded a settlement of nearly $100,000 in a damage suit heard last week involving a double fatality accident in June of 1973.

The award went to the families of Robert Gamble and Ronald Rodgers and resulted from an auto negligence suit filed against Mark Ewald, Unionville.

The accident took place June 23, 1973 on Millington Road, two miles east of Millington when a motorcycle carrying Gamble and Rodgers was struck by a truck Ewald was driving.

At the time of the accident, sheriff's deputies reported the motorcycle made a U-turn in front of the truck.

The award gave the largest amount to Mrs. Rodgers, over $84,000. The Gamble family received just over $11,000.

The ruling came following a three-day non-jury trial.

Ford wins mock vote at school

SHOWN GOING over voter registration lists during last week's mock Presidential election held at Cass City High School are Tom Brinkman and Diane Teichman. Republicans generally carried most of the offices up for grabs.

President Gerald R. Ford won at least one election last week.

Students at Cass City High School gave 56 per cent of the vote during balloting held Thursday to Ford. Final results show the President with 239 votes against 185 for Democratic challenger Jimmy Carter.

The students used ballots similar to those which will be used in the real thing Nov. 2.

In other results, Democratic Senatorial candidate Donald Riegle defeated Republican Marvin Esch 205 to 161, taking 56 per cent of the vote.

Incumbent Democrat J. Bob Traxler defeated Republican E. Brady Denton in the race for the Eighth Congressional District seat by a 238 to 180 margin or 56 per cent of the vote.

In the contest for 84th District representative, incumbent Loren S. Armbruster won over Democratic challenger James McCann by a 259-127 margin, taking 67 per cent of the vote.

Other totals show Republican Tuscola County Sheriff Hugh Marr defeating Democrat Herbert Clancy 224 to 144 and GOP Treasurer candidate Eugene Keller winning by a 193 to 132 margin over Democrat Joann Schriber.

Prosecuting Attorney Patrick Joslyn received 135 votes and Clerk Elsie Hicks received 254 votes. Both were unopposed.

Students approved the controversial bottle bill (Proposal A) with 254 yes votes against 184 no votes.

They turned down three constitutional amendments.

Proposal B, which would give 18-year-olds the right to run for state representative and state senator, was defeated by a 249-130 margin.

They defeated Proposal C, the tax limitation amendment, 286 to 133, and turned down repeal of the flat rate income tax by a 284 to 122 margin.

Students registered for the mock election in September. The freshman class registered 88 per cent of its members, with 73 per cent of the senior class, 64 per cent of the faculty, 62 per cent of the junior class and 57 per cent of the sophomores registered.

A total of 70 per cent of the student body and faculty participated in the election.

Save energy

Americans consume 50% more energy in their homes than in all their cars put together, according to the National Home Improvement Council; they squander about 233 million barrels of oil in their homes each year. And, if each family spent $400.00 to fix up its house to save energy, they would get their money back in cost savings in most cases in less than five years!

SELFISHNESS

The love of liberty is to love others — love of power is love for ourselves only.

There's nothing like celebrating Halloween in style and that's what Mike Alteri plans to do.

Alteri, who owns Geno's Villa near Kingston, plans to go all out. He's dressing his cooks and waitresses in complete costumes to greet customers Oct. 31.

At least five ghosts, ghouls and goblins will be on hand next Sunday. Alteri admits part of the reason he's doing it is to promote the restaurant he opened last December five miles west of Kingston.

But he says it's for the customers, too. Especially the kids.

"My business has been good," the mustachioed Alteri says. "I thought it would be a good way to greet the kids and a good way to say thank you."

He plans to have soft drinks and candy available for the kids Halloween night. Alteri says if the Halloween celebration is a success, he might expand it to include other holidays such as Christmas.

"We'd like to give people something to know us by," he says.

Alteri is a veteran restaurant owner, but decided to open up near Kingston last year because he was looking for a different set of surroundings.

"I've worked in big cities

Story hour

A Halloween story hour will be held at Rawson Memorial Library Saturday, Oct. 30 from 1:00 to 1:45 p.m.

All area children are invited to attend.

CHECKING OUT what kind of Halloween faces they plan to don Sunday are Liz Lyons, Kingston, and Sue Alteri, Caro.

Alteri preps for special Halloween fete and it isn't the same," he says. "There's no comparison. Out here, the people are nice. They don't get rowdy. I enjoy having them and enjoy cooking for them."

Alteri says he enjoys making all his own specialties from scratch. He learned how to cook by watching his mother and other members of his family in the restaurant business, he says.

When employees don their costumes, they won't be just plastic molded faces. Each face will be formed from sophisticated make-up kits used by professional actors and will take considerable time to apply, he says.

Halloween is a time to have a little fun, Alteri says.

Lutherans in rally Sunday

The 18th annual Thumb Area Reformation Rally will be held Sunday, Oct. 31, at 3:00 p.m. at Bad Axe High School. The rally is sponsored by 20 area Lutheran congregations from across the Thumb.

Rev. Gordon Light, Bloomfield Hills, will be the guest preacher.

A highlight of the program will be the special choir and instrumental selections, along with congregational singing. Nearly 250 voices will form three choirs and 35 instrumentalists will accompany the singing.

Congregations sponsoring the rally include St. Peter of Bach, Our Savior of Bad Axe, Good Shepherd of Caseville, Good Shepherd of Cass City, St. Peter of Columbia Corners, Grace of Fairgrove, Trinity of Forestville, Zion of Harbor Beach, St. John of Kilmanagh, St. Peter of Kinde, St. Matthew of Lexington, St. Paul of Linkville, Our Savior of Marlette, St. John of Palms, Cross of Pigeon, St. John of Port Hope, St. John of Port Sanilac, Peace of Sandusky, Immanuel of Sebewaing and St. Paul of Unionville.

Warren was arrested May 6, in Caro.

Tough Bad Axe is next

Cass City goes for win - loses heartbreaker to Caro, 14-13

The question now is can Cass City come back after losing that heartbreaker last Friday to league leading Caro Tigers, 14-13, at Cass City Recreational Park.

The answer will come Friday when the Hawks travel to Bad Axe to face the tough Hatchets who have lost only to Caro this year.

Certainly, Cass City must be given a chance to upset the Hatchets even though Bad Axe will certainly reign as favorites.

Fans and players at last week's Caro game are convinced that Cass City on at least that night was as good as the undefeated league leaders.

The score was an accurate picture of the results.

As they have in most games this year, the Hawks allowed Caro to pile up yardage between the 15-yard lines but were tough when their backs were up against the goal line.

The Tigers started as if they were going to blow Cass City off the field. They took the opening kick-off and marched down the field through big holes in the Hawk defensive line.

The drive occupied much of the first quarter and ended as the Hawks took over on downs inside the 15.

Cass City could get nothing started and the first of two fumbles lost gave the visitors the ball on the Hawk 42. Cass City held again.

Midway in the second quarter, Cass City started moving the ball a little for the first time in the game, mostly on quick passes over center by Jeff Hartel to ends Tom Dorland and Rick Hollis.

But the Tigers stiffened when they had to and Cass City never made a serious threat to score.

It looked as if the two teams might go into the locker room all tied at the half when the Tigers exploded for seven points. Mark Green hit Bill Stevenson behind the Hawk secondary and he raced unmolested to paydirt in a play that covered 76 yards. Steve Robison's kick was good.

The Hawks were far from through. Cass City's Clarke Haire took the opening kick-off and raced 40 yards to the Caro 30. A 15-yard penalty helped keep the drive alive. A pass to Dorland moved the ball inside the 10.

With second and seven, Hartel took the ball on the option and pitched to Haire who jaunted the seven yards for the marker. Hartel's kick was good and the score was tied.

The Tigers recovered a fumble on the Hawks' 38 to set the stage for their next touchdown. They moved with power for the score with Green capping the drive with a one-yard sneak. Robison's kick was good and eventually spelled victory for the visitors.

Cass City came charging back and started a pay-off drive from the Tiger 47. A slugging penalty moved it 15 yards. A pass to Hollis moved it to the 14. After a running play and an attempted pass by Hartel lost seven yards, Coach Roland Pakonen called for a halfback pass. Haire took the handoff from Hartel and started around his own left end. Hartel slipped out in the flat and took a perfect toss and the Hawks had a first and goal on the four. Two dives into the line by Tony Doerr pushed it over.

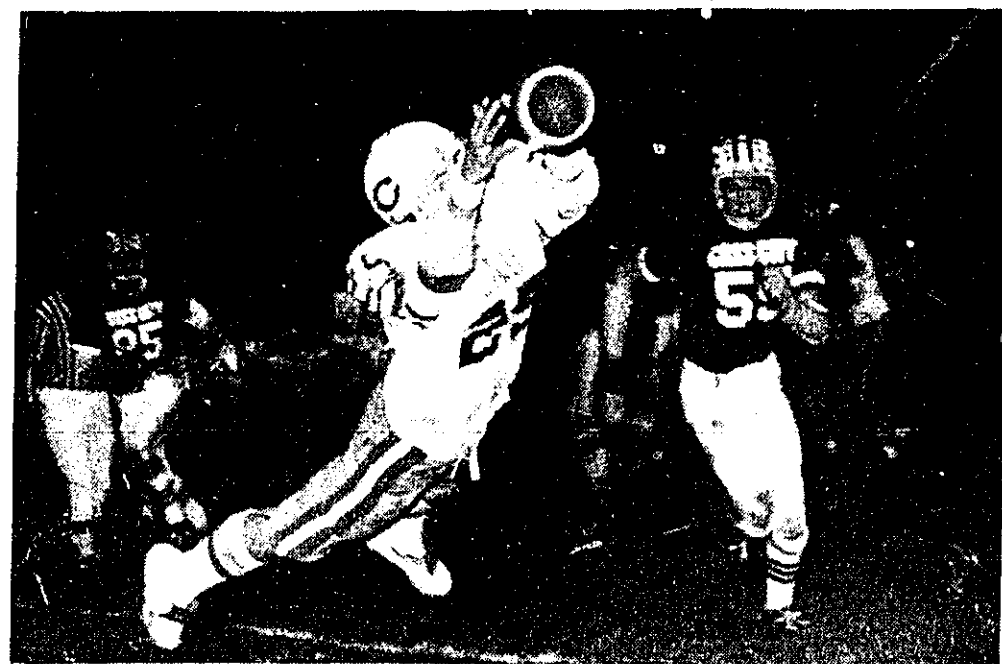

Coach Pakonen elected to go for the win rather than the tie on the point after touchdown. Hartel attempted a pass to Hollis but the ball just bounced out of his hands and the Hawks' valiant attempt for an upset went by the boards.

Pakonen was high in his praise for Caro's defensive line. It held the Hawks to just 39 yards rushing in 31 plays. Haire led the Hawks with a meager 28 yards in 11 tries.

The statistics:

| | CC | C |
|----------------|--------|--------|
| 1st. downs | 7 | 7 |
| Rushes | 31 | 40 |
| Yards rushing | 39 | 115 |
| Passes att. | 14 | 11 |
| Passes comp. | 7 | 5 |
| Pass ydge. | 106 | 112 |
| Total ydge. | 145 | 227 |
| Intercepted by | 0 | 3 |
| Fumbles-lost | 3-2 | 2-1 |
| Penalties | 4-30 | 7-70 |
| Punts-avg. | 3-38.3 | 4-29.0 |

END BILL STEVENSON made a diving catch earlier in the game for a first down. He tried to duplicate his efforts on this play but the ball fell off his fingertips. Number 25 is Jeff Hartel and No. 55 is Dan Erla for Cass City.

CLARKE HAIRE took the second half kick-off and scampered for 40 yards to ignite a touchdown drive for Cass City against Caro.

Coach Maharg unhappy

Cass City in 'slump' despite 2 victories

Despite coasting to two consecutive wins over Sandusky and Marlette, Coach Kally Maharg isn't happy with her Cass City High School Girls' basketball squad.

She called Monday night's 51-32 win over Marlette "one of the worst games we've played all year" and promised to juggle her lineup before a scheduled Wednesday night game against Vassar on the road.

"We just didn't play good ball," Ms. Maharg said. "Before the Frankenmuth game, we were playing good offense and defense. Now we aren't."

The Hawks made an anemic 29 per cent of their shots from the floor against the Red Raiders. You can't shoot like that and beat Frankenmuth, Ms. Maharg says.

The Hawks face the Eagles in another league tilt Nov. 10, this time at Cass City. If the Hawks don't drop a contest between now and then, a win could put them in a tie for the league lead.

In Monday's game, Elaine Stoutenburg led the Hawks with 16 points. Lisa Zimba added 12 points and Vicky Lapp scored nine. For the Red Raiders, Tammy Howell scored 11, with Linda Drillock adding nine.

Ms. Zimba hauled down 19 rebounds on defense, with Kim Witherspoon grabbing eight rebounds and Patty Goslin six.

The Hawks led 20-14 at the half and piled on 18 points in the third quarter to ice the game. Scoring by quarters: CC 8-12-18-13-51 M 4-10- 8-10-32

SANDUSKY GAME

The Hawks never let Sandusky score in double figures all night as they took a 55-32 win on the road.

The Hawks trailed 8-7 at the end of the first quarter, but came back with 15 points in the second quarter and 16 more in the third to notch the win. Lisa Zimba scored 20 points, with Elaine Stoutenburg adding 12 and Robbie Leslie seven. Beth Erla hauled down 10 rebounds, with Vicky Lapp and Ms.

Zimba each accounting for eight. For Sandusky, Karen Hale scored 14 points. Ms. Maharg called the contest a "let down game" after the loss to Frankenmuth. The Hawks shot only 19 per cent from the floor the first quarter and 39 per cent overall. Scoring by quarters: CC 7-15-16-17-55 S 8-7-8-9-32

CASS CITY'S PREMIER basketball player is Lisa Zimba. She fired in one of her 12 points against Marlette on this play as the Hawks swept by the Thumb B Conference foe with ease.

At Pontiac Stadium

Billy Graham's 'invitation' answered by thousands

SOME 70,000 persons jammed their way into Pontiac Metropolitan Stadium Sunday for the final Billy Graham Crusade service.

By Jim Ketchum

They begin streaming on the field even before Dr. Billy Graham finishes his invitation. Hundreds, then thousands descend the steps from their seats at the 80,000 seat Pontiac Stadium to answer the call.

It is the same scene repeated at each of the preceding nine evangelistic crusade services. The crowds had grown from an initial 35,000 or so until Sunday's 70,000 jammed their way into the parking lots and through the revolving doors.

Many who answer Graham's call are already Christians, according to the pamphlet containing Sunday's hymn lyrics. But many have been moved to commit their lives this day.

One 16-year-old girl, dressed in faded blue jeans and a parka overcoat, weeps openly as she stands almost directly in front of Graham's pulpit.

"Your sins are forgiven once you've accepted Christ," the North Carolina preacher says to her softly as the TV lights pick up a glint in his flowing hair and accent his make-up.

"You're starting all over," he smiles as two crusade counselors put their arms around her and listen to her story.

Behind her, a balding man dressed in black raises his hands above his head and begins speaking in tongues, his eyes closed, his torso bending first left, then right.

Others stand quietly, some with tears in their eyes. This day, Billy Graham had told his audience the God who wouldn't spare His own son surely wouldn't spare them unless they confessed their sin.

"You may never get another chance to get things right with God," he tells them as more spectators leave their seats and come down on the field.

Some bring cameras with them, hoping to preserve this moment on film.

Earlier, anyone not bearing a special security clearance had been banned from the field as Senator Robert Dole, Republican Vice-presidential nominee, put in an appearance during this, the final day of the Billy Graham South-eastern Michigan Crusade.

Dole received polite applause as he entered, walked across the field and took a seat in the fourth row along the 50-yard line. He smiled weakly and moved almost uncertainly to his seat.

Some brought binoculars to better see America's most famous evangelist. Others attached powerful telephoto lenses to cameras.

For those hopelessly out of viewing distance, a TV camera flashes the entire service on a huge screen high above the east endzone, sandwiched between two cigarette ads. Occasionally, a second camera focuses on Dole as he sat pensively throughout the service.

The order of service is nothing new. It contains the successful formula Graham has used thousands of times during his nearly three-decade ministry, beginning with local choirs and bands, continuing through the hymns of George Beverly Shea and into a pitch for free worship literature.

This day, country-western star Johnny Cash and his wife, entertainer June Carter, put in a special appearance.

Cash says it's good to be "home" in Pontiac. He spent three weeks there in 1950, working at Fisher Body. "I helped build those 1951 Pontiacs you see resting in the junk yard," he quips.

Cash sings two songs and testifies to his own religious conversion.

A few spectators trickle out when Cash sits down but the rest settle into a hushed silence as Billy Graham steps to the podium, Bible in hand, and begins to speak.

"We're told the freeways leading here are hopelessly jammed," he says. "We have 70,000 people here today."

Graham gestures forcefully, his voice ringing from the air-filled plastic roof and echoing throughout the concrete and steel stadium.

"God didn't spare Pharaoh," he shouts. "He sent 10 plagues upon Egypt before the Jews were set free. He didn't spare Egypt. And unless you confess your sin, He won't spare you either."

It's a familiar message, but each time it gains a new crop of hearers. They hang on each word, each phrase, each sentence.

Then the familiar invitation and the equally familiar response.

As the crowd gathers on the field, Billy Graham says, almost as an aside, "When we all get to heaven, I'm going to spend 100 years at each of your houses, just to be able to visit with you."

He says a short prayer which those who have come forward repeat in unison. Counselors begin working the crowd, getting names and addresses and handing out religious tracts and Bible study schedules.

It is all over. It takes a half-hour to get out of the parking lot. Maybe it wasn't his greatest performance, you think as you wait for someone to let you in the line of traffic.

But it meant something to the thousands who went on the field and the thousands more who came just to watch.

For some, it meant more than anything else ever has or ever will.

DR. BILLY GRAHAM pauses in prayer as hundreds of persons streamed on the field at his invitation to accept Christ. The 10-day series of meetings ended Sunday.

SEN. ROBERT DOLE, Republican Vice-presidential candidate, put in an appearance at Sunday's Billy Graham Crusade.

Some of the films on TV are too old to stay up that late.

FOR THOSE who didn't find good seats, a huge television screen flashed the entire service to the crowd.

Your neighbor says Ads have little effect

How much influence does advertising have on you? Can you really be "sold" on something whether you want to be or not?

Mrs. Edward Scollon of Cass City doesn't think so. "I watch very little TV," she says, "and when I do, I generally leave the room when the commercials come on. If the ad is for a product I don't like, or if a company is sponsoring something I don't believe in, I'll boycott the product."

Still, Mrs. Scollon says she's not impervious to the effects of advertising. If there's a humorous ad on the tube, she says, she's apt to watch it.

"I don't consciously think it affects me," she says, "but it probably has more effect on me than I realize. The use of colors and sounds can be used to hook you."

Mrs. Scollon says print advertising has about the same effect.

"I tend to support products if they help perform a public service," she says.

Mrs. Scollon is a native of Grass Lake. She and her husband have five children. They have lived in Cass City since 1964.

M. Edwards

She married Roy Edwards, Feb. 20, 1960, in Kinde. Following their marriage, they made their home in Bad Axe, coming to Cass City from Owendale in 1966. He died July 20, 1976.

Survivors include two sons, Jesse Dominguez of Detroit and Claude Bell of Nehi, Fla.; one stepson, John Purvis of Ohio; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Robert (Paula) Green of Kinde, Mrs. James (Ava) Massingale of Cass City and Miss Royena Edwards of Louisiana; four brothers, John Dominguez of Detroit; Felix Dominguez of Chicago; Jose Dominguez of Detroit and Sam Dominguez of Saginaw; two sisters, Mrs. Philip Martinez of Port Huron and Mrs. Jessie Perez of Bay City; four grandchildren and three step-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at Little's Funeral Home with Fr. Joseph Morales, pastor of St. Pancratius Catholic church of Cass City, officiating.

Burial was in Novesta cemetery.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Village Council's safety committee reported Tuesday night they were investigating the purchase of a blinking sign to be placed at the north end of Seeger Street by the high school which would be timed to flash at crucial hours and warn approaching motorists of the school.

Vandals knocked over six tombstones in Elkland Cemetery this week, Police Chief Gene Wilson reported.

The Elkland Township Fire Department will again offer free popcorn for youngsters Halloween night, Fritz Neitzel, a member of the department, announced this week.

County commissioners were still mulling a new budget for 1972 at their regular session this week. Cmmr.

Zonta Club meets with Mrs. Karr

The Zonta Club held its regular monthly dinner at the home of Florence Karr, with Shirley Buschlen as co-hostess, Tuesday, Oct. 19.

Helen Agar gave a report on "Women Power". She said the total number of working mothers increased from 12 to 14 million from 1970 to 1975. In 200 years ten women have been appointed federal judges, she said.

Nearly one half of all American women think the ideal life would be staying home with young children and then combining homemaking with a job, she said.

The Zonta Club formulated their plans for a rummage sale. Edith Little is chairman of the event.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Edith Little with a silent auction after the meeting. Lorene Rienstra and Marie Roch are chairmen. The meeting will be held November 16 with dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Ed Golding said salaries were not yet settled.

TEN YEARS AGO

A compromise solution in the battle to close or open Maple Street at the south village limits was authorized by village trustees Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the village council. The road will remain open, but signs will be posted to slow down or stop traffic and possibly bumps will be placed in the road to halt speeding vehicles.

With the completion of the diseased tree removal in the village the problem facing village trustees is what to do with the stumps and the best way to replant. Dr. D.E. Rawson, who ramrodded the tree removal to a successful completion, told council he has been checking on types of trees for the replanting project.

Civic leader Ben F. Benkelman retired this week after 42 years as a dental technician for Dr. D.E. Rawson and the late Dr. P.A. Schenck in Cass City.

Regulation of the Cass City Village dump by the State Health Department moved a little closer this week as Bernard Freiburger reported to the village council that the dump would have to be licensed.

Parking meters, expected to have a gross revenue of about $100 per week, are exceeding this figure, according to collections of the first two weeks of operation. Last week the meters took in $148, President Lambert Althaver said.

LET'S STICK WITH THE FACTS!

CONCERNING MICHIGAN'S "BOTTLE BILL"

BANNING THROWAWAYS WILL SAVE YOU MONEY
AND RESULT IN MORE JOBS FOR MICHIGAN WORKERS
READ THE PROOF BELOW!

1. RESOURCE CONSERVATION—One throwaway can or bottle requires four to six times more raw materials than one returnable bottle refilled 15 times.

2. ENERGY SAVINGS—If Michigan adopts this bill we could save enough energy every year to supply the home heating needs of a city the size of Grand Rapids. Throwaway bottles and cans are an energy luxury we can no longer afford.

3. LITTER REDUCTION—Beverage containers make up between 60 and 70 percent of litter by volume. "It is clear that the trash build-up along Michigan highways—an eyesore which costs millions of dollars annually to barely keep under control—appears to be getting worse and obviously cannot be relieved through education and anti-litter enforcement."

4. SOLID WASTE REDUCTION—Sanitary landfill space is becoming harder to find and more expensive. A steel can tossed on a roadside or buried in a dump takes about 100 years to fully degrade; an aluminum can about 150 years and a glass bottle one million years.

5. CONSUMER SAVINGS and BENEFITS—You pay 30 to 40 percent more for throwaways. As much as 7¢ for every throwaway bottle or can you buy and that's cash you'll never see again.

6. JOBS and ECONOMY—A report by the Public Service Commission, the only official State Government report on the "bottle bill", concluded that the net impact of the bill would be to increase and not to reduce employment in Michigan.

7. IT'S WORKING ELSEWHERE—Both Oregon and Vermont have already passed bottle bills. Former Oregon Governor Tom McCall has said that the bill... "has created employment. The price of beer and soft drinks is not higher...our roadsides are cleaner...!"

"Coke sold in food stores in non-returnable packages is priced, on the average, 30 to 40 percent higher than in returnable bottles" *

J. Lucian Smith, President, Coca Cola U.S.A.
*Hearings before the Subcommittee of the Judiciary, U.S. Senate on S.3133 August 8, 1972.

"By banning throwaways, the state stands to improve its environmental image—no small thing to a state heavily geared to tourism"

BETTER HEALTH

Nursing homes

BY DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

A few years ago one of my wife's relatives, at the age of 80, became too ill to go on living alone in a hotel room and so the question arose: where could the family find a good nursing home where the man would be cared for with skill and much kindness? Fortunately, the man's sister-in-law found a splendid home, built and managed by a dedicated church group. There the man has had very good care.

The kindly, able woman who runs the home writes the man's sisters from time to time to tell how he is getting along. When he needed a prostate operation, it was well performed by an able surgeon. Because the patient had enough property and turned it all over to the home, his two sisters have not had to pay a cent for his care, which is very fortunate.

I have read that some nursing homes are not entirely satisfactory. The book "Tender Loving Greed", by Mary Adelaide Mendelson (Alfred A. Knopf) gives a distressing picture of the "nursing home industry", and the poor conditions which are too common in our country's nursing homes.

People who are facing a decision about whether they or a loved one should enter a nursing home and must choose the proper one, will be interested in a booklet entitled "How To Choose A Nursing Home," prepared by Citizens for Better Care and the Institute of Gerontology, the University of Michigan and Wayne State University. The booklet is available for one dollar from the Institute of Gerontology, the University of Michigan, 543 Church Street, Ann Arbor, Mich. 48104.

The authors suggest that people "shop" carefully in advance for a nursing home so that a decision does not have to be made during a crisis when there is not enough time to visit and compare a number of homes. Sometimes it is not necessary for the person to go into a nursing home; assistance from visiting nurses or relatives who can help with such things as preparing meals, shopping and housekeeping can make it possible for the person to stay at home. The Visiting Nurse Association can provide experts on nutrition, physical therapists and nursing care. And, as mentioned previously, there are organizations which bring hot meals twice a day.

In the booklet are a good many excellent suggestions on what to look for in sizing up a nursing home. For example, one should pay particular attention to the types of meals served. Notice whether the staff members seem to care for patients as human beings. Do they refer to patients as if they were babies or children? Older people resent this attitude. Are the staff members friendly; do they talk to the patients? Do they answer questions and requests promptly and politely?

Is the patient's privacy respected, especially toilet privacy? Do the staff members help the patient keep in touch with friends, relatives and with outside activities? Are there newspapers and magazines, places for crafts and hobbies and recreation? Is there a beauty parlor and barbershop available? Is the patient's language spoken?

In talking with the administrator, do you find him willing to show you all parts of the home? Is his current license displayed, or will he show it to you when you ask? Are all bills itemized, including drug bills? Is a lifetime contract required? If one is involved, be sure to have an attorney look it over in detail.

Ask about the rules; do they seem reasonable? Can patients bring with them personal furniture such as a chair, a small table, a rocker or a lamp that they especially love?

It is important also to check on such safety features as fire extinguishers, well-marked exits, fire escapes and whether the corridors and ramps are wide enough for wheel chairs. Are there hand rails in the corridors, grip bars in bath tubs, toilets and showers?

Are there any offensive odors? This may indicate lack of attention to incontinent patients. Are the bed linens neat and clean? And most important for the patient is whether the home is truly "home-like," a place where a person can live happily and comfortably.

For the booklet, "Hiatus Hernia," send 25 cents and a long stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. William J. Welch, Box 4994, Dept. CCC, Des Moines, Iowa 50306.

Seek homes for Leader Dog pups

The Tuscola County 4-H Leader Dog puppy raising program is seeking a temporary home for two leader dog puppies. They are a three-month-old golden retriever female and a four-month-old Labrador retriever male puppy.

If you think you may be interested in raising one of these puppies in your home for approximately one year, or if you would like more information on the 4-H Leader Dog Program, call Mrs. Keith Taylor in Caro, 673-6730 or the 4-H office, 673-3161.
