Eight volunteers are available at present for the fourth contingent of 47 men in March. If the list of volunteers does not greatly increase, it may be necessary for the county draft board to go as far as order number 528 of registrants in order to fill the contingent of 47 men required.

Mrs. Caroline Hunt Ayre, secretary to the county draft board, says that men desiring to enlist or volunteer their services must do so before induction papers have been served on them. After receiving such papers, it will be too late to change their status as draftees.

1941 Work on State Highway for Military Defense

State Highway Department Engineer Rotary Luncheon Speaker on Tuesday.

"All 1941 work on state highways will be confined to the military defense program," Charles E. Hayes, an engineer of the Michigan State Highway Department, told members of the Rotary Club here at their Tuesday noon luncheon. All improvements to state highways in the way of widening of bridges and other changes will not only be of benefit to the defense program but will also be an advantage to the every-day use of the highways. The highway defense program in Michigan embraces 2,400 miles of state highways. Two of the principal lines come out of Detroit—one to the Straits and the other to Chicago. Defense program highways in the state are designed to bring raw products to the industrial centers and finished products from industrial centers to highway lines running to the seaports of the nation.

"The tourist trade left four hundred millions of dollars in Michigan during 1940," said Mr. Hayes. "Michigan is the first among the tourist states of the nation, surpassing Florida and California."

Tuscola County has a fine secondary aid program started, the speaker said, referring to the road from Gagetown east and the one from Caro to Kingston. The roads are low cost hard surface highways built at a cost of $1,000 a mile, one-half of which is paid by the federal government. Mr. Hayes complimented Cass City for its outstanding highway contractors, E. B. Schwaderer and Andrew T. Barnes.

Warren Goodwin of the Public Relations Commission of the Michigan State Highway Department showed two movies entitled "Winter in Michigan" and "Farm to Market."

To stimulate regular attendance at Rotary meetings, President Robert Keppen announced the appointment of four captains, A. C. Atwell, L. I. Wood, O. Prieskorn and Frank Reid, who will head as many groups in an attendance contest, the nature of which will be explained by President Keppen at the luncheon next week. Herman Doerr and A. A. Ricker, sojourning in Florida, were complimented on their regular attendance at Rotary meetings in that state while absent from the home club.

Walter Mann was song leader at Tuesday's luncheon.

James W. Crane Writes of Honolulu

"I am fine and have a nice sun tan," writes Private James W. Crane, stationed at Hickam Field, Honolulu, Hawaii, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Crane, at Cass City. "We have received our uniforms. I have five uniforms, two ties, one flight cap and two pairs of shoes. I bet I would tip the scales past 165 easily. I am enclosing a picture of the kind of airplanes that we have here. We are supposed to get some of those flying fortresses over here soon."

"I surely would like to have my Model A here, but a car costs too much down here. A car like I had costs about $125 to $275 which is a lot for that model."

"I went out to Warplukie Beach, and visited the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, a nice place. The Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. is surely a nice place to go to."

Miss Cram, John A. Day Betrothed

From Pontiac Daily Press.
The penthouse dining room at Devon Gables had the air of a veritable spring garden for the luncheon party Saturday afternoon given by Eleanor Marie Cram to announce to her friends that she is engaged to marry John Alexander Day of Detroit. The luncheon tables were gay with individual rose and sweetpea corsages marking each place. Attached to the corsages were little florist envelopes enclosing tiny cards upon which were written the names, "Eleanor and Johnnie." Similar flowers in low white bowls composed the attractive center arrangements on the tables.

Miss Cram is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Cram of 15 Miami Road, and Mr. Day is the son of Mrs. Zora Day of Cass City. No date has been set for the wedding.

Knits Mittens While in Bed with Broken Hip

"I might better knit for the Red Cross than lie here idle," remarked Mrs. Malcolm Crawford, as she lay with a broken hip in fracture bed in Pleasant Home Hospital, to a caller who visited her early in January. According to Mrs. Crawford's request, the caller phoned Mrs. J. I. Niergarth, local Red Cross chairman, and within a short time Mrs. Crawford was supplied with yarn. Few days passed after that without her being employed in the work of knitting mittens for overseas sufferers. None of her recipients will probably ever hear of the difficulty with which Mrs. Crawford performed her work, with body rigid and one limb suspended above the bed in a hospital fracture outfit.

Thus far, Mrs. Crawford has knitted 13 pairs of mittens and the work, according to the Red Cross chairman, is among the best received here. Lack of yarn has obliged Mrs. Crawford to suspend her knitting program temporarily.

Mrs. Crawford fractured her hip in a fall at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alfred Maharg, on December 29. She is still a patient at the hospital.

Three Killed at a Richville R. R. Crossing

Automobile Hit by M. C. R. R. Engine at Noon on Saturday.

Fatal accidents at the railroad crossing a half mile west of Richville, Tuscola County, within recent years, were brought to a total of eight on Saturday noon, when two persons were instantly killed and the third fatally injured as a Michigan Central train hit an automobile. Charles A. Hodges, 56, of Reese and Raymond Powelson, 23, of Vassar were killed and Ehue Powelson, 55, of Vassar died before reaching St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw.

Raymond Powelson suffered fractured skull and jaw bone and internal injury. Charles Hodges received a crushed skull and internal injuries.

The train was going southwest and the automobile was travelling east on M-15. According to the statement of the engineer of the passenger train, the automobile was going between 60 and 70 miles an hour, and when the engineer sighted the car, the train was travelling 50 miles an hour. The engineer applied the brakes, blew the whistle continuously and switched the headlight on and off to attract attention.

The train was stopped within four car lengths of the crossing. The automobile was demolished and the left side of the railroad engine "cow catcher" was damaged.

Double funeral services for Ehue Powelson and his son, Ray, were conducted at the Collon Funeral Home in Caro Tuesday and burial was made in Caro Cemetery.

Chadwick's Trial Set for March 12

Clarence Chadwick, 45, of Deford pleaded innocent on arraignment Friday in Tuscola County Circuit Court on charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder. Judge Louis C. Cramton continued his bond of $1,000 until March 12, Chadwick's trial date.

Chadwick was arrested several weeks ago on the complaint of Orville Wilson, former deputy sheriff, who charges Chadwick on January 25 knocked him into insensibility and then pounded him on the head and face so severely that he was under the care of physicians for several weeks.

Robert Anderson, 18, when arraigned Friday on a charge of negligent homicide, entered a guilty plea. He was released on his own recognizance and Judge Cramton ordered him to return for sentence on March 3. Anderson was the driver of the automobile which February 13 went out of control and struck a maple tree on West Huron Avenue, in Vassar, causing the death of Ethel Gassman, 17, of Vassar.

The board's official title originated in the day when the East Lansing institution was known as "Michigan Agriculture College."

Today the board members are "regents" of an all-round state college whose 1940 freshman enrollment numbered 593 in liberal arts, 314 in home economics, 235 in engineering, 202 in agriculture and forestry, 41 in music, 68 in physical education, 1,916 in applied sciences, and 99 in veterinary medicine.

Of the 1,798 freshman total, 1,491 reside in Michigan.

And, incidentally, this fact may surprise you: The 1940 freshman class led the University of Michigan freshman enrollment for the third successive year.

Thus the former "ag" school at the shadow of the state capitol has been growing up!

A "Boom" School

It was during the depression decade, just closed, that Michigan State experienced a remarkable surge in development.

Growing pains became acute.

From 3,536 students in 1930 to 6,982 in 1940 (including summer school), the growth was 97.3 per cent. The undergraduate gain was even higher—111 per cent.

Legislative appropriations have lagged far behind, being $2,125,284 in 1930 and only $2,500,000 a decade later. Pinching every dollar until it bled, the state board cut the annual student cost from $366 to $244. Salaries of professors and others on the teaching staff were gradually squeezed from $3,458 average to $2,781.

This predicament prompted the state board, of which William H. Berkey of Cassopolis is chairman, to appeal to the 1941 state legislature for $450,000 additional maintenance and operations funds.

And since the last legislative appropriation for classroom facilities was $200,000 way back in 1932, nine years ago, the board is asking for a natural science classroom building at a cost of $1,200,000. Four other structures, also badly needed, could be authorized later.

Because the legislature seems intent on giving the college board the duty of selecting the state commissioner of agriculture, as well as solving the college's own urgent needs, the above review of information is pertinent to the moment.

School Reforms?

From Dr. Arthur Moehlman of the University of Michigan, a national authority on education and editor of "The Nation's Schools," comes a three-point program for Michigan educational reforms, presented at the fourth annual citizens' conference on education held at Lansing this month, as follows:

1. Eliminate politics from the office of state superintendent of public instruction by making him an appointee of the state board of education.

2. Elect board members on a non-partisan ballot for staggered terms.

3. Reorganize 6,500 local school districts into not more than 600.

Dr. Moehlman warned against the pitting of cities against rural areas, declaring "for generations professional politicians have fanned the minor differences between rural and urban groups into strong conflicts."

Resistance to a consolidation of school districts, even in the interest of economy, come from these sources, reminded Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent:

1. "Traditional point of view."

2. "Individual and group selfishness."

3. "Vested interests of the (21,000) board of school board members."

Sales Tax Row
Both retailers and consumers are interested in amendments proposed to the state sales tax to shift the taxing burden from merchant to buyer on sales under 17 cents.

Supported by the Michigan Retail Institute, Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association (drug stores) and the Detroit Board of Commerce, the amendments would introduce a complicated scheme known as prepaid tax cards.

Each consumer would have two choices:

1. Pay sales tax by purchasing a prepaid card—$1 worth of taxes for 3 cents—from each merchant from whom a purchase is made. The merchant would punch the card like a meal ticket.

2. Pay sales tax by cash but on sales under 17 cents. A 10 cent loaf of bread would require one cent sales tax. Total price, 11 cents, or a sales tax of 10 per cent.

"Deck of Cards"
Critics of the prepaid tax card declare that the consumer would have to buy a card from every merchant, carrying a pocketful of cards, one for each store, like a deck of cards.

The shopper might forget to bring them along. Or another member of the family might have them.

The result, say the critics, would be a consumer annoyance, a 10 per cent cash tax on small purchases, or the purchase of duplicating $1 tax cards.

While consumer benefits technically would reduce taxes on 16 price levels below 33 cents and increase taxes only on eight, critics maintain that the practical outcome would be for the average customer to ignore the multiple card system, pay higher taxes on small items, or patronize large business firms which would offer to absorb a cash tax on small items rather than to annoy customers—a competitive practice that would not help the little retailer, the forgotten man whom the plan is intended to benefit.

Miscellany

During February 2,084 applicants were added to old age assistance rolls.

The state's new intangible tax will produce close to $3,500,000 revenue.

Because of national defense activity, Michigan harbor cities anticipate the greatest navigation season in 12 years. A coast guard airplane is stationed at Traverse City to watch ice conditions.

Floyd Fitzsimmons, Benton Harbor sport promoter, is inviting legislators to dinner again. Object: Legalized dog racing.

Early Care of Great Aid in Mental Cases

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ONE of the great helps to health of today is the periodic examination given free to policyholders by insurance companies. Any defect is discovered early and whether it be serious or slight the knowledge that it is present enables the individual to have it corrected in most cases or enables him to live safely despite the defect.

The day is about at hand when insurance examiners and other physicians will take note of early mental symptoms just as they do of physical symptoms and many early mental patients will never need to enter a mental institution for treatment.

Today it is recognized that mental symptoms can be due to heredity, surrounding circumstances, infection and other conditions. Doctors Carney Landis, Columbia University, and James D. Page, University of Rochester, in their book, "Modern Society and Mental Disease" state that in the United States there are 60,000 patients undergoing treatment in mental institutions and their figures show that at least one person out of every 20 will become a mental hospital patient at some time.

While the above are startling figures it is reassuring to remember that of every 10 patients entering a mental hospital at least six are cured and able to return to work.

It has been found that whether the treatment given these mental patients is of the usual type—rest, some occupation and some straightening out of the tangled skein in their minds by careful questioning and answering—or whether of the new type of putting the patient under insulin or metrazol shock, the best results are obtained the earlier the treatment is given.

Another point in keeping with the apparent increase in heart disease, apoplexy and cancer is that the increase in mental disease is due to a considerable extent to the fact that more people are living longer today than in any previous period.

Fat Foods Good For Epileptics

I HAD a patient suffering with epilepsy whom I kept free of attacks by washing out his stomach twice each week. He did not have a single attack during the many months of this treatment. He was transferred to another city, stopped the treatment, and again had his epileptic attacks. Naturally I felt that the digestive apparatus—liver or stomach—had something to do with the cause of epilepsy, so was not surprised when research workers discovered that the ketogenic diet—poor in starch foods and rich in fat foods—was of help in preventing attacks of epilepsy.

Dr. H. M. Keith, Montreal, in the Canadian Medical Association Journal says that ketogenic diet, producing large amounts of diacetic acid in the urine, is a satisfactory method of treating epilepsy.

Dr. Keith has treated 160 patients satisfactorily over a period of from one to nine years. Of these, 36 per cent remained entirely free of attacks of any type so far as is known to themselves or to their parents; 21 per cent were improved, having only an occasional attack; 43 per cent were not benefited, although they carried out instructions fully. Therefore with the ketogenic diet alone, one-third of the epileptic children can be made free from attacks, and from 50 to 60 per cent can be improved.

Diet Control Necessary.
A ketogenic diet, to be effective, must be rigidly controlled and should be a weighed diet. It is necessary that in the diet the proportion of the fats to the starches should be three of fat foods (butter, cream, egg yolks) to one of starches (bread, potatoes, sugar) instead of the diet for normal individuals which is just the opposite, that is one of fat foods to three (or four) of starch foods.

Dr. Keith points out also the necessity for healthy outdoor exercise, and sufficient rest.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Are extracts of liver as effective as liver itself for anaemia?

A.—Yes.

Q.—What is the cause of white marks on the fingernails of a 13-year-old boy whose general health is good?

A.—Skin specialists tell us that these lines usually follow an illness and may be due to lack of lime in the system. Foods rich in lime are milk, cheese, leafy vegetables, oranges.

The Gagetown and Brookfield Methodist Churches will join all other Methodist churches throughout the country in a "Day of Compassion" Sunday, March 2. The Methodist Church feels that a great many people have been robbed of all they have and now lie on the road. To pass them by would be unchristian. In the face of these facts, the church is asking her people and her friends to play the part of the good Samaritan with their gifts.

The Methodist Church with her machinery all ready set up in all of the effected countries will attempt to do what she can to relieve the suffering of mankind caused by this gruesome thing called war.

Spring Neckwear Dainty, Colorful

Lingerie Touches Make Dresses Like New.

Midseason dresses with exquisite lingerie touches are already setting the smart flattering fashion for the coming season. Large yokes, sailor collars, and revers of fine, embroidered organdies, linen, pique, and batiste trimmed with dainty fine laces are the spring fillips for basic dresses of winter.

Ginger Rogers, starring in the title role of "Kitty Foyle," typifies the "white collar" girl. In the picture Miss Rogers sets many neckwear fashions—using the favorite quick change trick that every business girl knows—a different piece of neckwear to change her basic costume. With a simple suit, Ginger wears an Eighteenth century ruff collar and cuffs for cocktail hour; a crossed white satin scarf pinned with a brooch for restaurant dining; a curved white collar on an intialled dickey for street and office; and a three-tier fluffy jabot for dressy daytime. Like most office girls, Kitty Foyle undoubtedly keeps a "spare" in her office desk.

The deep yoke—a shape particularly good for this time of year as it is adaptable to any type neckline—is appearing in fine Alencon lace, in tucked batiste edged in pique embroidery, in embroidered pique and linen—any one of them a delightful feminine touch presaging spring.

Sailor collars assume new aspects and new importance along with the popular nautical themes of today. These are made in a great variety of materials and interpretations. For daytime there are crisp pique versions embroidered in bright red scrolls; sky blue embroidered in navy scrolls. For afternoon frocks there are fine embroidered batistes and linsens edged in Val lace. And for dinner dresses there are elegant sailors of mousseline de sole with deep border of finely fluted Chantilly lace or exquisitely embroidered organdy trimmed with Val lace.

Colored embroidery on neckwear is one of the gayest notes for the new season. There is petit point, old fashioned cross stitch, and Beauvais embroidery. Delicate petit point flowers in pastels are charming on yokes, revers, and bustier collars of pique, linen and batiste. "Rambler Rose" is a delightful design done in red and black cross stitch on white linen coat revers.

"White on navy" is a refreshing mid-winter theme. Navy daytime dresses, suits, and dinner dresses are being featured with gleaming white neckwear—featured to be worn now under fur coats and for dinner wear.

In Perfect Taste

Just the right color accent is given this fashionable black afternoon dress by its embroidered sleeves. Some of the new "double duty" dresses come with two pairs of detachable sleeves, one set plain, bracelet length; the other as you see pictured. To wear a dress of this type, expert corsetry is essential.

Fads and Fancies

Ask your milliner to show you the smart new panamas that may be had in red and in green. They're beauties.

New this season are hatspins made of flowers or butterflies. Ornaments on the up-flare pompadour brims add a smart touch also.

It's going to be fun to wear the little gay colored veils fashion prescribes for spring. Bright green is a favorite color. A veil in this fresh spring shade looks charming on light fells and particularly so on all-white hats which are now so fashionable.

Girls who can crochet are making themselves lei necklaces. Tiny flowers and foliage are crocheted of yarn in realistic colors. These are then strung on a long chain-stitch cord. You can have your necklace as long or short as you wish. They add color to simple dark frocks and are ever so flattering.

COLD-WEATHER HOSPITALITY

(See Recipes Below)

What if the radio weatherman does predict a drop to 10 degrees below zero? That is no reason to put all hospitality in cold storage, too. Not if our grandmothers could have gotten together even when they had to drive the horses through the snow and stay the whole day!

And so, no matter how blustery the weather, clubs will still have their afternoon meetings, there will be cheerful teas in church parlors, and friends will drop in informally to spend the evening. If it is warm inside and there is fragrant, inviting food in the office, the sharpness of the wind won't matter.

You will want to have a few new recipes at your fingers' ends to make such cold weather hospitality easy. If you are feeding the club, using the bridge table method, you might serve beef creole in individual rice rings, a plate of celery hearts, carrot sticks and stuffed olives, together with hot rolls of your own making. Let the dessert course be coffee and an eggnog pie—a creamy yellow chiffon pie with a thin coverlet of whipped cream and a dusting of nutmeg over the top.

If you're planning a tea, remember that hot Russian tea is super-fine with cinnamon doughnuts, split and toasted. For informal evening affairs at your own fireside, hot coffee cake with currant jelly and coffee will be enough to serve. If you have a wooden cheese board or a handsome plate, show it off with a collection of cheese and crackers and a bowl of assorted fruit like that shown in the picture above.

Russian Tea.
(Makes 14 servings)
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 3-inch stick cinnamon
1/2 cup orange juice (3 oranges)
6 tablespoons lemon juice (2 lemons)
1 12-ounce can pineapple juice (1 1/2 cups)
1 1/2 quarts water
1 cup strong tea infusion
1 lemon (for garnishing)
Boil 1 cup of the water, with sugar and stick cinnamon for 5 minutes. Add juice of oranges, lemons, and pineapple juice. Boil orange and lemon rinds in the water for 3 minutes. Strain and combine with the fruit juice mixture. Add the remaining 1 quart of water. Set aside. Just before serving, heat the fruit juice mixture and combine with the tea infusion. To make the infusion, pour one cup of rapidly boiling water over 4 level teaspoons of tea. Let steep 3 minutes, then stir briefly and strain. Serve the tea hot in tall glasses or cups (1/4 cup to a serving) and garnish each with a slice of lemon.

Eggnog Pie.
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
4 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup whipping cream
Let gelatin soak in cold water for 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks until light; stir in 1/4 cup of sugar and salt. Gradually add milk and cook over boiling water until it is the consistency of custard, about 5 minutes. Stir constantly during cooking. Add softened gelatin to custard mixture, stirring until it is completely dissolved, then add nutmeg and vanilla. Chill the filling until it is partially congealed. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add 1/4 cup of sugar gradually, beating until the meringue stands in stiff peaks and will not flow when the bowl is partially inverted. Fold meringue into partially congealed custard mixture, pour into a baked 9-inch pie shell and chill in the refrigerator for 2 hours or longer. When ready to serve, spread a thin layer of whipped cream over the top and sprinkle with additional nutmeg.

Streusel Coffee Cake.
(1 9-inch cake)
1 1/2 cups general purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift flour once before measuring. Then sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Cut in shortening with two knives or a pastry blender (or rub it in with the fingers) until the mixture is like coarse cornmeal. Blend in well-beaten egg mixed with milk. Then stir in vanilla and beat just enough to mix well. Pour the batter into a well-greased 9-inch layer cake pan. Sprinkle with streusel topping. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees).

Streusel Topping.
1/2 cup brown sugar (firmly packed)
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped nuts
2 tablespoons butter (melted)
Mix flour, sugar and cinnamon together. Blend in melted butter and stir in chopped nuts.

Pecan Confections.
(Makes 2 dozen 2-inch cookies)
1 egg white
1 cup brown sugar (firmly packed)
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup chopped pecans
Beat the egg white until it will stand in stiff peaks, then gradually beat in with a rotary beater the brown sugar. Stir in flour, salt and chopped pecans. Drop the mixture from the tip of a spoon onto greased cookie sheets, spacing the cookies at least 2 inches apart. Bake in a very slow oven (275 degrees) for 25 minutes. Cool somewhat, then remove from the tin onto a cake cooler covered with waxed paper.

Cheese Board.
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1 4-ounce package Liederkranz cheese
1 8-ounce package Swiss cheese
4 1/4-ounce wedges of Camembert cheese
12 radishes
Crackers
Arrange as desired on a large plate or wooden cheese tray.

Rice Rings.
3 cups cooked rice (hot)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
2 egg yolks
3 tablespoons cream
Add salt and melted butter to cooked rice. Beat egg yolks with cream and stir into rice mixture. Grease 6 individual ring molds and pack rice in firmly. Place in pan of hot water for 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from molds and fill centers with beef creole.

The best method to clean a suede bag is by using a dry rubber sponge. Rubbed across the surface of the bag, it restores the color and life to the leather and also helps to take off some of the surface color to avoid soiling the clothing.

Only 1 out of every 14 deaths in Wisconsin last year was that of a child less than one year of age, compared to one out of every five deaths in the state 30 years ago. Part of the difference is credited to a trailer school-house which visits rural communities to teach child and maternal health.

Extra hands AT MILKING TIME

Electricity milks the cows for Charles Stade

CHEAPER THAN MILKING BY HAND

ELECTRIC MILKERS give the farmer extra hands when he needs them most. And farmers who have tried both ways will tell you every time that it's cheaper to milk cows electrically than by hand. Here is how Mr. Stade figures it:

"Milking my 18 cows by hand would take one man four hours of real labor every day in the year. If I had to hire a farm hand to do it, that would cost a good chunk of money each month.

"This electric milker does the job better and for about 4c worth of electricity a day. It saves me a lot of hard work as well as time and money."

—Charles Stade, Macomb County.

Check Spare Tire
Spare tires which are carried in the luggage compartment or behind seats, as is the case on late model cars, are often overlooked when the other tires are checked for air pressure, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California. Emergency road service men frequently report finding the spare tire flat or nearly so when called on to change a tire. Loss of air occurs in spare tires just the same as in those which are in use, and spares should be checked every time the other tires are given air.

DEPLETED SOILS NEED MINERALS

Plants Require Phosphorus,
Potash, Nitrogen.

By DR. C. E. MILLAR
(Professor of Soils, Michigan
State College.)

Man is separated from starvation only by the frail fabric of the green coloring matter in plants called Chlorophyll. It is only the green plant, energized by light, that can combine the simple materials of nature, such as carbon dioxide of the air, water, and mineral salts from the soil into the complex substances that serve as food for man and beast.

The wants of plants are comparatively few, but it behooves man to supply them lest the plant factory fail. Natural agencies, dependent on life processes, maintain an adequate supply of carbon dioxide in the air, and as long as the life cycle persists, plants will not lack for this building material. Water, too, is supplied by a generous nature in sufficient quantities to extensive areas and by irrigation to many acres more. But how about the supply of mineral salts from the soil? That is where the pinch comes and gives man his opportunity to play the good Samaritan.

Soil particles, largely rock fragments, decay slowly, setting free the mineral nutrients needed by plants. This decay process is slow, entirely too slow to meet plant requirements. Nature overcomes this obstacle by storing available nutrients in the soil through long periods of virginity during which forests or grasses occupy the land. In such a period each plant generation returns to the soil the foods it took from the soil.

Man introduced a new order of events by removing from the soil the crops grown and fattening himself and his animals on the food contained in them. Under this system, the accumulated supply of available animal nutrients is rapidly dissipated and the crops cry out for potash, phosphoric acid, and nitrogen.

Only the experienced hear these cries for they are voiced in weakened stem, distorted and discolored leaves, stunted growth, and decreased yields of food and fiber. Attention has been centered largely on the three plant nutrients—nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash. Virtually every soil used in farming needs additional supplies of one or more of them. Most all fertilizers also contain appreciable quantities of calcium and sulphur and lesser amounts of several other elements which are used by plants.

Scientists Sterilize Soil With Electrical Device

Scientists at the Cornell university agricultural experiment station are "pasteurizing" soils with electricity to rid these soils of insect pests and weed seeds.

Soils that have become unproductive are thus made productive, as heat disinfects or disinfects the soil. Many growers of flowers and vegetables who do not have equipment to steam-sterilize find that limited quantities of soil can be "pasteurized" with electrical devices, according to Prof. A. G. Newhall.

A soil temperature of 150 degrees Fahrenheit was found high enough to insure the death of all important disease organisms and most weed seeds.

Soil in greenhouse benches and ground beds was brought up to pasteurization temperature with a series of buried portable pipe-type heaters. Successful use was also made of an electric dairy-utensil steamer to pasteurize soil in flats or trays.

Danger from over-heating soil is reduced to a minimum by the new low temperature electric pasteurization methods.

Value of Silage

A simple rule and one that works out pretty well is to consider silage worth one-half the value of good legume hay. Silage that runs 10 tons to the acre must make about 50 bushels, therefore 1 ton of silage should be worth 5 bushels of corn plus 300 pounds of hay. With corn at 75 cents a bushel and hay at $15 a ton, good silage would be worth about $6 a ton.

Tomatoes Valuable

One medium-sized ripe tomato supplies about half the day's requirement of vitamin C, and about one-fifth the vitamin A requirement of one person.

Farm Notes

Hay crop seed production is about 10 per cent above any recent year except 1938 and 1939.

The number of farms served by electric light and power companies in the United States increased 98 per cent during the years 1932 to 1938, from about 710,000 to more than 1,400,000 farms.

DEVELOPING AGILE FINGERS WHILE BODIES HEAL

While their young bodies heal, eager minds and agile fingers are developed to produce beautiful articles in the workshop in this convalescent home for crippled children. To establish such services for all needy crippled children in the State is an essential phase of the work of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and its affiliated County Chapters directed toward "Seeing Every Crippled Child Through." The Society is now holding its annual sale of Easter Seals to carry out this program. Seals are available from Willis Campbell, Chairman of the Easter Seal Committee, Cass City.

Europe Leads Us in Soil Conservation

Returns to Land Elements Lost in Crop Raising.

CHICAGO.—War-torn Europe may be killing young men, wrecking buildings, destroying machines and threatening the future of democracy, but unlike the United States she is not killing her soil.

This was the assertion of the Middle West Soil Improvement committee in a statement made public here.

"In many respects," says the statement, "Europe is doing more than America to preserve one of civilization's foundations—farm land."

"In war or peace European farmers know how to farm so that the soil retains instead of loses its essential fertility. America, on the other hand, has for generations been wrecking its land and jeopardizing the future of its agriculture."

"Fifty million acres of America's 600,000,000 tillable acreage of farm land has been ruined for agricultural purposes due to erosion, 'one-cropping' and the wasteful policy of draining away the soil's fertility year after year without replacing any of the sorely needed plant food elements removed by harvested crops and live stock."

"Soil conservation has been a necessity in Europe for centuries because of the large populations and the relatively small acreage of tillable farm lands."

"European nations in some cases use 20 times as much fertilizer per acre as does the United States. The average for this country is five pounds per acre annually. Germany uses 67 pounds of fertilizer per acre. Holland 99 pounds, Belgium 80, Denmark 40, Norway 29, Sweden 22, France 21, Italy 17 and the United Kingdom 12."

"If our nation's greatest resource—the soil—is to be conserved, an ever-increasing program of soil improvement and fertilization must be followed. Not only is fertilizer a soil improver, but a wealth producer as well, for records show that every dollar spent for fertilizer results in an average increase of three and a half dollars in the value of crops."
