

June Quota in Tuscola County Is Set at 91 Men

County's October to June Number Has Been Reduced from 351 to 278.

The June quota of selective service men to be sent from Tuscola County has been set at 91, the local draft board has been informed. They will leave here on Thursday, June 12.

A reduction of Michigan's October to June quota of Selective Service men has resulted in a reduction of Tuscola County's quota from 351 to 278 men.

On November 12, 1940, the county's gross quota was 493 men, the credits were 142, and the net quota to June 30, 1941, was set at 351 men. On May 15, 1941, the gross quota was given as 434, the allowed credits 156, and the current net quota is 278 men.

Extracts from a letter sent by Governor Van Wageningen to the county draft board, explains the quota reduction as follows:

"Early in November, 1940, the governor of Michigan was informed by the national director of the Selective Service System that Michigan's gross quota of men to be in the armed forces by June 30, 1941, was fixed at 77,223. It was then estimated that 29,941 of this quota would be filled by voluntary enlistment and the Selective Service System would be expected to furnish the remainder, or 47,282.

"Acting on these estimates, the governor, in November, 1940, assigned necessary gross and net quotas to the 192 local draft boards of Michigan. The national director has advised the governor by letter dated May 1, 1941, that Michigan's current gross quota has been reduced to 72,711 from all services, viz., by ordinary enlistments, National Guard, and induction through Selective Service. Against this gross quota, Michigan has been given an estimated credit from enlistments and National Guard inductions of 29,941, as of April 7, 1941, so that the current net quota stands at 42,770 men to be potentially furnished through Selective Service processes.

"This quota is still on an estimated basis, but will remain in effect until the national director makes a further adjustment. The new gross quota will not, however, necessarily all have to be furnished to the armed forces by June 30, 1941. Some of this quota will, in all probability, be furnished by enlistment and only the balance will be furnished by Selective Service, and it is now contemplated that room will be left in U. S. Army calls for the induction of students deferred to not later than July 1, 1941, in completing Michigan's current gross quota.

"Due to the re-adjustments of Michigan's gross quota, and also its current net quota, it is now necessary to re-adjust also the gross and net quotas to the several Selective Service Boards."

Seeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Seeger also of Cass City. The Rev. Wendling H. Hastings, pastor, solemnized the rites.

Few Prospective Farmers in Class of 67 Seniors Here

Twenty-one Plan to Attend College, Six Undecided as to the Future.

Out of a class of 67 graduates from the Cass City High School next month, would you guess that in this farming community, the largest of 14 distinct groups would choose an agricultural pursuit for their future activity? If you do, you're "dead wrong" for only six students have indicated that that will be their choice. Fourteen plan to attend four-year colleges, four want to follow nursing as a career, seven will attend business colleges, four the county normal, seven plan to work in Detroit shops, eight want to clerk in stores, two will do housework, one will be a telephone operator, two plan to enter General Motors Technical School, one will follow beauty culture, three intend to work for the Nestle's Milk Products, Inc., six are undecided as to their future work and two say they will marry.

J. I. Niergarth, superintendent of schools, serving as a pinch-hit speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday, presented this information which was relayed to him by members of the 1941 class.

Mr. Niergarth exhibited a chart which showed the directions followed by eight school buses bringing rural pupils to the Cass City Public School. Four of these bring high school students only and the four others transport both high school and grade pupils. From 300 to 350 students are transported daily.

Enrollment is now being taken for the coming year and high school students may choose courses from nearly 40 subjects offered.

Of the 67 in the senior class this year, 34 followed a four-year course with 16 credits required which permits them entrance to college. Thirty-three chose a general course requiring 15 credits to graduate.

Tentative plans call for placing the new registrants at the bottom of their local draft lists in a sequence to be determined by a new small-scale national lottery.

Upon the outcome of a high pressure campaign led by the dynamic Frank Isbey, Detroit appointee of Gov. Frank Murphy as state fair manager in 1937 and 1938, may rest the federal administration's decision whether to expand the plan nation-wide or to recommend congressional enactment of compulsory payroll deductions.

"As many leading Detroit business men see it," confided Isbey, "the country has the choice of either assuring the adequate financing of our national defense program through purchase of government bonds as well as taxes or opening the door wide to disastrous inflation, signs of which are already at hand."

"If the bonds are not bought voluntarily, the government may be forced to require compulsory saving through payroll deductions."

Cities, Schools

An educational program is being launched through the public schools, local governments, and industrial concerns to acquaint the public with the merit of the new bonds.

Whereas the World War liberty bonds were bought at par and often sold at a loss, the 1941 securities are redeemable at any federal reserve bank at not less than par, plus any interest accrued.

School children are being asked to buy savings stamps in denominations of 10 cents and upward, available at local post offices. Stamp "booklets," when filled, have a cash value of $18.75 good for the purchase of a $25 bond. The bond is redeemable in ten years at the latter amount, a 33 1/3 per cent increase on the original investment.

All bonds constitute a direct obligation of the United States government itself.

Crawford's Warning

Rep. Fred L. Crawford, Michigan, testified before the house banking committee at Washington that the treasury's quota of a billion-a-month sales of defense bonds was lagging badly.

Declaring that a plan of compulsory bond buying had been adopted in both Germany and Britain, Crawford said that such a proposal had been made here by Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics. National defense contracts would carry a provision whereby a certain percentage would be automatically deducted from each worker's pay and invested in government savings bonds, redeemable in full at the end of the emergency.

C. I. O. and A. F. L. workers in Detroit were warned by Isbey (state chairman of the saving bond campaign), to "get in step."

The initial success of the pressure drive indicates that Michigan may again lead the way, not only in mass production of vital armament but in mass purchase of government savings bonds. If it succeeds, it will be democracy in action.

Legislative Wind-up

Tuesday night (May 28) found the state legislature in a frantic last-minute rush to clear decks for adjournment.

In session since early January, the legislature may be remembered more for what it did not do than for the new laws it enacted.

This observation contains more significance than appears on the surface, as a primary function of any well functioning legislative body is to serve as a filter in culling out bad bills.

Condemned widely by the press was a dog racing bill, pushed by gambling interests through their lobbyist, Floyd Fitzsimmons, of Benton Harbor. The House smothered this measure.

In the Senate a proposal to establish a secret police force for the personal use of Attorney General Herbert K. Rushton was halted by a bi-partisan vote.

Rushton was critical of the governor's use of the state police in handling the Ford strike at Dearborn. During the 1940 campaign, Rushton carried a tag of being "anti-labor," placed upon him by union leaders. The proposed "gestapo," so branded by Senator Ernest C. Brooks (D) of Holland, was too much even for the Republican majority in the Senate. Again, the filter typified much of the 1941 legislative record.

"Bewildering Speed"

The traditional habit of legislators of waiting until the last few weeks before they break the legislative jam has again incurred widespread criticism.

C. Milton Kelly, writer for the Associated Press which plays no "politics" and has no axe to grind, observed caustically: "Feeble protests were voiced by a few members as bills were rushed through the hopper at the rate of one each two or three minutes without benefit of debate, explanation or the formality of reading."

He noted that the house even dispensed "with reading the full titles of each bill in some instances, a shortcut the senate refused to take on advice of Fred I. Chase, secretary, who said it would be unconstitutional."

Another capital correspondent, equally independent, observed: "The senate shoved through with the flimsiest kind of consideration shoals of minor house bills."

The legislative excuse was the deadline for committee action and the generally conceded fact that most of the 1,200 bills have been of minor concern. The public would probably get along very well if no new laws were enacted for five years.

Middle of the Road

The civil service commission, invested by the constitutional amendment with dictatorial powers, rebuffed zealous reformers when it chose Thomas J. Wilson as director.

"Friends" of civil service had sponsored candidates who were known to be professionally trained as career men, and hence, like social welfare workers, apt to be sticklers for red tape.

Instead of imposing drastic rules that might not work, the commission has proceeded slowly with its authority. Under consideration for the commission's June session are regulations proposed by Commissioner Alex J. Groesbeck to prevent civil service employees from soliciting political funds, belonging to a political party committee or serving as delegates to a political convention.

Employees would be permitted otherwise to engage in political activity while not on official duty.

Thus the commission has been earning a reputation for middle-of-the-road action, going neither to the right nor the left. It is our observation that the 1939 legislative reaction to civil service, as introduced in 1937 by the Murphy administration, was due chiefly to arbitrary, impractical rulings of the administrator and the commission.

The present commission seems determined not to make the same mistake. Hence its slowness in introducing "all-out" merit protection for state employees.

Two Tuscola Schools Won Honors in Essay Contest

Two Tuscola County schools won honors this week for the essays of pupils on "What I Have Learned from the Tuberculosis Movies." A letter from Jack Hurlle of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association went to each school that participated, naming first and second winners and listing honorable mentions.

Geraldine Lewis and Lorraine Ewald won first and second place in Columbus Corners School while honorable mention went to Velma Ewald, Richard Poppy and Bernice Sattlerberg. Miss Allie Milligan supervised the essay writing for the Michigan Tuberculosis Association from this school.

From Deford School, Alice Kloc and Virginia Kelley wrote the winning essays under the direction of Miss Eva Capling and Paul Koeltzow. Honorable mention went to Clara Field, Velma Locke, Sylvia Martin, George McArthur and Harriet Warner.

The essays were written following the visit of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association's movie truck to the various schools.

"These educational movies, financed by the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals, are shown on the theory that children who know the facts about tuberculosis will fight it," explained Mr. Hurlle. "The essays prove that pupils learned many important facts about the symptoms of tuberculosis, its care and cure."

Demonstrates Hypnotism on Student
For information on the phenomenon of hypnosis, students in most college psychology courses are referred to textbooks. Prof. Harold A. Swenson, however, provides classroom demonstrations for his students at the University of Chicago. An amateur magician, he learned hypnotism 15 years ago. When the question is raised, Professor Swenson calls a likely student to the front of the room, puts him quickly into a trance. While the student performs hypnotic feats of memory and endurance, Professor Swenson continues his lecture, explaining that under hypnosis, the subject's mind is free of all external stimuli except the suggestions of the hypnotist.

20-Minute Pause

Police Chief Floyd Gray of Anna, Ill., started the practice of requesting fast drivers to stop, hear how fast they were going and then sit for 20 minutes to contemplate the hazards of fast driving—or appear in court.

Cows are milked from their right side because of their anatomy and physiology. The first stomach (cows have four) or paunch lies on the left side of the abdominal cavity. It has a capacity of 60 gallons, and when distended with food causes the left side of the abdomen to bulge to such an extent that a milker at the left could not get conveniently close to his or her work.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING
By CHARLES B. ROTH

ADVERTISING'S NO MYSTERY

SOME of us remember well when John Slattery started in business. He couldn't have been over 25 and he had only a few hundred dollars in capital. But he did have a wife and two fine boys. He wanted to make them comfortable. He quit his job, went in on his own.

At first he would come to us and in his frank, likable way ask if we would buy from him. We liked John. He flattered us to have him invite us to become his customers. We began trading with him.

He treated us so considerately and so honestly; he gave us such good service; he was so grateful for our patronage, that we enjoyed being his customers. It made us feel good. Others felt the same way. His business grew.

Then he began asking more people to trade with him than he could reach in person. He had to run small advertisements in the newspaper, which he wrote himself after store hours.

As he grew larger he ran larger advertisements, and where in the beginning he had a handful of customers, now he had several hundred.

He continued to advertise in the newspaper. His business continued to grow. He couldn't know all his customers by name now, of course, but they felt that they could buy from him with confidence because he had been recommended to them by another friend whom they had always trusted.

This other friend who recommended John Slattery was the newspaper which carried his advertising. Whatever you read in the newspaper you naturally feel you can believe, because you know that a reputable newspaper will not accept advertising from any but honest and reliable concerns.

Because this young man starting in business made use of that aid he built his business. As his business grew he was able to give his customers better service and more for their money.

Although few of the persons reading his advertisements and becoming his customers realized it, they were all indebted to the newspaper for its service in bringing to their attention an opportunity of getting more for their money by publishing advertisements of this enterprising young man.

Advertising is serving us in this same way every day, by bringing information of where we can buy most advantageously, by helping us to find what we want at the lowest possible prices.

Unusual Engine Is Offered to Nation

Designed by Catholic Priest And Son of Minister.

TEKEMAH, NEB.—In this little agricultural town far removed from the nation's great aviation factories, a Catholic priest and the son of a Methodist minister believe they have perfected an engine that will revolutionize aeronautics.

Its unique features include, they say, a drive arm of secret design that eliminates the necessity of connecting rods.

For four years, behind locked doors and shuttered windows of an old building they purchased when their equipment became too large for their homes, they worked laboriously on the engine.

After exhaustive tests, they are submitting it to the war department for inspection and possible purchase.

The inventors are the Rev. W. J. Borer, pastor of St. Patrick's church for the last nine years, and Warren E. George, a University of Nebraska graduate engineer, whose father holds a small Methodist pastorate.

The model of the engine represents a cost in time, materials and labor of approximately $33,000. The inventors estimate that it can be manufactured for aerial craft at a cost of only $25.

The model is a 10-cylinder internal combustion type. It is adaptable to powering tanks and to motorboats but is primarily intended for air service.

Cigar-shaped, it is only 20 inches long, weighs 36 pounds, but develops five horsepower at 4,000 revolutions a minute.

Its inventors modestly assert that power far in excess of anything yet manufactured could be developed with a 30-cylinder engine of larger dimensions.

King's Yoke Lifted From District of Columbia

WASHINGTON.—This news may seem tardy by a century and a half, but the District of Columbia received word from congress that the British king henceforth won't have any jurisdiction in local laws.

It took a Brooklyn legislator of Irish descent to throw off the yoke. One day last year, Rep. Eugene J. Keogh (D., N. Y.), chairman of the house committee on revision of the laws, came across a strange statute. A bit verbose, it set forth technical procedure to be followed in taking exceptions to rulings in a court of laws.

But that was only part of it, for Representative Keogh's amazed eyes read: "And if the King . . . cause the record to come before him and the same exception be not found in the roll . . ."

Diving into a stack of legal tomes he discovered that this statute, a hangover from Colonial days when Maryland and Virginia were under the rule of the king, became a part of the district's law when Maryland and Virginia donated the land for the capital of the new republic.

Enool Teacher Is Paid; Yet She Has No Pupils

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—For three months a young woman kept a rural school open and received pay under her contract though no students appeared.

Then she decided to attend college and inquired of Arkansas' legal department if her pay would continue provided she held herself in readiness to return if any students showed up.

Opinion of Assistant Attorney General J. F. Koone:

- 1.—It is a bad policy to conduct a student-less school.
- 2.—The teacher could not be paid unless she continued to present herself at the school daily to teach if pupils appear.

Weddings Provide Swallows' Banquet

RENO, NEV.—When the Reno courthouse sparrows returned this year from their annual migration there was an awful hubbub. They showed up on the day that 325 couples—a record at that time for Reno—also showed up to be married, and the rice that blanketed the courthouse greens kept the sparrows well fed.

Water Precious as Gold—Almost as precious as gold is water at Lubertzbucht in southwestern Africa, one of the world's driest sections. For bathing purposes, water is rented, not sold, at 25 cents a gallon. And after it's been used in a bath, it's then sprinkled on the few plants that can be grown in that blistering climate.

Pheasant Not Native Fowl—There is really no native American pheasant, although the ruffed grouse is often referred to in many parts of the country as a "pheasant." This "native pheasant" is the same bird that is sometimes known as a "partridge" in most of the northern states. Our native birds that resemble the pheasant are mostly grouse.

Cleaning Window Shades—If your non-washable window shades are soiled, lay them on a flat surface, brush well with a clean soft cloth, and rub lightly with wall-paper cleaner. Be sure to clean both sides of the shades. Brush again with a soft cloth.

Buying Silver—In buying silver, notice if the handles of the flatware pieces "nestle" into the palm of the hand as if they belonged there.

Play Clothes Run Gamut of Rainbow

Riotous Color Is Feature Of Sports Wardrobe.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Riotous color will transform the playgrounds of America this summer into one giant palette of vivid colors and pastels, for play clothes are running the gamut of the rainbow.

This major portion of every feminine wardrobe gets the iron test for the days of spectator sports for women are over. Once a violet bathing suit would be carefully shielded from the sun's fading rays and salt water's deteriorating effect by remaining on the beach under the protection of a parasol. Now that suit takes to the surf and is dried under the sun with careless indifference.

Tennis shorts and dresses are forsaking white to splash color on the courts. Stains resulting from spills on the clay or grass will have to fight it out in the wash tub—with color and fabric the winner.

Even jodphurs, riding breeches, coats, vests and stocks are getting away from the conventional gray, brown, and white, and appearing in sage green, brilliant orange, French blue and daffodil yellow. Cleaners' bills are taboo on a limited budget—so the battle of the washboard rages.

The textile manufacturers thus challenged by the feminine sports contingent are rushing to the laboratories for help. Color fastness, washability and wearability are as important as design and price to wise Miss America.

One large manufacturer of cotton and rayon fabrics, after a survey of thousands of women, has put a "tag" on all its material, giving the woman the information which she demands. She now knows the exact facts about the material and understands just what she can expect of the garment she has purchased.

Fine Batiste

The growing trend to design nightgowns that look like dresses and evening gowns gives them great fashion interest. Here is a sweet young nightgown from a group of Kayser creations designed by Paulette. The quaint and exquisitely fine check batiste of which it is fashioned intrigues feminine fancy at a glance. The bodice is shirred with rows of Valenciennes lace between, and so styled as to give the new and covered "covered shoulder" look. The sweeping skirt is finished with a prettifying little flounce.

New Type of Dress Creates Sensation

There is a new type of dress that is creating no end of a sensation with the young smart set that is so enthusiastically going in for cottons this summer. We refer to the shirt waist costumes that top a full skirt of peasant type made of a vivid flowered cotton print with a dainty sheer white lingerie blouse. These flowery skirts are the newest thing out. They are of regulation short length for day wear and for evening they take on formal floor length. Some of the handsomest cottons used are handblock printed with individualistic flower patterns.

Style Notes

And again, more pleated skirts! Fancy turns to tinted felt hats for summer.

Puffed, "baggy" pockets is new styling detail.

Comes more and more lingerie and lace on hats.

Lace with lace in contrasting color is new dress feature.

Carry a parasol made of the gingham or the print fabric of your dress.

Emphasis is on immaculate white sharkskin for summer dresses and suits.

Hot Weather Menus Which Perk You Up

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

THE foods you should eat in large quantities during the summer are fruits and vegetables and fortunately they are in such abundance that they are reasonably priced.

If you are a calorie counter and count or measure the number of calories you eat each day, you can safely cut down about 500 calories from your winter to your summer diet.

As meat, eggs, fish and butter may "look" too heavy for warm weather, and salads and juicy fruits appear and are more appetizing, you may be tempted to live entirely on fruits and salads during the warm weather.

This is a mistake and you will find yourself "tired," because the salads and fruits are so bulky they have filled your stomach and satisfied your appetite and yet not enough calories and not enough meat, eggs or fish for rebuilding tissue have been eaten.

You have been rightly advised that you need more fruit and leafy vegetables in warm weather than in cold weather, but you are advised also that you should eat "some" meat, fish or eggs once a day.

A few of the summer menus which give an all-around diet are:

Breakfast—Fruit with milk or cream; a boiled egg and two slices of bacon (or two eggs); bread or roll, tea or coffee.

Luncheon—Celery or lettuce soup; canned or fresh fish; cabbage or lettuce salad; berry cake or pudding; iced tea or coffee.

Dinner—Roast beef, or chicken, or fish; potatoes; leafy vegetable, corn or peas; berries.

Breakfast—Cereal with milk or cream; toast and bacon or bacon and one egg; roll, fruit; tea or coffee.

Luncheon—Cream or chicken soup; cottage cheese or cold tongue; salad (lettuce, celery, cucumbers); fresh fruit; wafers or soda biscuits; tea or coffee.

Dinner—Fowl, fish, or meat; potatoes; lettuce and tomato salad; peas or corn or asparagus or squash; berries and cream or iced fruit.

THE commonest object that gets into the eye is a tiny cinder or a speck of dust.

As soon as the cinder or speck of dust gets into the eye, the eye begins to water, which is nature's way of washing the object down to lower part of eye or into the corner. Just allowing yourself to "cry" for a minute will often bring the object to a point where it can be readily seen and removed by the corner of a clean handkerchief or a piece of tightly rolled gauze.

If object is in lower part of eye on eyeball or lower lid it can be readily seen and removed if the patient is told to look upward as you pull the lower lid downward.

By having patient look downward as you lift upper lid, any object on the eyeball can be seen if the light is good. If no object can be seen and the patient tells you that he feels as if something is scratching the upper part of his eyeball, the object is on the inner side of the upper lid.

The Benefit of Tears.

The upper lid has hard tissue—cartilage—on its edge. This makes it a little difficult to turn the lid to expose the object. However, if you stand behind the patient, as he looks upward, and hold the point of a pencil on the upper part of the lid, the object can be turned backward. If the object is on the inner side of the lid, it can be removed with the pointed piece of gauze.

The thought, then, is that when an object gets into the eye, the tears should be allowed to flow for about a minute, which may be all that is necessary to get rid of it. If this does not remove it to the inner side of lower lid, then search and removal must be made as suggested above.

Don't use anything harder than soft gauze.

Q.—What would cause me to have repeated colds in the head?

A.—Repeated colds may be due to dust or pollen irritating the lining of the nose, or to some low or slow infection in the sinuses.

Q.—I have a large hernia and weigh 250 pounds. Would the injection treatment be suitable in my case?

A.—You had better ask your physician. A large hernia and much fat is not likely to be suitable for the injection method.

Symbolic of scenes throughout the nation on Memorial day is this bugler of America's 1941 army. Against a back-drop of the thinned ranks of the Blue and the Gray and the marching feet of the parading veterans of the Spanish-American war and the World war of 1917-18, he sounds "Taps" over the graves of America's war dead. Memorial day is annually the day for decorating the graves of the warrior dead. Established originally in memory of those who lost their lives in the Civil war it has since been made the occasion for recalling those who died in other wars.

Irritability Often Due to Need of Food

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ONE of the bits of knowledge wives and mothers have learned by experience is that if any serious matter is to be discussed, particularly something unpleasant that has occurred during the day, it is better not to discuss it until the husband and father has finished his evening meal. Of course, nothing serious or unpleasant should be discussed just before any meal, as the upsetment interferes with appetite and digestion.

It is not alone for this reason—interfering with appetite or digestion—that the wife and mother postpone the discussion, but because she knows that a hungry man (or woman) is more apt to be cranky or irritable than one who is not hungry.

Physiologists tell us that hunger feelings are caused by the contraction or movements of the walls of the stomach. As the stomach becomes empty the walls contract a number of times—10 to 25—after which they become quiet for a while and then start the contractions again; then a quiet period, then contractions again. The "quiet" period lasts from 10 minutes to one hour in the child and from one to three hours in an adult.

Instead of pain, the adult has feelings of weakness, tiredness and disinclination to work. He doesn't know he is hungry until he sees or smells food.

The Five Meal Plan. Dr. Howard W. Haggard and Dr. Leon A. Greenberg, in their book, "Diet and Physical Efficiency," state: "The feeling of fatigue and irritability that shows the need for food is not relieved by rest but it is relieved by food." These research workers were able to relieve "tiredness" and get from 10 to 15 per cent more work from shoe workers by dividing the "usual" amount of food into five meals instead of three. Food was thus given before the tired, irritable feelings occurred.

"The man returning to his home in the evening, tired, irritable and dispirited from a 'hard day' at his work, finds no satisfaction or relief in rest obtained by waiting for his evening meal. Relief from irritability, fatigue and depression comes only when the meal is eaten."

Infected Teeth Menace Health

IF a distinguished physician or dentist were to say, "The one great objective of the life of a dentist should be to save teeth," most of us would agree.

Dr. Earl H. Thomas, Chicago, a physician and dentist, in the Journal of the American Dental Association disagrees with the above quoted statement. He says "If there is one great objective in the life of a dentist, it should be to place the mouth of his patient in a condition of health. All else is secondary. General health and life, when they depend upon such a condition, are more important than all the teeth in the mouth."

A great number of individuals have abscessed teeth who apparently suffer no ill effects yet others have rheumatism followed by heart diseases due to just one tooth.

Abscessed Teeth Lower Resistance. The man with many diseased teeth has had the great advantage of being able to use these teeth for years instead of having them removed and artificial teeth inserted.

Dr. Thomas points out that for every one person absorbing infection for many years with no apparent ill effects, many are in their graves prematurely because they allowed this condition to exist. Most physicians and many dentists know of cases where abscessed teeth were the cause of rheumatism, heart disease, high blood pressure, inflammation of the kidneys, peptic ulcer and other ailments. The general lowering of the body's resistance to this steady pouring out of poisons is the cause of many "breakups" of individuals in their fifties and sixties.

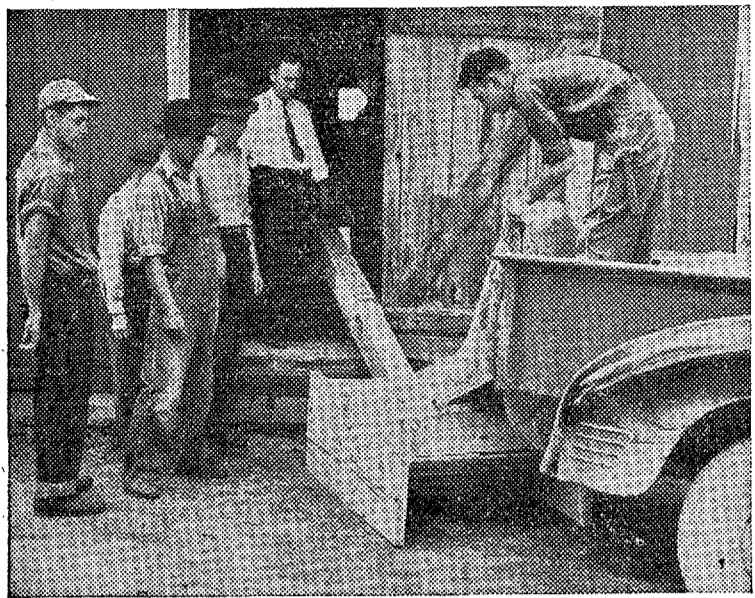

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Which is more common, ulcer of the stomach or ulcer of duodenum (first part of small intestine)? Which is most dangerous?

MECHANICAL HIRED MAN

Up to 350 bushels of grain an hour, right into the granary bin without any lifting. Demonstration of the new homemade endless elevator attracted farmers recently to the Lafe and W. H. Linebaugh farm near Portland. The elevator was designed by agricultural engineers at Michigan State College to make chores easier and permit farmers to get their work done even if hired men become scarce. The two men and Gordon Bailey, employee, operate 410 acres of farmland and figure they won't need extra help this summer.

Gadget Makes Chores Easier

For less than ten dollars, exclusive of a quarter-horsepower electric motor, farmer can simplify choretime and other grainhandling problems.

An idea hatched recently in the agricultural engineering laboratories at Michigan State College. The result is a small portable grain elevator which can be constructed locally. Tested recently on the Lafe and W. H. Linebaugh farm a few miles northwest of Portland, the elevator handled more than 350 bushels of oats an hour.

Grain can be brought in bagged from the combine, dumped into a hopper and elevated as high as a second story bin. An endless canvas belt is used, with scores of small horizontal metal or wood pieces, each carrying its quota of grain.

This and other devices on the Linebaugh farm will make it possible this summer to operate the 410 acres without looking for extra hired help. The father and son and the present employee, Gordon Bailey, expect to do the farm work easier than ever before.

Within the barn, chutes have been developed to deliver grain to a small hammermill. This will grind enough in 15 minutes for each dairy herd feeding. The cows get freshly ground feed and sufficient time is saved doing chores to get the lawn mowed with the Linebaugh's new power motor.

Contrast that way of doing the chores with the old system. Once a month the tractor was belted to a grinder. Oats and barley were scooped and carried to the grinder, another man bagged the feed and the tractor ate up 15 gallons of fuel for each 30 days' feed. The half-horsepower motor on the grinder now works while other chores get attention. The feed falls into a feed cart that cost only $2.75 for the wheels and caster. The grinding now will cost less than half as much for energy and save two men extra work each month.

Youths to Visit Four Milk Markets

Four major fluid milk markets in Michigan will be scanned by youths enrolled in 4-H Club work as part of the June program in the state, it is announced from the 4-H Club headquarters at Michigan State College.

Saginaw and Bay City are involved in the visitation Tuesday, June 17. Detroit facilities will be inspected June 19 and 20. Muskegon is scheduled for June 25 and Grand Rapids for June 26.

Within two weeks after the trip the boys are to submit essays on what they saw. The two best essays are to be selected and the writers will be awarded trips to the National Dairy Show in Memphis, October 11 to 15.

Those visiting milk handling plants in Detroit obtained added experience. These boys will get up early in the morning, June 20, for a chance to ride on a delivery wagon over a typical city route.

Competition is confined to 23 counties in Southern Michigan. These are counties in which the Michigan Milk Producers' Association has memberships. The youths accepted for the trips will be 4-H members enrolled in dairy projects, including three years of club work or specific enrollment in a dairy production project.

Michigan's Milk Makes Fine Food

Michigan's 900,000 dairy cows contribute daily to good nutrition for families consuming fresh milk, butter and cheese, according to nutrition specialists at Michigan State College.

Just what is it that milk adds to the diet?

With every glass of whole milk there is protein, fat, calcium, phosphorus, milk sugar and some vitamins. The vitamins include A and G in important amounts, some vitamin B and a little vitamin D. Cheese made from whole milk supplies most of these same food values in a more concentrated form.

Americans are using more milk and cheese than they did 10 years ago. Yet recent studies by the federal Bureau of Home Economics indicate that an increase in the use of dairy products would do still more in improving the nutritive value of present-day diets.

Macaroni and cheese is one of the most familiar cheese and cereal combinations. Another preparation puts cheese with vegetables. This is considered wise practice. The added protein from the cheese can make the vegetable dish the main part of the meal.

Cheese should not actually be cooked. Just enough heat should be used to melt the product. The kind depends on what the family likes. Most cheese used in cooking is the familiar golden-yellow American or cheddar. When young, the cheese is mild in flavor and soft in texture, but age brings on a sharp and tangy flavor, with dryness and crumbling.

Neighbors and Good Citizens

Few Michigan citizens stop to think how much the railroads mean to Michigan today. In this era of commercial and industrial development the railroads are vitally essential to Michigan's progress.

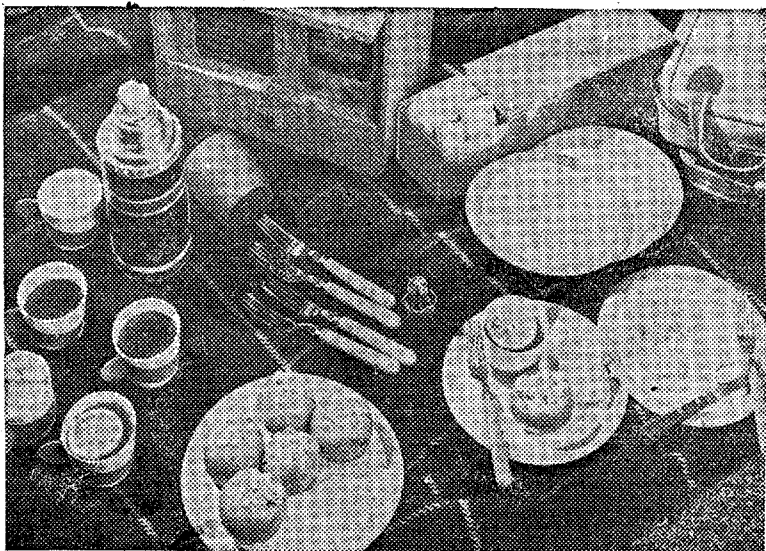

For example: In the average year the railroads spent more than 75 millions in Michigan—$55,007,715 in payrolls to 47,000 men; $5,759,621 in taxes; and, in 1939, $15,473,292 for supplies purchased in 248 communities in 69 counties in our state.

The railroads are our neighbors. They operate in all but two counties in Michigan. Their employees live in nearly every community in the state.

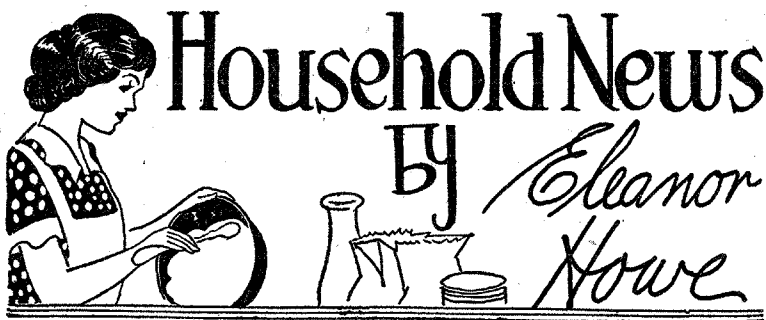

The railroads are good citizens. They furnish us with an indispensable service. They are the state's largest taxpayers. Railroad taxes help make possible the schooling of hundreds of children in this county. Railroad taxes last year in Tuscola County amounted to $40,332.08, all of which went into the Primary School Fund. The prosperity of the railroads and of their employees helps make the business of all of us prosperous. Railroad employees in Tuscola County were paid last year the sum of $105,426.26, most of which was spent with local merchants.

We urge our Legislature and Congress to be just and fair in considering any legislation intended to remove the inequality under which our railroads are forced to operate.

IT'S PICNIC TIME!
(Recipes Below)

Summertime is picnic time, and you pack up your troubles as you unpack your picnic kit. Perhaps one reason why a picnic is such a popular outdoor sport is because its preparations are so easy on the lady of the house . . . sandwiches, stuffed tomatoes (or just small whole tomatoes) with hard cooked eggs and a steaming cup of tea, are a traditional picnic lunch—and that's an easy meal if there ever was one!

No dishes to wash afterward . . . paper cups and plates eliminate all such labor. Carry the tea in a thermos bottle, if you like, or brew it "fisherman style" over an open fire.

One hot dish is important at a picnic; it might be stew, or chowder, baked beans, or a macaroni dish—but do have something hot!

There are picnic hints and menus that you'll like, in my cookbook, "Easy Entertaining"; there's a menu for a beach party, a hiking trip and a steak fry, too—with all the recipes you'll need for this simple form of entertaining.

Broiled Baked Bean Sandwiches.
Bread, sliced
Baked beans
Cheese, sliced or cut in strips
Bacon slices, cut in halves
Arrange bread on broiler. When bread is toasted on one side, turn. Then cover the untoasted sides of the slices of bread with baked beans. Place cheese over the beans and top each sandwich with one-half slice of bacon. Place under broiler and broil until bacon is crisp and brown and cheese is melted.

Ginger Creams.
(Makes 3 dozen 1½-inch squares)
½ cup shortening
2 tablespoons sugar
2 cups flour
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 cup dark molasses
1 egg (separated)
1 cup boiling water
Cream shortening and sugar together. Sift flour, soda, salt and ginger, and blend with the creamed mixture, using a pastry blender or a fork. Add molasses and egg yolk, and beat well. Then add boiling water, gradually, and beat well. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white. Spread batter in greased jelly roll pan (about 11 by 16 inches) and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for approximately 18 minutes. Cool, and frost with boiled icing or confectioners' sugar icing. Cut in squares.

Deviled Eggs.
4 eggs, hard cooked
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 tablespoon butter, melted
½ teaspoon vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Cut the hard-cooked eggs in halves crosswise. Remove yolks, mash, and add salt, pepper, melted butter, vinegar and prepared mustard. Refill whites with this mixture.

One-Dish Meal for a Picnic.
1 pound country style sausage
2 medium size onions (sliced)
1 can lima beans
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 teaspoon chili powder
Shape sausage into flat cakes and fry with the onions until the sausage is well done. Drain off all but ½ cup of the fat, add remaining ingredients, and simmer for 30 minutes.

Baked Macaroni—Creole Style.
(Serves 4)
½ package macaroni
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons onion (minced)
1 green pepper (chopped)
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ pound country style sausage
¼ cup soft bread crumbs (buttered)
Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water. Brown onion slightly in the

Remember the wonderful ice cream you used to love, as a child—the kind you had at parties and picnics and Sunday school socials, too? butter. Add green pepper, and tomatoes. Add sugar and salt and cook until the green pepper is tender. Make sausage into flat cakes. In a buttered baking dish place a layer of macaroni, then a layer of sausage cakes, and another layer of macaroni. Pour the tomato mixture over the macaroni and top with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 45 minutes.

Raisin Drop Cookies.
¼ cup butter
½ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1½ cups cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup seedless raisins
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Add eggs, well beaten, and mix thoroughly. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk and vanilla, beginning with the flour mixture. Add raisins. Drop from a teaspoon on a greased baking sheet and place a raisin on the top of each one. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 12 to 15 minutes.

Crazy Cake.
1 cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup cocoa
½ cup lard
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups flour (sifted)
½ cup boiling water
Place all of the ingredients in a bowl in the order given. Do not stir until boiling water is added. Then beat 3 minutes, using a rotary beater, or 2 minutes if an electric mixer is used. Place in greased 8-inch square pan and bake 35 to 40 minutes in a moderately hot oven (325 degrees).

Better Baking Solve Your Baking Problems.
True it is we all have baking problems. Yet, if solved correctly, we save time because fallen cakes don't have to be made over again and we save money too—because the family simply won't eat tough, chewy pastry, heavy, soggy cakes, etc.

In fact, it is to avoid just such baking failures as these (and many more) that I have compiled this cookbook, "Better Baking." "Better Baking" brings to you a whole series of baking hints, as well as a compilation of many of my own favorite baking recipes, including such unusual good-to-eat ones as a frosted nut spice cake, gumdrop cake, chocolate fudge cake, quick apple cake, and even a maraschino cherry cake.

To secure your copy of this book, simply send 10 cents in coin and please address, "Better Baking," care of Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Gives It Tang
A little horseradish added to salad dressing or white sauce makes a piquant sauce for fish. Horseradish also may be added to whipped cream and served with baked, boiled or fried ham.

Use Chicken Fat
Chicken fat may be substituted for butter in cakes and cookies or for creaming or browning foods. Beef drippings may be used for seasoning sauces, meats or fowl stuffings or meat loaves.

Timber Destroyed

Fire, insects and other natural enemies of forests destroy about 7,000,000,000 board feet of timber a year, or one-fifth the volume of annual commercial production.

Corn Test Plot at Cass City Farm

An official Hybrid Corn Test Plot as been established on the Roy Waggon farm, two miles west and one-half mile north of Cass City. This test is being made in cooperation with the Farm Crops Department at Michigan State College. A. A. Johnson, specialist in farm crops, was in charge of the planting and assisted a local committee of farmers in selecting the eleven hybrid corn varieties under test.

There is a total of 65 plots, four hills wide and 10 hills long, which make up this test. This provides for five replications of each variety and a check variety.

Five kernels were planted in each hill to insure a good stand. Hills will be thinned to three stalks when the corn reaches a height of about eight or 10 inches.

Observations will be made during the year with attention being given to (1) strength of stalk, (2) height of stalk, (3) rate of maturity, (4) corn borer damage, and (5) yield of shelled corn per acre.

A tour to this hybrid corn growing demonstration will be announced near harvest time.

Farmers who assisted in selecting these varieties and in planting the plot are: Roy Waggon, owner of the farm; Fritz Mantey, Fairgrove; Lloyd Reagh, John Dillman and John Reagh, all of Cass City.

Wash Old Enamel First
In re-enameling the walls of a room the same color, it is always best to wash the old enamel surface thoroughly and apply one coat of flat undercoat the same color as the enamel before the enamel coat is applied. This will give a much more satisfactory finish.
