

McLellan Will Erect Butter Mfg. Building 36x90

Landmark Is Being Dismantled to Make Room for the New Structure.

M. C. McLellan is making preparations to erect a modern building of cement blocks at the corner of Main and Maple Streets, 36 by 90 feet in size, which will be one-story in height, and will contain his creamery and office. Because he has long been hampered by lack of room in his butter manufacturing plant is the reason for the new structure. After the creamery is erected and the butter manufacturing equipment moved therein, the chick hatchery equipment owned by Mr. McLellan will be housed in the building now used by his creamery.

Henry VanNorman has purchased the building on the corner owned by Mr. McLellan and started Monday in dismantling the structure. Eight inch square sills and joists 2x10 are specimens of the fine pine lumber in this section of the Thumb in the early eighties. Mr. and Mrs. VanNorman will use this lumber in erecting a residence on their land a half mile south of Shabbona. It will replace their house which was destroyed by fire over a year ago.

The building to the east of that purchased by the VanNormans will also be torn down. Mr. McLellan and his crew of workmen started dismantling this on Monday.

The building purchased by Mr. VanNorman is one of the landmarks of Cass City. B. F. Benkelman, Sr., who bought and sold it three times says it was erected in the early eighties. It has been used as a millinery store, residence, monument works and second hand store. The store now occupied by the McLellan Creamery was erected in 1878 by Samuel Benkelman for T. Harmon Hunt, pioneer merchant. He selected this site because it was across from the grist mill which had been erected here in the late seventies. Mr. Benkelman succeeded Mr. Hunt as owner of the store and general merchandise business.

Seven Who Served Tuscola as Clerks Posed for Picture

While several county officers have been elected for more than two terms, Tuscola voters have changed county clerks every four years in the last 32 years. Nine citizens have served the county in that position in that period of time.

Monday, Robert P. Reavey of Lansing, came to Caro and seven of the nine county clerks posed for a group picture.

Mr. Reavey, who commenced his term of office in 1909, was succeeded in 1913 by Robert Brown. Frank Bowles followed in 1917, Guy Hill in 1921, William G. Hurley in 1925, Guy N. Ormes in 1929, S. W. Morrison in 1933, Clare W. Horning in 1937 and Ernest Haas, present clerk, in 1941.

In the group picture are: Mr. Reavey of Lansing, Messrs. Brown, Bowles and Hill of Caro, Mr. Morrison of Mayville, Mr. Horning of Fostoria and Mr. Haas. Mr. Hurley of Fairgrove was unable to come for the picture taking and Mr. Ormes is the only one of the nine who has answered death's call.

Recruitment of Workers for the Defense Industries

Does Tuscola County have a surplus of labor? Are there any individuals in the county who are seeking employment? Answers to these questions will be sought by the Michigan State Employment Service next week, when a staff of interviewers will be at the Court House in Caro to accept application from all Tuscola County men and women who want work.

The Michigan State Employment Service has been designated by the National Defense Council as the state agency responsible for the recruitment of workers for defense industries, and Tuscola County has been selected as the first county in the state in which an exploration will be made of possible labor surplus.

James P. Dendy, manager of the Bay City office of the Employment Service, and O. K. Fjelland, area supervisor, who are in charge of arrangements for the registration of applicants, were in Cass City Monday. They stated that the labor stringency in the defense industries was becoming acute and that every possible source of labor was being explored.

"Any person seeking employment, whether skilled or unskilled, should register," said Mr. Dendy. "Training opportunities are being afforded those who have aptitude for industrial employment, and who have not had the opportunity to develop their natural abilities, while jobs are immediately available to those who are qualified. Women, as well as men, are wanted. The age range is 18 years and up."

Jobs for which workers are being sought are principally in the defense plants in Detroit, Saginaw, Bay City and Flint, but many openings exist in other parts of the state and in other states.

Condensery Workmen Take Preliminary Steps to Form Union

Preliminary steps were taken at two meetings of employees of the Nestle's Milk Product, Inc., of Cass City within the past ten days to form a local unit of the Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' Union. It is anticipated that negotiations will be commenced soon between the business agent of the union and representatives of the company.

The Nestle's Company has not taken an attitude opposing unions, a representative of the company says. It has union plants in its string of condenseries, but they are in the minority.

Draft Lottery Date Has Been Set for Thursday, July 17

Induction System of New Registrants and First Enrollees Is Explained.

The lottery for newly registered men of 21 will be held at Washington July 17 and a total of 750 numbers will be drawn.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson will be invited to draw the first number from the same glass jar out of which thousands of numbers were taken in the draft lottery last October when priorities for service were determined among 16,500,000 registrants.

As the numbers are drawn out of the capsules they will be read aloud and entered on a master list. As soon as possible after the drawing is completed copies of this list will be furnished to the country's 6,500 selective service boards for their guidance in integrating the latest group of registrants among the men already on their rolls.

After the July 1 registration the cards of the new registrants were shuffled and a registration number written on each, ranging from one to the highest number registered in each district.

Numbers corresponding to these will be drawn in the lottery. If the first number drawn, for instance, is 47, then the man in each of the districts holding 47 will be assigned "Sequence No. 1." All the men holding the second number drawn will be assigned "S-2," and so on until all registrants in each district have sequence numbers. That will determine the order of the new registrants among themselves.

Their integration among the registrants already on the rolls will be figured on a mathematical basis, with each man's place on the list depending on the proportion of new registrants to hold-overs in each district.

Officials explained the system, using as example a district with 2,000 old men on the rolls and 200 new ones to be integrated. In that instance there would be 10 old men for every new one. The man holding "S-1" would be placed after the first group of 10 old men; S-2, after the second group and so on until the last man on the list would be S-200.

In Tuscola County, the local board registered 133 men and 16 transfers from other registration points brought the total enrollment of July 1 of 21-year-old men to 199. Transfer registrations made here to other local boards numbered eight and the Tuscola board has added three delayed registrations, making a final total of 194.

In the first registration in Tuscola County last October, the names of 4,175 men were enrolled.

The young people greatly enjoyed a fine program of sports arranged by the sports committee. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Leonard McLean; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Hene Fulcher and Blanche Vaden; program committee, Mrs. Claude Kary and James McLean, Jr.; sports committee, Fred Cole and Lawrence McLean; refreshment committee, Mrs. Catherine McDonald and Alice McKeen; historians, Mrs. Blanche Rotter and Blanche McLean.

Tuscola Lads Enjoyed Wolverine Boys' State

Irl Baguley of Caro, at the Rotary Club luncheon at the Hotel Gordon here Tuesday noon, said that the Wolverine Boys' State is the best foundation for future good for boys, the state and the Legion. Education, he said, is the surest way of combating foreign isms.

Mr. Baguley's remarks preceded the talks of Lewis Caister of Cass City and Harold Johnson, "Bill" Kincaid and Richard Walker, all of Caro, who were Tuscola County's representatives at the Wolverine Boys' State at East Lansing where 996 boys of Michigan gathered recently. The four lads told of the activities of the large group at the state convalesce and were enthusiastic over their experiences there.

Mr. Baguley represented the American Legion of the county, who made the arrangements for the four boys to attend.

Vacation School Opens at St. Pancratius Catholic Church

For the seventh consecutive year, Rev. Edward Werm, D. D., pastor of St. Pancratius Catholic Church here, invited the Felician Sisters of Detroit, to conduct the four-week vacation school at the parish church. The names of the Sisters present this year are: Sister Mary Cantia, Sister Mary Constance and Sister Mary Respicia. This is the sixth year in succession that Sister Mary Constance is in Cass City, where she really feels at home among her many years' acquaintances. Her best friend and partner, Sister Mary Julia, who at present is in Washington, D. C., for a six-week summer course, is very much missed by both students and friends. All hope to have her soon here again. The Nuns as usual are enjoying the hospitality of Miss Sarah McDonald, who really makes her little place a real home for the Sisters.

The vacation school opened Monday morning at 9:00 with a mass said by the Rev. Pastor for the intention of all attending the vacation school. Thirty-six smiling, eager faces met the Nuns at the church and regular classes began, lasting till 12:00 noon. A few more are expected to join the classes a little later, increasing the number to about fifty. Regular evening classes for the Sodality members, high school students, and choir members will open Thursday, July 10, at 8:00 p. m. A nice group of at least 20 young people is expected to enroll.

The vacation school is two weeks later this year because Sister Mary Constance accompanied students from Detroit high schools to the Catholic Student Mission Crusade at Rochester, New York. The party of 52 left Detroit by boat for Buffalo and spent one-half day at Niagara Falls, going by train to Rochester.

Miss Ruth Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mills, of Crosswell and Kent Parrott, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Parrott, of Cass City were married Saturday afternoon at 2:00 in the presence of 60 guests at the Crosswell Methodist Church which was beautifully decorated with several baskets and vases of blue delphinium, pink roses, white lilies, peach gladioli and baby's breath, arranged with palms and lighted candelabra.

The service was read by Rev. George Marshall of Port Huron. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a floor-length white lace and ruffle trim organdy gown with a finger-tip veil falling from a lace diara. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, white beebombs and gardenias, tied with rows and streamers of white brocade ribbon.

Miss Helen King of Flushing, maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of blue figured organdy. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, pink and white beebombs and wore a halo in her hair of blue and white flowers.

Miss Mary McTaggart of Port Huron, bridesmaid, wore a floor-length gown of pink lace net. Her bouquet was pink rosebuds and white and pink beebombs. She also wore a halo of pink and white flowers.

The groom was attended by Don Schell of Cass City. Ushers were Don Talmadge of Sandusky and Robert Mills, brother of the bride. Music was played by Miss Gladys Turrell of Crosswell and Miss Helen Talmadge of Sandusky sang, "O Promise Me" and "Believe Me."

After the ceremony, a reception was held and a buffet luncheon served at the home of the bride's parents.

The young couple left on a trip to different points of interest in the East.

"Adhesive" Duck Is Strong and Healthy, Believe It or Not

Eggs hatched under a duck are moistened by the fowl when she returns to the nest from an occasional swim or dip during the hatching season. Duck eggs hatched in an incubator or under a hen must be sprinkled with water several times during the incubation period else the shell of the egg becomes too hard to hatch.

Mrs. Vern Welch of Greenleaf Township accidentally dropped a duck egg while engaged in moistening several which a bantam hen was endeavoring to hatch. The white of the egg started to run out of the shell after its fall and Mr. Welch was considerably amused when Mrs. Welch "healed" the injury with a piece of adhesive tape. "Useless procedure" he thought even if he didn't express that opinion.

Believe it or not, of the 32 duck eggs planted under hens by the Welchs, only two produced ducks and the taped egg was one of them. Mr. Welch brought the "adhesive" duck to Cass City for exhibition Tuesday morning. It's a strong and healthy specimen.

Nearly $400.00 Were Assessed in Fines and Costs over the Fourth

Nearly $400.00 were collected in fines and costs from nine Fourth of July celebrants who apparently imbibed too freely and paid that amount at justice court hearings.

Three were arrested for driving while intoxicated and paid fines and costs ranging from $50 to $75 and six were disorderly and their assessments ranged from $19.45 to $55.55.

William Dean, 35, of Gilford was the heaviest contributor in dollars and cents to the county fund. Arrested by Sheriff Homer Hillaker for driving while intoxicated he paid a $75 fine and $8.85 costs.

Manuel Ramirez, 28, of Bach and Alfred Putman, 48, of Caro were arrested on similar charges. Each man paid a $50 fine and $9.45 costs.

Douglas Larkins, 27, of Pontiac and Fred Gyens, 21, of Caro were charged with fighting at the Van-Winkle Tavern near Caro. Justice St. Mary assessed each one a $50 fine and $5.55 costs.

Four others arrested on drunk and disorderly charges were given smaller sums to pay, each amount being $19.45.

Lansing—Headlines of Michigan newspapers continue to reflect the crazy-quilt pattern of 1941 history. We are truly living in a fast-moving, almost unpredictable year.

Away in Canada for a week (equivalent to a month in any normal year), we returned home to find a stack of newspapers a foot high in the library. Armed with scissors, we buried ourselves for an evening and finally emerged with clippings about Michigan events which, six months ago, would have been regarded as near impossibilities. Here are a few of them:

Ford Motor Company, arch foe of the C. I. O. and famed independent among Michigan automobile manufacturers, outdoes all rivals with an "all-out" contract providing for automatic deduction of C. I. O. dues from Ford Company employees and a closed shop.

Here was an event that merited the word "impossibility," if any one event ever could. Furthermore, Harry Bennett, who hailed the C. I. O. election as a victory for communists and Governor Van Wagoner, sat down with labor chieftains as meek as a well-fed lamb. Talk about news!

Arbitration

Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner proposes arbitration of deadlocked industrial disputes and also advocates a 30-day "cooling off" period for application of mediation.

"I think the overwhelming majority of workers and employers realize today the need for halting defense strikes, and will support some workable method of cooperation that calls for equal sacrifices, and that will not make the state supreme over both management and labor."

The governor declared that management and labor must make the choice between the alternatives of "cooperation with the government for defense" and "domination by government for defense."

As this column pointed out on June 5, "Michigan's own arsenal of democracy faces the choice of solving its own problems by voluntary cooperation or of being conscripted by a government that has become temporarily totalitarian in its methods. Either we will volunteer to sacrifice our own liberties, or we will be conscripted by the government to do so."

Right to Strike

This sacrifice of the right to strike in national defense industries, as proposed by Governor Van Wagoner, is a significant turn in Michigan labor relations.

If the Michigan governor had intimated his four-point plan to legislators during the 1941 session, labor leaders would have condemned it with righteous indignation as a "betrayal of labor" and other stereotyped phrases.

Yet this idea of having industrial disputes submitted to arbitration, and a 30-day period established for reaching the arbitration verdict, is accepted by the man on the street as being good common sense in view of the national emergency. We doubt that labor leaders will hail it enthusiastically.

State Deficit

The 1941 business boom in Michigan has come to the rescue of the state treasury's bookkeeping deficit, incurred during the Murphy administration to finance welfare payments.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, whose traditional pessimism about fiscal affairs is well known, announced happily that the deficit of close to 30 millions has been cut in half.

As spending mounts, sales taxes accumulate. Consumption of liquor and beer is bringing additional hundreds of thousands in revenue to the state coffers.

Why? All because of business condition, inflated by national defense contracts. Between July 1, 1940 and May 31, 1941, Michigan industrial firms were allocated $845,000,000 in defense contracts—a total equal to more than 27 per cent of Michigan's entire income in 1940! Since May 31 the awarding of additional contracts has swelled the grand total to the billion dollar mark. More pieces for the 1941 crazy-quilt.

Salary Increases

It was not so long ago that a Michigan governor opposed salary increases for state employees.

Now the minimum monthly wage for state employees has been fixed by the civil service commission at $100 for an additional cost of $2,500,000 a year.

The "impossibility" of a state official opposing payment of a salary increase to himself is also on the 1941 record. Auditor General Brown has declined to approve vouchers which would have added $2,500 a year to his salary and the salaries of other administrative state officials. Why? The state constitution clearly says that salaries of incumbents cannot be increased during their terms, the auditor general holds.

Attorney General Herbert K. Rushton, also a beneficiary, rivalled Solomon with an opinion that since Brown wouldn't honor the vouchers until the state supreme court ordered him to do so, any opinion from him would be futile. The governor cracked to the effect that there was always some guy like Brown in every crowd. We hope so.

Corrections

Hot weather errors are hereby corrected:

Our reference to oil production in Michigan should have been in millions, not billions. We, too, are getting dizzy from Washington's spending.

The French population in Canada is three millions out of eleven million, although the French form three-fourths of the population of the province of Quebec.

Livestock Care Prevents Losses

Livestock loss prevention, always a vital subject, assumes double significance today due to the present price of livestock and the demand for food products by our own people and those of the British Isles.

Losses from death in transit, bruising and crippling of livestock, is approximately $14,000,000 annually, comments G. A. Brown, head of the Michigan State College animal husbandry department. Death losses enroute to market are in large part preventable. Livestock, especially hogs, should be maintained in the open with abundance of exercise in order to make them rugged and the stock should be fed lightly before loading.

If possible load early in the morning or late in the evening. Avoid handling or shipping during the heat of the day. Insist that either truck or cars be bedded with sand or cinders to prevent slipping and injury.

When shipping hogs in carload lots at this time of the year losses may often be prevented by hanging cakes of ice near the ceiling of the car. In shipping by truck a shade should be provided over the animals and if the load is heavy a cake of ice placed on the floor of the truck will often save an animal.

Losses from bruising are greater than those from death. Animals must be handled carefully using a slap jack rather than a stick or club. Where available an electric prod is persuasive and non-injurious. Each class of livestock should be separated by partitions in the truck or car. Protruding bolts, nails or hooks often result in injury. With double deck loads, the upper deck needs to be high enough to avoid injury of animals placed under it. A frequent cause of loss occurs from over-loading or overcrowding and placing together animals varying considerably in size. It is sometimes equally important to pen off a large sow or boar as it is to separate pigs from sheep.

Don't take my WORD for it!

FRANK COLBY BOCHE
Noun. A French slang name for the German soldier.

During the first World war the term "boche" was widely used by the Allies. The French, especially, applied the name to German soldiers as an epithet of contempt.

It is said that "boche" is an abbreviation of the French word ca-boche, meaning hard head; hence, the "boche" is a stubborn, hard-headed fellow.

(Soldiers of the American and Canadian Expeditionary Forces preferred to speak of the Germans as Heinies.)

Dictionaries differ as to the vowel sound in boche. It is shown with the long "o" of toe, the "ah" sound of botany, the "aw" sound of bawl, and the "uh" sound of bust: boesh, bahsh, bawsh, buhsh.

Question: What does dramatis personae mean and how are the words pronounced? L.

Today, dramatis personae is the cast of characters in a play. The word personae originally meant a mask, as used by players in the vast unroofed theaters of Greece and Rome. The characters in a given play were referred to as the "masks" (personae) of the drama, hence, dramatis personae.

Correct pronunciations:
DRAM-uh-tiss
per-SOE-nee
(Capitals indicate syllables to be accented.)

We Suggest: "The Summer Roast"

A pot roast, for example, can be prepared in the cool of the morning and served hot or cold at the evening meal.

With modern ovens and the new low-temperature cooking methods, a tasty pot roast is easy to prepare for the oven, requires practically no watching, and does not heat the kitchen. Big roasts provide left-overs for cold cuts, sandwiches and quick-to-prepare dishes.

Half a Cake

Cake baking for the small family can be done by using half the amount of the recipe and baking in regular-sized layer-cake pans. When cool, cut in halves and frost as usual.

by Lynn Chambers

... AND SO THEY ARE MARRIED
(See Recipes Below.)

AFTER THE 'I DO'S'

Intermittent glances at the third finger of your left hand, as you leave the church and hurry homeward to greet guests, remind you that you're a "Mrs." now . . . and you're never been so happy!

You're too thrilled and excited to even think about food, but friends and relatives and your new husband, especially, are more than likely eager to partake of the very distinctive refreshments that "Mom" has spent weeks planning.

And later when you recall the wedding reception, if details have been worked out sanely and carefully beforehand, you'll know that yours was an extra special after-wedding party.

Dainty rolled asparagus sandwiches and a luscious peach shortcake, with an iced or hot beverage, are sure to satisfy gay young appetites, as well as appeal to the elders' taste for "something different."

Deck the table with fresh flowers. A fitting centerpiece is a replica of the bride's bouquet . . . one exactly like that which she carried to the altar. A sophisticated crepe paper bridal couple will complete the table decorations.

Asparagus Rolled Sandwiches.
Remove crusts from a loaf of sandwich bread and cut in one-fourth inch lengthwise slices. Butter slices and cut in half. In each piece, place a stalk of asparagus. Roll bread carefully, pressing well along buttered edge to hold it securely. Sprinkle asparagus with a little salt and paprika before rolling bread, if desired.

The number of sandwich loaves and the amount of asparagus tips you will need will, of course, depend upon the length of your guest list.

Peach Shortcake.

3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 quarts sliced peaches, sweetened

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening; add milk all at once and stir carefully until all flour is dampened. Then stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough and follows spoon around bowl. Turn out immediately on slightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll one-fourth inch thick. Place half in ungreased round cake pan; brush with melted butter. Place remaining half on top and butter top well. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Separate, spread bottom half with soft butter and some of peaches. Place other half on top. Spread with butter and remaining peaches; garnish with whipped cream. Cut into individual servings. Serves 8. Other fresh fruits may be substituted for peaches.

There is an old tradition that the luckiest sort of bride's cake is one baked in a ring—symbolic, like the gold band that is slipped on her finger.

LYNN SAYS:

In regard to after-wedding parties, plan a menu that's simple and easy to serve, yet appetizing and delicious to eat.

Since the proverbial color scheme for the bride's table is green and white, plan to use white flowers for the centerpiece; if candles are used, they may be white or green.

It is customary for the bride to throw her bouquet to her attendants prior to her departure on the wedding trip.

Share the excitement and emotional strain will undoubtedly unsettle the bride, she'll not be able to thoroughly enjoy her own reception. For that reason, a piece of the cake should be cut and wrapped for the couple to take with them on their honeymoon. The table decorations should be saved for her to have on her return.

NOW YOU'RE A WIFE

... And the business of cooking for two begins! Feeding your husband will be an important part of your new life—really essential to the smooth sailing of the ship of matrimony. So next week Lynn will devote her entire column to recipes that will help you "hol dyour man." They'll be simple enough for the beginner, too.

finger for the first time at her wedding, of the endless quality of true love. This cake is cut by the bride and served to the guests as part of the wedding feast, and is quite different from the rich fruit cake that is given to the guests to carry away. It is a light cake, like a white cake or sponge cake, and is frosted with all the curlicues and rosettes that the home cook can manage.

This cake brings luck to the guests, for it contains a ring, a coin and a key—signifying marriage, wealth and happiness to those who find them. If you haven't a ring-shaped pan, you can bake the cake in an angel-food cake pan or in an ordinary cake pan, with the ring outlined in contrasting frosting. The bride's and bridegroom's initials in contrasting frosting may be used for further decoration.

Bride's Cake.

1 cup sifted cake flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup (8 to 10) egg whites
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 1/4 cups sifted granulated sugar
3/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
Sift flour once, measure and sift four more times. Beat egg whites and salt with flat whisk. When foamy add cream of tartar and continue beating until eggs are stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Fold in sugar carefully, 2 tablespoons at a time, until all is used. Fold in flavoring. Then sift small amount of flour over mixture and fold in carefully; continue until all is used. Pour batter into ungreased angel-food cake pan or ring-shaped pan and bake in a slow oven. Begin at 275 degrees F. After 30 minutes increase heat slightly (325 degrees); bake 30 minutes more. Remove from oven; invert pan 1 hour.

Marshmallow Frosting.
1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
4 marshmallows
1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' (4X) sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cook sweetened condensed milk and quartered marshmallows in top of double boiler until marshmallows are melted. Remove from fire, add confectioners' sugar gradually, beating until smooth and creamy. Add vanilla. May be spread on cake while warm. This frosting covers tops of two 9-inch layers or top and sides of ring-shaped cake or about 18 cup cakes.

Butter Frosting.
1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 3/4 cups sifted confectioners' (4x) sugar (about)
Cream sweetened condensed milk and butter together. Add vanilla, blending well. Add sifted confectioners' sugar gradually, beating until smooth and light in color. This frosting may be tinted any color by addition of a speck of food coloring. Pale tints are most attractive. Spread on cold cake. Makes enough frosting to cover tops of two 9-inch layers or top and sides of ring-shaped cake, or about 24 cup cakes. Make the letters of corresponding or contrasting frosting by means of a pastry tube.

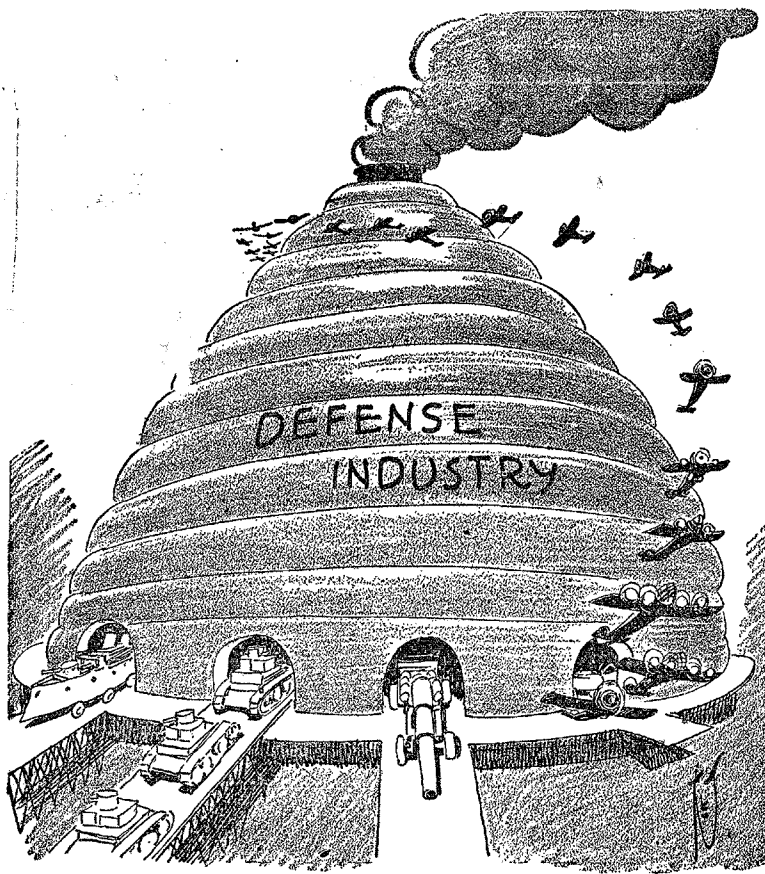

If you plan a wedding breakfast, instead of an afternoon or evening reception, include something hot and something cold for the main course, a beverage, ice and wedding cake, of course. Here's my menu suggestion:

Turkey a la King in Timbale Cases
Potato Croquettes
Baking Powder Biscuits
Ripe and Stuffed Olives
Ice Cream
Petits Fours Coffee

Humming

Oak Bluff Breezes.

Probably the largest crowd of people were here over the three-day holiday that this place has ever seen. Nearly all cottages were open and were filled with members and their guests.

The annual stockholders' meeting was held at the Maxwell cottage Saturday afternoon. Twenty-three members were either present or represented by proxies and a very harmonious and pleasant meeting was held. Alex Maxwell, Charles Sturm, C. R. Todd, A. J. Knapp, H. L. Ballard and G. H. Burke were chosen as directors. Mr. Sandham and Mrs. Hitchcock were accepted as new members.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hutchinson returned Tuesday from Detroit where both accepted teaching positions for the coming school year. Mr. Hutchinson will be principal in the Garden City Schools near Dearborn and Mrs. Hutchinson will have charge of one of the Wayne County Model Schools.

A group of six held a potluck supper around the Wilson grill on Saturday evening sponsored by the McCoy and McIntyre families and honoring Mr. and Mrs. James Ballard, the newly-weds. Afterwards Mr. Todd entertained by showing his colored picture slides of Caseville, Grosse Pointe, New York City, Mount Vernon and Washington. These were all taken the past year and are very professional views.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McKenzie of Kalamazoo were guests at the Knapp cottage over the holiday. Mr. McKenzie stated that his first trip to Oak Bluff was 54 years ago. He was careful not to state his age at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Corpron occupied the G. L. Hitchcock cottage from Friday until Sunday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Wickware were here for three days and will return the 18th for a six-week stay. The "Rhumb" belt no doubt will change hands several times during that period.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Todd of Grosse Pointe Farms opened their cottage this week and will probably return for most of the week-ends during the summer. Mr. Todd is a Packard official.

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Higgins of Detroit were Sunday guests at the Higgins cottage.

Mrs. Grace Ketchum had as her holiday guests Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ketchum and son, Thad. Mrs. Ketchum will return for a month's vacation in August.

Myrtle Holmes, who has been unable to be here much this season, has now opened her cottage for the rest of the summer.

J. A. Sandham is painting and reconditioning the cottage which he recently purchased from Mr. Lockwood.

Miss Margaret McKenzie of Kalamazoo is visiting Mrs. Hitchcock and will remain for several days.

Mrs. Mary Holcomb and daughter, Dorothy, and Ed Hertel of Lansing were here Saturday night and Sunday in the Knapp cottage.

Give Better Service

New tea towels, cleaning cloths and the like give better service if they are soaked an hour in soapy water and then rinsed out in clear water before they are used. This softens them and makes them absorbent.

Chinese Tongs

Certain Chinese societies are called tongs because it refers to the living room of a Chinese house and was probably applied to the societies because they originally met in the houses of the members.

Gives Extra Flavor

Currant jelly spread over roast lamb during the last 20 minutes of the cooking gives extra flavor and glaze. Beat up half a cup of jelly with a fork and spread over the cooking meat.

Mrs. G. W. Robinson received word on the evening of June 25 that her mother, Mrs. Anna Schatz, of Sears, Michigan, was not expected to live. She left for Sears at once, arriving there at 10:30 a. m., and found her mother unconscious. She died that afternoon at five-twenty, of a heart ailment. Her remains were taken to Evert and her funeral was held in the Keppe Chapel there. Interment was beside her husband in Hillcrest Cemetery at Evert on June 28.

In memory of Brother John Wesley Webber, who died July 5, 1941.

Once again a Brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem and hath received as his reward, the white stone with the new name written thereon.

Looking Backward at Events That Happened 25 and 35 Years Ago

Twenty-five Years Ago, July 14, 1916.

Mrs. Lee Doerr, who was so badly injured in rescuing her son when their home burned July 4, died at Argyle July 10, five days after the death of her little child.

The past two weeks of arid weather have been the cause of a severe test on the municipal water-works plant. It has been the first time the new wells have been subject to the rigors of a dry period and at times during the evening sprinkling hours they were lifting water from 22 to 23 feet. At these times 350 gallons were being pumped every minute for use in the village.

Rev. W. F. Zander has accepted a call from the Cass City Baptist Church as pastor.

Besides the five members of the board of education and the school janitor, only seven persons attended the annual school meeting in District No. 5, f. l., Elkland, Monday evening. B. F. Benkelman and H. F. Lenzner were elected trustees to succeed themselves. The latter requested that he be relieved of his duties and the request was granted. John McLarty was then elected to the office.

Rev. A. M. Stirtan returned from Plain City, Ohio, recently and has concluded to devote his time to farming. He has settled on the farm of his father near Beaulieu.

Kitchen "Hikes" Cut by Planning

There's a little less mileage being recorded in hundreds of rural kitchens in Michigan, due to some forethought.

Anecdotes of Michigan kitchens on parade are provided by Margaret Harris, assistant state home demonstration leader on the Michigan State College staff.

In one county a woman moved the vanilla bottle and now saves 17 steps every time she bakes a cake. Another housewife found she reduced her tours across the kitchen by two trips a day. All she did was to move the wax paper nearer to the place where she packed her husband's lunch pail.

In Chippewa County near the famous Soo locks a tour recently drew 150 persons to see some of the timesavers utilized in a series of kitchens.

Specialists and county extension service agents of the college have assisted in the time and travel-savers. Farm families have done much of their own planning and in many cases their own work even to the extent of plastering.

On the Chippewa County tour, the kitchens of the Wesley Shepards and the Robert Burchills were included. The first was planned even to improvements in outside landscaping. The old kitchen and the dining room now have become a modern kitchen, utility room, bathroom, entrance and four closets.

In the Burchill home the kitchen cupboards now extend to the ceiling to eliminate dust catchers. Linoleum covers the work tables.

Within the county, 47 families added shelves to cupboards, 52 built more convenient drawer space, 45 provided additional work-table space and 61 families made other cupboard improvements. Paint and curtains were utilized by 213 families.

DOESN'T HAVE TO BE FOR YOU!

This kind of Saturday night bath was good enough for grandma. It had to be.

But today running water—HOT as well as cold—brings new standards of health and cleanliness, thanks to low-cost electric service.

All the water needed on an average farm is pumped and delivered by electricity for less than $1.00 a month.

All the HOT water used by the average farm household—60 gallons of piping hot water every day—is supplied automatically for $3.06 a month. Thirty gallons of electric hot water costs $1.98; 80 gallons $3.78.

Is your family enjoying the carefree convenience of hot and cold running water? Your dealer or the Detroit Edison Farm Service man will be glad to show you how easy it is to have automatic electric hot water and a modern water system on your farm.

Women Drivers Careful Buyers

When a woman buys a motor car she is far more critical than a man of the car's interior. Not only does the woman automobile buyer demand beauty and durability in the upholstery fabrics, she also insists on material that will be easy on the clothes and easy to clean.

Hemlines Finished In Novel DesignsRuching and Scallops Are Decoration Motifs.By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Hemlines are to be "eye-catchers"—watch for them! Let's talk about the artful way designers are finishing hemlines. One of the new treatments is to outline the skirt hem with a tiny ruching made of the material of the gown.

Another way to finish a hemline is with scallops. Many of the smartest new redingotes are scalloped along the front edges. It's a new fashion, too, to line flaring hemlines with a contrasting color.

The latest "wrinkle" is to soften the edges of the new wide brims of hats.

This is done in various ways. Many of the huge straws have their brims bound with wide ribbon to a two-and-a-half inch depth.

Very new are the wide fabric brims that ripple at the edge. Others, especially those of net, are shirred with a softening effect. Brims with these undulating edges are the type that are worn far back on the head to reveal a pompadour.

Speaking of new fashions, the new tiered skirts are introducing an entirely different silhouette. This fashion is being developed in a tailored way for cloth suits with the tiers stitched flat, one above another.

However, it is the tiered skirt of lightweight fabric that is the center of attraction at the present moment.

A startling innovation, it is being received with enthusiasm. Flounces of all sorts are chic.

Tiered Skirt

Here is a skirt that is very new this season. The smartest suits and dresses are being made with tiered skirts. The model pictured happens to be a tailored type but you will also see soft pleated versions. The talking feature about the new tiered skirts is that they are so designed to preserve the slender silhouette. This is achieved by using flat stitched smooth surfaced black faille silk for the tailored suit. The skirt pictured is worn with a loosely fitted blouse, showing a frilled or gandy collar.

Small, Colorful Hats Dominate Fashion Picture

If in doubt as to the hat that will flatter you most, take a look at the small white hats that are fashion favorites this season. For the most part, hats are rather diminutive, with perky little ribbon bows, white wings or effective flower trims. Add a flutty chenille-dotted confetti veil for perfect finesse.

A pretty fashion is the tiny white straw sailor trimmed with colorful flowers, and believe it or not, Kelly-green veil. This hat tops a black sheer frock.

Yellow is a highspot color in the millinery realm. You will find all-yellow hats and gray and neutral colored felts trimmed with a bright yellow quill.

Style Notes

It's big brims for summer. Suits of black pique are ever so smart.

Tiered skirts define the newest silhouette.

Summer fashions play up the Chinese theme.

Wear plastic white lace jewelry with your white hat.

The rose motif vies with strawberry motifs in summer prints.

Yellows, also greens, are outstanding in the fashion picture.

Nylon fabrics are making their debut for both day and evening wear.

The cape and dolman sleeve movement becomes increasingly important.

Drinking Coffee Forbidden

Drinking coffee was forbidden in Sixteenth-century Constantinople. The ruling dictator believed that coffee stimulated thinking among the common people. The first offense was punished by a beating; the second by death.

Mile-Long Yarn

Some cotton yarn is so fine that 50 miles of it are needed to make one pound, according to a department of agriculture processing expert. This fine yarn is spun on ordinary machinery and is used in making typewriter ribbons, airplane fabric, and even fine dress goods.

Origin of Sabotage

The word "sabotage," much in the news, is from the French "sabot"—a wooden shoe. In its original interpretation, the meaning came from the practice of throwing a wooden shoe into the machinery in order to stop production.

A Sugar Beet Field Planted on the Contour

Fred R. Bach of the Agricultural Department of the Michigan Sugar Company, in an article in the Sugar Beet Journal for July, says:

"In the vicinity of Cass City, Michigan, there is a fertile stretch of rolling country. Nearby is the Kingston Camp of the Civilian Conservation Corps. One of the projects of this camp is to carry on soil conservation demonstrations on five farms near the camp. On the farm owned by Mrs. A. E. Goodall it was decided to try out an experiment in planting the rows of sugar beets in such a manner as to reduce the amount of soil erosion to a minimum wherever possible. Preventing soil erosion on rolling fields means planting the rows crosswise to the various slopes in as many places in a field as would allow a good job of planting and cultivating. To do this meant that some surveying had to be done and a plan worked out previous to planting. Then, when planting started a few stakes had to be placed around the field to show where drilling had to start and stop and go around curves.

"The field was square with an area of twelve acres. It had a valley in the center and two good sized hills rising from each side. One hill had a 4% slope; the other about 3%. It was approximately twenty feet from the lowest to the highest several parts of the field.

"During the heavy rains last spring there were many times when the beneficial effects of this planting could be observed. In fact, several times shortly after planting long washing rains occurred with no loss in stand whatsoever due to flooding or washing of soil.

Alfred Goodall said that had the beets been planted by some other method a good deal of the stand might have been lost, as had been shown by their previous beet growing experience. In planting the beets Mr. Goodall used the latest types of scientific planter. It was a John Deere plate feed single seed dropper which places the fertilizer below and to one side of the seed.

Mr. Goodall was satisfied with his stand and said he liked the fertilizer placement because it saved him the trouble of broadcasting. With this type of fertilizer placement he could put all the fertilizer he wanted in the ground directly with the planter without fear of injury to the seed. He used 250 pounds of 2-12-6 directly with the seed. Beets on the side of hills grew large due to the retention of water by the small ridges created by hilling the beets in cultivation. The opposite could be observed where the headlands were planted and the rows followed down the hill. The washing of water created gullies and dry soils between the rows of beets.

"The yield of this field averaged 13.37 tons per acre. This yield is far above the average obtained in this farm previously. A short history of the field, the farm and the farmer is now in order. The field was in corn in 1936, oats in 1937, alfalfa pasture in 1938 and in 1939 planted partially to corn, soy beans and pasture. The field received one application of manure during this period and one application of fertilizer when the oats were planted. The farm is 160 acres in size.

It has 13 registered Angus beef cows, 35 head of cattle in all, 40 sheep and about 45 hogs are fattened. Alfred Goodall, who is the youngest son of a family of seven, is now operating this farm in partnership with his mother. Alfred has belonged to that select group of Cass City 4-H club youngsters, who under Willis Campbell, local 4-H club leader, carry off many livestock honors year after year at the Detroit 4-H Livestock Show.

In 1937, Alfred had the Grand Champion steer for which he received $666. This year his sister, Norene, had the reserve grand champion steer.

"We will watch with interest what effects this soil conservation demonstration has on the future of these farmers."

Fumigate Bins Before Threshing

"Here comes the new grain," the weevils are chattering, if weevils can talk and haven't been swept, burned and scrubbed out of the storage bins where the 1941 harvests of Michigan's grains will go this summer.

Weevil control must be complete and no half measures will do, warns Ray Hutson of the Michigan State College entomology department.

While the bins are empty, a thorough cleaning job is in order. Next step is one that can be more permanently effective and that is to line the bins. Hutson cites the use of metal, plywood or paper pasted in with the edges overlapping to make a tight seal.

Not only does this lining job help keep out infestations of weevils, but if the pests do begin to work on a bin of grain, the lined bin is far easier to fumigate because it holds in the gas while the material does its work.

Dusting, cleaning and scrubbing always are in order before threshing. Holes should be patched and all old grain should be removed before any of the new crop goes in.

So, if there's any noise from the weevils, here's the annual reminder from the man who knows how to curtail the destruction, Mr. Hutson.

Weeds in Beans Curb Crop Size

One hundred pounds of beans provide the basic part of a meal for 1,000 to 1,500 persons, and each 100 pounds produced in Michigan in 1941 should be worth more than $4.00 to the grower.

That means thieves will not be popular within the bean producing counties of the state, yet every weed in a bean field robs plants of food and moisture, according to H. C. Rather of the Michigan State College farm crops department.

Michigan has won world fame for its white pea or navy beans, now considered a vital commodity in the "Food for Defense" program.

That means attention to weeds is more important than usual, considering price, demand and needs. Even a light weed infestation is known to reduce bean yields by two or three bushels an acre. A heavy weed crop slices into the bean yield for losses of five to ten bushels and, in some instances, causes the loss of the entire crop.

Early cultivation is easiest, because then somewhat more drastic cultivation can be practiced. Rather points out. The weeder and the spike-tooth harrow are common implements. The weeder is less destructive, but the harrow is more thorough when used on thick stands.

Row cultivation follows the first weed controls. The principal object is to kill weeds. There is conservation of moisture but that is through the weed killing, which must be done to cut off as few bean roots as possible. Later cultivation must be even shallower to reduce root damage and still kill weeds.

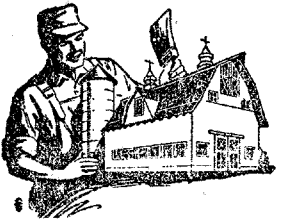

Hand hoeing likely will pay dividends in some fields. An eight-hour hoeing job that saves three bushels of beans will pay an estimated 90c an hour, according to Rather's figures.

Then he went across the street to the grocer and got a dollar bill for the change. He repeated this several times. Finally, his father called him to account for his strange actions and Isadore explained: "Why do I keep changing that bill? Well, sooner or later somebody is going to make a mistake, and it ain't going to be me."

Scrap Aluminum Will Be Collected for U. S. Defense

The people of Michigan are being asked to contribute worn-out aluminum for national defense purposes on July 24 and 25, according to word received here this week from the Michigan Council of Defense in Lansing. The collection will be made simultaneously in every community of the nation to help overcome the temporary shortage of aluminum which is interfering with American defense production.

Every post of war veterans in Michigan are co-operating. Mayors and village presidents are giving their help. County agents will be responsible for the collection in rural areas, and Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs, Parent Teacher Associations, and other civil, patriotic, labor and fraternal organizations are expected to lend their active support.

"This scrap aluminum will be used for a large number of defense products," Lt. Col. Harold A. Furlong, administrator of the Council of Defense, explained. "Airplanes can be made only from aluminum which has never been fabricated before, so these pots and kettles can't be made into planes. But they will furnish a tremendous supply of material for defense plants which can use scrap aluminum, and thus release enough new aluminum to make 2,000 fighter planes."

No one will profit on the transaction, Lt. Col. Furlong made plain.

After the aluminum has been collected from every home in every community, it will be placed in the warehouses of waste material dealers designated by the Office of Production Management, and then sent to the smelters. The smelters will pay a fixed price for the aluminum, and send their checks in payment to the nearest Federal Reserve Bank.
Housewives are warned not to contribute aluminum articles which will have to be replaced by new articles, lest another shortage in some other material develop. Battered pie pans, leaky kettles, discarded radio parts, broken vacuum cleaners, old pots and the like are wanted, and needed urgently.
