A REPORT to America

The Ford Motor Company's business has always been to serve the needs of the American people. In providing them with low-cost transportation for the past 38 years, we have developed one of the country's largest and most useful industrial units. During a national emergency, we feel that these facilities should be devoted without reserve to our country's needs. Toward that end we started rolling months ago, with these results:

- A $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine factory, started only 6 months ago, is nearly completed. Production will start with an initial order for 4,236 eighteen cylinder, air-cooled, double-row, radial engines.
- We are building a new $800,000 Ford magnesium alloy foundry, one of the few in the country. It is already producing lightweight airplane engine castings.
- 3 Army reconnaissance cars military vehicles of an entirely new type - are rolling off special Ford assembly lines at the rate of more than 600 a month. We have produced Army staff cars and bomber service
- 4 The government has given the "go-ahead" and work is now under way for the fast construction of an $11,000,000 Ford plant to produce bomber airframe assemblies by mass produc-

Several months ago work was started, on our own initiative, on an entirely new 1500 horsepower airplane engine especially designed for mass production. This engine is now in the test stage and plans are being developed for producing it in large quantities when and if needed.

A Ford aircraft apprentice school has been established, to train 2000 students at a time.

That is a report of progress

The experience and facilities of this company can be used to do much of the job which America now needs to get done in a hurry.

Our way of working, which avoids all possible red tape, enables us to get results and get them fast. This benefits users of our products and workers who produce them.

We are ready to make anything we know how to make, to make it to the limit of our capacity if need be, to make it as fast as we can go, and to start the next job whenever our country asks us to. And to this end, we know we have the full confidence and loyal support of the workmen throughout our plants.

Complications

And so when the House of Representatives considered the $40.00 monthly pension plan, complications were numerous.

First, the increase would virtually double the state's annual expenditure. Instead of $8,500,000, the state's cost would run close to Second, this increase would mean a denial by the legislature of state aid sought by other groups. For example, the school lobby seeks a $5,000,000 increase in state aid to schools. A survey made by Dr. George E. Carrothers of the University of Michigan recently revealed that Michigan's high schools are badly overcrowded; teachers are poorly paid.

Third, there is that annoying $27,000,000 deficit on the state books whereby the state has borrowed from certain funds to pay current needs.

But, politically speaking, old age pensions are old age pensions, and they all spell one word: Votes. Consequently, many a legislator nervously saw his shadow when he DeWitt were Sunday dinner guests voted against Dykstra's $40 pension plan. Although the vote was Millington and in the evening at non-partisan, here was a Republican-sponsored cause that would outdo Governor Van Wagoner's 10,000-increase-by-July 1 program for pensions. Even this lure failed to attract a majority.

Economic Security

When the Social Security Act was created, an insurance system was established so that wage-earners during their years of financial productivity could build up protection for the future.

But this insurance plan could not afford immediate protection for old people. Some other plan had to be provided.

Thus old age assistance was authorized, and today approximately one-fourth of the population 65 years of age and over are receiving some kind of monthly pension. Of this group a substantial portion comprise persons not previously recognized as public dependents.

Great Days Predicted for Big Cargo Fleet Now Riding the Waves.

WASHINGTON.—The spirit of the American clipper ships—a streamlined, diesel-driven spirit-is riding the high seas again.

Officials of the maritime commission cite these signs of a new-born American merchant fleet to match the old traditions when New world sailing vessels ruled the trade routes:

Forty-three spanking new American cargo ships, designed for economical speed and safety, are riding the waves today.

On many a ship, cadets freshly trained by coast guard officers have taken their posts beside old-time graduates of the run-away-to-sea school, and many a toughened salt has taken on new learning in govern ment schools.

At the same time, the navy has signaled its faith in the usefulness of the merchantmen for national defense by calling out seven commercial vessels, some to serve the new "minute-man" mechanized units of the marine corps.

There are even signs of a revival of that pride in America's merchantmen that marked the great days of American sailing ships. One sign is the story being told:

Something of a Record. An old Hog islander put out of New York harbor on the run to India. Practically a month later, one of the new C-2 cargo ships left the metropolis on the same route.

The two ships returned to their berths in New York within 15 minutes of each other, both loaded to capacity. But the C-2 ship carried 1.000 tons more cargo.

The World war gave great impetus to the merchant marine of the United States, and the nation built $3,-000,000,000 worth of ships. But after the war the tonnage of American ships carrying American goods in foreign trade declined again. In 1936 congress set up the mari-

Special Care Assures Better Production.

By GEORGE E. TAYLOR (Extension Dairyman, Rutgers Unrecsity.)

Cows that are properly fitted and managed during the dry period may produce as much as 25 per cent more milk and butterfat during the following lactation period.

During the lactation perio, especially during the first six months, the animal's body reserve of minerals, protein and fat becomes depleted. And the cow does not have an opportunity to build up this reserve again until the animal is given a six to eight weeks' rest period prior to the following calving.

Neglect on the part of the owner regarding proper feed, care and management of dry cows may cost the owner the value of one ton of milk. The loss in dollars and cents may be computed by using the market value of one ton of milk under

Fashion Futures Forecast Styles

American-Made Costumes Add Charm to Picture.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Recently, the Fashion Group of America, an organization of farreaching influence, in collaboration with various other leading style sources staged in New York what was probably the most pretentious style prevue ever presented in America. The event, one of untold significance, was attended by newspaper representatives and style authorities from coast to coast. Intense interest centered around the fact that the styles shown were American fashions, created by American designers. The following paragraphs cite a few of the forecasts in the way of fashion futures, as presented at this style meeting.

The new trend in shoulder seams is toward more subtly sloping Jackets are longer. "lines." Straight lines are newest. Sustained interest, however, in fullness is evidenced in subtle pleats and drapes.

Capes are cast to play a highly dramatic and spectacular role. The "officer cape" in navy is smart. Cloth capes top print dresses and the print of the dress is repeated in the cape lining.

As to color, Fashion Futures say green in all its varying tones, for an American spring. The Beiges, off-whites, neutral cereal shades, brown and grays will be favored. Pastels at the top of the color list, vie with South American colors for supremacy. Navy comes forth to win new laurels.

Bright color wool coats are outstanding. Handknits and wool knits that look handmade, some fabriclike in texture and dressmaker-fashioned, are smartly featured. New and important is the ensembling of wool monotones with prints, with an eye to perfect color blending. The wool weave makes the coat or cape that tops the print frock.

Accessories add drama to the scene. Pursuit red as accent to pilot green is in the spotlight. Peruvian pink, also tiger yellow, highlights navy. Flower jewelry and animal jewel gadgets, military insignias, jewel buttons—all have their place in the spring mode. Fashion Futures say that hats this spring are made to decorate, to compliment you. There is underbrim emphasis, pompadour accent, and a general air of appealing femininity about this season's hats. Many hairdo fantasies add charm to the style

Linen Forecast

It has long been a recognized facthat the fashions worn in the winter at southern resorts forecast the style pace for the spring and summer program in other sections of the country. Handsome Irish linens are having a tremendous vogue this season in the sunny South. The charming basque dress here pictured is typical of what best-dressed women are wearing, and will wear during the coming weeks. It tops a plain color Irish linen skirt with a colorfully embroidered linen basque. It is a practical idea since the separate skirt can be worn with other blouses or with sweaters.

Style Notes

Sloping shoulders is new styling theme. Millinery is feminine and lovely this spring. Pastels vie with vivid South American colors.

Suit jackets are much longer with straight silhouette. Navy frosted with white lingerie touches bespeaks "style." Fabric vogue stresses shantung weaves either printed or plain. There's a feeling of softness and comfort in the newer shoes

Tested Seeds Prove Safest

Farmers who receive advertisements from other states offering seeds of new and often unknown varieties of crops such as corn. oats, or beans will do well if they consult their county agents before buying, H. C. Rather, head of the farm crops department at Michigan State College advises.

Every year about this time farmers are flooded with offers of seeds promising to give increased returns. Some such seeds are good while others are untried and untested. Some of them are good in other states, but not adapted to Michigan climate and Michigan soils, Rather points out. Some others, he reports, are out-and-out fakes.

One firm in Ohio recently has been offering a new variety of soybean, seed of which retails at $12 a bushel. A Michigan farmer consulted his county agent before buying, and the county agent in turn wrote to the Ohio experiment station for information. The soybean advertised, the experiment station reported, had been on test for three years, and in each of the tests proluced lower yields than the common soys selling at normal prices.

An Iowa seed company sold in Michigan a carload of seed oats of variety not recommended even for Iowa, where it originated. The price obtained was more than $2.00 a bushel.

Standard practice of the Michigan experiment station has been to est varieties for adaptation to Michigan condition, and this information is always available to farmers and to seed dealers alike. is to the credit of reputable Michigan seed dealers that they recommend only varieties that have peen tested and approved,

In nearly all instances county gricultural agents have information on varieties of seed, and if hey have not, they can easily obtain such information from the college. Thus, the farmer may be aved a headache, and crop loss.

Women everywhere are enthusiastic about the new electric cookers. For example, read what Mrs. Tracy Solean says:

"I am so very pleased with my 18-quart electric cooker! I have been using it every day for fourteen months, in daily cooking, roasting and baking for a family of eight.

"I have had exceptionally fine baking results-whether it has been bread, pies, short-cake, or angel food cake For everyday meals I have done everything but fry with my cooker. I can go on with my housework knowing the meal will be ready and well cooked.

"At a family reunion I was complimented on the flavor and brownness of my electrically roasted chickens. Eight of my friends have cookers now, all from seeing or tasting something I have cooked in "Last fall I cold packed more than 400 quarts of vegetables, fruits and berries. It was so simple to do and I have some of the most beautiful quart jars of raspberries, pineapple, strawberries, beets, carrots and string beans. They are as firm and delicious as fresh ones.

"In dollars and cents, and not taking into consideration the better cooked and more healthful food we have enjoyed, I feel that in the fourteen months we have had the cooker it has paid for itself. I consider the electric cooker my most valuable daily helper!"
