This is the first game Caro has lost in league competition this year.

Among the Cass City folks who were early attendants at Farmers' Week were Dan Hennessey, Don Koepfgen, Willis Campbell, Thos. Smith, Leslie Smith, Frank Merchant, Lyle Koepfgen and John Reagh.

"Justice long delayed ceases to be justice, and adds greatly to the cost of litigation." By establishing regular weekly visits to Caro, miscellaneous business is promptly disposed of with minimum inconvenience and expense to litigants. All contested matters are tried as soon as they are ready. Hence court calendars are smaller now than ever before.—Advertisement.

115 Tuscola Folks at County Picnic at Bradenton

Vassar Has Largest Number in Florida Park of Any Village in Tuscola.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ricker, wintering at Bradenton Trailer Park at Bradenton, Florida, write under date of February 1:

"If it were cold and icy, we would have thought we were back home in Tuscola County today as we had our annual potluck picnic dinner in the auditorium with 115 present. We had the largest Cass City delegation yet, as the Spanglers and Frutcheys came over from St. Petersburg and the Doerrs and Benkelmans from Cortez, with the A. Anthes, Donahues, McNamees here in the park with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Young of Gagetown. It seemed quite like home. I think Vassar has the most people in the park of any place in the county.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Patents

Frank C. Learman, a patent attorney of Bay City, gave Cass City Rotarians a glimpse into the maze of patent intricacies of the United States when he explained the methods employed by the inventor to secure a patent on his idea. One-third of the world's inventions originate in this country, he said, and from 800 to 900 patents are granted each week by the patent office at Washington.

Bert Dean of Bay City introduced Mr. Learman to the group. L. I. Wood and Otis Heath led group singing with Charles Keen at the piano.

First Baptist Church at Vassar Burned Tuesday

Fire, Starting in the Furnace Room, Totally Destroyed Village's Finest Church.

Fire, apparently starting in the furnace room of the First Baptist Church at Vassar, totally destroyed that beautiful edifice early Tuesday evening. The loss is estimated at $30,000 and the insurance coverage is $12,000.

The fire was discovered shortly after six o'clock by Rev. Jack Bowen, the pastor, who went to the church to learn the reason for so much smoke issuing from the chimney. The fire was well under way and he was unable to enter the building. The fire department battled the blaze for one and a half hours and only the brick walls and chimney remain of the village's largest church building. A few books and the pulpit were saved.

The church, erected in 1895, was beautifully furnished and was a fine edifice of medieval Gothic architecture. Of the 15 cathedral memorial windows, 13 were placed in honor of the 13 pastors who have served the congregation.

Farmers Hear Milk Law Argued Thursday Night

Farm Leader Lemke Advocated Adoption of Cost of Production Measure.

"Too few people assume the responsibility of reasoning and that is the cause of the present trouble in Europe," William Lemke, farm leader from North Dakota and a former Congressman from that state, told an audience of about 300 people, mostly farmers, at a gathering Thursday evening at the school auditorium, sponsored by the Michigan Farmers' Guild. "There never was a time when citizenship in a democracy had such a responsibility as at the present time," said Mr. Lemke.

He advocated a cost of production measure at 100% parity on 70 agricultural products which, if in force, would make an additional revenue of $7,500,000,000 for farmers of the nation. He explained the provisions of the Frazier-Lemke moratorium law and the Frazier-Lemke Refinance Bill.

Mr. Lemke was presented to the audience by State Representative Audley Rawson, who briefly discussed state legislation regarding agriculture.

Claude L. Wood, vice president of the Michigan Farmers' Guild, discussed Michigan's milk law of the past two years. He said farmers' costs had increased more rapidly than the milk price and claimed the present law was of no benefit to the agriculturalists. He said he believed if producers of milk would stick together they would be able to do as the labor unions have done—demand a certain price for their product and get it.

Members for the Michigan Farmers' Guild were signed up at the close of the program which was opened by a concert by the Cass City High School Band.

A Farmers' Guild meeting will be held at Caro on Tuesday evening, February 18.

The other course is one for adults on "Livestock Breeding and Management" in which Mr. Campbell is the instructor. Twenty-two are enrolled for one evening class a week for a 12-week period.

Michigan Mirror
Non-Partisan News Letter

Lansing—One month of the 1941 legislation session has faded. The time is again at hand when followers of democracy droop in pessimism and pronounce with sadness that the two-chamber system of reflecting the people's will is hopelessly inefficient and utterly unproductive.

True, little has been outwardly accomplished.

A host of bills have been introduced, few of them possessing major interest to the state.

While perennial talk has been heard that law makers would get down to business and make this a short session, old-timers merely smile at such rashness and predict that the Ides of May or June will roll around before adjournment is possible.

The first month, like all others in recent years, has afforded the preliminary bout to the main fight. Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and the Republican legislature have engaged in some nimble sparring to test each other's powers.

Courting the Farm Vote.

For years prior to the New Deal, the Republican party held title to the farm vote. Democrats fared best in metropolitan areas.

The Roosevelt landslide of 1936 brought Frank Murphy and a Democratic legislature to Lansing, but the 1937 legislative session did little to cultivate the agrarian. Problems of labor dominated the scene. The 1939 legislature, led by a Republican administration, reflected interests of numerous members who came from rural and small town areas, and the pendulum swung back towards home rule in letting local government take the initiative in solving its own problems. Many farm laws were enacted.

Governor Van Wagoner, undaunted by the traditional hold which the Republicans have retained on the upstate farm vote, is contesting that control by insistence that the 1941 legislature, even though it be under G. O. P. leadership, take the state department of agriculture out of politics by creating a non-partisan commission.

Here is an issue, the governor believes, that merits farm support. It is just good business to provide for a continuity of effort and to stop the needless turnover of department heads every time a fickle bloc of independent voters in Michigan swings over to the other side and elects a new governor. Such has happened five times in the past ten years with clock-like regularity.

"Playing Politics"

The new civil service amendment, jelling thousands of state employees with protective rights, was an almost cataclysmatic blow to politicians. Patronage pap has sweetened many a campaign follower. It has also plagued state officials to the point where they were devoting most of their time to appeasing job-seekers and organization sponsors.

The civil service barrier to patronage was bad enough in the politician's mind, but then to go out deliberately and take away a tree full of choice sweet plums was something that called for a party caucus. The non-partisan commission for the department of agriculture has provoked a storm of discussion to the point that tempers are already ragged and hot words are being aired.

Here is the situation:

A bill to create a non-partisan commission for the agriculture department was introduced by Rep. Walsh, democratic floor leader in the House, as an administration measure.

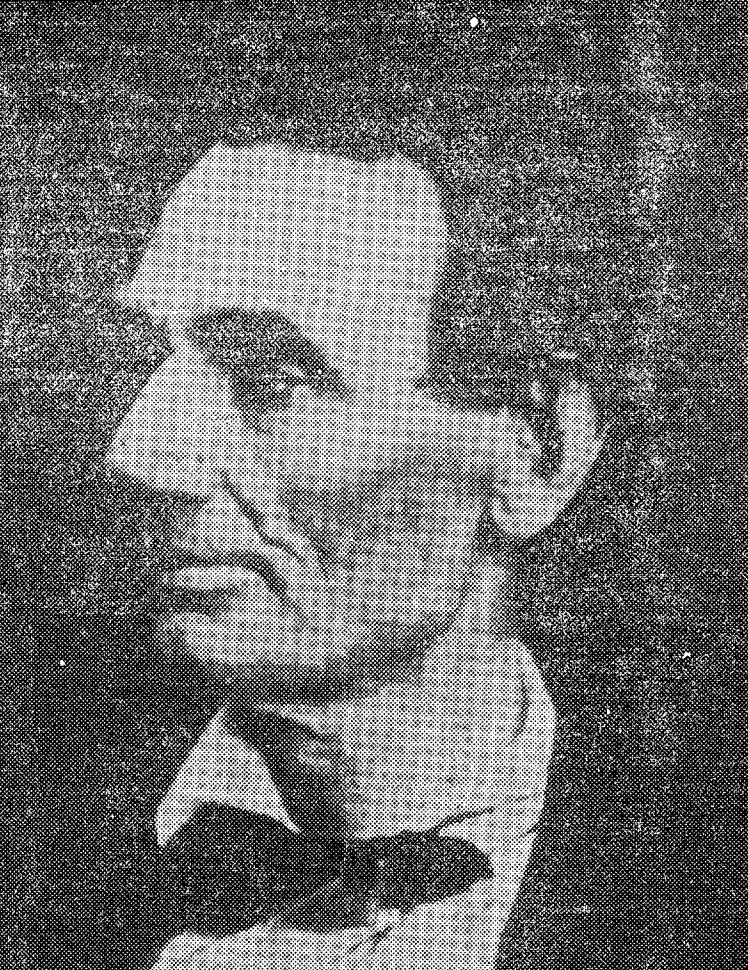

Republicans countered promptly by pushing a bill introduced by Rep. Maurice E. Post to reorganize the state department by investing the state board of agriculture, governing body of Michigan State College, with power to appoint the state commissioner of agriculture. Furthermore, Republicans are inclined to a conviction that if non-partisan control is good for the agricultural department, why is it not good for the highway department too?

(Administration answer: Has Michigan suffered from the elective system of highway commissioner? Since 1913 the state has had only three commissioners—Frank F. Rogers 1913-1929, Grover C. Dillman 1929-1933, and Murray D. VanWagoner 1933-1941. G. Donald Kennedy is filling the last named's unexpired term).

When Governor VanWagoner issued a public statement calling on farm groups to support his stand, Republican legislators flung the retort "playing politics" and declared that the governor was trying to crawl out of a bad political hole.

So the feud has been raging.

Warns of Fifth Column!

AT WHAT POINT shall we expect the approach of danger? By what means shall we fortify against it? Shall we expect some transatlantic military giant to step across the ocean and crush us at a blow? Never. All the armies of Europe, Asia and Africa combined, with all the treasure of the earth (our own excepted) in their military chest, with a Bonaparte for a commander, could not, by force, take a drink from the Ohio, or make a track on the Blue Ridge, in a trial of a thousand years.

At what point, then, is the approach of danger to be expected? I answer, if it ever reaches us, it must spring up among us. It cannot come from abroad.

If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and finisher.

As a nation of freemen, we must live through all time, or die by suicide.

The above is an extract from a speech by Abraham Lincoln, which remained in practical obscurity for over 100 years, and which has taken on new significance today. It was made when Lincoln was but 28 years old.

As though he could project himself into a new century and into new world conditions, Lincoln spoke with something of prophetic vision against what today might be termed "Fifth Column" and other dangers from within to American liberty.

Always a mystic, Lincoln comes to us over the vast expanse of years again as a man who "belongs to the ages."

There is no record of the exact reason for Lincoln's choice of subject on that now memorable day. At the time he was a comparative unknown. He had served in the Legislature from New Salem but without any particular distinction. He had run a little store in New Salem, which he gave up because of a debt that accumulated against it for one reason or another that kept him painfully at the task of repaying it for the next 15 years. He had been admitted to the practice of law but a few months before, but when he made the speech to the Young People's Lyceum of Springfield, Illinois, January 27, 1837, he spoke in the quality of a statesman.

Legislative Miscellany—

The 30-day notice of strike, which the state mediation board requires where national defense contracts are involved, may receive support of the governor's office. The growing gravity of the British situation and the resultant need for speed in American defense are given as reasons.

State aid for advertising Michigan's tourist industry would be doubled from $100,000 to $200,000 a year by the Bishop bill which was passed by the Senate with only two negative votes.

A bill to empower the state land office board to construct state-owned homes for welfare clients in metropolitan areas will be introduced soon at the request of Auditor General Vernon J. Brown. This experiment in low-cost state housing was advocated recently by Mr. Brown. Radical as it sounds, the plan follows the successful experience of socialistic Sweden and Norway and it illustrates how far our thinking has gone in the past decade.

The University of Michigan is receiving $446,000 less per year in state funds than in 1933 when there were 3,304 fewer students. Additional money is imperatively needed, according to President A. G. Ruthven.

Women Better Drivers?

The much-maligned woman driver finally has found a champion in Yale university. Studies conducted by the eastern university among 3,000 Connecticut drivers seems to have exploded the old theory held by many that men were better drivers. It was found that while women drive about half the mileage of men, they have less than one-third of the accidents. It was also revealed that young drivers have more accidents per mile than older drivers. Motorists between the ages of 20 and 25 had three times as many accidents as drivers in their forties.

In a letter to George F. Jeffrey, a member of the Tuscola County Draft Board, James G. Olah, assistant leader of the second contingent to leave Tuscola County under the selective service law, described the trip the group of 23 young men made to the induction center and their arrival at Camp Custer where they were issued uniforms and assigned to their companies. Eight of the Tuscola County men were sent to Fort Brady and will be members of a company that guard the locks at Sault Ste. Marie. They include James G. Olah, Robert Jones, Gordon Sayres, George H. Shaw, Fred Heintz, Claud Jones, John Witte and Archie Stevens.

There are 72 busts of eminent Americans in the shrine and dedication ceremonies for the 73rd, that of Stephen Collins Foster, noted composer, will be held soon. Anyone honored by being selected to the hall of fame must have been dead at least 25 years. Dr. Phelps has preached Sundays for many years in the Huron City Methodist Church to a congregation of men, women and children, many of whom travelled long distances to hear him.

'Ware of Suspicious Appearing Packages

Police Advise to Avoid All Mysterious Parcels.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Empire state citizens have been warned to be wary of suspicious-looking packages.

A special warning to residents said if a package is observed—whether the size of a cigar box, over-night bag, valise or satchel—lying in a place where it should not be, consider it as dangerous.

The police said "such a package might be found in the factory where you are employed, in a place of public assembly such as a church, synagogue or a movie theater, particularly if that theater is presenting a picture of controversial, political, racial or religious character."

"Railroad stations, trains, ferries, bridges, tunnels, river locks also may provide locations for planting of bombs."

Within the past few months state police said subversive and destructive elements "began instituting a reign of terror by placing, in various places, infernal machines, maliciously designed to explode and destroy life and property."

Residents were advised to be suspicious of all unordered and unexpected packages.

"Unless you are an executive of a manufacturing plant, a ranking government officer, a legislator, a journalist or writer active in the expression of your views on controversial subjects, it is very doubtful that the unknown package received by you will be a bomb," the police said.

A minimum distance of 35 to 50 feet was suggested as a safe distance from any suspicious package. Persons were advised not to investigate, touch, handle or attempt to open, such a box or container; not to put it in water, or throw a stream of water on it.

Pie Regular Army Dish At Northeast Air Base

CHICOPPEE, MASS.—Soldiers at Westover field expect pie and they get it.

Maj. George DeGraff, post quartermaster at the new northeast air base, has no difficulty in supplying his 300 troops with pies for dessert. The mess sergeant keeps plenty of flour and shortening on hand, and the cook detail does the rest.

Roaming around the camp, the soldiers have access to an abundance of fruit that includes apples, blueberries, blackberries, grapes, elderberries and even cranberries, all of choice varieties.

Fresh pies are always on the menu, with pickled pears, elderberry juice cocktails and peach melbas also available.

JUDGE CRAMTON WRITES YOU A PERSONAL LETTER

TO THE VOTERS:
Though the primary is so soon at hand, it has not been possible for me to make a personal canvass. I will not be able to talk with each one of you personally, soliciting your vote and answering any question or criticism concerning my work as your Judge the past six years.

Campaign Does Not Interfere with Court Work.
It has been my duty to carry on the work for which you elected me, and for which I am paid, and this has left me very little time for the business of being re-elected. Please understand, however, that I am very desirous of your vote and your influence. I have no political organization and only by the help of those who believe in me and my work can I win in the primary.

Asks the Usual Second Term.
I am serving my first term as Circuit Judge. I have tried hard to be an impartial, fair and honest judge. I am anxious that, by your votes, you declare that notwithstanding my mistakes and imperfections, you approve the record I have made. I ask from you the second term that has never been denied in this circuit.

The mess of campaign criticisms that has now been spread over the two counties by friends of candidates, by disappointed litigants and by others misinformed or heedless of the truth, comes back to me. Some criticism is well founded and will help me to avoid repetition of the same mistakes. Perfection is not to be reasonably expected from me, nor even from any one of my opponents. But as for me, you have the record I have made, just as it is. As to the others, you can only judge by their promises and their records in other work.

I ask you to beware of campaign yarns that are handed about surreptitiously, that never come out into the light of public discussion where answer can be made and exaggeration or falsehood be properly tagged.

The Farmers Mutual Receivership
Such a yarn is the report that one candidate will, if elected, "put an end to the whole Farmers Mutual mess in thirty days." He might better be expected to end the war in Europe. That receivership was created by, always has been and is now absolutely controlled by the Circuit Court for Ingham County and the Lapeer-Tuscola circuit does not now and never has had any control over it.

Not An Infallible Judge.
Many of you have been told of an amazing number of my decisions reversed by the Supreme Court. The number so currently reported has been a gross exaggeration. But I have been at times reversed and so is every Circuit Judge. And my record, if truthfully presented, compares very fairly with many other judges. The law is not an exact science and even members of the highest courts disagree and dissent. In one of my recent appeals our Michigan Supreme Court divided four to three. And it may be observed that, as practicing attorneys, none of my opponents have always won their cases in the Supreme Court. And these stories carry generally a suggestion of favoritism shown a member of the Lapeer bar. As the attorney mentioned in that connection is now actively campaigning as a candidate against me, the favoritism has been evidently a campaign fiction only and may so be dismissed.

Too Lenient with Criminals?
"He's too lenient with those convicted of crime," is sometimes the charge. Maybeso. I am not always sure just what is the thing to do. But I do what it seems to me, under the facts before me, what I ought to do. Most of these offenders are under 25, often under 21. Generally I have given first offenders, probation, a chance. Occasionally this has proven a mistake, but not often. But to send ten first offending youths to prison, because one may not make good on probation, would be itself a mistake too terrible for me to take responsibility for.

No Other Interest or Income
As Judge, I am forbidden to practice law and hence have no established law business to fall back on if I am not re-elected, and have no other business, no bank stock, no industrial interests. Judges are not expected to have other interests that may be money-making but may at times conflict. Hence judges are customarily re-elected who give honest and faithful service, even though they may not be the peers of Charles Evans Hughes and Felix Frankfurter. Thus the courts are customarily removed from personal as well as partisan politics. This year, in 33 of the 40 judicial circuits of Michigan the sitting judges are without opposition for re-election, though in every circuit there are capable young attorneys, ambitious for recognition and honor. Youth can wait. Most important is an honest, experienced, impartial judiciary for that is the very cornerstone of good government.

I ask your support, basing my request on my record. I urge each of you to vote at the Primary, February 17, and to see that others do.

Sincerely yours,
LOUIS C. CRAMTON, Circuit Judge.

National Survey of Registered Nurses

For the purpose of obtaining definite information as to the number of registered nurses available for home service, for cantonment health and hospital service, or for active service in case of war, a national survey will shortly be undertaken under the sponsorship of the United States Public Health Service and the National Council on Nursing Defense.

This survey, which will be commenced on February 7, will be for the purpose of ascertaining the exact whereabouts and present position of all registered nurses throughout the United States. Nurses will be asked questions as to their training and experience and will also be asked to state whether they will be available for home defense service or for active service as needed anywhere in the United States and its possessions.

SWINE DISEASE SPREAD FEARED

Erysipelas Presents a New Threat in U. S.

Throughout the ages, one of the first and most certain results of war has been a marked increase in the contagious disease of live stock. One serious animal disease, for example, gained entry here before the war, and has already caused serious losses to live stock producers in a number of states. This plague is known as Swine Erysipelas—a name which is probably more familiar to most American farmers than the disease itself. Today, serious outbreaks of Erysipelas are gaining in frequency in many states. Naturally, the greatest losses have occurred in the swine raising sections of the Middle West, but according to the American Foundation for Animal Health, the disease has now been recognized in at least 39 states.

Swine Erysipelas is caused by a specific bacterial organism. In swine, this organism or germ may cause several different types of the disease varying from the very acute blood-poisoning type, to the slowly developing chronic type characterized by lameness, enlarged joints, and sometimes by inflamed or dead areas of the skin. In its more acute forms, the symptoms may resemble those of hog cholera and laboratory examinations by a veterinarian are frequently required in differentiating the two diseases.

The fact that Erysipelas and Cholera symptoms are often very much alike is undoubtedly an important factor in the recent spread of the former disease in this country. If veterinary diagnosis is not made, and the disease is allowed to run its course, many farmers conclude that their hogs have recovered from an attack of cholera, when as a matter of fact the animals have been suffering from Erysipelas. This is a very serious error in view of the fact that it has been definitely proved that animals that have recovered from an attack of the disease may carry the causative germ in their body tissues for relatively long periods.

The first point for every farmer to remember is that Erysipelas often resembles hog cholera. Guesswork is a poor substitute for accurate diagnosis when either of these dangerous diseases is involved. And finally, an effective treatment for Erysipelas is now available and should be used whenever the disease is indicated, not only to help save the infected hogs, but to help prevent further spread of the disease in this country.

Lights Necessitate More Poultry Feed

Poultrymen should remember that artificial lights stimulate egg production only because they encourage greater feed consumption and that more grain should be provided when lights are used, advises J. C. Taylor, associate extension poultryman at Rutgers university. If the amount of grain fed is increased two to four pounds per 100 birds a day so that about 14 or 16 pounds are consumed daily, it will be easier for laying birds to maintain good body weight. When the limit has been reached in the amount of grain the birds will eat, a flushing mash of ground oats, ground yellow corn and milk may be fed to further aid in the maintenance of body weight.

Farm Population

The farm population of the United States on January 1, 1940, was 32,245,000, the largest in 24 years. It was close to the 1916 all-time high record of 32,530,000.

Feeding Dry Cows

If in poor condition a dry cow may need as much as 10 to 12 pounds grain per day to put her in good condition so that she will milk heavy during her next lactation. A high producing cow cannot maintain her body weight with the feed she can eat, so it is highly important that we put her in good condition when she freshens, says E. H. Hanson, University of Minnesota. A grain mixture made up of 200 pounds ground corn, 400 pounds ground oats, 200 pounds bran, 100 pounds linseed meal, or some other high protein feed and a little molasses is suggested by many feeders. Good hay should be provided for dry cows.

Phosphorus for Cattle

A large amount of phosphorus is used by every dairy animal in its lifetime of usefulness. A 1,000-pound cow has about 50 pounds of bones, a large part of which is phosphorus. In milk, a food high in both calcium and phosphorus is produced. Of the combined amount of these minerals needed for milk production, the phosphorus is about 45 per cent; in other words, the phosphorus requirement is about four-fifths of the calcium requirement.

SUGGESTS MOVING STATE FAIR TO STATE COLLEGE AT EAST LANSING

State Representative Audley Rawson of Cass City, declaring he was impressed with the success of the annual Michigan Farmers' Week observance at Michigan State College, proposed in an interview at East Lansing Tuesday, a study of the feasibility of transferring the Michigan State Fair from Detroit to the Michigan State College campus at East Lansing. Mr. Rawson said the state fair in Detroit was operated, according to the annual report of the board of state fair managers, at a $100,000 loss in 1940 and as a "losing venture" was supported at public expense which fell far short of benefiting agriculture as much as farmers could reasonably expect. He said many things would have to be studied before a decision could be reached on his suggestion, among them disposition of the state fair grounds in Detroit. In his opinion the college could operate the fair for a fraction of the sum required last year, and might be made self-supporting.

WALTER KELLEY, Chairman. CLARE W. HORNING, Clerk Pro tem.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1940.
Regular October Session of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors continued and held at the Court House in the Village of Caro on the 30th day of October, 1940.

Meeting called to order by Chairman Kelley.

Clerk called the roll and the following

Some drivers feel that their ability to get out of a tight spot is a demonstration of skill. They drive recklessly, heedless of traffic rules, feeling secure in the knowledge that they know how to handle a car.

A driver may get a thrill from getting out of a tight spot by quick and expert handling of his car, but he should not boast about it or get "cocky" because a good driver rarely gets into a tight spot. He is always careful on the approach to intersections, schools, cross-roads, and other places where there is a possibility of his meeting other drivers.

The anticipation of an accident at these spots is the practice of all good drivers.

It's smart to drive carefully.

Doesn't Need Handy Man

Mrs. Briney Thompson of Mission Ridge, S. D., doesn't need a handy man to carry wood for her, says the American magazine. Every morning her collie dog brings in the wood, stick by stick, and places it carefully by the kitchen stove.

ALLIS-CHALMERS

BRINGS NEW COMFORTS
TO FIELD AND FIRESIDE

Let's dream for a minute. About your farm and your home and your family. Suppose things were so you could take a shortcut in farming... forget the endless "lantern-light" chores of tending horses. Forget the hired help problem, threshing worries, long hours.

Just a dream? Not at all. Make it come true this year with an Allis-Chalmers power outfit... at a price you can afford. Simple arithmetic shows it costs less than horses and horse implements. But no figures can evaluate your return in Better Living. That will be priceless. Talk it over with us now!

Healthier Ewes Make More Wool

Michigan sheep grow more wool when they are in good health.

Proof of this has been obtained in a study of wool clipped from 34 ewes. Although they had aged a year, the 1940 crop of wool weighed by a farmer showed a total of 39 pounds more than the wool he got in 1939 from the same ewes.

The secret was entirely in the health and in the feeding and care of the ewes, reports C. L. Cole, professor of animal husbandry at Michigan State College.

In 1939 these ewes were in poor condition. They had stomach worms from running on permanent pasture, with poor nutrition. They averaged six pounds of wool that spring. So the flockmaster began drenching them every 30 days in summer and three times in the winter. They went out on improved pastures that summer and in winter were fed high quality legume hay and corn silage.

Only two ewes failed to increase in wool clipped from the 34 animals. Normally, a year older, the average should have decreased. Another contrast in the two wool crops were affected dollar returns. In the 1939 wool there was a high percentage of clothing wool or short staple worth less money. This was 17.6 per cent. In 1940 this percentage dropped to 5.9.

So the flockmaster not only got more wool but a better quality, Cole reports, for the better feed and better care given his flock of 34 ewes.

M. S. C. to Aid Rural Ministry

Michigan State College offers a practical aid to the state's rural ministry in approving and scheduling a four-year course agricultural background for theological students.

The course leads to a degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture and includes certain minimum requirements for strictly agricultural studies. Extra emphasis is to be placed on the social sciences in preparation for the rural and small-town ministry.

E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture, in announcing approval by the college of the new course, reports there are no new courses involved in any of the college divisions and that no new instructors are required. Students selecting the theology major begin their optional training in their sophomore year.

Action of Michigan State College is similar to that being taken in several other leading agricultural colleges in the United States. E. B. Hill of the farm management department has laid out the course schedule and has participated in conferences with representatives of other schools.

In addition to the agricultural background the pre-theological major would study rural sociology, philosophy, history and political science, English, speech, agricultural economics and farm management.

Another conference including educators at agricultural colleges and representatives of theological seminaries is scheduled at Urbana, Illinois, March 30. Professor Hill will attend and present his version of some of the problems involved in rural ministry training. Seminaries contend the college preparation should be followed by three years of training in a seminary.

Kitchen Tricks Lessen Labors

Average homemakers spend more working time in the kitchen than in any other room in the house. And work is done more easily and quickly if tools and supplies are at fingertips.

One of the goals of kitchen planning is to reduce the number of steps necessary in performing routine tasks, according to the staff in home economics at Michigan State College. To accomplish this, modern kitchens are divided into "work centers." That is, all the supplies and all the equipment for one kind of kitchen work are grouped together.

In general, there are four work centers in the kitchen—one for food preparation, one for serving, one for cooking and one for dishwashing. Storage spaces should be arranged with reference to the work done at each center.

In a very compact kitchen all of these work centers—except the one cooking—may be located near the sink. A sink usually is flanked by drainboards that are really smooth-surface work tops. On each side above and below the work surface are storage cabinets.

The natural way for a right-handed person to wash dishes is from right to left—stacking the dishes on the right, and putting them to drain at the left. So the logical place to store dishes used most often is near the place where they are dried, in this case above the left flankboard. Such dishes include cereal and sauce dishes, cups, saucers, plates, and platters. The logical place to store everyday silverware and dish towels is in drawers below this drainboard.

Bowling News

In winning all three of their games last week, the Reid "Slapsticks" pulled into a tie for first place with the Knapp "Youngsters." They are followed closely by several teams which threaten to displace these leaders shortly.

The Pinney team still clings to first place in the number of total pins to date and this has been largely accomplished through the superb bowling of "Captain" Fred, who has been consistently backing his ball into the pins for several grand totals which also has boosted him into fourth place as high average individual bowler.

Herb Ludlow is another individual that seems to be well on his way toward a good average. The first 10 high bowlers have but four points separating them, and since the race is the tightest since bowling started, it looks like places will be changing from week to week.

Does Not Like Horses
The most prolific writer of Hollywood "westerns" is Betty Burbridge, says the American magazine. In 10 years she's turned out more than 100 of what the film folk call "giddyap" movies. But strangely enough, this author of horse operas writes only from hearsay—she just does not like horses.

Doll Hobby
Four hundred dolls, gathered from all parts of the world over a 10-year period at a cost of from $5 to $150, are only the start of her collection, according to Mrs. Franklin Schneider of Cleveland. She became interested in dolls from buying Christmas presents for children of friends.

Tobacco Warehouse
One of the largest warehouses of its kind in the world is a tobacco warehouse in Lexington, Ky. It has 210,000 square feet of floor space and has held as much as 1,916,000 pounds of tobacco at one time.

(SCHOOL NEWS)

Greenwood School.

Teacher, William Burnmeister.
Reporters, Helen Luana and John Hawley.

The seventh graders in language are studying the poem, "Incident of the French Camp." The eighth graders memorized "The Gettysburg Address" last week for part of their work in language.

In 4-H handicraft work Jimmie Luana has nearly finished his self-feeder for chickens; Clinton Sadler is working on his soap shaker; Richard Sadler has completed three articles and is working on a window support. Johnnie Kolacy has the parts cut out for a magazine basket; and Andy Hawley is working on a bluebird house.

On the west bulletin board we have pictures of three of the Dionne Quintuplets, Ann, Marie, and Yvonne.

We will collect these pictures until we have all five in the set.

In art the upper grades have been making valentines for the last two weeks. The first one we made was heart-shaped with a design pricked in with a pin.

Our visitors last week were Antoinette Smith and Mr. Conner. Mr. Conner taught us a lesson about the river of sin.

We have a large chart in the back of the room called "The New Story of Light." It shows the ways in which people in different parts of the world light their homes.

Everyone that had the measles is over them now and back to school.

Last Monday we exchanged names for Valentine's day.

We received our seeds but will not begin to sell them until the weather is warmer.
