Wave of Ag Advertising Bills for State Solons

Dairymen and Apple, Cherry and Egg Producers Interested in Legislation.

Michigan Press Association
Letter from Gene Alleman.
State Capitol, Lansing—A wave of agricultural advertising bills is about to reach the Michigan state legislature.

When the state supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the apple advertising tax, whereby a levy of one cent a bushel is assessed on the grower, (who adds it to the consumer's bill just as the retailer does with the sales tax), the court opened the dykes to similar legislation.

Dairy interests propose a similar advertising levy in the hope of stimulating consumption of milk and butter. Cherry growers and canners also advocate a state cherry tax to solve the recurrent problem of how to dispose of a canned cherry surplus which, in 1941, is the greatest known in many years. The cherry industry of Michigan has been weakened by a competitive fever among leaders, and this co-operative action may not be easily effected.

Even egg producers—and Hamilton in Allegan County is the "egg capital" of Michigan—are studying the court ruling carefully. As the Hamilton co-operative has shown, eggs can be controlled in flavor, while scientific processing can preserve the "fresh" taste from six months to a year, and the average consumer can't tell the difference!

The bill by Rep. Maurice E. Post, (R) Rockford, to take the commissioner of agriculture out of politics by making him responsible to the state board of agriculture (governing body of Michigan State College) is beginning to back-fire.

Passed by the House, the measure will be taken up by the Senate.

Two Lapeer Men Will Oppose
Each Other in April Election.

George W. DesJardins, Lapeer attorney, and Judge Louis C. Cramton were the two successful candidates in the non-partisan primary election Monday for the circuit judgeship in the fortieth judicial district comprising Tuscola and Lapeer Counties. Early returns in the two counties gave Mr. DesJardins 2,321 votes, Judge Cramton 1,532, Myron David Orr of Caro 1,389, and Maurice C. Ransford of Caro, 1,207. Tuscola County, which normally casts a larger vote than Lapeer, was nearly 600 behind on Monday. An indication of the light vote is shown by the comparison of the Tuscola November vote of 13,488 and that of last Monday of 2,940 in this county.

The vote by counties follows:

Tuscola County.
Ransford	1,067
Cramton	697
Orr	693
DesJardins	483

Fathers and Sons Hear Story About G-Men

School's Rhythm Band Enthusiastically Received at Monday's Banquet.

"The overindulgence of parents and the lack of discipline in the home is a great contributor to the crime wave sweeping the United States," Sam Grathwell, the speaker at the Father and Son banquet of the Community Club, told his audience Monday night. "The Story of the G-Men" was the subject of his address.

Weakness within was the great contributing cause to the downfall of Belgium, Holland and France, Mr. Grathwell said, and it is against such a condition that this country must be prepared. The Federal Bureau of Investigation is the strongest arm of internal defense, he said.

The criminal represents the weak link in our nation and our criminal record is a disgrace, according to Mr. Grathwell. He told of the high character qualifications required of G-Men and said that science is getting too strong to permit crime to pay. Ninety-six per cent of men arrested by G-Men are convicted.

A pleasing feature of the evening's program was seven selections by the Rhythm Band, composed of pupils of the kindergarten and first grade with Lyle Ludlow Turn to page 4, please.

Locals Win from Bad Axe and Lose to Marlette

Cass City Travels to Caro
Tonight to Play County Seat Quintet.

Cass City High School's cagers eked out a victory over the Bad Axe hoopers in the local gym on Friday for the second time this season. Cass City kept a small lead all the way through the contest to emerge with a 28-25 margin.

The locals piled up a 7-3 lead the first quarter, then played Bad Axe on even terms and stood off a rally in the third quarter to keep the Huron County lads two or three points away all the time.

Both teams were determined to go out after a win and were both playing a fast brand of basketball. Good defensive work by both teams kept the scoring comparatively low.

Strickland and Sickler were the scoring threats for Cass City, having nine and eight points respectively, while Huston and Todd were high for Bad Axe with the same number of points.

The Bad Axe Seconds nosed out the Cass City Reserves in a 22-20 count in the preliminary.

Dog's Alarm Saves Aged Man's Life

From Novesta Correspondent.
W. J. Sprague, who is nearly 79 years old, may owe his life to a dog. Friday, Mr. Sprague was seated by a table reading, and had laid his head on his arms and fell asleep. Later he was aroused by the barking of his dog, to find the drapes between the dining room and living room were all ablaze. As he tried to whip out the fire with a mop, the fire scattered and caught in the curtains in the dining room windows.

Mr. Sprague ran to the door and called for help. Herbert Wagner, who lives in the house across the drive from Mr. Sprague, answered the call and soon extinguished the flames.

Mr. Wagner says in another few minutes the fire would have been beyond control and Mr. Sprague would have been seriously, if not fatally burned.

The floor and door casings were quite badly scorched, some of the paper was burned from the wall, and two small holes were burned in Mr. Sprague's shirt sleeves. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Mrs. Bulen and Mrs. Wooley Elected W. S. C. Delegates

Meeting at the home of Mrs. G. A. Tindale on Tuesday afternoon, the Woman's Study Club elected Mrs. H. M. Bulen as delegate to represent the club at the convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs at Lansing on March 19, 20, 21 and 22. Mrs. Howard Wooley was chosen alternate delegate.

Rev. Wendling H. Hastings, pastor of the Cass City Presbyterian Church, told club members of visits he had made to two of Father Divine's "heavens" while he was in New York attending a seminary last summer. Divine has a great following in Harlem, the subdivision occupied by the negro race in New York City, Mr. Hastings said. While he regards Divine's God-assuming attitude as blasphemous, he heard much of the negro leader's campaign in providing better housing and living conditions in Harlem. Divine is doing things in solving social problems among the negroes where other agencies have failed.

The afternoon program was in charge of Mrs. L. I. Wood and Mrs. Vern Bogart. Mrs. Rose Dawson of Marlette was a guest.

The next meeting of the club will be held March 4 in the home of Mrs. Howard Wooley. Mrs. Raymond McCullough and Mrs. Hugh Munro are program leaders.

WASHINGTON, NATION BUILDER.

In honoring George Washington on the anniversary of his birthday, people often think of him as simply a great military genius. He was far more than that. When the Revolutionary War ended with a triumph of his army, the United States was still a very frail little country. A good strong offensive would probably have swept away its government.

When Washington retired as president in 1797, the country was established on a firm foundation, and was making rapid progress. This gain was largely due to the wisdom of the framers of the constitution. When they attempted to form a new system of government, they found the 13 original colonies were a group of loosely federated states, each so independent that the country could hardly be called a nation. The framers of the constitution welded it into a strong combination, in which it could make itself respected in the world.

Washington's influence as president was an enormous factor in creating this stronger position. The United States could hardly have gained independence if it had not been for the military and naval help it got from France. The French had no particular love for America, but they were hostile to England. They felt that by helping America, they hurt England. Many Americans feared that as a result, France would become the real ruler over our country, and be no better ruler than England had been.

The intelligent judgment of Washington steered the country through those dangerous situations. His liberal mind drew adherents from all points of view. He framed such wise and just policies as to unify the nation, and promote its prosperity. He found a group of more or less hostile states, and when his service ended, it was a real nation, marching steadily along the high road of progress.

ROTARY'S BIRTHDAY.

Where to, traveler? Amarillo, Texas, or Amritsar, India? Kansas City, Missouri, or Kauai, Hawaii? Twin Bridges, Montana, or Twickenham, England? Unadilla, New York, or Unley, Australia? Travelers have long since become accustomed to the familiar cog-wheel road signs which inform them that "Rotary Meets on Tuesday," or whatever the day might be.

Whenever columnists, journalists, authors, lecturers, politicians, or playwrights wish to refer to a typical group of American businessmen, they usually think of Rotary. To put it another way, Rotary has become an American institution—but by no means is it limited to the United States. Of course, Rotary was born in Chicago, but during its 36-year existence it has been adopted by business and professional men of more than three-score countries or regions.

In Rotary's membership are more than 210,000 men. They, collectively, speak almost every language, embrace almost every political belief, represent almost every religion. But there is something fundamentally the same about all these men, about all men, and it is that fundamental sameness which has led to universal acceptance of Rotary.

Rotary has one ideal—the Ideal of Service. Perhaps you are not familiar with the term, "Ideal of Service," but you have heard of the Golden Rule, and that, basically, is Rotary's Ideal of Service—application of the Golden Rule by Rotarians in all phases of everyday life. And it works! Few ideals are practical, easily enough, but Rotary is. In union there is strength, and each Rotary Club is a union of business and professional executives—one man from each recognized line of business. It is a union held together by the cement of friendship and good will and fellowship. It's easy to see how such a group possesses and exercises tremendous potentialities for the accomplishment of good. Crippled children, delinquent youth, college students in dire financial straits, the blind, the poor, the underprivileged—these and others who have needed help have seen Rotary's potentialities applied. Rotary also has brought about betterment of

INTEGRITY AND FIRMNESS

The above is a photographic reproduction of the features of George Washington carved out of rock by Sculptor Gutzon Borglum on the face of Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

WHAT would Washington do or say today? The question is often asked. It can never be answered precisely. In accepting the presidency, Washington minimized his talents, saying he was "without that competency of political skill, abilities and inclination which are necessary to manage the helm."

But he did make a pledge to the American people.

"Integrity and firmness are all I can promise. These, be the voyage long or short, shall never forsake me, although I may be deserted by all men."

INTEGRITY and firmness were all he promised, but these were enough to pull the young Republic through in those frail, uncertain, tenuous years. North Carolina had not yet ratified the Constitution, Rhode Island declared it never would, when Washington was inaugurated. Vermont was even then trying to negotiate separate recognition at London.

It needed Washington's firmness and integrity to make the foundations of the Republic solid.

IN THE past few years passages from the Farewell Address have been quoted perhaps more frequently than anything else in America. Two sentences stand out: "Tis our true and settled policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world."

"Taking care always to keep ourselves, by suitable establishments, on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies."

What would Washington do today? We may dispute over the words he left us, and over their application today. But we can be certain that today, as in the early days of the Republic, Washington would give us the same pledge:

"Integrity and firmness are all I can promise. These, be the voyage long or short, shall never forsake me, although I may be deserted by all men."

business and professional ethics through the adoption by trade and craft associations of codes of ethics of fair business and professional standards.

Rotary has a fourth object which reads: "The advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service." Does that impress you as being somewhat futile in view of the mess the world is in at present?

Don't you agree that the conditions which lead to war, the basic conditions, are mistrust, hatred, misunderstanding, and intolerance, on an international scale, whether in the fields of politics or economics? And doesn't it appear reasonable that if we could replace those things with trust, friendship, understanding, and tolerance we'd be eliminating the conditions and causes of war? That's just what Rotary believes. Moreover, Rotarians have seen such principles put into practice. Rotarians have more than average opportunities to meet with people from other lands. They travel considerably, gather in interdistrict, intercountry, and international meetings; they correspond with fellow Rotarians in other lands. It would be pretty hard to convince a Rotarian that differences of nationality or of language or of custom are basic differences. It's true, Rotary's 210,000 are but a mere handful, but aren't Rotary's principles universal? Could they not be adopted by all men?

Sunday, February 23, is Rotary's 36th birthday. Rotary has traveled far in 36 years. We extend sincere congratulations and to Rotary we say: "Keep up the good work. As the years pass, may more and more of the peoples of the world come to believe in the principles to which you, as an organization, have devoted yourself."

Vitamins Never Worried Grandpa

Great Grandpa never tasted a tomato salad—a stringless green bean—or a grapefruit. Great Grandpa never knew the indecision that comes from assembling a meal from a cafeteria counter. Great Grandpa never saw a "super market." And to him vitamins, protective foods or fresh spinach in December were unknown.

These are but a few of the developments that have brought changes in our food habits since Great Grandpa's day. What some of these changes have been and how they affected our diets are pointed out by staff members at Michigan State College.

Today we eat fewer natural and more processed and fabricated foods than we did before. Today we have a far greater variety of foods available. Tastes have changed. And there is much less difference than before in the foods eaten in different parts of the country—or from season to season.

Encouraging is the sharp increase in the past 50 years in the amount consumed of milk, tomatoes, citrus fruits and leafy green vegetables.

These are "protective" foods, noted for mineral elements and vitamins in which diets are likely to fall short.

Because Americans have come to associate whiteness in other foods with goodness, they often eat white flour, white sugar and similar kinds of foods to the exclusion of others. As a result, unwise food choices tend to offset the benefit of increased use of protective foods. And diets as they stand today often are short in calcium, and in vitamins A, B₁ and C.

One new trend may lead to public adoption of the new "enriched" flour, which mills plan to put on the market soon. This flour will be enriched with vitamins and other food values in which American diets are low.

Potato Winners Reveal Methods

How does a potato grower produce yields two or three times those obtained by other growers?

That was a popular question recently on the campus at Michigan State College when the state's leading pair of potato growers were named champions during Farmers' Week.

The champions are J. D. Robinson, Pellston, and Clayton Ford, Cornell. Robinson produced 590 bushels to the acre on a 17-acre field of russet rural variety grown as certified seed. Ford cropped 450 bushels on 6 1/2 acres of the same variety, grown as tablestock.

Methods were somewhat similar to those practiced by the 160 growers who became eligible in 1940 for membership to Michigan's 300-bushel potato club. Spraying to control blight seemed highly important, as one of the 300-bushel men reported his neighbor got only 16 bushels to the acre when he neglected to spray his crop, whereas on his own farm the blight sprays permitted a 450 bushel an acre yield.

On Robinson's farm the operator used 1,500 pounds of 2-8-18 fertilizer to the acre, used 30 bushels of seed an acre planted 11 inches apart in 30-inch rows and sprayed eight times.

Ford did not have Robinson's irrigation equipment, so his fertilizer was lighter. Ford applied 500 pounds of 4-16-16 fertilizer an acre, used 18 bushels of seed and sprayed nine times during the growing season.

SOIL LOSSES VARY.

How a sloping field, mismanaged, can lose 150 tons of topsoil from an acre in a year's erosion has been demonstrated in a series of tests conducted by the Berrien County soil conservation service. The field was Hillsdale loam and had more than a 13 per cent slope. A small strip was cultivated up and down the slope for the test. In an adjoining strip the loss was slowed to 26 tons an acre with cultivation across the slope and with sod strips. But where another test strip was all in sod the sloping field lost at the rate of but one-fifth of a ton of soil in a year.

CORN SUPPLY AMPLE.

Reports from the United States department of agriculture indicate the country began the year with a corn supply of 3,150,000,000 bushels of corn, nearly a record supply. Michigan farmers feeding meat and dairy animals are helping use the corn. Those who have studied this supply indicate there is enough corn and other feed on hand to produce more meat and livestock products than the American public has ever consumed in any one year.

Bagging Grapes

Grapes are often preyed upon by birds and insects. Gardenmakers who wish to obtain extra fine bunches bag them with paper or burlap bags, drawing them over the bunches and tying them around the stems, leaving no opening for the insects to enter.

Season of Lent

With Ash Wednesday, February 26, churches throughout the world begin observance of the season of Lent. This year, church leaders believe, will see an upswing in church attendance throughout the United States. Typical of this belief is the statement of the Rev. Ralph Wakefield, D. D., Chicago, president of the Church Federation, who states: "I am convinced that this year, as never before, our people will flock to their churches during the Lenten and Easter season, finding comfort and inspiration from the teachings of Christ in a time of world chaos, war and human suffering."

200 TASTE PICKLES.

Pickle manufacturing has added more science, thanks to two members of the Michigan State College staff. They submitted pickle samples sweetened with various solutions. Ideal, they found after tallying votes of 200 tasters, was a combination of sucrose and dextrose. Technically, in a 20 degree Baume syrup at 20 grains acidity there was 75 per cent sucrose and 25 per cent dextrose.

Tells of Filing Farm Income Tax

More farmers than usual in Michigan will be filing federal income tax reports for 1940 because farm income levels rose during the year and because the minimums for married and for single persons were lowered by the federal government.

As an aid in filing reports, some practical help has been prepared by E. B. Hill, head of the Michigan State College farm management. He lists 36 typical questions and provides the answers from information obtained from the office of the deputy collector of internal revenue at Lansing.

Copies of these questions and answers are available for reference in all offices in the state of county agricultural agents and Smith-Hughes agricultural teachers. Filing time deadline is March 15.

Farmers who have been using the Michigan farm account books will have a far easier time answering necessary questions in filing reports and paying taxes, advises Professor Hill. The books simplify the tabulation of information required by the federal government.

Some of the questions answered in the advice include problems of income from rented land, of partnership farming, of listing family or dependent minor labor in farm work, details of estimating depreciation and handling time sales of crops and livestock.

Professor Hill also lists offices of internal revenue deputy collectors located in Ann Arbor, Bay City, Battle Creek, Benton Harbor, Flint, Grand Rapids, Houghton, Iron Mountain, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Marquette, Muskegon, Petoskey, Port Huron, Pontiac and Saginaw. With the address of each office he names the counties included in the office's territory.

Farmers should first obtain the proper form by writing to the collector of Internal Revenue at Detroit or by calling at one of the deputy collectors' offices. Forms may be obtained from some banks and postoffices. Quite complete instructions accompany the blank forms. Additional aid may be obtained from the collectors' offices.

are new official material, and the three trustees whose terms expire this spring were on hand to promote the new nominations, believing that if a village trustee position is a good thing it should be passed around and if it's a burden it should be likewise distributed among the citizenry.

The caucus attendants started the evening's choosing by balloting, but after Mr. Schwaderer was named on the first vote taken, the remainder of the ticket was made by the unanimous choice of the group assembled. By the time late-comers were counted, there were about 18 citizens present at the caucus which convened at the hour of seven.

Upper Thumb Round Table Meets at Uby Wednesday, Mar. 19

J. Wesley Dunn of Cass City, president of the Upper Thumb Round Table, was in Uby Tuesday making preliminary arrangements for a meeting of that society in the Uby High School on Wednesday evening, March 19. Following the dinner served at 6:30 p. m., the teachers will separate into groups when the following topics will be discussed: Rural schools, English and speech, superintendent's problems, agriculture and biology, home economics and related arts, music, principal and supervision, mathematics and science, early elementary, later elementary, industrial arts, commercial, and social studies.

Later in the evening, while athletic coaches confer in a gathering of the Upper Thumb Athletic Association, dancing and bridge will be offered for the entertainment of the other teachers attending the gathering.

Farmers' Guild to Be Organized Here on February 27

The gathering was sponsored by the Michigan Farmers' Guild and two addresses were given by two prominent officers of the organization, Harry Atchison, president, and Claude L. Wood, vice president.

A meeting will be held in the Town Hall at Cass City Thursday, February 27, at which time a local organization will be established in this community.

'Hoppers Overrun Utah; Gulls Could Save Day

SALT LAKE CITY.—The gulls saved the Mormon pioneers from an invasion of crickets in 1847, and their modern-day descendants could use similar aid in the war on grasshoppers.

Agricultural authorities estimate that the 'hoppers would take a crop toll of $1,500,000 this year in Utah—the same damage done annually for the last five years.

The cricket pest has been controlled by dusting and poison, but as yet no successful means of combating the grasshoppers has been devised.

Britain Conserves Steel, Orders Concrete Shelters

LONDON.—No more steel shelters will be issued in Britain after the present ones have been delivered because Britain needs the steel for armaments. This announcement was made in parliament by Sir John Anderson, minister for home security. He said 2,238,000 shelters have been delivered and that 50,000 would follow. This represented shelter for about 11,500,000 people.

Shelters in brick and concrete will take the place of the steel, the government paying for the materials and making grants toward the cost of construction.

George II Coins Picked Up Along Beach in Delaware

REHOBOTH BEACH, DEL.—Hundreds of vacationists are turning treasure hunters at this Delaware shore resort because the beach sands gave up more of the cargo of the sailing vessel Faithful Steward, wrecked in 1783.

From time to time English coins have been picked up on the beach, but recently more pieces than usual have been found. These include coppers minted during the reign of George II, and other coins of different values and of later mintings.

Aching Tooth Makes Mouth Feel Like It Was Afire

BOSTON.—Toothaches can't always wait for regular treatment. Patrolman John P. Mulligan and Joseph Murphy of the Roxbury Crossing station learned this when they sped to Valentine street, Roxbury, at 3 a. m. to answer a fire alarm.

At the alarm box they found Mrs. Louise Surette, 19, victim of a severe toothache.

They took her to City hospital, where she was treated and released.

Auto Follows Stork As Trailer for Twins

SEATTLE.—Four years ago Donald S. Davis laughingly promised to buy Harry Low an automobile if the Lows would have twins as companions for their only son.

Low telephoned Davis recently that he had twin daughters.

Mrs. Low and the twins will ride home from the hospital in the new automobile.

Marlette Wins.
A rangy Marlette ball team alert to take advantage of its breaks gave the Maroon and Grey its worst trimming of the year Tuesday night when they copped a 27 to 16 victory.

The first three quarters were slow, deliberate basketball, neither team wanting to give up possession of the ball. The lead was exchanged several times but neither team held more than a five-point advantage at any time.

The score was tied with five minutes of the final period remaining when Marlette, who has been undefeated in its last ten starts, began to hit baskets from all over the floor and piled up their eleven-point margin to win.

Wilson and Daniels of Marlette were high scorers, both collecting eight points. Strickland had five for Cass City.

The Marlette Reserves swamped the Cass City Reserves in the opener, 37-11.

TO OUR MANY FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS:

Naturally, we take great pride in our chicks, for they represent in Quality, a lot of hard work and careful attention. We feel well repaid for our efforts. Our old customers come back year after year, and we are adding new ones. Which, we believe, proves that there CAN NEVER BE A SUBSTITUTE FOR QUALITY, ESPECIALLY IN BABY CHICKS.

You will find that Poultry Profits can be increased if you raise more Quality Baby Chicks. Sell off the excess cockerels; there is good money to be made quickly in supplying early broilers then keep your pullets, and as they come into lay, you can cull them closely. Dispose of those that fail to meet the requirements of high egg production. Keep only the ones that show a ready determination to lay eggs in abundance, then with the approach of fall and winter with higher egg prices—you can make BIGGER PROFITS than ever before. Egg prices throughout the coming year will be above corresponding periods of last year, because of the prospective supply situation, according to economists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

WAVE OF AG

ADVERTISING BILLS
FOR STATE SOLONS

Concluded from page one.

ure is now before the Senate committee on agriculture. At a hearing last week a majority of farm spokesmen expressed opposition.
Clark L. Brody, secretary of the Michigan Farm Bureau and a member of the college board, condemned the plan as being an unconstitutional invasion of the governor's executive authority. Fred P. Hibst, Cadillac, manager of the Michigan
Potato Growers' Exchange, warned it would involve the college "more and more with politics because politically-minded men will seek election to the board to dominate state department policies."

Even the possibility that state department employees would be removed from civil service protection has been raised by several senators. Educational institutions are now exempt.

Some bi-partisan control for the agricultural department has been favored by farm groups for many years. Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner merely seized it in 1940 as a good campaign issue, and by this time he has put the Republican dominated legislature in a pretty predicament. A veto is certain if the Post bill is passed.

Labor Reforms

Generally known as "publicity bills" are three measures, introduced by Senator Stanley Nowack, (D) Detroit, which are designed to institute labor reforms in Michigan.

Senate bills 51 and 52 would impose minimum wages for women and institute wage and hour requirements for all workers in intra-state commerce. Because of their drastic provisions at a time when national defense has the right of way, the bills repose quietly in the senate labor committee.

A third Nowack labor bill would forbid boys under 14 years of age and girls under 18 to engage in "street trades" including the sale of newspapers and magazines.
Even time spent in school would be included in an eight-hour day limit.
(The average newsboy or magazine junior merchant devotes only an hour or so each day, in his spare time, to his "street trade.") It is usually considered "pin money" rather than employment, as Michigan requires compulsory education for everyone 7 to 16 years of age).

Political Publicity

Office-holders realize the value of publicity, especially if it is at the public's expense and at the disad-vantage of their opponents.

House Bill 99 would provide for the ballot designation of the occupation of a candidate who seeks re-election—a privilege which rivals would not possess. Thus, the occupation of "state representative" could appear on ballots.

Senate Bill 99 is aimed at the practice of state highway commissioners whose names adorn roadside signs, picnic tables and other state-owned buildings and equipment in large letters. This bill would prohibit use of the names of public officers on state signs, maps, etc., unless specifically provided for by law. Furthermore, a signature would be that of the department or office rather than the individual heading the same.

(Republican critics of G. Donald Kennedy, interim state highway commissioner, complain that Kennedy had his name painted on thousands of road signs; held up printing of the winter highway map for revisions; and so on, at considerable expense—all in order to publicize himself prior to the spring election).

Old Age Pensions

Senate resolution C, introduced by Sen. Jos. Baldwin, (R) Albion, would earmark 10 per cent of the state gasoline tax refund annually (five and six million dollars) for old age pensions and to retire the state deficit. It would require a constitutional amendment.

Rising recognition of more adequate pensions recently prompted state representatives to over-ride the house ways and means committee and to add $161,000 to a deficiency bill.

Both parties are bidding for favor of the "oldsters," the Townsend bloc. No action is expected, however, until after the April election. The same observation can be made about the $46,000,000 school appropriation bill of the Michigan Education Association.

Discovery of Okapi

As far back as 1883 the okapi was described to Henry Stanley by the African Pygmies as the O-Api. It was first captured by Sir H. H.
Johnston in 1900 and was named Okapia Johnstoni in his honor.

Bowling News

By G. W. Landon, Secretary of Bowling League.

The three way tie of last week has been broken up and the league lead is now in the hands of the Reid group by virtue of their clean sweep in their series against the Landon tail-enders. The Wallace team made sure of second place by winning two games from the Knapp keggers, who have dropped temporarily into a third place tie with the Ludlow pinsters.

No changes were made in the honorable mention list but several are wondering why Willis Campbell failed to report and did not bowl with his team the week following his excellent record which was made when he rolled a 598 three-game total. Perhaps he was fearful that a sudden reversal of form might overtake him, and the thought of what a 300 or 400 total could do was the answer for not putting in an appearance.

Among the few who are battling it out for honor position as individual bowlers, we find some changes every time this paper goes to press. "Eddie" Fritz is one individual that has been on the move in the averages of late. For a week he stood at the top, then moved to second, third, fifth and now this week finds him back in second place, tied with Reid for an average of 137. An oddity in bowling occurred on Monday night when Ben Kiton, in his regular scheduled team series, posted three games with exactly the same total of 163 pins in each game.

Hoover Presents New Plans to Save Hungry in Europe

Asks British and Germans to Try Soup Kitchens in Bel- gium as Military Test

Chicago—(Special) New plans to save the inhabitants of the occupied democracies in Europe from starvation were presented by former President Hoover at a mass meeting, held in the Opera House Auditorium here last Sunday night.

In expressing his appreciation to the two thousand public bodies who have supported this movement to aid these unfortunates, and the sixty thousand who have written letters of approval, Mr. Hoover explained the purpose of the Committee was to expose to the world the facts of the food situation and to raise a voice in behalf of those tens of millions of innocent men, women, and children, now suffering from want of nourishment.

Speaking as Honorary Chairman of the Committee on Food for the Small Democracies, he made public the proposals, submitted to the British and German governments a few weeks ago, to establish Soup Kitchens in Belgium as an initial experiment to test but whether these people can be saved without military advantage to either side.

There is nothing new in this war "March of Hunger," Mr. Hoover told his audience. The consequences of great wars are always famine and pestilence. The World War of 25 years ago brought hunger to three hundred million people. In the present conflict it is coming faster and with more violence. Today nearly three hundred million people are on rations more drastic, except in Germany and Great Britain, than at the end of the third year in the last war. In this creeping famine the most immediate danger and greatest suffering is among the seventy million people in the democracies which have been overrun by the German armies.

Two weeks ago the Committee's American experts in Belgium reported that within a month the city and town population consisting of over eight million people would be without food unless supplies were brought in somewhere, somehow.

NEW PROPOSALS

In presenting the new proposals, Mr. Hoover said, "You are aware that this Committee has made proposals to the belligerent governments that completely organized food control should be set up for the peoples on the lines of the last war. Those proposals would have given time to organize prevention. They are the ultimate necessity. But a distracted world is slow to believe, and we were reluctantly compelled to conclude that it must be confronted with ghastly reality before action could be hoped for. That ghastly reality has arrived in Belgium. Furthermore, while I do not agree to the grounds for the rejection of our previous proposals, yet if these people are to be saved, we must seek to meet those objections by proving our case in action.

"Therefore a few weeks ago, we laid before the British and German Governments the following suggestions:

"First: That we make an initial experiment in Belgium to test out whether these people can be saved without military advantage to either side.

"Second: That this test comprise feeding only through soup kitchens, where the people come to get their food and thus there can be no question of feeding Germans.

"Third: That at the beginning we provide for one million adults and two million children; the adults to receive half a pound of bread and an allowance of soup, the children to receive special food in addition, including preserved milk. This would require about 50,000 tons a month, of which about one-half would be breadstuffs and one-half meats, fats, and food for children.

"Fourth: That the German Governments agree there is to be no requisition of native food.

"Fifth: Both Governments to give Relief ships immunity from attack.

"Sixth: The whole to be under the supervision and checks of some neutral body.

"It is my belief that the Germans should cooperate to secure some breadstuffs from continental sources. But for meats, fats, and food for children there are no sources of supply on the Continent. That must come from overseas,—and that requires cooperation from the British to pass the blockade.

"If we can make this experiment work in Belgium then such a plan can be extended to the other democracies. It is primarily devoted to saving the unemployed destitute and the children.

"These Governments have this plan under consideration.

Mr. Hoover was of the opinion that the relief of these countries would not prejudice the British and would be of no gain to the Germans.

The countries benefited are not seeking charity, and would defray all expenses. The amount exported from America would simply use our surplus food.

"To those who say it cannot be done," said Mr. Hoover, "the reply is simple—at least let us try it and if we fail that ends our effort.

In the report of the Resolutions Committee, read by its chairman, Maurice C. Ransford, of Caro and adopted by the convention, Republican congressmen from Michigan were highly commended for their honorable stand in opposition to proposed legislation which, if adopted, will make a more dictatorial form of government than now exists under the New Deal regime which from the first has been contrary to the principles of our form of government. "Especially do we commend," said the resolutions, "our own Congressman Wolcott for his constructive and intelligent stand on all questions affecting our welfare."

"Resolved, that fines and penalties imposed on a free citizenry without due process of law such as has been imposed on responsible farmers of Tuscola County for alleged violations of the child labor law is contrary to the very foundation of the principles of this government, that no man should be found guilty without due trial, and is exactly in line with the dictatorial policies of the present New Deal administration.

"Resolved, that this convention commend and praise our representative in the legislature, the Hon. Audley Rawson, for his leadership which has become statewide in its recognition.

"Resolved, that we believe his proposed legislation to remove the place of holding the Michigan State Fair to the grounds of the Michigan State College is sound and wholly in keeping with the making of the state fair a purely agricultural institution for which it was intended.

"Resolved, that we believe that the best interests of Tuscola County will be served in having our delegates to the state convention at Grand Rapids Feb. 28 go unopposed.

"Resolved, that tolerance in public affairs rather than intolerance shall be the watchword of the Republican party which attitude we believe will be the greatest asset toward giving to this state a Republican victory at the polls at the spring election."

At the close of the county convention, delegates to the state convention met and chose Audley Rawson as chairman of the county delegation.

3-Trailer Truck Slips Down Hill at Vassar, Damaging Two Cars

A three-trailer truck, owned by the Hess Cartage Company of Detroit and heavily loaded with cement, created considerable excitement in Vassar Saturday evening when the driver lost control as the truck came down the slippery hill on M-15 and bumped into two cars sending them into the fronts of business places.

It all happened when the driver applied the brakes and the brakes on the front trailer locked, causing the second trailer and the truck to "jack-knife." The slippery highway and the downhill grade made the driver helpless. Fred Brauer's truck, parked in front of his place of business on the south side of Huron Avenue, and the automobile of Fred T. Petrequin were struck and pushed over the sidewalk. The front door of the Gordon Young Eat Shop was marred in the accident and the two lighter vehicles damaged. It was necessary to re-route traffic for four hours because of the accident.

Cars Collide on Deford Road Sunday

Cars driven by John Michael Galan of Hamtramck and Miss Angelo Dorman of Snover collided early Sunday morning when Miss Dorman tried to pass the Galan car, 1½ miles east of Deford. With Galan were Steven Zremba, Walter Rybicki and Steven Stoboda, all of Hamtramck. Following them was a car containing Mr. and Mrs. John Hupar and family of Detroit and occupants of both cars were coming to spend Sunday at the Galan home.

Miss Dorman, driving a Ford coupe, and Miss Bertha Blackhurst, both employees of the Caro State Hospital, were on their way to their work and following the other cars. All were travelling west. Miss Dorman passed the middle car and was about the pass the first car just as Mr. Galan turned left into the Galan driveway.
