CASS CITY, MICHIGAN, JUNE 6, 1941

for MICHIGAN PROSPERITY

Citizens of Michigan:

Expansion of the home market for Michigan products is essential if we are to maintain proper business tempo and play our full part in the national defense program.

Business is on the upgrade. Merchants of Michigan are prepared to demonstrate to our people that Michigan is a great producing state. Through the medium of "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" the retail industry will stimulate interest in the products of our farms and our factories. I know of no better way than through this program to call upon the consuming public to participate in a movement for a better Michigan.

World conditions require that we all work together, think together, and plan as one great body of people. "Michigan Days" afford all of us a rare opportunity to prove to one another and to the rest of the nation that we are one people bent upon a program of state unity.

Mass production has been developed to a high point in our state. Our people can, by their united effort, demonstrate a confidence in Michigan and its products by wholeheartedly cooperating in this vast merchandising undertaking.

State's Bean Crop Leads the Nation; Brings $12,000,000

Michigan Produces High-quality Product to Serve World This Commodity.

By Leo D. Cline, president Michigan Bean Shippers' Association.

Saginaw, June 5—Citizens of the Wolverine state are beginning to realize the importance of the bean industry in Michigan. Ranking at the very top in production we produced 4,309,000 bags in 1940 that brought in $12,021,000 to Michigan farmers. Although this was 200,000 bags less than was harvested the previous year, the crop brought in approximately $300,000 more due to the increased price of beans.

Both the 1939 and 1940 yields were above the 10-year average for the state, which is 3,974,000 bags and an average income of $11,072,000.

Michigan farmers devoted 567,000 acres to the production of beans last year and a similar acreage is in store for 1941. The average yield per acre in this state is gradually increasing over the average for the last 10 years of 725 pounds.

Few groups have contributed more toward making the market for Michigan Beans what it is today than those sponsoring the "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" campaign, June 6-11. The movement has the unqualified backing of the Michigan Bean Shippers' Association, an organization that fully appreciates what is being undertaken to make the people of this state realize the importance of beans as a food. At the same time we must stress the importance of the bean industry to the state.

Michigan's importance as a bean producing state is set forth in the United States Department of Agriculture annual crop report, which shows the total bean crop for the nation to be 6,044,000 bags, with Michigan producing 4,309,000 of these. But this does not tell the whole story. Michigan's beans are of the finest grade and many beans harvested throughout the country are inferior grades.

All but four of the 83 counties in Michigan produce beans, however the crop is confined principally to the lower peninsula with Tuscola, Sanilac, Saginaw, Huron, Clinton, Bay, Gratiot and Eaton Counties leading but not necessarily in the order named.

We are proud of our Michigan Bean Shippers' Association. We have organized to advance the general interest in the growing and handling of beans in this state and to inculcate just and capable principles in trade. We seek to maintain established, uniform grades for beans and maintain those grades in the markets. This organization is a real benefit to the Michigan bean growers, the housewife who purchases beans at the store, and to the public in general. The association was organized in 1892.

Michigan Potatoes Rated Best Ever; Bring $15,000,000

Cadillac, June 5—Michigan's annual production of potatoes is sufficient to supply every family in the nation with fifty pounds.

This important crop is a big business in itself bringing in more than $15,000,000 annually to growers throughout the state.

Mass marketing methods must be employed if this vast crop is to be disposed of through modern merchandising channels. Fred Hibst, manager of the Michigan Potato Institute revealed here today as his organization watched with interest the opening of the "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" campaign, designed to stimulate sale and distribution of Michigan products.

First in the quality of grades and second in the acreage given to potatoes, Michigan depends upon an extensive market for sale of this huge crop, Hibst explained. But it is right here in Michigan where we sell most of our potatoes, and it is here where the high quality of Michigan potatoes is really appreciated.

"Retailers in Michigan are rendering potato producers a valuable service through these merchandising programs," Hibst declared. "It is only through close cooperation in undertakings such as 'Michigan Days' that producers and consumers alike will learn the true value of our home products."

Michigan has instituted more rigid standards of grading potatoes in order to assure customers of consistently high quality, Hibst said.

Michigan Workers Paid Highest Average Wages

Lansing, June 5—Michigan wage-earners are the highest paid in the nation, S. R. Dietrich, Lansing merchant and a member of the general committee in charge of "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity," reported here today.

Dietrich cited the annual Michigan wage of $1.102 as the top in the nation. New York workers came second, with $1.042, and Illinois workers third, with $1.029. These earnings compare with the national average of $890.

"Michigan employers, by paying the highest average wages in the nation, help our state maintain its general high wage average," Dietrich said.

Farm Life Here Is Distinctive, Armstrong Says

Grange Head Claims that Michigan Agriculture Life Is the Best.

By W. G. Armstrong, Master, Michigan State Grange.

Niles, June 5—Although the present day economic life of Michigan is primarily industrial, agriculture still remains a chief basic industry, second only to that of automobile manufacturing.

Agriculture is a $216,000,000 business in this great industrial state and the vast majority of the products raised on our farms are consumed right here in our home state. But there's still room for consumption of more of our Michigan products, and that is why "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" is a splendid undertaking. I know of no better way to bring rural Michigan and the retail outlets together than through staging such a program as this.

Long ago Michigan agricultural leaders recognized the necessity for a new system of marketing farm products. Modern merchandising methods employed by retailers call for closer cooperation between producer and retailer, and in order to properly supply the market, farmers must of necessity present their products for sale to the public with the idea in mind that they are being offered in direct competition with similar products from other states. A free flow of agriculture products in this country is essential, and therefore Michigan farm products find themselves in a highly competitive market right here at home.

Michigan agriculture means more to this state than just the products coming from the farm. Rural life in Michigan is the finest in the world. Rural Michigan is producing many of the state's leaders in business and industrial life. A rural background has its many advantages regardless of the life vocation of the individual.

When we pause and consider that 77 per cent of our farm families own their homes compared to 58 per cent for the state average, we soon recognize the importance of family life in rural areas. It is well to remember also that there are nearly as many non-farm people residing in rural areas today as there are those who actually farm the land. They are moving into rural areas to get away from the hazards of city residence, into areas that afford greater opportunities to enjoy the fruits of nature.

Michigan ranks high as a great farm state. Michigan's standing in comparison with other states in acreage and production of individual crops is always of prime interest. Not only is the state represented in the growing of practically every crop produced in the northern half of the United States, but it also ranks relatively well in every crop of importance when account is taken of the fact that 25 other states have more land in farms and 15 states have more land readily available for crops. It is noteworthy that in every crop of general importance, the state ranks in 12th place or better, and that in many crops it ranks among the first five states.

Meat Is Playing Important Part in Modern Diet

Michigan Citizens Consuming More Meat than Average in the Nation.

East Lansing, June 5—The weekly meat requirements for the people of Michigan are 12,600,000 pounds. A lot of meat to be sure, and the quality is high, much higher today than it was a decade ago, due principally to improved inspection methods and more efficient processing.

The Michigan Beef Cattle Breeders' Association, with headquarters here, points out that Michigan livestock rates among the best in the land. Michigan imports a large amount of meat but at the same time there is a great demand for Michigan meat products on the vast Eastern market. The state exports four million pounds of veal annually, eight million pounds of lamb.

There were many false notions about meat in this country years ago, G. A. Branaman, secretary of the beef breeders association, reports. This was long before nutrition became the subject of scientific study.

"Physicians who have at their disposal modern scientific facts," Branaman said, "know that meat is a valuable source of complete proteins and the important vitamins B1 and G (B2) and the pellagra-preventive factor."

"According to eminent food authorities, malnutrition is not always a case of an empty dinner pail. Well rounded-out meals, adequate in all essential food factors, are the answer. Meat is an excellent protein food because its protein is complete, providing all the ten essential amino acids. Meat supplies many of the minerals needed in a healthful diet, and three of them in good quality: Iron, phosphorus and copper. Nutritional anemia is rarely found when meat has its proper place in the diet."

Incidentally, Branaman points out, the allowance of meat for men in military training is one pound per man daily, or more than double the amount eaten by the average person.

Soybean Plays Important Part in the Defense Program

Dearborn, June 5—The soybean has taken its rightful place in the national defense program. For the past decade manufacturing interests in Michigan have used the bean for various industrial accomplishments, and now that the state's industrial centers are geared for war production, products from soybeans are used extensively.

Soybean oil going into paints and enamel is in great demand at the present time when the government is using vast quantities of paint. Plastic compounds are being moulded into hundreds of devices that are used on machines of war.

Michigan was not the first state to plant soybeans in this country but was the first in which the plant was turned to industrial use.

Michigan Supreme as State; Empire Here Is Possible

Possesses All Features Essential if Isolation Is Found Necessary.

Lansing, June 5—Michigan could almost exist as an isolated empire while her people enjoyed all the reasonable comforts of life, M. J. Maynard, Lansing businessman and co-chairman of the "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" campaign, declared here today.

"It has often been said," Maynard pointed out, "that Michigan's appearance on the map of the United States, is its greatest advertisement. Surrounded almost entirely by blue waters, it is naturally a focal point of attention."

As a business executive interested in retailing and many other projects in the state's capital city, Maynard is much concerned about the ever-increasing tourist and resort business in the state.

"Increased leisure in recent years," he said, "has naturally increased the demand for recreational facilities; for places to fish, to hunt, to camp and enjoy the great out-of-doors. As this condition has grown the recreational industry has kept pace to the point where it is now ranked in economic importance, second only to manufacturing. The annual income from this business has been variously estimated from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000. The state's lakes and rivers, forests and climate are assets conducive to the continued prosperity of the recreational industry.

That those who travel through Michigan seeking recreation may be comfortable and may better enjoy its natural resources, the various local and state governmental agencies have contributed their share of improvements. Highways have been constructed to pass through areas of greatest scenic beauty. An extensive system of state parks has been developed geographically throughout the state.

Almost two million acres of state forests have been made available to the public for camping. Roadside parks to please the eye have been constructed. One large state agency is engaged in maintaining a supply of fish and game. Forests are protected from fire and streams from pollution. The health of the recreationists is protected by inspection of water supplies and sanitary facilities.

In an average year more than 10,000,000 people visit Michigan's state parks. While a majority of these people are Michigan residents who spend their week-ends and vacations within the state, thousands come from all sections of the United States, as well as from Canada and Mexico.

In Michigan there are more than 13,000,000 acres of land available for hunting and these lands were used last year by more than a half million small game hunters and 125,000 deer hunters. Some idea of the extent of hunting may be gained from the fact that approximately 40,000 buck deer are shot each fall and the kill of cock pheasants has been estimated at 750,000 annually.

BEANS

Michigan Beans are grown by approximately 57,000 farmers in Michigan, many of them in the Thumb District, and constitute one of their foremost cash crops, returning to the farmers of the state from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 annually. Michigan is the greatest bean growing state in the United States, and alone accounts for nearly 90% of the entire navy bean crop of the country.

A CHANGE IN THE MEAT COURSE

(See Recipes Below)

"Meat makes the meal," especially when there are husky, hard-working men to feed. But for those behind the scenes in the kitchen, thinking up a different and a flavorful meat dish for each day out of the seven is no small task.

There are two ways to approach the problem. First, investigate some of the less-common cuts. You'll find them thrifty to buy because the demand for them is less. Most of them fairly abound in good flavor and need only to be properly cooked to be serious rivals to more expensive cuts.

If you are buying pork, ask the meat dealer to prepare you a hand-some rolled sirloin roast. It's a thrifty cut not so well known as the pork loin roast but it has decided advantages. Two sections of the pork sirloin are boned and tied together into a solid roll of meat. The round, compact slices offer no obstructions to the knife, and are the answer to a carver's prayer. The picnic shoulder of pork is another cut of exceptional flavor. Have it boned, stuff it with spinach and roast it.

If it's too soon for another leg of lamb, buy a section of lamb breast and have it rolled with a layer of sausage. Slice off the meat as you would a jelly-roll; you'll have the neatest pinwheels imaginable. Lamb shoulder and lamb shoulder chops are two other not-so-well-known possibilities.

The second way to coax some variety into your meat dishes is to try new ways of flavoring cuts that you serve often. If much of your meat supply comes from a frozen foods locker, this is your best bet. Have pork chops cut double thick and stuff them with a tart mixture of sauerkraut and apple. Your family will beam approval when you serve that combination! Or make your next ham loaf like an upside-down cake so that when you turn it out, there are rows of bright-as-a-dollar apricots across the top. Try canned gooseberries as a relish with ham or beef, or canned Damsen plums with veal.

Pork Chops Stuffed With Sauerkraut And Apple.

(Serves 6)

- 6 loin pork chops (cut 1-inch thick)
- 1 cup sauerkraut (drained)
- 1 cup tart, red cooking apple (diced) (unpared)
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons fat
- ½ cup sauerkraut juice.

Have a pocket made from the outside of each chop. Combine sauerkraut with finely diced unpeeled apple and stuff the chops with the mixture. Season them with salt and pepper and brown on both sides in hot fat in a heavy skillet. Add sauerkraut juice, cover, and finish the cooking in a moderate oven (350 degrees). Bake for 1½ hours, and remove the cover during the last 15 minutes of baking to brown the chops.

Round Steak, Western Style.

(Serves 6)

- 2 pounds round steak
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 2 medium onions (sliced)
- ½ lemon (sliced)
- 1 No. 1 can condensed tomato soup (1½ cups)
- 1 cup water

Have round steak cut ¾ inch thick. Spread with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Arrange slices of thinly cut onion and lemon over steak. Dilute tomato soup with water and pour over steak. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 2 hours uncovered.

Boneless Sirloin Pork Roast With Stuffed Apples.

Have the meat retailer remove the tenderloin and bones from two sirloin sections, reverse the ends, and tie the two boneless pieces together in a compact rolled roast. Season with salt and pepper and place with the fat side up in an open roasting pan. Make an incision to the center of the roast and insert a meat thermometer so that the center of the bulb reaches the center of the fleshiest part of the meat. Place the roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees) and roast until the thermometer registers 185 degrees Fahrenheit. Allow about 30 minutes per pound for roasting. Serve with rice-stuffed apples.

Rice-Stuffed Apples.

- 6 medium-sized baking apples
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 cup rice (cooked)
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ½ cup water

Wash apples and cut a slice from the top of each. Remove the cores and seeds and sprinkle the cavities with brown sugar. Mix cooked rice with melted butter and stuff each apple. Arrange them in a baking pan with the water in the bottom and bake for 1½ hours, or until tender in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Lamb Pinwheels.

(Serves 5)

- Boned breast of lamb (about 3½ pounds)
- ¾ pound bulk pork sausage
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 small onion (sliced)
- 1 cup tomatoes (canned)
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

Have the lamb breast boned, spread with bulk pork sausage, rolled, and tied or skewered into shape at the market. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth and dry. Then brown on all sides in hot fat. Pour off the fat in the pan, leaving 2 tablespoons only. Season the roll with salt and pepper. Add sliced onion, tomatoes and Worcestershire sauce. Cover tightly and cook very slowly until done, about 1½ hours. Slice into pinwheels, using a very sharp knife.

Cushion Style Pork Shoulder With Spinach Stuffing.

(Serves 10)

- Boned picnic shoulder (about 5 pounds)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1½ cups drained spinach (cooked or canned)
- 2 tablespoons onion (minced)
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 cups fine, soft bread crumbs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Have the picnic shoulder boned and sewed on two sides at the market. This leaves one side open for inserting the stuffing. Season the surface of the pork shoulder with salt and pepper. Combine the spinach, onion, butter, lemon juice and bread crumbs. Season with salt and pepper and use to fill the cavity of the roast. Sew or skewer the edges together. Place the shoulder, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan and roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until done. Allow about 40 minutes per pound for the roasting.

Michigan Citizens Drink More Milk than U. S. Average

Annual Consumption Here Stresses Importance of the Dairy Industry in State.

Comstock Park, June 5—Michigan's dairy farmers form an important part in the everyday lives of our citizens when it is realized that the per capita consumption of milk in this state exceeds the national average, J. Neal Lamoreaux, former state senator and prominent distributor of dairy products, declared here today. The per capita consumption of milk in Michigan is 156 quarts annually, compared to the national average of 153 quarts, the veteran dairyman said.

Michigan has 145,492 dairy farmers who produce a total of 523,494,502 gallons of milk annually. This makes Michigan eighth among the states in the number of milk cows. We are fourteenth in the total number of cattle.

"Food qualities in milk, with a large consumption, make Michigan a healthy state," Lamoreaux said. "Michigan's part in the national defense program cannot be carried out properly without healthy citizens to do the work. Milk is playing an important part in this program by providing the necessary food elements to make for stronger bodies and a healthy state."

Incidentally, Sanilac County is our leading Michigan dairy county.

Average Michigan Living Standards Rated Among Best

Detroit, June 5—Michigan standards of living are among the highest in the nation as measured by the goods its citizens consume, a survey based on federal government statistics showed today as the "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" campaign to increase sale and distribution of Michigan products was launched.

The Wolverine State ranks fifth in the United States as a "home state," with six out of every ten families owning their homes as against a national average of 4.5 out of every ten families, the survey showed.

One dollar out of every $25 retail sales in the nation is registered in Michigan, the report continued. It listed annual purchases made by residents of the state at almost $1,400,000,000 with 62,000 retail stores sharing in the business. The average Michigan consumer was pictured as spending $287 every year for the necessities and luxuries of life, as compared with the national average of $270.

Michigan citizens buy $250,000,000 worth of automobiles, accessories and garage services each year, spending 27 per cent more of their annual budget for this purpose than the average American, according to the study. For every 100 families in the state there are 102 automobiles registered, first highest ratio in the nation.

The report said every ten families in the state own 9.5 radios, as compared with the national average of 8.9 units. One out of every three families has a phone in the home and eight out of every ten families enjoy the benefits of electricity.

It was further shown that the average Wolverine household subscribes to at least one of the twelve leading national magazines, 112 copies of these periodicals being taken each month by every 100 families.

Many Gathered Here for Memorial Day Program

Pioneers Laid Well the Foundations of National Life Said the Speaker.

Cass City celebrated Memorial Day on Friday with exercises similar to those of former years. Flags were displayed on business streets and many residences carried the national colors. At Elkland Cemetery, many hundreds gathered during the day to decorate graves in remembrance of their dead. Ideal weather conditions prevailed, and many former residents took advantage of the holiday to attend the exercises and meet old neighbors and acquaintances.

The program at the cemetery commenced promptly at 1:30 p. m. as scheduled. The Cass City High School Band played several selections, the audience sang "America" and Rev. Frank B. Smith, the chairman, offered prayer. He introduced Rev. Stanley P. Kirm as speaker of the day and at the conclusion of the address, the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" to close the program.

Mr. Kirm, in his address, spoke in part as follows:

"Gathering here in the silent city of the Dead, this Memorial Day, 1941, we come to pay reverent and thoughtful tribute of love and respect for these, our honored dead. This custom, a gracious bequest from the past, keeps us mindful of our indebtedness to the heroes of former days, sobers us for the duties of today, and challenges us to a new dedication of life.

"We come gratefully, with no servile and slavish fear causing us to worship the ancestral spirits of our forefathers, but rather in our Christian view of death and of life, giving thanks to the God of all human spirits for the blessings given us by these whose bodies lie here.

"We come in perfect liberty and security, fearing no concentration camp if we speak the name of God, fearing no blackout in our city tonight, fearing no death raining upon us from the skies.

"We come to pay our tribute of honor to heroes of peace and of war.

Won Six Out of Seven Contests; Defeated Only by Pigeon High School.

War Costs Half Briton's Income

Government Now Taking 60 Per Cent of National Turnover, Expert Says.

WASHINGTON.—The British government is now taking nearly 60 per cent of the national income of the United Kingdom, and about 50 per cent of it for war expenditures, according to a review by Thomas R. Wilson of the European section of the finance division, department of commerce, made public.

British tax returns are eight times as great as at the outbreak of the World war, the review states. The basic rate of British income tax is now 42.5 per cent, the highest in the nation's history, and the excess profits tax is in many cases 100 per cent. The British government pays from 2.5 to 3 per cent for the money it borrows.

A 3 per cent rate is paid by the British treasury on seven-year national defense bonds and a 3.17 per cent rate on 10-year national savings certificates not subject to income tax and cashable on short notice. A few months ago the British government floated a seven-year war loan at 2 1/2 per cent.

The estimated deficit for the fiscal year ending March 31, next, is put at $11,200,000,000. Of this, ordinary revenues will cover $5,440,000,000, leaving a deficit of $5,760,000,000. When ordinary expenditure is added, the deficit becomes $8,424,000,000.

British national income for 1939 has been estimated as between $20,000,000,000 and $24,000,000,000. All trades or businesses pay either a 5 per cent national contribution tax, if they are corporations, and 4 per cent if they are not incorporated, or the 10 per cent excess profits tax, whichever is higher. The return from these taxes is estimated this fiscal year to be $280,000,000.

There is a purchase tax of 24 per cent on the retail price of specified luxuries such as furs, real silk, lace, china and toilet preparations, and 12 per cent on the retail price of such goods as clothing, footwear and domestic hollowware.

Since July the London government has been receiving deposits from the clearing and Scottish banks, repayable after six months and bearing 1 1/2 per cent interest.

Investments in U. S.
Gold production in the British empire during the 14 months ended November 30, 1940, is estimated at about $900,000,000 and the dollar assets from its sale in the United States are apparently available to the British government.

It is estimated that at the beginning of the war total British long-term and short-term investments in the United States were worth about $11,872,000,000. During the first year of the war $150,000,000 of United States securities were liquidated on balance and by the end of last October $229,000,000 of dollar balances had been withdrawn.

The British, the review notes, have large investments in other countries, some of which may possibly be liquidated in this country when and if needed.

At the end of 1938 Sir Robert Kindersley, London banker, estimated that British overseas capital investments totaled $3,692,000,000, of which $1,398,000,000 was in government and municipal securities.

Student in Quiz Class

Blitzkrieg a Dachshund
PHILADELPHIA.—German town Friends school conducts an information test every year to determine students' knowledge of the outside world. This year's examination revealed some interesting definitions. They were:

Blitzkrieg—a dachshund.
Ivory Tower—when a person is in love; also, a woman's neck.
Ideology—the study of idiots and the worship of idols to another.
Ferdinand the Bull—Don Quixote.
Skoda—Japanese building.
Author of Kitty Foyle—Darwin.
Ann Sheridan received two votes and Hedy Lamarr one as America's most prominent woman.

Twins Confuse a Judge

At Hearing in Missouri
FLEMINGTON, MO.—Frank and George Poe, 74-year-old identical twins, tell this story about being called to testify in the Ozark town of Hermitage, Mo.
George was the first to get on the stand. He testified and stepped out of the court room. Frank followed him as a witness.
"Here, here," the judge said. "We can't have the same man testifying twice in this trial."
Court-room attendants had to bring George back into the room to convince the judge he was wrong.

5 Brothers Compose Crew on Navy Engine

DETROIT.—It is improbable that any man has given more sons to the navy than Clarence Bodine Sr.
His oldest son, Fred, 30, joined up 12 years ago and since has brought in his four brothers into the complete Bodine contingent.
The brothers comprise the full engine crew of the U. S. S. DuBuque.

In the country store he came across the first mirror he had ever seen.
"I say," he exclaimed, "here's a picture of my granddad. How much do you want for it?"
"Five dollars," said the assistant.
The old man paid the money and started home with the mirror. Getting near, he decided he'd better not let the old lady find he had paid so much for a picture of his granddad, so he hid it in the hayloft. Each day he would go down and spend long minutes with it.
Becoming worried about his long visits to the barn, his wife followed the old man, and, at the first opportunity, took a look into the mirror for herself.
"Oh, yes!" she exclaimed a few minutes later, as she threw a flat-iron at the old man's head: "I see why you spend so much time at the barn—down there lookin' at that hussy's picture!"

QUITE AS MUCH

Very Fat Man (in doorway)—Am I intruding very much?
Thin Speaker—Quite as much as you're protruding, I'd say.

Know Now?

A correspondent endeavors to describe the difference between clerks and managers as follows:
"A clerk is a man who knows a great deal about very little, and who goes on knowing more and more about less and less, until finally he knows everything about practically nothing."
"A manager is a man who knows very little about a great deal and who goes on knowing less and less about more and more until finally he knows nothing about practically everything."

All Too Soon

The couple was married and traveled to the lakes for their honeymoon. As soon as they arrived they took a boat out upon the water.
The following morning the bride's mother got a postcard which read: "Arrived safely. Grand row before supper."
"My!" she muttered. "I didn't think they'd begin quarreling so soon."

THOUGHTS ARE FREE

"I'm thinking about getting married, but dread the amount of money it takes."
"That shouldn't involve any cash at all."
"What getting married shouldn't?"
"No—thinking about it."

Proposal Postponed

He was about to propose, but before doing so he wished to make sure she would make a good housewife. So he asked her: "Can you wash dishes?"
"Yes," she replied sweetly. "Can you wipe them?"

No, Thank You

Business Man—Yes, I advertised for a boy about your size. Do you smoke?
Applicant—No, thanks, but you can blow me to an ice cream soda if you want to.

Clumsy

"When did you hurt your hand, Smithers?"
"Coming home last night from Johnson's party. I'd very nearly reached the house when some clumsy idiot stepped on it."

Should Have Given Warning

"You were very kind to lend me that $10. I feel I can never repay you."
"Eh? Why on earth didn't you say that at first?"

One Reason

Billy—Why do the leaves turn red in autumn?
John—I suppose they are blushing to think how green they've been all summer.

Getting Along

"A telegram from George, dear."
"Well, did he pass the examination this time?"
"No, but he is almost at the top of the list of those who failed."

Declines Freedom, London Tower Is His Chosen Abode

Officer Given Key to Prison With Leave to Come And Go at Will.

LONDON.—A monocled major, who awaited promulgation of a sentence by a court martial on a charge of assaulting an air commodore, declined proffered freedom. He preferred remaining in the Tower of London in quarters to which he was given a key.

He was ordered released after the court martial acquitted him of other charges—feigning infirmity while in active service and behaving in a manner prejudicial to good order and military discipline. The officer concerned is Maj. Alfred David Wintle, 42 years old, native of Russia, described as a member of Britain's First dragoon guards, attached to the Scots guards.

Major Wintle, a slight, dark man with a small mustache, spent many weeks in the tower before his trial, and it was thought he would be kept under guard until promulgation of his sentence.

Instead he was given the key of his quarters, and told he could come and go as he pleased.

He decided to stay on at the tower because, as he told a friend, "I like the place, and the tramp of soldiers' boots is the kind of music I find pleasant."

Trouble With Eyes.

According to Major A. A. H. Marlowe, prosecuting at the court martial, Major Wintle had practically lost the sight of his left eye as the result of a wound suffered in the last war.

On May 7 he was examined by Major Scott, who found that the sight of his right eye was defective. At another examination on June 13, Colonel Mackenzie of the war office medical board found that his sight was almost normal.

It was alleged that Major Wintle told the colonel that at the first examination he consciously limited his vision because he wanted to get out of the army and join the French army.

He was born in Russia and moved shortly afterward to Dunkirk, where his father was in the consular service, and brought up in France before going to the Royal Military academy.

The result was that he could probably talk French better than English and had such a knowledge of French characteristics and character that they were far more ready to impart their secrets to him than to a man they regarded as a foreigner.

After two visits to France in 1939, Major Wintle returned in a depressed state of mind over the chances of the French army.

Because of conversations he had with French officers, and in view of his information he obtained an interview with Sir Edmund Ironside and placed his information before the authorities.

Shuns Holy Land Service.

Early this year he was sent to Edinburgh to the Third cavalry brigade. He received an order to act as draft conducting officer to Palestine. That was a terrible disappointment.

Being depressed, he thought that the British army had no further use for a man with eyesight such as his.

Field Marshal Sir Edmund Ironside was a witness for the defense. He declared that Major Wintle had been "a bit of a nuisance, like many people with guts who want to go and fight."

"It is not easy," added Sir Edmund, "to find jobs for people of that rank."

Prison Mother Starts Life Anew on Big Ranch

CHEYENNE.—Under assumed names, a pretty ex-forgery and her seven-months-old daughter are living on a Wyoming ranch.

Mrs. Opal McKinley, 28 years old, was serving a prison term in Canon City, Colo., for forgery at Douglas, Wyo., when physicians announced the baby's impending arrival. Although sentenced in Wyoming, she was sent to the Colorado prison because the Wyoming penitentiary has no facilities for women.

The Wyoming prison board ruled that the baby would become a ward of the state and it was taken to the state children's home in Casper, pending its adoption.

Immediately Mrs. McKinley launched a movement to keep "what is my own and should not be torn away from me."

Wyoming and Colorado officials finally agreed the baby should not be born in prison.

Following Melissa's birth, Governor Nels Smith granted the mother a pardon.

Rat Trap Set in Store Nabs Big Game—Skunk

ELY, NEV.—The next time Frank Callaway, store keeper at Currant Creek near here, sets a trap in his establishment he's going to make sure it's a rat he's after. His wife thought she heard a rat running about the store one night. So Callaway set a trap. The trap worked fine—but Callaway had to put a wet sack around his nose before he could enter the store and remove the animal.

A changed and startled world faces the graduate of 1941. Youths now completing their scholastic careers find themselves a bit closer to the "top of the world" than their fellows of the past few years.

For while it's a tense, torn world... the very elements that have given it tenseness and that have ripped it apart are responsible for giving this class of 1941 many of its opportunities.

First, long periods of unemployment do not immediately face the graduate. For actual jobs are to be found in defense and allied industries. There is the career military, the skilled trade and general upswing in employment to welcome the newcomer. That's the big thing most graduates of recent years have had to worry about... finding jobs. Now the jobs are here. Men Wanted... Women Wanted... Help Wanted. And getting these jobs, graduates find themselves a bit further up the proverbial ladder that leads (as the artist's conception here shows it) to the "top" and to "success."

Then, too, the very discouraging aspect of civilization, 1941 style, with its wars, its aggressions and its unholy thirst for power on the part of some nations and individuals, offers to the graduates a challenge. A challenge to do great good, to repair devastated lands and to build anew.

So, graduates of '41... find work for your hands in helping to shape a new America; a new democracy and a new world; and find work for your heart in the supreme effort to restore high human ideals.

Thus will the "top of the world" be reached, and thus will "Success" mark your path.

room and thirty-three were present and did full justice to the bounteous dinner. Following the dinner, bridge was played and Miss Clara won the prize. Miss Bailey and Miss Richards each received a gift.

In the vote of Tuscola farmers taken Saturday on the 1941 wheat marketing question, 146 voted "yes" favoring the quota and 58 opposed it with a "no" vote.

Fifty-two members of the senior class returned from an enjoyable lake trip Sunday. Alex Nemeth will give an account of the trip as a number of the Class Night program next Tuesday.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed on Memorial Day at the Presbyterian manse when Rev. W. H. Hastings and his mother, Mrs. C. W. Hastings, entertained the Presbyterian ministers of the Thumb district and members of their families. Eighteen persons were present.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Joos on Decoration Day were Mr. and Mrs. Steven Jezewski and family of Detroit, Mrs. Mary Crocker and sons, Fred and Henry, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hartman and daughter, Ellen, all of Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Joos and Louis Crocker.

Six young people of Tuscola County will attend the Leadership Training Camp at Walden Woods near Hartland, sponsored by the 4-H Club department of Michigan State College. They are: Joy McGinnis, Millington; Alice Galloway, Unionville; Arlene Rayl, Fairgrove; Dorothy and Don Harrington, Akron; and Foster Hickey, Fairgrove. H. D. Parish of Fairgrove, district club agent, will accompany the group.

war; the veterans of the Civil War who went forth to keep this nation undivided, and gave their last full measure of devotion to help lift the load of slavery from the backs of four million slaves. Their thinning ranks are now being filled in our affection and love by the veterans of our national wars, who counted not life dear unto themselves but gave their all for the ideals of our nation and for the principles represented by Old Glory.

"We remember also the heroes of peace, pioneers who crossed the ocean, pushed back the frontiers, conquered the wilderness, carved out for their posterity these broad farms and this great civilization we Americans justly love. What we have we owe to them. They laid well the foundations of our national life; we need today to put their spirit of self sacrifice, their noble idealism, their homespun common sense and thrift, into our modern life. We may smile at their simple ways of living, but we need more of their rugged qualities of character and morality. We cannot pioneer as did they; we cannot serve our nation as the soldiers of old; but we may pioneer in that realm of human values, social betterment, moral and spiritual living; helping in our day to build a more abiding civilization upon the foundations they so nobly laid.

"Today calls us to a new dedication of our lives. To the preservation of our American liberties, the bill of rights which lie at the heart of our democracy, freedom of speech, of conscience, of the press, the right of free assemblage; these are our priceless inheritance, and in a time of war-fear and hysteria we must preserve them at all costs. Though we may agree to differ, we must resolve to love and give to every American citizen these rights purchased for us and for them on the battlefields of war.

"We must dedicate our lives to solve the problems yet before us; such as war, crime, disease and poverty, the problems of the migrants, the underprivileged, the unschooled, and the unchurched which we still have by the thousands. We must use the benefits of this mechanical and technological civilization for the enhancement of human values, and for social good and true spiritual progress.

"We must dedicate our lives to the cause of peace and brotherhood throughout the earth. War is Hell. It is of the Devil's Brew. It is a senseless and costly way of solving human problems. We paid $30,000,000 to kill each man in the last 'preliminary' world war. If there is glory and value in slaying human beings, we ought to do it cheaper than war does it. War creates hate and fosters the seeds of future wars. If we wish peace, we must prepare for peace, talk peace, live peace, and pay the price of peace. We need the spirit of Jesus Christ to help us conquer war, and maintain friendship among the nations. Today, when war is so ominously near to us, we are challenged anew to give ourselves to the cause of world peace, as nobly and sacrificially as those heroes of peace and war gave to the tasks of former generations.

"For there is a better way for the nations, a way, when 'all men's good is each man's rule and universal peace lies like a shaft of light across the land and like a lane of beams athwart the sea through all the circle of the Golden Year.'"

MICHIGAN'S remarkable diversity of interests is told and pictured in an absorbing story under the title, "Michigan—A Guide to the Wolverine State," a unique book written by workers assigned to the Michigan WPA Writers' Project. It took several years to compile the information contained in the 675-page book which has nearly 300,000 words and 100 photographic illustrations. Included is a full account of Michigan's progress from its beginning to the present, together with material of interest to the tourist, the traveler, student, as well as the casual reader. Scenes above, taken from the book, illustrate in part Michigan's place in the economic and social progress of the State. The book should be a boon to Michigan's second industry, the tourist trade, which now totals more than 350 million dollars annually. Upper left, Michigan cherries are famous throughout the world; upper right, the "Soo" canal, of vital importance to our nation's defense program. More tonnage passes annually through its locks than through the Panama, Suez and Kiel canals combined; center, automobile plants are geared for high-speed production of armament equipment; lower left, the "katydid," a contrivance for hauling logs used in lumbering days is one of the many historical pictures found in the book; lower right, a Grand Rapids furniture craftsman retains his skill at wood carving on a WPA project.

The process of engraving by which incised lines are produced by the use of a corrosive fluid is called etching.

How to keep Cool with ELECTRIC HOT WATER

JUST TURN the faucet. That's all there is to it—with electric hot water.

Think what that means on the farm! It means an end to building fires to heat water, an end to lifting buckets onto a stove top. No more working in an unhealthfully overheated kitchen.

With electric water heating the heat stays in the water. The surrounding air is not heated. Note that Mrs. Alexander Dykes, Marathon Township, Lapeer County, has her 80-gallon electric water heater installed next to her refrigerator.

Mrs. Dykes says that her total electric bill, including water heating, is not much more now than when she had to use her electric range for heating water. But now Mrs. Dykes and her family of six have hot water whenever they want it, without waiting.

Your dealer will be glad to show you the new automatic electric water heaters. Or for complete information, call the Edison Farm Service man.
